Paul, without any disrespect, drew a different lesson from it. He saw that this meant a trial of his faith, zeal and perseverance. R3182:3

For him to yield to these suggestions, would have been an evidence of his lack of confidence in God, since the Lord had himself revealed to him that he should go up to Jerusalem. R3182:3

Acts 21:5

And prayed -- Frequent mention is made of the gathering of the Church for prayers. R2023:3

Caesarea -- The Roman capital of Palestine. R3183:1
That the Church at Caesarea was of considerable size is evident in that Philip made it his headquarters, and that this was the third visit which Paul made during his travels. (Acts 9:30; 18:22) R2222:3

One of the seven -- Of the seven deacons originally appointed at Jerusalem. R3183:1, 4467:1

Virgins -- Unmarried sisters. R3183:2

Did prophesy -- The word "prophesy" is used in many instances in the New Testament to describe public or semi-public speaking, and not always a foretelling of future events. R2222:4, 3183:2

We are not to assume hastily that these four young women were public teachers in the Church. R4467:2

There is not even a suggestion that they had made a consecration or received the holy Spirit. R4467:2

They may have had some public occupation along the lines of public speaking or teaching--possibly they were school teachers. R4467:2

A certain prophet -- A foreteller of future events--possessing the gift of prophesying. R2222:4

Agabus -- A brother in the Lord. R3183:2

Was used of the Lord in foretelling the famine which came upon Palestine and the civilized world at that time. (Acts 11:27, 28) R2223:1

Acts 21:11

Took Paul's girdle -- This form of prophecy, illustrated by signs, was not uncommon to the Jews. R3183:2, 2223:4

Saith the Holy Ghost -- Agabus had the gift of prophecy common at this time. E277

An illustration of the agencies by which the holy power of God informed Paul. R373:1

Bind the man -- This prophecy was fulfilled by the handcuffing in verse 33. R3188:6

Paul and the other apostles subsequently had special trials at this special season, in the Spring. R3179:1, 3178:3

Not to go -- To give it up, not to run foolishly into danger. R3183:2

Acts 21:13

To weep -- Notice the strong affection with which Paul inspired those who came to know him. R1886:1*

We are reminded of the words of the poet: "We share our mutual woes; our mutual burdens bear; and often for each other flows the sympathizing tear." R3183:4

Break mine heart -- They were making it still harder for him to bear. R4467:6

I am ready -- The Apostle was firm, full of conviction and assurance. He would go on conscientiously and courageously, and finish the work that the Father had given him to do. R3183:4

Throughout this entire experience Paul had the sympathy and approval of all the other apostles, and, above all, the Lord's continued favor. His course was at the instance of the other apostles. F227; R1526:5

Also to die -- If such should be the arrangement of the Lord's providence on his behalf. R3183:4

An important lesson, not to be moved from faithfulness to the Lord and his commands; neither by the tears and entreaties of friends nor by the frowns and threats of our foes. R2223:4

Heroic words! Noble sentiments! Faithfulness personified! R4467:5

"Where duty calls or danger, be never lacking there." R2223:4

At Jerusalem -- The Apostle's determination to visit Jerusalem at this time with the thank-offering from the Gentiles was to cement the bond of love between the Jewish and Gentile believers. R3182:3

He had no expectation of being able to turn Israel as a nation, but he did wish them to discern his love for them, and his earnest desire to assist them. R3182:5

Will of the Lord -- Manifested by Agabus' prophecy. E277; R3183:2

The testimony of the holy Spirit was accepted by the early Church as merely being the will of our Lord Jesus, whose will is also the Father's will. E278

It was in obedience to his convictions of duty that Paul braved all those predicted adversities. F227; R1526:5

As we learn the Lord's will, we will do it at any cost. R3183:5

We will be on the outlook for the Lord's providences in all of our affairs, realizing that nothing happens by chance to those who are in covenant relationship with God, as members of the Body of Christ. R3183:5

Be done -- The Apostle's companions saw the matter as he did. R3183:5

His determination carried the day, and the others acquiesced. R2223:4

Carriages -- Baggage or luggage. R4468:4

Jerusalem -- This was his fifth visit to Jerusalem since his conversion, twenty years before. R1559:2

He had been absent seven years. R4484:2

There went with us -- Paul was accompanied by Luke, Trophimus, Aristarchus, Sopater, Secudus, Gaius, Timotheus and Tychicus. R4484:2

We should lodge -- Mnason of Cyprus, was for a long while a disciple, with whom the travelers lodged at Jerusalem. He evidently appreciated his guests and enjoyed the privilege of their entertainment. R4468:4

It is a great honor today to entertain any of the Lord's disciples. R4468:5

The early Church did not practice what is now known as communism. Some of the Lord's people had private possessions aside from those put into the common fund to supply the wants of all. R2932:2

Come to Jerusalem -- Arrived at Jerusalem Friday, May 27, AD 57. R4484:2 They brought with them money collections from the Churches in Asia Minor for the Church at Jerusalem. R4484:2, 3188:1, 1559:2 It was now but twelve years before the destruction of Jerusalem, and less than half that time before the beginning of the factionalism and anarchy which led up to that destruction. R3188:2

Brethren received us -- Their reception on their first day was apparently of a private and personal character. R4484:3

The day following -- The next day was probably the Day of Pentecost. R4484:3

James -- Brother (or cousin) to our Lord, was apparently the recognized leader in the Jerusalem Church. R4484:3, 3188:1, 1559:2

The chief, or spokesman amongst the brethren. R4468:4, 4484:3

Elders were present -- It was doubtless then that they unitedly blessed Timothy by laying their hands on him by way of endorsement. F284

Acts 21:20

Glorified the Lord -- Tradition says that as a result Andrew went shortly after this as a missionary to Cythia, Jude to Syria, Thomas to Persia and India, and Peter to Babylon and Rome. R3188:1

Thou seest, brother -- We have no evidence that the early Church ever regarded the apostles as lords in the Church. F230

All the Church were similarly greeted--as brothers and sisters in Christ. R1523:5; F230

Acts 21:21

That thou teachest -- Paul had not taught that Jewish converts should not circumcise their children; nor did he repudiate the Mosaic Law--rather, he honored it, by pointing out the greater and grander realities which it typified. R1526:6

He pointed out that the Law was so grand that no imperfect man could obey it fully, and that Christ, by keeping it, had won its rewards, and now under the Grace Covenant was offering everlasting life to those unable to keep the Law. F228

He taught the Gentiles that it was not necessary for them to become Jews nor to obey the Jewish ritual, but should look to Christ. R4484:5, 1527:4 That the Law could not save either Jew or Gentile, but only faith in Christ. R4484:5

He taught that if anyone, Jew or Gentile, attempted to keep the Law, with a view to thus meriting eternal life, he would surely lose it; "by the deeds of the law shall no flesh be justified in God's sight." (Rom. 3:20)

R4484:6

That God during this Gospel age is selecting a spiritual seed of Abraham from both Jews and Gentiles. R4484:6, 1559:4

Forsake Moses -- The Greek word signifies a spiritual defection. They charged Paul with apostasy from Moses. R638:6*, 972:4

Some had misrepresented his position--claiming that he was an opponent of the Law and of the Jews. He was an opponent of neither, but realized that no fallen human being could live up to its requisites, and that justification is by faith. R3182:4

The Apostle Paul never taught the Jews that they were free from the Law--but on the contrary, that the Law had dominion over each of them so long as he lived. (Rom. 7:1) F229

After the customs -- Paul merely taught that it was not necessary to put the yoke of Judaism upon Gentile converts. (Acts 15:10) R1559:4

That its forms and ceremonies could not save any one, not even a Jew.

R1559:4

Do therefore this -- They urged Paul to contradict partial misconceptions by going into the Temple and associating with some brethren who had taken the Nazarite vow, as a recognition of the propriety of what they did. R4484:5

We incline to doubt the wisdom of the course pursued. Perhaps such a lesson was needed by the apostles and the Church at Jerusalem, that they might learn to be more courageous in their presentations of the truth, less fearful of the Jews, more bold in their presentations of Christ.

R3188:5

It is probable that all the apostles came later to view this procedure as a temporizing acknowledgement of the dignity of the Temple and its services, while not sinful, was not advantageous and reflected no special credit upon any connected with it. R3188:5

Paul's principal failure was in allowing them once to overpersuade him on this very matter of Moses' Law. But overcome for the moment by the influence and prominence of those who made the request, Paul yielded.

Paul let slip so favorable an opportunity for testifying as he afterward did to the Galatians (5:2-6) that whosoever justified (purified) himself by the Law and circumcision, Christ would profit him nothing. R972:5

A more courageous course might have been pursued; the very method taken to ward off opposition merely served to arouse it. R4484:6

A vow on them -- A Nazarite vow, typifying the consecrations and devotions of the people, the antitypes of which will prevail during the Millennium. R3188:5

Acts 21:24

Charges with them -- By an offering, so much for each, for the expenses of the Temple. F228; R4484:5

Shave their heads -- The shaving of their heads and the offering of sacrifices in demand of the Law governing their vow, in no sense interfered with or attempted to add to the merit of Christ's sacrifice. R4484:6

All may know -- That you are not disrespectful toward Moses or the Law or the Temple; that their misapprehension and evil speaking may be counteracted. R3188:3

Acts 21:25

Written and concluded -- The apostles at the council in Jerusalem, had declared that the Jewish Law did not affect the Gentiles. R3666:2

No such thing -- The Gentile converts had never been under the Jewish Law Covenant. F229; R1527:4

For the Gentiles to attempt the practice of Jewish Law ceremonies and rites would imply that they were trusting in those symbols for their salvation, and not relying wholly upon the merit of Christ's sacrifice. F229; R1527:4

Offered to idols -- This proved to be a difficult matter with them because of the customs of that day--nearly all the meat sold in the butcher's stalls had been offered to idols. R3666:2

Purifying himself -- Being Jews, they had a right to perform the symbol of this purification. F228

Being a Hebrew, he properly observed certain features of the Jewish Law; not, however, as a condition of salvation, but as a concession to his Jewish brethren. R1559:4

Into the temple -- To pay the Temple tax for these others. R972:5; F228
Days of purification -- According to the Jewish custom. R972:5; F228

Stirred up all the people -- A tumult was raised. R2085:5, 1436:5*

Men of Israel -- Representatives of the whole twelve tribes. C252, 293; R2085:5, 1341:1

People, and the law -- "Paul is deceiving the people by telling them that the Law which we have had for 1600 years is of no account." R5774:1

Brought Greeks -- They had seen the Apostle with the Greek, Trophimus, and jumped to the conclusion that the latter was one of the four men whose heads were shaved. R4485:1

Polluted this holy place -- Only Jews were allowed within the precincts of the Temple. R4485:1

Doors were shut -- The great doors of the Temple were closed that no rioting or bloodshed might occur within the sacred enclosure. R3188:6

Acts 21:31

Chief captain -- Claudius Lysias (Acts 23:26). R3188:6
Colonel of the Roman soldiers. R4485:1

Beating of Paul -- This trial of Paul's faith came at the Passover season, the time when the Lord's people seem to be in greatest danger of stumbling. R3179:1, 3178:3

Took him -- Caused the arrest of Paul. R3188:6
Arrested for disturbing the peace. R1633:4

To be bound -- Each Roman soldier carried, as a part of his outfit, an iron chain and a leather thong, for use in just such an emergency. R3188:6
Which fulfilled the prophecy of Agabus. (Acts 21:11) R3188:6

With two chains -- Much after the manner in which now a culprit is sometimes handcuffed to an officer. R3188:6

Borne of the soldiers -- The oncoming of the mob led the soldiers to press one against the other so as not to lose their prisoner, and thus the Apostle was lifted off his feet and carried by the soldiers up the stairway. R4485:2

Into the castle -- The Tower of Antonio was close by the Temple Court, and steps connected the two. R3188:6, 4485:1

Chief captain -- Lysias, the foreign officer, who spoke Greek, knew very little of the Jew's language, either Hebrew or Syriac. R3189:1

Speak Greek -- The officer was astonished, for the Apostle spoke Greek fluently. R3189:1, 4485:4

Acts 21:38

That Egyptian -- Mentioned by Josephus, who had gathered a large body of discontented Jews, to whom he represented himself as Messiah, causing the authorities considerable trouble. R4485:4

Acts 21:39

But Paul said -- Cool and collected. R4485:3

No mean city -- Said to have excelled in scholarship and the fine arts by the cities of Alexandria and Athens only. R2117:2

Suffer me to speak -- The Apostle never allowed opportunities to pass without forwarding the truth, whether in season for himself, or out of season, as in this case, where he was sore from the beating he had received. R3189:2

Instead of wavering and stopping, he went right along and preached the same Gospel which made a disturbance everywhere. R1633:4

His readiness to take advantage of every opportunity to tell the message of his Master was here wonderfully exemplified. R4485:3

An illustration of the dauntless courage and holy enthusiasm of this noble soldier of the cross. R1559:5

Acts 21:40

He spake unto them -- That Jesus was the Messiah promised in the Law and the prophecies; that his sacrificial death was the redemption price for all; that now he is calling a spiritual class to be his associates in the Millennial Kingdom; and that shortly Israel and all the nations will experience the privileges and blessings of that Kingdom. R4485:4

Hear ye my defence -- The noble address was a model of skill, logic and eloquence. R1559:5

Acts 22:3

Of Gamaliel -- Saul had received a special course in theology or Jewish Law at Jerusalem, under Gamaliel, one of the greatest teachers of that time. R2117:3

An advanced school or seminary, attended by few except the sons of the rich, implying that Paul's parents were rich. R4355:2

The custom was that the pupils would ask questions and get the views of the teachers. R5553:1

Zealous toward God -- Paul was zealous toward God long before his conversion from Judaism to Christianity. R1671:6

His heart being in a right attitude of loyalty. R2823:5

Acts 22:4

Persecuted this way -- He had a religious zeal which led him to persecute Christ and his followers, the Church. R2823:3,5

The Lord's people. F339

Went to Damascus -- Armed with authority for the apprehension of the Lord's followers, accompanied by others who seemingly were under his command as a police force. R2823:6

Acts 22:6

A great light -- Evidently a supernatural one, because the light was far brighter than the sun at noon. R2969:4

Exceedingly bright light, glaringly brilliant. R2824:1

Round about me -- Saul himself was evidently the center of the manifestation. R2117:5

And I fell -- Immediately prostrated himself. R2824:1

Unto the ground -- Seeing Jesus in his glory, unveiled, Saul was smitten to the earth and seriously blinded. R5299:2

Heard a voice -- The voice spoke in the Hebrew tongue; whereas those who were with Saul probably spoke in the Syriac or Greek language. R2969:5

Persecutest thou me -- Fighting the truth ignorantly. R2823:3

Those who touch his saints, touch him; "He is the head of the body, the church" (Col. 1:18); "Now are ye the body of Christ, and members in particular." (1 Cor. 12:27) R2824:2

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." (Matt. 25:40) R92:4

Who art thou, Lord? -- Paul recognized that this was a lordly, powerful one--yet he wished to make no mistake, he wished to know who thus reproved him, that he might benefit more. R2824:1

Thou persecutest -- Those who touch his saints, members of the Body of Christ, touch him. R2824:2

Whoever is a faultfinder and busybody in the affairs of the brethren is doing this against the flesh of Jesus. R5274:3

The light -- But not the vision which Saul saw representing the Son of Man in his glorified condition. R2969:4

The voice -- Only Saul could distinguish the words, which were meant for him alone. R2117:6, 2969:5

The voice was heard by all, but the message by Saul only. R2824:3

What shall I do -- I am ready to obey. R2824:3

It meant, I am not more sincere now than I was a moment ago, but the eyes of my understanding have been opened. I am anxious now to undo what I have been heretofore mistakenly doing. R2824:3

We can but admire the promptness with which Saul at once laid down the arms of his opposition, and placed himself on the side of the one whose cause he had so recently persecuted. R2117:6

There is more hope of those who are outspoken in their opposition to the truth, but who, though blinded, are truly consecrated to the Lord, than for some of those who are its very cool and indifferent friends. R2824:5

Appointed for thee to do -- This shows us that Paul was in the divine mind and plan beforehand. R2824:4

I could not see -- The wonderful light which flashed upon his eyes destroyed his sight. R2824:5

Of that light -- Saul was but a man and could not see the fullness of the glory which no man can see and live, but he did see as much of a representation of that glory as was possible. R2824:6

Ananias -- The name Ananias signifies, "Jah is gracious." R2118:6

A devout man -- We should always expect that those whom the Lord would choose as his special messengers would be good men, devout men, pious men. 2824:6

A good report -- Ananias was esteemed amongst the Jews as a good man. R2824:6

Receive thy sight -- His eyes were never restored to their former strength. R2825:1, 2118:2

Acts 22:14

Hath chosen thee -- "No man can come to me except the Father which sent me draw him." (John 6:44) R2825:2

Unto all men -- Henceforth it was open to all. R3023:5

Seen and heard -- We are not to attempt to tell others things which we have not seen and have not heard ourselves. R2825:3

In mental vision Paul was "caught up to the third heaven" (2 Cor. 12:2); granted a glimpse of the glory of the Millennial reign of Christ. R1558:3; A70

Why tarriest thou? -- We should urge our friends who see the truth to prompt, full and complete consecration and obedience. R2825:4

Baptized -- Greek, baptizo; immersed. HG600:1, 251:5 Which our Lord and his apostles practiced and enjoined upon all followers. R1539:3

Wash away thy sins -- This relates to Jews, either natural born or proselyted. R1421:1

Jews were called to repent and to be baptized for the remission of sins against their Covenant. John's baptism was for Jews only, and were, so to speak, transferred from Moses into Christ. R2825:5, 1541:6

Acts 22:20

I also -- Saul of Tarsus was probably a member of the Sanhedrin, which tried Stephen. R2958:4
Paul tells us that he was a sort of ringleader amongst those who killed him. R2952:3

Acts 22:21

Unto the Gentiles -- They heard the Apostle in peace and with profound attention up to this point. Then all their prejudices seemed to be aroused with the thought that this man taught that Gentiles could have favor with God equal to the Jews. R3189:3

Acts 22:22

Away with such a fellow -- They cried against him in much the same language that they used against the Lord. R3189:3

Acts 22:24

Examined by scourging -- The Roman Colonel commanded that the Apostle must be whipped until he confessed what he had done wrong. R4485:5, 3189:4
That he might know -- The Roman commander, not understanding the Hebrew language, had not been able to follow the Apostle's discourse. R3189:3

Acts 22:25

They bound him -- To a bent whipping post. R4485:5
Is it lawful -- He did not say, "If you beat me, I will make it a sad day for you!" R5897:6
Paul more than once appealed to the Law for justice. R954:3*
We are at liberty to use any legitimate means for our own deliverance, even as St. Paul took advantage of his Roman citizenship. R5942:3, 4485:6
That is a Roman -- Saul's family must have been one of the most influential families of Tarsus to also be a citizen of Rome. R2117:2

Acts 22:27

Yea -- The Colonel took the Apostle's word for it that he was a Roman citizen; for an untruthful claim would have meant sure death. R4485:5

A great sum -- Paul's Roman citizenship was worth a great sum. R478:5

Council to appear -- The point of dispute was a religious one. R4485:3, 5952:1

Paul was afforded another opportunity to witness the Gospel to the Jews, to their most influential Court of Seventy. R4485:6

Acts 23:1

Earnestly beholding -- Another opportunity to witness the Gospel to the Jews; to their most learned body, to their most influential Court of Seventy. R5952:2, 4485:6

The council -- Jewish Sanhedrin, of which the High Priest, Ananias, was president. R3190:2, 5952:1

It is quite generally supposed that at the time of the stoning of Stephen, Paul, then Saul of Tarsus, was a member of the Sanhedrin. R5952:2, 4486:1

I have lived -- The Apostle had always lived in full harmony with the laws of his country; an honorable citizen. R3190:2

All good conscience -- Paul had never ceased to maintain this attitude. R5952:6, 4486:4

Moral, upright, with a religious zeal which led him to persecute the Church. R2823:3

Acts 23:2

And the high priest -- It is not unfair to assume that the High Priest felt his own course in life especially condemned by Paul's words. R5952:3, 4486:2

Possibly thinking this as a reflection against himself, for he had an unsavory reputation. R3190:2

Ananias -- Josephus charges Ananias with having been a hypocritical grafter of the baser sort, but so crafty that the public esteemed him. R5952:3, 4486:2

Smite him -- A special mark of indignity and a protest against the words uttered. R5952:3, 4486:1

An insult not at all uncommon in the East at that time. R3190:2

God shall smite thee -- The prophecy came true; within two years, Ananias was deposed; within six years, he met a horrible death. R5952:3, 4486:2

Thou whited wall -- The term applied to ordinary graves which were covered with a stone slab, whitewashed frequently. R5952:3, 4486:2
A symbol representing hypocrisy. R5952:3, 4486:2

Revilest -- Answerest. R4486:2, 3190:2

Acts 23:5

I wist not -- The Apostle had never fully recovered his eyesight and could not discern clearly. R5952:3, 4486:2, 3190:2, 2118:4, 1540:4
Or he did not know that the indignity was suggested by Ananias. R5952:4, 4486:2

Or, he may have questioned the right of Ananias to the title of High Priest. R3190:3, 5952:5, 4486:2

The Apostle's words may have meant that he did not recognize that the true High Priest was present. R5952:5, 4486:3

Or he may have considered that the typical office of High Priest had ended. R3190:3, 310:2

Brethren -- Thus putting himself on an equality with them, both in respect to religious zeal and general learning. R5952:2, 4486:1

High priest -- A Sadducee. R3190:3

Not speak evil -- The people of God should pre-eminently stand for law and order, with as much justice as may be obtainable, waiting for absolute justice until the King of kings shall take his Millennial throne. R5952:5, 4486:3

The attitude of the Lord's people should be a very conservative one in such matters. R3190:3

The Apostle did not make threats against them nor pray evil upon their heads, but he defended himself by appealing to the people. R3738:2

We are not authorized to retaliate. R3738:3

Ruler -- Dignitaries. R3190:3

The gods, mighty ones, judges. (Exod. 22:28) E68

The tendency to speak evil of dignitaries, to belittle them, to caricature them, is a prevalent sin. R5952:5, 4486:3

When Paul perceived -- The prejudice against him was such that no speech of his could affect his hearers. R5952:6, 4486:3

Sadducees -- Practically unbelievers, of the wealthier, more respectable class. R4986:3

The Sadducees were the Higher Critics and infidels of that time; for they did not believe in angels or spirits or in the resurrection of the dead. R4961:4

I am a Pharisee -- The word Pharisee means, "Wholly devoted, separated to God." R3124:5, 5952:6, 4486:4

Signifying holiness or completeness in the observance of the Law. R3190:4, 4986:3

Paul's experience on the way to Damascus had not changed his attitude of heart, of loyalty to God. R5952:6, 4486:4

A Sadducee, in violation of the Law, had just caused a Pharisee to be smitten in the mouth. He thus to some extent gained the sympathy of the Pharisees. R3190:6

Thus he appealed to the Pharisee element of the crowd, and set them more or less at variance with the Sadducees. R5897:6

With the thought that he could get the good will of the one part. R4961:5

Resurrection -- Greek, anastasis; is without the Greek article of special emphasis, indicating the first or special resurrection, but indicating the general opportunity for life everlasting by a judgment-resurrection. R1512:1,2

Of the dead -- The hope of a personal future life by resurrection. R5468:4

There is no hope of a future life without a resurrection, and no hope of a resurrection except in Jesus. R2618:1

This hope was fulfilled, its realization made sure, in the resurrection of Christ. R751:2*, 1436:4*

"Preached through Jesus" (Acts 4:2), because of the ransom he had paid. R241:3

"If there be no resurrection of the dead, then they that are fallen asleep in Christ are perished." (1 Cor. 15:13, 18) C117, E345

The early Christians were scattered abroad and went everywhere preaching Jesus and the resurrection. CR22:1; HG191:6

I am called in question -- It is because I believe in the resurrection of the dead that I am here a prisoner. HG136:6

"And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked." (Acts 17:32) HG347:4

Resurrection is regarded with dread, because of false teachings. The traditions of men made void the Word of God. F664; HG136:6

Pharisees -- Ultra-orthodox, holiness-professing. R5952:6, 5389:2, 4961:5, 4486:4

Sadducees -- Agnostic and higher-critical. R5952:6, 4486:4

No resurrection -- The Sadducees professed no faith in a future life.

Nor spirit -- Greek, pneuma; spirit-being. E313

But if a spirit -- Greek, pneuma; E313

A great dissension -- A tumult ensued, some seeking to take his life and others to protect it. R5953:1, 4486:4

The chief captain -- The Roman commander, Lysias. R3190:4

Paul -- Calm, alert, dignified, humble, self-possessed. R4486:5

Lord stood by him -- And gave him the suitable words. R4499:5

Paul received special, individual encouragement from the Lord. R1558:3

The assurance was needed, for the Lord very rarely interposes miraculously in the course of events unless there is special necessity. R3190:1

The Lord constantly witnessed with him, by miracles and signs which mightily convinced the people. R1558:5

The Apostle's visions serve us as they served him, assuring us also that the Lord is with his people, and is able to care for, protect, guide and bless our efforts today. R3190:2

Be of good cheer -- It was in this time of great mental stress that the Lord so graciously communicated with him by a dream. R3190:1

More than forty -- Deluded religious enthusiasts. R3190:5

Forty professed religionists, forgetful of the divine Law, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Lev. 19:18) R5953:4, 4486:6

These forty men would assault and risk their lives to assassinate Paul. R3190:5

Then Paul -- Doing all that he could in proper self-defense and protection from the wiles of the Adversary. R3190:6, 3738:2, 954:3*

Acts 23:24

Bring him safe -- The commandant concluded that the wisest course would be to put his prisoner under the protection of Felix, the Roman Governor, at Caesarea. R5953:4, 4486:6
God prefers to use natural means rather than supernatural agencies.
R5953:4, 4486:6

Claudius Lysias -- Chief Captain or Colonel of the Roman soldiers in the Castle Antonio. R4485:1, 3188:6

Tertullus -- A Roman lawyer; by his skill they hoped to prove that Paul was a dangerous character--a sort of anarchist. R4499:2, 3194:3
Governor -- Felix; of not too savory a reputation, he was the judge--there were no jurors. R4499:1,3,2

By thee we enjoy -- Flattery of this kind, undeserved praise, is extremely reprehensible; totally contrary to the principles which govern the Lord's followers. It is dishonesty, hypocrisy. R3194:2
Great quietness -- Shrewdly the Roman attorney complimented the governor along the lines of his efficiency in preserving the peace and putting down every form of insurrection. R4499:2

Most noble Felix -- Felix, one of the most corrupt and oppressive rulers ever sent by the Romans into Judea. R3194:2, 1564:5

Acts 24:5

This man -- The lawyer requested that the governor should continue his praiseworthy course and rid the land of an obnoxious trouble-maker, the Apostle. R4499:2
A pestilent fellow -- All who endeavor to withstand error in its popular forms must expect to bear the same reproach. R577:5

Mover of sedition -- Raiser of tumults. R3194:3

Disloyalty to the Roman government. R1564:2

The valiant for the truth have always been considered enemies by the nominal mass. R577:5

Throughout the world -- It was claimed that the Apostle made trouble the whole world over amongst both Jews and Greeks. R4499:2, 3194:3

Profane the temple -- He charged that the prisoner was guilty of sacrilege--that he had defiled the Temple, and the inference was deducible that he had caused rioting within the holy sanctuary. R4499:2

Acts 24:10

To speak -- The Apostle neither upbraided nor reproved him; nor did he utter any words of flattery. R3194:2

It is no more obligatory for the Lord's people to denounce every wrongdoer they meet than to tell all homely persons of their lack of beauty. R3194:2

Many years a judge -- Paul opened his defense by remarking that he was gratified that his judge was well acquainted with Jewish customs. R4499:2

Neither can they prove -- Paul challenged his accusers to produce proofs of their charges--denying their ability to prove them. R3194:5

No witness had testified, nor was it true, that he was found in the Temple even disputing or gathering a crowd. R4499:3

They now accuse me -- His answer was logical and complete. R4499:3

I -- Paul. F665

Thee -- Felix. F655

They -- Many. R1570:6

Heresy -- It was necessary for the Apostle to explain that the Jews had an antipathy against him, because of his different belief and not because of any wrong doing. R4499:3

He denied that it was heresy against the Jewish religion, and a sect or split-off party. R3194:5

Truth is generally classed as heresy, yet all that is termed heresy is not truth. R1564:2, 3792:4

Those who deny the Bible's testimony are recognized as orthodox, while those who teach and expound the Bible faithfully are recognized as heretics. R3792:3

Paul's kind of heresy is the kind all the saints should have. R1564:2

They themselves -- The Pharisees. R2611:3

There shall be -- The Word of the Lord standeth sure. SM53:1

This hope was made meaningless when the idea prevailed that the Church was to gain her reward at death. HG267:6

A resurrection -- Greek, anastasis; means a full, complete raising up out of death conditions into perfection of life conditions. R3195:1, 1512:4, 413:3, 384:5; HG228:6

The Apostle was declaring not only his faith that Christ Jesus was not dead, but also his faith that God would in due time grant the world a resurrection. R3195:1

This is the age of generation, and the one to follow is the age of re-generation. (Matt. 19:28) R351:1

A gradual resurrection which will require the entire thousand years. R4989:5; Q818:4

That will be the time for the precious merit of Jesus' sacrifice to bring its blessed results of restitution to whosoever will receive the same. NS804:2

In all the Apostle's preaching he laid special stress upon this doctrine. R4499:5

Of the dead -- Dead souls, beings. R1510:3

It is not the resurrection of the body that the Bible teaches, but a resurrection of the soul, and that "God will give it a body," (1 Cor. 15:38) at the time of awakening. R4499:6, 5017:5

A resurrection of the dead implies that they are dead. SM101:T; R5017:4, 4521:3, 3854:5, 2611:3

The error of supposing men are alive when they are dead lies close to the foundation of every theological error. R5131:3, 4521:3

Not believing in anybody's being dead it would be impossible for them to believe in the resurrection of the dead. R3194:6

The basis of this hope is Jesus only, who is "The resurrection and the life." (John 11:25) R822:6*

"If there is no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen; then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished." (1 Cor. 15:13, 18) A60; C117; E345

God intends that those in the tomb shall have an awakening. R5108:3; F664

The moment of their awakening will be their next moment of consciousness following their decease. NS519:1

God's Word stands pledged for a future life for humanity. HG646:2

The entire human race. R1213:5*, 1043:5

All men will eventually be raised from the first death to the second life. R1436:6*

St. Paul held to the fundamental Jewish doctrine of a resurrection of the dead, whereby God's blessing will ultimately come to Israel, and through Israel to all the families of the earth. R4499:3

The awakening time will be the morning, as the present is the night-time of sin and darkness. OV139:3

The Scriptures never suggested the absurdity of the resurrection of the living. R3854:5

A dead man is dead, and knows nothing; his only hope is in the divine arrangement through Christ, by a resurrection of the dead. R5131:6

The theory of the everlasting torment of the wicked, based upon the theory that the human soul cannot die, is contrary to both the Old and the New Testament. R2611:4

Both -- The Apostle refers both to the Church and the world. NS837:6

The resurrection is in this text divided into two parts. Similarly the prophet Daniel, speaking of the matter, divides it into two parts. (Dan. 12:2) HG228:4

"All that are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of judgment." (John 5:27-29) R1618:2, 1374:1, 1359:2, 1248:2, 1213:5*, 1018:1*; HG685:5, 228:5; NS556:5; SM35:2

Of the just -- Souls, beings. R1510:3

Those in a justified condition. R5608:5, 4989:1, 3195:2, 1508:5; NS316:4

The elect few of the Jewish age, and the elect few of this age. OV146:4; R4989:1

Those who will have part in the first resurrection; they shall come forth to life-resurrection. R4989:3, 1512:1; SM30:1, 35:1; NS556:5

The first resurrection is at the second coming of Christ, and only the saints of the Gospel age share in it. R4118:6

The Church class will come forth to glory, honor, and immortality.

First for the Church, and subsequently for the world. R4527:5, 4534:1

And unjust -- Souls, beings. R1510:3

The souls of both good and bad slept. R5611:5

Those not yet justified. R5608:5, 3915:2, 1508:5

The Apostle's faith in a resurrection is not only for those now justified, but includes a hope of perfecting many now ignorant, sinful, unjustified.

The sacrifice of Christ secures for all mankind, however vile, an awakening from death. R2612:4

Including the Sodomites. R1618:2

To judgments, disciplines, rewards and punishments. R5446:1, 5017:6, 1512:1; SM30:1, 35:1

The world of mankind will come forth from the tomb imperfect, as they went into it and will have a test to prove whether they are worthy of eternal life. SM40:1; R5446:1, 4989:5

The object of their awakening being to give them a favorable opportunity to secure everlasting life. R2596:2, 4500:1, 1359:2, 721:6

This signifies an opportunity of rising up out of sin and death conditions to human perfection. HG720:5

An everlasting continuance of life may be had only upon the condition of full obedience to the divine requirements. R1642:5, 2612:4, 1043:5*

The entire human race will be given a full knowledge of the truth (1 Tim. 2:4), and full ability to live up to it. R1213:5*

Vast multitudes of them will be saved. R4118:6

The hope for the world does not lie in any "ray of divinity" inherent in man. R822:6*

Void of offence -- A conscience that is clear. R2671:2

Striving to do that which would be pleasing to the Lord, in full harmony with our covenant of sacrifice. R5425:2, 2671:2

"Having our heart sprinkled from a conscience of evil." (Heb. 10:22)

And toward men -- Justly have the approval of righteous men. R5425:2

Alms to my nation -- The offerings of Gentiles. R4499:5

Acts 24:18

Purified in the temple -- According to the Jewish ceremonial, which symbolized full consecration to God. R1564:5

The resurrection -- One of the most important doctrines of the New Testament. R1508:6

Judgment-resurrection, a perfecting obtainable only through judgments, discipline, etc. R1512:1; SM30:1

The only adequate rallying cry for the Church of the living God. R1436:6*

Called in question -- The primary question was whether or not Jesus had risen from the dead. NS282:6

"When they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked." (Acts 17:32) HG347:4

Felix -- The Roman Governor. R932:1, 1564:5

Lysias -- Who made the arrest. R4500:1

His wife Drusilla -- Who was really the wife of King Azizus. R3195:4

Acts 24:25

He reasoned -- Felix was not a Christian, so Paul did not speak of the Christian's higher hopes and privileges. R932:1, 653:4
He took what truth Felix already admitted and showed the reasonable deductions. R932:4

Of righteousness -- The righteousness of the Law, the inability of the fallen man to keep its requirements except in and through Christ, and thus the necessity of accepting Christ. R3195:3

Temperance -- Self-government in view of the judgment to come. R722:1
Self-restraint and opposition to natural tendencies. R3195:3

The wisest course for any man to pursue. R932:4

Judgment to come -- Or trial, for the world of mankind--the Millennial day. R4500:1

The obedient shall be blessed, uplifted, raised up to perfection; the willfully disobedient shall be destroyed in the second death. R4500:1

In which righteousness shall surely triumph. R2099:5*

In which all deflections from righteousness will be rewarded with stripes proportionate to knowledge. R3195:3

A coming time when "the holy Spirit will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness and of judgment." (John 16:8) A309

Eternal destinies are not fixed, as a result of the present life. R4500:1

There was no attempt on this or any other occasion to scare the unbeliever with threats of eternal torment. R932:2, 4500:4

The deeds of the present life will have much to do with the future.

R4500:1, 722:1

There is another order of judgment going on now in which the rulership of this world is being judged, and is about to be cast out. R527:1*

Felix trembled -- He was conscience stricken. R4500:4

Realizing that according to the standards presented he would have many stripes to bear in the future. R3195:4, 4500:4, 1564:5, 756:3*

A convenient season -- A time when sin will make no objection to being ousted. R3195:3

He hoped also -- As a result of Paul's statement in his defense, that he had come to Jerusalem with alms for the Jewish people. (vs. 17) R3195:3
Felix considered that in Paul he had a good opportunity for receiving a bribe for the performance of justice. R3195:3

Money -- To sell his talents for money. R4499:4

Two years -- Paul remained a prisoner two years, comfortably provided for, preparing for the further services of his important life, and writing several epistles. R4500:4,3

Festus -- Was appointed in the place of Felix, as governor of Judea. R1568:3, 4500:3

Grievous complaints -- Setting forth the arguments of Tertullus to prejudice his mind. R4500:3

Wilt thou go -- The governor asked St. Paul whether he were willing to stand trial before his own countrymen. R4500:6
Festus proposed that, since the accusations pertained principally to the Jewish religion, that Paul go up to Jerusalem to be tried. R1568:3

Where I ought to be judged -- Paul appealed for such justice as the law provided. R5189:3
Have I done no wrong -- He was respectful and law-abiding. R1555:6*
Paul more than once appealed to the law for justice and protection from his enemies. R954:3*

Unto Caesar -- Paul was to be sent to Rome under military protection. R1568:6

Acts 25:13

King Agrippa -- Of Galilee. R4501:1
King of the country west of the upper Jordan. R1568:6
Agrippa and his wife professed the Hebrew faith. R4501:1

All the multitude -- Uncontrollable popular clamor, awakened by superstition. B330

Dealt -- Or negotiate. R791:5

Nothing worthy of death -- The persecutions of the Christians under Pagan Rome were not worthy of comparison with those under Papal Rome. Roman magistrates frequently declined the odious task of persecution. B330

Laid against him -- No real charges could be made out. R1569:2

Acts 26:1

Then Agrippa -- Herod was a family name. There were several kings over Israel by this name. (1) Herod the Great, who flourished about the time of our Lord's birth. (2) Herod Archelaus, son and successor to Herod the Great--deposed AD 6. (3) Herod Antipas, another son of Herod the Great, the murderer of John the Baptist--deposed AD 40. (4) Herod Agrippa I, grandson of Herod the Great, the murderer of the Apostle James. (5) Herod Agrippa II, the last of the Herods, before whom the Apostle Paul defended himself. R3002:3, 4346:2

King of the country east of the upper Jordan. R1568:6

He was an Edomite, a descendant of Esau. R4346:3

Answered for himself -- A fresh opportunity for the preaching of the Gospel before people of prominence was afforded the Apostle. R4501:1, 1569:1

The address was full of logic, eloquence and pathos. R1569:1

Acts 26:3

To be expert -- Paul was very complimentary. He did not bring opposition because of foolishness. Q740:4; R4501:1

With the respect and decorum due to the civil powers, Paul began his address. 1569:1

Patiently -- Greek, makrothunia; it means merely long-suffering. R2790:6

Sect -- The Greek word is airesis, heresy; but modern English definition has been changed. R1130:6, 3792:3

The true Church is not a sect, but all one in Christ. R1576:3, 413:5

I lived a Pharisee -- Paul was zealous toward God long before his conversion from Judaism to Christianity. R1671:6

Hope of the promise -- "In thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." (Gen. 28:14) R2245:3, 4451:4, 2854:5, 1435:5*; PT38:2

The divine promise is the foundation upon which the one hope rests. R1435:4*

Unto our fathers -- God proposed to adopt the children of Abraham according to the flesh for his children, and the nation of Israel was hoping to attain this glorious station. R3452:1

God's promises to Abraham have not yet been fulfilled. R2854:5

Unto which promise -- This promise held that nation together for all the centuries down to Christ, and still does. R4451:4; PT38:3

That original promise which God made to them. In proportion as they still maintain that hope, they may still expect to come to a realization. R5244:5

"God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath." (Heb. 6:17)

Israel did not understand the primarily spiritual part of the promise. R5837:2

Our twelve tribes -- Those living in Palestine represented all Israel. B207; R1747:6*

Neither Paul nor the well informed Roman governor had any knowledge of ten tribes being "lost." R2085:5

The promise held the twelve tribes loyal to God and separate from the nations surrounding them. OV9:3; R4451:4; PT38:3

The only object of their national existence. R2245:3

Their ideas had been of an earthly Kingdom. R2082:4

It is probable that the wise men from the East were part of the "twelve tribes which are scattered abroad." (James 1:1) R4098:3

Instantly -- Incessantly. R4451:4; PT38:3

Continually hoping for the fulfillment of the Oath-bound Covenant. (Heb. 6:17) R5913:2, 3130:1

Hope to come -- The Apostle assures us of their expectant attitude. R3192:1

The hope of Israel centered in God's Oath-bound Covenant to Abraham. (Gen. 22:18) R4501:2, 4451:4; PT38:2; CR48:5

To the promises which God made to our fathers. (Gen. 28:14) R2085:5, 5837:2

The whole twelve tribes of Israel were still waiting for the fulfillment of those promises in the Apostle's day. R2854:6

All true Israelites had this promise distinctly before their minds as their great hope. R2245:3

A promise which all Jews are hoping will have fulfillment. R4501:2

It was the basis of all their hope and faith and trust. R4497:1; PT59:1

Hoping for and "waiting for the consolation of Israel" (Luke 2:25) through the long-promised Messiah. R4098:3

They will get those special blessings. God's gifts and callings are sure. (Rom. 11:29-32) R4320:3

A thing incredible -- This hope has always been deemed a heresy, even by the systems that "allow" a resurrection, while denying it virtually.

R822:6*

It seems easier for the great mass of Christendom to believe the doctrine of heathendom, that life is inherent in man, that he cannot die, than to believe the doctrine of the Bible. NS281:3

With men such a thing seems quite impossible. R604:2*

If God has power to create and to destroy, has he not power to restore or re-create that which he destroyed? Surely this is not beyond the scope of divine power. R846:5, 763:3, 604:3*

Raise the dead -- Not in any "ray of divinity" inherent in man. R822:6*

Its realization was made sure, in the resurrection of Christ. R751:2, 875:3*

The basis of this hope is Jesus only, who is "The resurrection and the life." (John 11:25) R822:6*

Through the ransom. R875:3*

"If there be no resurrection of the dead; then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished." (1 Cor. 15:13, 18) R1259:2, 1018:1*

The root of the blessedness is the resurrection of the dead, the removal of the curse which is resting upon man and his entire environment.

The resurrection is re-standing in man's original state and condition.

R1436:1

I verily thought -- He verily thought he did God's service. R551:1, 5172:6

Paul's heart was right in the matter, even when his head and his hands were in the wrong. R1444:3

Paul was not a bad man, but a good man, laboring under blindness and misapprehension. R2823:3; CR467:1

Blind hatred which led him to persecute inoffensive fellow-creatures, simply because they believed that Jesus died and rose again. R5034:2

Many good people have believed and taught error in all good conscience. A12

I punished them -- Paul explained how once he also had opposed Jesus and persecuted his followers. R4501:4, 3197:2

He was an injurer of the saints and a persecutor. R2823:3

He persecuted St. Stephen and others of the early Church. R5172:6

Exceedingly mad -- In his religious zeal. R2823:3

Acts 26:13

A light from heaven -- The appearance or manifestation of Jesus.

A proof that Jesus was raised from the dead, in glory and honor, and immortality of the divine nature. R5034:4

Paul, who replaced Judas, was thus made a witness of the Lord's glory, after his resurrection and ascension. R1522:2

Brightness of the sun -- No Scriptures say that Jesus arose in the flesh. R5222:2

The glory of his presence. R5830:2, 3375:2, 1817:4, 1416:4

Spiritual bodies are truly glorious; yet without a miracle, either by the opening of our eyes to see them, or their appearing in the flesh as men they are invisible. R579:1

The Apostle Paul was the only one of the disciples who saw our Lord "as he is." (1 John 3:2) HG347:3

The Apostle Paul was granted a mere glimpse of the glorious Christ, and the effect was the destruction of his sight. NS459:3; R5416:6, 579:1

Shining round about -- Saul himself was evidently the center of the manifestation. R2117:5

Journeyed with me -- "The men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man." (Acts 9:7) R579:1

Fallen to the earth -- Seeing Jesus in his glory, Saul was smitten to the earth and seriously blinded. R5299:2

A voice -- Only Saul could distinguish the words, meant for him alone. R2117:6

Why persecutest -- Paul's continued weak eyes remained a reminder of his wrong course; and an appreciation of the close relationship between the Church and the Lord. R4433:2

The pricks -- One of which was doubtless his remembrance of the beautiful lovelit countenance of Stephen at the time of martyrdom. R2952:5

Acts 26:15

I am Jesus -- The Church is the mystical Body of Jesus. R5054:4

We now know him as the King of glory (Psa. 24:7-10); the same who was dead, but who is now highly exalted. R1693:1

Whom thou persecutest -- When Saul was persecuting some of the members of the Church, he was persecuting Jesus. R5213:4

I have appeared -- It was necessary that every one of the apostles should be a witness to testify that Jesus not only died, but was risen from the dead. CR467:1

Darkness to light -- Ignorance to truth. A18, 20

The power of Satan -- Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609; R3165:6

Our Lord and the apostles made frequent references to Satan. R3165:6

Forgiveness of sins -- The full and complete forgiveness of all those who are truly repentant and who desire to draw nigh to God through Christ. Q832:4

Which are sanctified -- These are the sons of God, "the children of God." (Rom. 8:16) R555:5*

Me -- Jesus. R555:5*

Not disobedient -- His own willingness. R4356:3

Saul's prompt obedience and instantaneous change of conduct were indicative of a noble character and showed an earnest desire to be active in the service of God. R1444:6

Nor did the zeal of this faithful soldier of the cross abate in the least, until he had finished his course. R1445:1

Let us who have seen in the light of this harvest-time the light of the Lord's presence, be faithful to our privileges and opportunities in letting the light that has shined into our hearts and minds so shine out to others. R2825:6

The coasts of Judea -- Possibly during the two years prior to his first going to Antioch. R3197:3

Then to the Gentiles -- Because realizing the change of dispensation by which God's grace was not confined any longer to the Jews only. R3197:3

For these causes -- They were opposed to Jesus, but specially opposed to the giving of his gospel to the Gentiles--the teaching that the Gentiles might now enjoy equal privileges with the Jews in respect to God's favor. R3197:3

Acts 26:22

Help of God -- The Apostle does not give credit for his deliverance to Lysias, but speaking from the highest standpoint, he gave the credit for his deliverance to the Lord. R3197:3

To small and great -- During the two years of the Apostle's imprisonment he had been witnessing to such of the soldiers or servants or commanders of the camp as seemed to have a hearing ear. R3197:4

The prophets and Moses -- All his preaching was in harmony with the statements of Moses and the prophets. R2618:4

Should be the first -- Others, indeed, had been awakened from the sleep of death, but none previous to our Lord was raised up out of death completely to the full perfection of life. NS282:6, 284:3, 637:2, 783:2 The raising of Jairus' daughter was not a resurrection, nor were any of the other awakenings from death, excepting that of Christ. R2618:2, 3563:4, 1259:1; HG136:1; NS284:3, 637:1, 783:2

"Become the first-fruits of them that slept" (1 Cor. 15:20); "the first-born from the dead." (Col. 1:18) R3563:3, 1259:2, 3174:4; NS637:1 There are to be others who similarly will pass completely out of death conditions into perfect life. R3563:4

Jesus, and all those who are raised to the divine nature, are sharers in the chief, most excellent, or first resurrection. R227:2

To say that Moses appeared in reality on the holy mount would be to deny those Scriptures which state that Jesus was the first to rise from the dead. (Matt. 17:3; 2 Pet. 1:18) R4142:4

Rise from the dead -- By the Father's power. (2 Cor. 13:4) R3174:4

The "hope of Israel" was the "resurrection from the dead." (Acts 23:6) Its realization made sure in the resurrection of Christ. R751:2*

The whole dispute between himself and the Jews was in respect to whether or not Jesus arose from the dead. R4501:2

The Body, the Church, will not be raised up until its completion in the end of the Gospel age. R3174:4

And should -- During the Millennial age. R3197:5

Shew light -- "The true light that lighteth every man." (John 1:9)
R3197:4

Unto the people -- The Jewish people. R3197:4

And to the Gentiles -- The Lord is yet to be the true light that will lighten every man, every member of our race. R3197:5

Includes a hope of perfecting for many now ignorant, sinful, unjustified.

Festus -- Who had no knowledge of the Jewish hopes and promises. R3197:5

Much learning -- A course of previous training is very noticeable in the case of the Apostle Paul. (See Gal. 1:15; Acts 22:3) R1651:4

Doth make thee mad -- Your head is turned; you are painting fancy pictures when you tell us of a great God, our Creator, and that he cares for us. Surely this is your own imagination! R3197:5

We are not to expect sympathy from the world. R2616:3

From the worldly standpoint the true follower of Jesus is branded a fanatic, a fool, unbalanced. R4501:5

"We are counted as fools for Christ's sake." (1 Cor. 4:10) A86

Acts 26:25

I am not mad -- With the eye of faith the Christian sees glory, honor and immortality, (Rom. 2:7) and a share with the Redeemer in the Millennial Kingdom. R4501:5

From the Christian's standpoint, the worldly are unwise and money-mad. The worldly see merely the earthly things, the transitory. R4501:5

Words of truth and soberness -- Truth, rightly divided, and fairly presented, commands the respect even of its opponents. Its symmetry and beauty will irresistibly stamp itself upon the mind. R646:4

The king knoweth -- King Agrippa was evidently considerably informed along the lines of the teaching of the Law and the prophets. R3197:5

Not done in a corner -- The declaration of the Gospel had created so much commotion amongst the Jews. It was a public matter of general knowledge. R3198:2,4

Believest thou the prophets? -- Paul appealed to Agrippa. Did he not believe the prophecies cited? R4501:5
Anyone believing them to be inspired could not doubt that Jesus was the Messiah. R3198:4

Agrippa -- Herod Agrippa I was the grandson of Herod the Great, the murderer of the babes of Bethlehem. He was nephew of Herod Antipas, who beheaded John the Baptist. It was his son, Agrippa II, before whom the famous address was made by St. Paul. R4346:2, 3002:3

He saw that God is a God of justice; that Paul was suffering for right-doing and that he was suffering for wrong-doing. R4993:5

Desiring the good will of the people, even at the cost of principle. R4346:3

Almost -- But he did not take the necessary step of fully consecrating his life and its every interest to the Lord and his cause. NS159:1

But how hardly the rich enter into the kingdom! (Mark 10:23) R1569:1

Thou persuadest -- To believe the prophets is to believe in Christianity. R1569:4

He had heard the things which led him to appreciate his own fallen condition. R4993:5

Christian -- As they were known in early times. R584:3

Having the thought pass before his mind, however, did not make Agrippa a saint. R4993:5

A Christian is a person who believes he is by nature a sinner, that Jesus died for his sins, and that through the atoning blood he has become a new creature in Christ Jesus. (2 Cor. 5:17) OV356:1

Hear me this day -- As in the words to the thief, "Verily, I say unto thee today." (Luke 23:43) F668, 669; R2011:5*

Such as I am -- I wish that all who hear me this day were like me, Christians, consecrated even unto death. R2011:5*

Except these bonds -- During the two years of his detention in Caesarea, Paul had enjoyed the greatest liberty to preach the Gospel, all the while under the protection of the government as an imperial prisoner. R1569:4, 4500:3

King. . .and Bernice -- Who were nominal Jews (really Edomites). R3197:1

Nothing worthy of death -- The verdict. R646:5

No real charges could be made out. R1569:2

Agrippa -- He received and kindly entreated the Christians who fled to him for protection from persecution. R3198:4

Had not appealed -- Paul more than once appealed to the law for justice and protection from his enemies. R954:3*

Sail into Italy -- In company with other prisoners and under a strong guard. R3204:2, 1568:6, 1569:2

Acts 27:2

We -- Paul's company seems to have consisted of Luke, the writer of this account, who uses the pronoun we; Trophimus (Acts 21:29); Aristarchus. R2222:1, 4505:3

Courteously entreated -- Paul found favor in the eyes of the captain of the guard. R1569:2

Acts 27:6

He put us therein -- They were transferred to an Egyptian vessel laden with a cargo of wheat and passengers enroute to Rome. R4505:3

Acts 27:9

Paul admonished them -- Possibly the result of his own judgment of the weather and his experience as a sail maker. R3204:3 Much time was spent -- They tarried at the port of Fair Havens for better weather. Thus they were delayed until about October 1st, the Jewish New Year's Day. R4505:3

Acts 27:10

Also of our lives -- Greek, psuche; souls, beings. E338

The more part -- Those in authority. R4505:3

A conference was held respecting the wisdom of wintering there or going on. R3204:2

Phenice -- A larger port. R4505:3

Tempestuous wind -- A northeast wind (typhonic) struck the vessel suddenly. R4505:3

Undergirding the ship -- By placing chains and ropes under her keel. R4505:6

Lightened the ship -- By casting overboard her heavier furniture, tackle, etc. R4505:6

Acts 27:20

Neither sun nor stars -- The Captain could not tell his whereabouts, for the compass had not yet been invented. R4505:6

No small tempest -- "The voyage of life" frequently resembles the one of this study. R4506:1

"Jesus Savior, pilot me over life's tempestuous sea." (hymn) R4506:1

Acts 27:22

Now I exhort you -- After receiving the assurances of safety, the Apostle made the matter known to the ship's company. R3204:6

Whatever we know that is good or comforting or refreshing to ourselves, we should dispense to others. R3205:1

We should be prompt to tell others the best tidings we have. R3205:1

Be of good cheer -- Throughout the storm all had lost courage and hope but him. R4506:3

Of any man's life -- Greek, psuche; soul, being. E338

But of the ship -- Divine providence alone can effect the ultimate salvation, through the wrecking of the earthen vessel. R4506:2

There stood my me -- It was not for any wrongdoing that Paul was permitted to suffer as a prisoner. In the very midst of his trouble, the Lord showed him favor. F227; R1526:5,6

Fear not, Paul -- The Lord manifested his favor and encouraged him. The Apostle must have felt strengthened by this vision, and assurance of divine care. R3190:1

The Lord may lead in mysterious ways regarding our temporal matters and our service for him and his cause; but meantime he may permit trials and difficulties of various kinds to come as storms upon us. R3204:3 It was in obedience to his convictions of duty that he braved all those predicted adversities. F227; R1526:5

Thou must be brought -- That is, on his account all the passengers and crew should escape with their lives from the wreck. R1569:2

That sail with thee -- The Lord constantly witnessed with him to the truth of the gospel, by miracles and signs which mightily convinced the people. R1558:5

The divine care which accompanies the saints often proves a great blessing to their companions, even though, as in this case, they are worldly and unregenerate. R3204:5

Acts 27:25

Be of good cheer -- The true Christian in proper relationship with the Lord has at all times "the peace of God, which passeth all understanding." (Phil. 4:7) R4506:1

Near to some country -- The trained ears of the seamen in the night caught the sounds of the surf. R4506:3

And as the shipmen -- Illustrating their selfish character, which explains why the Apostle did not preach the Gospel to them. R3205:2

About to flee -- The sailors were selfishly intent upon using the only small boat available for their escape, and premeditated leaving the soldiers and the prisoners on the vessel. R3205:2, 1569:5

Paul said -- When he discerned the evident intention of the sailors to escape in the small boat, leaving the passengers, unable to guide the vessel, at the mercy of the sea. R3205:4

Ye cannot be saved -- That the deliverance would not be forced upon them, nor would it be granted to them without their cooperation. R1569:5
We have something to do in realizing the gracious promises of God to us. R3205:4

While praying and trusting, let us not slack our hands as respects the proper use of earthly means. R4506:6

Cut off the ropes -- The soldiers took immediate measures to frustrate the selfish scheme of the shipmen by cutting the ropes and letting the life-boat drift away, so the crew would use their efforts for the salvation of all. R1569:6

Acts 27:34

Take some meat -- He urged them to take food that they might be strengthened for the strenuous exertions of the coming day. R4506:3

He took bread -- An ordinary repast for the satisfying of hunger and not as a memorial or symbol of our Lord's death. R1382:5

276 souls -- Beings. R205:2

With a shore -- Now known as St. Paul's Bay in the island of Malta. R4506:5

And the soldiers -- Whose unworthiness to hear the Gospel message was thus shown. R3205:2

Kill the prisoners -- Perceiving that the vessel would go to pieces, and that thus some prisoners might escape, they counselled their destruction. R3205:2, 1569:6

Some on boards -- Some by swimming and others by floating on wreckage, reached the land. R3205:5

They escaped -- Thus on Paul's account, all the passengers and crew escaped with their lives from the wreck. R1569:2, 1569:6
Through the favor of the centurion. R1569:6

Island was called Melita -- Now called the Island of Malta. R4506:5

Barbarous people -- So called because they did not speak Greek, but Phoenician. R4506:6

No little kindness -- Yet there is no record that the Apostle or Luke or Aristarchus made any effort to conduct evangelistic meetings among them. The Apostle seemingly knew that they were too degraded to be called with the high calling. R3205:2, 2691:3, 1347:6

Gathered a bundle of sticks -- He stood not on any dignity or assumed superiority to be served, but promptly assisted in serving the interests of the entire company. R4506:6

Acts 28:5

Felt no harm -- The Lord constantly witnessed with him, by miracles and signs which mightily convinced the people. R1558:5

Healed him -- The Apostle Paul healed the multitudes, but did not cure himself. R1689:4

Although so far as we have any information the Apostle did not attempt to preach the Gospel message. Evidently he did not consider them to be "good ground." R4507:1

Which had diseases -- He sent napkins and handkerchiefs to the diseased, but when the consecrated were sick he sent none to them. R1689:4

After three months -- Early in the spring of AD 60. R4507:1

Puteoli -- The Bay of Naples, the seaport of Rome, which is 150 miles inland. R4507:1

With them seven days -- The Centurion awaiting orders from Rome respecting the disposal of his prisoners. R4507:1

They came to meet us -- The welcome faces of brethren. R1570:1
Paul had a considerable number of kinsmen and acquaintances in Rome, the number was at least over thirty two (Rom. 16:1-5). These visited him speedily. R3208:3

Appii forum -- 43 miles distant from Rome. R4507:2

The three taverns -- 30 miles from the great city. R4507:2

Rome -- The very center of influence at that time. R3208:5

Captain of the guard -- Julius, who is supposed to have been the prefect of the Praetorium, a man of good repute. R3208:5

But Paul -- As result of Festus' letter to Caesar and the favorable impression the Apostle made upon the centurion in connection with the shipwreck. R3208:1

With a soldier -- A guard, changed every few hours, to whom the Apostle was constantly chained. Probably a considerable number of the garrison had personal contact with the Apostle. R3208:1

That kept him -- Many were brought into contact with Christian teachings and example. It is claimed that through these soldiers that the Gospel message was carried to France, Germany and Great Britain. R4507:3, 3208:2

After three days -- The first step, after his arrival and settlement in Rome, was to call together the chief of the Jews in Rome. R1570:1
The Apostle was energetic in seeking to be about the Master's business. R3208:3

The Jews together -- At this time there were seven synagogues at Rome. R4507:3

He said unto them -- The Apostle did not attempt to preach the Gospel at this first interview, but simply introduced himself and his message and made an appointment for a future meeting. R3209:1, 1570:2

He explained briefly the cause of the opposition of the Jews, the necessity of his appeal to Caesar and the assurance that he had naught to accuse his own nation. R3208:6

Committed nothing -- Was not disloyal to his nation or its customs. R4507:4

Acts 28:20

The hope of Israel -- Israel had a hope, and because of his loyalty to Israel and Israel's hope, he suffered imprisonment. R3208:6
It was in the promise of a Messiah and the establishment of his Kingdom. R1570:1

The blessedness promised to that nation, and through it to all the nations of the earth. R1435:4*

Its realization made sure in the resurrection of Christ. R751:2

See also comments on Acts 26:6,7.

Bound with this chain -- Under the care of a soldier to whom he was lightly chained. R4507:3, 3208:1

Acts 28:22

We desire to hear -- They had received no letter or communications injurious to the Apostle, and expressed a desire to hear for themselves what St. Paul had to say, because they knew this sect was spoken against as evil. R4507:4, 3209:1

This sect -- The Greek word is airesis, heresy; but modern English definition has been changed. R1130:6, 3792:3,4

The Church of Christ is neither a sect nor an aggregation of sects; it is one and indivisible. It is Christ and all who are united to him. R1576:3, 413:5

This church was a sect itself--a split off from the Jewish church. R538:2
Christians are a separated class--separate from the world--separate from sinners--separate from all others; in that they accept of Jesus, and salvation through his blood. R538:2

There should be no schism or division of this sect; all who are of it should be one. (1 Cor. 12:25) R538:2

Everywhere -- Good men and bad men may have both friends and enemies, but it is reserved for the pure Gospel and those who uphold it to be everywhere spoken against. R3209:1, 811:3*

He expounded -- He was ready with all his strong arguments. R1570:2
Showing from the Law and the prophecies that Jesus is the Messiah and that he is now gathering a spiritual seed to be his Kingdom. R4507:5
Showing the types of the Law, the necessity for an antitypical sin-offering and the necessity for an antitypical Prophet, Priest and King, and the predictions of the prophets. R3209:2

Some believed not -- It is always thus. The truth is a searcher and discerner of hearts and a separator. R4507:6, 3209:2,3

Acts 28:25

Paul had spoken -- When some refused the message, he quoted from Isaiah, how God foretold that the majority of the Jews would reject the message. (Isa. 6:9,10) R4507:5

Dull of hearing -- Were unworthy of the knowledge and the call. R1347:6
A rebuke which the Lord so frequently applied to the Jews. (Matt. 13:15)
R1570:4

Should heal -- Greek, iaomai; as in "Pray one for another that ye may be healed." (James 5:16) Has also the significance of "saved." (Matt. 13:15)

Can be applied in a moral or spiritual sense. R4099:5*

Salvation of God -- Another way of expressing the blessedness promised in the Abrahamic Covenant. R1435:4*

Unto the Gentiles -- Who should enjoy the privilege of which they had judged themselves unworthy. R1570:4

Two whole years -- Awaiting the due process of the law--the arrival of witness from Jerusalem, the formulating of charges, etc. R1570:4
His liberty. R1827:4; F672

His own hired house -- Apartments. R3208:2

It was here that Paul wrote the epistles to the Philippians, Galatians, Ephesians, Colossians and to Philemon. R3208:5, 1570:5

It is possible that his necessities were met by his friends or that by this time he had inherited considerable patrimony from his father's estate. R3208:2, 2969:1

Implying Paul inherited a patrimony which enabled him to live with numerous conveniences enjoyed at that time only by the wealthy. R4355:2

We should do the Father's will as the necessities of the work may require it, if expedient to have a dwelling place entirely consecrated to his work. R540:6*

Just as we have today, generally small, their usual meeting places were private dwellings or rented upper rooms. R984:2

In no respect did those early associations of gatherings resemble those of Babylon, "mother" or daughters, today. R984:2

All that came in -- Those who are kept prisoners at home by family duties, illness, etc., should both pray and expect that the Lord would bring to them such as might be benefitted by their ministries of the truth. R3209:4

No man forbidding -- But his enemies used this against him, "Hoping to add afflictions" (Phil. 1:16) to his bonds. F672

Following this, tradition says, the Apostle was liberated, and again visited the churches of Asia Minor and Spain, and later came again a prisoner to Rome and was decapitated. R3209:6, 1827:4, 1570:5

Probably during this latter imprisonment Paul wrote his epistles to Timothy and Titus. R3209:6

Paul is summarized as deeply religious, whole-souled, ardent, energetic, persevering, broad-minded, affectionate, loving; a great traveler, author, orator, organizer, missionary, philosopher; a genius, the Moses of the New Testament. R4355:3

Romans

General

Written after Paul left Ephesus, presumably at Corinth. R3182:5 Somewhere about the year 4188 A.M.--about 1812 years before the Millennial dawning. R3030:5

We now come to the study of one of the most notable of all the Pauline epistles, the epistle to the Romans. Apparently this noble production, like the other epistles, was the result of merely accidental circumstances: Paul, while in Corinth, saw an opportunity to send greetings and counsel to the church at Rome by the hand of Phoebe, who was about to sail thither; and, in consideration of their condition and circumstances, he wrote this letter. The church at Rome was composed of both Jews and Gentiles, and naturally there were among them some unsettled questions incidental to the transition from Judaism to Christianity, which the Apostle in this epistle endeavors to adjust. This epistle was sent from Corinth. It was dictated by Paul and written by Tertius, at the house of one of the Corinthian Christians--Gaius. Up to the date of its writing Paul had never been in Rome. It is not known how the church at Rome started, though there were Christians there who had been in the way for many years. It was probably one of the results of the outpouring of the holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost; for on that occasion there were present "strangers from Rome." (Acts 2:10) These probably returned to Rome with the blessings of the gospel, and began to live Christian lives and to preach the truth to others; and a company of believers, even in the midst of that corrupt city, was the result. It was the capital city of a great and powerful empire, presenting all the contrasts of wealth and poverty and all the hideous deformities of sin. Yet God could work even there, and his Word was quick and powerful. R1582:1,2,4 Paul was expecting soon to visit Rome, that imperial city, the mistress of the world. R220:3*, 402:6*

The early churches, whether composed of Jews or Gentiles, although they had accepted of Christ and had become his disciples, were still largely influenced by their former Jewish ideas and prejudices. And until these prejudices were overcome, growth in grace, in the knowledge of the truth, and in the full assurance of faith, was greatly hindered. It was with this thought in mind and that he might assist the Jews to a humble recognition of their position, as well as to encourage and strengthen the Gentile believers, that Paul wrote his remarkable letter to the church at Rome. Paul's letter to the Romans was part of his effort to free both Jews and Gentiles from the former yoke of Judaism, and to lead them to implicit confidence in Christ as the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth, whether Jew or Gentile, as well as to give them a clear appreciation of the chief favor of God now offered, and the conditions on which it might be obtained. R1140:1,2,3, 868:3 The epistle to the Romans was intended as a vindication of the plan of God and his dealings with the world, Israel, and the Gospel Church, past, present and future. R929:3 While the Apostle Paul was a wonderful logician, and in his writings has set forth more than any other Apostle, yet we notice that he is in pursuit of a certain object; he is not beating the air, not discussing theological points for the sake of making an argument or showing his own ability. His arguments along doctrinal lines lead the reader in every instance onward and upward, as a stairway, to a grand upper room of perfected Christian character: and nowhere is this more manifest than in his epistle to the Romans. R2212:3

Paraphrase of the first eight chapters of the epistle--R1223:3-1224.
Summary of first six chapters--R929:3-931

Romans 1:1

An apostle -- Penned by a divinely inspired Apostle, the early Church carefully cherished this epistle, and thus we still have it today. R1582:1 The selection of Matthias to fill the place of Judas as the twelfth apostle was a blunder. The Lord had his own choice for this office. R2823:2, 2657:5

Romans 1:3

Our Lord -- He was our Savior or Redeemer first, and having bought, ransomed, us from the dominion of death, he became rightfully our owner, our Lord, our Master. R745:4; E17

Seed of David -- Jesus is still the seed of Abraham (and of David), though highly exalted and now of a totally different nature--of the divine nature. R3513:2

Jesus the Christ was the Son of Man, not in the sense of simply being a man, but because he was the son of the man David, with whom Jehovah made an everlasting covenant. R944:1*

He is "the root and the off-spring of David" since his exaltation as well as before. (Rev. 22:16) R160:1*

According to the flesh -- "The Word became flesh." (John 1:14--R.V.)

"God sent forth his Son, made of a woman." (Gal. 4:4) R3476:4

Referring to his change to a human being. R316:2*

Not incarnate. R3476:3

But not according to imperfect flesh. R196:3

Declared to be -- Proved to be. R1508:3

It is one thing that Jehovah accepted the ransom price and manifested his acceptance by the resurrection of our Lord and the descent of the holy Spirit at Pentecost; quite another thing will be the deliverance from death of the redeemed ones. R2051:1

The resurrection did not make him the Son of God, but declared the fact. R106:5*

The Son of God -- If he was the Son of God, and also Son of Man, he had two natures. R106:5*

With power -- Might and authority. R810:1

"All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." (Matt. 18:18) R810:1
Agreeing with Peter's testimony (1 Pet. 3:18), that Jesus was quickened in spirit. R2797:2

Or, powerfully declared. R106:5*

By the resurrection -- The might, authority, or power, was gained by his sacrifice. It was recognized of God and declared to men by his resurrection. R810:1, 745:1

Our Lord's baptism did not constitute him The Christ in the full sense of the word, but he was declared to be The Christ with power when he was raised upon the spirit plane. R5090:2

The death of Christ was necessary, but, in itself, is not the medium of blessedness. In resurrection, in immortality, Christ is the root of the medium of blessedness for all the nations. R1436:4*

Romans 1:5

Apostleship -- Since all of the apostles must be eye-witnesses of Christ's resurrection, Paul was caused to see him--"last of all he was seen of me also; who am not meet to be called an apostle." (1 Cor. 15:9)
R162:5

Romans 1:7

To all that be in Rome -- Up to this time Paul had never been in Rome.

It is not known how the Church at Rome started. It was probably one of the results of the outpouring of the holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost.

Composed of both Jews and Gentiles; and naturally there were among them some unsettled questions incidental to the transition from Judaism to Christianity. R1582:1

Some of these were probably converts from amongst the Gentiles, while undoubtedly a considerable proportion were converts from Judaism. R2719:2

Apparently, like other epistles, written as the result of accidental circumstances. Paul, while in Corinth, saw opportunity to send greetings and counsel to the Church of Rome by the hand of Phoebe, who was about to sail thither. R1582:1

Called to be saints -- But not called as apostles. R1582:4

The Apostle addressed Christians and not the worldly. R4478:2, 5941:3, 3181:3

We are to recognize a great difference between calling men to repentance and calling them to the high calling of the divine nature and joint heirship with Christ. F87

The word "saint" does not signify actual perfection, merely, as in our Lord's case, but also those reckoned holy through him. R2987:4, 5856:3

Those who cannot properly apply this term to themselves cannot properly apply to themselves the exceeding great and precious promises contained in these epistles, for they are addressed to and meant for the saints. R2987:4

First, "honored" with light; second, they had, by repentance and faith accepted it and been justified; third, they had been "called;" fourth, they had accepted the calling and given themselves wholly to the Lord.

Not only justified by faith in Jesus, but have obtained by consecration, sacrifice, access into "this grace"--the begetting and promises of the divine nature. R648:6

The call is with a view to finding amongst men some who shall become one with the Redeemer as new creatures. F87

Romans 1:9

With my spirit -- Greek, pneuma; my new mind, my new heart, my renewed will. E312

Romans 1:11

Some spiritual gift -- Such as the gifts of tongues and interpretations, some of which were given to all the early Christians by laying on of the apostles' hands, and never in any other way. R1582:4

Romans 1:12

Mutual faith -- Illustrated by the two blind men healed by Jesus (Matt. 9:27-31). Showing the advantages of Church fellowship in respect to faith stimulation. Let us be helpers and not hinderers to fellow-pilgrims.

R4589:1

Romans 1:14

I am debtor -- Under obligation, not because they had done something for Paul, but because God through Christ had done something for them, and Paul, as the servant of God, was charged with the commission to preach the gospel unto all nations. R1582:4

Romans 1:15

As much as in me is -- To the extent of my ability. R1582:5

I am -- God works through instrumentalities, and his truth is the instrument for human salvation. R1582:5

Ready to preach -- Not that we will be out of accord with our brethren and neighbors, but that to the Lord and his Word we must be true. We love to tell the story, and to refrain from doing so would be woe to us. (1 Cor. 9:16) R4006:5

You that are at Rome -- Implying that Christianity was already established at Rome before Paul's going there. R3143:3

I am not ashamed -- Paul had no feeling that the gospel of Christ would not withstand the light and criticism of Rome, then the capital city of the world. R1223:3

Paul was not ashamed to bring it into contrast and competition with all the philosophies of men then extant. R1582:5

The gospel, the good news, is so good and so grand, that those who really see and understand it, have no occasion for feeling shame when they tell it to others. R921:3

We need not be bashful or ashamed to talk about it before the whole world. CR56:6

It needs no apology on God's part, neither on the part of any of his ambassadors. R921:3

The Lord puts his plan, his Word, as his representative, saying--He that is ashamed of me and my words, of him will the Son of Man be ashamed when he cometh in the glory of his Father with his holy angels. (Mark 8:38) R2597:4

Even in the Apostle's day, he noted the tendency of the Adversary to bring in false doctrines. He was not only ashamed of his false gospel, but denounced it and warned the Church of it. NS538:2

There may be certain creeds of which we might be ashamed, but the Christian religion, as presented in the Word of God, should be the standard of Christendom: and of that we are not ashamed. R4981:3; CR192:2

In contrast, at the World Parliament of Religions, while the faith of various heathen religions were elaborately set forth by their representatives, there was no systematic presentation of Christianity.

D187

The gospel of Christ -- Gospel signifies good news, glad tidings, something to make one rejoice and be glad. R402:3*, 4982:4, 2593:5, 220:2*
The primary "good tidings" is the news of our ransom--that Christ died for our sins. R923:4

The religion of Christ is the most God-like religion, because of its breadth, its justice, its impartiality, its love, its goodness and merciful qualities. R4982:3*, 220:2*

Its ingredients delineated. NS539-540

Contrasted with the religion of Mohammedans, Brahmins, Confucians and Buddhists and found superior by recognizing God's justice, including the concept of love and being world-wide. R4981-4982; CR192-194

Contrasted with the gospel of the Roman Catholic faith, Calvinism and Arminianism. R2593-2597, 402-405*, 220-222*; NS843-844; A100

Contrasted with four false messages. R924-925

For it -- The divine promises of present and future blessings are the power of God unto our cleansing, our salvation. R5739:4

The power of God -- His Word and providence. R3282:1

By which he works in us, first to will aright, and then to do right.

R1698:6

Unto salvation -- This gospel has in our hearts a transforming and renewing power, a sanctifying power, which no error could possibly have.

Unto our cleansing. R5739:4

What a transforming influence upon our lives--by the renewing of our minds. (Rom. 12:2) CR56:6

All religions say that it is divine justice that is opposed to sin, but Christianity offers a satisfaction for divine justice: "Christ died for our sins." (1 Cor. 15:3) R4982:2; CR193:2

As Paul said to Timothy, "From a child thou hast known the holy scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation." (2 Tim. 3:15-17) R200:5

That believeth -- And not to every one. R1582:5

Receiving the spirit of that Word into good and honest hearts. R1698:6

To the Jew first -- Until AD 70. R4337:2

God's blessings of every kind begin with the Jew. He gave the Jew the first opportunity under the Abrahamic Covenant. And when it comes to the blessings of the New Covenant, the opportunity will come to the Jew first.

Millennial blessings will begin with Israel. OV88:3

Out of respect to the Covenant made with their father Abraham. R1582:5

The offer to become spiritual Israelites made first to the Jews living when this privilege was opened up. R5837:1

When all the Israelites indeed of that nation had been selected, the opportunity of joint-heirship with Christ was then opened to the world in general. NS111:2

Why to the Jew first? "He is not a Jew who is one outwardly; but he is a Jew who is one inwardly." (Rom. 2:28, 29) Because he believes first, here, in time to reach the great salvation. R404:5*, 222:5

To the Greek -- The Gentiles. R1582:5

For -- Because. R924:4

Therein -- In the gospel. R1582:5

Paul is proceeding to answer objections and doubts liable to be raised by Jewish converts among the Romans. R1223:3

The righteousness -- Justice. R924:4 Revealed -- Paul's message revealed the righteousness, the justice of God, which other messages did not. R925:1 The deep philosophy of God's plan makes manifest his righteous character. R1582:5

From faith to faith -- We must come with faith begotten of reverence for the all-wise Author of the plan. From this starting point faith will progress to higher and higher altitudes. R1582:5

To our faith, for our further faith. R924:4, 926:4

"For the righteousness of God by faith is revealed therein in order to faith" (Diaglott) R759:6*

His righteousness is revealed for the express purpose of inducing men to have faith in him. R759:6*

The just -- The justified by faith. R1582:5

Shall live -- Must continue to live by faith, until faith is lost in full fruition of the sure promises of God. R1582:5

The wrath of God -- As retribution for their wrong course. NS111:4

The entire period from the time Adam fell is properly called a time of divine wrath. R5402:4, 1506:4

Death and all the evil now permitted to come upon the culprit race are manifestations of God's wrath which will be yet further shown in the great time of trouble. R1506:5, 5402:5, 4972:6, 787:1; CR185:6

It came through the disobedience of our first parents; the only ones who have escaped from that wrath are the saintly few, begotten of the holy Spirit. CR186:4

"The wicked shall not go unpunished" (Prov. 11:21); but the wrath of God is always just, and tempered with mercy. "His mercy endureth forever." (Psa. 106:1; 107:1; 118:1-4; 136) HG319:4

Is revealed -- Displayed. R787:3

In a variety of ways, to let man feel the real weight of condemnation incurred by willful transgression. R5402:5

In every funeral procession, in every ache and pain. A140

Revealed by every physician's and undertaker's sign, by every funeral procession, every hearse, every graveyard, every tombstone, every piece of crepe and every badge of mourning. E409; NS366:3; Q328

You feel it, and you see it all about you in the dying of our race. Q328

Not in a future life, and in flames of torment; but in the present life and at the present time. E409

Illustrated in the punishment of Ananias and Sapphira. R1426:1

Against all ungodliness -- Not only against the grossest of sinners--for the least unrighteousness is sin. E409

Therefore it is plain that both the heirs and the subjects of the Kingdom of God must have that character which is both begotten and developed by the faith of the gospel. R3114:2

Who hold the truth -- Greek, katecho; hold down, or suppress, as do the various ecclesiastical systems of Babylon. R3648:2, 5259:1

In this text the word hold is used, not in the sense of retaining the truth, but of oppressing it. R5259:1

He cannot see the virtues of a truly righteous character as an inspiring and impelling power, though he may know of them theoretically, and hold the truth even in unrighteousness. R2087:6*

In unrighteousness -- Through injustice. D68

Meaning to have a knowledge of the truth that we do not live up to. Not to live according to the truth would be to hold it in unrighteousness.

It might be possible for any of us to depart from the spirit of the truth and still hold something of the letter of the truth, and to use the letter of the truth injuriously to ourselves and others. Q720:T

Knowledge does not necessarily produce right practice. A clean theology includes the "duties we are to practice" as well as the "doctrines we are to believe." R85:2*

If knowledge is righteousness Paul should not and would not have written as he did. The nature of the unrighteousness is apparent in the context. R49:6*

For instance, Satan had certain knowledge respecting the Lord, and misused that knowledge. Also, Simon Magus, in the Acts, misused what knowledge he had of the truth. Q720:T

Manifest in them -- Apparent among them. D69

The invisible things -- His plans. C374

The things that are made -- As in the Great Pyramid. C374

There are two Bibles issuing from the same Divine Author: the Bible of the unwritten word, and the Bible of the written word; or, rather, one Bible in two volumes, the volume of Nature and the volume of Scripture; and the first volume is the second volume illustrated. R29:6*

Godhead -- Greek, theiotes, deity. This is the only occurrence of this word in the New Testament. E71, D69; R1515:4

A meaningless word, a bad translation. It should be rendered divinity or deity, and then it would be intelligible. R1515:4, 249:1*

Divinity. (Rotherham) R249:1*

The word godhead, like the word Trinity, carries with it the idea of a society, which is not the idea of the original. R249:1

Signifying, to the ordinary English reader, a God with several bodies and but one head. E71

So that -- Having the testimony of nature as to the existence, power and goodness of God, and of conscience indicating what is right and what is wrong. D69

They -- The heathen nations have not been without responsibility because they did not like to hold God's righteous authority in remembrance. D68

Are without excuse -- In pursuing an evil course of life. D69

God is not chargeable with any injustice toward the degraded heathen. It is their own fault that they are so extremely degraded. HG354:1

When -- In the remote past. R1717:5, 1835:6

Away back before the Deluge. R648:4, 5305:1

They knew God -- To some extent at least. D69

The world had a law from God, not written upon tables of stone, but incorporated in man's very character. But they have lost sight of it, or most of it, and are now strangers and foreigners unrecognized by God. R1733:6

What powers of mind and body the first man enjoyed, at the time God created him in his own image and pronounced him "very good," we cannot well judge by looking at the generally degraded race. R1683:6

God's law on tables of stone was given to Israel after two thousand years of falling had almost effaced the moral likeness. R1365:5, 1223:4

They -- A general picture of the race, aside from Israel. R1723:5

With the exception of the family of Seth, Enoch, Methuselah, Noah and Shem in the world that was; of Abraham's family in the Patriarchal age; of Israel in the Jewish age and of the Church in the Gospel age. R1257:3

Glorified him not -- Such great degradation as we see manifested in some of the heathen peoples came about through disregard of the simplest principles of righteousness, the laws of which were distinctly written originally in man's very nature. HG354:1

In proportion as men have disregarded the Lord's will, arrangement and laws, so far as they knew them, in the same proportion have they injured and degraded themselves and their posterity. R3038:4

Humanity could have helped themselves by seeking to follow God's way. R5305:1

Became vain -- The Apostle is showing how it comes that some of the heathen are so very much more degraded, the nature-written law coming to be more nearly effaced, than others. R1717:5, 1365:5

The more selfishness came in and gained control, the more the law of love was erased from Adam's heart. R1723:5

The Bible teaching of Adam and Eve and the fall. R3365:5

In their imaginations -- Inventing false religions which justified their evil ways. Succeeding generations endorsed and justified the evil course of their forefathers by subscribing to their doctrines, thus assuming the accumulation of their guilt and condemnation. D70

Their foolish heart -- Their perverse heart. D69

Was darkened -- As the natural result of such a course. D69

Romans 1:22

Professing themselves -- The Lord seems to be letting mankind learn the lesson that civilization does not spell salvation. R5974:6

Feigning learning. F45

To be wise -- Thus theosophy, the religion of wisdom, claims that its wisdom is divine, resulting from direct intuition and communion with God, and rejects philosophical reasoning and Scripture revelation as hindrances to true wisdom. R5801:2, 1643:5

Unbelief or infidelity is spreading, beginning with learned college professors who pursue the method of holding up the earlier portions of the Bible as myths and generally discrediting the entire book. R1831:2

Became fools -- Again the learned, professing to be wise, foolishly are rejecting the wisdom from above. Again immorality is rampant: anger, malice, hatred, strife, backbiting, whispering, wars, and murders are prevailing. R5974:6

Proving to their own satisfaction that all the religions of the world are really one, differing merely in proportion to the degrees of their evolution. R3365:3

Changed the glory -- Thus gradually men came down to idolatry and bestiality, dishonoring and degrading themselves. R2719:2

Uncorruptible -- Greek, aphtharsia and aphthartos (from the same root), are rendered immortality twice and immortal once, but would more properly be rendered incorruption and incorruptible. E397

Greek, aphtharsia. Used interchangeably with athanasia, and translated immortal or incorruptible; though athanasia has more the thought of unchangeability. R204:1

Into an image -- Idolatry is the synonym of evil. It precludes the recognition of the one true God, whose purity and holiness are directly adverse to the spirit of idolatry. R1835:6

And to birds -- Evil spirits have had much to do with the degradation of the human family. Operating along the line of man's natural and religious instincts, they have perverted these to sensualities and to idol, demon and animal worship. R3068:3

God also gave them up -- Gave them over, through the lust of their hearts for impurity. D69

Without the grace of God, man's tendency has been downward. F45

In the first chapter of Romans the Apostle shows that God was not responsible for the prevalent degradation throughout the world. In the last chapter he concludes with the crushing of Satan under the feet of the saints during the Millennial reign of Christ. R2719:2

For a time permitting them to work all manner of uncleanness. But while God has allowed the world liberty in regard to their own wills, nevertheless he has not abandoned them. R5909:6

The deep degradation which came upon men soon after the flood. R3139:2

Allowed man to take his own way--to lose himself in sin and the misguidance of the Adversary; that eventually, during the next age, mankind shall see what the real nature and outcome of sin is. R5305:1

Interfering only when the corruption became so great as to make life injurious rather than a favor. OV250:1

Except for the one nation of Israel, which he undertook to specially deal with under the Law covenant. NS702:6

To uncleanness -- Without selfish ambition or the law of necessity to spur men on, the tendency of mankind would have been toward a barbaric indolence, contentment with a hut instead of a palace, with hieroglyphics instead of education. R4109:6

Through the lusts -- Giving themselves over to fleshly desires which the light of nature taught them were improper, they became more and more bestial and degraded. HG354:2

Changed the truth -- Exchanged the truth. D69

Of God -- Concerning God. D69

Into a lie -- For a false religion. D70

Blessed for ever -- Worthy of praise forever. D69

Romans 1:26

For this cause -- The death sentence affected our race not only physically, but also morally and mentally. Thus, the mental, moral and physical deterioration surrounding us in the world are more or less directly connected with original sin. R3921:5

God gave them up -- God did not strive with or endeavor to reclaim them, but let them alone to pursue their chosen evil course and to learn from experience its bitter fruits. D69

Vile affections -- Infamous passions. D69

Our great Adversary has for thousands of years found sensuality, immorality, to be one of his best avenues through which to attack mankind, especially those who have acknowledged the Lord. R5974:3

Sodom was given up to wickedness and the basest immoralities. R1617:6

Even as -- The fall of the race from perfection was proportionate to their alienation from God. SM377:1; NS111:5

They -- The fallen race of mankind. E448; R3463:6, 1683:6, 1091:5

The great majority have followed Satan, the opponent of God. R5909:3; SM78:T

Not like to retain -- Men are themselves to blame for their degradation. R1223:4

Willingly departing from him. R5909:3

Thus it was by wishing to forget God that man exposed himself to the influence of this wily and powerful, unseen foe. Therefore he has been obliged to work against Satan's machinations, as well as his own personal weaknesses. A263

The degradation of the Gentile nations was not the result of their creation in a depraved condition, but the result of their not choosing to retain the knowledge of God in their hearts. R2394:5, 1223:4, 1091:4; HG112:3; NS111:5

Because of a wrong conception of God before their minds. CR418:5

It was because of willful sin that man was cast off from divine favor; but it was subsequently, when he did not wish to retain God in his thoughts, that God gave him over to a reprobate mind. E448

The Apostle explains the lesser degradation of some and the greater depravity of others by saying that, while all sinned and fell, some indulged more willfully and fell more deeply than others. R3256:4
We disobey and know it, reach out our hand, and in strange inflation of our little godless minds we set up ourselves, and by self-exaltation are ruined because we have left our God. R3257:1*

God in their knowledge -- The law of God was originally inscribed upon the heart of the first perfect man. That law, whether ignored or recognized, has always been in the world, and sin against it has always been imputed to men. R3654:6

Neglecting divine regulations. NS111:5

Let us not be ashamed of regulating our lives (as with "The Vow") so as to avoid temptations as far as possible. R5975:5

God gave them over -- "God tempteth no man." He merely abandons to the tempter, or to the evil-preferred course, those who choose the wrong way. NS95:1

They became children of Satan in the sense that they became obedient to him. R5623:6

God merely permitting them to take the course which they, as free moral agents, chose. NS111:5, 712:4

Abandoned them to their own way, permitting them to hasten and to increase their degradation. R2394:5

God has established certain laws, in harmony with which he operates, and those who from any cause come into conflict with these reap the penalty or wrath of their own course. A308

Thus the Scriptures explain the present condition of the world. God has let go of mankind during these six thousand years. CR490:2; HG112:3

God merely intervened when, in the condition of things before the Deluge, to have permitted their evil ways to continue would have been a serious wrong. R5305:1

Other nations were not specially chastised for idolatry as was Israel, but were allowed to practically take the course they chose. R3463:6 As he gave over the world of mankind in general, so in the Harvest of this age, the Lord will give over, or abandon to temptation, all in the nominal church. NS95:1

To a reprobate mind -- A worthless mind. D69

Present degradation is a fall down from a height; a failure to retain God in their knowledge--an effacing of the law from their hearts and minds. R1717:6

By which they have degraded themselves more and more. SM78:T; NS510:4

Degradation, not advancement, was the course from Adam to Noah. From being "very good" the race became so depraved that they were unfit even to be allowed to live a few years under the curse. R866:1

To do those things -- To try their own ideas of self-government independent of God. A263

To pursue the lusts of their depraved minds and to learn by sad experience the bitter fruitage of sin. R5716:6

They giving themselves over to things that were not profitable, defiling themselves, etc. OV250:2

These various dispositions--carelessness of life, the overcharged or drunken condition as respects earthly affairs, lack of self-restraint in connubial relationships, are apt to go hand in hand with a wrong spirit in the church--a spirit of strife, contention and willfulness. R3181:6

Are not convenient -- Are improper. D69

As people leave God and his Word, they are ready for anything. R1831:3

With all unrighteousness -- The Apostle's meaning is more refined than the following words represent--saints should not be intoxicated with the spirit of this world--intoxication for money, wealth, business, dress, music, art, etc. R3181:4

Fornication -- Not the general lasciviousness of the world; but urging the saints to continence in social relations--to lift their minds from earthly affections and lawful sexual congress. R3181:2

Full of envy -- When the Apostle comes to strife and envy, he notes two qualities which not only imply a wrong condition of heart, but also represent elements of character which would be injurious to the whole body of Christ. R3181:5

Malignity -- Bad habits. D69

Whisperers -- Secret slanderers. D69

Romans 1:30

Backbiters -- Revilers. D69

Despiteful -- Insolent. D69

Disobedient to parents -- Whoever learns to respect his forebears will proportionately have consideration for others; while those disobedient to parents and without natural affection, are prepared to be covenant-breakers and anarchists. R4019:2

One of the notable features of our day--marking the day of trouble in the end of this age. R4019:2

Without understanding -- Obstinate. D69

Romans 1:32

The judgment of God -- The ordinance of God--that those who practice such things are worthy of death. D69

Which commit -- Who practice. D69

Such things -- We are not to forget that these condemned qualities are being inculcated and fostered by all the higher teachings of the worldly wise. R4019:2

Worthy of death -- Torment is unjust as well as unmerciful; but taking away life from those who will not conform to the New Covenant's just, holy and kind regulations is reasonable, just and merciful. R3083:5

Have pleasure in -- Are approving. D69

Romans 2

Thou art inexcusable -- Men are themselves to blame for their degradation. R1223:4

The great degradation we see in some heathen peoples came through disregard of the simplest principles of righteousness. HG354:1

The heathen giving themselves over to fleshly desires, which the light of nature taught to be improper, they became more degraded and bestial. HG354:2

Ignorance and superstition in the world are not the fault of God. R1091:4

The Apostle was not talking about the rejection of Christ by the heathen, for they had never heard of him. HG354:2

O man -- All men, Jews and Gentiles, have come into some measure of darkness. R648:4

His goodness -- God's goodness is revealed in Christ. R100:1*

The goodness of God leadeth men to repentance. R759:5*

Whoever now hears of God's goodness and is not melted by the thought of his need for a Savior, may never accept his favor even in the age to come. SM359:2

Longsuffering -- Greek, makrothunia; corresponds to the common thought of patience, it means merely longsuffering. R2790:6

To repentance -- All who have heard the gospel message with a measure of understanding and appreciation have thereby some responsibility concerning it. SM359:2

Romans 2:5

Day of wrath -- The "day of trouble," the period of forty years introducing Messiah's reign. B137, 138

The great time of trouble in the end of the Gospel age specially. R787:3, 5402:4, 4522:2

These troubles are really the outgrowth of human wrongdoing. OV345:T
In the awful trouble of the Day of Wrath, the world will have an illustration of its own money-mad condition. R4522:2

The wrath manifested in death, for Adam's sin, is supplemented by that to come in the time of trouble because of the willfulness and perversity of Adam's fallen children. R787:3

Millennial purgatory. R1471:1

Revelation -- With wrath upon the nations, will the Lord reveal to the world the fact of the change of dispensations, and the change of rulers. B138

Judgment of God -- Against all who are in opposition to righteousness and truth. R1471:2

The retribution will be very heavy at first, making a "time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation." (Dan. 12:1) B138

Romans 2:6

Who will render -- When the judgments of the Lord are abroad in the earth. Q793:4; A298

Every man -- Applicable in some degree to everybody; but specially to the Church. R4501:3

To his deeds -- Whatever we are permitted to do one for the other is in the nature of a test of our loyalty to God, of our justice toward the world, or of our loving devotion to the brethren. R4501:6
There is great danger of "presumptuous sins." R1802:3

To them -- Only a certain class--believers in Jesus who flee from iniquity. R142:5, 5768:4, 279:3

Those begotten of the holy Spirit. R5371:3

The class called to be Christ's associates in the Kingdom. R5711:4

Those who have consecrated to the Lord Jesus Christ and been counted members of his Body. R5710:6

"Elect" class, tried and tested. R3106:6

Who have fellowship with their Master's sufferings. R2317:5

"The Church," "the Body of Christ," "the Royal Priesthood," "the seed of Abraham." R1879:4, 2317:5

By patient continuance -- Patiently, perseveringly cultivating and developing the character-likeness of our Redeemer. R4501:3

By patient development of Christlike character in meekness, gentleness, patience and love. R4502:1

The precious promises of God are incorruptible seed, and if retained and nourished will develop in divine nature. R1642:4

The requirements of character for the high position are exacting; few of the many called will win the prize of divine nature. R1642:3, 281:3

Not only faith, but loyalty also is necessary. R5844:2

The permission of evil allows opportunity for sacrifice and heart development. R1879:1

The successful enduring of these tests is indispensable to those whom God would thus honor. F125, 63

In well doing -- In sacrificing the human interests. T28; E411

The various tests of the present time are tests of faith loyalty to God and entire submission to his will. R5844:3

By full and hearty obedience of mind. R1642:3

Working out the fruits of righteousness, prepares us for a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. E411

To develop in us more abundantly his Spirit, and thus to fit and prepare us for glory, honor and immortality. E411

Those who sacrifice earthly rights and privileges will eventually attain to glory, honor and immortality beyond the veil. HG732:3*

Seek -- Joint-heirship with the Lord in his heavenly power and Kingdom are the hopes set before the Church. R2479:5, 5371:2, 3774:1

They seek to do only the will of the Heavenly Father. R5711:1

It remains for us to make this calling and election sure. R3913:5; E390

To glorify the Heavenly Father. R2698:6

"Seek chiefly the Kingdom of God." (Matt. 6:33) R2479:5

This prominence, God's people should seek by, faithfulness, humility, love and zeal in the service of the Lord. R5711:2

Prayer is an excellent aid in seeking. R2479:5

By setting our affections on heavenly things and lifting our affections from earthly things. R2479:5

The saints in Christ are exhorted to seek immortality. E390

Only one way to seek for the great prize successfully, by patiently and perseveringly cultivating the character-likeness of our Redeemer. R4501:3

Glory -- "It became him; in bringing many sons unto glory." (Heb. 2:10) E395

The plane to which the Church will be resurrected. R5760:3, 1879:4

The call of this Gospel age is a call to glory, honor, and immortality. R5371:2

"Sown in dishonor" they will be raised in glory. (1 Cor. 15:43) R5711:1

This is the glorious inheritance of Zion. R5711:2

"When his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy." (1 Pet. 4:13) R5118:3

The Church, as their Lord, enters glory at resurrection. R1879:4
"Here unto were ye called." (1 Pet. 2:21) R3913:5
Far above angels, principalities, and powers, and every name. R2859:6
The first resurrection. R2859:6
The spirit condition. R2317:4
Changed by resurrection power from human nature. R1879:5
Honor -- Joint-heirship with Jesus. F125; R5677:4
This class will receive pre-eminence over all other classes, all other stations, in earth or in heaven. R5711:1
This promotion can be received from no other quarter than God himself, on his own terms. R5711:2
This great eminence Lucifer sought to grasp, will be granted as a reward to The Christ, Head and Body. R5711:2
The Lord has called us out of the world to share with him his spiritual, heavenly glories and honors. R3913:5
Joint-heirship with our Savior in the heavenly Kingdom which will dominate the world for the thousand years. HG694:5; F125; R5677:4
If we are found faithful God will exalt us in due time, but he cannot exalt any who are not humble. R5844:1
And -- It is right for us to seek for them. R5082:3
Immortality -- Greek, aphtharsia; incorruption. Closely related to athanasia; immortality. R2339:4, 3175:2, 281:5, 204:1; E397; F727
One that cannot decay, that cannot die. R3175:2
Indestructible existence which needs no refreshment or supply; possessed of inherent life. R1641:6, 192:4* Second death will have no power. R1642:4
None may claim an immortality outside Christ, nor that life is the result of obedience to the Law. R5871:4
Only those of the wise virgin class, who have copied the Lord's character, will be counted as "more than overcomers." R5371:3
Only the Little Flock, the Bride class, will have immortality. R5371:6
Immortality is conditional, it is a reward conferred upon those who are faithful and obedient to the Lord's commands. Q834:3
The reward for those who keep their covenant of sacrifice with the Lord. R5006:6, 5759:6, 5371:3, 297:4, 281:3
From the Church of the first-born, a part will attain divine nature, and a part everlasting life. R5371:6
They will be exalted far above angels and be granted divine nature as their Master and forerunner. R5711:1, 2479:5; F63; NS172:2
The great promotion which God purposes to give his true saints of the Gospel age. R5711:1
The Bible explicitly limits immortality to the Father and Son, and holds out this hope to the saints. R3774:1, 5371:6
Will be instantaneous at the second advent of the Redeemer for the establishment of the Kingdom. R3107:1
God has promised these to those who love him. R2699:1
The first resurrection, Christ's resurrection. R5711:1, SM253:T

Our Lord has already obtained these as a reward for the his faithful sacrifice. R2479:5

A gift, a well spring of life in himself, springing up everlastingly.

R1642:4

Given to the Son, and also promised as a gift to the followers of Christ.

The joy set before Jesus. R281:3

Not possessed by natural man, else if possessed by him, why seek for it?

R802:5*, HG129:6

While Romanism teaches that immortality is inherent in all men, the Scriptures teach that immortality is a glorious prize to be sought for and to be obtained only by the elect. R560:4*, 2047:1, 744:

Eternal life -- At his return he will render rewards to his faithful; he will render eternal life. F402

This promotion can be received from no other quarter than God himself, and on his own terms. R5711:1

"The gift of God is eternal life." (Rom. 6:23) E285

Only attained through the blood once shed as the ransom-price for the whole world. R5871:4; E285; HG305:6

Granted to those who seek for glory and honor and immortality through tests of faith and loyalty to God, and of entire submission to his will.

R5844:3

As a reward to all who so strive, including the Great Company, who do not attain the highest reward. R3154:1

None can claim that faith in some great teacher and obedience to his instructions will bring eternal life. R5871:4

The power of God to perpetually supply the conditions essential to an everlasting condition. R3774:1

The Law promised eternal life to any Jew who could keep it. PD66/78

Romans 2:8

Contentious -- The contentious spirit or disposition is generally found amongst those not living up to the spirit of the truth which they have already recognized. R4009:1

Faultfinding, irascible, the dissatisfied, a disposition that will not be rewarded with eternal life. R4501:3

Those who are disobedient to the truth. R2804:1

Alas, that amongst those in the truth these contentious persons are found doing a destructive work, instead of a helpful work. R4502:2

Do not obey -- Who disobey? Those who know the truth. R222:1*, 404:4*

And wrath -- At or during the thousand years of the Lord's second presence. R1471:2

Tribulation and anguish -- More or less in connection with the present life--either as part of the Great Company or those who die the second death. R4502:2

In the Millennial age. R1412:3

He who suffers tribulation will have it as a witness of wrong doing and the King's displeasure. R1412:3

We expect they will be beaten with many stripes, they will have punishments--not eternal torment. R3779:4

That doeth evil -- The Scriptures declare, a just recompense of reward to every soul that doeth evil. R3779:4

Of the Jew -- Who, at the time of the crucifixion, and ever since, has represented all Israel. C253

After the Babylonish captivity the name "Jew" became synonymous with "Israelite" and included all who hoped for the fulfillment of the Abrahamic promises. C292; R1340:6

Glory, honor, and peace -- The world of mankind, the righteous and obedient, will receive perfect human conditions. Q794:T

To the Jew first -- At the second advent, as a people they will be a firstfruit among the nations. A298

During the Millennium, as a natural result of his training under the Law. A297; R5000:2

The sprinkling of Israel will come first, as the offer of the privilege of becoming members of spiritual Israel was first offered to the Jews. R5000:2

The preaching of the gospel of the high calling was to the Jew first, because they as a people were already justified from sin and consecrated to God typically. R952:1, 5000:2

Also to the Gentile -- "All the families of the earth." (Gen. 12:3) A298

Who even typically were without God and without any knowledge of his plan, or hope of sharing in it. R952:1

When God's judgments are abroad in the earth, those who comply, both Jews and Gentiles, will experience divine favor. Q793:T

Romans 2:11

No respect of persons -- The Jew could not claim that they had more of a right to everlasting life and salvation (restitution) to original perfection than the heathen. R929:5*

The Jew will have the first blessing, not by reason of partiality on God's part, but because he made a covenant with their father Abraham. R5964:3*

Sinned without law -- The Gentiles, without the Law given at Sinai, were sinners. R1223:4

Perish without law -- Died under sentence of some law aside from Sinai's Law. R1223:4

Sinned in the law -- The whole Jewish nation: "All who sinned." (Rom. 3:23) E417

Judged by the law -- The one specially favored nation under the Law Covenant, was also the one specially condemned. E417

Romans 2:13

Shall be justified -- If a man would be justified to life under the Law given him he must keep it perfectly. R929:5

He that receiveth the Law nor he who hears the Law is justified by it--but he that does the things required by the Law. NS18:4

None being righteous, none could be acquitted or approved before God, whether they had the Law or did not have it. R2719:5

Have not the law -- The written Law, the Law given at Sinai. R587:4, 1223:4, 789:5, 556:2*

Things contained in the law -- Some heathen people do some good things in harmony with the divine law. R2344:6

A law unto themselves -- The original law of God remaining in their hearts condemns them. R5070:6, 6:5

"That every mouth may be stopped and all the world may become guilty before God." (Rom. 3:19) A101

With a sufficiency of light, of intelligence to condemn them all. HG361:1

The Gentiles were condemned, not justified by the light of conscience. A101

Shew the work -- Give some evidence. R587:4, 1717:5, 789:5

Law written in their hearts -- Remnants of the original law, fragmentary proofs that it once was innate in humanity. F351

This glimmer of conscience, often distorted by superstition and error, illustrates when it will fully be written in their hearts. R789:5

We may still find traces of the original law in the most degraded of men, the world over. R1717:5, 789:5, 587:4

Their conscience -- Since the rest of the world recognizes by their consciences that they are condemned. then the whole world stands guilty in God's sight. R5070:6, 556:2*

Accusing or else excusing -- The world realizing their blemished and imperfect condition find their conscience sometimes accusing and sometimes endeavoring to excuse them. HG361:1; A101

This condition of things among the heathen are the warped and twisted remnants of the original law of man's being. F351

Thus acknowledging wrong-doing. R3398:3

No matter how fallen, man still has in his heart enough of the original law that his conscience will either accuse him of wrong-doing or excuse his conduct. R5070:6, 1717:5, 789:5, 587:4

God -- Jehovah was the original Lawgiver and Judge, and will forever maintain this position. F396

Judge -- Greek, krino; to distinguish, decide, try; referring to the judgment of the Millennial age. R2426:4

The secrets of men -- Of the world. F396

By Jesus Christ -- Showing that a knowledge of Christ is necessary. R33:4*

The world's judgment (trial) by Jehovah is committed to the well beloved Son. R2426:4

The Jew cannot be released by keeping Moses' Law, nor the heathen released by keeping the law of conscience, the whole world must accept Christ. HG283:4

Romans 2:17

The law -- Given to the Jews and not to the Gentiles, only a Jew could get its blessing or its curse. R4868:2

Romans 2:20

A teacher of babes -- Whoever exercises the gift of teaching lays himself open to increased responsibility in the sight of God and men. (James 3:1) R2156:3

Romans 2:24

Is blasphemed --Not the grosser meaning of blasphemy but the kind of careless living practiced among the Jews. R5404:3 Under divine instruction, care and recognition; if they did the things dishonoring to God, they were blaspheming his name. R5404:3

Blasphemy was a terrible thing among the Jews. R5404:3

There is a great danger of Christians profaning God's name by careless living. R5404:5

Among the Gentiles -- Before the world. R5404:3

Through you -- The Jewish people, who had come into relationship with God through the Law Covenant. R5404:2
The name of God is blasphemed among the heathen through Christendom today, as it formerly was through the Jewish nation, because it misrepresents him and practices unrighteousness. D71, 72

Keep the righteousness -- If a man not a Jew, do perfectly the will of God, he would be acceptable with God. R929:5

Romans 2:28

A Jew -- This text applies to natural Israel, not to spiritual Israel.
R4586:2
True Israelites, engrafted into the root of promise. R2443:1

Romans 2:29

One inwardly -- The special privilege of a part in the Messianic Kingdom will be granted only to those Jews who prove loyal to the Law and the prophets. R5964:3
The orthodox Jews will be more ready to receive the blessing of the new dispensation promptly than will any other people. R5964:3
Circumcision is that of the heart -- The law of circumcision passed away when that to which it pointed, circumcision of the heart, was set forth.
HG582:4
Spiritual Israelites must have circumcision of the heart, which signifies a cutting off--a separation from the flesh, its aims, hopes and desires.
R3022:3
The putting away of the sins of the flesh, which both antitypical priests and Levites should practice, symbolized by both priests and Levites washing in the laver in the Court. T119

Romans 3

Romans 3:1

Hath the Jew -- A race in every way marked as distinct and peculiar. C244
God passed by all other nations of the earth. (Amos 3:2) R1978:6, 2396:2

Romans 3:2

Much every way -- They had privileges and special provision of divine favor which Gentiles did not have. R5504:3, 4656:4

If they committed a trespass the priest would offer a peace offering for them and cleanse them. These were blessings by virtue of their covenant relationship. R4656:4

Let not the greater responsibility of Christendom be forgotten with their still greater advantages of both the Law and the gospel. D71

Israel had advantages every way under their Law Covenant, yet those who failed the Law came under a curse not upon others nations. R5046:1, 1725:1

The Law was a great benefit as an educator to show them their own weakness and need of salvation. R929:5, 4037:6

They were made to differ from other men by reason of God's dealings with them and promises to them. SM380:1; R532:6

The advantage is evidenced by the fact that nearly all the early Christian converts were from the Jews, or from Gentiles exposed to Judaism. R4038:1

As long as the Israelites would be faithful and loyal to God, they would be thoroughly protected against their enemies. R5504:3

The Jews were blessed with a Law Covenant on the "third day" and were blessed in it for a whole age. R4570:4

The Law Covenant was conditional and because of Israel's disobedience the divine promises to them passed away. R3108:2

Even the Jews were not offered a full, complete reconciliation but merely a typical one. NS365:4

All of their difficulties were profitable to them as a nation and individually to those rightly exercised by the tests and thereby drawn near the Lord. R4037:5

These divine gifts, favors, blessings, promises are all symbolically represented in the rich man's condition, in the parable of the rich man.

HG428:2, NS304:5

The middle wall of partition has been broken down between Jew and Gentile, there is still a selection according to favor. NS331:3

The Jewish people had a certain amount of light. R3895:1

A people distinguished and honored among the nations, attracting the wonder and admiration of the world. C244

Unto them -- God passed by all the other nations of the earth and recognized only Israel. R1978:6

They alone were recognized, and this continued until Christ came, after that they were given up and their house left desolate. R532:6

From among that elect favored nation God made still further selection of faithful ones for his purpose as outlined in Hebrews 11. NS369:1

Oracles of God -- Law and prophecy. R2604:2, 5241:5, 4344:2

The Law and the testimony of God. R1846:2, 1742:6, 532:6

Called in the New Testament the Holy Scriptures. R1622:3

Which came to Israel through the conditional arrangement of the Law Covenant. R3108:2

The divine message respecting the divine promises, present and to come. SM396:1; R1223:4; CR103:6

That collection of sacred writings, the Word of God, which were committed to the care and guardianship of the Jewish people. R1622:3

Even now the influences of the divine promises make them still a great people. SM380:1

They had not received the spirit of the truth but merely in the Law and prophets the shadow of good things coming after. R2070:5

Developing among them poets, lawyers, statesmen, philosophers, leading them from a nation of slaves to a people distinguished and honored among the nations. C244

The very blessings of God's oracles tended to make them nothing but proud and ultimately assisted in their rejection of the Savior. NS304:5

Romans 3:4

Let God be true -- The outcome will show that God is true and will prove many so called wise men to have been in error in many of their guesses respecting truth. SM275:1

If all would decide to let God be true and show all human creeds to be imperfect, there would be a great creed smashing work done, the Bible would be studied as never before. R2614:4, 1087:4

Though it disprove many of the theories we once believed and almost worshipped, we want the truth. R4774:2; OV136:5

But -- Though it make. R870:6, 2835:6, 2614:4

Every man a liar -- Particularly every Evolutionist. F41; R2835:6; NS428:4

Showing all human creeds to be imperfect and misleading. R2614:4

Let the issue be squarely drawn as between the words of God and the words of men. NS509:4

If any teacher, a human being or a paper published, is wrong on the one vital point--the ransom--we should have nothing further to do with such until it is fully retracted. R1453:4

Test every item of teaching which you receive as your faith regardless of how much you esteem the person who presents it. No fellow-mortal is infallible. R1136:5

Taketh vengeance -- Vengeance is translated wrath in Romans 5:9. R787:3

It would be as improper for our Creator to refrain from righteous indignation when there is a just cause, as it would be to be angry without a cause. R787:3

Romans 3:6

God judge the world -- As its Supreme Judge. F396

The Greek for judge is: krino; to distinguish, decide, try, etc. R2426:4

Slanderously -- Very vehemently the Apostle protests that their condemnation was just, who slanderously reported that he taught, let us do evil that good might follow. R1269:2

Is it lawful for me to cheat, to steal, to bear false witness, to kill, or to do evil that good might come? The Apostle Paul resents this charge against him and calls it slander. R1778:1, 871:6

The same is true today. R4680:5

To charge that God did evil, or caused evil that good might follow, is to charge the Holy One with what any honest man would be ashamed of. Paul terms it "slander." R848:3, 3145:3, 871:6

Let us do evil -- Some so misconstrued the Apostle's words at the time, declaring that evil might be done if good follow. R1269:2

If God is the author or creator of sin (evil), then indeed he would be the chief of sinners. R848:3

That good may come -- The Apostle Paul condemns as unworthy of any servant of God, the idea that the end sought justifies the means. R1312:3

Whose -- Some in opposition to the Gospel message. NS403:5

Damnation is just -- Damnation in its original signification had the same meaning as our word condemn. NS402:3

The Apostle is speaking not of God's judgment, but of the general judgment of himself and the Church. NS403:5

The Apostle had a right to condemn them, and to say that this misrepresentation of the message of the Lord was evil. NS403:6

As it was just in the Apostle's day, to condemn and specify individuals, so it may be proper for the Lord's people today to openly rebuke those who oppose the divine message. NS403:6

A condemnation of, "The end justifies the means." R1312:3, 3145:4

Are we -- We Jews. R2719:5, 4586:3, 3398:5

Better than they -- The Gentiles, living according to the light they possess. R2719:5, 4586:3, 3398:5

Both Jews and Gentiles -- Jews must become dead to the Law and Gentiles dead to sin in order that both might become one in Jesus Christ--Christians. R4586:3

The Jews are not justified to life because God gave them the Law any more than are the heathen to whom he never gave any special favors. R3398:5

All under sin -- Jews as well as the Gentiles are all worthy of condemnation. R648:4, 4586:3

All were unworthy of eternal life, and the race had been in this pitiable condition for four thousand years, when God in his mercy sent a Savior. R2050:6

There is none -- None measure up to the glorious image of God, as first it was represented in father Adam. R5196:6, 3238:2

None of Adam's posterity--all the world has been unjust. E96, 102; CR21:3; OV150:2; Q510:T

None are sound of mind or body, all are out of the way. R5978:1

None up to the standard of perfection required by the Law, hence not approved of it. R812:2

"None could give a ransom for his brother." (Psa. 49:7) E96, 102, 418; T78; R777:1

God's scale is 100 points of character--a perfect man. None have 100 points. Q727:T

All sane people recognize themselves as imperfect and hence as unworthy the recognition of the great Creator. They cannot commend themselves to him as being worthy of his favor and eternal life. R4618:4

Righteous -- None perfect, sound in mind and body. E252; R5978:1, 5169:6, 5108:6, 4991:4, 4386:5

Perfect in the sense that God is perfect. R5794:1, 5336:5, 5309:1

Absolute righteousness. R4977:2

Righteousness of the will, holiness and purity of heart are possible. SM394:T; R5108:6

The Advocate imputes a sufficiency of his merit, to make these perfect in the sight of justice. R4854:6, 5439:6, 4597:6; OV227:T; SM307:2

We are merely righteous in our intentions and efforts. R4597:6

There is a relative righteousness, however, which God can approve. Those walking in the ways of righteousness, while trusting in the precious blood are spoken of as righteous. R5218:2, 5032:3

All need divine mercy; the humble and contrite would be much more acceptable to God than the boastful, the proud, the self-conceited. R4986:5

Mental, moral and physical imperfections are manifest everywhere. OV295:1; CR131:2; SM612:2, 394:1

Therefore all are condemned. R648:4, 929:5

The fountain, Adam, having become contaminated by sin and death, none of his posterity can be free from contamination. R777:1; SM612:2

Thus we account for our sorrows, our pains, our troubles. NS188:3

All are sharers of the original sin and its consequences. A407

All come short of God's standard, but some have not lost their reverence or appreciation of justice, which are drawing influences toward God.

R5201:2

Various qualities of murder, lust, covetousness, etc., are more or less seen in the unbalanced mental and moral conditions resulting from the fall. R4991:4; NS501:5

Whoever therefore, claims that he is righteous and on that rejects the Redeemer, is a hypocrite--in a wrong condition of mind. R4587:5

All learning this, will look for the promised Messiah as their sin-bearer, to justify them and to discipline them and make them perfect and able to obey the Law. R2684:1

Our experiences teach us that it is impossible for fallen humanity to attain absolute righteousness. R3321:2

In the Millennial age, the disciplines and humiliations for present wrong doing will have one consolation, they will be in some measure shared by all. R1655:3

"All we like sheep have gone astray." (Isa. 53:6) R1217:1

Actually, there is none just, but there is a class "justified by faith."

A20

Although some are less fallen than others, less depraved, all have sinned, all have come short of the glory of God. E418

The curse of sin has laid its heavy hand on the entire man--mind and body.

A252

We have nothing of ourselves to offer that God could accept; our Advocate imputes of his merit to make the sacrifice good. Q658:4

No, not one -- All come short of the glorious standard which God has set. R5242:3, 4587:5; SM430:3

None actually righteous according to the strict standard of the Law. SM307:2; R812:2*

All the trying in the world could not prove this divine statement an incorrect one. SM394:T

It becomes part of our test how we shall deal with our brethren who are imperfect and whose imperfections grate upon us and irritate us. CR274:1

All have violated the divine law, and all are under the sentence of that law, even though some have sinned more egregiously than others. HG746:3; NS242:6 God sought not the perfect in mind, morals, or features, but the honest and sincere. R4003:1

Jesus was distinctly separate from the Adamic race--his life came not from Adam but from the Heavenly Father. Therefore he was separate from sinners. R3938:6; SM306:1

The Scriptures close every door of hope save one, showing that not one of the condemned is able to secure eternal life by meritorious works. A101

If there were one righteous one, he might give a ransom for Adam and all condemned in Adam's transgression, but none could be found. E418, 102; NS473:6

It was because the Lord beheld and saw that there was no man competent to redeem the world that he laid help upon one who is mighty to save to the uttermost. E96

Those who hotly pursue evildoers must realize they themselves have weaknesses, frailties, imperfections. NS401:2
The Evolution theory contradicts this. R2837:4

Romans 3:13

Poison of asps -- Honeyed words and deeds are the baits behind which is fastened the hook of slander, evil-speaking, evil insinuations. R4480:6
Some of the thorn and brier class (Matt. 7:16) are courageous enough to make lies; others, less courageous, love the lies and are mean enough to circulate them. R5148:1

Those who throw literal stones are much less dangerous than those more outwardly decorous who have the poison of asps under their lips, who backbite, speak evil of and slander others. R2560:5

Romans 3:15

Their feet -- The wicked. R705:3
"For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood." (Prov. 1:16)
R2053:2

No fear of God -- Evidently these are unregenerate. R4841:1

That what things -- Curses as well as blessings. R1725:1

The law -- The Law Covenant. R1725:1

Written to the Jews, unwritten to the Gentiles. R929:6; A101

It saith to them -- Its promises of life were only to the one nation.

Moses also made the same statement, "The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. Even us who are here alive this day." (Deut. 5:2, 3) R5046:1, 1725:1

The Apostle shows that this curse was upon only those who were under the Covenant. R5046:1, 1725:1

Under -- The Greek word en is also translated "in, through, by, with."
R826:3

The law -- The Law Covenant. R1725:1

So it is true of the law of love, it speaks only to the consecrated believers in Christ. R1729:4, 973:5

Jesus was born under the Law that he might redeem those who were condemned under the Law. E417

May be stopped -- From self-justification. R1582:3
From claiming the right to life. A101

Silences them from any reply as appeal from the eminently just verdict.
R929:6

That eternal life may be seen to be "The gift of God." R6:4, 544:4

All the world -- Both Jews and Gentiles. R4341:3, 2719:5, 929:5, 556:2*;
A101

The Gentiles, who had not the written Law, were condemned, not justified, by the light of conscience, even as the Jews who had the written Law were condemned by it. A101

The Law revealed that all are sinners--proving that no man could make himself worthy of lasting life. R1223:4

All the world except those in Christ, for those without the written Law are a law unto themselves. R556:2*, 544:4

May become -- Stands. A101

May realize that they are. R3398:6

Guilty before God -- All are under sin, all are condemned, all are unworthy of life. R929:6, 4341:3

The Jews through inability to keep their Law Covenant, and the Gentiles through inability to live up to the light of their consciences. R1582:3, 5070:6, 544:4, 257:6, 6:5

Deeds of the law -- Works. (Diaglott) R13:6

Represented by the first ascending passage in the Great Pyramid. C337, 370, 368

Even the best of the Jews could not keep his Law. CR434:6

Receiving a Law is not keeping that Law. R5070:2

The Christian is not under the Law Covenant and has nothing to do with its terms and conditions. R2269:3, 1498:3

The Jewish church was always adding Christ's teachings to the Mosaic Law instead of accepting the sacrificial death of Christ. R972:1

The Law judges by the deeds of the flesh, while the law of Christ judges by the intent of the mind or will. R543:1

God's object in giving Israel the typical Covenant, was to show them their own depraved condition. R789:2; 428:6

The Jews tried to justify themselves by their own works, they did not build on the Rock, Christ Jesus. R428:5

None could keep the Law perfectly, though they might have come much nearer to a perfect observance of its requirements. B84

Jews died because none of them kept the Law--because no imperfect being could keep the requirements of God's Law. SM43:4

Sacrifices of bulls and goats yearly never took away sin, but merely in a typical manner pointed toward the "better sacrifices." NS365:4

God, however, assured Israel that at some time in the future he would make with them a New (Law) Covenant. NS698:2

Shall no flesh -- None of the fallen race, needing justification.

R5046:2, 1725:2

"Did not Moses give you the law, and yet none of you keepeth the law."

(John 7:19) B84

The Law condemns as unworthy of life, every creature which cannot and does not fulfill its every requirement perfectly. R688:2; NS641:6

Be justified -- Faith in Christ's finished work alone justifies. E444;

R5027:4; 823:3; CR435:1; OV280:1

The only way to obtain justification in God's sight is by the acceptance of Christ and by a full consecration. R5027:4, 823:3; OV280:1

In man's present imperfect condition the Law must and does condemn everyone under it and justifies none. R542:3

If the Jews were justified by the Law, then Christ died in vain. R4785:4

The Jews found that the Law, instead of perfecting, justifying, them and giving them eternal life, brought to them a greater realization of sin than they ever had before. CR192:6

The nation of Israel tried afresh each year to demonstrate their loyalty to God and his righteousness by obedience to the Law, but only failure could and did result. SM70:3

Perfect obedience to the Law was impossible. R5653:3, 3843:3, 542:2; OV428:6; Q433:2; SM43:4

For over sixteen centuries the Law Covenant was in force and not a Jew was able to keep it. Q433:2

The Law, so far from justifying the Jews, showed them to be in a condition of sin by their inability to keep it. R2719:5

God has provided for both Jew and Gentile one way to come into harmony with him--Christ. R2719:5

Israel may have imagined it possible to gain everlasting life under the Law, but God never had such expectations. R1725:2

"The righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit." (Rom. 8:4) R823:3

His sight -- His presence. (Diaglott) R13:5

God's sight. R6:5, 544:4, 257:6

Knowledge of sin -- The intention of the Law was to prove to the Jews and all men the impossibility of any but perfect man to fulfill the Law. R3843:3

This was the real blessing of the Law Covenant--it showed them their sinful condition and their inability to lift themselves out of it. CR192:6

Romans 3:21

But now -- Applies to the whole time, from Christ's first to his second coming, at least, and covers the Gospel age up to the time Christ with his saints takes the Kingdom. R518:4

Righteousness of God -- Justness. R1030:1

The Law became a witness to God's righteousness--that he had been right that Israel had not kept the Law and that all mankind were unfit for his favors. R2719:5

God's method of justification has been witnessed, attested by the Law and the prophets. R1030:2

Without the law -- Apart from the Law. R1582:6, 1030:1

Aside from the Law, though in perfect harmony with its spirit. R929:6

Witnessed by the law -- "For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls." (Lev. 19:11) R1030:5

"And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission." (Heb. 9:22) R1030:5

And the prophets -- We should look to the Law and the prophets and see how they thus vindicate God's character. R1583:1

Romans 3:22

Righteousness of God -- The Law witnessed to the justice of God in providing the ransom for sinners. R2719:5

By faith of Jesus -- As a ransom for sinners. R2719:6

Whose righteousness is imputed to us by faith. R1498:3

Them that believe -- Whether Jews or Gentiles. R2719:6, 504:4

For there is -- For now there is. R2719:6

No difference -- There is no distinction, all are fallen sinners. R929:6

All have sinned -- Original sin. NS419:5

All are sharers of the original sentence; are unworthy of divine favor and need a Redeemer. E407; R4982:4, 2719:6

Come short -- Of the grand standard of divine holiness and perfection. CR451:3; R5267:4, 5201:1, 4587:5; OV366:2

Glory of God -- As a standard of that perfection which was given to father Adam in his creation. NS410:6; R5169:6, 5360:5; F101; PD7/13

All come short of that glorious perfection which God originally created and which alone he can approve. HG656:4, 650:1, 193:2; NS233:5

Come short of that perfection or likeness of God which really honor and glorify him as the Creator. NS449:5

Being justified -- God will justify; clear from guilt. R929:6, 504:4

Not one was ever "called," i.e., invited to run for this Kingdom prize, who was not first justified. R1141:2

God's grace continues to maintain our justification while we abide in Christ. F160

Freely by his grace -- By God's favor. R1350:3

By his divine favor, not because of their merit. R929:6

All of the Heavenly Father's grace is extended to us through our Lord Jesus' sacrifice. E461

There was no obligation upon our Creator to recover us from the just penalty he had placed upon us. F105

The redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis; the deliverance, the justification, which continues to be ours so long as we abide in Christ. E434; F159, 160

This is the foundation doctrine of Christianity, which in these days of worldly wisdom is rapidly coming into disrepute. R1582:3

In Christ Jesus -- The Apostle shows the value of the death of Christ, to both Jew and Gentile, who are alike condemned to death. R1582:3

Thus the conditions the Lord clearly points out, the conditions upon which salvation is provided for all men. R1442:2

Whom -- Jesus. R641:1

God -- The Judge. R504:4

Propitiation -- Greek, hilasterion; is correctly rendered propitiation; it signifies propitiatory, i.e. place of satisfaction. E442, 434; R2719:6, 641:1; 420:6, 128:1; T124; HG54:1

Propitiatory-covering. (See Rotherham's translation and footnote) R1223:5, 688:1, 641:5, 420:6

The Mercy Seat or channel of mercy or appeasement. E442

Satisfaction--for Adamic sin. R504:4

Place of satisfaction, of justice. R1582:6, 2719:6, 2328:2, 1336:1

Appeasement or satisfaction--for Adamic sin. R430:2, 838:3, 504:4, 420:6

Our Lord Jesus, representative of Jehovah's justice, wisdom, love and power. T125

At the moment Jesus died, that was the decisive act which legally released man from the bondage of sin, and secured for him the right to live again.

Faith in his blood -- Blood given, blood shed, death. R1336:1

In the sacrifice; the ransom-price. E434

Christ's blood was the price given for the "Church of God" and for the whole world. R1336:1

Faith, not in his example, but in his blood. R1810:4*

His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened up the way to reconciliation, and transferred us back to sonship in God's family. R1230:3

This insures that everyone coming to the Father must admit that he is a sinner and cannot meet the penalty of his own sin. R3729:5

We must by faith grasp the agency of God's grace--the ransom--before we can realize its full blessing. R441:2

To declare -- "For an exhibition." (Diaglott) R128:1

His righteousness -- Jehovah's righteousness. R1336:1

Right doing. R441:5, 660:6

For -- In. R504:4, 430:2

The remission -- Forgiveness. E461

Passing by the sins formerly committed. R1030:1*

Sins that are past -- Imperfections and shortcomings that were ours at the time of our consecration. R4601:6, 5750:3, 4615:5, 4585:1,2, 2689:3, CR97:1

Our Advocate did a thorough work as respects the sins of our flesh; they are past and gone. CR97:1

In proportion as we realize this and act upon it, it gives us preparation for further divine leadings and blessings. HG453:6

"Blessed is the man whose sins are forgiven, whose transgression is covered." (Psa. 32:1) HG147:5

Forbearance of God -- God sent his Son who paid the claim against the condemned race, to set them at liberty without violating his own laws. R504:4

That he might be -- That he might continue. R3279:5

Just -- In pronouncing the penalty against our race. R2698:2, 2822:2

In releasing the sinner from the penalty justly upon him, and giving him an individual trial. R929:6, 1983:6, 1125:2

The sacrifice for sins was demanded by justice and furnished by Jehovah, that he might be just. R1267:2

By substituting Jesus for Adam. E17

The justice of his sentence and the unchangeableness of his decrees. R1125:2; HG292:1

Since the death sentence is against every member of the race, none could justly be released without a ransom. R3706:6

The demand of justice must be paid before the work of release and restitution could begin. R4792:6, 5071:1, 3707:1

Reconciliation necessitates first a redemption of the sinner--a payment of his penalty. E419, 401

Nothing can ever be done by the Almighty that can violate his justice. R3707:2

God was just in pronouncing the penalty against our race and could not clear the guilty through any process of injustice. R2698:2; E17

God having justly condemned Adam and his race could not justly reverse his own sentence, without a cause. R1583:4

Enabling him to forgive sins that are past as well as those present, pardoning sinners he had once condemned. R929:6

The fact that God provided so expensive a ransom-sacrifice for sinners, proves that his justice is inviolable and unbending. R1583:4

God's justice as manifested in giving his Son to be a ransom for all, before that sin could be blotted out, evidences a firmness and justice that is sublime. R769:3

Justice could no more forgive the willful sins which invoked the second death, than it did the Adamic sin which invoked the first death. R769:3

Justice could not object to announcing the redemptive plan in advance to those with the requisite faith--justifying them to fellowship with God.

F111

Divine love could not make void divine justice; it was necessary that God should be just, if he would be the justifier. R4792:6

Justice will be satisfied when the Body members are presented before the Father. R3710:4

And the justifier -- And yet be the justifier. R3279:5, 5194:1, 504:4

Of men already justly condemned to death. R1267:2

Release the well-disposed from the penalty of sin, death and disfavor. R1125:2

Here is the triumph of love and mercy, not through a failure of justice or conquering it, but a satisfaction of justice. R2328:2, 429:4; E17; NS412:6

The penalty for Adam's sin and how that penalty should be met, was optional with the Almighty, so long as no principle of justice would be violated. R3707:3

None could be counted free from the sentence of death until after the great sacrifice for sins had been made. F111; R3706:6, 1591:3, 1583:4

The only way open for our reconciliation consistent with divine law was by giving a corresponding price or ransom. R5194:1, 4941:6, 2822:2, 2698:2, 769:3, 657:5

God cannot justly be the justifier of anyone who does not believe in Jesus. R2059:2

God, the condemning judge, himself also the deliverer, by providing a ransom. R504:4

The Judge sent his Son and paid the claim against the condemned race, that he might set them at liberty without violating his own laws. R504:4

His law will be manifested to all as unchangeable and perfect, even while pardoning sinners he had once condemned, who by faith laid hold of Jesus as their justifier from guilt and condemnation. R929:6, 1125:2, 441:1

An earthly judge could not justly set the prisoner free, but if someone paid the imposed penalty, the judge could be just in justifying the formerly condemned. R429:4

We need not fear that our justification is incomplete, for Jehovah himself is the justifier. R199:3

Of him -- Of any sinner. R3279:5

Believeth in Jesus -- All who shall become his disciples and follow his leading and direction. CR413:6; R3707:1

God cannot justly be the justifier of any one who does not believe in Jesus. R2059:2, 5071:1

Where is boasting? -- Where is the room for. R2719:6

Who can boast now? R929:6

It is excluded -- All boasting of works is shut out. R929:6

Because the Jew and the Gentile having come into Christ are on a common level. R2719:6

Of works? Nay -- Our own works could not justify us. E444; R929:6, 560:5*

Works of charity and slaying sin in one's self. R929:6

Law of faith -- This is the law of love. R1322:2

"Faith worketh by love." (Gal. 5:6) R1332:2

Pure, true faith is opposed to boastfulness. R1159:4*, 2163:3

Life, favor, forgiveness and reconciliation is an unmerited favor of God, obtainable through faith in the sacrifice of Christ. R930:1

Justified by faith -- In the sense that ours is merely a reckoned or faith justification. F103; R193:3

Not by any Covenant--the New Covenant has nothing whatever to do with justification by faith. R4474:3

It is the human nature that is justified or reckoned right in God's sight. OV315:1

This is our restitution; we who were aliens, by the blood of the cross are restored to God's favor, as Adam was before sin. R193:3

The word justification implies making right; and does not imply making over, or a change of nature. OV315:1

Without the deeds -- Without necessity for the works demanded by the Law. R2720:1

Make void -- Of none effect, useless. R542:5

The law -- The law of righteousness. R2720:1

"For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live unto God." R1729:6

Faith -- The doctrine of faith, which we are now preaching. R542:5

Yea -- Nay. R542:6

Establish the law -- Proving that God's Law is perfect; and Israel was imperfect--thus leading them to Christ. R542:6

By the fact that the imperfect Jews could not keep the Law of works and that it had to be fulfilled by Jesus before they could be justified under the Law of faith. R2720:1

Romans 4

Romans 4:2

Were justified -- To fellowship with God, not to life. F111; R4574:1

A narrow or a broad view of justification may be taken and both be true.

R5474:1

This implies three different steps--two which were Abraham's and one the Lord's. R4574:1

Romans 4:3

Believed God -- Though even the type had not yet come in his day, Abraham, as a justified believer, was a member of the "household of faith," typified by the Levites. T27

Concerning the Gospel: "In thee shall all nations be blessed." (Gal. 3:8)

R217:2, 2873:6

The process by which all nations were to be blessed was not understood by Abraham except that it should be through his offspring, but he believed the fact without knowing how. R217:3

Abraham felt in some manner God would roll away the curse. OV428:1

It is only by the exercise of faith in our Redeemer that we are reckoned as covered with the robe of righteousness, and made acceptable. R4003:2

For righteousness -- Faith will hide a multitude of defects. R4003:2

The Church's justification, like that of Abraham, is by faith. R4442:6

Faith -- There is no merit in faith; it is not righteousness, nor does it justify us; but we are justified through faith. R555:3

Counted -- Reckoned. R2854:2, 193:3

Although, perhaps, not blameless in character at the time, yet Abraham possessed that which would result in holiness, and God counted the work begun in him, as finished. R76:2

For righteousness -- Justification. R193:3

The Ancient Worthies' reverence for their Creator and obedience to his Word of promise implied they had hearts full of trust and the proper spirit that God could count it perfection. R4386:1

Abraham was justified by faith and it was imputed unto him for righteousness. R76:2

Our endeavors to walk after the spirit are counted to us for righteousness. NS244:5;

By Jesus; who became our willing substitute. R657:2,5

Romans 4:6

Righteousness without works -- Justification by faith. R2194:3
Righteousness which he had not worked out. R2194:3

They -- The consecrated, spirit-begotten, probationary member of the Body of Christ. R4842:1

Iniquities -- The word carries with it the sense of wickedness, lawlessness. R2295:1

Sins -- The word has merely the thought of transgression. R2295:1
Uncontrollable weaknesses, resulting from the fall. R1698:2, 2295:1

Are covered -- Sin while not blotted out is covered. R2295:1
By the ransom. R1698:2

Concealed beneath the robe of Christ's righteousness, until the time for their blotting out in the first resurrection. R2194:3, 4842:1, 1654:2

The covering of sin takes place instantaneously, as soon as the believer has accepted of the redemption in Christ Jesus. R2194:2

Those justified by faith, who do the best they can are acceptable to God as though they were perfect. R3366:5

The sinner is forgiven the moral obliquity connected with the sin, which they no longer sympathize with, and the sin itself, while not blotted out is covered. R2295:1

The robe of righteousness does not cover, as some seem to think, the sins of the new mind. R4842:4

Even though the believer's sins are covered he still battles against those imperfections. R2194:3

All with faith in Christ's sacrifice, and consecration to God's service, come under the covering of the New Covenant. R1654:1

Romans 4:8

Not impute sin -- Reckon. R1654:1

To the reckoned sons, Jesus' brethren, no sin is imputed. R489:4*

God does not regard them as they really are but imputes their sins to Christ who imputes his worthiness to their account. R1654:2

In uncircumcision -- Circumcision was instituted after the Covenant was made with Abraham. R4370:5

Sign of circumcision -- Not as a requirement to his justification.

R2720:1

A seal -- Or mark of justification and harmony with God to which he had already attained. R2720:1

Faith of our father Abraham -- The Jews have no right to the land of promise except as they hold to the promise of the oath-bound Covenant made with Abraham. R5178:1

Romans 4:13

Heir of the world -- Lord Jesus. R1063:1*

Righteousness of faith -- Abraham was justified by faith; reckoned in God's sight a perfect and righteous man. R196:3

It is faith, not water, that justifies. R1969:3

No transgression -- No one could transgress a law that was not given to him, that was not applicable to him. R5070:2

The world has not yet come under individual condemnation. For the world has not yet been placed under divine law. R5071:2

In Paul's discussion of the Jewish view of the Mosaic Law, he uses this statement to show the Jews misunderstood the matter. R5070:2

"Sin is not imputed when there is no law." (Rom. 5:13) R5071:1

The world is under Adamic sentence and only those lifted out of that condemnation can come under another sentence. R5071:1

Therefore it -- The Abrahamic Covenant, covering the Church. R4366:1, 4606:3

By grace -- The spiritual seed is developed according to the spirit, according to grace, favor. R4606:3

Sure -- There were no conditions with the Covenant, therefore it cannot pass away, nor be altered, nor added to. R282:2

To all the seed -- All the children. NS287:3

Two seeds; the heavenly seed of Abraham and the natural seed of Abraham. Q642:2; R4453:1, 3259:5, 793:2, 282:2, 220:1, 201:3

"Thy seed shall be as the stars of heaven (the spiritual class, the heavenly, the Church); and as the sand upon the seashore (the earthly seed)." SM368:1

One a heavenly class, the other an earthly class, with Messiah the head over all. CR157:4

Two seeds, one developed under faith, the other under Law and works. R5300:2; 1140:6; T35

The two elect churches, Jewish and Christian, are to be unitedly the agencies for blessing all the families of the earth. R1316:2

The promise, to bless all nations, will be fulfilled not only to Christ and the Church, but also to Abraham personally and his natural seed who come in harmony with the divine plan. R1140:6

Children according to natural process of generation, and children by special power of God, not actually children of Abraham, but of him whom Abraham typified. R793:2

There will be two phases of the Kingdom of God which is to bless all nations; an earthly and a heavenly phase. R1140:6

After Israel in the flesh receives mercy through the glorified Christ, they will be used as the Lord's instruments for blessing all the families of the earth. C299

The spiritual seed is developed during the Gospel age. The fleshly seed, the restitution class, will be developed under the New Covenant (the Ancient Worthies were developed before the Gospel age). R4366:1

Refers also to the faithful worthies of the past who will receive a share in the original promise and participate in blessing the Gentile world.

Typified by Isaac and Ishmael. R793:2

The promises to the natural and the spiritual seeds are more or less intertwined. R3259:5

Those who now walk by faith are the true seed of Abraham. R1753:4

Israel cannot come into the bosom of Abraham, into the true rest and peace, because they failed to rightly apprehend and use God's promises and dealings. R1042:6; HG386:6

By the end of the Millennial age, his seed will include all the saved on the human plane. R4606:5; CR98:3

Which is of the law -- The natural seed: the restitution class. T35;

R5300:2, 1140:6, 201:3

The Abrahamic Covenant and the Law were distinct. T35

Those who will become the seed of Abraham under the New Covenant arrangement during the Millennial age by obedience to the Law under the better Mediator than Moses--Christ the Head and the Church, his Body.

R4606:5, 4438:3; C299

"Sands of the sea." R4606:4

Pointing back to the Law Covenant given to Moses, and forward to the Law Covenant of the future. R4606:4

The earthly seed of Abraham will be developed under the Law. R4606:4

The old Law Covenant brought not forth the seed of Abraham, but the New (Law) Covenant will bring forth many children. R4453:1

The Ancient Worthies cannot be included in the spiritual seed, but logically be included with the natural seed. R4606:6

Is of the faith -- The spiritual seed. R5300:2, 1316:2; T35

To whom pertain the Covenant and the exceeding great and precious promises in their largest fulfillment. R1753:4

We are counted Abraham's seed because of our faith and we become members of the spiritual seed. R4606:1

"The stars of heaven." (Gen. 22:17) R4606:4

The only children of Abraham thus far developed are those who are the seed of Abraham according to faith. R4453:1

Father of us all -- Who are of the faith of Abraham. R1623:6

As Jehovah will be the Father of all the saved, not only the Church, but also the restituted world. R4366:1

Abraham's life was a long discipline of faith and patience; for he was to be the father of the faithful, a type of the fatherhood of God. R1915:3; SM201:2

Abraham was the father of the seed, only in the typical sense. R905:2

A worthy example to all his children, both those under the Law and those under the new covenant of grace. R1915:3 The father of the faithful.

His children--all those who are of the faith of Abraham, whether of the fleshly or spiritual seed. R1905:3

Made thee a father -- In the end of the Millennial age, all the perfect race will be "the seed of Abraham" under the New Covenant arrangement. CR98:3; R5388:5, 4646:1; Q196:3

All the families of the earth will become children of Abraham, who represented God in a figure. R5909:5, 5178:5, 1140:6

Abraham was a type of God, therefore, many nations would become children of God. R3601:1

"I have made thee a father of many nations." (Gen. 17:5) R5909:5

The Lord said to Abraham: "In becoming thy seed shall all the nations of the earth bless themselves." R5909:5

"Thy seed shall be as the sands of the sea-shore for multitude." R4646:1

The Abrahamic Covenant was to have a double fulfillment--first, in a literal sense to him and his posterity: second to the spiritual children of Abraham. R1630:1

Many nations -- Seeds. R793:2

All kindreds and families of the earth will be blessed by the opportunity to become children of Abraham, children of God. R5909:5, 4646:1, 4366:1

It will be necessary for the people of all nations to become Israelites, thus become children of Abraham. NS724:4

These will be blessed under the New Covenant when the Abrahamic Covenant will be fulfilled to Israel and all. R5909:5

The blessing of the Lord will be upon them all. R5388:5

By the end of the Millennial age all the perfect race will be "The seed of Abraham." R4646:1

Before him -- Like unto him. (Margin) A likeness of the Father; Abraham represented God. R220:1, 1623:6, 905:2

As a type of him. R2908:3, 3601:1, 1156:6, 1140:6, 905:2, 793:2

Foreshadowing him whom he believed. R3601:1

Typifying him whom he believed. R3601:1

Foreshadowing, allegorizing. NS287:3

Quickeneth the dead -- Maketh alive. R1436:3

God purposes their awakening, and speaks of the present condition of Adamic death as merely a suspension of life, not extinction. R5041:4, 666:6; Q211:4

Things which be not -- God's plan for a resurrection is fixed. God speaks of things to come as if already come to pass. E535; R32:3*

As though they were -- Using them as types. R1623:6, 3601:1

What is to be and is being developed is spoken of as already existing. R32:3*

Abraham was not the father of many nations at the time, God was not referring even to his natural seed, but to Christ. R3601:1

In many prophecies the standpoint of the future is taken and the things are spoken of as accomplished facts. R1754:6

God not only speaks of things past as still present but also of things to come as if already to come to pass. E353; R1881:3; HG333:5

Death is really extinction, but because of God's plan to ransom and restore all through Christ Jesus, he calls Adamic death a sleep. R666:6

When in the process of accomplishment, as time is nothing to God. R117:3*

Looking down prophetically to the end of the age. R4657:1

God thus spoke of the resurrection. PD32/44; R4657:1, 1881:3

Thus we need not quarrel with those who say that the world is now bought with a price. R4998:6

Against hope -- But for God's grace and providence, Abraham would many a time have made shipwreck. R751:6

Believed in hope -- Abraham believed God in his statement that in his seed (later shown to be Christ) all the families of the earth would be blessed. R2873:6

Not weak -- Greek, astheneo; without strength, as in "Is any sick?" (James 5:14) R4099:2,6*

In faith -- It was such an active, obedient, faith as would have accepted Christ personally, as it accepted the promises concerning him. R2874:1

Dead -- Abraham, at the age of one hundred, received Isaac as one born from the dead. R751:6

Romans 4:20

Strong in faith -- Even though literally he had seen but a scant realization of God's promises. R751:6*

Romans 4:21

He had promised -- Let not your faith stagger at the promises of God. R905:6

It -- Righteousness. R4442:6

Romans 4:24

Us also -- The Church does not need a mediator or a covenant for her justification. R4438:1

Believe on him -- Faith in God is the basis for our justification, and for Abraham's, though today faith in God includes faith in Jesus as our Redeemer. R2873:6

Raised up Jesus -- "God hath raised up." R1005:5
Christ could never have raised himself. R2795:2

Romans 4:25

Who was delivered -- To death. R391:3, 1247:3, 705:5, 393:4
"I lay down my life for the sheep." (John 10:15) R1247:5
A weighty suggestion of the love of God, who thus freely gave him up for us all. R1247:6

For our offences -- Bearing the condemnation which those offences implied and involved, the very offences or weaknesses of the flesh which hindered the Jews from keeping the perfect Law given at Sinai. R2720:2
Since all men inherited imperfection and consequent condemnation in Adam, they also share in the redemption. R1247:6

Was raised again -- Out of death. E442
Had he remained dead he could never have been the channel of our justification. F106, R1248:3, 1247:1
If he had not had a resurrection, our hope would have perished. R1248:3

The resurrection of Christ was necessary for the great work of justification, salvation and restitution. R1248:4; E442
Christ's resurrection is the pledge of our resurrection; "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the firstfruits of them that slept." (1 Cor. 15:20) R1248:6
Our justification -- Salvation or restitution. R1248:4
The word "justify" means to declare or make right. R1246:3; CR467:3
Clearing from guilt and condemnation. R930:1
Unblamable condition. R391:3
In order that he might justify us. R705:5
Our hope of reconciliation to God is based upon the fact that "Christ died for our sins," (1 Cor. 15:3) and he "was raised for our justification." R1878:3
God will now justly, justify freely all who call upon him for it through him who redeemed us with his own blood. R925:5
Our justification without his death as our ransom-price would have been legally impossible. R1247:1
Jesus rose again that he might make satisfaction to divine justice. CR467:3
Our justification, like that of Abraham, is by faith. R4442:5
Forgiveness came not only to those under the Law (Israel), for Abraham received the promise of a blessing to all nations. R930:1
The plan of God embraces all who believe. R930:1
Our justification is not accomplished until, in each individual case, the necessary steps of faith and full consecration have been taken, as a result of which the merit of our Redeemer is imputed. R5854:6; E444
God will not be unjust to withhold that right to life which has been purchased for us according to his own plan. R393:4
The great work of actual justification is the work God purposed for the world; to this end the death and resurrection of Christ are all-important. R1247:1
The bestowment of this blessing upon the world waits for the election of the Church to be joint-heirs with Jesus in his heavenly Kingdom. NS5:1

Romans 5

Romans 5:1

Justified by faith -- In the sense that ours is merely a reckoned or faith justification. F104, 106; A124; R5470:2, 4476:1, 1262:1, 400:5, 199:2; CR470:4, 467:3
The word means to be made right, to pronounce free from guilt. CR470:4; R660:2, 441:1; 440:3, 391:1; Q408:2

The word justification has two meanings: to prove that a thing is right, or to make a thing right which is wrong. These terms are used in these two senses in Scripture. R659:3, 440:3

Faith in the blood of Jesus as our Redeemer. R4435:3, 4390:2, 2720:2, 2220:3, 1262:1, 1231:1, 759:2, 391:2; SM474:1

Not because of our faith, but through faith and because of Jesus' work of sacrifice as our ransom. R759:2*

Our sins are forgiven, covered by the merit of the ransom. R1231:1

From sins past and present, also all future sins that are directly or indirectly the results of Adam's transgression. R1231:1

In the real gospel of God's love and favor to us and toward all in Christ. R1502:4

By the acceptance of Christ as the Bread of Life--preceded by the realization we have no life in ourselves. R2652:1

We must by faith grasp the agency of God's grace--the ransom. R660:2

We are not justified by prayers or works. R2548:2

Faith is the ground or base of justification. R2852:1

It is faith not water that justifies. R1969:3

Simple as faith is in the abstract, yet God has been pleased to honor it with results, which are glorious. R471:1*

Only the justified are called to the "high calling." R4435:3, 4442:6, 1231:2, 648:5

As we are drawing near to God and are said to be in a justified condition. Q409:T

Such are invited to present their bodies a living sacrifice. SM509:2

They shall be counted perfect, counted righteous, so long as their hearts, their wills, their best endeavors, are for righteousness. R3322:6

Brought into fellowship with God as justified human beings. R199:5, 648:5

Partaking of the human rights, privileges and blessings of restitution--in this age faith justification. R2652:1

Having accepted the promise of actual justification, we hold so to speak, a check in the bank of heaven for full justification or restitution payable in the Millennial age. R1262:1

After repentance. R2941:2, 2225:6

The first step, coming to Christ for rest; the acceptance of him as the satisfaction for our sins. R2625:2, 3512:5, 3201:1, 2652:1

The first step of faith restores the believer to all privileges originally bestowed upon Adam, though their full realization does not belong to the present age. R1585:2

Our peace or harmony with God began with our faith. Our justification by faith began with the first element of our faith, when first we saw the Lord even imperfectly. R4901:1

Lifted to plane N. A232; R274:3

Neither the Ancient Worthies nor the Body of Christ are justified by a covenant or by a mediator. R4388:5, 4476:1

A reckoned justification attained instantly by the imputation of the merit of Christ. R5776:4

We reckon ourselves as God reckons us, justified freely from all things.

R1262:1; Q408:2

In the perfection of his offering. R94:4

Abraham needed no mediator to justify him. "He was justified by faith."

R4476:1

And by it also we enter into all other favors of the divine provision.

R2220:3

Many have believed in the precious blood and have had joy and peace in believing and heard the call to the privilege of self sacrifice with Christ; but few responded. R1231:5

Very few lay hold upon justification fully. R199:5

The Apostle prayed for a certain church that their faith fail not. He knew if their faith was gone, all would be gone. R471:4

We -- The fully consecrated. R5960:1

Have peace with God -- From the time we first approach God we begin to have a measure of this peace and it continues with us as long as we are walking in the right direction, growing in knowledge and obedience.

R4901:2, 4579:3; PT391:1*

From the time we accept Christ we have joy and peace through believing.

R2625:2

The immediate effect of faith is a blessed realization of peace with God.

R1585:2

Applies to those fully consecrated, justified, accepted of the Father by the begetting of the holy Spirit. It would not apply to any who are merely approaching through the Court. R5960:1

Implies a good degree of harmony with the principles of righteousness, for faith in Christ is always reformatory. F116

In the Tabernacle arrangement, from the time of entering the court condition of faith, the peace continues with each onward step of obedience. R4579:4

One who merely believes in the Savior and wishes to do right, cannot enter into full peace with God. R5133:3

A condition that means one has become reconciled to God. It means the estranged is now in harmony with God--he has turned his back on sin and is seeking to walk in the path of righteousness. R5431:3

The "peace of God" can come only to those who have given themselves unreservedly to God. R5432:1

If faith and obedience extend to full consecration and begetting, it becomes the "peace of God which passeth all understanding, ruling in our hearts." (Phil. 4:7) R4579:3

Rest with God. R391:3, 930:1

Realizing that our sins and imperfections are covered. R2941:2

Implies some discernment of the future blotting out of the sins of the believer. F116

No longer enemies, but justified human sons, reckoned so. R274:3; A232
The first step toward holiness brings one into a condition of peace with God. T21

As respects their former sins and condemnation under which they realize that they had rested. But still have not yet become servants of God. SM509:2; R2941:2

Those whose faith or obedience stop find their peace with God diminish. R4579:3

The truth gives us this peace--believing that Christ died for our sins, rose for our justification; reckonedly being brought from death unto life. R3512:5

Until Christ's reign, the experiences of the believer are the joys of faith and hope of the present peace and communion with God. R1585:2
When we believe the "good news" of our justification, it causes us joy and peace to realize we may now come to God. R199:5

Through our Lord -- By Christ's blood, by the life he laid down for us. R1231:1

Something Jesus has done for us, and not something for us to do for ourselves. R391:4

Not through personal worthiness of his favor. R1585:2

By whom we have received the atonement, his righteousness being imputed to us by faith. R1585:2

All things are of the Father and by the Son. (1 Cor. 8:6) E54

Anyone attempting to climb into the family of God otherwise "the same is a thief and a robber." (John 10:1) R3120:2

Jesus Christ -- Not through other mediators. R2548:4

Our sins were laid upon Christ our Redeemer and his righteousness is transferred to our account. R1262:1

Romans 5:2

By whom also -- Through Christ. R1262:4

Because of the price which he paid for us. C202

Reference to a second privileged step of faith: the step of consecration.

R1585:3, 4243:1, 3201:2, 2941:2, 2720:2, 2285:6, 930:2

We are not only justified out of sin, but are also brought by operation of our faith in the glorious standing of members of Christ. R4989:2

We not only have faith-fellowship with God but complete and actual justification to life and our begetting of the holy Spirit. R4640:2

We -- "Brethren," of the household of faith; justified believers. R1885:3

All who by faith are reckoned alive from Adamic death during the Gospel age. R1231:6

A class of saints who have not only been justified by faith but have obtained the begetting to the divine nature. R648:6

Have access -- The privilege, invitation or opportunity of the Gospel age, is the door. C206

No one ever entered in without the robe. C203

To the Father. R1227:3

By reason of the opportunity which our justification gives us of becoming members of the High Priest, sharers in his sacrifice. R4390:2

Not until we became justified human sons of God were we invited to sacrifice our human rights and reckon ourselves heirs with him of future glories. R925:6

An access by faith of a still higher grace, or position of favor. R1585:3

The call to joint-heirship with the only begotten Son and heir. R1387:1

Are privileged also to hear of a prize or high calling during the Gospel age to be living sacrifices. R1231:6

"The second blessing." R1262:2

"Favor upon favor." (John 1:16--Diaglott) R1262:3

Into this grace -- Of justification. R422:2, 339:1

Into this further grace. R2285:6

Favor; the "high calling." C206; R1585:3, 1262:3, 1231:6, 1007:5, 434:4

The privilege of sonship. R3201:2, 4901:1, 4640:3, 4390:2, 4243:1, 3020:2, 1387:2, 648:6

The place of God's peculiar favor, a step beyond mere justification, consecration. R4243:1

The privilege of being "transformed" to a higher nature. R1585:3

The access into this higher grace cannot be obtained except from the standpoint of the previous grace of justification. R1585:3

The invitation to be the beloved Bride of Christ to be made like him and to be in his glorious presence forever. R1262:3

Rejoice -- We rejoice in the fact that we are already sons of God without rebuke, and to be changed and share his glory. R4640:3

We have good cause for rejoicing, it means not only blessing ourselves but participation with Messiah in blessing all the world of mankind. HG374:3; NS374:3

In hope of -- In hope of sharing, as Christ's joint-heirs. R2720:2, 2941:2, 2225:6, 1387:2, 1263:4, 1007:5

Sharing the divine nature and the Kingdom power with our Lord and Redeemer, Jesus. R1231:6

The glory of God -- Which is to be revealed in our Lord and in us as his members in his Kingdom. R4434:4

High exaltation of Christ beyond the glory he had with the Father before the world was. R1262:4

A glory of office, what is second only to that of Jehovah, the great Emperor of the universe. R1262:4

Glory of character. R1262:4

A glory of power of "All power in heaven and in earth." R1262:4

The privilege of becoming heirs of glory, joint-heirs with Jesus on a specified condition; if they would suffer with him. R925:6

Glory in tribulations -- Brought upon them by their faithfulness to Christ and his word. R3281:4

Happy in present trials, difficulties, and oppositions. SM386:1; R3309:6

Knowing that we must be tested, tried and disciplined to fit us for our future exalted station. R1007:5, 1585:5, 648:5

As joint-sufferers. R930:2

These experiences are similar to those of the Master, thus we have evidence that we are walking in his footsteps. R3281:4 Because it is God's method of chastening and polishing us for a share in the Kingdom. SM371:T; R1585:5, 648:5

Not because we love tribulation but the patience, the experience, the character, which God assures us are a fruitage of tribulation, if we are rightly exercised thereby. R2737:3, 199:4

If our sufferings be the way by which the Lord would attract and bless others of his true sheep. R5365:5

The Christian's life is not a sad or morose one, but a most joyful one, even in tribulation. R4592:4

In proportion as we are able to realize our own imperfections and the perfect will of God concerning us. R2213:5

We have tribulation because the world is traveling in the opposite direction to righteousness; in the way of selfishness and gratification of the flesh. R5218:2

Whoever escapes experiences that would develop the fruits of the holy Spirit will never gain a place in the Kingdom. R5779:6

Knowing -- If rightly exercised. R1585:5

It is the knowledge that makes such a difference. CR432:4, 387:4

Tribulation -- Tribulation is necessary for the development of patience. R1721:3

Tribulation works out the fruits of the holy Spirit. R5951:3

The favorable results of tribulation follow, on account of a genuine consecration. R3281:5

Worketh patience -- We learn to cultivate patience in trial. R5879:2

Patience in submitting to trial will lead to large and valuable experience. R1585:5

"Let patience have her perfect work." (James 1:4) R2737:3

"Yieldeth the peaceable fruits of righteousness." (Heb. 12:11) R1721:3

Worketh the various facets of the jewel essential to it in the eyes of him who is shortly to gather his jewels. R2405:1

Patience -- In the exercise of patience the lessons of experience have made you stronger, increased your faith, zeal, and gratitude. R1721:3

Experience -- Of God's love and wisdom and grace and comfort, which will strengthen our confidence in God. R1585:5

He who would relate an experience of what the Lord has done for him, must at the same time narrate what he has done for the Lord. R1022:1*

Will brighten our hope and strengthen our confidence in God. R1585:5

According to Webster it is "wisdom gained from experience," appropriate for Christian as well as worldly experience. R1022:1*

Christian experience is not sitting down letting the Spirit of God work in our hearts--it is eminently practical. R1022:1*

Christian experience is not the exaltation of feeling only inspired by ardent songs, prayers, Christian fellowship. He who is dependent on such for his vitality is an infant in experience. R1022:1*

Christian experience is putting off the old man; growth in grace, building character, laboring in the vineyard, visiting the widows and fatherless, keeping unspotted from the world. R1022:1*

Hope -- This does not mean we get all our patience first: then all our experience, then all our hope; but that they are all developing together.

R5779:5

This deepens the sense of fellowship with God and gives confidence to the hope of final and full acceptance with him. R1721:3

The embroidery work adding stitch to stitch in its development. NS449:6

Romans 5:5

Maketh not ashamed -- Those inspired by this hope experience no sense of shame under the discipline and trials they must endure, but glory in tribulations and rejoice to be counted worthy to suffer for his name's sake. R1585:5

In the glorious message they hear there is nothing to be ashamed of, it is the power of God unto salvation. R1585:6

Love of God -- Because with this hope we have the realization of God's love. R5779:6

Shed abroad -- Made known. R197:5*

Enlarging our hearts. CR446:4; R3933:1

By the holy Spirit. R1007:5

The love of God grows in our hearts and fills us. R3933:2

Producing love for the brethren and all the good fruits of the spirit.

R2456:1

Displacing the spirit of the world, the spirit of selfishness. R3281:2

We are led to still wider love beyond the household of faith, for whom we delight to lay down our lives. R3933:2

In our hearts -- This is conditional to those who, hearing his commandments, are moved by responsive love to do them. R2456:1

Given unto us -- Imparted to us from the truth. R1007:5

Without strength -- The sin of Adam left mankind in this condition. R77:6
Greek, asthenes; sickness in the sense of moral or spiritual form. R4099:6*
To help ourselves. R1585:6

In due time -- "The fullness of time." (Gal. 4:4) E451

God's appointed times and seasons are an important feature of his plan.
B25; R598:3

The time of the payment of our ransom price was definitely prearranged.
R1585:6

When God sent forth his Son as the man Christ Jesus. E451

There was a particular appointed time for the payment of our ransom, as well as every other feature of the wondrous plan. R1586:1

Just as surely there is a due time for the second advent. R598:4

Christ died -- Our Lord's mission to earth at the first advent was to undo for the race, legally, the results of Adam's transgression, and to secure the right to resurrect them. R1125:4; NS293:6; HG292:6

This was Jehovah's original plan, and before sin entered even before the foundation of the world, love provided the "Lamb of God." R788:3

Will one die -- That would be a great stretch of love. R197:6*

Peradventure -- Possibly. R197:6*

For a good man -- The greatest love amongst men is to lay down his life for his friends, but for his enemies is certainly a much higher type of love. R2648:3

Romans 5:8

Commendeth his love -- Greek, agape; disinterested or divine love.
R2807:4, 3949:2

Pity-love, the sympathetic love of a benefactor. R1693:6

This can be no more than pity-love, it cannot be fellowship-love. R1693:6

The Bible, alone, tells of a God touched with the feeling of human infirmities and with sympathy toward sinners. R5032:1

God devised the plan, provided the ransom, and sent his Son to die for us, because he loved us. R77:1:*

Not until then was the divine love manifested to mankind, although it had existed all along. E451

God does good even to the unthankful, giving sunshine and rain and food to all. R1693:6

We must have the mind of the Lord, but we are to have no sympathy with the evil. Q322:T

God loved us while we were yet sinners and Christ died to commend that love. R77:2*

Until then the world knew nothing of God's love. There it was demonstrated. R2120:6

Undoubtedly God's love was known to the angelic hosts before, but not to the same extent. SM472:2

Here is manifested pure, unselfish love. R31:5*

The proof of the love of God is not only the most conclusive on record, but it is also the most conclusive conceivable. R1328:3

Salvation is an act of God's free grace, an act to which he was impelled only by his abounding love. R1266:6

This is a grand ennobling love which, without having the least fellowship with the impure, pities the fallen and longs for their rescue from degradation. R4766:4

How much more does he love us now that we are no longer aliens, brought nigh by the precious blood and begotten by his holy Spirit. R4277:6

Both the Father's and the Son's love, but primarily the Father's. R9:5

While we were yet -- Hence the reconciliation is not the result of our "slaying the enmity in us." R728:4, 1231:1

In Jesus' case, it was more than any earthly love or friendship. R5664:5

It is because God saw that the hearts of humanity are not really in that deplorable condition intentionally or deliberately that he has provided the way of escape. R5275:5

If God so loved the world, even while they were yet sinners, then love and benevolence toward the world on our part cannot be out of harmony with his will. R4766:1, 1955:3

If God loved us while we were yet sinners to make such careful provision for our redemption, much more now that we are no longer rebels, we may have confidence in his love and providential care. R2556:3

Sinners -- Enemies. R405:3*, 1175:1, 728:4, 404:4*, 290:2*, 222:2*

Christ died for the ungodly. Q510:T

Once we are accepted of God in Christ, we need no ransoming, having no sins to expiate. It was while we were yet sinners we needed a ransom. R1590:1:

Christ died -- To open up a way of reconciliation with God. E446

By the one sacrifice of himself once for all, he expiated the sins of all the ungodly. R1590:1

The method by which the change is effected from the curse of sin and death to the blessings of divine favor and life. R866:4

So love can go beyond justice. R5644:1

"The Son of Man came--to give his life a ransom for many." (Mark 10:45; Matt 20:28) R866:4

Deadness to sin is not the ground for forgiveness of sins past, it does not take the place of Christ's sacrifice for sins. R728:2

While the death of Christ does not secure spiritual life for any, it makes it possible for all. R77:3*, 42:5*

For us -- Those who turn from sin and have accepted God's provision in Christ. Q392:2

Children of wrath even as others--parts of the world. R1590:1

Much more -- Saved by his life. R197:1*

We are not reckoned in the fallen condition as the world, but recognized as brethren. R197:1*

Being now justified -- A "making" right. PT391:2

To life. R16:3

By his blood -- By the death of Christ paying the penalty for Adam.

F105, SM725:2:

Blood shed as the evidence of death. R1336:1*, 1337:4, 1459:1, 441:1, PT391:2*

In the blood of him: in the human life of him. PT391:2*

The death of the man Christ Jesus, his blood that secured our release from sin and death. E446

The blood of Christ, the anti-typical sin-offering, reaches unto all that are in their graves and secures for all mankind an awakening from death.

R1395:6

The classes saved during this Gospel age do more than believe, repent, live righteously, they make a covenant to follow in Jesus footsteps.

SM725:2

Became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened up the way to reconciliation, transferred us back to sonship with God. R1230:3

Regarding Jesus as an "example" would be of no profit or advantage. Jesus was "nothing" if not a Redeemer--a justifier from sin and its penalty.

R1459:1

Saved from wrath -- Restored to the proper condition of sons--liberated from sin and death, the manifestation of God's wrath. R1586:1

Romans 5:10

Enemies -- All mankind are opposers of God and righteousness, so far as their imperfect conduct, though all are not such at heart. R1175:1

The whole race were reckoned and treated as enemies condemned to death because represented in Father Adam. 1028:1*

Convicts before the Judge. R504:1

Reconciled to God -- The atonement being finished as far as he is concerned. E26, 25

The opposition and curse of his violated law was lifted. R587:5

One of the prominent features of God's plan, by which his love manifested, is Christ's death. R483:1

The death of Christ reverses the curse that came on all by the first Adam. R197:6*

Death of his Son -- Our justification, without his death as our ransom price would have been legally impossible. R1247:1

Both the death and resurrection of Christ were indispensable to God's plan for human salvation or justification. R1247:1

His death justified us to human life. R253:3

The laying down of the blood life or psuchee. R53:3*

This was the point of reconciliation between God and man, hence Christ is our "Mercy Seat." R39:1*

Much more -- Much more easily believed, is the promise that. R705:5

Being reconciled -- Guiltless, acquitted by the Judge who once condemned us. R504:1

Being justified and reckoned as sons of God. R1586:1

Atoned. R43:1 Reconciliation for the sins of the whole world was made, (Heb. 2:17) but all have not yet accepted the reconciliation through faith. R677:4*

We may readily believe and accept of all the marvelous favors promised us as followers of the Lamb who justified us. R930:2

We shall be saved -- Brought back to perfection and harmony with God and his law. R587:5

Recovered fully from the imperfections and penalties of sin. R705:5

As we continue to trust in the merit of our Redeemer, accept the free gift of God's love, we have the Scriptural assurance of salvation. R1586:4

The higher and spiritual form of salvation. R197:6*

By his life -- Now he ever liveth as a divine being, with all power and authority in heaven and in earth to accomplish the remainder of the plan of our Father. R1028:4*

Christ is thus shown to be both the restorer of old, and Giver of the higher life--the second Adam. R197:6*

His example and aid enables us to become partakers of the divine nature. R257:3

By the impartation of his spiritual nature and the benefits that follow by his zoea, life. R53:6*

By whom we -- The Church, alone, as yet. E19, 37; R190:5

Have now received -- Having this reckoned standing now. R1586:4

We who believe have now received the atonement. R1586:4

We are now reckoned of God as perfect through Christ, and as worthy to be called his sons, and receive favors of sons. R1586:4

The atonement -- Greek, kattalage; the satisfaction of justice and the restoration of God's creatures to harmony with himself. E19, 20, 488

Perfect and restored in God's sight. R190:5

We and our Father are in full harmony and communion. R37:2

Wherefore -- Relating back to the atonement of verse 11. R43:1*, 483:3*

Contrary to the teachings of Evolutionists. A61, 162; R2395:3

As by one man -- Father Adam by his disobedience involved himself and all the race in what the Scriptures designate a "curse" or penalty; death penalty. SM28:2, 779:2; R5372:2, 3093:1, 2100:5

The responsibility of the fall was in Adam. R5716:6, 5402:6, 4552:2, 930:3; E189; PD10/17

Satan's falsehood was the cause of the disobedience of the first man. Q799:2

The effect of Adam's fall upon his offspring, through heredity. R5719:6

Only imperfect dying beings could be produced from diseased sperm or life-seed from Adam. E102

Father Adam once had life, but he lost it through disobedience in Eden, and instead the death sentence rested upon him. R3475:2

The condemnation of Adam as a man has not condemned his children in a separate way, but counted them all as members of the one man. R4499:4

Adam's children are as sure to get a blessing from Christ's redemptive work as they surely did share in the curse that came upon Father Adam. R3686:4

It is better that all are condemned in Adam, than individually to death, that all may be released by one man--Christ Jesus. HG731:2

In whom all sinned. R2050:3, 13:1

Adam was originally perfect and pleasing to God. OV383:3

The tomb represents the penalty on Adam for his transgression, and this has been inherited by all of his children. R5463:3

Adam created, or brought this "hell," or condition of death, upon the race by his disobedience. Q785:T

The death of the race depended not upon Eve but wholly upon Adam. E102

Adam was not deceived, therefore had greater responsibility than Eve. PD10/17

Although Eve was "first in the transgression," her act did not imperil the race; because the race was not in her, but in Adam. R2100:5; Q264:2

Eve's identity was so linked with Adam's that, even if she had not sinned in partaking of the forbidden fruit she would, as part of him, have shared his penalty--death. R2100:5; A124

Had Eve alone sinned the race would not have died. Adam's offspring would have been the same, the imperfections of Eve would not have affected them. R776:6

As death depended not upon Eve, yet she shared in the bringing of it, so the restored life depends not on the Bride of Christ, but upon Jesus, but she shares in the work of restitution. R777:1

Through Adam's sin, condemnation was precipitated upon the entire human family--and his bride, mother Eve, was a participant with him in the entire matter. R4138:5

Adam and his bride were one, not twain, hence Eve shared the sentence which her conduct helped to bring upon Adam. A124: R2100:5
God purposed that the entire race should be born from one pair, in order that when sin entered and involved the whole human family, so the death of one person would suffice to redeem the entire race. R5900:1
The propagating of the species did not begin until after the fall--a merciful providence that every member of the race might share in the redemption. R1552:1
If ministers of all denominations do not believe Adam's condemnation passed upon all, how can they believe in the redemption accomplished by our Lord Jesus once for all for Adam and his posterity. R4017:2
Sin entered -- There was no sin or death in the world prior to Adam's transgression. R2395:3, 4972:6, 981:4
Adam sold himself and his race into sin. E452
The cause of all earth's woes and sorrows. OV295:1
"The fathers have eaten a sour grape and the children's teeth are set on edge." (Jer. 31:29; Ezek. 18:2) R2608:5, 2611:4
The sin was disloyalty, disobedience, and its penalty was death. R5979:2
At Eden, and manifested its tendency to be continually downward, except as God introduced the "salt of the earth," (Matt. 5:13) whose influence has been to keep the social mass from utter corruption. R1091:3
The evidence that sin and death and all the train of evil came by one man's disobedience, is certainly a positive denial that God is the author of it. R871:3
Into the world -- Adam's sin was the world's sin because he was the world--the race of natural men being in him. R145:2*
This is far from the teaching of Evolution; the Bible teaches the very reverse. R5140:3
And death -- The death sentence, or curse, or the wrath of God. HG228:4; NS228:4
The wrath of God is revealed in the death sentence that has been on our race for 6000 years. Q328:T; NS231:6
Entered. R1196:4
The race was doomed to extinction. R875:2
The whole world of mankind was judged unworthy of everlasting life by Jehovah. F395
The sentence being not to die merely, and after a period live again, but to remain dead, eternal death. R875:3
The wages, penalty, sentence of sin. E452; F395; R1026:2
Everywhere the penalty of sin is described as destruction. R1026:3
It was not eternal torment that passed upon man nor upon all men, but death. R4552:2; 1085:2, 1026:2; CR209:1, 21:1; NS586:3, 119:6
If eternal torment were the penalty would the Apostle be justified in making such a statement? R1026:3
The curse of death is much more reasonable than the mistaken creed of eternal torment. HG650:2

All the aches, pains, sorrows and sickness which we experience are parts of this dying process. R4972:6, 3921:5

Adam lost eternal life and divine fellowship, and instead got sickness, pain, sorrow, death. R4552:2

God, who gave the opportunity for life eternal, had the full right, the full power, to terminate that life when used contrary to his divine injunction. SM29:T

God's wisdom and justice cannot be impugned--the sentence of death is justly upon all men through Father Adam. R1506:6

Adam and Eve before they sinned, and our Lord Jesus who was sinless, alone had life, ever lived; all others born under condemnation are properly speaking, dying, not living now. R1105:5

The word is sometimes used in a figurative sense, but behind all this is the actual death which passed upon all. R891:2

Adamic death was the penalty for sin inflicted after and because of that figurative death of righteousness, sin. R911:4

Adam became a slave of sin, and as a result, a slave of death. R5355:3
Death and sin. R5372:2

By sin -- As the result of sin. E309; F333; R3391:2, 3256:4, 2395:4, 2100:5, 2050:3, 1718:2, 1196:4, 1026:3; SM779:1

As a consequence of sin. R1085:1

Or as a penalty of sin. R1026:3

Before sin entered the world there was no death. R981:1

Condemnation of death resulted from Adam's willful sin. R1452:6

There would have been no such thing as death in the world aside from sin; thus sin and death constituted the curse. SM799:2; NS643:2

Sin, disobedience, brought the penalty, death, which has impaired the image of God, and in every way degraded man. R1374:4

Thus the death sentence and all its concomitants passed on Adam's race, because all were infected by the disease of sin. R4426:3, 4138:5, 1374:3, 1105:5

This teaches that sin, sickness, and degradation are evils; not due to poor workmanship on the part of our Creator, but by heredity through Adam's transgression. R2395:3

Adam lost his powers of perfect manhood and all right to their perfection through disobedience. R1228:4

Adam was rejected from divine fellowship, expelled from Eden, and subjected to dying conditions. SM612:1

Jesus' ransom-sacrifice affected Adamic death and Adamic sins and none other. R1454:2

Willful sin is not Adam's sin in any sense of the word. The ransom from Adamic sin would therefore not affect a release for willful sin. R1454:2

And so death -- Adamic death, the first death as opposed to second death. HG356:5; NS357:5

The sentence of death came upon Adam, and indirectly affects all his race. E331; R2847:5

Human longevity has decreased, while mental, moral and physical ailments have increased. OV128:1; HG586:3

From the divine standpoint everyone is dead who is either under the sentence or whose life to any extent has been impaired as a result of the curse. R3417:5

The wages of sin is death--including trials, weaknesses, and sufferings of the present life incidental to the dying process. R2847:5

As death was caused by sin, so all calamities spring from the same cause, and are under control of him who has the power of death, the devil. R583:5

As death is a curse, so is sickness the death-poison working in our system. R2000:1

All sickness is part of the dying process and hence is foreign to man's natural condition, as designed by God. R2000:1

As death is a mark of sin, and would not come except as a penalty for sin, so is sickness because it is part of the dying process. R2000:1

The worst, therefore, that could befall the children of the wicked would be--death. R3133:4

The first death comes upon the entire human race (Adam excepted) independent of individual will. R1324:1

There is a radical difference between the law regulating the first death and that regulating the second death. R1324:1

The resurrection will be the only actual salvation from death. R1253:2

Had God not provided redemption through Christ, the death penalty which came upon our race in Adam would have been everlasting, but all have been redeemed from death. R1086:1; HG586:3

The penalty is the just expression of the will and law of God toward man--"The wages of sin is death." (Rom. 6:23) R723:2

Passed upon all men -- All the human race. R838:3

Before they were born. R1780:1

The world of mankind may be regarded as a convict race under sentence of death. Q764:4

Rendering all men convicts, with whom God has been pleased to deal variously. F174

Thus the whole creation was made subject to frailty (to the inherent taint of sin and its condemnation to death). R1780:6

Adam's fall extended in a natural way, and with increasing force and momentum, to his posterity. F395

Under God's law the entire race was judged representatively in Adam. R723:2

It extends to all mankind not merely the hoary-headed sinners, but to the newborn and unborn babes as well. R1477:5

The infant of but an hour shares in the pain and dying process as well as those who live longer and participate in the transgression of the laws of righteousness. F333

Hence all being sinners, all have infirmities, sicknesses and dying. R4138:5

"Born in sin and shapen in iniquity, in sin did my mother conceive me."

(Psa. 51:5) NS351:5

Adam's children were born to him after he forfeited his life-rights and he was unable to give to his children more than he possessed--a dying nature. R5972:2

As all of Adam's children were condemned before their birth, so all of them were redeemed, and the majority of them before their birth. R3686:4
Although purity should be cultivated from infancy, the hope of the world does not lie in the purity of infancy and the avoidance of sin. The hope of humanity is in Christ. R2049:4

The downward or sinful tendency inbred in our very constitution is so strong that none is able to fully overcome it. R4812:1

All of Adam's posterity have inherited weaknesses, mental, moral, and physical. R4552:2, 4982:1, 3921:5, 3391:2, 2256:4; PD11/18; NS650:2

The death penalty was inherited by all Adam's children, so that not a man in all the world of Adam's race had life. R3475:2, 1565:6

Heredity has much to do with every member of our race, nevertheless there are counter-balances in nature. R4812:1

Since the children of Israel, as well as the other nations, were Adam's posterity, they shared his sentence of death. R5046:3

In that all were condemned in the one transgression, the sin of one man. PT387:4*; SM662:2; Q760:4

God had a charge of disobedience against mankind, and justly placed a ban or condemnation upon Adam and his race--"Dying thou shalt die." R3915:3

The death sentence passed against Enoch and Elijah, as well as the remainder of Adam's children, and wherever they are they must still be under the death sentence. R3417:5, 2153:5

Enoch was preserved from actual dissolution in death--although already under that sentence legally dead. R3378:4

For that -- In whom. (Margin) R1477:5*, 1324:1*, 690:2*, 483:4*, 43:3*

By reason of inherited sin and sinful dispositions. E24, 484; R2759:2, 2395:3

All have sinned -- Every human soul sharing in Adam's fall and loss.

E428; R5719:6, 5372:2, 4982:1; OV207:1; Q264:3

All are sinners. E24; R4812:1, 5372:2, 3391:2, 2759:2, 2395:2; OV207:1; SM699:T

Not all individually, but as represented in Adam. R3654:3

Not willingly. R1781:1

It is not true that infants, idiots, etc., are innocent of sin. Although they have not committed willful, personal sin, as members of the race of Adam, they are sharers in original sin. R2050:3, 192:4

"The fathers ate a sour grape and the children's teeth are set on edge."

(Ezek. 18:2) E309

If you have lived just as morally and as carefully as you could, you have fallen short of perfection, because of the weakness inherited through Adam's fall. R604:5

Degeneracy began at once, and affected the offspring according to laws of nature. R3391:2

The lesser degradation of some and the greater depravity of others, even though all have sinned, some have indulged more willfully and fell more deeply than others. R3256:4

This is contradicted by Christian Science with their theory that there is no sin, no evil, therefore, no divine sentence against Adam and his race and no such thing as death. R3900:2

Romans 5:13

For -- Notice verses 13 to 17 are parenthetical, used to offset a misapprehension of the Jews; the main line of the Apostle's argument passes from verse 12 to 18. R3654:2

Until the law -- Previous to the Law Covenant with Israel. R3654:6

There was a law previous to the Law of Moses. It was the law of God originally inscribed upon the heart of the first perfect man. R3654:6

That law, whether ignored or recognized, has always been in the world, and sin against that law has always been imputed to men. R3654:6

Sin is not imputed -- The sinner was conceited until the Law came. Sin was not properly known as "exceedingly sinful." (Rom. 7:13) R99:4*

The world has not yet come under individual condemnation. R5071:1

Only those who are lifted out of Adamic condemnation can come under another sentence. R5071:1

The only ones who have, in any sense, been released from this Adamic condemnation are two classes; the natural Israelites and the spiritual Israelites. R5071:2

When there is no law -- There can be no transgression. R4868:3

The world has not yet been placed under divine law. R5071:1

Nevertheless -- Because justice recognizes only perfection. E484

Although the Mosaic Law had not yet come to revive in the Jews the knowledge of God. R3654:6

Even over them -- Over those who did not know the Law and did not sin according to Adam's transgression; including infants. R4868:6, 3655:1

That had not sinned -- Willfully; for it reigned over infants as well as over those capable of personal sin. R3655:1

The figure -- A type. R3655:1, 257:3, 29:2*

The first Adam, was instituted to be to the race natural, what the second Adam is to the race spiritual. R29:2*

That was to come -- Christ, the second Adam. R3655:1, 257:3, 29:2*

Not as the offence -- The results of the offence and the free gift are entirely different. R3655:1

Is the free gift -- "The gift of God is eternal life." (Rom. 6:23) E285

The offence of one -- Adam. R3655:1

Many be dead -- Under the condemnation to death. R3655:1

All men were either dead or dying--under condemnation to death reckoned of God as dead. R729:1

The many. R3655:1

Grace of God -- The gracious plan of God. R2285:4

Gift by grace -- Christ, as the exponent of that plan. R2285:4

By the divine favor. R3655:1

The Apostle is speaking of the gracious plan of God, and Christ as the exponent of that plan. R2285:4

God's favor in Christ. R37:3

This grace has not yet gone to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles in general. R4634:5

Hath abounded -- Speaking from a prophetic standpoint. R4634:5

The only way in which it has abounded is through the promise of God that the death of Christ will yet be made efficacious for all. R4634:5

Unto many -- Effects for "Israelites indeed." R4504:5

For the judgment -- Greek, krima; sentence. R1853:4, 3655:1

Was by one -- By one offence. R3655:1

Condemnation -- Condemned to death. R391:1

Man was condemned 6000 years ago, and if a Jew, he was additionally bound by the Law Covenant, and has not escaped the condemnation that is in the world. R1726:1; HG231:6

The penalty still remains and is strictly enforced. R688:6

Being unclean, all are cut off from fellowship and communion with the holy and righteous God. R391:1

Is of many -- Is the forgiveness of many. R3655:1

Note the contrast of the one and the many here, the object of which is to increase our estimation of the value of the free gift. R3655:1

Offences -- The sacrifice of Jesus is the basis of forgiveness to only such offences as come more or less directly as a result of Adam's disobedience and fall. R723:3, 1984:4

Death -- God decreed death as the penalty for sin. R1230:6

The sentence of death--extinction. R1230:6

With all its attendant miseries and troubles, is the just penalty for sin.
R787:2

Exposure to the disorders of nature as experienced in earthquakes, cyclones are adjuncts of the curse. R787:2

Individual sin, except in the first man, has nothing to do with hereditary death. R1477:5

Reigned by one -- By that one, Adam. R3655:1, 5779:3

Over all, for 6000 years. R2050:3, 5779:3, 2907:4

The past 6000 years have been a dying time in which death has reigned.
R1105:6

God foresaw the results that leaving Adam to his own will--that in his inexperience he would not submit his will to the Creator's will. R1230:6

Abundance of grace -- Divine favor. R3655:1

Of righteousness -- The righteousness of Christ, imputed to us by faith.
R3655:1

Shall reign -- As sin and death have reigned for 6000 years, now soon grace and truth shall reign unto righteousness and life. R2907:4

A reign of righteousness and life is to succeed the present reign of sin and death. HG627:5

It is the Adamic death that he shall destroy during his reign. R764:1

In life -- The Millennium of Christ's reign is to be a re-living time, a time in which life will reign. R1105:6

Father Adam will be one of the last to be awakened from the sleep of death. R4499:1

Eternal life. R2720:3

By one, Jesus Christ -- Who paid the full corresponding price. E444;

Who will completely eliminate sin from our nature, so that men will have an actual righteousness of their own. R3655:4

By his death destroyed the enmity (curse) for all who have been cursed in the first man's disobedience. R448:2

Jesus ransomed no one from the second death, the ransom was in settlement of Adamic death only. R763:6

Showing how broad a foundation he has laid in the ransom of all by the second perfect man, even as all had come under sentence through the first perfect man. R1265:1

Therefore -- "For God shut up together all for disobedience, that he might have mercy upon all." (Rom. 11:32) A300

As by the offence -- The things to be restored are the things that were lost through Adam's transgression. A177; R329:2, 235:3*

The world's first crisis trial. R669:4, 2856:4, 891:6

Of one -- Adam. E25; R857:6, 332:5

A perfect man had sinned and forfeited all right to life. R464:2, 642:1

Judgment -- Sentence. R3654:3, 3261:2, 891:6, 669:4

The sentence or decree of death which came upon Adam was merely the judicial sentence, not the degradation which followed as a consequence. R2856:5

Came -- Extended to all the seed of Adam. A156; R1450:1

Upon all men -- Sharers of Adam's death sentence. R5596:6, 454:5

Condemning them as unworthy of life. R430:5, 911:4, 676:6*

As all lost life in the first Adam, so all may receive life by accepting the second Adam. A108; HG344:6

All lost life, not of their own will or choice--in the first Adam. R545:3, 258:5

The entire race of Adam was in him when he was sentenced, it was condemned with him. R5293:3

Adam's children were begotten after his humiliation. Through the law of heredity they have been "born in sin and shapen in iniquity," (Psa. 51:5) and accordingly under condemnation to death. R4018:6*

To condemnation -- The death sentence. E25; R2395:4, 903:1, 391:1, 15:5

Excommunication from God, and final extinction of being. R688:6

The justice of God is manifest by rewarding sin with death. R496:1

First death entered and spread throughout all the race entirely independent of human will or personal act (except Adam's). R1450:1*

Man's first chance in Eden resulted in total loss. R704:2

Adam could only bequeath to his posterity the remainder of the ever-declining inheritance which he himself possessed, a spark of life under condemnation. R3654:3

The only exception being in the case of children where one or both of whose parents are believers. (1 Cor. 7:14) R2719:1

Even so -- So the results of Christ's obedience will be shared by all who believe into him. R1601:6

By the same law of heredity. R3654:3

Righteousness of one -- Of the one who gave his life a ransom. R3654:3, 2272:2

Life for life, (Jesus' life for Adam's life). R2051:1

A spotless Redeemer. E444

Jesus gave himself, unblemished with a perfect seed or race in him unborn, untainted with sin, as a full ransom-price. HG395:2

Jesus, another perfect man, bought back the forfeited rights by giving his unforfeited human existence a ransom, an equivalent price. R464:2, 642:1, 432:4

All but Jesus died because of the inherited taint. R441:2

The actual death of Christ. R911:4, 2720:2, 676:6* The love of God is manifest by the death of his Son to release us from that just condemnation. R496:1

Herein the economy which pervades all of the divine plans; God condemned all in one that he might have mercy upon all through one. R381:1, 363:6

This generation all die on account of Adam's sin, but will live again on account of Christ's righteousness. R351:1

Our Lord's offering of himself a sin-offering and corresponding price for Adam and those who lost life in him. R1725:2

Jesus, by the payment of the penalty upon Adam, gained the legal right to restore him and his posterity to life. R3654:3

The death of Jesus was a complete settlement toward God of the sin of Adam. A128

The most economical arrangement that could have been made. R5429:6, 381:4, 363:6

Adam's trial was a personal one and not a representative one; our Lord's trial was a personal and not a representative one. R1601:6

The world's second crisis trial. R669:4, 2856:4, 891:6

"The man Christ Jesus gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." (1 Tim. 2:6) A131

God provided the Redeemer for the very purpose of lifting the death-penalty upon mankind. R5293:3

It was by giving up his life as a ransom for the life of the Adamic race, which sin had forfeited, that a right to life may come to man through faith and obedience, under the New Covenant. R5192:5

Notice the contrast of the first man, Adam, and his failure with the faithfulness of "the man Christ Jesus." R2395:4

So far as the divine law was concerned Jesus paid the full penalty of the whole world rescuing mankind from the tomb and completely raising those willing out of sin by the close of the Millennial age. R2759:3

God is not dependent on sinful flesh and blood to perfectly carry out the divine plan of justification of life. R1151:5

The free gift -- Life became a free gift because we had as a race forfeited our right to the life originally given to Adam. R430:5

This free gift will come to the world in the next, the Messianic, age. R4760:2, 3261:3

It will not be their gift at once, but will become theirs as they come in harmony with the Lord during the thousand year reign under the New Covenant. R4760:6

Of forgiveness, which, if accepted, still constitute a justification or basis for life everlasting. A156

All will be awakened from the tomb, thus receiving some benefit from the New Covenant, irrespective of acceptance of Christ. R5293:1, 2759:2

First to the Ancient Worthies, next to the Jews, then to all the families of the earth. R4760:6

As a gift, it will have certain conditions attached to it, it will be under the terms of the New Covenant. R4760:3

This revival from the dead is to all men unconditional, but a revival to immortality and eternal life is conditional. R630:2*

Jesus redeemed all men in order that all men might have a second chance. R704:2

It is too late to avoid being condemned, our object must be to escape from the condemnation that is in the world. R688:6

Christ has abolished death, annulled it; made it void, or powerless to hold one of Adam's race. R630:3* The things to be restored by and through Christ, are those things which were lost through Adam's sin. R329:2

Came upon all men -- Who shall come into Christ, the new head of the race. A128

The sentence of Adam's sin is settled by Christ for all who accept his sacrifice and come into covenant relationship which eventually all must have a chance to do. R1378:1

The world in general, not the Jews only. R2720:2

This word "all", occurs in 1 Cor. 15:22, 28; 1 Tim. 2:3, 6; 4:10; Heb.

1:6; 2:8; Rev. 15:4. The same Greek word is translated "every" more than one hundred times. Eph. 1:21; Phil. 2:9; Rev. 5:13; Col. 1:15. R838:4

All came under Adamic sentence without choice or knowledge, and latterly came under the benefits of the redemption similarly without choice or knowledge. R2197:3

First death entered and spread throughout all the race entirely independent of human will or personal act (except Adam's). R1450:2 All receive life at the hands of the second Adam equally without their will or choice, with the privilege of retaining it forever on specified conditions. R545:3

We are now in the dawn of the Millennial day. The day in which right will rule and wrong be fully subjected, man will be restored by natural processes. R470:4

The cancellation of sin through the merit of the precious blood of Jesus affects not only Father Adam, but all of his children. SM307:T; R4760:3, 145:2*

The remedy for sin was co-extensive with the penalty. R3655:4

Israel, as well as the other nations, were redeemed by our Lord's offering himself a sin-offering and corresponding price for Adam. R5046:3

After the Day of Atonement (Gospel age) shall have closed, forgiveness will reach the whole world through Christ--a remission of the sentence pronounced upon the world in the person of Adam. R3261:3

The long delay since the giving of the ransom until the release from the sentence of extinction, has perplexed many of the Lord's faithful during the Gospel age. R1178:1

Unto -- Permitting their attainment unto. R2720:3

Justification of life -- The appropriating to ourselves of the "flesh and blood" of Jesus, justifies us from sin and its penalty death--justifies us to human life and its privileges. R611:5

Forgiveness of many transgressions. R4504:5

Right to life may come to men through faith and obedience under the New Covenant. R1637:2, 840:4, 838:3, 467:1

Justifying their living again. R15:5, 676:6*, 252:1

For the law of life in Christ made such free from the condemnation of death. R332:5

Man's only hope is in a resurrection, a re-vitalization or recreation from the dead. R1642:5

A justification to life is one thing, and a justification to more or less friendship with God is another: the latter is all the Ancient Worthies had. Fiii, 111

If Israel or any of the race were justified to life by the mediation of the death of bulls and goats as a sacrifice for sins, then the Apostle was in error. R792:4

The great High Priest will sprinkle the blood upon the mercy seat a second time, and that will fulfill all demands of justice. R4760:3

The new creation are reckoned to attain it now in advance of the world, by exercise of faith. F111

Will eventually be open to all men. F111

The law of heredity will cease (Jer. 31:29), and each will be given the opportunity of justification unto life. R4018:6*

All of the accounts against humanity having been cancelled by justice mankind will be turned over to the Mediator. R5293:2

To those whose sins were reconciled for by our Redeemer's sacrifice--they were no longer under condemnation. R4504:5

St. Paul referred to the fall every time he mentioned justification or the ransom-sacrifice by which we were justified. R1794:4

That we needed to be justified or made right, proves that we were wrong, unrighteousness in God's sight. E444

The appropriating to ourselves of the "flesh and blood" of Jesus, justifies us from sin and its penalty death--justifies us to human life and its privileges. R611:5

For as by one man's -- Adam's, the first Adam. E414; R408:3, 545:3, 258:5, 7:3; OV226:1

Not by one woman's, Eve's; the death of the race depended not upon Eve but wholly upon Adam. E102

Had Eve remained sinless, Adam's condemnation would still have affected the entire posterity. R777:1

The penalty all came through one man, therefore God can justly let the death of one man offset the death penalty. CR429:6, 430:1; R1395:1, 770:5

Adam's trial was a personal one and not a representative one. R1601:6

Disobedience -- Includes not only the act by which sin got possession of the world, but everything incident to its penalty. R5356:3

Many were made sinners -- All who were in Adam. E25

"The many (all) were constituted sinners." (Diaglott) R15:5, 827:1, 252:1, 164:2, 96:3

The results of Adam's failure were inherited by those in him. R1601:6

Though a man may shorten his life by violating the laws of the physical nature. R477:2

Obedience of one -- Jesus. E414; R408:3

The very chief of God's creation, higher than angels and archangels, was selected to undergo the labors of redeeming humanity. R164:3

Thus the Son of God was delivered for our offences. R1247:6

Jesus' sacrifice was a full equivalent and offset in God's sight, for the penalty which came upon Adam and all his race because of his disobedience. R1395:1

Our Lord's trial, like Adam's, was a personal trial and not a representative one. R1601:6

He condemned all through one representative, Adam, that he might have mercy upon all through another representative, Jesus Christ. R408:3

The perfection of Jesus is proven by his ability to give himself a ransom or corresponding price for the forfeited life and rights of Adam, who was perfect until he sinned. R776:3

The restored life of the redeemed race depended on Jesus, but the Church will share in the restitution work. R777:1

The philosophy of the ransom--all mankind were included in one man's sentence, that the penalty could be paid on behalf of all by one sacrifice. R2713:1

The merit of his obedience is as far reaching in its effects for the release of the human family from death, as was Adam's disobedience to destroy that life. R96:3, 37:3

Christ's righteousness, and obedience even unto death, have become a ground of justification. OV226:1

Shall many -- Those who get the first benefit of this provision in Christ are the Church. R5418:2

All who shall ultimately avail themselves of the privilege of the New Covenant. E25; R5192:5, 2856:5, 2272:2

Not many during the Gospel age, only a Little Flock, later the world of mankind. E414

This implies the resurrection of all the families of the earth that have gone down into death. OV250:4

A universal redemption from the curse. R1633:3

The results of Christ's obedience will be shared by all who believe into him. R1601:6

Be made righteous -- Not "were made righteous." A156

"The many (all) will be constituted righteous." (Diaglott) R15:5, 827:1, 252:1, 164:2, 96:3

Justified from sin and death. R422:6

This grand deliverance is not yet, it is merely prospective. CR430:1

All, aside from personal demerit, may receive life by accepting the second Adam. OV226:1; R545:3, 258:5, 7:3

Every evil, whether in act, word, or thought, or every propensity toward evil inherited by us is fully atoned by Jesus already. R725:4

By being raised out of sin and death to perfection during the Millennial age. R2759:3, 417:6, 164:2

Made free from the death penalty--and ultimately shall have a resurrection. R5418:2

Everlasting continuance of life may be had only upon the condition of full obedience to divine requirements. R1642:5

Neither justice nor the new Judge will release the culprit from the difficulties under which he labors, except as he exercises obedience. R2856:5

Moreover the law -- The Mosaic Law. R3655:4, 930:3

The Law Covenant was added not to do away with sin, but that sin might be more distinctly seen to be sin. R2720:3

Offence might abound -- The Law was given that sin and weakness might be more fully recognized; it did not cure sin, but exposed it, showed it up. R930:3

The Law brought with it a clearer knowledge of the will of God and therefore an increased sense of sin. R3655:4

Where sin abounded -- Where the clearer knowledge of the will of God was given which enabled them to more clearly see their own short-comings. R3655:4, 2720:3, 930:3

Against our first parents and all their posterity. R2842:4

The Lord takes us just as we are according to the flesh. SM310:T

Sin abounds more in some members of the human family than in others. Q139:T

Grace -- As illustrated by God's taking out of the world of sinners a Little Flock to become sharers of the divine glory with their Lord Jesus. R2842:4

God's grace in Christ, forgiving and justifying, or counting as righteous. R37:3; SM309:2

Realizing our forgiveness through him, let us cease from picking our own character and our fellow saint's to pieces by the Law, which Christ kept for us. R930:1

If we grasp God's forgiveness through Christ, we must let go of the Law and abandon all hope of self-justification. R930:2

In that he provided, through Christ, a recovery of all who will of mankind from the penalty of sin and death. R2842:4

Much more abound -- Israel had many special favors as well as chastisements from God. R3655:4

Implying that God supplies his grace in Christ to each needy penitent in proportion to his needs. Q139:T; R930:3

God's grace through Christ is not evenly distributed in the sense of giving so much to each individual, but is imputed to each according to necessity. Q139:1

Romans 5:21

As sin hath reigned -- In the hearts or minds of men. E189

Both in Israel and in the world. R3655:4; SM789:3

The world has been under a reign of sin and death, not under a reign of righteousness and life. R6013:2

Sin and death are personified as great monarchs now ruling the children of men. SM611:1

Even so -- Both in Israel and in the world. R3655:4

Might grace reign -- In the Millennial age. R1772:1, 2907:4

A new order of things under control of Messiah will take the place of the present reign of the Prince of darkness. NS627:5

By -- Through. R965:5

Jesus Christ -- He instead of Adam, will be the father, life giver, or head of the new race. R3654:6

"He shall be called--the everlasting Father." (Isa. 9:6) R3654:6

Romans 6

Romans 6:1

Shall we -- A class of saints, consecrated to death. R648:6, 2720:3, 931:4

Gentile Christians. R952:2

Continue in sin -- Venial (forgivable, not mortal) sins. R1984:1

To do so would be to sin willfully, changing the sin from venial to mortal. R1984:1

Shall we transgress when we please, trusting to God's provision for our forgiveness? R930:3, 2720:3, 952:2

In justifying us, or imputing to us a righteousness not actually ours,

God's intention is not to have us continue in sin. R1223:5

Grace may abound -- Trusting to God's forgiveness in Christ. R930:3

Romans 6:2

How -- With what consistency R649:1

How could we under such circumstances take pleasure in sinning. R930:3

We, that are dead -- We saints that are reckoned dead in the flesh but alive in the spirit. D476; R1861:4

Consecrated to death. R649:1, 728:6

Regard our Lord's substitute for sin as though it were our former sinful selves that had died. R930:3

To sin -- As far as our wills are concerned. F368; R2167:1

By or on account of, or as a sin sacrifice. R649:1, 728:6

Any longer therein -- Have any fellowship with that which we are dying to destroy or remove. R649:1
By our covenant with God, we have declared ourselves dead to sin. R1528:1, 1628:4
We should repulse and oppose sin as our great enemy, which had once caused our death. R930:3
That our wills would be for sin would signify we had died as new creatures. F368

Romans 6:3

That so many of us -- Already members of Christ's Body. F435: R1016:5; NS50:4

As were baptized -- Immersed, not sprinkled. F435

This is the real baptism, of which immersion into water is the only beautiful and appropriate symbol. R1278:6, 930:4

An admission in Christ; into the Body or Church of Christ. R2825:6, 2465:1, 649:1

Greek, baptizo; to bury, immerse, cover up, submerge. If immersed into Christ, we lose ourselves. R132:3, 302:4, 132:3

Plunged, swallowed up, buried. R649:1:

The Apostle is urging the vow of consecration. R4264:6 From the time of full consecration to God, we are counted as being dead. Q764:4

The Gentiles require immersion into Christ. R75:3

The laver clearly typifies baptism. R117:1

Into Jesus Christ -- Not into water. F435: R2465:1, 514:1; CR75:4

This affords a suggestion of words which are suitable to symbolical immersion. F455; R1544:4

Into the Body, of which Christ is the Head. SM346:3; R2810:4, 1544:4, 1278:6, 649:1, 270:6; Q32:3; CR75:4, 171:4; OV241:5

None enter the Body of Christ except by the immersion of their wills into the will of Christ. R2465:1

Our introduction into the Body of Christ as wild olive branches grafted into the approved stock. R2931:4, 2825:6

We are not merely baptized into the glorious Body of the future, but we are baptized into Jesus that we might share in the death of Jesus, the sacrifice, and share in the glory of Jesus, the Messiah. R5054:4

Become with Jesus, The Christ, the Anointed, for Christ means anointed. SM346:3

Our oneness with Jesus as members of The Christ, may be clearly illustrated by the figure of the pyramid. R270:6, 135:1

Not into the Baptist Church nor any human institution, but the one true Church of the living God. R2810:4

The Disciples denomination misunderstand and are practicing John's baptism of repentance and remission of sins. R2417:6

Were baptized -- Not into water, but into burial of our wills, which control body, hands, feet, eyes, mouth, brain, bank account, and all that we have. F436; R1542:5, 1008:2, 514:1; CR75:4

Scriptural baptism is indispensable. No one will be of the Little Flock who has not been baptized. R132:2

This baptism will not be complete until the last member shall have passed into death. PD56/69

Into his death -- Made participators with him in his sacrificial death. F439; R4547:5, 1542:3, 514:1; CR75:5; OV241:7

"Being made conformable to his death." (Phil. 3:10) R133:1

A full consecration of our wills and ultimately a full laying down of our lives, faithfully unto death. R2700:6, 2167:1

Self denial as we crucify the human nature with its affections and desires. R133:4

The eternal death of the human nature. R302:4

Not Adamic death, but a ransom or substitute for it. R649:1

We share also in the results of Christ's death; the putting away of the sins of the whole world. R649:1

It is hard to die in any sense, but it is especially hard to be dead to the world, its opinions, pleasures and wishes, while still in it. R133:5

By the giving up of things not sinful, and to which you have a right, as men. R133:2

In the Church's case also a death to sin. R2147:6

Praise and blame are nothing to him who is really dead and buried with Christ. R202:6*

"Baptism into death" excludes no denominational lines. It includes those of every denomination and of no denomination who comply with its conditions of faith and obedience and consecration unto death. CR76:1; R4019:1

It is a very different thing to be baptized into death with Jesus, and to be baptized into water with him. CR171:4

Not for remission of sins. Q32:3

God has never counted any in as members of the Church of Christ except those who have fully surrendered their wills to him and become dead to the world. SM346:3; R2700:6

Gentiles needed to be baptized into Christ's death. PD57/69; R2825:6, 952:2

Romans 6:4

Therefore -- Refers to the preceding verse. We want to be immersed into Jesus Christ, not just the body of humiliation, but specially the Body of glory. HG263:4

We are buried -- We have been entombed. (Diaglott) R649:1

Burial of our human will into the will of Christ is our death as human beings. F436; R96:2, 132:3

In a sense each one buried loses his own individuality and self control and merges into the Body of Christ. NS326:3

The instant of this burial is followed by our begetting. F436

In symbolic baptism, one no more buries himself than he raises himself. We merely surrender our wills, our all, to the Lord. R3362:3

Him -- Jesus. R759:3 Christ. HG258:3

By baptism -- By the immersion. (Diaglott) R649:1

Nowhere does the Bible say that it is water baptism which inducts the believers into Christ. R5063:5; F440

The water immersion is merely a symbol or picture of the burial of the individual's will and interests in death. SM123:1; R1542:2,3, 962:3

Immersed into the Body, the true Church. R396:2

Begotten, at the moment of full consecration. E184; R1301:4

The door of sacrifice. R5446:3

Into death -- Participation with the Redeemer in the death which he died. R5063:5; SM123:1

Death to self-will, earthly hopes, aims and prospects. R759:3

Death to the flesh. SM123:1

We are accepted only by giving up our own will, and taking instead the will of God. R5446:3

That like -- In order that. R649:1

Raised up -- Baptism is an emblem of both death and resurrection. R1322:2*, 930:4

He was resurrected to the divine plane. R5748:6

From the dead -- For parts of three days he lay dead in the tomb--not alive in any sense. R5748:6

He had given up his human life never to take it up again. R5748:6

Glory of the Father -- Divinity. R145:6*

Even so we also -- From the time of our consecration, the immersion of our wills into that of the Lord. R1278:6 The Bride is called to the same glorious nature as her Head. R5748:6

Our condition is a reckoned one in Christ justified, dead, resurrected now. R649:1

Walk -- Circumspectly not as fools, redeeming the time. R1753:2

In newness of life -- Refers indirectly to our share in the first resurrection, refers chiefly to the present life. F440; Q591:2; NS52:4

In a new life. (Diaglott) R649:1

Reckon ourselves as though we had been resurrected, and were not actually spiritual beings, as Jesus now is; abstaining from sin and rejoicing in communion with him. R649:1, 3132:3, 1542:6

New creatures with an inward man, or hidden man of the heart who is being renewed day by day. R2231:6

Newness of hopes, ambitions, relationship to God through Christ. F437

Our resurrection is already begun. R5440:5, 1542:6

We are figuratively raised from the dead. R5089:2

As creatures of a new nature, to which we were instantly begotten after consecration. F436, 675, R154:4

Planted together -- United with him. (Revised Version) HG264:2

Baptized. R132:3

Planting into death, in the likeness of Christ's death. F441

Water baptism would be a very cheap guarantee to a place in the Kingdom. HG263:6

Not yet made a complete sacrifice. R99:3*

In the likeness -- Pattern or sample. R2477:2

In the like kind, the sacrificial kind. R649:1

There is no other way to attain to the new nature. R5871:4

Of his death -- We must be dead with him, suffer with him. R191:1, 3152:5

We shall be also -- Sharers. R1542:6, 1278:6, 1260:2

Thousands have been planted in water who will never share in his resurrection. F441

Likeness -- The experience of the brethren in resurrection will only be a duplication of the experiences of their Lord. R2477:2

His resurrection -- The first resurrection. R190:6, 2671:6, 2477:2, 1542:6; SM152:3

The chief resurrection. R1511:2

Our Lord is the Head, the first born from the dead amongst many brethren. R2477:2:

To glory, honor and immortality. (Rom. 2:7) R2773:1, 5871:4, 1262:6, 1260:2, 649:1

To spiritual perfection. R649:1

To the new nature and to ultimately share in the heavenly Kingdom. R3152:6

The change will be instantaneous, except to those who have slept. R1260:2

We die to the world and rise to "walk not after the flesh but after the spirit." (Rom. 8:1,4) R133:6

Romans 6:6

Knowing this -- Remembering in this connection. R649:1

That our old man -- Human nature. R728:6, 212:1*; Q44:9

Our degraded, sin-inclined selves when under condemnation. R649:2, 99:3

Our former selves, justified by faith in Christ's sacrifice. R960:2, 3067:6, 931:4

The old nature given up at consecration, different from the "body of sin." Q44:3

Is crucified with him -- Consecrated to death. R931:4

That we might be members of his Body, spiritual new creatures. R960:2

Was crucified in him, represented in Jesus when he was crucified. R649:4

The body of sin -- A figurative personification of evil or sin. R931:4, 960:2; Q651:1, 44:9

The antichrist; a system of error which Paul saw would arise, counterfeiting and opposing the "Body of Christ." R980:2, 930:2

Organization of sin. R3067:6

The entire sin system with all its members and branches. R960:2

Represents all the sin in the world. Q651:1

Not a sinful individual. R980:2

Sin is here represented in figure as the great oppressive monarch whose reign with his servant death has brought so much distress on the world, all of whom he has enslaved, but from whose power we have been delivered by Christ's ransom. R930:6

Of the sin-offering. R728:6

Might be destroyed -- Greek, katargeo; to render powerless, to destroy. R2001:4

Jesus in his own person represented sin as a whole and as such "He was made a curse" for sin. (Gal. 3:13) R649:4

When the last enemy shall be destroyed, which is death. Q45:T

Not serve sin -- No longer be enslaved to sin. (Diaglott) R649:4, 728:6

Nor in any sense recognize sin as our master. R3067:6

Romans 6:7

He that is dead -- He who died representatively in Jesus' death, who accepts that Christ died for his sins. R649:4

Those who have passed from death unto life through Christ and are new creatures. R4041:1:

Is freed -- Has been justified from sin. (Diaglott) R649:4, 728:6

From sin -- The great taskmaster, which previously held them in slavery to wickedness. R4041:1

Not original sin. R4041:1

Any who consecrated themselves to death with Christ must first have been justified freely. R728:6

Romans 6:8

Now if -- The Apostle adds the conditions to become joint-heirship. R3709:3

After being sinners represented in Jesus' sacrifice, and justified thereby. R649:4

We -- The Church. E411

As human creatures. A213

If we as justified persons. R649:4

Be dead with Christ -- The same, sacrificial death, not a different death. CR327:5; F439; E411; R1260:2, 1015:6

A dying daily to the spirit, hopes, aims and ambitions of the world.

R2123:2

Deny self, to mortify the deeds of the body. R2123:2, 281:3

Self with its own selfishness or depraved desires, should be reckoned dead. D476; E411

As human beings we are consecrated to destruction, as sacrifices. A213

Suffer with him. C208

Those accepted by the Lord are sacrificed by him as parts or members of himself and their blood (death) counted in as a part of the blood of Christ. R4397:6

This thought should be in the minds of those who participate in the Memorial. R5643:1, 3962:1

His death was not the Adamic death. R382:6

It was Jesus' first death; to those who die with him it is their second death. R514:5

Adamic death is in the past to us, but the overcomers shall not be hurt of the second death. R514:5, 649:5

We believe that -- As new spiritual beings. A213

We shall also -- Changes which daily occur to our human bodies do not cause us to lose our identity. A202; R626:6

Live with him -- On a higher than human plane of being. R328:6

Be made "joint-heirs with Christ, if so be that we suffer with him." (Rom. 8:17) C208; R5643:1, 1542:5

The transformation of mind, from earthly to heavenly, is the beginning of that change of nature. A202, 213

To know the power of his resurrection, we must expect the fellowship of his sufferings. R80:3

Dieth no more -- Death having no more dominion over him. E90; R2822:6

No ransom will ever again be given for any; for none worthy of life will be cast into the second death. R2603:2, 5776:5, 5093:5, 2657:4, 701:6; SM31:T

Our Lord's sacrifice was once for all. R2822:6

He redeemed them from the curse once. R701:6

He has finished with the flesh forever. NS459:1

For willful sinners, "There remaineth no more sacrifice for sins." (Heb. 10:26) R2610:2, 4575:2, 769:6

There will be no resurrection from the second death. SM31:T; R5925:5, 5354:5, 5103:1, 2610:2, 1155:4, 553:4

If we sin willfully as new creatures, we would forfeit the right to live, and we could not be redeemed again. R5103:1, 4575:2

Those who die the second death will have no recovery; they have had their share in the atonement. R5093:5

It is impossible for Christ to die any more because he has been made a partaker of the divine nature, immortality. R1642:2, 677:4

Even if he did, the Scriptures declare it is "Impossible to renew them again unto repentance." (Heb. 6:4-6) R769:6

The Bible intimates a considerable number of goats at the end of the Millennial age under the second death penalty. Another sacrifice would do no good if they hadn't previously profited. R5925:5

Would any intelligent being give his life a corresponding price for one who proved incorrigible under such favorable conditions? R5925:5

The sacrifice of the Mass, practiced in the Roman Catholic Church, is in direct conflict with this scripture. R3960:6, 5641:6

No more dominion -- No longer lords it over him. (Diaglott) R649:4

Died -- This death and resurrection is the real baptism. R145:6*

Unto sin once -- "By sin." (Diaglott) "For sin." (Murdoch's Syriac) R366:2

By or on account of our sins imputed to him. R648:3, 930:5, 882:1, 728:6, 649:4, 366:3

As a sacrifice for or because of our sin. R882:1

That one death, and only one ever referred to by our Lord or his apostles, was the death at Calvary. R4700:5, 5192:3

Unto God -- By the favor and reward of God. R649:4, 728:6

Likewise reckon ye -- Thus do you account yourselves. R649:4

The Lord's consecrated ones. R3246:3

The death of the flesh and its will, and the resurrection of the flesh as the servant of the new will are only reckoned matters. F600; R1594:3

The death of Jesus was reckoned complete when he presented himself a living sacrifice. T53

In our present reckoned condition we seek mentally and spiritually to appropriate the perfect likeness. R1594:3

We are not actually spirit beings until our resurrection, though when we receive the spirit of adoption we are reckoned as such. A197

Yourselves -- Our will. R5358:3

Dead indeed unto sin -- And to all human aims, and hopes of human glory, honor or life. T53; R5584:3, 2616:1

Mortifying, or deadening of the fleshly mind. R5486:5, 79:6

Dead people cannot sin. R3246:3

Old tempers and dispositions disappear and the new mind asserts its power. R1528:1

To self-will and worldly opinion. F450

This condition needs to be maintained by opposition of the new will to any activity of the old will over the flesh. F600

Praise and blame are nothing to him who is really dead and buried with Christ. R202:6*

As sharers with Jesus of the penalty of the world's sin. R649:4

On account of sin, as sacrifices (see Diaglott). R728:6, 648:3

Having made a covenant with God. R1628:4, 1528:1

Now with every sin stain cancelled, we as he, present a sinless sacrifice. R366:3

Not for our own sins (which were blotted out by his sacrifice) but for the sins of others, even as was his death. R930:5

Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures. (1 Cor. 15:3) R648:3

Dead to sin and mortality. R145:3*

But alive -- There is nothing said about being reckonedly new creatures.

We are to reckon ourselves as though we had been raised from the dead.

R5325:2,3, 5060:6, 3132:3; A197

The Church has already been quickened together with Christ. R3132:3

Our dead flesh has been quickened through the power of God to serve him.

Q680:2

Covered with the robe of Christ's righteousness. R4761:

Our mortal bodies energized in the service of the Lord. Q508:2; R5584:3, 3132:3

Alert to know and do the will of the Lord in every matter. F451; NS55:3

Living by. R649:1

Resurrected to holiness and immortality. R145*

No Jew can get eternal life under the terms of the Law Covenant. R4537:3

Unto God -- Alert to know and do his will. F451; R5584:3

Daily growing more and more Christ-like. R1528:1

This means a constant warfare against the easily besetting sins of our old nature. R1528:1

Through -- God's favor is conveyed to the sinner through his Redeemer, and in no other way. R965:5

Let not sin therefore reign -- Because, as new creatures, we are begotten of a different spirit. R2720:4

There is a constant warfare against the easily besetting sins of our old nature. R1528:1, 1628:4

Even as now, sin does not reign in all, so that some now, in heart pass from death unto life. R1219:1

Do not allow it to dominate you; refuse to obey sin. R5356:3, 5378:5, 1626:5, 93:2

Your mortal body -- Man is not immortal. R1642:5

Neither yield -- Implying spiritual sickness. R2446:1

Unrighteousness -- Iniquity. R649:1

But -- According to your consecration. R649:2

Yield yourselves -- Present yourselves, in harmony with your consecration. R649:4, 366:3

Presenting refers not to consecration, but to fulfilling the covenant already made. R608:1

As those -- As if. R649:2

Alive from the dead -- Just as though risen actually and possessing our promised immortal, spiritual body. R649:4

Instruments of righteousness -- That you may be used as his agents and mouthpieces. R649:2

Sin -- Sinful dispositions. R5901:3*

Ye -- The Church. R5887:4, 4505:2, 3752:6

Are not -- The Lord speaks not as he speaks to servants. R2487:2

Under the law -- The Law Covenant. R4013:6, 5887:4, 5071:4,5, 4600:1, 4586:5, 4505:2

Jesus made an end of the Law Covenant, nailing it to the cross. R3752:6

The Christian is still bound to do what is right. R5072:5, 542:3

Jews who became Christians were freed from the Law to which they had been bound, but were still bound to do what is right. R5072:5,6

We are to recognize a distinction between the commands which Christ gave us and the Law Covenant. R5520:2, 4013:6

The Church is not put under the law of Sinai or required to keep it to get everlasting life. R5287:1

The Law killeth. R614:6

What was proper enough as a prohibition to the natural man would be inappropriate to the new creation. R4014:1

Nevertheless the Law is very precious to the Church looking at the spirit of it. R5287:1, 5071:4

Those sacrificing all their earthly rights are doing more than the Law could require. R5287:4

The New Law Covenant would condemn every imperfect person as did the Old Law Covenant. R4586:2

We are not under the Law Covenant, but under divine favor expressed in the New Covenant, sealed by Christ's blood. R1728:6

But -- As stewards. R2487:2

Under grace -- Favor. R542:3, 5947:2, 1726, 973:4, 971:4

Which does not require the fulfillment of the Law. R5947:2

It is the spirit of the Law (love) manifested in us, through Christ that gives or guarantees life. R614:6

Covering our unwilling imperfections of thought, word, and deed. R1726:6, 971:4

Grace means what the Lord does for us freely, not as a reward of any kind. R5073:1

"There is now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 8:1) R614:5

We are not judged according to the flesh, but according to the heart intentions. Q180:3

Love is the fulfillment of the Law so far as we are concerned. R4600:1

We are not under the New Covenant; it applies to the Jews. R4586:2

We are not under the Law Covenant, but under the arrangement of grace, of God's favor. R5072:6

The Grace Covenant. R4600:1, 4505:2

Our relationship to God is of the same character as that enjoyed by Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, before the Law Covenant. R3752:6

Some feel alarmed at the thought of being free from a law, but Abraham Isaac and Jacob were approved without a law. R3753:1

The Church is not under the Law, but it is valuable to them, providing a standard of perfection. R5287:1

Christ's word is our law; not a law of bondage, but of liberty. R973:4

Tithing, like all other features of the Law, was not given to the new creatures in Christ, but to the Jews. R1028:6 6:15

Shall we sin -- Willfully. R1728:6, 973:4

We must not live in sin. R5098:1

Shall we live in sin while our hearts are in harmony with righteousness R5098:1

Let us put off everything we think will be displeasing to the Lord. R5098:1

Because -- Shall we take advantage of liberty to break away into sin. R973:4

Not under the law -- The Law Covenant. R1728:6

We are no longer under Jehovah's Law given at Sinai, but under a new arrangement, under law to Christ. But since his law is in harmony with the Father's law, we are "not without law to God, but under the law to Christ." (1 Cor. 9:12) R542:6

God forbid -- As sons, begotten of the spirit of adoption, we delight to do our Father's will. R973:4

That to whom -- There are two great opposing forces in conflict--Christ and Satan--all mankind are serving one or the other. R1948:1

His servants ye are -- There are two masters: one is God the other is mammon. R5896:5

"Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24) R5896:5

All who with Satan serve sin, are his servants or messengers. R3084:1

The Adversary always secures and uses the best servants he can for his mouthpieces. R3120:1

Mankind are slaves of sin. R5355:3

The world is unwittingly in the service of Satan. NS227:3

If we are serving sin, serving the flesh, we are slaves to it. R3893:1

If our lives are in harmony with sin and unrighteousness we are not on the Lord's side, but on the Devil's. NS368:2

Millions of professed Christians imagine that they are serving the Lord while in reality they are serving the Adversary. R4033:5, 5693:4, 4327:1; OV275:3

If we are giving time and thought to grasping after riches and worldly honors; for selfishness in any form, if our sympathies and affections tend earthward, then we are serving mammon. R5896:6, 3893:1, 1626:6

If we are really living for the present life alone, let us not dishonestly profess to be a servant of the great King. CR16:5

To whom ye obey -- To whom ye render service. CR16:5; R1217:3, 495:3

Not whom do we think we are serving, but who do we actually serve. R4033:5

Seeing how wonderfully the Adversary can accomplish evil purposes, circulate falsehoods, and find agents for these services, proves that Satan is not bound. R5655:4, 4524:4

Careful scrutiny of thoughts, word and doings in the light of God's word, will show whether we are rendering service to the rightful master or the Adversary. R5896:6

If we are living for the present life alone let us not pretend otherwise.

An honest servant of mammon is more respectable to the Lord than one dishonestly professing to be a servant of God. NS489:2

Sin unto death -- Destruction; contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:5

The second death. R3084:1

We cannot know absolutely who have committed the "sin unto death," and who have not. R4592:1

Romans 6:17

The servants of sin -- Through the weakness of heredity. E189

Mankind are "slaves of sin." (Diaglott) R5355:3

Obeyed from the heart -- Not mere outward acts, that would be formalism, but loyal obedience. R85:2

Free from sin -- The Scriptures ascribe no sin to the new mind. R2440:3

Ye -- Ye new creatures. R2440:3

Our fellow-freedmen in Paul's day. R1066:4

Romans 6:19

Infirmity -- Greek, astheneia, used to denote moral, spiritual sickness.

R4099:6*

Yield your members -- Having consecrated, they must spend their life and the strength of every member of their bodies in his service. R608:1

Servants to righteousness -- All who realize freedom through Christ's pardon, should submit themselves to their Redeemer's control. R1066:5

The servants of sin -- Bond-slaves. R3512:6

The masses through ignorance, and the more intelligent through pride and selfishness. E189

In this captive condition they have been blinded by the god of this world.

E189

Is death -- Destruction; contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:5

Romans 6:22

Free from sin -- Brought to a condition of sin-less-ness by faith in the ransom. R199:2

Become servants -- Bond-servants; bond-slaves. R1066:4

Fruit unto holiness -- Entire consecration. R142:5, 279:4

Formation of character. R48:4

The first phase of real baptism; dying to sin and living to holiness.

R160:3*, 48:4

"I am the vine, ye are the branches." (John 15:5) E140

The Church as branches draw the new life from our Lord the root. E140

And the end -- And the end thereof will be. R142:5, 279:4

Not the beginning. R90:2

Everlasting life -- Eternal life, redemption. R199:2

The wages -- The curse or penalty. R4792:2, 5753:4, 1718:3; PD11/18

Punishment. R4695:4; HG356:4, 303:5

Neither love nor justice, as embodied in Jehovah, would sanction sin.

R5603:3

All mankind were born under this sentence. R4840:3

Recognized as "a just recompense of reward." (Heb. 2:2) R1087:5, 1443:2

A just penalty. R1718:3

Experiences of sorrow, degradation, imperfection and death are all parts of the wage of sin. SM611:1

Since death is the penalty or wages of sin, when the sin is cancelled the wages must in due time cease. A157

This penalty has rested against Adam and his family for 6000 years. PD11/18; SM171:1

Is allowed to continue until the full close of this Gospel or sacrificing age. R364:1

The whole world is in alienation from God, banished from his favor and from everlasting life. R5355:6

Willful sinners will experience this wage as punishment, which will be everlasting. HG365:4

This wage has been completely met for us in the declaration, "Christ died for our sins." (1 Cor. 15:3) E442

Of sin -- Departure from righteousness. R1443:2

Failure to do the perfect will of God. SM304:1

Disobedience in God's sight is sin. CR209:1

The smallest violation of law is sin. R454:3

All sin is mortal at the Supreme Judge of the universe's bar. R1983:6

We must shun sin if we would avoid its penalty. R361:1

Our general dying tendency resulted not from our own transgressions but father Adam's. NS701:6

We have all these terrible conditions on earth because sin entered the world. R5753:4

Neither God's love nor justice would sanction sin. R5603:3

The great monarch ruling the world, has enslaved the entire human family. R5355:3

The great Adversary of God is responsible for the disaster which sin has wrought upon the earth. R5603:3

Is death -- Absence of life, destruction, extinction, cessation of life.

E465; R3025:6, 1377:3, 1087:5

Destroy, perish, die. HG427:3

Everlasting destruction. R4881:6; NS261:4

Life is the antithesis of death, there is no sentient being no feeling. HG192:1

The executioner being he "that hath the power of death." (Heb. 2:14) E449; R2599:6

Not eternal torment. A126; E464; A128; R5063:3, 4552:1, 3025:6, 2607:3, 2047:2, 1377:3, 1085:1, 863:3, 699:6; CR498:6; SM171:T, 663:2, 587:2, 305:2, 230:1, 86:3; NS844:3, 835:6

When death is eternal it is eternal punishment. Q768:2

A fundamental teaching of Christ and his apostles. R3106:6

Adam's disobedience was sin; punishable with death, not eternal torment.

OV376:2, 440:T*; R5149:6, 4982:5, 4775:2; CR269:6; SM663:2

The wages of the smallest sin is death. R454:5

Second death is the extreme penalty of the divine law, not eternal torment. R4820:6

Everything that goes with death, as its natural result, is a part of the penalty. R5603:3, 2841:6; Q328:T

Nowhere does it say that the wages of sin is purgatory. CR242:1; R5063:6; OV348:4

All, good and bad, go down to the tomb; to sheol [Hebrew] and hades [Greek], translated "hell" in our Bibles. OV362:3; SM123:1

Mankind are still under the death sentence, the wrath of God. R4840:3

In the Millennial age none shall die for inherited sins, but it will be an individual penalty against all who sin wilfully. R2398:6; E387; HG268:1

"Dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt thou return." (Gen. 3:19) R4552:2

Death does not annihilate matter, for matter is indestructible, but the being's existence is to terminate. R1377:6

God has enforced the penalty, and has thus manifested his justice. R5635:6

God has the right and power to destroy in death any creature who will not conform to his just and wise law. R3391:2

If our Lord had done anything wrong it would have been charged to his new creature. R5090:1

Without knowledge of what the penalty for sin is, we would not be able to understand how the death of the Redeemer paid the penalty against Adam and all in him. R3279:2; PT387:5*

The great disease of sin. NS715:6

The experiences of sorrow, degradation, imperfection and death are all parts of the wage of this great taskmaster, sin. SM611:1; R5603:3, 5355:3, 5063:3

Witches, wizards, and necromancers, have personated the dead, to deceive and delude humanity and to contradict the divine sentence. SM118:1

Death was not pronounced against the angels. R4664:2

Death was the wage which God authorized Israel to inflict upon the Amalekites, a death penalty. R4207:4

The sons of the fallen angels were cut off in death, their birth was not authorized, they were not redeemed. R5160:4

Death is an enemy, not a friend. "the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." (1 Cor. 15:26) R625:6*, 2599:6

To give sinners eternal life would have been discreditable to the divine character and government, and injurious to his creatures. NS645:6

Second death. R1449:5*, 1882:4; HG334:6, 356:5

God's people are duty bound to make clear this feature of the divine program. All willful sin will bring death. R4881:6

"The soul that sinneth, it shall die." (Ezek 18:4, 20) R2607:3

"Dying thou shalt die." (Gen. 2:17) Not "living thou shalt live in torment." CR492:1; SM588:T

But the gift -- Reward. R1878:4; E386

Not man's inherent self-possession. E285, 387; R2047:1

No one could earn it. R5356:5

What we could not obtain legally under divine requirements, God proffers to us as a gift. NS766:5

Given only to those who have his approval, only the righteous. SM305:2; E386

God himself is the source of life. If everlasting life be enjoyed by any of his creatures, it must be as his gift. E417

Which all the families of the earth may attain through the glorious opportunity of knowledge and obedience in Christ's Kingdom. R5067:6

We are blest by the gifts which our Lord dispensed when he ascended on high; we in turn, will be his gifts to the world of mankind. R5067:6

Of God -- Christ the life-giver provided of God for the race of Adam.

NS340:4

God's word is the only evidence pointing out the way to obtain that gift.

Q775:T

Is eternal life -- Greek, aionion, signifies literally unlimited, i.e., a period upon which no limit is expressed. R699:5

Everlasting. R965:4

Continuous life. HG394:5

Life unceasingly. R363:1

Life in its fullest sense. R4840:2

Given only to those who have God's approval; only to the righteous.

SM305:2; R3066:1

God will not give eternal life to the wicked but only to those who will turn from sin to righteousness. R4881:6

Granted to those who seek it by living according to the spirit of holiness. R1878:4, 3432:6, 1378:4; E418, 404, 386

The hope for life beyond the grave is the resurrection hope. OV154:T; R4175:1; NS281:5

Everlasting life through Messiah's redemption work, restitution. R5149:6, 5093:2; SM769:2

The first resurrection, to glory, honor, immortality, the divine nature.

R5149:6

Two classes will receive everlasting life, one on the heavenly plane, the other on the earthly plane. HG654:6

On conditions they (1) accept Christ as their Redeemer, (2) avoid sin and live in harmony with God and righteousness. R1878:3

Satan was given this gift, but it was conditional, dependent upon his obedience. OV304:2

Through Jesus Christ -- "He that hath the Son hath life." (1 John 5:12)

E386; Q768:2

Through the Redeemer's death at Calvary. R5146:6

Romans 7

Romans 7:1

Them that know the law -- Jewish converts to Christianity. R1729:5, 2729:4

How that the law -- The Law Covenant, represented as a husband. R1729:5, 2720:5

Dominion over a man -- The Law Covenant is still a bondage with the Jews and will continue with them. R4474:3, 4505:1, 1729:5

The Law Covenant is not intended to be an everlasting arrangement with the Jew. R5163:1

As long as he liveth -- The Jewish Law is as obligatory upon the Jew today as it was upon his fathers in the days of Moses. Only death could set the Jew free from that Law Covenant. OV279:2

The Law Covenant is binding upon every Jew from the day the Covenant was made until the present time. R4505:1

For any Jew to get free from the Law Covenant, he must die to the Law. R4504:1; R5163:1

The only ones who have been able to get from under it are those who have come into Christ. R5163:1

Romans 7:2

For the woman -- Typically the Jewish people. R2720:5, 1729:5

The Jewish people, represented as a wife. R2720:5, 5163:3, 1729:5;

To her husband -- Typically the Law Covenant. R2720:5, 1729:5

The husband be dead -- The Law Covenant had not been abrogated as a bad Law, but had died a natural death through the fulfillment of the purposes of its creation. R2720:5

The Law should die, that Israel may be liberated. R2716:4

Romans 7:3

Adulteress -- Blending the two covenants, and being united to both Moses and Christ, was wholly out of the question. R2720:5

Romans 7:4

Ye also -- Those who realize that they could not gain everlasting life through their union with the Law Covenant. R1729:5

Dead to the law -- Not die to the Law of God, but merely to the Law Covenant. R5359:3

Giving up all hope of attaining everlasting life through keeping the Law Covenant. R5359:3

Jesus' death cancelled all claims of the Law against a believing Jew.

R3457:4

If a Jew became dead with Christ it made him free from the claims of the Law Covenant. F229; R5359:3, 4537:3, 4505:1, 1729:5, 1527:1

It is needful that the Law should die and Israel be liberated and prepared to be united (married to Messiah by a New Covenant). R2716:4

It is a mistake to teach the Law Covenant died or was destroyed by our Lord. R1729:4

The children of Jacob are still bound by it unless they have died to it.

R1729:4

Those accepted in Christ were entirely free from the Law of Moses. R2118:6

Jews by acceptance of Christ settled the claims of the Law and made them freemen in Christ. R1527:1

The body of Christ -- The flesh of Jesus. R3457:4

Sacrifice of Christ. R1388:5

That ye -- The Church. T102

Should be married -- As New Creatures, as Christ's Bride. R3457:4; T102

The Apostle Paul recognized that those who had accepted Christ were entirely free from the Law of Moses; that to them Moses was dead and they were married to another, even Christ. R2118:6

To another -- To Christ and under his law. R2118:6

Even to him -- The glorified Christ. T102

Bring forth fruit -- With proper, diligent cultivation, the character will grow and develop, and will become beautiful and fruitful. R4808:2

Were in the flesh -- The flesh is reckoned dead, but is not actually dead; merely dying daily. R4615:1

The motions of sins -- The struggles of the flesh, the desire for sin which may still lurk in the fallen members of our body. R4615:1

Which may manifest themselves in slander or backbiting or reproach, continuing to rankle in the heart, may bring forth anger, malice, strife and other wicked works. R5123:6

Romans 7:6

But now we -- We Israelites. R1730:1

From the law -- The Law Covenant. R1730:1

The Decalogue as well as the ceremonial features of the Law. HG584:1

That being dead -- Being dead to that. R1730:1

Newness of spirit -- With our minds, our wills. R1730:1

And not -- And not be required to serve. R1730:1

Of the letter -- Of the Law Covenant. R1730:1

Romans 7:7

Is the law sin? -- Is the Law defective, sinful, bad? R1730:1

Had not known -- The Law given to the Jew revealed his weakness. R6:4, 544:4, 257:6

Before the Law Covenant, I was not under it: but now I know, and sin came upon me because I could not keep what I had agreed to do. R4961:2

Sin -- Original sin, Adamic sin, which passed through heredity upon all of Adam's children. R4961:2

But by the law -- Those who failed to keep the Law came under its curse as well as under Adam's children. R4961:2

The Law Covenant brought the Jews a measure of blessing. R5162:3

Thou shalt not covet -- This verse proves that the Ten Commandments were part of the Law. R542:3

Romans 7:8

Sin was dead -- Inactive, because, being already under sentence of death, we could not increase our penalty by disobedience. R1730:2

Sin existed but was dead, in a dead state, dormant. R99:4*

For I -- The Jewish people. R1730:2

Was alive -- Had a hope of a future life through the promises to Abraham. R1730:2

Without the law -- Before the Law Covenant was made. R1730:2

The Apostle argues he was once alive to sin. R5060:6

The commandment -- The Law Covenant. R1730:2

Came -- Requiring us to obey its every command in order to secure life. R1730:2

Sin revived -- Lived again, by effect of the Law. R99:4*

We found we could not obey its requirements. R1730:2

And I died -- Our hopes of life expired because we could not keep the Law Covenant. R1730:2

The commandment -- While the Church is not under the Law Covenant, we are under the general instruction of the Ten Commandments. R5404:3

The Law Covenant given at Sinai. R5070:6, 1730:2

Ordained to life -- Which was granted them apparently as a favor; and it was a favor in certain senses. R4595:3

Which promised life to the obedient. R1730:2, 1403:3

The keeping of which meant life. R5404:2; E417

Whose principles are not only worthy of life but are absolutely necessary to life and happiness. R1403:5

I -- We Jews; I speak for my countrymen. R4013:2, 1730:2

To be unto death -- Because we could not obey its requirements. R1730:2, 4595:3, 1724:5, 1403:3, 887:1

Except Jesus who was able to keep it. R887:1

A man cannot be justified by receiving the Law, but by keeping the Law. R5070:3

The unsatisfactory feature of the Covenant was that it could not give life to Israel. R4961:2

The failure to keep which meant death. R5404:2

The Law made nothing perfect. R4010:6

The Jew was under more condemnation than were any other people in the world, condemned in Adam and also the Law. R5070:5,3

All sins were mortal sins under the Law Covenant. R1984:3

To emphatically condemn all under it to death, as transgressors unworthy of life. R454:6

Romans 7:11

Deceived me -- The new mind has not intelligently nor willfully assented to a wrong course, but being deceived allows the flesh to have its way.

R4628:2

Slew me -- Taking from me the very hope of life it had helped to enkindle. R1724:5

The law is holy -- The Law of Moses. R1322:6

Honorable. R2100:5

The Law is the standard of perfection. R5756:1

"The Law of the Lord is perfect." (Psalm 19:7) R1462:2

God's laws always have been perfect and condemned and opposed even the slightest sin. R410:3, 2602:1

The Law was not too severe. R455:1

The imperfection was with mankind. R410:3, 1224:2, 687:3, 503:2, 455:1; NS18:4

All must speak well of the Jews' first husband, the Law Covenant. R2720:6

God will make a better Covenant; for finding fault with the Law Covenant, he said, "I will make a new covenant." (Heb. 8:8) R4961:2

Our Lord explained that grand Law when he declared that it was briefly comprehended in one word--love. R1220:5

It is the ministration of condemnation and death to man because he is unholy, unjust, bad. R1322:6*

The commandment -- The divine requirement. R4554:2

A law is a commandment, imposed by rightful authority, a rule of conduct which we are bound to obey. R5755:3

To obey it and to expect its reward of life for such obedience. R1403:3

And just and good -- God, being perfect, could not give an imperfect Law. R5756:1, 3201:1, 687:3, 455:1

While the Law is good, it was useless as a justifier of sinners. R687:3

The Law and the Covenant were good in themselves, but not helpful to us, because we were fallen beings. R1730:2

Even though this is true of the Mosaic Law, the New Covenant is still higher and grander. R2329:1

It consists not in a merely passive refraining from evil, but in activity for good. R1463:2

Romans 7:13

Made death unto me -- The Apostle is speaking as a representative of all true Jews. R2720:6

Might appear sin -- God intended the Law should show us just how imperfect we are. R1730:2

Might become -- Justification implies a recognition of the fact that sin is exceedingly sinful, and a desire to cease from it; to be free from its power as well as free from its penalties. F151

Exceeding sinful -- Sin was not properly known as exceeding sinful, but was counted as in a dormant or dead state, until the Law came. R99:4*

The sin-experience of our world will be used of the Lord as a perpetual lesson to the beings yet to be created in his image in other worlds, who shall learn by observation and instruction instead of by experience. F70; NS393:2, 260:4

They might see their own fallen and imperfect condition and learn the exceeding sinfulness of sin, and by this knowledge be prepared for the Redeemer. R410:5, 282:3

Romans 7:14

Law is spiritual -- It came from the Spirit Being of the highest order--God himself. R5295:2

Did not take hold of merely fleshly instincts and control the body, but took hold of the heart, mind, will. R5295:2

Appeals to the intellectual or higher endowments of men and represents the divine mind or spirit. R636:2

Perfectly suited to all who are in full harmony with God's spirit, which, however, we and others were not because of original sin. R1730:2

Contains spiritual lessons, just as the rock in the wilderness and the manna afforded spiritual lessons. R5295:2

Represents the mind or judgment of the perfect Creator. R636:3

And could be kept only by a spirit-begotten person or a person in the image of God. R5295:2

The first Israelite permitted to see spiritual things was Jesus. R5295:3

The spiritual things were in the Law all the time but not disclosed to the Jew because of his own condition of mind. R5295:3

I am carnal -- Imperfect--depraved; conformed to the course of this world. R455:1, 636:1,3

To be carnally minded is death. (Rom. 8:6) R636:5

The world is not subject to the Law of God, neither can they be. R5117:1

Sold -- By Adam through sin, in self-gratification, in disobedience.

E122, 189, 453; R636:3; NS379:2

When Adam sold himself and his posterity to sin he got his own will. R5355:3

Man sold himself to sin--justice did not sell him. R5355:6

Bought by Christ through self-sacrifice, in obedience to the Father's will. E453; R5355:6

Into slavery to sin. R455:1

Under dominion of Satan. CR490:3

Under sin -- "The law of sin in their members." (Rom. 7:23) R2097:3

Into slavery to it. R2840:1, 5355:3, 2580:4, 2097:3, 636:3, 455:1; OV100:2

As a result, a slave of death. R5355:6

Into death and its wages. E452

Captivity to. R1626:3

The race in Adam was sold under sin six thousand years ago. R5284:1, 5355:3

The reason the Israelites could not keep the Law was not that the Law was imperfect, but that they were sold under sin. R5756:1, 5295:2

Sin has no just, no true right of control, but merely one of force. R1626:3

Romans 7:15

That which I do -- We should extend the same measure of sympathy we have for ourselves to others. R5125:4

There is a tendency in our flesh to go with the world, because that course is in sympathy with our fallen flesh. R5117:1

I allow not -- The Apostle was speaking of the Jew under the Law; that they could not comply with it because of the imperfection of the flesh.

The verse also has application for us as Christians. Q337:1, 338:T

That do I not -- Due to imperfections. NS518:2

To live godly is to live in opposition to the course of the world and our own flesh. R5117:1 The mind can rise to loftier heights than it is able to lift the body and its functions. OV366:1; R1224:2

Through ignorance we no doubt frequently leave undone the thing which we ought to do. R2587:4, 1224:3

What I hate -- Because of antagonism of the legally dead flesh we cannot do the things which we would. CR97:1; R4810:4

In my flesh -- In my fallen flesh. R2048:6

Dwelleth no good thing -- No perfection. R2439:4, 4869:1

The Scriptures ascribe no sin to the new creature and no perfection in righteousness to our fallen flesh. R4810:5, 4871:6, 4869:1

Some are more imperfect and blemished in one way and others in another. SM430:3

Because of inherited imperfections. R4554:2, 2539:3, 5475:2

We are however to expect no trace of these evils in our hearts. R2464:4

To will -- To be perfect in will. SM350:2;

One might will to do perfectly or will to do wrong, either way the will is free. R5475:2

We should will to do perfectly, although none is able to do perfectly.

R5475:2 This discrepancy between the new will and mind of the flesh requires continual vigilance. R3986:2

Man has freedom of will in respect to moral questions. R2539:3

There is such a thing as a dominated will. By yielding to occult influences, some persons are mastered by evil spirits. R5475:3

Those who practically lose their wills are insane, not by functional derangement of the brain but because possessed by evil spirits. R5475:3

How to perform -- How to do all that I will. R3889:3

I find not -- We all know how to will right, but how to do right is the problem. SM350:2

The human powers are blighted by the dying processes. R5475:2

Romans 7:19

The good that I would -- We are all imperfect and cannot do the things that we would. CR425:2

Romans 7:22

For I -- The Hebrew people, while still under the Law Covenant. R2720:6

Delight in the law -- "Delight thyself also in the Lord and he shall give thee the desires of thy heart." (Psa. 37:4) R1840:1

But I -- The Hebrew people under the Law Covenant. R2720:6

In my members -- Fallen humanity. R37:4

The natural man. R191:6*

Warring -- Paul found it necessary to exert his will continually to keep the body under. R1884:6

Law of my mind -- With my mind I grasped the requirements of my covenant. R2721:1

None could render full obedience, except with it written in their hearts.
R587:4

The law of sin -- That we desire to do better than we are able to do, proves that the fault is not in our wills, but the result of sin's enslavement. R1224:3

Romans 7:24

O wretched man -- The Apostle's flesh inherited imperfections, which hindered him from fulfilling the desires of his mind and keeping the divine Law. Hence his cry. R4554:2

Sin has gained such a power over my body. R2721:1

That I am -- As all by heredity are. R2048:6

That I am personifying. R1730:3

The Apostle represented not only himself but all sincere Israelites, groaning under the Law, when he cried out thusly. R3436:2, 1730:3

Who shall deliver me -- Jesus Christ. R192:4

The deliverance comes through a full surrender to Christ. OV316:2; R4869:1

From the body -- From my body. R2721:1

Which my will cannot fully control, and with which there is a constant battle. R2048:6, 411:1

Of this death -- From the sin and death which has gotten possession of me. R411:1

This body of death. R411:1

Which is dead; incapable of keeping a perfect Law. R2721:1, 4869:1, 4554:2

I would like to live in newness of life, but am bound to the sinful condition by my physical frailties. NS671:3

Romans 7:25

I thank God -- That a way of escape from the Law Covenant has been provided. R2721:2, 4554:2

For deliverance and life. R2121:4, 2719:4, 2048:6

Through Jesus Christ -- Deliverance from condemnation comes through Jesus Christ. R4869:1, 2048:6

All who have made a consecration and come into Christ are reckoned dead to flesh, alive as new creatures. R4869:1

With the mind -- My new mind, heart's desires, which God accepts.
R2721:2, 5295:2

Paul describes his condition as a Jew and presumably the condition of other Jews. R4554:2

The Apostle Paul's mind was perfect and loyal to God. R4554:2

In this respect, we must not come short one jot or tittle. SM308:1

The will of God has become our will, our mind. R5303:6

The new mind as it develops in likeness to the mind of Christ, will relax no effort to keep the body under. R4810:5

The law of God -- The slightest command of God is a law. R454:3

To the extent of her knowledge, the Church will be responsible to the law of God. R5071:4

We cannot keep the Law in our flesh, but in our hearts, our minds. R5295:5

But with the flesh -- The flesh has inherited various weaknesses and fallen tendencies. R5303:6

Which God ignores and against which I am continually striving. R2721:2

Law of sin -- The smallest violation of Law is sin. R454:3

Romans 8:1

Therefore -- This word carries us back to the preceding argument, and shows us that our freedom from present condemnation is the result of our Lord's sacrifice on our behalf. R3201:1

No condemnation -- Under the law given in Eden, or that given at Sinai. R1726:2, 4869:3

So long as they are in Christ, they are free. R1726:2

Being justified by faith. R1438:1

The sins of the Church are forgiven. CR364:4; R5621:3, 5597:5, 3201:1, 2573:6, 689:1, 387:6; OV281:1

The new creature needs not to apologize for, nor remember, the weaknesses of the flesh, appertaining to the period preceding the sacrifice. CR97:1; R4642:6

The Church alone has escaped from the condemnation upon the world. R5621:3

The original condemnation passed upon all men through Adam's transgression is still upon all except the few. R1286:3

If we have pure and fervent love and walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit, the Law is reckoned fulfilled in us. R1188:1

Only those justified by faith have escaped condemnation, consequently only these could be again condemned. R387:6

If he should turn again to walk after the flesh he would incur condemnation as a new creature. R4656:1

Although a prisoner and outwardly restrained, Paul had gained great liberty and blessing, and also freedom from divine condemnation. R3201:1

In Christ Jesus -- Under the precious blood. E121 Being begotten of his Spirit and members of his Body. R4657:4

Covered by the robe of his righteousness. F104; R5027:6; OV281:1

By faith in his blood. R1527:3

The law of life in Christ made such free from the condemnation of death. R332:5

Who walk not -- These words, to the end of this verse, are not found in any of the oldest manuscripts, but are properly a part of verse 4. R3201:2

They are being judged according to their minds, their hearts, their intentions. R4799:6

After the flesh -- If we are not walking after the Spirit, we are not hearkening to the Lord; and while we are in that condition, he does not take pleasure in what we do. R5431:4

The old man. R42:4*

Down toward the flesh. R192:4*

After the Spirit -- Walk in obedience to the new mind. T122

The new man. R42:4*

According to the Spirit. R192:4*

Romans 8:2

Law of the Spirit -- Not the law of "Thou shalt" and "Thou shalt not."

R1729:4

The law of love; supreme love to God, and love to the neighbor as to self.

R1498:3, 2684:6

The operation of this law accomplishes in man what the Law of Moses could never do. R1322:6*

Restraints of the will of the flesh, under the law of love. R3018:1

A provisional law under which the Church is placed, whose conditions take cognizance both of our infirmities and also for our discipline. R1463:5

Hath made me free -- So far as the original sin is concerned. SM721:2

Reckonedly. R1463:5*

New creatures are not under any law of sin or death, nor have they any imperfections. R5006:5, 1463:5*

From the law -- From the Law Covenant. E121

Of sin and death -- Which convicted all imperfect ones as sinners and condemned them to death. E121

Romans 8:3

The law -- The Law covenant. R4608:1, 4869:4, 3201:3, 2121:4, 1404:2, 542:5; E121

Strict justice, without mercy. R3201:3

Could not do -- For us Jews. R2121:4

The Law could never justify them. (margin) R1458:6

The giving of a right to life. R455:4

In that it was weak -- Greek, astheneo, used to denote moral or spiritual weakness. R4099:6*

Powerless. E121; R4608:1, 3201:3, 2124:4, 998:6, 455:4

Because it had an insufficient Mediator who could not give a ransom to God for mankind. R4869:4

Not weak in the sense of being defective, but in the sense of being ineffective. R4608:1

Our flesh was too weak to withstand the tyranny of sin. R998:6

The Law given to Israel, could not give life because of the weaknesses or depravity of their fallen nature. R2611:5

The Law was perfect, but the Law Covenant was weak. R4869:4

Through the flesh -- Because all flesh was depraved through the fall and incapable of perfect obedience to the Law. E121; R4608:1, 2611:5, 2121:4, 1404:2, 455:4

Human nature. R998:5

Conscience is no exception to the other elements of the flesh, all are weak and all are sinful. R1323:1

God -- Accomplished in another way. R2121:4; E121

His own Son -- Jesus was a Son of God before he came. R316:1*

In the likeness -- The human likeness, but in its perfection. A230; R454:3, 37:5

Simply means not angelic or divine, but the human form. R454:3

Of sinful flesh -- Of the flesh of mankind. (That had come under the dominion of sin.) E121

Literally, "In the likeness of the flesh of sin," i.e., in the likeness of humanity, of which the tyrant, sin, possessed control. R4608:4, 1404:2, 998:6, 455:4; A230; E121

In the likeness of Adam, who voluntarily became sin's servant. R999:1, 3201:4

Jesus was as much a direct creation of God when born of Mary as Adam was when born in the womb of the earth. He no more partook of a sinful nature by association with Mary, than did Adam by his previous association with the earth. R104:6

All men bear the image of the earthy Adam. (1 Cor. 15:49) So Jesus, in taking the form of a perfect man, would, of necessity, be in likeness to sinful flesh. R104:6

Jesus experienced the woes and sufferings of humanity without sharing in the imperfections and sins. R454:3

"In him was no sin." "He knew no sin." (1 John 3:5; 2 Cor. 5:21) R104:6

Greek, hamartia, sin. This should not be translated sinful. (See Diaglott.) R998:4

And for sin -- As an offering for sin. E121; R3201:4, 2121:5, 998:6

On account of the sin condition, sin in the flesh. R4608:4

Because of sin's power over us. R998:6

By a sacrifice. R429:6, 3201:4, 1336:6

Condemned sin -- Greek, katakrino; sentenced to overthrow, by reason of the ransom. R999:2

The more we see of sin and its contaminating character the more we appreciate the divine justice which on account of sin condemns sin in humanity. R3729:4

Our tyrant, not humanity. R998:6

To an overthrow. R1404:2

By proving that perfect flesh could keep the Law. R4608:4; E121

Sentenced sin and made possible its overthrow. R4869:5

In the flesh -- Through Christ's flesh, given as our ransom. R998:6

The righteousness -- The full, whole, complete meaning. R3190:4, 5404:3, 4982:6

True import or spirit. R5287:4, 5947:2, 4597:2

The true keeping of the Law. R5071:4, 4982:6, 4597:2

The spirit. R4869:5, 315:2

The Church is not under the Law of Sinai, but looking at the spirit of it, she sees a perfect pattern. R5287:1, 5404:3, 5027:4

Jesus' life set the seal or mark of approval and righteousness to the Law. R455:4

God deals with us according to our mind, our will, our intentions. R4982:5, 3201:6

The meaning, the purport of the Law being in our hearts, God accepts this as instead of absolute fulfillment of the letter of the Law. R2684:3

Not righteous in the absolute sense of being perfect, but in a relative or accommodated sense of doing right to the best of their ability. R3947:3

Of the law -- Of God's demands. R2304:3, 5947:2, 5465:5

As expressed in the golden rule. R2689:3

No Jew could keep the Law in its spirit, perfectly, neither could any of any other nationalities keep it. R5005:2

The same Law that once condemned us has not changed, but our position has changed. We have come into a place where we are able to comply with the requirements of the Law and to fulfill them. R3201:6

While the Church is not under the Law Covenant, we are under the general instruction of the Ten Commandments. R5404:3, 5027:4

The work of redemption and reconciliation effected, opened to every Jew an opportunity for release from bondage to the Law by becoming dead with Christ. R4504:6

The highest attainments under the Mosaic Law may be made by spiritual Israelites. R4052:4, 5887:5, 5027:4

Faith, good intentions and good efforts, by the grace of God, make good their deficiencies. R5005:2

Might be fulfilled -- Reckonedly fulfilled. R2304:3, 3201:6, 193:6

As new creatures; God knows us not after the flesh, but after the spirit. Q602:2; R5887:5, 5295:5

God accounts us according to the intention of our minds; Christ's death makes good to us the difference. Q728:T; R3238:1

The fulfillment of the Law is love supreme for God and love for our neighbor as for ourselves. "Love is the fulfilling of the law." (Rom. 13:10) R5099:6, 2757:1

In his heart, his mind, his endeavor, he can, as a new creature, keep God's law perfectly. R5887:5

We are counted as fulfillers of the Law so long as our daily walk is in that direction to the extent of our ability. R3753:1

"Be ye perfect." (Matt. 5:48) "Conformed to the image of his Son." (Rom. 8:29) R2754:1

In us -- Christians; footstep followers of Jesus. R5027:6; OV281:T

Holiness people, complete in Christ. R3190:4; OV281:T

Upon the new creature. R4869:5, 5885:5, 4580:1, 2440:4

To become new creatures we must become dead, not to the Law Covenant alone, but to all earthly interests, hopes and prospects. R5885:5

The Law is very precious to the Church; for looking at its spirit of it she sees what she ought to be if perfect. R5287:1

Represented by the jewels imbedded in gold in the High Priest's breastplate, and upheld by the golden chain of divine promises. T36; R72:5

The work of redemption and reconciliation effected, opened to every Jew an opportunity for release from bondage to the Law by becoming dead with Christ. R4504:6

The Church is being measured by the divine law standard. R4442:1

The Church keeps the Law for it does not apply to our flesh, but to our spirit. R5073:4

Having the imputation of Christ's merit to cover our imperfections.

First, through the imputation of his merit to their mortal bodies, our Redeemer covers natural imperfections. Second, because that body is sacrificed, he reckons them dead as human beings. R5918:3

Those who are walking after the spirit of the Law, give evidence that if they had perfect ability, they would keep the divine law perfectly.

Walk not after the flesh -- Not seeking to please ourselves and our fallen tendencies. R3805:4, 5562:5, 5036:4, 2721:4; SM308:T

As new creatures we merely inhabit these bodies for awhile. R5325:5

To walk after the flesh is to walk after sin; to knowingly, willingly, intentionally, do those things which we recognize to be contrary to the divine will, even though we should not go to the extreme of wickedness.

Which leads more or less directly to death. R5100:5

To do so would imply that we had lost the new mind, the new disposition, the new will, that we had become dead to those hopes which had led to our consecration. R5036:4

In order to become new creatures, the Jews must become dead, not to the Law covenant alone, but to all earthly interests, hopes and prospects.

R5885:5

But after -- Even though unable to walk fully up to its perfect requirements. F411; R4982:6, 4869:5, 3237:6, 3202:2, 3060:1, 2721:4, 2440:4 According to. OV280:2; R5027:4, 4869:5

The Spirit -- In obedience to the new mind. T122; R4869:5

Christians should look back to the Decalogue and note the spirit of its teachings. OV280:2

In accord with the spirit of the divine law. R3805:4, 5431:4, 3753:1, 2121:5, 455:5; SM308:T; OV281:T

In harmony with the begetting of the holy Spirit. R5597:4

Which leads to everlasting life with our Great Redeemer. R5100:5

As new creatures, judged, not according to the flesh, but according to the spirit--according to the heart intentions. R5287:4, 5097:2

Doing more than the Law could require. The Law required no man to lay down his life for another, but merely to love his neighbor as himself. R5287:4

Those walking to the best of their ability after the spirit of God's Law, are reckoned as though walking up to the spirit of the Law. NS283:4, 316:5; R2440:4

We are to distinguish closely between walking after the Spirit and walking up to the Spirit. R3060:1

Romans 8:5

For -- The Apostle proceeds to give in this verse a thorough and satisfactory answer to the difficult and highly important question of how we can tell of ourselves, and of others, whether we are new creatures, begotten of the holy Spirit. R3202:2

Are after the flesh -- Have no ambition to keep the law of God, but simply try to please the flesh. R1404:2, 3202:5

Who live in accord with their flesh, which is depraved. R1223:6, 2162:1

Do mind -- Indicate their preference for. R1223:6, 3202:5, 1404:2

Things of the flesh -- The things which can be attained in this present life. R3202:5

After the Spirit -- Who desire and endeavor to cultivate in themselves the spirit of God. R1404:2

Things of the Spirit -- Those who live in accord with the spirit show their preference. R1223:6

He who is in Christ has new ambitions, and aims, his affections are for things that are just, pure, good and righteous, and he will show his hearts desires through his conduct. R3202:3

Carnally -- Greek, sarx; flesh, not necessarily sinful; but since Adam's disobedience, the human race has been under sin. R1223:2

Minded -- To walk after the flesh after we have been begotten of the spirit. R2721:4, 1748:2

Guided by the flesh. R4628:2, 1223:6, 636:5

Rebellious, "not subject to the law of God." (Rom. 8:7) R4475:6, 4628:3, 636:5

To be controlled by any other will than God's will, brings misery trouble and eventually death, according to the perfect law of God. R636:5

Is death -- "Whosoever will save his life shall lose it, and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it." (Matt 16:25) R1748:3

The just sentence of the Law. R1223:6, 3083:5

Brings distress, misery, trouble, and eventually death. R636:5

Serving our fallen fleshly natures is a course that leads toward, and, if persisted in would end in death. R2721:5, 5036:4, 4628:3, 1748:3

This scripture is equally true in its application to the unjustified; they are still in the death condition, not joined to the life-giver. R3202:5, 1404:2

An incorrect inference drawn is that the death which is the wages of sin consists solely and only in being carnally minded. R1223:2

Destruction; contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:5

Spiritually minded -- Greek, pneuma; spirit; to have a mind controlled by God's holy Spirit or will. E313

Consecrated to the Lord, having the imputation of Christ's merit.

R4628:2,4, 4968:1, 1223:6

Only such of mankind will be everlastingly saved as receive of Christ's spirit, mind or disposition. R1224:5

Spiritually minded -- These are granted a spiritual insight into divine things. R4968:1

Is life and peace -- God is now holding out a special prize to those who will live according to his will. R4628:1

The reward of obedience. R1223:6, 3083:5

"He that hath the Son hath life." (1 John 5:12) R3202:5

The carnal mind -- Sold under sin. R5117:1

The mind or will of the flesh. R1223:3

However polite or polished or well educated and decorous. R3202:2

Faith is not a matter of intellect alone, it is also a matter of the heart. R2162:1

Is enmity against -- In opposition to God. R1223:6, 3202:5

It has its own ambitions and plans, and builds its hopes and aims chiefly upon what can be attained in this present life. R3202:5

Whoever is satisfactory to the Lord need not expect to be satisfactory to the world; for the fellowship of the world is enmity to God. R5738:1

Not subject to -- Not in harmony with. R1223:6

The world is not subject to the divine standard. R5738:1

The inherited taint renders them unfit to live because with such a nature they cannot keep God's law. R527:2

The law of God -- The divine standard. R5738:1

Neither indeed can be -- For it is carnal, sold under sin. R5117:1

Romans 8:8

In the flesh -- Living according to their own wills. R3203:1, 5036:4
Whose existence is fleshly. R1223:6
The Apostle likens the great transformation of the present life to a resurrection from the dead. NS670:3

Ye are not -- The Church. R3203:1
The consecrated. R1223:6
Reckonedly, from God's standpoint. A227; F366; R4494:6, 157:5, 102:6*
In every case the divine tests are not to prove our flesh, which is conceded to be imperfect, and ignored in this testing and counted dead. R4494:6
In the flesh -- Human. T75
The old nature. R145:6*, 1981:5, 1223:6, 157:5*
We are reckoned dead as a human body, having been sacrificed with Christ. R5932:4
God does not look upon our imperfect flesh. R5447:4
The natural body is no longer we. R154:4
Reckoned dead, and daily dying to the fleshly human nature. R176:2
We must not mistake these new creatures and too closely identify them with the flesh. R5902:4
"Henceforth know we no man after the flesh." (2 Cor. 5:16) R3832:1, 4494:6
But in the Spirit -- New creatures in Christ Jesus. R4869:3, 3832:1, 3768:5, 3203:1, 273:4; T75
Things may happen disastrous to the fleshly interests of spirit begotten ones, but they remember that no outside influence can mar their real interests as new creatures. R4767:5
Those in whom the good work of the Spirit is ever begun are counted on the living side, "risen with Christ." (Col. 3:1) R97:6*
The Spirit of God -- The mind, disposition or spirit of holiness. R5036:4, 3251:6, 2721:5, 1223:6
From God. R371:5
Pictured in the holy place of the tabernacle, representing the Church not in its fleshly phase, but in its spiritual state. R102:6*
Plane M, on the Chart of the Ages, the plane of spirit begetting. R273:4
Dwell in you -- God by his indwelling spirit works in us to will and to do his good pleasure. R3251:6
Bring every power of the body into subjection. Q506:3
The body is the servant of the new creature. R5325:4
If any man have not -- In some measure. E188, 244
To whatever extent the Adversary may be able to inject into us an evil spirit, and to drive out the holy Spirit, to that extent he will be separating, alienating us from the Lord. R4388:2, 3985:5

Spirit of Christ -- The same holy Spirit or disposition of the Father which operated in our Lord. E184; F367; R371:5, 2202:3

In sacrificing. R4536:4, 761:5, 759:4

The disposition of Christ, love. R2330:4, 3932:2; SM12:1

The spirit manifests itself in meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love. OV367:4; R5829:5, 5224:2, 4377:3, 1114:1

The renewed mind. R455:5

The spirit of full surrender to the Father's will. SM351:1; R3894:4, 1141:2; CR229:6

Being one with the Lord; of one heart, of one will. R5348:4

Which would rejoice at the recovery of a wrongdoer at any step of the proceedings taught by Jesus in Matt. 18:15-18. F290

We cannot be in sympathetic accord with the fallen fleshly nature and its appetites and ambitions. R2721:5, 5036:4

The worldly may read the Gospel influence in the lives of professors before they give particular heed to the message. R5850:3

The warring kingdoms do not manifest this spirit, and are "none of his." R5829:5

The Holy Spirit or mind should not be confounded with the fruits of the spirit or the gifts of the spirit. R371:5

We look for evidences of the Lord's Spirit, disposition, character, in all those who profess to be his members. R4377:3

We will not find the Spirit of the master exactly duplicated in the members of the true Church; we will find at least a measure of that spirit in every member. R1103:2

In Christ, truth, humility, and love found an exponent, while at the same time he was bold as a lion in their true defense. R1103:2

This love may be of varying degrees, but it must be ours in some degree if we are the Lord's. R3932:1

He is none of his -- And has not the parakletos (Greek), the divine aid. E203

Not of the Body of Christ. R2721:5

Being none of his he will surely not be permitted to share in the fruits and graces of the spirit of the present time, nor in the precious things of the divine provision which are yet future. R3836:4

And therefore will have no part in the Kingdom, whatever inferior blessing he may obtain under stripes and disciplines. R5346:2

None will be accounted worthy of everlasting life except he have the Spirit of Christ. R1673:3

Whoever has not given up his own will to the Lord is not his child. SM351:1

If the spirit of Christ were totally absent. F404

It rests with ourselves, largely with our use of the means which God has provided. D244

Because those things which the Lord loves are distasteful to the worldly, and those who love and practice such things lose his fellowship, they are not of his spirit. R2444:3

Romans 8:10

Christ be in you -- Applies only to the Church. E305

The spirit of truth manifested in the Church. R160:2*

The new nature. R237:2*

The body is dead -- Reckoned dead as far as earthly rights and interests are concerned. E305; F675; R5036:2, 2231:6, 2029:4, 79:6

If you are fully consecrated, your own natural will and desire all resigned to the will of "the Head." R79:6

The words "dead" and "life" are used in a relative sense of those justified by faith who are at once absolutely freed from death condemnation. E305

Because of sin -- As to sin; not reckoned of God in considering your case. R1223:6

Put to death by the Spirit. R145:6*

The Spirit is life -- Is reckoned as a new creature, as having obtained a new spirit of life. E305, 306

The intention or new will has life reckoned to it. R1223:6

The new mind in us shall take control and actuate these mortal bodies and make of them servants of the new mind. R4041:1

The Spirit mortifies the deeds of the body, and gives new life. R146:1*

Of righteousness -- Of its righteousness. R1223:6

Imputed righteousness. F675; R2231:6

But -- Moreover. R1224:1

The Spirit of him -- The power of God. R5748:6

It is the spirit that mortifies or puts to death the deeds of the body, and the same spirit that gives new life. R146:1; NS327:4

In proportion as the spirit of God is received in us the new nature triumphs and is able to bring the mortal body into subjection and quicken it. CR3:4

"Your Heavenly Father shall give the holy Spirit to them that ask him."

(Luke 11:13) R2722:1,4

Raised up Jesus -- Jesus could never have raised himself. R2795:2

Dwell in you -- In sufficient measure, abounding. R2721:6

Shall also quicken -- Energize, under the control of the new will; employ in God's service. A197; F487, 600; R4810:2, 4808:3, 3203:3, 2721:6, 2336:4, 2029:4, 1981:6, 1224:1, 1114:2-6, 962:5, 836:6, 385:5*

Vivify. R4842:1

The energizing of the mortal body. Q593:4; R5060:5, 5035:3 Development of the new life in us as new creatures. SM598:1

While reckoned dead, this body has been revived to serve the new creature. R5932:4

In proportion as the Spirit of God is received in us, the new nature triumphs to such an extent that it is able to bring the mortal body into subjection. CR3:4

Reckoned as alive, our bodies are energized in opposition to sin and in harmony with righteousness. R5035:3, 2029:4

Does not refer to physical healings, or the resurrection of our present identical bodies. R2029:4, 2593:4

Prepared for the fullness of the divine nature when the present body shall give place to a spiritual one. R805:4

The same spirit by which we crucify the flesh, is able to subdue and control the mortal body; make it alive and active with our new spiritual nature. R93:1

The dead and alive conditions need to continually be maintained by opposition of the new will to any life or activity of the old will. F600
Deadness to sin should not be satisfactory to us, we should by God's grace get alive to righteousness. R2029:4

Into active and diligent service and the bringing forth of all the fruits of holiness. R1981:6

"You hath he quickened who were dead in trespasses and sins." (Eph. 2:1)
R3756:5

Your mortal bodies -- To the extent the new will gains control of our mortal bodies, it might not be improper to consider the mortal bodies as temporary substitutes for the spiritual body waited for. F487

This animal body is to be quickened by the Spirit of God that dwells in us; and by degrees this resurrection process in which the new creature is engaged becomes stronger and stronger. R5060:6

The flesh quickened by the new mind, will be the Lord's, aggressively and actively engaged in opposition to sin and error, and in the service of truth and righteousness. R2336:4

Man is not immortal. R1642:5

Not your immortal resurrection bodies. R2721:6

By his Spirit -- The power of God which was sufficient to raise up Jesus is surely powerful enough to operate in our mortal bodies so as to permit us to use them in God's service. R4005:3, 4041:1, 3913:6, 3203:3, 2721:6, 1224:1; Q506:3

Dwelleth in you -- The same spirit by which we crucify the flesh is able to so subdue and control this mortal body that it will be active, in harmony with our new nature. R93:4

Permitting us to do more in his service than if not begotten. R5035:3

Take the spirit away from the Church, and they would be nothing but a company of mere natural men--men in the flesh. R120:5*

Romans 8:12

Not to the flesh -- We do not owe anything to the flesh, it brings us no advantage, present or future. R1224:1

To live after -- To follow its leadings and be its servants. R1224:1

For if ye -- Saints, consecrated believers. R1748:1, 5805:6, 5233:6, Spirit-begotten ones. R1753:5

Ye who have solemnly covenanted to sacrifice your very life in the service of God, for the eradication of evil. R4809:5, 1115:1

The consecrated Christians living at Rome, and Christian people living all down through this age. R5269:3

Those who, in the present existence, are on trial for life. R1748:4

The warning is not at all applicable to the world. R1748:2

Live after the flesh -- Returns to sin again, "Like a sow to her wallowing in the mire." (2 Peter 2:22) R5270:2

We mind the will of the flesh when we permit the fleshly desires, which we have given up, to become again the ruling influence of our minds. Take that course of life which would be pleasing to our old natures. R4830:1

In conformity to and in gratification of the inclinations and craving of the fallen human nature: "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these," etc. (Gal. 5:19) R1748:3, 5270:4, 4809:5, 1753:5, 1224:1, 1115:1

Even after we have come into Christ. R1224:1

To live in gratification of even the legitimate cravings of the human mind and human body. R5807:1

We must train our minds to desire only those things which are true, pure, loving and good. R5124:2

A garment spotted with the flesh shows that the carnal or fleshly nature is not wholly subdued. R50:4*

Ye shall die -- Lose your life as a new creature. A213; R5270:4, 4830:1, 1224:2, 279:5

Such have no provision made for them. They have gone clear back on their covenant. R5270:2

God has no use or place for willful covenant-breakers and covenant-despisers. R4809:5, 1115:1

Because they have already surrendered their human life-rights. R4828:3, 5269:3

Indicates the danger to which we are exposed if we neglect (spiritual) eating and working. R23:5*

Second death. R5270:5, 5806:5, 1699:5

Not suffer endless torment. R5806:5

Through the Spirit -- Through the power of God. R5931:3

Live according to the Spirit, the renewed mind, or Spirit of Christ.

R1224:1

Whatever mortification is practiced by the child of God should be actuated by the Spirit of God, the mind of God. R5806:3

Do mortify -- Put to death; refuse to gratify. A213; R5807:4, 4020:3, 1753:5, 1748:5, 279:5

Put to death natural practices not in harmony with the Spirit of God.

Mortify every inclination of the body that is not indorsed by the new mind. R5584:3, 5932:3, 5806:4, 3203:5

First surrender your human will to death and adapt in fullest measure the mind of Christ. NS593:1

Essential to the attainment of everlasting life. R5931:2

Make our bodies a sacrifice. R157:2*

It is not merely that we shall covenant at the beginning of our Christian course to do this, but we must carry out to its completion this mortification. R5805:6

There will be no mortification of the flesh in the Millennial age. R5806:4

Deeds of the body -- Disposition of the human nature. A213; R1748:5, 279:5, 237:3

Represents all the human interests; not merely the weaknesses and infirmities of our fallen condition, and our sinful tendencies. R5805:6

But not the body itself, without a purpose. R5806:3, 5932:3

The new creature's closest and most persistent adversary is his own flesh. SM392:4

Deeds of the body -- Mortification of his own flesh and natural preferences. SM393:3

The animal nature ruling should be put to death. R1699:2

Ye shall live -- As new creatures. A213

Become strong as new creatures and be acceptable of the Lord to eternal life. R4020:3

If we succeed in faithfully laying down our earthly life, with all its hopes and prospects. R5805:6

And thus obtain actual fullness of unending life. R5931:2, 5806:5

As many as are led -- Guided. R1224:1

Even unto death. R164:6, 418:4

To sacrifice themselves that they may serve the truth. R5447:2

If we willfully refuse the leading of God's Spirit, we forfeit the relationship of sons. R1748:5, 5807:4

Those who covenant with God are begotten of the Spirit of God and thenceforth led by it. R1841:2

That spirit takes hold of them, guiding them in various ways, sometimes by putting property into their hands, sometimes by taking it away, sometimes by permitting sickness. R5583:3

By the Spirit of God -- Divine disposition--power or influence from God--also called holy Spirit, Spirit of Christ, Spirit of truth, Spirit of a sound mind, Spirit of sonship, Spirit of holiness. R5582:3, 5447:1, 418:4
Was made manifest at Pentecost. R5582:6

It comes to us as a seal of sonship, and to enable us as sons to understand our Father's will. R261:4, 418:4

As a seal of sonship, to enable us as sons to understand our Father's will. R261:4

As each man has a spirit or mind, so God has a spirit. R373:6

The spirit of the Law that was given to the Jew is upon the new creature, but not the Law Covenant. R4869:5

The people in the Millennial age will receive it in the sense of a blessing. R5583:4

Sons of God -- Those begotten of the Spirit. R5582:6, 1841:2, 50:3*
Spiritual Israel--a house of sons. B205

Begotten sons, waiting for the adoption, full sonship. R50:3*

It is our business to grow, to cultivate in ourselves those dispositions which are worthy of us as spiritual sons of God. R4808:3, 1114:2

As long as we have this Spirit of God, it is an evidence to us that we maintain relationship of sons. R5228:3

We cannot agree to the common fatherhood of God and the common brotherhood of men: for only those who have the Father's spirit are sons of God.

R2323:6

Spirit of bondage -- As members of the house of servants. B246

Spirit of adoption -- As members of the house of Sons; brethren of Christ. B246; E143

A spirit of sonship. (Diaglott) Q7:3

The holy Spirit. R2405:4

Adopted by God into his family. R1227:2

The only evidence, at present, that we are spirit-begotten. R5093:4, 375:2

This spirit, more and more permeating our lives, will make us more and more like unto our Father in heaven. R5613:3

To be followed by full adoption at the establishment of the Kingdom. E109

We cry -- The children of God in a sense peculiar to this age; consecrated and begotten of the holy Spirit. R5149:4

Abba, Father -- Those who are regenerated, spirit-begotten children of God, can call him thus. R5838:2, 520:6, 91:1*

God is not merely the controller of the universe, but our Father. R5149:4

Romans 8:16

The Spirit itself -- Through the Word of God. E229

Beareth witness -- The witness of repentance from sin and being drawn by the Heavenly Father to recognize Jesus as the Redeemer. E229
The witness of consecration of all we have to the service of God. E229; R374:1
The witness of chastisement, discipline. E231; R374:2
The witness of willing submission to God's will. E235; R374:3
The witness of separateness from the world and being hated and persecuted for letting our light shine. E235; R374:3
The witness of taking pleasure in acknowledging Jesus as your Redeemer and Master and faithfully presenting the Word of his testimony on every suitable occasion. E237; R374:4
The witness of prompt obedience and willing sacrifice. R759:5*
The witness of overcoming the world, being out of harmony with its aims, its hopes, its ambitions; by faith in spiritual and eternal things. E237-238; R374:4
The witness of growth in graces (fruit) of the spirit and in knowledge of things to come. E238-239; R374:2,5
"All that will live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (2 Tim. 3:12) R374:3; E235
With our Spirit -- Some of the above witnesses in all the saints; all of them in the mature Christian. E261, 240
The first witness that the newly begotten may have is that they are accepted with the Lord. E240
The children of God -- "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." (Rom. 8:14) E163; R3203:6

Romans 8:17

And if children -- When begotten of the holy Spirit to be sons of God. R5830:6, 5207:4
Made so by a display of divine sovereignty, which contradicts all Evolution theories. E395
We are bound to accept all our experiences as being of his providence. R5418:5
The only one directly begotten was Jesus. R5439:2
Sons of God. R5739:5
The faithful of the Gospel age are not children of Christ, but children of his Father, begotten of the Father's spirit and the Father's nature. E143
From Pentecost onward they were sons of God. R5830:6, 5207:4
Then heirs -- Jesus, the Head, and the Church, his Body, constitute the antitypical spiritual seed of Abraham. (Gal. 3:29) R5450:2, 5207:4, 3937:3, 1493:5, 398:6
The sons have a right to the things which the Father has provided for his children. R5163:6
Heirs of God -- A crown of glory is set apart for each son of the Father. R5532:3; A19

God has in his possession to give away, the divine nature and the honors of the Kingdom. R4751:1, 274:4; CR464:2

The Abrahamic promise. R5205:4

There is nothing in all the novels and romances in the world that in any degree compares with the marvels of this glorious grace of God bestowed upon consecrated believers of this Gospel age. R3988:6

The Father's equality of love for us as for Christ Jesus is made manifest. R3161:6

And joint-heirs -- Otherwise styled the Bride the Lamb's wife. R5919:6

The only call going out during the Gospel Age. CR470:6; R5173:4, 2581:1, 1574:1

The high calling of the Gospel Church. R1566:1, 1262:3

Partakers with Jesus of the divine nature. (2 Pet. 1:4) SM67:1; A196; R5562:4, 4998:6, 2409:4, 1881:4, 1360:4, 274:4

We are to share or participate with him in all that he has. CR215:1

In every sense, in the sufferings, self-denials, persecutions and sacrifices of the present life, as well as in the glories, honor and immortality of the future life. R5003:3, 2405:4

Of all things. (Heb. 1:2) R1617:4, 4071:3, 3161:6

Receiving "glory, honor and immortality." (Rom. 2:7) R5080:2, 2773:1, 2761:6

In the rulership of the Millennial Kingdom. D618; R4997:1, 2652:3, 2505:4

If so be -- And only if so be. E233; F88

Our reign with Christ being conditional on our faithfulness in his service. C208

That we suffer -- Death. F445; R270:5, 140:4, 134:6

As a result of letting our light shine. E294

As living sacrifices. R2409:5

Thus being "made meet for the inheritance." E121; OV425:1; R2761:1

The measure of our self-sacrifice and suffering for Christ becomes a measure, from God's standpoint, of our faithfulness. E490

With this opportunity of so great an exaltation go also conditions, limitations, trials, testings of faith and loyalty. OV379:4; R1652:6

The Heavenly Father wishes to prove the degree of our love. CR214:5; R2409:5

Show loyalty by faith and obedience to the divine law of love, even unto self-sacrifice, even unto death. R4799:2, 2074:5, 140:4

Lack of opportunity to suffer would mean the closing of the door, the barring of the narrow way to joint-heirship. C207

We are to go to him without the camp, bearing the reproach with him. (Heb. 13:13) R3917:4

Rejoice in tribulations and misrepresentations and whatever divine providence permits. R5008:2, 4398:5, 2000:3, 280:6

Only through great tribulation may they enter the Kingdom and be sharers with Christ in its glory. NS680:4

Those who suffer for the truth shall be esteemed worthy to share the throne. R832:2

If we reach the point of deadness to the world which will constitute us overcomers, we must die daily. R2123:2

In the narrow way of self denial and self sacrifice. R20741

The scorn, contempt, and opprobrium of the world. R1372:3

Work together -- God loves us, and will make everything work out for our good as new creatures. CR461:2; R5561:6, 5402:3, 4660:2, 2699:4, 738:6

This promise is sure to all those who are his children according to the spirit. CR461:2; R5645:5

If we know this, we shall receive all that comes to us in the spirit of submission and trust. R5759:5, 3208:5

A seeming accident could not have occurred had God not seen a way to make it the channel of a needed lesson or blessing. R5425:5

The more faith we have, the more we appreciate this text. R5118:5

God's mercy and goodness follow us (Psa. 23:6) to accomplish this. R5654:6

As long as we abide faithful to God. R5645:5

The Lord will not permit us to be tempted, or tested, above what we are able to bear. (1 Cor. 10:13) R5569:6

Such as realize this providential supervision, are not only kept more humble and trustful, but are not vexed and soured by the vicissitudes of life and misconduct of others. R1646:4

Even the weaknesses of heredity may work out for the faithful that "far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." (2 Cor. 4:17) R4712:4

Causing all things to work together for good. R5132:3

Through the agency of the "ministering spirits sent forth to minister unto those who shall be heirs of salvation." (Heb. 1:14) F76

For good -- Developing in us the peaceable fruits of righteousness. F181; R1646:4

The interest, the good of the new creature. R5606:1, 5402:3

Nothing can harm us, aside from our Father's will. R5546:6

Whatever cannot be overruled for good must be hindered, must be stopped, cannot proceed. R4133:6

Each of God's children should be helped by his defeats as well as by his victories. R4307:6, 5811:4

The powers of evil cannot harm the elect, therefore let us put away fears as marks or evidences of lack of faith. R4736:3, 4069:5

Our Heavenly Father wishes to give us the good things. Sometimes he sees best that we wait before getting an answer to our prayers. R5480:4

Few lessons are harder to learn than this one--that God supervises the affairs of all who are truly his. R5264:4

The consecrated shall have all needful instruction, grace, comfort, discipline, training and care; and such measure of temporal good as will be most conducive to highest spiritual and everlasting blessing. R1396:3

Sometimes our Heavenly Father sees best that we wait a long time before getting the answer to our petitions; at other times he may give us a speedy answer to our prayer. R5480:4

"There shall no evil befall thee." (Psa. 91:10) R3332:2

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." (Psa. 23:1) R1396:3

It would be a mistake, however, to suppose that the Lord would in every case make things work together for our temporal advantage. R2130:3*

Nothing can harm these, except as the Heavenly Father sees that the earthly injury or disadvantage would prove profitable to the individual new creature or the Lord's general cause. R4926:6

Even if God should permit him to use his judgment in a way that afterward appeared not have been the best, nevertheless the Father may use it to bring some profitable lesson. R5212:6

Our Heavenly Father would watch over their every interest, temporal and spiritual. NS654:6

However vexing or perplexing or trying they may be. R1489:6

Not (necessarily) for the best. R5118:5

To them -- Who have become new creatures in Christ; not the world.

CR149:1; R5403:2, 4386:1

One class is under special supervision and to these nothing out of God's order could happen. R738:6

God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

The spirit-begotten ones have much advantage every way. R5681:5

He who has buried his own will completely in the will of the Lord can know no disappointment; but in every affair of his life he sees by faith divine appointment or supervision. R2412:6

Little does the world realize the important place in its affairs and interests occupied by this Little Flock. R4133:6

That love God -- Love him supremely. R5633:5, 1911:2; F154

With loyal hearts. R4308:1

In proportion as we love God we get the good out of our experiences. R5759:5

These can be calm and serene in the midst of all the storms of life. OV200:5

Who are the called -- "And chosen and faithful." (Rev. 17:14) C232

The Kingdom class. SM369:T

To be the Bride, the Lamb's wife. R4784:2, 5249:2

Who are promised a share in the First Resurrection. OV231:T

This elect class will be God's instrumentality for the blessing of the non-elect. SM91:1; R2538:6 Applies to the Church of the Gospel age, but there is a sense in which it was applicable to the Hebrews, since the time of Abraham. R5217:2

According to his purpose -- The glorious purpose of making them his agents for the blessing of all mankind. R2538:6, 25:2*

Romans 8:29

For whom -- "A Royal Priesthood, a Holy Nation." (1 Pet. 2:9) E30

Wholly respecting the Church; the new creatures. CR156:5; R4975:6, 4213:6, 2377:2; OV35:4

Not the Great Company. R4401:1

He did foreknow -- In the Abrahamic Covenant, God declared his purpose to find a seed of Abraham. R5301:4

This special class was foreknown from before the foundation of the world.

(Eph. 1:4) R4492:4, 4855:5, 4213:3, 2376:5; Q657:6 God foreknew us also by Jesus, not as individuals necessarily, but he foreknew a Church, a class.

R4855:5

Nothing in any Scripture implies divine foreknowledge of the individuals.

F179; Q657:6, R3282:1, 2652:3, 1141:2

He did predestinate -- Determine or decide. R5900:6

Predetermine. OV35:4; R5900:6*

As to qualifications of character. E137; F180; R5346:3, 3281:1, 2940:6, 2652:3; OV237:2; CR69:5; Q456:T

God foreordained that he would have a Church. R5001:6, 5838:4, 5269:6, 5056:1; CR69:5

God's election of a saintly Kingdom class is the work of this age. The elect in glory will in the next age extend God's free grace to all. (Rev.

22:17) PD86/99

Not that some should go to heaven and others to eternal torment. R2376:6, 4213:4

God not only prearranged to have a Church as a Bride of Christ, but also fixed certain limitations of character. NS545:3; HG377:6

To be conformed -- The golden rule is necessary in such formation of character, to develop in us not the principles of justice only, but also the spirit of love. R2689:3

The Church must each individually in character become copies of our Lord. R534:3

It is the new creature, the new mind, the new will, that is in the school of Christ, that is to be brought into full accord with the divine will, to become a copy or likeness of the Lord. R2439:5

We aid each other in the cultivation of those traits of character which the Lord has stipulated shall distinguish all who become his joint-heirs.

R845:4

Whoever of the called ones fail to attain the character likeness of Christ, fails to make his calling and election sure. OV35:6

In purity of heart, purity of intention; sincerity of efforts toward God and men. R2587:5

The attainment of the character-likeness of Jesus. SM390:1; R5968:5, 5859:6, 4975:6, 4928:5, 4501:3, 3985:6, 3586:4, 3307:1, 2754:1, 1166:1; C210; F67, 180; CR69:5, 444:2; Q429:5

This implies, as its cost, the sacrifice of earthly interests. SM390:1

Whoever of the "called" ones fails to attain the character likeness of Christ will be rejected. OV35:4; R3586:1, 1802:2

The very object of the begetting of the new creature is to develop and crystallize character. R4975:6

It means the losing of the mental and moral likeness to the world. R1007:1

Not partly conformed, but fully conformed. R4975:6

To the image -- A copy--not in the flesh, but in the spirit. R5902:6, 2439:5

Copies of the likeness of God's Son. (Diaglott) C210; F67, 180; R5056:1, 5002:1, 4213:4, 2737:5, 2538:6, 2439:5, 2376:6

The new creature, the new mind, the new will, is in the school of Christ; to be perfected, to be brought into full accord with the divine will, to become a copy or likeness of the Lord. R4810:4, 5003:3, 4975:6

Glorified character likeness. CR38:3; R5580:1

God's message of grace once accepted must be considered either a message of life unto life, or of death unto death. R4647:3

"Holy, unblameable and unreprouvable." (Col. 1:22) E395

Every member of the great Mediator must have the spirit of Jesus, the Head. CR49:6

All must have his likeness, be meek and lowly in heart, desiring only to know and do the will of God at any cost. R1141:1

In proportion as the likeness of our Lord is fixed in our hearts, upon the basis of truth and the divine nature, can a lasting likeness be hoped for.

R2137:6

Spiritual likeness. R1879:4

Heart-likeness. R3985:6

Their trials have made them more nearly, as new creatures, copies of God's dear Son. SM631:1

The epistle of Christ written in their hearts. Q429:4; R5968:5

Christ's likeness in heart, and as much as possible that likeness in outward living and in thinking. R5849:6

There is only one way to seek for this great prize successfully, and that is by patiently and perseveringly cultivating and developing in ourselves the character-likeness of our Redeemer. R4501:6

Of his Son -- "We shall be like him." (1 John 3:2) T67

Heroes. R4533:3

"Who is the image of the invisible God." (Col. 1:15) R41:3*

That he might be -- None could precede him; only by noting and following in his footsteps can we hope to share his glory. F181

The firstborn -- "The firstborn from the dead." (Col. 1:18) The resurrection of our Lord was his birth from the dead, to the full perfection of spiritual being. B134; R3912:2, 3174:4, 2618:5, 2573:1, 2422:2

The heir. R134:3, 270:3

The raising of Jairus' daughter was not a resurrection, nor were any of the other cases of awakening from death recorded in the Scriptures. R2618:5

This is a progressive matter; first there is the beginning, then the period of gestation, then birth. R5580:2

Among many brethren -- Who have received the spirit of adoption. E109
The faithful of this Gospel age are not the children of Christ; our relationship to our Lord Jesus is that of brethren. E143; R2652:3

Romans 8:30

Moreover whom -- The Apostle here traces backward the development of the Church. F182

He did predestinate -- As a class, not as individuals. A194

He also called -- To obedience, to present their bodies living sacrifices. R2378:6, 5838:4, 4215:5, 1141:3

The glorious opportunity of the high calling. R5838:4, 1141:2

Accepted to the grand position of the glorious elect. F182

Invited to that honor through the Gospel. R3282:1, 810:3*

No man takes this step of consecration unless he is called of God. R5134:1

Only the justified are called. R4783:5, 4214:2, 4213:6, 3282:1, 2377:1, 3, 1141:2

He also justified -- Covered with the robe of Christ's righteousness. C198

Through the imputed righteousness of Christ. R1141:3

Those who accept the light by repentance and faith. R2377:5, 5838:5, 4214:3, 1141:3

He also glorified -- Greek, doxazo; honored; it is more of an honor to hear of God's grace than many suppose. F182; A194

Honored by sending to them the Gospel message. R3282:1, 4213:5, 2377:1,3, 1141:2

By begetting them with the holy Spirit. R5838:5

After Pentecost it was not Africa and Asia that were chiefly honored with the Gospel, but Europe, and later America. R2377:3, 4214:1

No man, without being invited, could think of aspiring to the great honor of the position to which the Church is elected: "So, also, Christ glorified (honored) not himself to be made an High Priest." (Heb. 5:5) A194

Tracing the steps in the reverse order, this is the first step. R2377:1,3, 4213:5,6

Romans 8:31

What shall we then -- In view of God's ignoring of our weaknesses and imperfections in conduct and in prayer, and blessing us according to the spirit of our minds. E290-291

Say to these things -- Paul has been arguing justification as a basis or step to glory and heirship. R504:1

If -- If I have proved that. R2378:2, 4214:6

God -- The Lord of Hosts is with us, his promises and providences are walls of salvation and protection on every hand. R1653:5

With all of his infinite wisdom and power, and all of the heavenly powers. R2377:5, 4214:3

Be for us -- If God be thus for our election. E291; F183; R4213:2, 2376:3
On our side. CR461:1

The Little Flock. R2377:5, 4214:3, 2378:1

In that he spared not his own Son, but redeemed us with his precious blood, and called us to his "elect" Church. R3052:4, 1141:4, 504:1, 393:4
If we have the peace of God ruling in our hearts, it is beyond all human comprehension. R4708:1

God being on our side, none of the oppositions need cause us fear or trepidation for he is absolutely abundantly able to carry us through them all. F183

It means almighty wisdom enlisted in our interest, almighty power exerted on our behalf, almighty love and infinite goodness watching over us and caring for and helping us. R4212:3

This blessed assurance gave the Master courage. R4708:1

For the people of Europe and North America, who accepted the Gospel message; and especially for those of the called ones who make their calling and election sure. R2377:4, 4214:2

Not for everybody, everywhere, as taught by Methodism, Universalism and Unitarianism. R2375:6, 4212:3

Who can be against us -- Who can prosper against us. R3052:4

However numerous, however strong, whether demons or men. R4379:6, 5043:6, 4214:6, 2378:2-5

Within and without. R1985:2

To any avail, to thwart our hopes. R1956:2, 3155:6, 3052:4

Even adverse experiences are of divine permission. R4325:4, 1956:2

Notwithstanding all our adversaries, our assurance is that all wisdom, power and love shall be exerted on our behalf. R2378:5, 4215:4, 2880:5, 1141:4

All our adversaries must be resisted with the sword of the Spirit. In due time God will right present wrongs and falsehoods. R2378:4, 4215:2

Those who believe verses 31-39 teach "once in grace, always in grace" lose sight of numerous texts which declare that they must "abide in Christ." R2286:3

Romans 8:32

But delivered him up -- To death. A155; E197

The ignominious and cruel death were at the expense of the fondest affection of him who loves as never man loved. R1696:5

Give us all things -- Needful for us in our race for the prize. E197; F411

Abundant cause for thankfulness and rejoicing. R1911:2

Romans 8:33

To the charge -- If God ignores the infirmities of our flesh, we should so regard one another, considering not and charging not against one another the infirmities of the flesh. R5802:5, 3587:1; F184 So long as we are striving against sin. F369

Only as we are able to realize an obedient faith are we able to apply these gracious promises to ourselves or to rest therein. R3944:5, 2466:5
When the infirmities of the flesh are cultivated, without effort to correct them, then they are charged against us. R5802:5

Some may find fault with us for having imperfect judgments, and being sometimes imperfect in our conduct or words; but what will it matter if the Lord approves. R3052:4

Of God's elect -- Who are to be associated with Messiah in his glorious Kingdom. OV146:1

It is God -- The firmness of whose justice can no more condemn the redeemed than it could previously excuse the guilty. A295, 157

It was God who condemned. Q410:3

That justifieth -- "Shall that God that justifieth." R5802:5, 1456:2*

Young--"to make, or declare right"--not necessarily a state of perfection. PT390:5*

Through the blood of Jesus. Q410:2; R5959:2; CR173:5

An imputation of righteousness. R5881:2, 193:4

Justification of the Church is an instantaneous work. R5959:2

Freed from the condemnation of all inherited weakness and sin. R504:2, 225:3

The One who "condemned sin in the flesh" has accepted us as new creatures, justified us, and has admitted us as members of the family (prospectively) of the Royal Priesthood. R4656:4

"The Father himself loveth you." (John 16:27) R3944:4, 1141:4; F184

"Their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord." (Isa. 54:17) R3052:4

God receives to everlasting life and to his family on any plane of existence only those who are perfect. R5959:6

Consequently, if God justifies, no one has a right to condemn us. R393:4

There is no appeal from this, the judge of the supreme court of heaven says that we are justified freely from all things. R193:2

Romans 8:34

He that condemneth -- It is the Adversary. R1141:5

Who shall succeed in condemning? R3052:4

Dare anyone claim that I am still guilty. R504:2

God no longer condemns because Christ died. R485:2

It is Christ -- Will that Anointed One?...Nay. R3280:1

"Shall Christ that died." R5802:5, 1456:2*, 1141:4

That died -- Paying our penalty in full, making good all our deficiencies. E197; R5597:5, 225:3

The followers of Jesus know that their sins are forgiven, and that nothing in the past can stand against them. R4656:1

Jesus was man's substitute, in the sense that he met in his own person the penalty which God's broken law had charged against us. R485:2

It is the merit of his great sacrifice that speaks our justification.

R3280:1

That is risen again -- The glorified and highly exalted Christ. E197

At the right hand -- In the position of favor and power. A92; R1141:4; CR451:5

Intercession for us -- Applying on our behalf a sufficiency of his own merit to cover all our blemishes. F184

Not in the sense of pleading with the Father to do for us what he already planned and arranged to do. R1141:4

The Greek word signifies to deal or to show cause. R791:5

For us, Christ Jesus does not pray or entreat with the Father for our acceptance. R791:5

Romans 8:35

Who shall -- The blessed assurance of faith. R2093:2, 1949:2,4

Only our loss of confidence in the Lord and our unfaithfulness. R3232:1

Separate us -- The conduct of one could not send another into the second death without his cooperation. R4831:1

Neither should any of these things (poverty, sickness, loss of friends or other ill) separate God's children from one another. R657:4*

Love of Christ -- Christ's special love of the Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

Cease our love for the Lord, renounce his name and his cause and follow no longer in his footsteps. F184

"In the world ye shall have tribulation, but in me ye shall have peace."

(John 16:33) R1141:6

For thy sake -- For Christ's sake. R212:1*

We are -- A prophecy from Psa. 44:22 applicable to the entire Christ. R5173:4

Killed -- We have no time for concerts, games, science, art, music, etc., because all our time, money and talents are consecrated to be sacrificed from self to the Lord's service. R443:4

All the day long -- The Gospel age. R5173:2

The antitypical Day of Atonement. R5173:2

We -- The Little Flock only. R3868:2, 5947:2, 5865:1; Q522:2

The glorified Bride class. R5439:4; CR17:3; SM126:2, 361:2, 727:T

By knowledge. R5065:6

By more grace from the Lord. R2590:6, 2568:5

More than conquerors -- "More than overcomers." R5584:5

Victors in the highest sense. R5285:2

Loyal in the highest degree; in thought, word and deed. R4325:2, 5865:2, 5439:4, 5359:1,4, 5094:6

The selected ones, the ones who stand the tests, and prove faithful.

R4745:5, 4904:5

Those who put away all things contrary to the divine will--to the end.

R5584:5, 5002:1

They must have that love which inspires to the willing, joyful sacrifice of every earthly hope and ambition and which gladly lays down even life itself for the brethren. R5757:6; Q522:2

Much more than merely refraining from sinful things. Q138:2

Those who go into this self-sacrifice voluntarily. R5371:3

Represented by the Lord's goat. R3868:1

Those who exercise faith, hold to the divine promises, walk to the best of their ability in the footsteps of the Lord, and trust in the covering of the merit of our Redeemer. SM763:1

To do something more, something greater, than to enter eternal life by the skin of the teeth. Q138:2

"The Little Flock"--and the conquerors, the "Great Company"--we recognize both of these as being of the Church of Christ, the Church of the first-born. R4654:1

All who now enter the narrow way are compelled to fight a good fight, to contend earnestly for the faith, to resist the devil, if they would secure the greater prize of our high calling. R2590:6

Instead of palm branches representing victory, they have crowns which represent victory on a higher, grander plane. SM727:T

Perfect love can bear up under all circumstances and by God's grace, bring us off conquerors. R4919:1

Not all who love righteousness and hate iniquity would be so zealous for the service as to be esteemed worthy of the Little Flock. HG752:3

Different degrees of blessings have been promised to the faithful overcomers and special blessings to the still more sacrificing. CR11:3

The priestly tribe of Israel was divided into two classes, the priests and the Levites, and likewise the Church is composed of two classes. R5166:6, 3868:1

Through -- In. R1007:3

Romans 8:38

That neither death -- Which often consigns to forgetfulness the friendships of this life. R1820:3

Which to his loved ones will mean our blessed "change." R5862:5

Nor life -- Which means further opportunities for suffering with him that we may also share his glory. R5862:5

Nor angels -- With all the superior charms of their purity and glory. R1820:3

Nor principalities -- These cannot harm us who are sheltered in Christ. R5862:5

Nor powers -- The powers of darkness arrayed against us. R1820:3

We may not surely know how many grades of angels there are. SM487:1

Nor things to come -- For "all things shall work together for our good." R5862:5

Nor height -- Of temporary exaltation. R5862:5, 1820:3

Nor depth -- Of trouble or sorrow. R5862:5, 1820:3

Any other creature -- For he has promised to keep the feet of his saints. R5862:5

Separate us from -- Each member is at liberty to go back wallowing in the mire, like the sow that was washed, yet if he choose to remain, none shall be able to pluck him out of the Father's hand. SM11:T

Love of God -- Grace. SM11:T

His love will not permit others to separate us from his favor contrary to our own will. R1458:3

Not only should we be inseparable from the love of God, but we should love those begotten by God. R31:5*

In Christ Jesus -- All God's love and mercy and blessings come to the race in and through Jesus and his work. R687:2

Romans 9

Romans 9:2

Great heaviness -- Because Israelites, Paul's brethren according to the flesh, were so foolish and blind as not to perceive the great favor offered to them. R1140:4

Romans 9:3

I -- The Apostle Paul. R4692:1

Accursed from Christ -- Cut off from membership in the Body of Christ.
R4692:1, 4278:4, 3182:6

Put down on the plane of the "Great Company." R4692:2

Have my share with the earthly restitution class. R4278:4

Not that he would wish to suffer eternal torture for them, nor that he would wish to be cut off in the second death for them. R3182:6

"Absalom, would God that I had died for thee." (2 Sam. 18:33) This finds two parallels in the Scriptures, Moses' expression when the people came under divine displeasure, and Paul's similar sentiment. R4278:2

For my brethren -- If I could thereby bring that glorious position to my brethren. R3182:6, 4892:1, 1696:3

So that as a whole nation the Israelites would constitute the Royal Priesthood and become Israel on a spiritual plane. R4692:1

The Apostle loved the Jewish nation with an intense love. R3182:5

It would be well for each of us to cultivate that trait (unselfishness) to a greater degree. R4692:2

This is not an example for us, that if we could bring some of our children or friends into the truth we would be willing to be cut off for the benefit of these. R4692:2

Kinsmen -- The Jews. R4692:1

Romans 9:4

Who are Israelites -- Representatives of the whole twelve tribes. C252
Members of the household of faith, heirs of the promises. R2730:1

To whom pertaineth -- Adoption as sons was primarily the inheritance of Israel. E177

All of God's arrangements seem to have been to the Jew first, and then also to the Gentile. PT383:2*

The blessings of the Law Covenant and its promises of life were only to the one nation. R1725:1, 5046:1

The adoption -- As sons, joint-heirs with Christ. E177

And the glory -- Paul's brethren, according to the flesh, were so foolish and blind as not to perceive the great favor offered to them first, as another and last mark of special favor. R1140:4

Giving of the law -- The Law Covenant, its blessings and curses. R1725:1

And the promises -- The elect Church, in the prophecies, was counted in the Messianic promises--as members of the Body of Messiah. R2996:2

The blessings of the Covenant and its promises of life were to one nation, Israel. R5046:2

Romans 9:5

Who is over all -- Jesus was the forerunner; none could precede him, all who would be associated must be followers and under his control. R3192:5
Head over the entire Church. R3192:5, 2996:2, 1855:1, 557:1; OV28:3

The Church will never be on an equality of position with Christ. R5359:4

Blessed for ever -- The death of Christ in itself is not the medium of blessedness, but the death of Christ prepared the way for untainted life, which is the cardinal element of blessedness. R1436:4

Christ is the Root of the medium of blessedness for all nations of the earth. R1436:4

In the complete medium of blessedness there are natures both human and divine, in those natures there are many ranks and from the lowest to the highest of them Christ is over all. R1436:5

Romans 9:6

Taken none effect -- Their failure as a nation to obtain the chief favor implied in the Abrahamic promise does not make the promise of God a failure. R1140:4

Not all Israel -- Not all Israelites indeed, children of God. C62; B86; R5338:6, 821:2

Our Lord recognized this same distinction between natural and true Israelites: when receiving Nathanael he declared, "Behold, an Israelite indeed. (John 1:47) R2443:1

"He is a Jew which is one inwardly, and circumcision is that of the heart." (Rom. 2:29) R2443:1

Children of Abraham according to the spirit, such as share the Abrahamic disposition of faith and obedience. B86

Some children of Jacob were really of their father, the Devil. (John 8:44) R4781:3

"I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are of the synagogue of Satan." (Rev. 2:9) R2443:1

In harvest time of their respective ages, the truth then due accomplishes the separation, and makes manifest which are real and which of the merely nominal Israel. B205

Which are of Israel -- Nominal fleshly Israel. B86, 205; R1009:1, 821:2
Of the whole twelve tribes. C293; R1341:1

Abraham -- A type of God. R161:1, 1140:6, 905:2; F170

Isaac -- A type of Christ. F170; R2857:2, 1140:6, 905:2, 161:2

Romans 9:8

That is -- Ishmael and Isaac, illustrated the fact that the natural seed of Abraham would not inherit the chief blessings. R1140:5

Of the flesh -- Nominal fleshly Israel, the Jews. D23; R1140:5, 201:2, 184:5

"Israel after the flesh." (1 Cor. 10:18) R184:5

The twelve tribes of Israel, typed by Ishmael. R201:2, 1140:5

Children -- Not one child. R22:5*

Children of God -- God is the father of the spiritual seed, the spiritual Isaac, which is Christ, Head and Body. R905:2

Of the promise -- Nominal spiritual Israel. D23

The Gospel Church, as the spiritual seed of Abraham, are the chief inheritors. R1850:2, 1140:6, 99:4*, 22:5*

Of faith; typed by Isaac. R201:2, 1140:5

"We brethren, as Isaac was, are the children of the promise." (Gal. 4:28)

R99:4*, 22:5*

Counted for the seed -- "If ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29) R201:2, 161:2

Romans 9:11

Being not yet born -- Paul states this divine decision was made before either Jacob or Esau had done anything bearing upon the choice. PD28/41; R612:4

So that it might be evident that the election was not because of merit or demerit of either, but of God's unconditional choice. R612:4

Purpose of God -- All the results were foreknown to God. R5198:4

To election -- Not that one go to heaven, and the other to hell. R257:1, 532:6

Jacob and Esau typically show how the natural seed, though the first developed, failed to receive the choicest blessing. R184:3

It was said -- At the birth of the two men. (Gen. 25:23) R5198:4, 3954:2

The younger -- Illustrating that spiritual Israel would be developed after natural Israel. R2443:1, 1140:5

The Gospel Church, though younger, is to take precedence to the Jewish house. R1624:6

This is an indication of God's foreknowledge of the difference in the characters of the two. R3954:2

Romans 9:13

Jacob -- A later-born granted the more honorable place--heir of the Abrahamic promises. R1140:5; F172

Representing spiritual Israel. F172

It was Jacob that suffered tribulation; so the present is the time of discipline to the chosen ones. R1141:6

Have I loved -- Because of his reverential love for God and the great oath-bound promise. R5198:4

Favored. F172

Esau -- Set aside as unworthy. R1140:5

Representing natural Israel. F172

Have I hated -- Loved less. R5240:6, 532:6, 257:1, 5:5; F172

Fleshly Israel have I favored less. F172

Romans 9:15

Mercy on whom I will -- Not predestination as taught by Calvin. R403:1*, 220:6

It being entirely proper to discontinue favors to those who would not use them, and to extend them to others. F171

Romans 9:16

It is not of him -- But it is to him, when called. A195; R613:5

That sheweth mercy -- In imputing to us the merits of Christ, as the covering of our inherited weaknesses. R1458:4, 2001:1

Kindness or favor, that God gave them the invitation to the divine nature.

A190; R1225:4, 612:4

It is by our running that we obtain the prize, but of God's mercy. R2001:1

God is the originator of our salvation upon whom all depended, yet in his plan it lies with us to "work out our own salvation with fear and trembling." (Phil. 2:12) R2001:1

Not because these chosen ones were better than others that God selected them, but because God had a right to do as he pleased with his own. R612:4

I raised thee up -- By removing other heirs to the throne so that this obstinate one might rule. F175; R2911:2, 1652:4, 1651:2; PD33/44

Pharaoh thus was given an opportunity of illustrating certain great principles along the lines of which God was dealing. R5305:3

A stubborn ruler; one whose heart was hardened by God's mercy, in lifting one plague after another. Illustrating the principle that God's great blessing to man--a free will--may be perverted by Satan to work great injury. R5263:3, 1652:4

God set him there at that time, not that he might influence Pharaoh to evil, but that he might show the influence of an unregenerate heart.

God permitted the world to have a variety of governments. R5305:2

Shew my power -- Show forth his power in connection with the deliverance of his typical people Israel. F174 Manifest God's power of deliverance against all opposition; a type of the ultimate deliverance of all his people from sin. R1225:5, 2911:2

Romans 9:18

On whom he will -- Executing suzerain authority amongst his convicted creatures in such time or manner as he chooses, but never coercing or violating the human will. F174

He hardeneth -- By exhibitions of mercy for which they are unappreciative. R2911:2

Romans 9:20

Who art thou -- From nothingness all were created by the same divine power; none has a right to dictate to God. R612:4; A191

Repliest against God -- Some mistakenly think God should make no difference in bestowing favors among his creatures; thus all should eventually have divine nature. A187; R612:1

We would not question Jehovah's absolute right to do what he will with his own. R244:4

Made me thus? -- God had a right, if he chose, to make us merely the creatures of a brief space of time. A189; R612:2

Whatever the potter shall do to the clay, will be an honor to the clay. SM712:2

All were created by the same divine power, some to have higher nature and greater honor, and some to have lower nature and less honor. A190

Him that formed it -- The sovereign right of the Creator to elect whom he will to certain offices, or to perform a particular work, is undeniable. R623:5

Romans 9:21

The potter -- Knowing him, as he reveals himself in his Word, we have the assurance that his work is perfect; that the variety of vessels in his creation will all be to his praise. SM708:2

In some sense of the word his great work began with our Lord and the apostles. SM710:T

The choice of which shall be which is with the Potter. SM708:1

Power over the clay -- God has a right to do as he pleases with his own. A190; R623:5, 612:4, 422:4; SM708:2 Adam and his race are the clay in the hands of the Potter. SM709:2

The clay is the same for all of these vessels. SM708:1

God has begun the good work in us, if we submit ourselves to him properly, he will complete the good work unto the day of Jesus Christ. SM708:1

Though God's promises were handed to Israel, he had a perfect right to make such selection as he saw fit, for the high calling. R1225:3; F171

Without the exercise of his power and skill, the clay would never be anything more than clay. So if he makes of mankind, in the Millennium, vessels of more or less honor, it will be a blessing indeed and none will have cause to complain. SM712:2

The application of this text, as a proof that God caused any man to sin, is wholly wrong. R1225:6

Of the same lump -- Of the Adamic family, God made choice of the nation of Israel. They were specially prepared for the moulding influence of the holy Spirit at Pentecost. SM709:3

One vessel -- Some will have more honor, some less. SM709:1

But none evil, devilish, or bad. SM709:1

Unto honour -- The elect company. R1872:2

Artistic vessels; represented in the Scriptures as the Body of Christ, the Lamb's wife. SM710:T

Graceful ornaments; a vase for the mantel, a loving cup, or a ewer for carrying water. SM708:1

Each vessel of the class now being developed, has his own special fitting and preparation, for his place in the Kingdom. SM711:1

Vessels of a certain kind, quite honorable, too, were formed during the Jewish age; those whose lives were shaped by their faith in God and his promises--Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the prophets. SM710:T; R1225:5

Unto dishonor -- Unto less honor. A190; R1872:2

Lesser honor; however, of great usefulness in his plan and purpose--He will proceed during the coming age to prepare these other vessels. SM710:1
Without honor. R612:4

As Esau and Ishmael. R1225:4

Romans 9:22

What if God -- The fact that God has refrained from manifesting outwardly either his love for the Church, or his wrath against evil-doers, is no argument against the lesson he is teaching. SM714:2

To shew his wrath -- The "wrath to come" (Matt. 3:7), did come upon the nation because of its rejection of Messiah. R2564:1, 2236:6

Longsuffering -- Greek, makrothunia, patience. R2790:6

God has endured or permitted a continuance of sin and sinners in apparent contradiction to his law, manifesting longsuffering toward subjects of destruction. R3433:6

Vessels of wrath -- The Jewish nation. R3433:5, 2564:1

"Wrath to the uttermost against this people." (1 Thes. 2:16) R3433:6

Earthly kingdoms, having served their purpose, are vessels of wrath, fitted for destruction. (Rom. 9:22) R470:6

Vessels which, after experiencing the potter's care and skill, prove defective, blemished, unfit for use. These represent such as receive the grace of God in vain. (2 Cor. 6:1) SM715:T

Some vessels that resist the moulding and shaping influences of the great Potter will be vessels for destruction, unfit for his service in any capacity. R1872:2

Those who sin willfully after coming to a knowledge of God's gracious plan in Christ. R1225:6

At the close of this age, when the vessels fitted for destruction will be recognized as having gone to the second death. SM716:1

To destruction -- The collapse of their (Jewish) national polity in 69-70 AD. R2564:1, 3433:6

The vessels fitted for destruction met with their destruction, the chaff was consumed in that fire. R3433:6

Because unwilling to grasp the Lord's proffered favors. F171

Death, not eternal torment. R3433:5

Vessels of mercy -- "Israelites indeed" to be the nucleus of the Gospel Church. R3433:6

Fit for glory; joint-heirs with their dear Redeemer. SM716:1

Romans 9:25

I will call them -- Those from among the Gentiles who formerly had not been recognized by the Lord. C296, 297; R1341:5

My people -- "They are not all Israel which are of Israel." (Rom. 9:6)
C62

Eventually, the name "Israel," meaning "People of God," will apply to all who are God's people. D654

Romans 9:27

Concerning Israel -- Showing that God foreknew how his favors to natural Israel would result. F171

Children of Israel -- Representatives of the whole twelve tribes. B206; C252, 293; R1341:1, 862:5 As the sand of the sea -- The mass of Israel professed to be the Lord's people, but piety was little more than profession. R2674:2

A remnant -- A comparatively small proportion of the whole. R2948:1; B205 From the remnant of both houses, a new house is formed. R518:5*, 862:5 The apostles, the early Church, etc. R1341:2

Probably constituted not above 20,000, during our Lord's ministry, and the ensuing 37 years of the Jewish harvest. R4298:2

Although the apostles filled Jerusalem with their doctrine, a comparatively small number were ready to receive the good messages. R2948:1 These became the nucleus of spiritual Israel. R4298:2

The Apostles and early disciples, received the increase of knowledge and privileges then due to the Gospel age, while all the rest of Israel were blind. R599:6

Only the remnant of that nation, which make peace quickly, in the way to judgment, were delivered. R1713:2

The work is great here, as it was in the end of the Jewish age; yet only a Little Flock will be gathered. R2674:2

As favor continued to individual Israelites, after national rejection, so after rejection of the Gospel house, favor to individual saints is still continued. R599:6

Israelites are still God's people, it is still his purpose to use them as a light to the Gentiles. R752:5

Shall be saved -- From the predicted blindness. R1696:3, 1795:1, 1713:2

The blindness which happened unto all Israel except the elect remnant, after they as a nation and individually rejected Christ. R1769:5

As respects their relationship to the Kingdom class. R4298:2

Romans 9:28

For he will -- In the harvest of the Jewish age. B70; R116:4*

Finish the work -- Of testing the Hebrew nation. B70

And cut it short -- In the midst of the seventieth week of favor. (Dan. 9:26) B70; R116:4*

It gave that remnant three and a half years of exclusive attention and ministrations, under the increased advantages of the spirit dispensation. B70

In righteousness -- Justly, by confining the favor to the faithful Israelites indeed for the balance of the seventieth week. B70

God did them no injustice, but a great favor by casting off the nation there and completing the ministry in the midst of the week. Q108:T

A short work -- The period of time in which the present institutions will be ousted, and the present order of things be condemned. R5567:1, 5569:1

The work of crushing will steadily continue until its full accomplishment. R5632:2

Just how short the work will be would be conjectural. R5567:1

"For the elect's sake those days shall be shortened." (Matt. 24:22) R5569:2

The gathering of the nations will make the great tribulation a short, as well as a decisive conflict. D272

It must, however, last long enough to teach humanity a lesson never to be forgotten. OV321:3

Had left us -- Israel, representatives of the twelve tribes. C252

A seed -- A remnant; a few ready to receive the spirit of adoption.
E177; R116:5*

"Even so then, at the present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace." (Rom. 11:5) R116:5*

Romans 9:30

Gentiles -- Heathen nations. R1970:1

Of faith -- The selected ones are not entitled to the honor by reason of ability but by their faith and obedience, according to favor (grace).
R1225:5

Rebekah accepted the call of God in humble faith, but Israel from the outset, quarreled with grace. R752:4*

Romans 9:31

But Israel -- Representatives of the whole twelve tribes. C293, 252;
R1341:1

After the law -- Almost all of the fleshly seed are so blinded by the fleshly promises that they do not see the greater spiritual prize. R201:2

Righteousness -- Justification. R863:1, 681:6

Romans 9:32

Because they -- Professedly Israelites, but not Israelites indeed. R175:6

Works of the law -- Proud of their own supposed holiness, attainments, and ability, in keeping God's Law, the Jews saw no necessity for a sacrifice for their sins. R863:1, 681:6

For they stumbled -- Through pride and hardness of heart. B215

Through unbelief and lack of consecration. R2086:4

They did not recognize his presence among them, and rejected his sacrifice as the basis of justification holding instead to their own righteousness.

Israel as a nation, is really hindered because they expect to be justified by works. R1970:2

So also the nominal spiritual Israel is likewise stumbling. R1255:2

The stumbling is the same for the Gospel church who expect the second coming of Christ; they are expecting an outward display, which will appeal to the natural eye, ear and human senses. R176:1

That stumblingstone -- Israel, feeling so confident that she can approve herself to God by works of obedience, stumbles at the simplicity of the Gospel and cannot believe that "Jesus died and paid it all." R1970:2

Romans 9:33

As it is written -- In Isaiah 28:16 and 8:14. R3962:3, 5817:1

A stumblingstone -- Christ. D557; R1922:4

To both the houses of Israel. R5817:1, 681:6

Many of the weaker children of God, now stumbling with nominal Zion, will be recovered and saved so as by fire, born through great tribulation. (1 Cor. 3:15; Rev. 7:14) R1649:4

The "cross" has been the great stumbling stone now, as in the days of our Redeemer's first advent. R5801:6, 1255:2, 863:1

Israel, instead of accepting of Christ's ransom, they stumbled over and rejected the only way to God. R1970:2

The Scriptures indicate, that the great stumbling and falling away from this all important doctrine is only beginning. R1255:2

Rock of offence -- The doctrine of redemption through the precious blood of Christ. R1970:2, 1649:3

Christ, the foundation stone. R1760:3

To the Jews, Christ crucified for our redemption was, as Paul testifies, a cause of offence. R1255:2

Whosoever believeth -- The promise of a new heart carries forward more than 1800 years and becomes applicable at the second advent. R2503:6

The elect Little Flock of overcomers do not so stumble, but recognize this as the chief corner-stone of the true Zion. R1649:3

Not be ashamed -- Shall never be put to shame, stumble. R682:1

Romans 10

Romans 10:1

To God for Israel -- The whole twelve tribes. B206; C252; R2085:6

Might be saved -- None will ever be saved by ignorance. R5575:4

I do not rejoice in their fall. R1970:2

I bear them record -- I do not accuse them of indifference and willful unbelief. R1970:2

They have a zeal -- The fault lay not in the zeal, which prompted labor and expense for others, but their fault was in the false ideas by which their zeal was inspired. R1071:3

With commendable zeal, but not according to knowledge, missionaries have gone to the heathen from Christian lands, in a spirit of devotion and self-sacrifice. CR19:5; R1071:3; NS19:5

They have great zeal for God, but they have a plan and way of their own, and are thus blinded and cannot see God's way and plan of justifying through ransom. R1970:2

To knowledge -- There can be no salvation without knowledge. R5575:4

Being ignorant -- They cannot see God's way and plan of justifying through a ransom. R1970:2

To establish -- Through a keeping of the Law in every particular. R1970:2

Themselves -- The energetic and ambitious among the worldly, whose motive power was not love, loyalty and humility, but selfish pride, vain-glory. R2368:3

Own righteousness -- Which is impossible in their degenerate condition. R1970:2

Believing their saviors to be such as Socrates, Confucius, Zoroaster, Moses, Mahomet, etc., teaching acceptance before God not upon the merits of Christ, but upon their own merit and righteousness. R864:3, 761:2

The apostles of Satan are not saloon-keepers and white-slave traffickers, but for the most part "ordained" ministers. R5848:5*

Some are active in planting "roots of bitterness." It is necessary that the Church be sifted--tested. R2368:6

Christ is the end -- Or fulfillment. R1729:6, 5047:1, 1970:2, 972:1.

Fulfilled the claims of the Law against all under it. R542:3

Blotting out the Law, "nailing it to his cross." (Col. 2:14) R1724:6, 3752:3, 2121:5

Rightly terminated its dominion. R542:3

"Having abolished in his flesh the enmity of the law of commandments contained in ordinances." (Eph. 2:15) R5047:2

Only to those who have recognized the Lord Jesus as their Redeemer. PT377:2*

Jesus kept all the requirements of the Law and thereby became heir and inheritor of all the blessings which that Law had promised, and thus he made an end of those blessings, so far as others were concerned. Q432:T; R2121:5

The Law Covenant being abolished in the sense that its passing away is arranged for. R4619:4

End of the Covenant based upon God's Law. He will never put an end to God's Law. Q432:T

This does not mean that the divine law of the universe, forbidding sin, ceased at the cross. R1724:6

Of the law -- The Law Covenant. F226, 380; R5047:1, 2268:6, 1729:6, 1725:5

For righteousness -- Justification. R2268:6, 5047:1, 1725:5
We, in him, are just before the Law. R411:6, 3062:2
Christ righteously fulfilled the Law's requirements, and we in him are just before the Law. R411:6
Rightly terminated its dominion. R542:3
Every Jew; no others were ever under the Law Covenant. R3062:2, 5047:2, 2121:5, 1984:3, 1729:6, 1727:6, 1725:5
That believeth -- But not to others. R5047:1, 3062:2, 1729:6
Who become Christ's followers. Q729:2; R4619:4, 4505:1
To the extent of becoming a follower of Christ and consecrating his restitution rights in death a living sacrifice, following the example of his Redeemer. R4505:2
To all such, love is the fulfilling of the Law. R315:2, 542:6
To this class, the Law Covenant was as dead. PT375:2*
The Lord arranged for these to share in the distribution of the blessings of the New Covenant. PT375:2*
To the remainder of the Jews that Law Covenant is as binding as it ever was. PT377:2*; Q167:2
It is not surprising when we remember their early prejudices in favor of the Law, that the spirit of truth was able to guide them but slowly into the full truth on this subject of the Law. R972:1

Romans 10:5

Moses describeth -- In Lev. 18:5. R282:3, 5072:5, 1970:2, 1724:5, 789:1, 454:6
The law -- The Law given to Israel at Sinai. R682:3
That the man -- Christ Jesus only. R1725:2
Doeth those things -- Does right according to the Law shall continue to live, and not die. R1970:2, 5465:3
Applies to all Israelites under the Law, even to this day. Q174:4; R4696:2
These were the conditions of the Law Covenant. R4330:3
They could not keep the Law. R410:6
The Law Covenant proposed everlasting life upon the terms of keeping the Law. R5072:5, 5128:1
In the Old Testament, there is no promise of eternal life, except in the Law given to Israel. SM43:4
The New (Law) Covenant, like the old one, will require obedience to the letter of the Law of God. R4442:2, 4760:6; CR326:4
It will be a gradual work: as they come into the terms of the New Covenant they will be blessed with life. R4760:6
The promise is a conditional one, the promise is that we shall abide in his love, his favor, whoever accepts of Christ's death. R4911:1
Shall live by them -- Have the right to everlasting life. R5128:1, 4869:4, 1725:3, 573:2; Q197:T
By reason of their obedience would never die. R454:6, 573:2

The favor under the Law Covenant was, that if any Jew could keep the Law he should have a right to life, and should never die. R503:2

The same law which guarantees that the disobedient shall die, guarantees also that the obedient will live. R573:2

Since Moses thus wrote, none have succeeded in meriting life. R1970:2, 887:1*

Israel's hopes were soon blighted, for one after another died, giving evidence that none of them kept their part of the Covenant fully. R789:1

The right to live was secured by Jesus by obedience to the Law. R4905:4, 5342:4

God gave this Law to the Jewish nation, whose typical sacrifices foreshadowed the real sin-offering. R4765:5

By faith the Church now begins to enjoy this conditional promise, which depends upon their faithfulness to the end--their patient endurance.

R4911:1

Of faith -- The Christian exercises faith in the Gospel message. R5409:5

This thing is not hidden from them, neither is it afar off--difficult to understand. R1970:3

Speaketh on this wise -- As Moses also said. (Deut. 30:11-14) R1970:3

Say not -- Those who banish prejudice and exercise faith will not say. R1970:3

A Christian does not ask how any one could go to heaven to bring Jesus down to earth, or go to the grave to bring him up, a Christian will accept the facts as they are. R5409:5

In thine heart -- Some were doubting that Jesus was the Messiah and was put to death and then rose again. R5409:5

Who shall ascend -- Who ascended. R1970:3

Into heaven -- Jesus came from above; holy, harmless, undefiled. R5409:5

To bring Christ down -- To be our Redeemer. R1970:3,4

Such, having the ear of faith, already have their declaration of the divine will in the person of Christ. R3071:5

Romans 10:7

Or, Who shall descend -- Or who descended, into the grave to bring Christ back from the dead. R1970:3

To bring up Christ -- To instruct us. R3071:5

From the dead -- God recognized the merit of Jesus' work and raised him from the dead. R5409:5

Faith accepts the coming of Christ from above, his death, his resurrection and ascension. R1970:3

Romans 10:8

The word -- The truth which we preach. R1970:3

Is nigh thee -- Not far off, not pertaining to another age, but obtainable now by faith. R3071:5

And in thy heart -- Reasonable and plain to be understood, finding abundant foundation in the words of Jesus and the prophets and apostles. R1970:3

With thy mouth -- Confession with the mouth is the first outward evidence of faith in the heart. R3071:6

The Lord Jesus -- You must openly and publicly confess that Jesus is Lord--your Master. R1970:3, 2164:3*

In thine heart -- No matter how much one's mind is convinced of the truth, if his heart be stubborn he will not believe. R1970:4

Romans 10:10

For with the heart -- Not merely with the head. R5433:6, 2651:5, 2038:2
That it would thoroughly enter into us, that we be thoroughly convinced by it; to have no doubt. CR155:3

Brethren, get your hearts right, and then you will be able both to believe on and confess Jesus as your Lord. R1970:4

It affects anything and everything; it affects all the affairs of life. CR155:5

Heart reliance is faith in its concrete form. R1822:3

One can believe nothing in his heart that he does not to some extent comprehend. R2966:4

There is a way to many a heart if we seek to find it, blunt coarse ways are repellant. The heart must be won before the soul can be saved. R1784:1

Believeth -- Both the head and the heart, the intellect and the affections are necessary faith. R1822:3

With some it is all emotion, with others it is all intellectuality, but neither of these can stand the tests of the fiery ordeal, they must abide together to endure. R1822:3

Unto righteousness -- To a change of heart which aspires to righteousness. R2651:5

To live righteously is one of the best ways of proving our obedience to the Lord. R5436:1, 5476:1

With the mouth -- Following faith comes confession, it is indispensable; those who do not tell others the joy that they have found are not of the kind worthy of a share in the Little Flock. SM763:2

We exercise faith in the heart before we make an outward profession, before we confess the Lord with our mouth. R5497:2

It is not enough that we shall be loyal in our hearts; but the Lord desires a public confession, a witness before men. R5539:4
We have no right to confess him with our mouth until we have believed unto righteousness. R5497:2
Confession is made -- To witness--showing forth the praises of him who called us out of darkness. R5476:1
There are two reasons for the blessing we receive by confession; a witness to the world and a good effect on ourselves. R5436:4, 5476:1
And all the witnesses for the truth must be martyrs for the truth, they must be willing to suffer for it. R5539:4, 5476:4
Our Master said that whoever would not confess him before men, he would not confess before the Father and before the holy angels. R5539:4; 5497:2
Those who are laying down their present life in his service, should be devoted to his praise, the showing forth the glorious character and lovingkindness of our God. R5476:4, 5436:4
Unto salvation -- Whoever thinks that the light he has received in his heart can be maintained without a public confession of it is deceived. R3071:6
Many are weak, puny, sickly, because of their failure to courageously, wisely, lovingly, declare the great things God has done for them. R3072:1
There is no salvation without a confession of the Lord; the two are inseparable. R5497:2
Those who can exercise the faith, but are restrained from telling to others the joy they have found, are not of the kind whom the Lord will count worthy of a share in the Little Flock. SM763:2

The scripture saith -- Isaiah 28:16. R3962:3
Whosoever -- These words apply not only to Israel but to all mankind. R1970:4
Ashamed -- Whoever is ashamed of Jesus, and especially of his doctrine of the resurrection is not in a saved condition. R1970:3,4 Whosoever shall call for mercy and reconciliation, on the basis of faith in the ransom, shall not be ashamed. R923:5

No difference -- Shown under the Gospel. R1970:4
When both have come into Christ. R3356:6
First offered to the Jews, then to the Gentiles--on the same terms. R1141:1
Between the Jew and the Greek -- This shows that no matter how much preference was shown the Jew under the Law, there is to be no difference shown under the Gospel. R1970:4
All -- All who are in Christ Jesus are one. R1696:6

That call upon him -- "When prayer delights thee least, Then learn to say, Now is the greatest need That I should pray." R5382:4

Romans 10:13

Whosoever -- The first blessing of the Kingdom will come to spiritual Israel, the second or earthly blessing shall begin with Israel, yet it will not stop there, for all mankind may become Israelites indeed. D654

Shall call upon -- For mercy and reconciliation, on the basis of faith in the ransom. R923:5

The name -- "There is none other name given under heaven or among men whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12) A100-101

Of the Lord -- It is not only unscriptural, but unreasonable, to say that ignorance is a ground of salvation. R858:4

Shall be saved -- Recovered, to that which was lost. R923:5

Shall they believe -- No one can be a Christian without first having a knowledge of Christ. Not merely a historic knowledge that such a person lived and died and rose, but a knowledge of the object and result of these. R761:4

Knowledge of Jesus and a grateful mental acceptance of the results of his work, constitutes believing in Jesus, as our ransom. R761:4

The world has not had divine approval; the heathen have not had the divine approval. R4989:4

Have not heard -- Sonship has been extended to only a comparatively few during this Gospel age. R1007:6, 2375:2

None can call upon the Lord without knowing of him; hence the necessity not only that Christ should give "himself a ransom for all," but also that it should be "testified to all in due time." (1 Tim. 2:6) R923:6, 3025:6, 2122:3, 690:6*, 76:6*

Every member of Adam's race will be brought to a necessary knowledge, All shall come to the knowledge of the truth. R2122:3

There can be no salvation without knowledge. R2375:2

The call comes through the proclamation of the Gospel, each must hear for himself before he can accept. R5134:1; A101

Without a preacher -- It is the privilege of all who come into God's family to proclaim these truths to others. R5134:1, 923:5

It is entirely proper to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles as well as to Israel. R1970:4

That which Christian people sometimes attempt to do in prayer should be done in preaching. It has not pleased God to save by prayer but by preaching. R5834:1

This does not mean necessarily public speaking, but includes also more private proclamation of the truth and also preaching by the printed page. R5834:1

Our loving Father has provided a preacher in that glorious anointed One, Head and Body. R290:5*, 405:6*

God has never left himself without a living witness in the world. R715:5*

It was necessary that the Church be honored with the Gospel message, in advance of the Millennial age. R3282:4

It was because Paul believed that faith in Jesus was the only way of salvation that he labored and sacrificed to spread that name. R761:4

How beautiful the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace (reconciliation through his blood, the remission of sins) and bring good tidings of good things. R1970:5

"The Scripture foreseeing that God would justify the heathen through faith, preached before the gospel unto Abraham, saying: In thee shall all nations be blessed." (Gal. 3:8) R405:6*

Romans 10:15

They be sent -- The message of salvation thus far is to mankind only; we are not to try to reach the fallen angels. R2185:3

As it is written -- In Isa. 52:7. R287:2, 757:2

The gospel of peace -- Reconciliation through his blood, the remission of sins. R1970:5

Of good things -- To come as a result. R1970:5

Paul quotes only a part of Isa. 52:7; the proclamation of many of the sweetest notes of restitution are reserved until now, during the sounding of the seventh trumpet. R287:2, 757:2

Romans 10:16

Have not all obeyed -- Will not all at first receive. R1970:5

Faith is the result of hearing God's truth. R1970:5

Faith -- In Christ's redemptive work. R1709:6

No man can come into harmony with the divine will without faith. R556:1*, 555:3*

Faith is a necessity to harmony with the mind of God. R555:3

Cometh by hearing -- Not by mental impression; God honors and uses his faithful ones as his mouthpieces. R4345:1

The hearing of the message of the Lord. SM307:2

We must hear this Gospel of the Kingdom in such a way as to commend it to our judgment before we can have faith in it. R1581:6

None can believe except they hear, and none but the believing will have part in the Church's salvation now being effected. R4617:3

Instructing by word of mouth was the mode at first; the transition from oral to written teaching was gradual. R434:5*

Rebekah left the home to go to one she had never seen, to go to one of whom she had heard. R752:2*

By the word of God -- The Scriptures. R1584:3

The good tidings originate with God only. R1581:6

In order to have faith one must study the Word of God and believe it.

Q752:4; R69:4*

There is no intimation in Scripture that there is salvation to any without faith in the promises of God's Word. R1582:5, 555:3*; HG421:4

And hearing depends upon the message of God. CR19:6

Romans 10:18

Have they not heard? -- Shall they not hear? R1970:1,5

Yes, verily -- The Apostle quotes again from the prophet. (Psa. 19:4)

R1970:5

Their sound went -- Their sound shall go. R1970:1,5

The prophets seldom speak of things as future, but as though they were accomplished in the past. R1970:1

Into all the earth -- "All men shall come to a knowledge of the truth."

(1 Tim. 2:4) R2375:2

Ends of the world -- When Paul wrote this, the Gospel could not have reached the vast countries then undiscovered and unknown. R1969:3,6

Did not Israel -- The whole twelve tribes. C293; R2125:3, 1341:1

Know -- Shall they not come to know, understand and appreciate the glad tidings? Yes! But not for a long time. R1970:5

I will provoke -- I will have to provoke. R1970:6

Romans 10:20

Sought me not -- Isaiah speaks pointedly of Israel's rejection of the message. R1970:6

Romans 10:21

Gainsaying -- Self-willed. R1970:6

Romans 11

Romans 11:1

I say then -- In view of the declarations of Moses and Isaiah, showing that Israel will have to be thus dealt with and disciplined. R1970:6

Hath God cast away -- Then comes the reply in verses 23-24; and proof in verses 25-27; grand climax in verses 28-29. R793:4

God did have great indignation against Israel. OV80:3

Deut. 32:26 means that a pleasant remembrance or scent of Israel--"Jews"--has very generally ceased (except with themselves and true spiritual Israel), driving them into their own land as predicted. R2125:2
Trust in the Lord and wait patiently for him, and he will bring to pass all that he has promised. But do not expect it before his time, his fixed time. R1769:5

God forbid -- God hath not utterly cast away his people. R1970:6

An Israelite -- "Salvation is of the Jews" in the sense that a remnant of Jews (the apostles, the early Church, etc.) became ministers of reconciliation to bear the message to the Gentiles. C293; R1341:2
Paul, "of the tribe of Benjamin," speaks of "all the house of Israel" living in his day--not lost, but well known, called "Jews"--living at Jerusalem and scattered throughout the world. R2125:3, C252

Of the tribe of Benjamin -- Probably more of those at Pentecost were of the tribe of Judah. Q172:2

Romans 11:2

Hath not cast away -- Forever. R2212:6

He has merely turned them aside temporarily during this Gospel age. R4453:1

God will yet open their eyes to see Christ. R1729:6

God will remember his Covenant and fulfill all of its gracious provisions. OV80:3

Israel was cast off from God's favor while the Bride of Christ was being selected, but will be reinstated when that work is accomplished. A108; R545:4; OV226:3; HG345:1

Israel is still outcast from God's favor, showing that the Body of Christ is not yet completely sacrificed. R4453:3

John the Baptist and his disciples and Jesus and his disciples announced that the foreordained time when the offer of the Kingdom would be made unto the Jewish nation had arrived. R4969:1

The coming blessings will be abundant to the blessing of all mankind, but to the Jew first. OV66:3

His people -- The children of Israel were under the Abrahamic Covenant long before they entered into the Law Covenant. They are still under those Covenants. R5162:5, 4452:5

Pictured by the rich man in the parable of Lazarus; although the parable does not go on to tell of the release of the rich man (Israel) from his condition of torment, and his blessings which God promised. HG161:6

Which he foreknew -- Formerly recognized and favored. R1970:6
God foreknew and foretold the rejection of Israel for a time, but not forever. OV80:5

The coming blessings will be to the Jew first. OV66:3

Wot ye not -- Call to mind Elijah's prayer against Israel. (1 Kings 9:10) R1970:6

Against Israel -- The same Israel that was blinded because of rejecting Christ; the same Israel that is to be saved from that blindness at the second coming of Christ. R2085:6

Romans 11:3

They seek my life -- Greek, psuche, being. E338

Romans 11:4

Seven thousand -- This probably does not mean there were exactly seven thousand Jews whom Paul considered to be a faithful remnant in his day. Q380:3

Romans 11:5

Even so -- The nation was given up to desolation, but the remnant were to be saved out of the fire. R116:5*

There is a remnant -- A comparatively small proportion of the whole; the great majority being stumbled through pride and hardness of heart. B215
Even as God reserved seven thousand men who did not bow the knee to Baal in Elijah's day, at Paul's time there was a remnant who through God's favor accepted the glad tidings and would not stumble. R1970:6

"He came unto his own, and his own (as a nation) received him not, but as many as received him (individually) to them gave he liberty to become sons of God." (John 1:11, 12) F461; Q172:2

Isaiah spoke of a stock or stump or substance remaining although many Jews would be scattered (Isa. 6:13); Jesus gave power (to the few who received him) to be sons of God; and Paul speaks of those few here. R2371:6

All the true Jews who continued to be recognized of the Lord--all the Israelites indeed--were the Christians who from Pentecost onward have been known as spiritual Israelites. R3194:6

There were several thousand at Pentecost, and each one belonged to one of the twelve tribes. These were transferred into Christ before the host of Israel was cast off. Q172:2

There would not have been so large a number in Israel ready to receive the Messiah had they not been passing through disciplinary experiences, which tended to keep them separate from the Gentiles. Q357:T
God went to the Jews to find enough to enlist under the banner of the Great Physician, showing them that they must be touched with the feelings of mankind's infirmities. However, he found but a remnant. CR209:4*
The remnant was the nucleus of the Bride class. R4969:2
Those Jews who were desirous of doing God's will in the fullest sense of the word were allowed to remain as branches of the olive tree. Those who accepted Christ were made members of the spiritual seed. R5837:5
Only the "remnant" of that nation, which quickly made peace with their adversary (their accuser, the Law) in the way to judgment, (Matt. 5:25), were delivered by God's gracious provision, "the Lamb of God." R1713:2
"Salvation is of the Jews" or covenant-keeping Israelities in that the early Church became ministers of reconciliation to the Gentiles. C293; R1341:2, 25:1*

The Jews ready to receive the Kingdom favor were fewer than the predetermined number. R2622:4
God proceeded as though he had not known the course the Israelites would take: The gospel was preached to them; all the saintly ones were found before a move was made to open the door to the Gentiles. R4969:2
In both the Jewish and Christian dispensations there have been a nominal Israel and a real Israel, chaff and tares undistinguishable from wheat until the harvest time of the respective ages. B205
It is from the remnant of both houses that the new house is formed. R518:5*
A remnant only of nominal fleshly and spiritual Israel stands the test, while the great mass stumble. R862:5, 2371:6
Election of grace -- Who through God's favor will accept the glad tidings and will not stumble. R1970:6
"An election according to grace." The Apostle is speaking of the elect Church, particularly referring to the Jewish remnant out of all the tribes with which this elect Church was started. R3586:4

Romans 11:6

By grace -- Favor. R542:3

This remnant is not saved by the works of the Law, nor because they almost kept it, but by accepting of God's favor through Christ. R1970:6

No more of works -- Not on account of our own merit. R3166:4

Romans 11:7

Israel -- The whole twelve tribes. B206; C297, 293, 252; R2380:3, 1696:3
The natural seed of Abraham was the holy nation; had they been in a right condition of heart to receive the Lord, he would have received them and they would have been the spiritual Israel. Q172:2

Paul is not confining this word to mean only the ten tribes which revolted from Rehoboam. R2085:6

Hath not obtained -- "The Kingdom of God shall be taken from you."

(Matt. 21:34) B119

Because unable, through the weakness of heredity, to keep the spirit of God's perfect Law. R5003:3

The stumbling of Israel, their temporary rejection as a nation. R4969:2

Through unbelief and lack of consecration. R2086:4

Israel failed because they sought the blessing not by faith but by works, this fall being foreknown of God and declared by him through the prophets. R2212:6, 1970:6

According to God's Covenant with their fathers (Acts 3:25, 26), the gospel of the Kingdom was to be to the Jew first. Yet God knew beforehand that, as a nation, they would not appreciate nor accept it. R1795:1

Fleshly Israel lost this, the cream or choicest part of the covenant--the spiritual. R4370:3

Messiah's Bride will be only partly Jewish. PD65/77

The Kingdom heirship was taken from "Israel," the "Jews," and transferred to the nation (the holy nation, a peculiar people, a chosen generation, a royal priesthood) bringing forth proper fruits. R2125:5

But the losing of this better part does not cut them off entirely from having a part in that Covenant. R4370:3

Which he seeketh for -- The best God had to give. D625

To have the best position. R5837:2

The chief blessing through Abraham. R201:2

A share in Messiah's Kingdom. OV342:5, 193:4; R5227:1, 4958:3

The chief place in divine favor and service. A298; B215; R2072:6

The destination sought by the Jews was fellowship with and relationship to God. R5029:1

The best of God's gifts, the privilege of becoming members of the spiritual Israel. R4958:3

The Israelites were seeking for the spiritual, whether they understood it or not. R5295:6

The plan was laid out on the Israelitish basis, even though God knew in advance that Israel would reject the Lord and crucify him and thus not obtain that which it sought (the chief blessing). R5231:6

Although we see yet to be fulfilled certain gracious earthly promises to the natural seed of Abraham, they nevertheless have missed, have lost, as a nation, as a people, the great prize. R2442:6

But the election -- Those of the Jews who came into Christ became of the elect. R5837:4

The Little Flock selected from both Jews and Gentiles. D625; R3026:1

Only the faithful will constitute God's elect. R5345:5

Jesus began his work of selecting spiritual Israel, the spiritual seed of Abraham. He accepted first the loyal Jews. PD35/46

The first opportunity to be Abraham's seed was granted to his natural seed, Israel. An elect company was gathered. This accomplished, God set the Jewish nation aside to select elect from other nations. R5302:1

A remnant of them (Israel) would be the nucleus of the Bride class; the remainder would be made up of Gentiles. R4969:2

During the forty days after Jesus' resurrection, he doubtless showed them that natural Israel was not worthy to constitute the Kingdom class, that therefore only those accepting him had been chosen. R3910:6

Paul points us to the elect "remnant" selected from the nation before its complete disintegration; this remnant being less than the number which God predetermined, is to be completed from amongst the Gentiles. R2615:3,4

Not a sufficient number of Jews were found worthy to complete the Kingdom class; the entire work of the Gospel age has been the calling of this "elect" company from the Gentiles. OV342:6; SM90:1; PD35/46, 58/70

The special invitation went forth to the Gentiles, to "take out of them a people for his name" (Acts 15:14), to complete the predestinated number of the elect 144,000 (twelve thousand accredited to each of the tribes).

R3586:4

In Rev. 14:1, the number of these very elect overcomers is given as 144,000; and in chapter 7:4 the same ones are shown as filling up the special election first opened to fleshly Israel. R3026:1

A remnant of the Jews (the apostles, the early Church, etc.), called a remnant of Israel, became ministers of reconciliation to bear the message to the Gentiles. R1341:2

The remnant, the few, in connection with the Gentiles. R201:2, 3586:4, 1970:6

The "Lazarus" class died, ceased from their former condition, and were received into God's favor. Accepting of Christ, they were received to Abraham's bosom--esteemed the true children of believing Abraham. R1087:1

The carrying of Lazarus to "Abraham's bosom" symbolically said that the outcasts of Israel and the worthy Gentiles became children of God and heirs of Abraham, who typified God. R5005:1

Luke 16:23-31--the Gentile nation ceased to be a beggar, and was brought into a place of favor (Abraham's bosom); the Jews as a nation are dead and tormented in the flame of persecution. R802:3*

The Gospel Church is the higher, spiritual Israel, which gets blessings which natural Israel never possessed, though she was given the first opportunity, but failed through lack of consecration. R2086:4

Rom. 9:23-26, quoting Hos. 2:23 and 1:10, explains that the spiritual class is selected during the time when fleshly Israel has been cast off. C297; R1341:6

Christ is the glory of the Church, the true Israel of God, of which Simeon said, "Mine eyes have seen the glory of thy people Israel." (Luke 2:30-32) R2126:1

Hath obtained it -- "As many as received him." (John 1:12) F177; R3910:6
Became heirs or inheritors of the glorious promise made to Abraham.
OV193:5; R793:5

As many from the different tribes of Israel as were worthy at the first advent were received and given the begetting of the holy Spirit at Pentecost. But the full number was not found in natural Israel. R5371:5
Gentiles are invited to fill up the deficiency in the elect number of Israel, and will be, so to speak, divided amongst the twelve tribes; according to what rule of distinction the Scriptures do not show. R3586:4
The remnant of Israel and those heathen who receive the glad tidings, being justified, not by works, but by faith in Christ, thereby gain the privilege of becoming sons of God on the divine plane. R1970:6
What the nation of Israel rejected was accepted by a remnant of that people, and the foreordained number is being completed from among the Gentiles--the Bride and joint-heir of the King of Glory. R1373:3
On a chart, the plane of human perfection is designated "the prize won by the Christ and sacrificed." R4538:2

Rest were blinded -- Supposing the chief favor to be the earthly blessings, and in pride of heart claiming that as their natural birthright, merited by their works, they blindly rejected the greater favor. B215

To "them that are without," outside the pale of believing disciples, these parables of truth were as dark as the truths themselves, to which the unworthy allowed prejudice to blind their eyes. R1742:4

The nation, through its representatives, the rulers, instead of receiving Jesus, rejected him, and thus identified themselves for the time with the Adversary. F461

In due time, Jesus came, the promised Messiah, not in glory as they had expected, but in a lowly condition, to die for sin. "He came unto his own (nation) and his own received him not"--they crucified him. (John 1:11)
PD35/46

Christ offered himself to this nation of Israel, and (in harmony with the divine foreknowledge) had been rejected. R3139:5

The blind ignorance of crucifying the Messiah was referred to by Paul who pointed out that Israel was blinded and did stumble and fall into the ditch and did not attain the great prize which it was seeking. R2615:3
Stumbled; turned aside from divine favor. R4942:5

The entire Jewish race was blinded and turned aside; fell into confusion, darkness, and separation from God. R5029:1

God was agreeable to their being blinded. R4781:6

Those who discerned not the time of their visitation were blinded, and were forced to pay the "uttermost farthing." Only the "remnant," which made peace in the way to judgment (Luke 12:58, 59) were delivered. R1713:2

The blissful condition of the early Church was calculated to draw the attention of Israelites indeed; thus did the Lord draw some out of the unfit, blinded, rejected nation into the Gospel Church's blessings.

R1421:5 By his prophet Isaiah, God foretold that only a remnant of the nation would prove worthy of the Covenant favor, and that the rest would be blinded (as they were by their prejudices and hardness of heart).

R1795:1

Israel had declared that they would be all that God wished them to be, if only they might have the promise made to Abraham their father. What it was they did not know, although they thought they knew. R5837:2

Those not of the remnant were blinded and broken off from the Covenant promises until after the Gospel age shall have selected the "elect," spiritual Israel. R2380:3

The remainder would be made up of Gentiles. R4969:2

The god of this world will blind both Israel and all nations to the gospel glories. R1971:1

The Law Covenant lives in the sense that its blessings and curses still cling to Israel, as so many assets and liabilities. They are still bound to it, blinded, unless they have died to it. R5047:1

Modern Judaism attempts to neutralize Christianity by claiming that Jesus' teachings (and Peter's, James' and John's) were Jewish teachings which preceded him; all anti-Jewish teachings are of Paul. R2419:2

The Apostle Paul was in some sense of the word a likeness of his race, and the opening of their eyes now shortly due to take place. Amongst the Jews are many who seem to be Israelites indeed, merely blinded. R2118:5

The blinded Israelites are still cast aside, but not forever. OV342:5, 193:4

Not forever, but until the election of the spiritual seed, the Kingdom proper, is completed. D625

Until the completion of the spiritual class. R4958:3, 5302:1

Until the end of the Gospel age. R1729:6, 5047:3; D625

Until Jesus' second coming. SM90:1

As it is written -- In Isa. 29:10. R3962:3

This change in the divine operation was foreknown to the Lord, and was a part of his plan, as revealed through the prophets--that the Gentiles also should be fellow-heirs of the same promise. R2615:4

Isaiah's vision (Isa. 6:10) is somewhat comparable: now again, after the first advent, the nation as a whole was rejected of the Lord and scattered and only a "remnant" were received into the gospel's favor. R2371:6

Spirit of slumber -- Carelessness in heavenly things and carefulness for earthly things. E199

And David saith -- In Psa. 69:22. R4287:6

Their table -- So bountifully spread with the rich promises and blessings offered them through Christ. B215; R5444:3, 4782:1

Of divine mercies and promises. HG440:2

Table of divine favors and truths. R2150:2, 4782:2; OV163:3

The table of divine truth, which God spread for them from the Law and the prophecies. R4288:2

The "rich man's" bountiful table (Luke 16:21) represented the divine promises given, up to that time, exclusively to the Jew. OV163:3

To them alone God had committed the oracles of truth, the prophecies and the types which shadowed forth the sacrifice for sin, and the blessings following that atoning sacrifice. R1971:1

The special promises of God to his Chosen People, who concluded that God must keep his promises to Abraham, and that they would be the Kingdom to bless the world. R4782:1

God's prediction, that Israel would be blinded by their Law, was fulfilled in a natural way. They study Rabbinical fables instead of the Bible, lamenting that they have no Temple, High Priest, altar. C256

Israel has been without spiritual food or drink since its encounter with Jesus three (1,000-year) days ago; Saul neither ate nor drank for three days following his encounter with the glorious risen Christ. R2118:5

A snare, and a trap -- Israel stumbled over Jesus, failing to recognize him as the Sent of God. Of the nation in general the prophet Isaiah declared, "They shall fall backward and be snared and taken." (Isa. 28:13) R4942:6

It was God's goodness and favor toward them that stumbled and entrapped them and prejudiced their unconsecrated hearts; they presumed upon God's favor. R4782:1

Making them proud and arrogant instead of humble, and thus showing their unfitness for a share with Messiah in the spiritual part of the Kingdom. HG440:2

The stumbling, trapping, snaring in the harvest of the Jewish age foreshadowed a similar sifting out of all except a faithful remnant here. R4782:3

Stumblingblock -- The Israelites became proud and vain and imagined that God's favor would not pass them by, and thus they stumbled as a people. R4288:2, 1971:1

They stumbled over the very graciousness of God's plan shown to them in types. R1971:1

And a recompence -- Because of their hardness of heart. B215

The "rich man" class was cast out of favor, into trouble. From then till now, the Jews as a people have been in torment; hindered by their Law prejudices (as a great gulf) from accepting Christ. R1087:1

Romans 11:10

Let their eyes be darkened -- Jews are still proud, their words still stout against Jesus as the Messiah; it is merely their race-pride perhaps which now leads them to acknowledge the great Teacher's greatness, because he was a Jew. R2420:5

Bow down their back -- They were bowed down to see only the earthly promises. R1971:1

They trusted in themselves and despised others; they became arrogant, haughty and self-confident, and hence that much the less the humble-spirited, that the Lord sought, for his spiritual Israel. R4782:1

Romans 11:11

Have they -- The fleshly seed. R1696:3

Stumbled -- The prophets foretold the stumbling of Israel. R4969:2
Admitting that Israel will stumble and is stumbling as foretold. R1971:1

Should fall -- Irrevocably. R1971:1
Utterly. R1696:3

God forbid -- That they should forever remain cast off. R1971:1

Through their fall -- Their failure as a nation to become members of the new creation. F461

Their temporary fall from favor. R1971:1

As the natural seed to which the promise first was made. R1696:3

If all the Jews living in Jesus' day had loved God with all their heart, with all their being, and had made a full consecration, we understand that God would have accepted that sacrifice on their part. R5837:5

The stumbling and fall of both the houses of Israel should be regarded rather as a blessing than otherwise. The rejection of the nominal house was necessary before the call could go to the Gentiles. R177:6

Salvation -- The significance of their fall is rather to be a blessing to the Gentiles than a permanent injury to Israel. R1971:1

The great Covenant blessing would be accepted and realized by some from among the Gentiles, who should be accounted the seed of Abraham to whom pertain the promises--children according to the Spirit. R1795:1

As soon as the elect class shall have been completed from amongst all nations (for probably only ten or fifteen thousand of Israel became Jesus' disciples), the Jews will arise again to divine favor. R4942:6

All the unready of Israel were broken off from divine favor for a time, while the call to the Kingdom was sent to the Gentiles, to take out of them a people to complete the foreordained "Body of Christ." PD58/70

To jealousy -- It has had, and will have, this effect. Since the preaching of the gospel to the Gentiles, Israel no longer goes after idolatries. They seem to be growing jealous of Christianity, claiming Jesus as a Jew. R1696:5

The fall of them -- Israel. R3685:1

Paul does not mention Judah separately, but quotes prophecies against Israel, applying them without qualification or limitation to "all the house of Israel" living in his day. R2125:3

Be -- Is. R1696:6

Results in. R1971:1

Becomes a channel for. R3685:1

Riches of the world -- The enlightenment and blessing of the world. R3685:1

Riches to the Gentiles. R1971:2

It resulted in throwing open to the world in general the opportunity of the high calling. R177:6, 3685:1

The diminishing -- The selecting of only a few, a remnant. R1696:6

The riches -- Bringing in Gentiles to be joint-heirs in the Abrahamic promise and Covenant. R2196:1

The Kingdom was taken from Israel to be given to a people bringing forth the fruits thereof. (Matt. 21:43) R107:3*

The proportionate enrichment. R1696:6

Of the Gentiles -- Jesus said (Matt. 3:8, 9) "God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham." Because the Gentiles had the faith of Abraham, they were raised up. R1795:1

God assured childless Abraham that his children would yet be multitudinous as the stars of heaven, a promise evidently applying to the spiritual seed--The Christ, the elect of God, Head and Body. R2854:1

Their fullness -- The blessing which begins with the return of fleshly Israel to divine favor, will not end with them; through the seed of Abraham all the families of the earth are to be blessed. R2196:1

Israel, like Paul, is soon to be the "chosen vessel in the Lord's hand," as connected with the earthly agencies in bearing the message which shall bless the Gentiles and all the families of the earth. R2118:5

Their restoration to favor, which God's promises guarantee, will imply an abundance of divine favor both to Jew and Gentile. R1971:2

If the cutting off of that people resulted in such blessings to others, how much greater blessings may we expect as a result of Israel's ultimate full regathering to God. R1696:6

The Apostle is pointing down to the end of this age, when God will give to Israel the fullness of his promise under the New Covenant. Q355:2; R2196:1

The Jews will recognize the great Messiah in God's due time--yea, all nations shall recognize him--"The desire of all nations shall come," (Hag. 2:7), after his completion--after the last saint shall have been glorified. OV157:3

By God's grace, the blood of the New Covenant is efficacious for the house of Jacob also, and upon all who desire harmony with God. F461

In the Song of Moses and his blessing of the nation (Deut. 32, 33), he prophesied of Israel's final victories, which shall ultimately be attained by the Jew first and also the Gentile, during the Millennium. R3078:2

"Thus saith the Lord: Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents and have mercy on his dwellingplaces; and the city shall be builded upon her own heap." (Jer. 30:18) HG336:2

The removal of the Jewish ban from the New Testament will mean the reading of it, and the reading of it will mean the gradual turning away of their blindness. R2420:4

If AD 1915 should pass with the world's affairs serene and without the restoration of natural Israel to favor, we could still worship a God so great and grand that none other could compare with him. R5368:4, 4067:6

That Israel's fullness will finally embrace the dead as well as the living is intimated in verse 15. R107:3*

Romans 11:13

Of the Gentiles -- The twelfth apostle. R2823:2

Although Paul was a Jew. R179:3*

Magnify mine office -- Being the Apostle to the Gentiles, I desire to show the importance of the Gentiles in God's plan. R1971:2

Romans 11:14

Provoke -- Stimulate. R1971:2

Save some of them -- Recover some of them from blindness. R1971:2

Romans 11:15

Casting away -- After 1845 years of favor, their rejection of Messiah demonstrated their unworthiness, and so they were given over to blindness until their double, 1845 years, of disfavor should be accomplished.

R5533:1 Thus is seen the breadth of God's plans. We know that there are certain promises made to Israel, which must yet be fulfilled; they are being temporarily postponed. R1971:2

Just as soon as the last few of the "fullness of the Gentiles" (verse 25) have finished their training and qualified, the blindness upon the Jews will be removed and that will mean the resurrection of the dead. CR209:5*

In God's providence the Jews have continued to have such tribulations throughout this Gospel age as to have kept them separate from the rest of the world. Q357:1

Of them -- The bitter prejudice and blindness of natural Israel (rejecting Jesus as Messiah) have acted as a great gulf to separate them as a people from the Gospel message. R5533:2

Paul's comprehensive statement of the entire plan of God in this wonderful and logical epistle to the Romans ignores "another Israel" (the ten lost tribes) because all Jews were "men of Israel." R2085:6

Reconciling of the world -- Receiving the Gentile "wild olive branches" (all nations received the opportunity, not necessarily all people of all nations) into the "olive tree," from which the majority of the Jews were broken off. R5533:3

This blessing (opening the door of favor) unexpectedly given to the Gentiles, argues that God's plans, as we now see them, are broader than we had at first supposed, and include Gentiles as well as Jews. R1971:2
Breaking down the middle wall of partition between Jew and Gentile.

R1374:1, 2086:5

Receiving of them -- Back to divine favor. R1374:1, 5533:3, 177:6
Regathering of Israel. R3938:1

"Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my firstborn." (Jer. 31:8, 9) HG336:2

The restoration of natural Israel is to be brought about through the New Covenant, when their "double" is fulfilled, "their appointed time is accomplished, their iniquity is pardoned." (Isa. 40:2) R5533:3

Though the fleshly house fell, they are to rise again to all that was promised them as a fleshly seed of Abraham (in the Millennial age). R177:6

The true conversion of Israel to the Lord and the truth, will be the start of the world's conversion, when "Many peoples shall come and say, Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord." (Mic. 4:2) R3249:5

"As the dust of the earth" represents the human family who, under the blessing of the spiritual seed, during the Millennium, shall attain Abraham's faith and its reward--life. R2854:1

Some believe that the prophecies concerning the restoration of Israel were fulfilled at the close of the Babylonian captivity; but the prophecies of Haggai and Zechariah and Jesus were all after that. R107:1

Be -- Imply. R1374:1

But life -- For all humanity. R3664:2, 2854:1, 2196:1

To the whole world of mankind. Q165:2; R5533:4, 3938:1; 1365:2

During the Millennial age. R3078:2

Israel's true conversion to the Lord will be the start of the world's conversion. R3249:5 The blessing of Israel under the New Covenant means, not only an opportunity of life from the dead to them, but also a similar blessing of opportunity for all the families of the earth. R2196:1

From the dead -- By a resurrection of the dead. R1374:1, 177:6

To the Jew it will mean the resurrection from the dead--both nationally and individually, both symbolically and literally. R5533:3

The promises are to be fulfilled which were made to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, David and the prophets. R5533:4, 1365:2

In order for the seed of Abraham according to the flesh to realize the blessings God has promised, an awakening from the sleep of death will be necessary, since God is no respecter of persons. R3938:2

God's promises to Israel imply their resurrection from death; and the world in general being reconciled to God and their sin atoned for by the ransom, we conclude that "life from the dead" will come to all. R1971:2

The firstfruit -- A faithful remnant of the Jewish nation was the first-fruit class of the Church of Christ. R5533:1

The firstfruit of the Abrahamic promise would be The Christ, Head and Body. R5533:5

Israel. R1374:1

Israel is merely a first-fruit of the world, the first-favor; and if God has a blessing for them as promised, it follows that he has the same blessing for other nations. R1971:2

The "first fruits" are not the "lump," nor is the "earnest" the "inheritance." The "first fruits" and the "earnest" are indications of the nature of the "lump" and of the "inheritance." R1324:4*

There must be other fruits--other creatures--to follow. R33:6*

Be holy -- Acceptable and blessed of God. R1971:2

The lump -- All of the race of Adam who will return to harmony with God. R5533:6

The mass, the world in general. R1971:2, 5533:5

The "first fruits" and the "earnest" are pledges that the "lump" and the "inheritance" will follow. R1324:4*

Is also holy -- As the firstfruit growing out of the root of the Abrahamic covenant is holy, so is the entire fruitage. R5533:5

God will see that all the crop is holy. CR340:4

The root -- The promise to Abraham (covenant). R5963:6, 5837:2, 5533:5, 3194:5, 2931:4, 793:5; CR48:2; HG440:2; Q172:2

All of God's blessings were in the Abrahamic Covenant which as a root had developed Israel as a nation--the seed of Abraham according to the flesh.

R4497:4

The root of these promises is Abrahamic and Israelitish. R1971:2

The root promise bears both seeds of Abraham, but both are not developed at once. R793:5

Be holy -- If the root or original promise of God made to Abraham and Israel retain its life, it must bring forth the promised fruit--the blessing of all the families of the earth. R1971:2

The branches -- The Israelites had been the natural branches. R5963:6, 5837:2; CR48:2

The living Israelites were branches of that olive tree. Had they been in the right heart condition, "Israelites indeed," they would as a whole have been accepted by Christ as his members. R4497:4

John did not baptize into Christ, but merely unto repentance, bringing Jews back to a condition of harmony with Moses, who typified Christ; then, as natural branches they would not need ingrafting into Christ. F432
At Pentecost, Peter wished his hearers to wash away their sin against the Law Covenant and their sin of rejecting Messiah. Then they would be true Israelites, the natural branches in the root of the promise. R2931:4
Christianity, instead of being a split-off from Judaism, was the proper development of it. R3194:5
"I am the vine, ye are the branches." (John 15:5) R3157:4

Romans 11:17

If some -- Because of unfaithfulness many branches were broken off; the time that they were broken off was during that forty-year period which began with our Lord's ministry and ended with the destruction of Jerusalem. R5023:3; Q403:4

Nearly all of these branches were broken off because of unbelief, because of failure to accept the invitation to the great feast (of Luke 14:16), because of lack of appreciation of spiritual blessings. R3834:1

Nearly all the branches were broken off because of unbelief; and the unbelief was because of an improper condition of heart. HG440:2

Not all--our Lord, the apostles, and many others were not broken off. R2125:4, 793:5

Branches -- The Jews. HG440:2

Natural Israel. R5837:2

The living Israelites. R4497:4

The people of Israel. R3194:5, 2931:4

Fleshly Israel grew naturally out of the root of the Abrahamic Covenant. A292

As branches already in that root they would not need to be grafted in, only to repent of their sins. R2931:4

Every individual Jew claimed to be connected with the Abrahamic Covenant. R5023:3; Q403:4

Representing the 144,000, but they were broken off and their places made vacant, and you and I were grafted in. Q607:T

A time of "fire" or tribulation came upon the chaff portion of the nation, and as a nation, burned them up. R704:3

None of the savages living at that time in Britain and Ireland (without knowledge of God or of Moses or of the Law, or of Abraham or of the promise, or of circumcision) could be here referred to. R2125:4

Be broken off -- Natural Israel proven unworthy to become heirs of the Abrahamic promise. R5837:4

Because of lack of faith in the promised spiritual blessings. R3834:1, 3937:6; Q607:T, 403:5

All Jews refusing to progress and to accept of Christ are represented as branches that were broken off. R3194:6

God spared not the natural branches, but broke off the unfit ones. R2301:3
These branches had already been broken off when Paul wrote this epistle.
Hence, any Jew coming into Christ would have to be grafted in the same as a Gentile. He would have no precedence. R5963:6

The olive tree existed complete in the Apostle's day--then some were broken off and cast away, in order that the wild branches from the Gentiles might be grafted in. R2125:4

When Jesus came to earth, the end of special favor to the nation had about come. If during his ministry they should fail to bring forth good fruit, they would be cut off from the root of promise. R704:3

During that forty-year period which began with our Lord's ministry and ended with the destruction of Jerusalem. Q403:5; R5023:3, 2931:5, 704:3

And thou -- A Gentile, an alien from the commonwealth of Israel. F433

Wild olive tree -- Gentiles. R5837:4

Now God was seeking a spiritual seed of Abraham--spiritual Israelites--to take the place of the broken-off branches of the fleshly house. R3139:5

Our baptism signifies or emblemizes our introduction into the body of Christ as wild olive branches grafted into the approved stock, to be partakers of the richness of the promises through the root. R2931:4

Wert grafted in -- To take the place of natural Israel, the natural branches that were broken off. R5837:4

Believers from the Gentiles would be grafted in. R704:3

The Gentile believers were grafted into the root of the Abrahamic Covenant when the natural branches were cut off because of unbelief. A292

During this age, God has been grafting Gentiles into the places formerly reserved for Israelites according to the flesh. R2301:3

A Gentile may come into covenant relationship with God by being engrafted into the good olive tree. R5776:2

Only spiritual branches are grafted in. R5023:3; Q403:3

To the Gentiles, baptism meant more than to the Jews; it meant all the radical change that is pictured by the ingrafting of the wild olive branches into the good olive tree--a complete transformation. F434 The Apostle shows that the call of us Gentiles to joint-heirship is because those of the Jews ready to receive the Kingdom favor upon the Lord's terms were fewer than the predetermined number. R2622:4

Rev. 7:4 tells of 144,000 who fill up the special election first opened to fleshly Israel. R3026:1; Q172:2

The call of the Gentiles to be sharers in the Kingdom is merely the continuation of the original call. R2702:4

We were all Gentiles by nature, all grafted into the same spiritual seed, so that we make the antitypical spiritual Israel mentioned in Rev. 7, the 144,000, 12,000 out of each of the twelve tribes. Q172:2

Among them -- When Jesus was present, it was the harvest time; their age had reached its full. He selected with his "fan" of truth the wheat and "garnered" it in the Gospel age. R704:3

Those Jews that were fit to stay in were "cleansed by the washing of water through the Word," and transferred from Moses into Christ, and begotten of the holy Spirit. R5023:3; Q404:1

Partake of -- Ever since the Jewish branches were broken off, God has been gathering us who were by nature children of wrath, aliens, grafting us Gentile branches into the real tree through which the blessing is to come. R5023:3; Q404:1

Christianity, instead of being split off from Judaism, was the natural outcome and fuller, proper development of it--the fulfillment of the promises of God upon which the hopes of Judaism were built. R3194:5

The call of the Gentiles to be sharers in the Kingdom is merely the continuation of the original call, and we are called in to take the places of those who neglected so great salvation and privilege. R2702:4

Our call is to fill the places of those "natural branches" of the Abrahamic stock, by being grafted into and made partakers of the original root of divine favor--the Abrahamic promise. R2622:4

The work of this Gospel age has been the grafting into the original root of promise Gentile believers, through Christ united with the Abrahamic root of promise, and inheritors of its richness and fatness. R2442:5

The root -- The promise to Abraham. Q403:5; R5963:6, 5837:2, 5776:2, 5023:3, 3194:5, 2622:4, 2086:5

Paul speaks of the Abrahamic Covenant as a root. This root-covenant bears two kinds of branches (earthly and heavenly); each will bear its own fruitage--the human and spiritual classes in Kingdom power. A292

The root of the tree is in the promise of God--the Abrahamic promise, that the seed of Abraham should eventually bless all the families of the earth.

D651

Fatness -- Their long period of disfavor and casting off is about ended, and they will soon be re-grafted into the olive tree, again share the fatness thereof, and bring blessings to all the families of the earth.

R4656:4

To the ransom, a "great salvation" was added; all who by faith lay hold upon it are reckoned of God as already partakers, as having received of the "fatness" of the new sources of life. R875:5*

Of the olive tree -- The Jewish nation. R3194:5, 5023:3; Q403:4

Fleshly Israel; "A green olive tree, fair and of goodly fruit." (Jer.

11:16) D651

Our Lord and John the Baptist spoke of the Jewish polity, comparing it to a tree at whose root lay an ax. R704:3

The tree as a whole, then, represents spiritual Israel--a few natural branches (the apostles and all Jews who received Christ in sincerity) and the remainder the branches grafted in from the Gentiles. HG440:2

Romans 11:18

Boast not -- Be not puffed up, but humbly and thankfully remember we are occupying the place originally belonging to the natural descendants.

R1971:3

Against the branches -- Israel. R5837:2

Bearest not the root -- The Abrahamic promise. R5837:2

Romans 11:19

The branches were broken off -- The test was upon the Jews: Will you accept Jesus of Nazareth as your Messiah, and take up your cross and follow him? The great majority failed in the testing. Proven unworthy, they were broken off. R5837:4

Before they were broken off, the Jew had an advantage over the Gentile; he has no advantage over the Gentile since they were broken off. Q172:2

Though the parable of The rich man and Lazarus mentions no bridging of the "great gulf," other portions of Scripture indicate that it was to be "fixed" only throughout the Gospel age. R2605:1

Might be grafted in -- God through Peter used the second key to the Kingdom three and a half years after Pentecost. Cornelius and his family accepted the terms of discipleship, the first Gentiles to be grafted into the "olive tree." PD75/89

When the call went to the Gentiles, several at Ephesus were baptized by John's baptism, as though they had been Jews. This was a mistake. Gentiles needed to be baptized directly into Christ's death. PD56/69

During this Gospel age the places of the broken off branches have been filled by called and chosen ones of every nation. R4497:4

Romans 11:20

Because of unbelief -- All except the few who became spiritual Israelites were broken off. R4497:4

God broke off from his favor only such of the natural branches as were out of harmony with the root of promise. F177

The promise was primarily spiritual. When the point was reached of making a positive decision as to whether they would accept God's conditions, few were ready. The cost was too much! R5837:4

Had they been in the right heart condition, they would have been allowed to remain branches in the olive tree, Abraham's spiritual seed. But they were not ready, and hence were broken off. R4497:4

The "rich man" class was cast out of favor. From then till now, the Jews as a people have been in torment, in trouble; they were hindered by their Law prejudices (as a great gulf) from accepting Christ. R1087:1; HG387:5

Israel was invited to be the Royal Priesthood. At Pentecost a few from the tribes responded, and became the nucleus of the Church. The door of opportunity was opened to the Gentiles to fill up the vacancies. R5532:6 Walk humbly, for if because of pride and unbelief they failed and were cast off, God would be as likely to cut off the wild branches under similar circumstances. R1971:3

How careful we should be lest we lose sight of the great value of this favor, and so fall after the same example of unbelief. R1422:3

Thou standest by faith -- The natural seed of Abraham could not be considered his seed without faith, since Abraham was to be the father of the faithful. Some from amongst the Gentiles possessed the faith of Abraham. R2442:3

The "Lazarus" class died, or ceased from their former condition, and were received into the favor of God. Accepting of Christ, these were received to Abraham's bosom--heirs of the promise made to him. R1087:1

Be not highminded -- Humility is the first of the graces. Allow no feeling of self-righteousness to spring up in the heart. R4524:6

The great time of trouble near at hand will include "Jacob's trouble" as well as "Babylon's fall." R2420:5

But fear -- Perfect love casts out slavish, but not reverential fear. R2986:6, 2289:4,5

Many sheep from among the Gentiles may lose their high privileges, if they walk not by faith. R2072:6*

It is not strange that the present harvest witnesses the separation of true Christians from mere professors, as God's Word shows the rejection of the mass, as Babylon. C180

Romans 11:21

Spared not the natural branches -- The Lord rejected, cut off and cast away from favor, into a fire of trouble, many of the "natural branches" of the olive tree, preserving only the Israelites indeed as branches. C180

They were partakers of the merits of the Lamb--yet they refused to eat of the antitypical Lamb; so they lost the opportunity of becoming as a nation the peculiar people of Messiah, the firstborn ones. F461

For centuries the Jews have been bitterly persecuted by pagans, Mohammedans and professed Christians; and much of "Jacob's trouble" is just as hand. R2605:2

Lest he also spare not thee -- In the harvest of this age, God's wisdom tests the "wild branches," and cuts off from favor and fatness of the root (the Abrahamic promise) this great mass of professed branches. C180

Our Lord likened his followers to the branches in a vine, and pointed out that "every branch in me" that bears not fruit, the Father, the husbandman, taketh it away--it becomes refuse, to be destroyed. (John 15:2) R3157:5

We see this fulfilled in the breaking off of the Gentile branches--the nominal church--now blinded and cast out and only the elect few branches, the Little Flock, remaining. R1971:3

Romans 11:22

Behold -- Greek, eidon, consider, understand. R837:3

Know or be acquainted with. A278

Goodness -- Love. R1971:3

The same merit which has all through the present age been efficacious for the Church class is to be efficacious for the whole world, those in their graves as well as those now having a measure of life. R5777:4,5

And severity -- Justice. R1971:3

God is abundant in mercy and goodness, but will by no means clear the guilty. R1971:3

Thus far the world in general has seen only this side of our Heavenly Father's character. R3321:3

Which fell -- From their high privileges. R2036:2

They lost the opportunity of passing over and becoming the Royal Priesthood, the holy nation, members of the new creation, with life more abundant in glory, honor and immortality. F462

Severity -- In the cutting off from those favors of all the unfaithful. R1971:3

Toward thee -- You Gentiles. R2036:2

Goodness -- We get the choicest portion of blessing proffered to fleshly Israel. R2086:5

Manifest by the promise and the blessings it contains. R1971:3

If thou continue -- If you heed and continue to walk in the light. R2036:2

In the harvest of this age, the same wisdom tests the "wild branches" and cuts off from favor the great mass of professed branches whose character and aims and dispositions are different from the root. C180

Shalt be cut off -- From the divine favor and left to stumble in darkness. R2036:2

"So, then, because thou art lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I will spue thee out of my mouth." (Rev. 3:16) C180; R1971:3

And they also -- Verses 23 and 24 answer the question in verse 1. R793:4

Not still in unbelief -- An acceptance of Christ. R5837:5, 953:2

Shall be grafted in -- Any Jew, seeking to come into Christ since the day of wrath upon his nation, AD 70, could be re-engrafted only under the same terms and conditions as a Gentile. R2931:5

Graft them in again -- During the Gospel age the Jew has had the same privilege of coming into the Body of Christ as the Gentile. R5964:1,

2931:5, 953:2; A299; Q172:2

"The middle wall of partition" between Jew and Gentile was broken down. (Eph. 2:14) Jews could not now come into relationship with Christ on any other terms than could Gentiles. R3356:3

Even in cutting Israel off, God is merciful and kind; even though cut off, they may be re-engrafted if they exercise the needful faith. R1971:3

If a Jew accepts the real Lamb of God, in season--during the "call"--an acceptance of Christ would bring him fully into every favor enjoyed by Gentiles; the broken-off branches may be grafted in again. R953:2

As a nation they lost those spiritual promises and were cut off from them; but believing Israelites, as well as Gentiles, may be grafted into the spiritual vine by faith. R201:2

If broken off, Jews would have just the same process of engrafting as if they were Gentiles. They have no patent or inside way. Q172:2

They will soon be re-engrafted into the olive tree, under The Christ glorified. R4656:4

Romans 11:24

Tree which is wild by nature -- Gentile converts are compared to wild olive branches grafted in where the natural branches had been broken off. D651

Good olive tree -- Fleshly Israel is compared to the original cultivated olive tree. D651

The good olive tree was in existence long before Jesus came into the world. It was not the new covenant arrangement, but represented God's favor to Israel as the seed of Abraham. Q172:2

Be grafted into their own olive tree -- After the close of their 70th week (36 AD) there was no difference in the way by which a natural branch could be restored than that by which a wild branch could be ingrafted. R5963:6, 2931:5

God's favor toward Israel as a nation ended at the time of Christ's rejection, 33 AD. A personal favor continued with true Israelites for a further 3 years to the end of their 70 weeks (36 AD). Possibly some sort of special favor continued with them until the end of the Jewish harvest, 69 AD, but certainly no longer. R3356:2

Eventually the same root will bear two kinds of branches--the ingrafted wild olive branches, and the re-ingrafted natural branches: when fleshly Israel shall have his blindness turned away. D651

Romans 11:25

Would not, brethren -- Brethren of the Church, spiritual Israel. B210; R201:2

This mystery -- This secret. (Diaglott) R4370:3

The mystery is this: The blindness and breaking off of Israel will not continue forever. It will only last until the choicest, fittest branches from the Gentiles have been properly grafted on the root. R1971:3

The selection of the Church, the Body of Christ; the carrying out of a part of that plan not previously revealed. R4625:4

Gathering out a special few of the Jews, and of all nations, to constitute spiritual Israel. R4624:3

God is not now trying to save the world, but he is finding the seed of Abraham. CR48:4

In your own conceits -- "That you may not be conceited with yourselves" (Diaglott), thinking all of God's favor and covenant are taken from them and given to you. R4370:3

God's plan is more comprehensive than you have yet appreciated. By showing you that you have not all wisdom, it will enable you to keep humble and to search for the further unfoldings of God's plans. R1971:3

Blindness in part -- To the larger part. R201:2

"Hardness in some measure." (Diaglott) R4370:3

Temporary blindness. R1696:6, 5231:6, 3685:1

The blindness which God sent upon them at the beginning of this age. R4464:2

The Jewish nation was blinded and rejected until spiritual Israel's selection. (A part of a chart entitled "God's Everlasting Law Covenant--Perfection and Obedience Rewarded with Everlasting Life.") R4538:5

In their blindness, the Lord allowed the Jews to stumble, which stumbling would continue until the full election of spiritual Israel. R3962:5

No doubt many Jews are now faithless and unbelieving because of the long period of blindness upon them. R4624:5

Pride, on the part of the learned and wealthy, the religious leaders and theologians, led them to consider the humble Nazarene and his unlearned followers, as impostors. R5926:3

Israel, not having zealously inquired for the new heart and the right spirit, not having sought if of the Lord, was unprepared in heart to receive Messiah, and as a result stumbled into blindness. R2503:4

Simon the Pharisee (Luke 7:36-50) was like the prejudiced nation, blinded with false traditions of men; the woman sinner with the ointment was like the nation will be, receiving forgiveness, mercy. R2626:6

They failed to attain the glorious hopes of participating with Messiah in the promise made to Abraham. R4537:3

God declared and reiterated that the period of Israel's rejection would be seven times. OV80:6

The Jews of our Lord's day who rejected him did not have a full chance because "they were blinded" and "through ignorance" they crucified him. R2116:5

They will leave their national death and come, the first of the nations to be blessed by the true seed of Abraham, which is Christ, Head and Body. R2605:4

The "veil" of prejudice still exists, but it will be gradually taken away as the light of the Millennial morning dawns. R2605:2

The Jews, blinded, prejudiced, with hardness of heart, rejected Christ as Lord and Redeemer, but the Lord will open their eyes and give them a heart of flesh so they may believe and live. (Ezek. 37:12-14) R1467:1

Israel's attempt to keep the Law brought them great uplift of heart, so that when Jesus came a considerable number of them were ready to receive him. But the rest were blinded. OV342:5, 193:4

At his first advent, our Lord awakened faith in those who had the eye of faith to see. In due time, all the families of the earth shall be saved from this blindness, "All the blind eyes shall be opened." R3501:2

When Peter cured the cripple at the Temple gate, his sermon about the "fathers" and Israel's hope and Jehovah's promise drew devout Israelites, "wheat," before the blinding of the nation. R2096:4

The Lord added to the early Church daily such as were in a condition to be saved from the blindness of their nation, the "wheat" ready to be separated from the "chaff" and gathered into the "garner." R2090:4

That the Law Covenant with Israel is still binding upon that nation is evident from the fact that upon their national rejection of Christ they were nationally blinded until the end of the Gospel age. R5047:2

When this Gospel age is completed, the Lord's favor will turn again to Israel, and blindness shall be turned away from them, not for anything of merit on their part, but because of God's mercy and compassion. R3348:5

Israel's cause is hopeless from a human standpoint; but it is in the will and plan of God that "Jacob" will be favored with Millennial blessings as the first-fruits of the nations, saved from blindness. R2076:5

God shut Israel's door to their only hope, but he will open their blind eyes and cause them to see Christ as their Redeemer from sin and their Deliverer from death and their covenant of death. R1725:5

The heart-blindness to the truth which led to the rejection of Israel, and which has ever since stood more or less related to their trouble, is to pass away, shortly, during the second presence of our Lord. HG303:3

The blindness which happened unto all Israel except the elect remnant (after the nations and individuals rejected Christ) began to be turned away in 1878 when the time to favor Zion began. R1769:5

Gradually, as the full number of "the Lamb's wife" is nearly completed, the "blindness" which has rested upon "Israel after the flesh," according to divine prediction, begins to pass away. R1819:5

When their blinded eyes shall be opened, they will fear. It may require time for them to become fully persuaded that the One feared is their best friend who will free them from sin-slavery. SM425:2

Were it not that the Lord has favored us with a share in the work of gathering out the Bride and helping to make her ready, we would be in Jerusalem turning away blindness from Jacob. R1395:5

This is the gospel that must open the eyes of the "blind": that in Christ the sin-offering types of the Jewish Law have their fulfillment and in Christ the promises to Abraham must all be fulfilled. R1786:4

Happened to Israel -- Natural Israel, the whole twelve tribes. B206, 210; C252, 293; R2124:3, 2085:6

Except the remnant which accepted Christ. R1696:6

The majority of the people of Judea were of the two tribes, Judah and Benjamin. Few of the ten tribes returned from Babylon under Cyrus' general permission. But all of the tribes were represented. HG387:1

Until the fullness -- Not at the end of a literal "seven times," not at the end of the seventy years in Babylon, but when the elect Gospel Church, the Body of Christ, has been perfected as their deliverer. B92

The full number to be selected from among the Gentiles to complete the Body or Bride of Christ. B77, 210; A108, 300; C283; R5836:5, 5832:4, 4969:2, 4593:6, 4537:3, 3685:1, 2605:4, 748:5, 384:4, 284:4, 258:6; OV226:3; Q756:2

The full predestined number of the Church to be gathered from the Gentile nations. R5721:4, 3685:1; Q357:3

Blindness will last until the elect Church is complete. R1696:6, 2237:2; C278; CR50:1; PT367:1* The full number to complete the elect Kingdom class must be first found, and then, these being glorified in the first resurrection, natural Israel will obtain their great earthly blessings.

R5101:5

If faithful and obedient to the Lord, the Israelites would have been the Royal Priesthood, made up from the twelve tribes, twelve thousand from each tribe, but they lost the privilege to the Gentiles. Q756:2

In their blindness the Lord allowed the Jews to stumble, and the Apostle Paul assures us that this stumbling would continue until the full election of spiritual Israel. R3962:5

We are now at the dawning of the new dispensation, the Church class will soon be completed and glorified with the Savior in his Kingdom, and then God's mercy will begin to operate toward the Jews again. R5832:4

The time is now about here; the Gospel Church is about complete. R5533:3, 5964:2

Who can doubt that God still loves his people whom he foreknew and whom he has promised shall be regathered back to their own land and back to his favor under the New Covenant! R4931:4

While the Jews were cast off as a people for 1845 years, from AD 33 to AD 1878, was the time appointed for the selecting of the Bride of Christ.

This is the Gospel dispensation. R599:6

In proving that Israel's "double" is completed, that her blindness is about to be taken away, and that her exaltation is near, we are also proving that the full number of the Gentiles will soon be completed.

SM403:2

We now see that their long period of disfavor is about ended, and they will soon be re-engrafted into the olive tree. R4656:4

The Gospel age is to be seen as a parenthesis. As soon as it shall be finished, God's dealings with natural Israel will again be resumed.

R4646:3, 1729:6; CR98:6

Israel's rejection from divine favor is not perpetual except in respect to this high calling to the spiritual seed of Abraham which will be complete in the end of this age. R4497:5

As soon as God shall have a sufficient number to fill up the 144,000, all the work of this Gospel age will terminate quickly. There will never be another one added to the spiritual seed of Abraham. Q629:T

Israel is merely disfavored of God for a limited period--during the time of the calling and approving and acceptance of the elect number of spiritual Israel. R4453:6

Divine blessing shall come to natural Israel just as soon as spiritual Israel is completed. OV342:5; R3854:6

As soon as the great Mediator shall be completed, his work will begin--the New Covenant will be sealed between God and Israel. OV80:2

When the work of selecting the spiritual Church is complete, God's favor will again cover Israel as a people. Now, favor is beginning to come to them, a proof that we are in the lapping time of two ages. R400:2

A Jewish State cannot be restored until the gathering of spiritual Israel beyond the veil. R3855:4, 2237:2

That the Law Covenant with Israel is still binding upon that nation is further evident from the fact that upon their national rejection of Christ, they were nationally blinded until the end of the Gospel age.

R1729:6

After the long period of Israel's punishment (2520 years, the period of Gentile dominion), the blessings will be fulfilled. God will remember and fulfil to Israel the covenant made with their fathers. B90

These have been taken out of every nation: Americans, Europeans, Chinese, Japanese, Indians--in order that no person will be able to state that his condition is such that none can understand it. CR209:4*

Let no one mistake the "Times of the Gentiles" of Luke 21:24 (when the four Gentile kingdoms are to rule over and tread down Jerusalem) with the "fullness of the Gentiles" of this text. They are not the same. HG20:1

When the elect class is complete, all Israel shall be saved from its blindness. R2213:1

Until the Bride selected from the Gentiles has been completed. R4370:3, 2124:3

As soon as the Gospel Church is completed, God's favor will return to the Jews in the full sense. R5721:4

As soon as the Gospel age is completed. R3348:5, 5047:2

When the new creation shall have been completed and the Millennial age ushered in, God's special favor will pass again to natural Israel, from whom it was taken at the beginning of this Gospel age. F119

After the spiritual Israel will have been completed by the change from earthly nature to heavenly nature, God's blessings will begin to come once more to the natural seed of Abraham. R5273:4

Israel is to be recovered to the divine favor lost eighteen centuries ago. R4958:3; Q642:2

All but the elect were blinded until the members of spiritual Israel--the antitypical Moses and his house--should be delivered by the power of God in the first resurrection. R4537:3

Generations after. Blinded Israel is still in hell (the grave), where there is no consciousness; but their blindness will be removed and their sins forgiven, with their living descendants in the Kingdom. R4781:2

The Head, our Lord Jesus, was brought to the birth more than eighteen centuries ago. His Body, the Church, is now being born in the end of this Gospel age by having a share in "his resurrection." R4464:2; CR59:2

Israel was blinded until all of the elect members of spiritual Israel--the antitypical Moses and his house--should first be delivered by the power of God in the first resurrection. R4537:3

The Gospel age and its call might be viewed as an interruption in the divine plan and purpose for Israel and the world. As soon as it shall be finished, God's dealings with natural Israel will again be resumed. R4646:3

As soon as the Gospel age is finished, God's dealings with natural Israel will again be resumed, only on a higher and loftier plane, through the antitypical Mediator, The Christ, replacing Moses. CR98:6

As Isaac was provided a bride before God's people (Israel) were called, so the nation will be blessed, but not until the Bride takes her place with the heavenly Bridegroom. R752:1*

The time of returning favor to fleshly Israel will indicate the fullness of the Gentiles has been gathered in. R599:1, 2831:6, 2361:5

The Gospel Church must be fully come--filled up--before the trouble can begin, seeing that they assist in pouring out the plagues. R389:2*

The time when Israel will bear fruit will be after the fullness of the Gentiles have come in. R127:2*

When the requisite number have been selected from among the Gentiles to constitute the Kingdom class, as promised, then God's favor will again be shown to the Jews as a people. Q793:T; HG387:5

Present indications point to this as a matter of speedy accomplishment. OV364:3

At God's appointed time, a Jew was Premier of England, the famous Berlin conference took place allowing the Jew to own land, and persecuted Jews are returning to Palestine. R357:1

The time is evidently not far distant when their national hope will be rehabilitated and they shall rejoice again as a people. PD53/65

"This is the whole house of Israel. I will bring you up out of your graves and bring you into your own land." (Ezek. 37:11,12) R258:6

The decree of Cyrus permitting return from captivity ignored any division and was to all Israel: it was the remnant of Israel and not merely of Judah that was gathered into the Gospel age. R2380:3

Paul specially addressed some living at Rome, but he quotes prophecies against "all the house of Israel" living in his day, without qualification or limitation; not lost, but well-known as "Jews." R2125:3

"The promise might be sure to both the seeds," not only that which is according to the spirit, but also that which is according to the Law.

There is a double allotment of divine mercy and provision. R3937:5

Two Israels, of the flesh and of the spirit, were typified in Isaac and Ishmael, and in Jacob and Esau. The inheritor of the promise was the younger; spiritual Israel would be developed after natural Israel. R2443:1

After spiritual Israel has been developed as the true seed of Abraham, through Christ, then divine favor shall return to natural Israel, and she shall obtain mercy, according to the terms of the divine Covenant. R2357:6

Means every creature in the outcome. Q505:T

The root contains a double set of branches: first, the select branches (natural and engrafted)--The Christ which is to bless all nations; and secondly, a lower order of re-engrafted branches (Israel restored). R1971:4

Receive the things promised them as the natural seed. R201:3
After the spiritual Kingdom of God shall have been exalted, God's favor will return to natural Israel and they will be the first nation to be blessed under the new order of things that will then prevail. R4594:1
All Hebrews condemned to death under the Law Covenant may be released from it as soon as the elect, the Body of the great Deliverer, the great Mediator, the great Priest, shall have been completed. R4512:1
The "great gulf fixed" will remain unbridged until spiritual Israel has been "sealed" and "garnered." Then Israel will be first to receive the blessing of the "latter rain." R2800:5
We are not to expect their blessing and enlightenment except through the great trouble in which they will share with all others, and out of which they shall be saved and blest by the glorified spiritual Israel. R2631:2
The fact that favor is now beginning to come to Israel is an incidental proof that we are in the lapping time of the two ages. R400:2
The Parable of the rich man and Lazarus only tells that the rich man (Israel) would pass away as a nation (although it remained as a people); it does not tell of the release from that torment. HG161:6, 387:5; R1000:5, 284:4
The rejection of Israel is not permanent. R5495:3

Hosea 6:2 refers to one-thousand-year days. The first thousand of the text began when the Jews experienced their judgments. The third will be when they will be raised to favor in Messiah's reign. Q795:2

Hosea 6:2 refers to the early morning of the third day--the thousand years of Messiah's reign, when the seasons of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord, with rain (Hos. 6:3). Q789:T

The thought in this passage is not that all Israel shall be saved eternally, but merely that all Israel shall be saved from their blindness which came upon them as a people when they rejected Messiah. E469

As it is written -- In Psalm 14:7. R107:3*

Come out of Zion -- The Gospel Church. R4497:2

Spiritual Israel--the Church. R4370:3

The glorified Gospel Church, spiritual Zion. R5721:4, 4370:3, 2605:5, 1000:6, 284:4; HG387:5; Q357:3

Mount Zion, the glorified Church or Kingdom, to some extent began in 1878, when our King took to himself his great power to reign, although the "feet" class were not yet fully developed and glorified. C278

"And the Deliverer shall come to Zion (the Church, 'the body of Christ') and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord." (Isa. 59:20) D558

Before the New (Law) covenant could become effective, the Deliverer must come out of Zion (the new Jerusalem; Sarah, mother of Isaac; Rachel, mother of the child of promise and the child of tribulation). R4454:1

Zion is another name for the New Jerusalem, of which the Apostle says, She is the mother of us all. (Gal. 4:26) Zion was typically represented in Sarah, Abraham's wife, who was the mother of Isaac. R4454:1

The term "Zion" is sometimes applied to Jerusalem, also to its inhabitants; in the Gospel age, it is applied to the entire body of professed Christians, on probation for membership in the true Zion. R1648:3

The man-child of Isa. 66:7 is the Little Flock--the true Zion in God's estimation, the ripe wheat of the Gospel Church separated from the tares in the nominal church here referred to. R1649:1

The firstborn of Zion's offspring--the overcomer and heir of all things.

Before the promised blessings come to Jacob (fleshly Israel) the heir of the spiritual blessings must first be developed. R1971:5

"Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion." (Psa. 53:6)

R238:4*

In this great day of the Lord, nominal Zion will bring forth the man-child and these later children (Great Company). Following the birth of these two classes, will come the birth of the Jewish nation. R5574:5,6

Thus the spiritual children of Zion will be complete, and the blessing will turn to natural Israel. R4454:2

Spiritual Israel has not taken the place of fleshly Israel: her hopes ("better promises") are spiritual, not earthly. She rejoices that fleshly Israel shall inherit the chief earthly blessing. R2086:2

"The covenant with them from me." (Diaglott) R4370:3

The natural seed of Abraham are still heirs of a certain promise of God, which in due time will come to them--the great privilege of being the foremost nation amongst men during Messiah's glorious reign. R5101:5

Abraham will be "a father of many nations," who will be blessed by the Mediator of the New (Law) Covenant, under which they will come back into harmony with God and obtain eternal life through obedience to it. R4436:6

The New (Law) Covenant. R4758:4, 4612:6, 4575:4, 4505:1, 4464:4, 4453:6, 4371:3, 4322:2, 4319:5

The New Covenant with Israel, which will operate more favorably than the Law Covenant. R4497:1

God declares that he has not cast away his people of that Covenant, but that under the New Covenant he will open their eyes to see Christ as the only door of hope of a new life, purchased with his own blood. R5047:3

Paul taught that some blessings of God yet remained for the Jew, but, instead of looking for God's favor through the types and shadows, they should look to Christ and his antitypical fulfillments of the Law. R4484:6

The earthly phase of the Kingdom of God when set up will be Israelitish; for such is God's engagement or Covenant with Abraham and his natural seed. D624

Who lost his higher, spiritual promises, but are still the possessors of certain earthly promises, to become the chief nation of earth, etc.

R2605:4, 1000:6, 284:4

Israel as a nation had certain inalienable promises yet to be inherited as a nation. R1365:1

A future favor for Israel according to the original covenants. R868:3; CR47:2

His promise made to the fathers. SM533:1

Israelites still have this earthly promise of becoming the chief nation of earth. R284:4, 2605:4, 1000:6

"I will build again the tabernacle of David, and the ruins thereof, that the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called." (Acts 15:16, 17) HG336:4

I will remember my covenant with thee in the days of thy youth, and I will establish unto thee an everlasting covenant. (Ezek. 16:60; Jer. 32:40, 31:31) OV43:3; R259:3, 8:1

Compare Jer. 31:29-34 and Ezek. 18:2,4, 20. The New Covenant, the everlasting covenant, is to be confirmed to Israel and Judah, under which they will obtain their long-looked-for portion. E332

Israel has suffered torments since the rejection of Messiah, and will so continue until she shall be restored to divine favor, according to the conditions of the divine covenant. E377

A New Covenant is due to be introduced "after those days"--after the interim of this Gospel age specially set apart for the development of the antitypical Isaac. R4682:6

The New (Law) Covenant promised to Israel, in which their sins will be cancelled and remembered no more, comes at the close of the Gospel age and not at its beginning. R4453:6

This cannot go into effect with Israel until the end of the Gospel age. R4659:2

The promises wait until the multitudinous Mediator shall be finished (in sacrifice and in resurrection glory); then Israel will receive the inheritance for which they have waited thirty-five centuries. R4548:6

Israel and the world shall obtain mercy under the provision of the New Covenant put into operation as soon as the Royal Priesthood shall have completed the appointed work of sacrifice. R4681:2

As soon as the spiritual seed shall be completed, the blessing of the Lord shall proceed from and through the spiritual seed to the natural seed, fulfilling God's promises of an earthly kind so long deferred. R4543:2

God makes no covenants with sinners. After Christ shall have purchased the world by the satisfaction of justice on their behalf, he will have the right to open to them the blessed privileges of the New Covenant. R4520:5

"The time of Jacob's trouble" will soon be over --the time when they will enter into the New Covenant relationship with God will soon be at hand. R4670:1

Messiah will inaugurate this Covenant at the establishment of his Kingdom. R5533:3

Jesus is the Mediator of the New (Law) Covenant, under the terms of which he will shortly establish his Mediatorial Kingdom for the blessings of Israel and the world. R4476:1

We surely have a very joyful restitution message for them--to be attained under their New Covenant. R4523:4

When the sacrificing finishes, the blessed fellowship with God and Covenant privileges will then be given to Israel again, by a Law Covenant which the Lord will make with them at that time. R4354:6

It is the New Covenant which is to be made with the house of Israel and the house of Judah. R3916:5

He cannot mean the Abrahamic Covenant because the spiritual seed inherited it and took the place of the natural seed. R3916:6

He cannot mean the Law Covenant for it passed away--the bond woman and her son were cast out at the end of the Jewish age. R3916:6

With Isaac and Ishmael, and Jacob and Esau, the inheritor of the promise was the younger; so spiritual Israel, heir of the chief blessings (not the only blessing) is developed after natural Israel. R2443:1,2

Their "double" being ended, the recovery of Israel is due and is in progress, and as soon as the spiritual Israel is complete and glorified the light will begin to shine upon fleshly Israel. R2526:1

There are earthly features of the promises reserved for the natural seed of Abraham, and through them to extend to all the families of the earth, that "whosoever will" may become "the sand of the seashore." R2522:5

The prospects of all the unsaintly are entirely earthly--the very same blessings that are promised to the Jews, only these blessings will come "to the Jew first." OV157:1

God's Covenant is in two parts: One, he will write his law again in the heart of flesh, fully realized under the New Covenant; Two, the Abrahamic Covenant shows that the seed of Abraham will bless all. R792:6

The Jews had every reason to expect that God had honored their nation as the seed of Abraham with especial relationship to his Kingdom. Nor will that expectation prove false. The Lord has not changed his plan. HG439:3 Persecutions in various lands are the prods, the "staff" of their Shepherd, to awaken Israel and direct their hearts toward the promises of which they are the heirs. R2946:5

As the Jews begin to really appreciate the land of promise, the rich promises in connection with that land must become theirs, and the inspiration of those promises' end will lead them back to the land. CR157:6 There will be ample space and abundant provision made for the Israelites in the promised land--promised for an everlasting possession to Abraham and his descendants. Q792:2

Israel will have a share in that work of blessing the world, but on a lower plane than that of the spiritual seed. As the natural seed of Abraham, they will be the first to receive those blessings. R4497:5

The losing of the better part does not cut off fleshly Israel entirely from having a part in the covenant. R4370:2; HG387:5

The blessed opportunities of the New Covenant will be opened to Israel, as God promised. Then they will gladly accept the Mediator of the New Covenant and begin at once to share that Covenant's blessings. R4505:1

All nations will be privileged to become Israelites and share in the blessings of Israel's New Covenant. OV72:T; R4436:3

Israel is the nation which God has foreknown to be the one he will use in connection with his work of blessing all the families of the earth. R4624:3

Shortly, Abraham's natural seed will be saved from their blindness and become the beneficiaries of the New Covenant and share the work of dispensing divine mercy to all the families of the earth. R4478:4

Unto them -- With them. R4624:3, 4370:3, 2605:4, 1000:6, 284:4

The nation of Israel, not Gentiles. R4497:5, 4319:5, 2605:4, 284:4; SM368:T

As a prodigal returning to the Father's house. R3361:2

As soon as the Gospel age work shall be finished, God's dealings with natural Israel will again be resumed, through the antitypical Mediator.

R4646:3

The orthodox Jews, those who still hold to the teachings of the Law and the prophets, and have faith in God, will be the first to receive the blessings of the new age. R5721:5

With the second presentation of the blood of atonement in the Most Holy, at the end of this age, the New Covenant with Israel will be sealed and the blessing of the Lord will begin to Israel. R4320:4

When I shall -- When God will. R4625:5

After divine wrath has burned out their national transgression. E357;

R2526:1

The Apostle was referring to the New Covenant promised to that nation, and the fact that their sin should be taken away at the time when that Covenant is sealed--made operative. R4464:4

The time has not yet come. Israel is still under divine condemnation, though we are now privileged to speak comfortably unto them and to assure them that the time for their deliverance is nigh. R4322:4

It is after the Gospel age, when they are pardoned freely for Christ's sake, and restored to the condition of sinless perfect manhood, that the New Covenant comes into force. R4371:3

The Redeemer and his associates will be the Mediator of the New Covenant. R4354:6, 4476:1

The promises are sure as God's word. They merely wait until the "mystery" of a multitudinous Mediator shall be finished (in sacrifice and in resurrection glory). Q179:1

As the great High Priest appeared in the presence of God "on our behalf," so, in the dawn of the Millennium, he will, with his Body, present the ransom-price "on behalf of all the people." R4520:5

As soon as the Church is completed, God's Covenant with Israel, the New Covenant, will be instituted. R4646:5, 4612:6, 102:4; CR99:4

"Until that day ye shall see me no more." Then they shall look upon whom they have pierced; then the Lord will pour upon them the spirit of prayer and supplication; then their blindness will be turned away. (Zech. 12:10)

R2438:1

Whoever touched Israel was dealt with by the Lord while they were in covenant relationship with him. Today, the nation is cut off from the divine protection which was with them, but it shall return. R5626:6

Take away their sins -- Israel is still in its sins and will not be recovered until after the Church shall have been glorified. R4634:4, 4612:3, 4322:4

The time has not yet come, when he (the great Mediator of the New Covenant between God and mankind) will satisfy the demands of divine justice on behalf of the world. R4322:4

Then all Israel will be recovered from their blindness and their alienation from God. R5626:6

Their sins will be cancelled and remembered no more. R4453:6

Their sins will be forgiven, their iniquities pardoned and they will be received back into divine fellowship. CR99:4

To the Jews this will mean their "double" is fulfilled, "their appointed time is accomplished." (Isa. 40:2) R5533:3

Their sins will then be atoned for by the same precious blood which now atones for ours. R4575:4

The sins of the world are not put away until the close of the Gospel age, until the sufferings of the Body of Christ are ended. He who now justifies believers will then justify them--believers in the ransom. R1971:5

Our Lord became the sin offering for us that we might be made the righteousness of God in him--channels through whom his merit would be applied for the propitiation of the world's sins. R4542:6

With the end of this age the great High Priest will antitypically offer the blood of "the Lord's goat" "for the sins of all the people"; and this will include the sins of Israel. (Lev. 16:15) R4505:1

The first part of the taking away of Israel's sins is the satisfaction of justice on their behalf. Their condemnation must be cancelled from the divine standpoint. Then their sins will be put away gradually. R4520:5

The individual sins of the Jew, similar to those which are upon all humanity, not their national sin; it will be a gradual matter. R4612:3,6

"That your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord; And he shall send Jesus Christ." (Acts 3:19,20) Israel's return of favor will be at the second advent. B211

God will open their blind eyes and cause them to see Christ in his true character--as their Redeemer from sin and their Deliverer from death and their covenant of death. R5047:4

The blotting out of sins for the world during the Millennial age will begin with fleshly Israel. R2196:1

The taking away of their sins is a necessity for them, before they can receive this New Covenant. R4497:5

"I will pour upon the house of David the spirit of grace and supplication." (Zech. 12:10) R2800:5, 5234:5, 3361:2, 3249:5, 2438:1

One of the lessons from the book of Hosea is that all "Israelites indeed" must be repentant: "Take away all iniquity and receive us graciously: so shall we render the calves of our lips." (Hosea 14:2) R2491:4

"In that day (when the Gospel age of sacrifice is ended) there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin and for uncleanness." (Zech. 13:1) R102:4

He has not taken away their sins yet. They are still in blindness; but the sins of the whole world are to be blotted out. The new dispensation will be ushered in, and the Lord will favor the nation. HG275:6

The Lord purposed to take away all sins--the sins of Israel, the sins of those who were to constitute the Gospel Church, and the sins of the whole world. For this cause Christ was manifested and died. Q357:4

God will forgive the sins of those coming into harmony with the New Covenant arrangements and remember their iniquities no more and will graciously deal with them as if they had not crucified the Son of God. Q171:3

"I will take away the stony heart out of their flesh and will give them a heart of flesh." (Ezek. 11:19) SM368:T

Concerning the gospel -- The high calling of this age. B211; R2605:5, 1000:6, 284:4; HG387:6

The spiritual part of the Covenant. T33

The remnant who returned from Babylon were separated from idolatry; had they continued to seek the divine will, they might have been ready to receive the new heart required for the spiritual seed. R2503:6

The special favor of the Christian age--a few have received it (verse 5)--but the nation as a whole have been cut off from it. R793:4

They are enemies -- The natural seed is cast off. B211; R2605:5, 1000:6, 284:4; HG387:6

They, the literal seed. T33

Treated as enemies of God. R793:4, 2086:2

For the present. R1971:4

For 1800 years they have been counted as enemies and blinded to the gospel. R4370:3

In the year AD 70, the "rich man," as a nation, died at the hands of Titus and the Roman army. Nationally, the "rich man" is buried, but as people the Jews have been alive, ostracised, persecuted, tormented. R5004:5

For your sakes -- The Church's sake. R5721:5; HG162:1; Q357:5

That you Gentiles might become inheritors in the Abrahamic promise. R793:4; B211

They were cast off from his favor while the Bride of Christ was being selected. A108; HG345:1; OV226:3

The election -- The natural election. R5721:5; Q357:5

The original promises of earthly favor to Israel. HG162:1

By which they were promised, through Abraham, together with other earthly promises, that their nation should become the chief nation of earth. B211; E332; R2605:4

They will be reinstated when the Bride of Christ has been selected. A108; HG345:1; OV226:3

They shall become the "princes" of the spiritual Kingdom through all the earth during the Millennium, which will be to the advantage of many natural Israelites who are now in alienation and darkness. F178

They are to be first blessed by the spiritual or true Seed and may later become associate laborers. T33

Israel according to the flesh will again take first rank in divine favor. R5839:5

God promised that Israel should bless all the nations of the earth. The spiritual seed was not mentioned; the natural seed were right in line for that which was specified--to be blessers of the world. R5836:2

They are beloved -- They are still beloved. T33; R793:4

Even though Israel (except a few) made a failure respecting the election. R5302:1

They are soon to return fully to God's favor. R5470:6

In the Millennial age, God's special favor will pass again to natural Israel, from whom it was taken at the beginning of this Gospel age. F118; R5000:5, 1971:4

When the feast of fat things (Isa. 25:6) for all nations shall be spread, Israel will have the first opportunity of participating in it. R3834:1

They are still beloved because whenever God gives a gift he means it; he would not have promised the Abrahamic Seed anything according to the flesh that he was not able to give them in his own due time. CR48:3

Preeminence in the Messianic Kingdom will not be granted to all who are Jews by blood, but only to those who prove loyal to the Law and the prophets. R5964:3

The fathers' sakes -- The fathers of Israel are the patriarchs Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The Jews are under the Abrahamic Covenant. R5162:5

The Lord will bless fleshly Israel, not because of their worthiness, but because of his promise made to the fathers. HG390:4

The "fathers" were the patriarchs of old--Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, etc. They are referred to in Psalm 45:16 and Heb. 11. Q750:4

The first returning prodigal under the new dispensation will be the poor Jew. R3361:2

Moses, father of the nation, admonished the Israelites with warnings and encouragements, and foretold their final victories, which shall be attained by all who will become by faith the children of Abraham. R3078:2

They are now gradually rising to political freedom and influence; and as a people, they will be very prominent among the nations in the beginning of the Millennium. R2605:2

God has blessings yet in store for natural branches, as promised to their fathers. R1971:4

The tried prophets and patriarchs of past dispensations will take first rank in the blessings of the repentant world under the Millennial reign of Christ. R1365:2

The orthodox Jews, those who still hold to the teachings of the Law and the prophets, and have faith in God, will be the first to receive the blessings of the New Age. Q357:5

The gifts -- The gracious gifts. HG346:3

Calling of God -- God having called the Jewish nation to be his peculiar people, having made them definite promises respecting the blessing of all nations, has no thought or intention of abrogating those promises. R4624:3

Paul specifies that God's gifts and callings from the remote past included the restoration of the Jews to divine favor at the close of the Gospel age, which blessing must come through the spiritual seed. R3937:6

The promise is sure to both the earthly seed and the heavenly, the sand of the sea and the stars of heaven, its proper part to each. R3259:5

The natural seed of Abraham had been selected as the line through which divine blessings were to be carried eventually to all the families of the earth. R3139:5

Without repentance -- Cannot fail. R1919:1

Not things he will repent of. T33; R5964:2, 4624:3, 3685:1; OV228:1, 66:3

These earthly blessings are just as sure to them as our spiritual ones are to us, because God so promised or covenanted, and never changes. R4370:3

He who knew the end from the beginning knew exactly what Israel would be and do, and was not disappointed, and all of the plans and promises to that nation were made from the standpoint of this knowledge. R4320:3

Any free gift and promise which God makes is sure of fulfillment. He knew all about this temporary lopping off, knowing the end from the beginning, before he made his promises concerning Israel. R1971:5

God has no thought or intention of abrogating his promises. Every promise he has ever made, he has foreknown its full import and its results, and he has done nothing hastily. R4624:3

It is on this unchangeableness of the divine character that the Apostle predicates all of his hopes respecting the restoration of Israel to divine favor and blessing through the glorified Church. R3685:1

At the inauguration of the new age of blessing, natural Israel will be granted a special place and privilege. R5964:2

Tribulations have kept the Jewish minds in that condition of humility in which they will be best prepared for the Lord's service when the time of their complete restoration to favor shall come. Q357:1

As the punishments predicted had been meted out to Israel as a people, so assuredly the promises of the regathering could be relied upon implicitly. R2525:6

Compare Deuteronomy 30:1-9. R1729:6

Favor will return to Israel after the Bride of Christ is selected. R258:6, 545:4, 7:4

As soon as the elect are glorified, the present age and its objects will have ended. Then the restitution work will begin, and Israel according to the flesh will again take first rank in divine favor. R5839:5

When the Mediator will have sealed Israel's New Covenant by his death as its Testator, then the "called" nation of Israel will "receive the eternal inheritance" for which they have waited. (Heb. 9:15) Q179:1

The Jews are waking to the voice of the prophets calling them to Palestine and to fresh hope in God and in the promises to which they still are heirs as the natural seed of Abraham! (Matt. 24:32). R4706:1

Ezek. 16:63--The promised restitution is not based on the merits of the Jews, Samaritans or Sodomites. "That thou mayest remember, and be confounded, and never open thy mouth any more." R259:4, 8:1

The gracious promises to Israel in the flesh must yet be fulfilled. OV81:2; R4706:1, 793:4, 107:4*; CR48:3

For as ye -- Gentiles. A300; R1971:6

Not believed -- Not obeyed. R107:4*

Have now obtained mercy -- For a long time you were strangers and aliens from God, seemingly unloved and uncared for, yet now you have obtained favor. R1971:6

Romans 11:31

So have these also -- Fleshly Israel. C299; R2605:4

Not believed -- No favor could have come to "the ten lost tribes," as the Anglo-Israelites believe, because those Israelites deserted the Israelitish Covenant and became idolaters, unbelievers. C252

God would allow "a great gulf" to be fixed by their prejudices between them and spiritual Israel. R4781:6

The "veil" of prejudice still exists, but it will be gradually taken away as the light of the Millennial morning dawns. R2605:2

Through your mercy -- The mercy of the complete and glorified Church of Christ. A300; C299; F355; R5964:2, 5101:6, 4942:5, 4820:5, 4498:2, 4475:1, 3658:5, 2605:4, 2209:6, 1000:5, 284:4; CR49:5; HG387:5

The mercy of The Christ, the spiritual seed of Abraham. R4436:6, 4592:5, 3938:1, 201:3

The mercy of God operating through Jesus, and the mercy of Jesus operating through the Church. R4625:5, 4646:6, 4464:5, 4454:3

Both Jew and Gentile shall obtain mercy through your mercy. R126:6

When the Church is complete, the sacrifice will be finished, the merit of which is to go to Israel and the world under the terms of the New Covenant. R5000:1; Q435:1

Israel is to be the beneficiary of the testament, the legacy, the will, because we laid down our restitution right in sacrifice; this is like the dying of the Testator's Body. R4498:2

As soon as "the elect," the Church of Christ, shall have been completed by the power of the first resurrection. R4942:5

It is a high honor conferred upon the Church to become members of the Body of the great Mediator of the New Covenant, sharers with our Redeemer in his great work of sealing and executing the New Covenant. R4457:1

The King is the Head of the "seed," to which is committed the work of blessing. Israel, natural seed of Abraham, supposed that they would inherit the privilege; but when the King came, they received him not.

R2128:6

The Church will be first in the Kingdom, natural Israel with the Ancient Worthies at their head will be the second. R5721:5

Through the Ancient Worthies of Heb. 11, under the New Covenant, Israel and all the nations will receive their intended share of the same divine mercy, passed through Christ and then through the Church. R4513:3

When the Church shall have attained the prize as spiritual Israel, the gulf separating natural Israel from God's favor will have been passed.

Favor returning to natural Israel will extend to all nations. R5444:6

No "drop" of refreshment will be afforded the "rich man" in his misery until the Messianic Kingdom shall be established, when Israel (both dead and living) shall obtain mercy through the elect. R5005:4

God will destroy the "great gulf," turning away the blindness of fleshly Israel. He will receive back to favor all of them who will then come--showing mercy through the glorified spiritual Israel. R4781:6;

HG387:2

They shall obtain divine forgiveness shortly, after Messiah's Kingdom is established. Theirs will be a true sorrow, and the Lord "will pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication." (Zech. 12:10) R5234:3

The 144,000 are blessed now with the fellowship of God, even in stormy times; and through their instrumentality (as joint-heirs of the Lord) their companions in these storms of life will ultimately be saved. R4506:4

The nation has passed through severe ordeals. Ere long the famine for the word of the Lord will reach them and cause them to come to the great Governor Joseph (Jesus and his followers) for the bread of life. R3982:2

Israel shall obtain the Father's mercy through Christ and through the Church; his mercy will proceed until all the families of the earth have received his blessing. Q435:1

Jacob and Esau were twins, and so were the Jewish and Gospel dispensations. The elder (Esau, the Jewish church) should serve the younger (Jacob, the Gospel Church) and receive mercy from the younger.

R1624:6

Messiah, Head and Body, will be the Mediator of the New Covenant. OV44:2
The whole world of mankind (all who have ever lived) shall be blessed with an opportunity of return to divine favor and everlasting life by God's grace, operating through the elect Church, Head and Body. R2398:4
We are glad that our acceptance will not mean their everlasting loss, but they will be profited through the blessing of spiritual Israel, "qualified servants of the New Covenant." (2 Cor. 3:6) R4592:5
During the Gospel age, we have been privileged or invited to become members of that spiritual seed of him whom Abraham typified (Jehovah), and as such to be the cause or instruments of the coming blessing. R345:1
We have a lot of blessings and mercies to give away. Now you and I individually have no right to give anything away; our Lord has all the right. When we will be glorified, they will get God's mercy from us. CR49:5
Through the saintly few who, during this age, become identified with the glorified Messiah as his Bride. It was not the divine intention that the Jew should be amalgamated in the Christian systems of today. OV116:2
They also -- Israel, both dead and living. R5005:4, 5234:3, 4942:5, 1000:6
Restitution rights will be made available to natural Israel and to the world under the New Covenant arrangement. R4492:5, 2209:6, 127:1, 126:6; C299; HG387:5
Divine mercy shall go forth from the Church to bless the world and shall rest first of all upon Israel according to the flesh. R3469:1
They will be the foremost nation amongst men during Messiah's glorious reign. R5101:5, 284:4
Jesus secured earthly life-rights by his obedience; during this age he has made them available to his Body, and soon he will be ready to give them as a legacy to natural Israel and the world. R4497:1
Even though our sacrifice includes laying down our lives for the brethren, the merit of our sacrifice and its application at the end of this age is "for the sins of all the people." R4492:5
The blessing will extend to all nations, in that all nations will be welcome to become "Israelites indeed" and sharers in the blessings of that New (Law) Covennant. OV80:2
May obtain mercy -- Divine mercy. R4478:4
God's promised blessings. R201:3
The mercy of God and Christ through the Church to natural Israel, and to all the families of the earth. R4646:6, 2931:5
God is blessing them at the very time he is cutting them off, for in blessing you and preparing the Deliverer, he is making ready to bless them through you, when you as the Body of Christ are complete. R1971:6
When the great Deliverer will be complete, then will be the time when we will apply our earthly rights to Israel; then will be fulfilled God's promise to Abraham, "I will make thee father of many nations." CR50:4

If we be accepted as members in his Body through consecration unto death, we then shall be members of the spiritual seed of Abraham, through whose mercy natural Israel shall obtain mercy. R4475:1

The Son of Sarah secured earthly life rights, laid them down at Calvary; during this age has made them available to his Body, and soon will give them as a legacy to natural Israel and the world. R4497:1

This mercy will go to the Jews through the death of the testator, Christ, the Head, and the Church, the Body. R4625:5, 4528:6, 545:4

The Lord will yet have mercy upon them, and his favor will return to them after the full number from among the Gentiles shall have come into the chief place of favor which Israel failed to obtain. R2072:6*

Israelites according to the flesh will be the first of the restitution class to be blessed by spiritual Israel. C299; R1342:5

The condition of affliction in which the Jews have been throughout the Gospel age has really been a favor from God, preparing them for the blessings of Messiah's Kingdom. R5721:5

They are waiting for the New Covenant--for the blessed arrangement of the Millennial age, under which the Lord declares he will be merciful to them and remember no more their past sins and iniquities. R3916:5

Moses prophesied to Israel that as a result of disobedience they would be scattered throughout the earth, but God, in infinite mercy, would remember them and bring them back to himself. R3071:2

The Book of Hebrews is not addressed to Jews with the intention of converting them, but to Hebrew Christians. It may be a presentation of the gospel specially suitable to prepare Jews for future mercy. R2821:3

Bishop Ryle's Millennial Creed: I believe that the Jews shall ultimately be regathered, as a separate nation, restored to their own land, and converted to the faith of Christ. (2 Cor. 3:16) R2798:6*

The "rich man," having received the measurement of punishment for his sins, will walk out of his fiery troubles over the bridge of God's promises yet unfulfilled to that nation. R2605:1

"Ye shall seek me, and find me when ye shall search for me with all your heart." (Jer. 29:13) When the Gospel Church is completed, the Lord's blessings shall be extended through spiritual and reclaimed natural Israel. R2402:5

Soon there will be the union of Bridegroom and Bride, and then the Kingdom of God will come in power and great glory; and fleshly Israel will be first of the nations to realize its Millennial blessings. R1373:3

As the spiritual blessings were offered to the Jew first, so, in the coming blessing to the families of the earth, the natural seed of Abraham are to be given a place or preference, a priority. R2209:6

After spiritual Zion has been glorified to shine as the sun, that true light will shine first upon the house of Jacob, to whom the call will come, "Arise, shine, thy light is come!" (Isa. 60:1) R2037:4

At the end of this age the re-engrafting of the original branches will take place. R793:5

"I will bring you up out of your graves, and bring you into your own land." God will "plant them again, and they shall be no more plucked up."
R258:6, 7:4

With the end of this Gospel age, Israel will be delivered from the torments of these centuries and experience a national resuscitation under the glorious privileges and advantages of the New Covenant. HG429:6
Through our mercy (the spiritual seed of Abraham), natural Israel shall obtain mercy and become the earthly seed of Abraham under the New Covenant arrangement, dispensing the blessings of God to all. R4475:1

The spiritual Messiah, Head and Body, will be able to do for Israel and all who come under that New (Law) Covenant far better things than Moses, mediator of the old Law Covenant, could do. R4453:6

They had no hope; then came Zionism, hope for relief from suffering, but no faith in the Abrahamic promise. Later, we see the Jews growing in trust, strength, wealth, faith. The time for joy is not far off. PD53/65

Do you know that the driving of the Jews out of all nations and the resettlement of many of them in Palestine, now in progress, is another sign of the close of the Gospel age and the dawn of the Millennium? HG315:4

Romans 11:32

Concluded them all -- He would make of them a spectacle before the world, and although outcasts from his favor for a time, they should, as a dead nation, be witnesses to his Word throughout the world. R4781:6
Cast Israel aside nationally, that he might bring them as a people to inherit the earthly promises made to them. R1971:6

The ten-tribe nation of Israel fell seven centuries before the time for the beginning of the mercy given at the hands of spiritual Israel (when Jesus came to die, the Just for the unjust). R4820:5

Shut up by Law. R556:4*

That he might -- In the Millennial age. R3078:2, 1270:2

Have mercy upon all -- All mankind. R1778:6, 1583:1, 1270:2

God will first bless Israel; through those of Israel who are in harmony with him, the blessing will extend to every nation. R4594:1, 3078:2

The rejection of Israel is not permanent--only until the complete number of faithful saints be gathered out from the Gentiles. Then God's favor will return to natural Israel and all the earth. R5495:3

Israel will come more readily into accord with their own leaders of the past than will others; and thus they will again take the most prominent place amongst the nations in the beginning of the Millennium. F178

Recovering every one of them from blindness, bringing them to that full knowledge which will render each without excuse, responsible for his choice of life through obedience to Christ, or "second death." R4781:3

Israel shall be saved from the blindness into which they stumbled in the rejection of Christ; and their recovery then will be the signal for blessings upon the whole world. R2213:1

After Elisha crossed Jordan, he may typify the ancient worthies, showing the New Covenant blessings to come to the world of mankind through the Jews from the glorified Church. R4758:4

The resurrection of "Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and all the holy prophets" will be to perfect earthly conditions. They will indeed rule the world, and bless it, and Israel will be first to respond. R2983:1

The mercy of God and Christ through the Church to natural Israel and through natural Israel for the blessing of whosoever wills of all the families of the earth. R4646:6

Our Heavenly Father's plan provides not only the special heavenly salvation of the elect Church of this age, but also a general salvation--which, beginning with fleshly Israel, shall extend to all. R3066:2

Israel will become the leading nation of earth, representative of the spiritual Kingdom of God; the Gentiles will come and cooperate; a blessing shall proceed to all the families of the earth. R2996:2

The divine power will operate in and with Messiah's Kingdom, take hold of "Jacob," and lift up that people using them as beacon-lights for the world. R2882:5

One of our exceeding great and precious promises is that Israel according to the flesh shall yet obtain mercy and blessing through our mercy (the kings and priests of the Gospel age). R2138:1

We are to be sharers with Christ in the work of making the Covenant which will go to Israel and through Israel to the world. R4625:4

The New Covenant will be made directly with that nation, as foretold by the prophet Jeremiah (31:31)--"after those days" of the sealing of that Covenant by the great Mediator with his blood. R4497:5

His first work will be to pass to the credit of the New Covenant that same "precious blood" which, during this Gospel age, has blessed and comforted the Church. CR59:2

"In that day will I raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, that they may possess the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, which are called by name." (Amos 9:11, 12) HG336:4

This condition of affliction in which the Jews have been throughout the Gospel age has been a favor from God, preparing them for the blessings of Messiah's Kingdom. Q357:5

"I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and iniquities I will remember no more." SM368:T

God's mercy extends to the natural Israelites, whom he declares to have been stiff-necked, hard-hearted and rebellious, and also to all who have not had the favors and privileges of that nation. SM533:2

The Lord will assume the guidance and control and blessing and uplifting and restitution of all the willing and obedient--to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile. OV88:3

Jerusalem has gates in every direction, and the names of the twelve tribes of Israel inscribed thereon. Israel is the gateway through which may come the blessings of mankind. R334:1

Through the one man, Christ Jesus. R770:5, 429:3, 363:6

The only begotten Son of God took our human nature that he might be raised with all power in heaven and earth to accomplish the complete deliverance of all by the sacrifice of his humanity. R1583:1

"As the sands of the sea" represents the whole number of the human family who shall ultimately attain the obedience of Abraham, and full human restitution and the Lord's reward of life everlasting. R2854:1

The justice and wisdom of God institutes a law for the propagation of the race that involves all in the Adamic fall and penalty, and the redemption of all by the one offering of Christ. R1565:6

It was a merciful providence that the propagating of the race did not begin until after the fall, so that every member of the race might share the blessings of redemption through Christ. R1552:1

One Savior could not give a ransom for all except that in the case of Adam, there was but one perfect person tried; one only sinned willfully; and hence one perfect being was the corresponding price. R770:4

All die as a result of Adam's unrighteousness. "By God's grace (unmerited favor) we are saved." While we were enemies and sinners, God so loved us that he gave his Son, who tasted "death for every man." R429:6

God condemned all through, or on account of one man's sin, in order that he might have mercy upon all and redeem all by one sacrifice. R363:6

Romans 11:33

Depth of the riches -- The lessons in the plan of salvation are not merely for humanity, but also for all the intelligent creatures of God, on every plane of being; and not only for a few centuries, but for all eternity. E486

How grandly systematic and reasonable and just is the divine plan of the ages. R4781:6

Such depths of wisdom and knowledge and grace prove that the plan of God is superhuman. R4455:4

The prophecy of Moses in Deut. 18:15-22 and the fulfillment of that prophecy ("the prophet like unto Moses") in Acts 3 is an example. R1324:5*

The boundless unsearchable riches of God's wisdom and favor will be manifested from the Church to Israel, then to the world in general. R793:5

The world was left in ignorance of God's plan until the Gospel age. God gives light and knowledge just as it is due. No wonder that people will be confounded (Ezek. 16:63) when they see how "God so loved the world." R546:1

These verses show that Paul is the clearest eye the Church ever had. What he saw deepened his knowledge of God's plan so that his writings have a fullness possessed by no other New Testament writer. R365:1

God's plan (bed) is longer and wider and higher than the creeds of men, and a man may stretch himself on it and rest, fully covered with the amplitude of God's mercy, love and grace. R207:6

Both of the wisdom -- Oh, glorious covenant! luminous with divine love and wisdom. R2209:6

How unsearchable -- How useless for us to try to discover his dealings except as he is pleased to reveal his plans to us. R5533:6, 1971:6

Are his judgments -- His decisions. E486
His righteous acts. HG303:4

And his ways -- His plans. HG303:4

Past finding out -- Freedom and sympathy not begotten by the teachings of God's Word, and good desire for the heathen not inspired by God's revelation of his plan, get us far from the true plan of the ages. R1717:1
Past man's conception. HG303:4

Romans 11:34

Who hath known -- We are coming to appreciate something about how great our Heavenly Father is. CR87:3

First, in prayer and communion by going into fellowship with God; second, noting what he has to say in his Word. CR88:2

The Heavenly Father kept to himself his great plan and purpose. When our Lord Jesus was discussing some matters pertaining to the setting up of the Kingdom, he said that the Father alone knew his own plans. CR53:2

Those who have no ear to hear are not called. CR88:1

The mind of the Lord -- The divine plan is outlined in the Scriptures. R4461:3

God has chosen the plan which most fully exemplifies his unalterable justice, and exhibits the exceeding riches of his grace--his love; his power will be forcibly illustrated in the restoration of man. R1681:5

Who knew that God's plan was so comprehensive? R12:4, 1972:1; CR92:3

He will take us into his banquet house and supply our needs and bring forth that which will strengthen and refresh us. CR87:6

No one ever knew God's mind or character or plan; God had not made a confidant of anybody. Our great Teacher (Acts 1:7) taught his disciples to wait for the Father to make known his plan. CR53:2

How wonderful is our God, infinite in all his qualities! How came all these wonderful things which are written in his book, unless by his own knowledge? SM474:3

His counsellor -- Who suggested to the Almighty such infinitely wise arrangements? OV24:2

In this wonderful, economical, judicial, loving and generous arrangement by which we are permitted to share with our Lord in his great work of blessing the world of mankind? CR59:1

God needed no counsellor. R1747:4

God's plan is not of human device, nor assistance. R1778:6, 1270:2

No one had counselled God or directed him or given him the wisdom to make the great plan which he is carrying out. He permitted it and endured it to manifest his character and to test his creation. CR53:2

Romans 11:36

Of him -- The whole plan is of God. R324:2, 1778:6, 1270:2

The Almighty has favors to dispense, and it is a matter purely of his own business to whom he shall give them. F171

Only God could be the author of this plan. A Jew would not have planned to graft in Gentiles! A Gentile never would have arranged the original stock and branches to be Jewish and himself a graft. R1972:1

Let us build our faith on the rock foundation which God himself has laid, Jesus Christ, "The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world"--who "died for our sins," not on the sands of men's opinions. (John 1:29) R429:6

Are all things -- Certain blessings and favors yet to come upon Israel. R1778:5, 1270:2

Romans 12

Romans 12:1

I beseech you -- This exhortation is based upon the preceding statements of the 11th chapter. R5422:2

I entreat you. (Diaglott) R328:2*

Addressing the consecrated and believers only. R5422:2; A198; F122, 447; CR1:6, 407:1; OV316:3

Would apply equally to both classes, those who had presented their bodies, and those contemplating doing so. R5422:2

To you who have justification, "peace with God," and have come into harmony with the principles of righteousness, we rejoice; and we do urge you to abide in God's favor by going on to full obedience. F116

The antitypical priests are invited to join with the High Priest in the work of sacrificing necessary to the inauguration of the Mediatorial Kingdom. R4537:5

This is not calling sinners to repentance, but repentant sinners who have already accepted Jesus as their Savior. SM509:2

Nowhere does God command anyone to make a consecration. R5422:3

The divine commands end at the line of justice, righteousness. Sacrifice, self-denial, taking up the cross to follow Jesus, are away beyond the divine law. R4835:3

"Now is the acceptable time." (2 Cor. 6:2) F444

As Isaiah's lips were touched with a live coal from the altar, it illustrated how the saintly ones during this Gospel age have had the required blessing upon their lips to proclaim this divine invitation.

R4787:6

It is proper that each one should decide for himself positively, whether or not he has ever accepted the divine invitation to give himself: "My son give me thine heart." (Prov. 23:26) R4783:6

We urge the Vow (as we advised the original consecration vow of this scripture), as in full accord with our original covenant to be dead to sin and self, but the vow is not a test of brotherhood. R4326:6, 4312:1, 4265:5

Therefore, brethren -- Therefore, because of the preceding eleven chapters of argumentative, logical, beautiful, instructive, blessed reasoning. R2213:1, 1586:2, 328:2* Those of class "p" in the Gospel age fail to use their justification to go on and present themselves acceptable sacrifices, but they are called "brethren" in the same sense as all in harmony with the Father. A237

Brethren, because justified and thus brought into fellowship with God. F122

Believers--justified by faith in Christ--Levites. T118:T

All who have accepted the redemption that is in Christ. R5837:1

An exhortation to those already justified by faith in Christ, and who are therefore brethren of the household of faith. R1586:2; A237; T117

Those addressed are "brethren" of the household of faith, justified believers. Otherwise, being still under condemnation to death, they would have nothing acceptable to offer in sacrifice to God. R1585:3

No one is "called," or invited into this "Body of Christ" except those who already are believers. The blemished of the flock were not acceptable on the Lord's altar under the Law. R1542:2

Believers in Jesus as their Savior, already reckoned restored or justified through faith. R742:2

Because of believing on him who "taketh away the sin of the world," "the propitiation for our sins," they desire to be perfect, and are so reckoned on his account; Paul invites these "brethren" to consecrate. (John 1:29; 1 John 2:2) R469:2*

Paul was exhorting those who were "brethren" in Christ, having been "planted together in the likeness of his death" and yet not having made a complete sacrifice. (Rom. 6:5) R99:3*

The Apostle was here urging progress on the part of the believers (already brethren, partakers through Christ of divine grace), advancement from "justification by faith" to full consecration. R2285:6, 1586:2

The epistle was written to those already consecrated. But some connected with the Church at Rome had not yet made a consecration. So these words apply to both kinds of believers. R5422:2

These words are properly applicable to two classes: (1) those who are no longer opponents, but sympathetically in harmony with the consecrated; (2) those who have made their consecration. R5031:2; Q156:5

Brethren are: (1) Those who have pledged themselves to the Lord for a reformation (typified in the Levites), and (2) those who have consecrated their lives even unto death (typified in the priests). R3219:5

Who hope to be of the Bride class and to attain the spirit nature. R4629:6

Christ becomes endorser for these who have turned from sin, believed on the Lord Jesus, consecrated themselves. He covers their Adamic sin and guarantees his continued merit if they are faithful. R4634:1

The Lord has pledged to these who have consecrated their lives to him, even unto death, that he will hear them and give to them, according to his wisdom, the experiences and blessings most helpful. R5692:5

Paul is addressing the "elect" body of Christ, Jews and Gentiles, who should know what are the terms and conditions upon which God hath "called" them: suffer and reign. R2213:1

In the strictest sense of the word, the household of faith is the family of God; those who have offered their bodies to God in sacrifice and have been accepted by him and begotten of his holy spirit. SM638:1

By the mercies -- Which have been discussed in the preceding eleven chapters. R2213:1, 1586:1

In reviewing God's plan of salvation, Paul had told in Romans 10 of the mercies of God toward all his creatures. The eleventh chapter told of the mercies of God toward both natural Israel and spiritual Israel. R5422:2

The forgiveness of sins already experienced. F122

In the covering of your sins through faith in Christ. F486

Already received. R2486:4

A share of which you have already received in your justification. F448

Justifying you by faith. R4537:5, 4494:4, 4390:2; SM140:T; Q457:T; CR1:6

Paul urges consecration to God on account of the mercies of God as displayed in their justification. Truth relative to the high calling is unfolded to the consecrated later, by degree. R657:6

For centuries granted only to the Jews. R5423:3

Your reconciliation, already accepted. R3918:3

No longer aliens, strangers, foreigners, but redeemed and accepted of the Father. R3265:4

In making provision for our sins, our redemption, and for our restitution as a race. CR406:6, 402:4

These mercies that you have been enjoying while you have been drawing near to God. Q400:T

God sent us an invitation to become associates with his Son. R4631:1

Overwhelmed with an appreciation of God's goodness to us, we are ready to hear and obey Paul's exhortation. R4455:2

The individual is typically represented as being a goat that comes and goes clear up to the door of the Tabernacle, and there the High Priest accepts it and kills it as a sacrifice. CR386:6

Of God -- In covering your sins through your faith in Christ. F486; R2734:4; Q457:T; CR1:6

Manifest through Christ in our justification. T118:T

God's mercies are to a certain extent over all. He sends his sunshine and his rain upon the evil as well as upon the good. (Matt. 5:45) R5423:3

That ye present -- Any consecrating after the heavenly class is complete, will find that the Lord has plenty of blessings of some other kind still to give. F157; R4836:4

Do your best. It may be that there is an opening. Consecrate your time, your talents, all that you have, to the service of God. He is a good paymaster; whatever reward he may give you will be a prize. R5168:6
God always gives large rewards to those who manifest their faith and loyalty towards him and his cause. R4836:4, 4574:6

Mal. 3:3 speaks of the "offering in righteousness." The offering now being made to God is the offering of the Church. R4709:4

None but justified believers are thus privileged to present themselves or to be sacrifices upon the Lord's altar. OV316:3

His invitation to become members of the Body of Christ. R4614:3, 2772:5

By consecration. OV242:T; R5775:5, 5035:2; Q609:4

On the basis of faith in the Redeemer's work, the believer may consecrate himself to the divine service, in acceptance of the divine invitation.

R5284:3

We hear God's message that he is now selecting a class for the purpose of blessing all the earth. This message reaches our hearts, so we take the Apostle's advice and present our body a living sacrifice. OV403:1

It is not the new creature who does the presenting; there is no new creature at the time the body is presented. R5423:5

Present your body every day. CR407:2; R5532:3, 5422:6

Laying down our lives daily, and hour by hour. R5422:6, 5423:2, 4632:5; CR407:2; Q147:3

Includes not only the primary presentation but a continuation. R5126:3, 5532:3; CR295:6

As our High Priest "offered up himself to God" (Heb 7:27; 9:14), so the under-priesthood must all offer up themselves to God, also. F122

The priestly class are specially devoted to God and his service. This class is sometimes pictured by Aaron's sons and sometimes by the body of Aaron, Christ being the Head. R5873:4

Our Lord has been offering sacrifices for sins as the antitypical High Priest. All of the antitypical priesthood must offer up sacrifices, else they cannot be of the Royal Priesthood. R4354:4

Our Lord Jesus Christ first offered himself up, and then the Church. He as the High Priest first killed his human nature, represented by the bullock in the type. Then he kills the human nature of his Church. CR486:6

On the Day of Atonement, the two goats represented the household of faith, all of God's people who have offered their bodies living sacrifices: (1) willing sacrificers; (2) unwilling sacrificers. R4855:1, 5196:5

There was enough merit in the antitypical bullock to have been applied for the sins of the world. But God's arrangement permitted the Church to share in the sacrifice in order to share in the glory. R5622:2

Only the High Priest had the authority to sacrifice on the Day of Atonement. We should give ourselves to the Lord, as the goat was tied to the door of the Tabernacle for the High Priest to sacrifice. Q576:4
Should not be confounded with the Lord's presentation of us. R4966:1
You can merely do the presenting; the High Priest has to do the offering. CR408:1; R4998:2; Q614:T, 489:6
Since Pentecost Jesus has been accepting and offering as his members such as present their bodies living sacrifices. PD47/59
While we are in a justified attitude, God waits for Christ to present us, our sins forgiven; and this happens when we are ready to be his disciple. Then Christ says, I am ready to be your advocate. Q408:T
The Father accepted the gift of Jesus' consecrated life, and permitted that gift to constitute a sin-offering for others. Through this age, the brethren are invited to give themselves to God. R4915:2
We are not making a sin-offering to God, for this we could not do. The divine arrangement accepts our gift through the merit of Christ. Later those gifts will constitute the great sin-offering for the world. Q609:5; R5423:6
Now is the time appointed of the Father as the "acceptable year of the Lord" (Isa. 61:2) when God is willing to receive first the sacrifice of Jesus and then the sacrificing of those justified by his blood. R4505:2
We have entered at this strait gate and upon this narrow way, and have made this covenant of complete sacrifice to the Lord, giving our wills and all earthly rights to him, that his will may be done in us. R5055:3
Be our sacrifice ever so lame and imperfect, it is reckoned holy and without blemish; but it must be a free-will offering, and it must be a whole burnt-offering--not the smallest piece can be kept back. R1133:1
When Paul requested money for the poor at Jerusalem (2 Cor. 8), he wished to inculcate giving from the heart, resulting in giving themselves more completely than ever to the Lord. R4526:4
"Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it": "Present your bodies," "Love as brethren," "Run the race set before you," "Add to your moderation, God-likeness," "Let your light shine before men." (John 2:5; 1 Pet. 3:8; Heb. 12:1; 2 Pet. 1:6; Matt. 5:16) R3163:6
"Save yourselves from this untoward generation" (Acts 2:40) by having all the desires of the flesh (those proper and right, as well as the sinful ones) under subjection and laid daily on God's altar. R1151:4*
We consecrate our body (Rom. 12:1), mind (Rom. 8-9), influence (Phil. 3:7), reputation (Luke 6:22), time (1 Pet. 4:2), talents (Rom. 12:6), and substance (1 Cor. 16:2). R465:4*
To present our bodies a living sacrifice means to be crucified with Christ, baptized into his death, dead with him as men but alive unto God as new creatures. R328:5*

"I lay down my life. No man taketh it from me." (Men might seem to take his life by crucifying him, but they did not.) The believer also sacrifices voluntarily. "And I will raise him up at the last day." (John 10:17, 18; 6:40) R198:3*

We are responsible to be immersed if we understand baptism. If we hold back, understanding, we are not fully dead to our own will. If we never understood the symbol, we have no obligation for water baptism. CR412:1 May apply to us from two standpoints, either before we become consecrated (the initial step of consecration), or afterwards (continuing to present our body every day). CR407:1; R5423:1

After an individual has made the presentation of his body for sacrifice, and he has been begotten of the holy Spirit, he is reckoned as a new creature, and God accepts him as a son. R5035:2

It may be that some circumstances awaken them to the need of consecration before taking the step that will enable them to become sons of God. But they must be called of God. R5134:1

Many would rejoice to present their bodies living sacrifices in God's service if a leader would rise and break in pieces the great creed idols of Christendom and liberate the people from bondage to them. R5734:1

Your bodies -- Each is to present his own body: "I beseech all ye brethren that you all present your bodies." Q155:4

It is your mortal bodies which you are to sacrifice in the Lord's service. R5422:6, 5423:5

We begin laying down luxuries and worldly advantages and end the service with the actual death of our human self. R942:3

To become members of the Royal Priesthood means a participation with Jesus in the sacrifice of earthly life. PD25/36

Consecrating to God's service every power and talent you possess, thus becoming priests. A226; T118; Q614:3; R4634:1

Includes all you have, your thoughts, words and doings. Q614:3; R5423:6

Full surrender of the flesh and its interests. R4980:1

We have bodies which we are willing to coerce into submission. Q489:T; R4797:6

Their sins that are past are all cleansed; but attaching to the flesh are certain imperfections, which from time to time crop out; the new will must regulate the mortal body. SM430:2

The term "bodies" seems to include all there is of our earthly existence. Jesus gave his life (Matt. 20:28), his body (Heb. 10:10). His all was given as ransom (1 Tim. 2:6). R328:3*

If you by faith will present your body a living sacrifice, even if that body is not worth the full value of human perfection, God will impute enough of Christ's merit to supply your deficiency. R5196:2

Such a one gives up all hope or right in a future restitution. R5423:6, 4535:5

Additionally, we forego our share of restitution privileges. However, it is not necessary for one to have an appreciation of the coming restitution blessings in order to sacrifice these. R4900:1

In "the times of restitution," our title to life would have been made good, but we have consecrated that life (reckoned as restored). R914:3

The step which will enable them to become sons of God. R5134:1

According to the flesh, we are no more. We are in the spirit. We have ceased to be, from a human standpoint. We sacrificed our humanity. Q457:T

The death of Christ releases us from the Adamic penalty. We die to complete the sacrifice. Not only dead to the world, but really dead. If we have been planted in his death, we shall so be resurrected. R128:2*

The Redeemer and Restorer is spiritual, having given up the human a sacrifice for all, and from this spiritual class when highly exalted all blessings must proceed. A294

The Prince of Peace is followed by an army of saints walking in his footsteps, not having slain nor wounded others but having conquered by dying themselves, sacrificing self. R5495:4

Jesus permitted sinful men to take his perfect earthly life without resistance, although he had the power to call for legions of angels for protection. His life, not sinful weaknesses, was his sacrifice. R4835:3

If we would be so honored by a share of his resurrection, we must be faithful now and make our calling and election sure by walking in his steps and finishing the sacrificing of our flesh. R4108:6

Our stewardship is over what we have and not over what we have not. Many let talents they do possess lie idle, while they make unprofitable endeavors to create and use others not given them. R1047:2

Each who has presented himself to God must consider how he can most fully use his all in the service to which he has consecrated it; and he cannot decide by likes, fears, preference or convenience. R1029:2

If your first love has begun to cool a little, thank God for his special message of meat in due season which wonderfully awakens and encourages.

Take for your examples Jesus and Paul. R946:3

The goat which was slain represented the bodies of the saints, which they are called upon to sacrifice. The Gospel age is an age of suffering, beginning with the personal sufferings of Christ the Head. R157:2*

Pictured by the goat that goes all the way through the court to the door of the Tabernacle, and there the priest accepts it and kills it as a sacrifice. CR386:6; R5423:5

They had not yet apprehended that for which Christ had apprehended them.

(Phil. 3:12) That is the "mark"--the winning post--"for the prize of the high calling." Sacrifice is demanded for that. R99:3*

The Lord cares for our joy and comfort. He asks only what is for our good--"reasonable service"; and yet he asks all--"your bodies." Self denial, under the Lord's direction, is the surest means of happiness.

R21:4*

We have been called of God to be joint-heirs with Jesus Christ in all the things that the Father has given him. But if we would share those things we must be faithful unto death; the flesh is to be sacrificed. CR248:3

Thus we are reckoned dead with Christ. CR2:1

Whereas Mormons believe that if they do not at least take one wife they will not be counted worthy, Jesus and Paul commended these sacrifices of earthly rights and privileges. HG732:2*

The Apostle asks, "O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from this dead body?" He answers himself by saying that the deliverance comes through a full surrender to Christ, "Present your bodies." (Rom. 7:24, 25) OV316:2

A living sacrifice -- The term "sacrifice" is translated from the Greek word, thusia, and means a slaughter, or an animal slaughtered. R328:2*

Not merely abstaining from sin; nobody ever had a right to sin. F158

The Scriptures draw a sharp distinction between the natural man and the new creature. Some natural men have very fine characters. A new creature has presented his justified life a living sacrifice. R3913:3

However contrary the desires of the flesh may be to "the law of the Spirit of life," this law must have supreme jurisdiction, and they that are Christ's must crucify the flesh with its passions. R814:2*

When we get the scriptural measure of a Christian, it compels us to recognize the fact that there are not many in the world. He not only walks in the way of righteousness, but presents his body a sacrifice. CR62:2

To understand God's dealing in the present time, nominal Christians or mere professors must not be confounded with the Little Flock who have responded to the Gospel call for self-sacrificing saints. OV344:1

You cannot be members of the Body unless you sacrifice. CR49:4; R5465:5; SM140:T; Q610:4

Human sacrifice. PT391:2*; R5086:5

Paul, as well as the Master, intimates that there is a more difficult sacrifice than the offering of praise (Heb. 13:15) and thanksgiving (Psa. 116:17) when we forsake all and take up our cross. R4535:2

The "elect" are to be dead with him, "immersed into his death." OV242:T

Dead to the flesh, to self, and everything worldly. R5837:1, 1586:2

"If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them" (John 13:17). The "high calling" costs all we have, though it is also worth all it costs.

Some are not willing to pay the price, obedience. R1802:2

A constant surrender of self-will. R5423:2; SM273:1; OV344:1

You shall consecrate and give every power which you possess to God's service; then you shall live not for self, nor for anything but for and in the service of him who bought you with his own precious blood. A226; R273:3

The Little Flock walk in the steps of our Savior and present their bodies living sacrifices in the service of truth and righteousness. SM42:2

Loyal, faithful covenanters consecrate their little all of time, talent, influence, prospects, and maintain this attitude of consecration daily, hourly. R5947:4, 5423:1

Not that you are to commit suicide and destroy your body, but day by day using your strength and life in the Lord's service. R5423:1

The present call of the Church is for those who have the "same mind which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5)--a call for sacrificers. This sacrificing is to forward his cause, to minister, not just to suffer.

R5324:1,2, 1586:2 Presenting your bodies includes not only the primary presentation but the continuation of the living sacrifice to the completion of the work. R5126:3 We lose forever all right to life on the human plane, and all right in earthly interests. R5197:1,2, 5423:5

These will not be included in the restoration to Adam's original perfection because they are called out of the world and invited to become new creatures in Christ, sharers in the divine nature. R5318:4

We have been called of the Lord not to restitution, but to sacrifice, and the healing of Paul's eyes would have been a restitution blessing. R4433:4

The only exceptions to the rule of restoration to Adam's original perfection will be those who are now justified by faith in Christ and given the opportunity to present themselves as living sacrifices. Q682:4

It is not necessary to have an appreciation of restitution blessings in order to sacrifice them. Some in the past did not have a full knowledge of the ransom; but they gave up everything. R4900:2

The call was first to a justifying faith in Christ. Then the privilege was offered to these to present themselves as living sacrifices and thus go forward to battle. That is more than weak faith can endure. R1876:4

Not all of the justified have responded to this call or invitation of the Gospel age. The great majority have been satisfied to simply have a measure of reconciliation, and have ignored Paul's exhortation. HG378:4

A Christian goes beyond faith in the precious blood and righteous endeavors and striving against sin to a voluntary surrender of the will and all we possess to the service of God. SM273:1

Our sacrificing does not make us brethren, for all who are freed from sin are brethren; justification, reckoned purity, is on account of Jesus' sacrifice. But the heavenly prize requires our sacrifice. R742:3

Full justification can come to us only after we have made a complete consecration to the Lord. R5775:6

Only by sacrifice could any come into the spirit-begotten relationship with God as "new creatures in Christ Jesus." R4646:2

The only way to obtain justification in God's sight is by the acceptance of Christ and by a full consecration to be his disciples and to join with him in his covenant of sacrifice. (Psa. 50:5) R5027:4; OV280:1

Sinning against the blood that justifies (justified by faith in the blood of Jesus) does not merit second death. Sinning against the blood that sanctifies (sanctified by consecration) merits second death. R4321:4

The call of this age is for sacrificers only--to follow our Redeemer's footsteps of self-denial even unto death. (Matt. 10:39, 2 Tim. 2:12)

R4920:3

When we sacrifice ourselves wholly and unreservedly, it includes not merely our hearts, our wills, our intentions, but all they control: our mortal bodies, health, strength, time, talent, influence, money. R3844:5
As the Shepherd (the King's Son) himself was sacrificed as the Lamb of God, the sheep of the Little Flock now being called are to suffer with Christ--with the Lamb of God--are all to be "living sacrifices." R2442:4
A sharer of the sufferings of Christ. E487

The Gospel age call has been, Who will take up the cross and follow me? Who is willing to ignore himself and suffer with Christ? Who will present this human nature a living sacrifice and become dead with him? R442:5
It is our privilege "to be dead with him" and "suffer with him" (2 Tim. 2:11, 12), "to fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ" (Col. 1:24). R3683:3

Those begotten of the truth, who hear and obey this call to become joint-sacrificers with Christ Jesus, thus become heirs of the Abrahamic Covenant, joint-heirs with Christ, members of the "seed." R905:5
Our Lord having provided a ransom for Adam's race with his own life, can justly give a new offer of life to all. This offer to the Church is under the covenant of sacrifice. A141

The spiritual nature and reward can be attained only by faithfulness to our covenant of sacrifice even unto death. R5806:6, 4646:2
In view of the sacrifice of the human nature, the gift of God in exchange is, a spiritual nature, and hence the term "new creatures." R2980:4, 4784:3
The Father invites us to come in and be living sacrifices with Christ, partakers of his sufferings (even though Christ is sufficient as a ransom-price for the sins of the whole world) so we may be glorified. R4855:5

Because we are promised to be glorified with Christ, our way is "narrow," difficult, in contrast to the "high way" to eternal life in the Millennium. R4434:4

We are to take up the cross and follow him. We are to suffer with him if we would reign with him. We are to join with him in his covenant of sacrifice. R4807:2

We are assured that if we suffer with him, and be dead in his sacrificial death, we shall also live with him and reign with him in his Mediatorial Kingdom. R4497:6, 5638:4, 4855:5, 2616:6

Those are truly wise have sought the divinely appointed King and bring to him the incense of their devotion, and as gifts all their talents and powers. They lay their very lives at the Savior's feet. R4534:6

The Church is honored in that she is permitted to suffer with her Lord. R4630:1, 1586:2

You consecrate wholly, thus becoming priests. T118:T

Those called to be members of the Body of Christ, the under priesthood, of which Christ is the High Priest, could consecrate to their office only by sacrifice. R5299:3

The Apostle did not mean that the brethren were to present all their bodies as one sacrifice, but each to present his own body. Q155:4
Jesus has, since Calvary, been completing his "better sacrifices" by presenting the bodies of his saints acceptable to God. R5285:6
Typified by the sacrifice of the Lord's goat. R4035:1

The "better sacrifices" are the antitypical ones begun by our Lord Jesus when he consecrated himself to death at baptism, and participated in by his faithful footstep-followers. R3318:6

The Body of Christ is joined with our Lord in the atonement sacrifice; their sacrifice could not have been acceptable without Jesus' merit. When it is complete, the work of suffering for sin ends. R3000:1, 1262:5

We do not do our own killing, sacrificing ourselves. He does all the sacrificing. Q410:T, 552:3

Keep in sight the intimate relationship and close resemblance between the bullock and the Lord's goat; it should continually stir us up to see that we are being crucified with him if we would reign with him. R245:6

"Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins"; God provided the sacrifices of the Law as foreshadowings of the "better sacrifices" of Christ and his followers. (Heb. 9:22, 23) HG418:4

The sacrifice of the antitypical goat class has been in process from the Day of Pentecost. This Gospel age has been the antitypical Day of Atonement in which "the better sacrifices" have been offered. OV106:5

The two goats of the Atonement Day represent God's people who have offered their bodies living sacrifices. Only one of them became a follower of the bullock and had experiences exactly the same as his. Q659:1

Let us lay aside everything precious to us of an earthly kind, that we may run with patience the race set before us (Heb. 12:1). R2702:5

By faithfully exercising your ambassadorship. E490

When God accepts our consecration, he sanctifies or sets us apart to whatever work or office he pleases. R441:3

If you are willing to give time in the Lord's service as part of your "living sacrifice," labor in the vineyard through love of the brethren still in Babylon. They are in danger, but do not realize it. R2456:3

"Love less" your family, your own life; bear your cross; forsake all you have. The terms are plain. No one failing to do this is recognized of the Lord as his disciple or can enjoy the privileges of being one. R2072:1

Keep a sharp lookout on how you can sacrifice your own interests wisely in the competitive business world, even to making a change to some less competitive means of livelihood. R2033:1

Present your bodies. Seek to do all things to the glory of God, that you may glorify him in spirit and mind which are his. Ask the Lord to permit you to be used in his service. Write letters, send tracts. Q614:1

"Gather my saints together unto me; those that have made a covenant with me by sacrifice." (Psa. 50:5) None are saints without sacrifice. Rev.

11:18 makes a distinction between those who fear God's name and the saints. R156:3*

Water baptism is the symbol of joining Christ in his death. It is a witness before the brethren that one has already repented, been justified, and consecrated. HG284:4

Abel's blood cried to God for justice. But Jesus' blood cried to God for mercy on the sinner. By a special covenant, Jesus and his elect Church lay down their lives sacrificially for Adam and his race. PD12/21

This is the only way that we could be with him on the spirit plane. If we retain the human nature, we can never get to heaven. Those not begotten from above may get an earthly blessing, but not the heavenly. Q610:4

"Strait is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life." (Matt. 7:14) Now there is just one way. No one has the right to make the terms one whit less than God shows: deny self, take up your cross, and follow Jesus. Q399:T

Those who accept this invitation are privileged to sacrifice their all of earthly time, talent, wealth, etc. SM430:1; R3870:1

The Great Company neglected opportunities for laying down their lives, their time, influence, money, in the Lord's service. R5423:3

Every member must finish the work of presenting his body a living sacrifice before the epiphania or apokalupsis of the Lord in power and great glory, but not before the parousia. R4543:6

In the end of this acceptable day will come the end of all opportunity to sacrifice the human nature and become partakers of the heavenly nature. SM49:T

The High Priest of the Melchizedek order does no sacrificing, but is a blessing priest. He had sacrificed in the days of his flesh. SM140:T

Few have heeded this message to the Church or the message to the world to live a good life; because the depraved or carnal mind is opposed to the law of God, as a natural consequence, the trouble will come. A309

Holy, acceptable -- Whole or complete. Q457:T

Justified (reckoned perfect) by faith in Christ's redemptive sacrifice.

R5318:4, 1262:5

Counted as holy, justified freely from sin through the merit of the blood of Jesus. R4464:1, 5836:6, 4966:4, 4759:2, 4640:5, 2987:5, 1586:2; Q69:2; CR58:6; SM430:1

Ransomed, justified, and therefore acceptable; otherwise we would have nothing to offer God. A196; F152

We must be justified by faith in Christ before we would have anything acceptable to lay upon God's altar; it must be accepted of God at the hand of our great High Priest before we are his Royal Priesthood. F122

Since God is unwilling to receive as a sacrifice anything that is blemished, we, as members of the blemished and condemned race, could not be acceptable until first we were reckoned justified from all sin. F116; R1586:2

The Church has her Redeemer's merit imputed to her by (because of) faith--to cover the weaknesses and blemishes of her flesh, so that her flesh may be presented holy and acceptable to the Father. R5079:4

Our sacrifice must be without blemish, not filthy nor sinful; we must be justified freely from all things, "holy" through the cleansing that is in the blood of Christ, if we would be acceptable to God. R882:5

The Church must first be "justified freely from all things" before they could in any degree come within the limitations of the high calling. R2629:6, 1262:5

The consecration of our all puts us in the way to be eligible to apply the merit of Jesus, put over us as the wedding garment covering our imperfection. His merit makes us acceptable to God. R5559:6

Our human nature having been redeemed by our Lord's death, must in the sight of Jehovah, be just as pure and perfect as was the human nature of Jesus, for his perfectness was imputed to us. R297:6

To those already consecrated, complete the good work which you have begun. R5423:1, 5031:5

To one who has not completed his consecration, God is willing to accept you through Christ's imputed merit, if you take this step of consecration. R5423:1, 4854:6, 4634:1, 4632:4; Q658:4

If they fall into line with the divine provision and present their bodies a living sacrifice, they are met half way by the Lord. R4629:2

The Master appeared in the presence of God, after finishing his sacrificial work, to impute to the believers his covering for their imperfections, and to give them a standing with the Father. R5003:5

Pentecost was the proof that the Church had been ransomed--that justice was satisfied, and that our sins were cancelled. Thereupon the High Priest began at once his secondary offering of his members. R4518:6

Jesus stands as the great Advocate for all those who desire to come in as members of his Body. Through the merit of the Advocate, Jesus Christ the righteous, the Father justifies us freely. CR173:4

Justification by faith is necessary because nothing unholy or unclean may come to the Lord's altar. R4398:2

Our Lord Jesus, as our great Advocate, makes us acceptable sacrifices; it is only upon our becoming acceptable sacrifices that we can present our bodies; this being done, the Father accepts them. R4764:3

Only because of our relationship to the great Advocate. R4632:4

We do not come to God directly, but through the great High Priest, who imputes his merit, and includes our sacrifice as a part of his own. We have been presented in God's way and have been accepted. R5423:6

Our offerings to Jehovah, our little all, would be unacceptable, because we were children of wrath; but our great High Priest's merit makes them acceptable. "Thanks be to God." (2 Cor. 9:15) HG595:4

When the High Priest presents us to God, covered with his own merit as a robe, we are assured that our sacrifices are acceptable. R5006:5

We are participants in sacrifice, our sacrifice being counted holy by God because of our faith in and relationship to the Great High Priest. R4390:2

Both sacrifices were made by the priest, not by the bullock nor by the goat; when our Lord shall present the blood of his secondary sacrifice (the blood of his Church), he will be presenting "his own blood." R4546:6
Our Lord's death, represented by that of the bullock, applied on behalf of the household of faith, justifies them freely from all sin and permits them to become acceptable sacrifices. R4340:4, 1262:5

Since our Lord sacrificed himself at Calvary (the basis of the New Covenant), he has been completing his "better sacrifices" by presenting the bodies of his saints, holy and acceptable, to God. R5285:6

The Redeemer imputes the merit of his sacrifice to the Church's and makes it acceptable as a part of his own sacrifice. Q376:3

Because Christ becomes endorser for these. R4634:1

Jesus needs his own righteousness, but he no longer needs his right to human life and the righteousness which goes with that right; and so he imputes that to the Church, sufficient to make holy their sacrifice.

Q339:1 We have no right to everlasting life--merely a little unexpired scrap of life received from Father Adam. Jesus is empowered by his sacrifice to give the restitution life to us to present in sacrifice.

Q141:T

Our wills are renewed, but we must bring every thought into harmony with God's will: first learning to follow righteousness; then that which is wholly acceptable to him; and, thirdly, his perfect will. R4830:6

The cleansing of justification by faith is for the very purpose of cleansing us that we might be acceptable sacrifices on his altar. R4493:4

Justification by faith is granted to us for a purpose and for a time--to furnish us the opportunity for sacrificing the earthly restitution rights which Jesus tendered to us. CR58:6

We are justified through faith in Jesus' blood. Thence we have a standing of justification, imputed to us for the purpose of permitting us to sacrifice our human rights. We are "immersed into his death." CR75:6

There is one standard which must be attained before any can be accepted of the Father as members of the Body of Christ. That step is consecration even unto death. Then the Redeemer imputes his merit. CR88:5

"He restoreth my soul" (Psalm 23:3) corresponds with our justification to life. By faith, a complete restoration of soul is granted to the believer, that he might have something to offer in sacrifice to God. R3269:5

"In Christ shall all be made alive." All who by faith lay hold upon this new source of life are reckoned of God as partakers of it so that they can have access to the gospel which began with our Lord. R875:6*

Our sacrifices are considered holy because of the imputation of Jesus' merit, which sacrifices God has accepted, begetting the offerer to the new nature as a new creature. R4591:6

Our willing services and sacrifices as new creatures. R4495:1

It is the spirit of the Head coming upon these that produces the sacrifice of the justified flesh. R4398:5

Being graciously reckoned of God as holy through Christ, from the hour of our entire consecration to his will, because our will and effort are to be so, we are to go on striving against our imperfections. R1739:2, 1262:5
Every day, Christians should keep their accounts squared with the Lord. If they come short, they should lose no time in obtaining forgiveness through the merit of the Savior's sacrifice. R5420:5

All members of the Body of Messiah came by way of the cross--through a recognition of their own imperfection, and of Jesus and his sacrifice as the satisfaction for their sins. SM186:T

Our sins are graciously covered through the merit of his sacrifice. Our chastisements, therefore, are not penalties for our imperfect flesh, but disciplinary to the intent that we may be complete in him. R3133:4

Many seem to think that all that is required is to give a certain portion of our time and substance. Cain came with such a sacrifice, and it was not received. Abel's better sacrifice was accepted. R328:6*

Learning from Cain and Abel, Isaac and Ishmael, Jacob and Esau, let us seek to bring to the Lord such sacrifices as he is pleased to receive, in the proper spirit, as did our Head. He is our perfect Pattern. R2778:5

Not a tithe, but all that we have (Luke 14:33). So Christ magnified the Law. We are to give all that we can in as direct a way as we can, and the remainder is to be given him in a more indirect way. HG583:1

Sacrifice is not an obligation or requirement. The Father never forces sacrifices; but he accepts them, and now is the acceptable time to present them, and these are the terms of fellowship with him. R5422:3

The 144,000 are justified through faith in Jesus' blood, making their sacrifices acceptable. Their sacrifices are not compelled by justice, and they receive a high reward. R4262:5

As sons and heirs. R1008:4

The Ancient Worthies presented their bodies, their lives, but God was unwilling to accept imperfect creatures at his altar. Jesus' followers have been acceptable because they are made perfect by the Redeemer. R4836:1

Three and a half years after the cross, when God sent the Gospel message to Cornelius, his favors became as open to the Gentile as to the Jew--"the middle wall of partition" was "broken down." (Eph. 2:14) R5101:1

Now is the time that God will accept us. It will not always be an acceptable time. It will cease when the last member of the Bride class has been gathered, and there will be no more sacrifice. CR55:4

Our High Priest will not make application of his ransom-merit for the world until the end of this age when he has finished the use of it for the Church--enabling those drawn of the Father to present themselves. R4832:2

At the end of this age the blood, "holy and acceptable" through Jesus' merit, will be applied "for all the people." R4537:6

Unto God -- To whom the price was paid. E450; R685:4

Because our Lord's sacrifice was every way acceptable to the Father. R4546:3, 4965:2, 4390:2; Q489:6

Reasonable service -- Faith in the Redeemer, accompanied by a consecration to follow righteousness, brings justification--but does not imply sacrifice. Sacrifice is a voluntary act--not demanded. F152
Every other course is unreasonable, irrational, unwise. R3326:4
To refuse to accept this offer would show a puerility of judgment, a weakness of mind. R5424:1,4

If it was a reasonable service for Jesus, then surely ours is most reasonable. R5423:2

It would be very unreasonable to accept God's marvelous favor and then neglect to live up to the conditions attached. R5423:4

Consecration is the normal attitude for all of God's intelligent creatures. R5134:2, 5477:3, 5423:1

The thankful leper was an example of the character God is seeking. If we have been justified, cleansed, covered, blessed and favored, we should return and prostrate ourselves before him, living sacrifices. R2723:1

Anyone possessed of a sound mind, able to weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the present life compared with eternal life in God's Kingdom, must confess that it is reasonable to lay down our lives. R2659:4

Our surrender to the Lord was "the answer of a good conscience toward God." (1 Pet. 3:21) SM345:1

If it was proper that the Israelite should give one-tenth of all his income to benevolent purposes, it is much more proper that we, who have been still more highly favored, should render all unto our God. R2486:4

Would be so if no reward were promised. R1586:2

The only safe course for any of the justified lies in consecration; i.e., in a voluntary and full surrender to Christ. All who realize freedom through Christ's pardon should submit themselves to him. R1066:5

The Lord does not invite us to sacrifice ourselves (now) without any reward. R5423:2

The prize which he attaches makes it unspeakably desirable and precious. R5423:4

Having surrendered our will to the Lord and having started out in the narrow way, we should seek to know what our reasonable service to him would include, what things are approved and disapproved. R5745:1

We should endeavor to find out what the Bible calls "reasonable"--an earnest desire to render thanks to the Lord for his great mercy and love, and to know what is the Lord's will for us that we may do it. R5677:6

Having come to the place where we are recipients of the blessings from heaven and the privilege of this association, we should consider it a reasonable service to present our bodies living sacrifices to him. R3966:2

Thank God that we are not any longer outsiders, that we have heard the Master's voice, and have accepted the Lord's grace provided for us in our Redeemer's sacrifice, and entered into the holy place. CR35:1

This chapter is linked with Psa. 121 and Matt 6:33 as readings for "Happy conclusions." HG474:5

After we have responded to the divine "call" and entered into a covenant of sacrifice with Christ (Psalm 50:5) to be dead with him, then works, self-denials, sufferings, are required. R4494:4

The entire Church is pouring out its soul unto death, a sharer in all of the Lord's sufferings, and she will be a participator in all of his joys and blessings. SM783:1

Reason is continually appealed to and satisfied with reference to divine truth: God expects his people to exercise a reasonable faith, drawn by logical deductions from established premises. R1566:1

Only a new mind, secured through a consecration of one's being to God, will transform the depraved heart. In relying on a burnishing of the intellect only, the world is leaning on a broken staff. R1189:6

People who claim to be Christian have not been taught how to approach God in the right way. They have never passed from condemnation to justification, through faith in Jesus and consecration to God. CR494:5

If some should present themselves after the acceptable time, they would be honored with the Ancient Worthies. Sacrifice is a reasonable service, and God gives large rewards. R4836:2

Romans 12:2

Be not conformed to -- Patterned after. R1586:2

Fashioned after. R1096:5*

Or bent down to this world. CR4:2

Do not be entangled with the things of this world. The chief duty of the Christian is to devote himself to preparing for the Kingdom of the Lord. Q850:1

Paul does not say, "Do not conform yourselves," but "Be not conformed." We do not conform ourselves; we submit ourselves. R627:1

This world -- Our Lord said of his disciples, "They are not of the world even as I am not of the world." (John 17:16) A269

Its ideas, hopes and aims. R1586:2

Be ye transformed -- Formed over again. R5325:2, 3674:2; SM431:1, 229:2; CR394:3

Remodeled, changed. R1586:2

Turned upward. CR4:2

We do not transform ourselves; we submit ourselves to the will of God to be transformed by heavenly influences through the Word of God. A203; R5482:4, 627:4

Into his glorious image in our hearts. R5641:3

This does not signify a perfection in the flesh, which is an impossibility, but a perfection of heart, intention, will, endeavor.

R5902:1

The Word of Christ has entered into our hearts. Our minds, our aims, our ambitions--everything--are being transformed, are being set on heavenly things. OV429:3

Reach the mental attitude in which divine regulations are not grievous, but really joyous. R4346:1

Our minds are to be filled with holy thoughts of the Lord and his service. R5739:1, 5246:6, 4808:2

The renewing of the mind, not a work in the flesh; although it will affect the flesh to some extent. SM431:1

All who are slaves of the Lord Jesus are voluntary slaves; you can renounce this bondage if you please. But you will find that every time you had to give up your own will you had a greater blessing in return. R5726:4

Divine assurances make strong the weak and give courage not only in respect to the future life but also in the affairs of the present. R5114:4

So that eventually we come to hate the things we once loved and to love the things we once despised. CR475:1; R5739:1, 5726:3

Thereafter matters are to be decided not according to their preferences, but according to principles of justice and love. SM431:1; R5482:4, 4909:4

A second privileged step of faith, beyond the hope of human restitution, is the access into a still higher position of favor, the privilege of being transformed to a higher nature. R1585:3

Made new creatures by the holy Spirit of God. R371:1

To the heavenly nature. A198

There is a transformation of character (from sin to righteousness); but the transformation in this text is a transformation of nature (promised to believers during the Gospel age, on conditions). R626:1

"Mind-cure" teachers realize the power of the mind over the body, thinking this is something new. Satan assists these theories by granting blessings of health, but these are occult powers. SM322:1

By the renewing -- The gradual bending heavenward of that which naturally bends earthward. A198

Having it made over. R5246:6

Through faith. R4982:5

It is not until the old creature submits and we are transformed, so far as the will is concerned, that we become new creatures. R4810:2

Through a sanctified will the mind is renewed, transformed; and the desires, hopes and aims begin to gravitate toward the spiritual and unseen things promised, while the human hopes die. R626:2

The process of mortifying the deeds of the body involves a separation from the world. "Though the outward man perish, the inward man is renewed day by day." (2 Cor. 4:16) R100:1*

Of your mind -- Will. R2505:4

"We have the mind of Christ." (1 Cor. 2:16) R2130:6; CR4:2

The new mind is the new creature that is being raised out of the dead body. CR469:5

New hopes, aims, ambitions, desires, affections. OV379:1; CR394:3

The Christian's most important life-work. R2123:6

Particularly in the development of benevolence, veneration and spirituality. R2540:6

God wishes to appeal to our reason, because we are thus better developed than in any other way. We are learning to do his will from the teachings of our Lord Jesus and the writings of the apostles. R5482:5

"Sanctify them through thy truth." (John 17:17) It is an error to presume that the sanctifying work can go on better without the truth. R1628:5
Endeavoring to think as Christ thought and to do as he did or would do in your circumstances. R1586:2

The spirit of the Lord God is the power or influence exerted upon the minds and hearts of those who have surrendered their own wills and are obedient to the divine will. Q808:4

God is dealing with our spirits, our minds. Through the transforming influence of his Word, he is giving us a new mind; and it is this new mind which he receives into his family. This becomes the new creature. SM350:1
The change of mind from human to spiritual which we experience here is the beginning of the change of nature. It is a very small beginning, but the begetting is always a small beginning. R626:5

We must show the Lord that our mind is continually striving for those things which are good, kind, loving and generous. SM229:3

Prove -- Know. R4909:4, 2131:1

An exhortation to study. R1273:1, 1781:5

Come to a knowledge of his will. SM350:4

Good -- What is God's will as to our following righteousness. R4830:6

And acceptable -- What is wholly acceptable to God. R4830:6

And perfect -- He leads us, not contrary to our wills, but in harmony therewith; to prove what is the good, next the acceptable, and finally, the perfect will of God. R5654:3

Those who have thoroughly learned the lessons of this school will be those who have been obedient children. R5482:5

This gradual development is to proceed with those who are spirit-begotten. R4830:6

Will of God -- As expressed in his Word. R5489:4

Through the fall, we have lost appreciation of God's will, and hence are exhorted to study to prove what it is. R1781:5, 1273:1

All his ways are perfect, righteous. "He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness." (Psa. 23:3) He causes me to learn to appreciate the desirableness of his ways and the undesirableness of every other way. R5654:3

It is all-important that our will be entirely consecrated to God and righteousness; and that it strengthen itself in the Lord as it determines the will of God, as expressed in his Word. R5489:4

The divine will now having become our will, we begin to reason, to judge, to think, from the divine standpoint: God's plan is our plan, and God's purposes and ways are ours. R626:2

If, in the very beginning, we have a desire to do God's will and to go on unto perfection, we shall understand it better and be more and more able to perform it. Q53:T

Since God expects every member of his family to have a perfect will, it becomes a personal question as to what is the will of God for us. We seek diligently to prove what it is. SM350:3

Grace given unto me -- Paul foresaw that one of the greatest temptations would be ambition to be highly esteemed. R1586:3

More highly -- The truth of God is in accord with the highest development of human reason; but human reason cannot attain full development except under divine instruction. R1566:6

Some may be proud of having the truth or of their ability to serve the truth. R5842:3

The quality of self-conceit is dangerous to Christians. Many of the Lord's people have stumbled into evils by thinking the Lord was giving them private lessons and information not vouchsafed to others. R2461:2

Some overestimate their talents, and waste valuable opportunities in trying to do things for which they have little or no talent, and neglect the exercise of other talents which they do possess. R1628:3

Than he ought -- In endeavoring to decide what gifts we possess, the Apostle suggests modesty. R733:3

To think soberly -- Not according to the flesh, but according to the new nature. E255

To seek to justly estimate actual talents of ourselves and others, and hence the measure of stewardship and responsibility. F243

A sober estimate of self is a humiliating, not an exalting, exercise; yet it is healthful and beneficial. R2094:3*

Such must be the spirit of all who will be permitted to enter into the Kingdom of heaven, on the philosophical principle that humility leads to greatness, and is of itself a great achievement. R1767:2

God's Word and providences bring all followers of Christ to oneness of heart and mind: one is humbled, another exalted. Both learn not to trust in self, but in him who is able to do for them exceedingly. R5114:1

Think of himself soberly. Some are inclined to undervalue their own abilities, and hence fail to be as useful servants of the truth as they might be. R1628:6

Take a sober estimate of one's talents, neither overrating nor underrating them. R1586:3, 1566:6

It is the intoxication that comes from imbibing the spirit of the world that leads to foolish boasting which a man in his sober senses would be ashamed; such intoxication is an abomination in God's sight. R1972:2

As God hath dealt -- Through his Word and by his providences. R2811:3
Each of the Lord's servants should seek to use the talent which God has given him. R1638:2

It is the height of presumption for a steward to seek to use talents which the Master has not given him to use. R1047:2

If any man has received much of God's grace, it was because he needed it.
R5114:1

To every man -- The consecrated ones. R2811:3

The measure -- The capacity for faithfulness. R733:4

"God gave not the Spirit by measure unto him." (John 3:34) but his followers receive it by measure, or limitedly. E185

Of faith -- Greek, pistis, otherwise translated fidelity, assurance.

R2811:2

After we have received of the Lord's Spirit our faith may grow exceedingly, so that we will be able to walk by faith and not by sight.

R2811:2

Romans 12:4

Not the same office -- Each should seek faithfully to use the talents which he possesses. R5225:1

Each should fill his own appointment in the Church, remembering that these gifts are of God who hath set the various members in the Body. R733:3

Romans 12:5

One body in Christ -- The Head of the Body, Jesus, controls the Body, thinks for it, plans for it, and uses the various members to assist each other. F73; R5227:3, 1574:5, 295:3

Jesus is Head and ruler of the entire living Church. Where two or three meet in his name he is the Head, ruler and teacher. R295:4, 1574:6

This one body of many members is viewed by the world as inglorious, but Paul anxiously sought membership in the body even at great cost, especially the chief resurrection it will enjoy. R827:6

There must be no schism in the Body of Christ. R4241:2*

The mind dwells with delight upon the necessary difference between the individuals constituting the members, and the differences between the members themselves, and yet the beautiful oneness of the whole. R437:4*

Every body except one must be spurious and an imitation of the true; yet some deem it wise to unite with "other Christian bodies," and they forget that Papacy is a false "body" under a false "head." R3458:6

One of another -- All are useful and needful one to another and each should seek to know his place and to do his part in it for the edification of the Body. R1586:3

Romans 12:6

Gifts differing -- While certain servants are chosen by the Lord for special services, yet others are permitted to serve as did Mark, and still others may serve the Church at home, as did Simeon and Lucius and Manaen.

R2141:6

Each of the Lord's servants should seek to use the talent which God has given him, and study how best to use his talents for the edification of his hearers. R1638:2

Consecration includes: body (Rom. 12:1), mind (Rom. 8-9), influence (Phil.3:7), reputation (Luke 6:22), time (1 Pet. 4:2), talents (Rom. 12:6), substance (1 Cor. 16:2). R465:4*

Or ministry -- Serving. R1628:6

Or he that teacheth -- He who has a talent for exposition, for making the truth plain. F251

Romans 12:8

On exhortation -- He who finds himself possessed of a good talent of exhorting should exercise that talent rather than let it lie dormant while endeavoring to exercise a talent which he does not possess in any special degree. F250

He that giveth -- Giving of means. R1628:6

Jehovah is not impoverished, and his cause shall not suffer from lack of funds, but the blessing will be to those who are faithful stewards. R450:5

With simplicity -- Without ostentation, but with wisdom. It should not go to assisting error. Know what you are assisting to promulgate as truth. R1629:1

He that ruleth -- Presiding. R1628:6

He that sheweth mercy -- There are honest people who are mean, truthful people who tell the truth in a combative and repellent manner; in the true Christian, love should produce so generous a sentiment as would ennoble every virtue. R2196:6

With cheerfulness -- "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." (2 Cor. 9:7) R450:4*

Let love -- Toward God and toward all, in proportion as they are godlike, or striving to be so. R2213:1

Hypocrisy can be a profession of love which fails to warn of immediate or approaching danger. R416:4*, 664:4

Without dissimulation -- Obeying the truth unto unfeigned love of the brethren; love one another with a pure heart fervently. (1 Pet. 1:22) R3603:3, 1586:5

Paul puts us on guard against a merely feigned love (hypocritical) which would only outwardly appear kind and polite. R2213:2, 4895:1

Without pretense. R3830:2

Abhor -- Not merely to avoid that which is evil. R4895:1, 2213:2
We should intensely oppose the untrue, the impure, the sinful. Sin and selfishness and "the spirit of the world" should be distressing and repugnant to us. The intense hatred of impurity should be cultivated. R2213:2

That which is evil -- Shams and pretense. R3830:2

Cleave -- Resolutely adhere at all hazards. By the Lord's grace, be cemented to that which is good and pure and noble--the truth, the way, the life. R2213:2

Romans 12:10

Kindly affectioned -- Cultivate among yourselves that kind of affection which properly belongs in a family, where the blessing or honor of one member signifies the blessing, honor and advancement of all. R2213:3
Make due allowance for inherited weaknesses; deal patiently and helpfully as wisdom may dictate. R4809:2

We must have love and sympathy, and not merely justice. SM433:2
With increasing light and knowledge and privilege, make progress in all the fruits of the spirit. R3112:4

It is a privilege to entertain brethren. Prepare for "pilgrim" brethren to serve, for they are fervent in spirit serving the Lord. Arrange meetings, and invite your friends and neighbors. R2093:1

With brotherly love -- "Love as brethren; be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Pet. 3:8,9). "He that loveth not knoweth not God, for God is love" (1 John 4:8). "Let us not love in word (merely), but in truth (sincerely)" (1 John 3:18). R1845:1

Gratefully remembering the love of Jonathan, David lavished affection and kindness on Jonathan's only survivor, loving him "in deed and in truth." (1 John 3:18) R2010:6

God's love pervades our hearts so that selfishness has no room there; we should emulate our Lord who, instead of feeling jealous that others should be exalted to the divine nature, expressed joy to have it so. R3553:1

Express your affection with only such manifestations as would be proper between brethren. (1 Pet. 3:8) R2213:3

Dignified, simple, pure, maintaining a proper reserve towards the opposite sex. R1586:5

In honour preferring -- Cultivate in yourselves the spirit of humility and loving service. R1987:3

By such kindness as is entirely consistent with the most refined modesty and purity. R1586:5

The apostles would strive amongst themselves before their begetting of the holy Spirit; but that spirit disappeared after Pentecost, and then they loyally supported and upheld and encouraged one another. R5959:1

So long as teachers were recognized as having been God-provided, and so long as they approved themselves by conduct and the Word of God, to the congregation, they had more honor than others. R1848:5

One another -- "Let each esteem other better than themselves" (Phil. 2:3). R2011:4

Rejoicing more if honor comes to another than if it came to self. Take pleasure in seeing prosperity come to another. R2213:3, 5959:1

Romans 12:11

Not slothful -- Not indifferent to the duties and responsibilities of the present life, such as providing for the family, etc. R1533:4, 2488:1, 873:3

"If any provide not for his own...he hath denied the faith." (1 Tim. 5:8) R2488:1, 873:3

Adjust your temporal affairs as not to be overcharged with the cares of this life. It is right to be charged with them to the extent of diligence. R1865:6

Not overcharged, "But of a sound mind." (2 Tim. 1:7) E259

Not careless, lazy, nor indolent; but prosecute faithfully your duties.

Any matter proper to be done should have the intelligent and active attention of him whose duty or privilege it is. R4871:2, 5167:3

It is necessary for us to engage in some kind of occupation in order to secure a livelihood. But we have a nobler business. We devote to the Lord our time and talent and energy. R5335:1

"Do all things as unto the Lord"; and nothing done for the Lord should be done in a slovenly manner. Knowing that few are on the side of God and righteousness, we should battle error and darkness energetically. R2213:3,4

Serving the truth in any and every manner open to us. R2990:1

In business -- A very broad signification; any occupation approved of the Lord. R4871:1

Every affair--eating, drinking, and all of this present life. R2213:3

"Let him labor, working with his hands, that he may have to give." (1 Cor. 4:12) R873:3 Especially the Lord's business. R2241:5, 2213:3

Fervent -- Greek, "Hot," "Boiling." "I would thou wert cold or hot." (Rev. 3:15) R2213:4, 4871:2

Not nervous, giddy, childish, letting trivial things excite us, but a well-balanced composure which we study and attain in our endeavor to bring ourselves into harmony with the divine arrangement. R5167:3

Immediately at Pentecost, the brethren were privileged to begin a service for the Lord; and the Father allows opposition so that none but those who are fervent in spirit will stand the tests. R5334:5

Only by the exercise of much fervency of spirit, much zeal for the Lord, for the truth and for the brethren, can we hope to stand faithfully and be of assistance to others. R4930:4

In spirit -- Greek, pneuma, mind, disposition, character. E318

Serving the Lord -- Doing with our might what our hands find to do. R5875:4

The Lord is to be served, and on this account we are to be careful to learn what kind of service is acceptable. R5334:2

Those who have more opportunities for service are less liable to be led into temptation than are those who have fewer. R5201:6

To those who are the Lord's consecrated people it is the greatest privilege imaginable to serve the Lord. R4871:6

Let us use to our best ability the gift or gifts possessed, rather than fail by trying to use other gifts not granted to us. R1628:6

"Fear God, and keep his commandments." (Eccl. 12:13) Solomon had all the selfish comforts that wealth could bestow upon him, but he perceived that there is no comfort except in the thought that God is above all. R1533:1

Rejoicing in hope -- The trial will not continue forever. R3830:2

We are not to expect to have much in the present life to rejoice in, but our rejoicing is in looking ahead into the future. Doctrinal knowledge is necessary to inspire such hope. R2213:5

In tribulation -- Greek, tribulum, a machine used for threshing and cleaning wheat. R2213:5, 4910:5

Paul gloried in physical disasters as parts of the sacrifice he was permitted to make, part of the sufferings he was permitted to endure for the Lord's sake, for the truth's sake. F633

In order that the wheat may be made properly ready for the garner, it is necessary that each grain shall pass through the tribulation necessary to remove those qualities which would render us unfit. R4910:6, 2213:5

Some will continue to walk with the Lord; some will not be driven from him by any of the arts and wiles of the evil one. They are such as are at heart fully the Lord's, not their own. R2258:4

Instant in prayer -- God wishes us to be persistent, and our persistence measures and indicates the depth of our desires. R2865:6

Patiently waiting for the Lord's due time, in an attitude of entire sweet submission to his will, assured that if the answer be delayed, the Father has a reason for it. R5481:3

"The eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers." (1 Pet. 3:12) R1865:2

For grace which is promised according to our needs. R3830:3

We should have stated seasons of prayer and should be continually in the spirit of prayer. R917:1*

The degree of our appreciation of the privilege of prayer indicates very well the degree of our love for the Lord. R2213:6

Whoever loses the desire to thank and worship and commune with the Father of mercies may rest assured that he is losing the very spirit of sonship.

R2004:6

There is a difference between the "vain repetitions" of the heathen, which our Lord condemned and "in everything giving thanks," and "praying and not fainting," which our Lord and the Apostle enjoined. (Matt. 6:7; 1 Thes.

5:18; Luke 18:1) R5020:1; Q539

Romans 12:13

Distributing to -- The Greek signifies, "To make common." R2214:1

Those who have more than they need should share with their brethren in necessity. R917:1*

Necessity -- Distresses. R2214:1

Of saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

The greatest necessities of the saints are spiritual ones; the truth, therefore, is the greatest gift to such. R917:2*

In ministering to our brethren in Christ, we minister to Christ himself.

R917:2*

Given to -- Going out after, seeking opportunities for. R2214:1

Hospitality -- It is toward the brethren of Christ that we should be particularly careful to exercise hospitality. R3432:1

If what we have is plain or common, the hospitable use of it will show our heart-intentions as though it were the best; and some are inclined to entertain lavishly, cultivating pride and going into debt. R2214:1

The reception and entertainment of strangers or guests without reward, or with kind and gracious liberality. R917:4*

We lose nothing by the practice of hospitality. The Lord enriches us with his grace. Our hearts are made better. R917:4*

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." (Heb. 13:2) R909:6

Bless them -- The mark of perfect love. R2879:5

Only a heart full of love, sympathy and pity could truly bless its persecutors. R2214:2

It requires grace to bless those who persecute us, but grace shall be given if we seek it. Nothing will so break down those who ill treat us as to manifest a Christian spirit toward them. R917:4*

Persecute you -- For the truth's sake. R2214:2

And curse not -- Greek, kataraoimai, speak evil of. R2443:3, 701:5

To curse our fellow mortals does not become us. R917:5*

Signifying the very opposite of blessing. Webster defines "cursed" thus:

"Deserving a curse; execrable, hateful, detestable; abominable." Apply any of these synonyms in the place of "cursed." R701:5

Romans 12:16

Be of the same mind -- The same disposition. Be sympathetic toward the very humblest brother, as well as the most refined. R2214:2

The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God.

R1130:6* Mind not high things -- Of the world; they exalt themselves against the things which are truly high, which are of God. R5889:5

Do not allow your affections and sentiments merely to go out along ecstatic lines. R2214:2

Popular ideas, methods, etc. R1783:5

But condescend -- Come down to them in speech and conduct, for the uplifting and enlightening influence of the truth. R4085:5

As illustrated by our Lord Jesus in preaching to the woman by the well. R2574:4

Like our Master, regard with highest esteem and Christian love those who do the will of our Heavenly Father. R1956:4

Not in a condescending patronizing way, but with true sympathy and love. R1104:3*

Men of low estate -- Financially and intellectually. R2214:2

The despised, poor and unpopular. R1783:5

For the privilege of helping them up. R1104:3*

In your own conceits -- There is no more dangerous thing than a high opinion of one's own wisdom. This is one of the greatest stumbling-blocks of the ministers of the nominal church. R2214:3

Compare with Prov. 3:7. We may well esteem the proverbs to have been supernaturally prepared inasmuch as Solomon was granted a supernatural wisdom in order that he might represent Christ Jesus. R2053:2

Romans 12:17

To no man -- Not merely to your brethren, but to all mankind. R5897:5

Evil for evil -- Do not follow your natural inclinations to vindicate justice and punish evil-doers. R2214:3

The natural, fallen, unbalanced tendency of all is to render evil for evil, to give as good as we get--and a little more if possible. R5172:3

Seeing that the Lord will equitably adjust human affairs, we can well afford to endure hardness for the present and resist evil with good.

R2613:5, 723:1

Provide things -- "He that provideth not for his own...hath denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever." (1 Tim. 5:8) F578, 488

We are not to rob our families of things needful for their proper care. F577

A reasonable provision should be made for a steward's household, but a faithful steward does not hoard and accumulate so that he can hand down selfishly to his own posterity. R2762:2

Under present conditions, the new creature cannot in all matters do as it would prefer, but must in certain affairs be governed by the obligations of the flesh. F488

We are to "Owe no man anything" (Rom. 13:8). F564; R2214:5

God's people should provide for their own their necessities and such provision shall be honestly made or not at all. R5572:1, 2214:4; OV357:6

In serving an earthly master, we are not to think of this service as conflicting with the service of our Heavenly Father. We are to see that we have been directed to provide things decent. R5313:5

Honest -- Few things bring more dishonor upon God's people than dishonesty. God never authorized anyone to go into debt for him. R2214:4

Live peaceably -- It is not possible to live peaceably with all and still be true to the principles of righteousness, but the interests of peace should be conserved in every proper way by the Lord's representatives. R5980:2, 2214:5, 1068:3; F601

Paul shows in the previous verses the effort we should make for peace; but it is not always possible to secure peace with those about us, even with the most careful manifestation of such a disposition. R1068:3

Though we find things we cannot endorse, we may avoid denunciation of them--especially things having no bearing on the Lord's Word. R4978:6, 2621:6

If we must contend, let us contend for only such things as our Redeemer would have contended for. R4900:4

The children of God should be peacemakers and not peace disturbers. R3348:1

We can in the interests of peace sacrifice our preferences to the wishes of others if we see some good can be gained by such a course. R3266:5

The influence of every word and act should be in accord with law and order and peace. R3242:2

"God's Message on Peace" includes a list of 28 helpful scriptures. R2946:3

If circumstances have placed you among contentious and disagreeable people, here is a good opportunity to show them in your actions, and without the least ostentation, your spirit of self-sacrifice. R756:2

The ambassadors of the Prince of Light are cautioned by him that they must not use carnal methods, but must in meekness correct those who oppose them. They must be subject to "the powers that be." (Rom. 13:1) SM184:3

Romans 12:19

Avenger not -- The object of our actions is to secure the repentance and reform of an erring one of an ecclesia--to reclaim the transgressor.

Punishment is not ours, but God's. F290

Instead of judging in an avenging spirit, the new mind will try to cover the fault. R4241:3*

Even if you must treat a critic as a heathen and a publican, outside of your religious and social company, do not cast him outside of your love and care and desire to help. R3801:3*

Place unto wrath -- Get out of the way of your opponents and their wrath. R2214:6

Vengeance -- God will take care of the vindication of his own justice. R2214:6

We cannot ignore nor deny the wrath of God against sin and sinners which necessitates Christ's role as mediator for man's sin toward God. R787:5

In the Day of Vengeance, that generation will be held responsible for the transgressions of preceding times because, instead of using their advantages to denounce "Dark Ages" doctrines, they re-endorse them. OV58:5

Is mine -- The Church has no authority to punish. F290

Instead of attempting to take vengeance upon our adversaries, we should commit our way and theirs to the Lord's keeping. R4488:3, 3798:2

I will repay -- Jehovah is the Supreme Judge, and his Law the supreme standard, according to which all decisions must be made respecting life eternal. F396

Many professed Christian ministers ignore the plain teaching of this text and resort to slander, misrepresentation and vilification, even disregarding truth and honesty in making their charges. HG712:4

Feed all enemies and trust to the Lord who will in his due time render vengeance to his enemies. (Deut. 32:41) R1176:2 While the Lord declares himself to be a God of peace, order and love, he also declares himself to be a God of justice, and shows that sin shall not forever triumph in the world, but that it shall be punished. D549

The swelling waves of social and political commotion will spread and involve and engulf all; thus the whole earth will be swept with the besom of destruction, and the haughtiness of man will be brought low. D73

The second advent of our Lord will be a time of tribulation to the world. R3841:5

In the time of trouble, the Day of Vengeance, beginning in 1874. R247:5
"God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." (Eccl. 12:14) R1653:3

Romans 12:20

Feed him -- "If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink: For thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head, and the Lord shall reward thee." (Prov. 25:21, 22) R2053:2
Not to show how badly you can make him feel, but because love is the principle of your nature. R2214:6

Illustrated by Elisha's feast to the Syrians who came to take him captive. R3441:5

Whoever are our Lord's enemies must be our enemies, because enemies of the light, the truth, the way; although if they are destitute, we should feed them. R1861:4

In time of war, Christians try to starve their "enemy" Christians. Wrong is perpetrated in every direction, divine laws entirely set aside by so-called Christian nations. R5825:2

Thou shalt -- When the Millennial age brings everything to light. R1655:1

Fire on his head -- We shall by and by do this to those who now persecute us, by blessing them, opening the eyes of their understanding, and helping them onward and upward to a greater knowledge of God. R5145:3
Make him ashamed of his conduct in contrast with yours. R3830:3

When all that are in their graves shall come forth, criminal and victim must face each other, and the heaping of coals of fire on the head will accompany the shame and confusion. R1655:2

Romans 12:21

Overcome of evil -- Do not allow the trials of life to make you sour, vindictive, cold or unsympathetic. R3830:3

But overcome evil -- Our preparation for our future work will be gained by experiences which touch us with the infirmities of the groaning creation; we must resist evil--not with evil, but with good. R5779:6

Root out; destroy evil by good. R4241:3*

Joseph exemplified this advice (Gen. 45:1-15). He took God's view of matters: that it is proper that a certain amount of retribution shall come upon evil-doers, but pity and love should be back of all. R2895:1

With good -- Love is the principal thing. R4241:3*

It is practicable, and it is preferable. R2215:1

Evil can be overcome with good, in many instances. R2215:4

Keep on doing good, whether it melts the opposition or not. R2215:4

Romans 13

Romans 13:1

Be subject -- To earthly powers as respects earthly things. R4317:4

Neither Jesus nor the apostles interfered with earthly rulers in any way. A266

Paul as well as Jesus used argument in his own defense, not only with the mobs, but also before judges; but they never resisted the law. R5005:5

If any commission be given to the Lord's people to execute judgment this side of the veil it would be so explicit as to leave no room for doubt.

R5451:4

The spirit of submission, rather than of contention, is enjoined upon the Church in its relationship to the civil ordinances of men. R1553:2
God has not commissioned us to strike the image. The Heavenly Father will do the smiting. Q82:2

To resist all such laws would be to array one's self in violent and fruitless opposition to the whole present order of things. R1464:1*

The Lord's people are to be subject to the worldly governments and dominions; but then these are turned over to Jesus and his joint-heirs and God's Kingdom is to be established, never to be removed. Q797:4

Among those things "written aforetime for our edification" is the dream of Nebuchadnezzar and its divine interpretation through Daniel, illustrating the true Church and the governments of this world. A252

God leaves his Church and all men for a time under the control of earthly governments, assuring us that shortly the kingdoms of this world shall become the Kingdom of our Lord and his anointed. R362:5

The higher powers -- Except when they conflict with God's laws. A266, F591; R5840:4

It is comparatively easy to be subject to the higher powers in civilized lands today. There is at least an endeavor to render a show of justice. R3179:3

It is when we get before our minds a view of the atrocious government which prevailed in the Apostle's day that we get the full scope of this injunction. R3179:3

The people of God should pre-eminently stand for law and order. R4486:3, 5952:5

There is no power but of God -- The Kingdom of heaven suffers violence now, but the time of her deliverance is at hand. R1464:1*

The powers that be -- The present order of things. R1461:1, 1464:1*

God permits them; yet he has full power to make changes. It is not for us to seek to overthrow them. R5526:5, 5466:3, 3179:3

Evil as these Gentile governments have been, they were permitted for a wise purpose. A250

The Lord Jesus and the apostles and the early Church were all law-abiding, though they were separate from and took no share in the governments of this world. A266

During the Gospel age, the Kingdom of Christ has existed only in its incipient stage--without the crown, possessing only the scepter of promise: subject to the "powers that be"--the Gentile kingdoms. B81

Are ordained -- Are permitted to rule during the Times of the Gentiles. B81; D77; R5513:1, 2685:2, 1464:1*

God during the present evil world not only permits Satan to be its prince but also permits the earthly governments of his appointing. R362:5

God gave power to the Gentile governments; we are to recognize them, not fight against them. Q82:2

Jesus and the apostles taught the Church to obey the laws and to respect those in authority because of their office even if they were not personally worthy of their esteem. A266; R1555:5

It is his will that we should suffer injustice rather than expend our strength to interrupt the present order of things. R1464:1*

Nebuchadnezzar, the kings of Israel, Pharaoh, and Cyrus of Persia show God's vital interest as to who shall come forward and who shall be retarded when matters affect his plan. Q501:6

Of God -- So as to prove the inability of fallen men to govern themselves. A250; D77

The Lord guides in the affairs of nations now, only in so far as such oversight will promote the fulfillment of his own purposes. R5466:5; Q501:7
God decreed that the time of Gentile rule should continue until the appointed time for Christ to reign in righteousness. The powers that be are imperfect but ordained to continue for a time. R1464:1*

They are not God's kingdoms; "Gentiles" (as used in Scripture) are "heathen," outsiders, not God's people. But God gave them power, and we are not to seek to disrupt that power. Q82:2

Romans 13:2

Resisteth the power -- The follower of Jesus may flee from an adversary, or he may resist him to the extent of proper expostulation, but he is to be thoroughly responsive to all government. R5005:5

Ordinance of God -- God has not authorized kings to represent him nor is he responsible for their deeds and acts, but he is so controlling matters as to cause them to outwork his arrangements. Q502:1

We have nothing to do with the making of the social laws which prohibit labor on the first day of the week, but we obey them as civil laws, and find it to be to our profit as well as to our pleasure. R1732:2

Romans 13:4

He is the minister of God -- The governments of the earth have a lease of power which carries a certain responsibility; they are to be ministers of justice. R1912:5

Romans 13:7

To all their dues -- Custom, fear, honor. R3180:1

Men and rulers; in financial as well as political matters. R3179:6

We owe a real debt to our parents, to our community and government, and to our Creator; for life and many blessings and privileges. R3029:3

We are to be in the world, not as citizens but as aliens--law-abiding aliens, rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's. R2002:4; F594

As the Church is to esteem and honor its members according to their ability and usefulness as servants to the whole body, so it should honor mankind in general. R1163:2

The new creature, freed from the rivalries of the flesh, and inspired by the generous impulses of the holy Spirit, has no occasion for rivalry which would hinder the proper appreciation of others. F590

No one has a right to render another less than his due, nor to do injury to another. Discipleship means something more than merely rendering to every man his due. R5005:3

The new creation should be found amongst the most law-abiding of the present time--not agitators, not quarrelsome, not faultfinders. F591

We do not owe it to others to vote or participate in political strifes. R3180:1; F593

We suggest that the followers of Christ seek by every proper means to avoid participation in war. To become a member of the army and to put on a military uniform implies the duties and obligations of a soldier. R5755:4, 5928:2

There could be nothing against our conscience in going into the army if unable in any legal and proper manner to obtain exemption. We have no fear of death, but we could not fire upon a fellow creature. R3180:1; F594

Tribute -- The tax payable by a subject nation to the principal power. R3180:1

The Church is to pay appointed taxes and to offer no resistance to any established law. A266

Custom -- A tariff duty, or tax, levied for the support of the government. R3180:1

Fear -- Respectful deference or submission. R3830:5 Reverence, in saluting a representative of the government, in the sense of obedience and duty, regardless of his personal character; different from honor or respect. R3180:2

Honour to whom honour -- The new creation sees grounds for faultfinding in the present imperfect arrangements; but they also see that human agitation and revolution is powerless to bring about the perfection of the Kingdom. F591

It is as a help to the right course that Paul points to justice as a consideration for rendering honor, respect and service to whom it is due. R1556:1

Kings are not always personally worthy of honor; but honor is always due to the office, which is "ordained of God." (Rom. 13:1) R1555:5, 1163:2

There is danger that some might render too much honor to human instruments. R2079:5

Romans 13:8

Owe no man anything -- Habitual petty borrowing indicates improper neglect and troublous annoyance. F569

"Let your moderation be known unto all men." (Phil. 4:5) All expenditures should be curtailed and brought, not only down to the income, but a little less--leaving some for our future, for the Lord, or for the poor. F565
Even to natural Israel, the house of servants, the Lord laid down the injunction that if faithful to him they should be lenders, not borrowers. (Deut. 15:6) F564

The new creature should be glad to acknowledge fully the earthly rights and claims of others--his own rights and claims of an earthly kind having been renounced in favor of the spiritual, the heavenly. F590

New creatures should realize that they are debtors to the Lord to an untold amount, and thus they are to have so generous a feeling toward all mankind that they will desire to pay off every obligation. R3029:3

The Apostle declared that he was a debtor to the Jews and the Greeks. We likewise owe a debt to our parents, to the community in which we live, and to our nation. R3029:3

It is simple justice that our lives shall testify to our appreciation of all, and be a help toward the best interests of each with whom we have to do. R3029:6

Brotherly love could lend or even give, to assist a brother in necessity. F567

Be generous, tender-hearted, err on the side of too great generosity rather than to be hard-hearted, selfish. R5005:6

An obligation of friendship is a lifelong debt--a loan of money or credit on which the friend expected and received no gain or profit. Endeavors to make it good should always remain with the debtor. F566

Families are not responsible for their deceased's debts. F567

Each should be very careful how he goes into debt. If obliged to borrow he should give some security; otherwise, he had better wait until the Lord arranges things some other way. Q61:2

Unless you can give security and pay the debt when it becomes due. R3180:2

The placing of a mortgage on one's property is acceptable. F567

Never jeopardize your own credit, nor risk your own business, nor impoverish your own family in order to help others. F569

The laws concerning bankruptcy may be used in business debts, as the Jubilee canceled Israel's debts. F566

To love one another -- We should by love serve one another. R31:6

We can never discharge this obligation, to love. It is upon us every hour of life, and enters into all of life's interests. Other obligations we may meet and be through with, but not this debt. R4401:2

Love may go beyond the law and do more than justice could require--in self-sacrifice--but it cannot do less. R5006:4

This is our obligation toward God, the Church, our families, and all men, even our enemies. R4401:2, 3180:3, 1789:1

God so loved the world, even while they were yet sinners, that he redeemed them at great cost. We also should love them with the same tender compassion; if we love God, we will delight to do so. R1789:2

If we have the spirit of the Lord, we will make every allowance for the infirmities of the flesh, the strength of temptation and the imperfections of knowledge, and know we also are short of perfection. R1712:5

"Let us love, not in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth."

(1 John 3:18) R32:2

It does not seem necessary or prudent to alarm the world respecting coming distress, but be full of mercy. "None of the wicked shall understand."

"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." (Dan.

12:10; Matt. 6:34) F592

That loveth another -- He that loveth all others so that he is constantly seeking to do them good is following the holy law, the perfect will of God. R3029:6

When we thus love, we will watch every word and action, lest we should offend our brother, for we would not hurt the feelings of any one whom we love. R31:6

Hath fulfilled the law -- Particular about little parts of the Law, Pharisees were careless with its spirit of love. Jesus declared that his followers must be more right in heart than the Pharisees or they could not be begotten. R5007:4

"The righteousness of the Law is fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit." (Rom. 8:4) R5005:2

The Ten Commandments were not given to the Church, but the spirit of them is comprehended in the word love, which is the law of the new creation.

R4856:5

Romans 13:9

For this -- If any follower of Jesus should violate the Ten Commandments and teach men so to do, it would be done through ignorance and misunderstanding, and would mark him as weak, a follower of Jesus on a low plane. R5007:2

We (the followers of Jesus) are not under the Law Covenant, but under Grace. We are to keep the divine law as nearly as we possibly can and to accept by faith God's arrangement--"by his stripes we are healed." (1 Pet. 2:24) R5005:2

The commands of the Decalogue were merely attempts to bring down to the natural man's comprehension the real spirit of the divine Law. R3030:1

Thou shalt not -- All of these commands presuppose a fallen condition of mind. R4401:3

These were proper enough for the house of servants, but when the house of sons was instituted, the law of love was substituted. R3030:1

Commit adultery -- Self-love and self-gratification lie back of adultery. R4401:3

Kill -- Self-love and self-gratification lie back of murder. R4401:3

Steal -- A result of selfishness, the opposite of love. R4401:3 Whoever loves his brother would not wish to steal from him either his property or his good name. R5266:1

It would be rather incongruous for the Lord to say this to the Church, for they would have passed from every such condition of mind before they could become his. R4856:5

Bear false witness -- The opposite of love. R4401:3

Covet -- Selfishness, the opposite of love, leads to coveting the things belonging to another. R4401:3

Other commandment -- If there be any other thing that should be prohibited, any other thing contrary to the law of God. R3030:2

Love -- Greek, agape, disinterested charity, benevolence. R2807:4 Meets all the requirements of the "shalt nots" of the Ten Commandments, and much more. R3180:4, 3030:2

To love another because he loved us, to give to another in the hope that he would equally befriend us, to do any good act with a hope to have as good or better return, would be selfish. R5005:6

All the commandments are covered in the covenant of love. Those who are in Christ would not injure their neighbor's interests nor in any manner encroach upon his rights. R5006:4

Thy neighbour -- In so doing we will be fulfilling the law toward him to the best of our ability. R5006:4

Loving our neighbor would be only a part of the fulfilling of the entire love to God. R3180:4

As thyself -- Not as he loves us. R3030:2

The same love to our neighbor that we have for ourselves, the same desire for his welfare, his prosperity, his happiness, his health, reputation, property, feelings. R4401:3

It does not say "Better than thyself:" Christ's course of self-sacrifice in our behalf went beyond this requirement. R3804:6, 3805:1

Love -- Greek, agape, disinterested love. R2807:5

The mark of Christian character. R2754:1, 4153:6, 2807:4

Without which no other grace of character would be truly beautiful. R2202:2

God is pleased to give his holy Spirit, the spirit of love. Love does not see the faults of others nor is it blind to its own. It is not a general critic or fault-finder. It is sympathetic, helpful. R2590:2

Love delights to bless. Against its pure and benevolent instincts there is no law. It is noble, generous, free, frank, unselfish, kind, tender-hearted, pitiful, helpful and true. R1789:1

None will ever have full divine approval without the full establishment in the heart and character of this divine quality. R4443:2

Supreme love to God and the neighbor is that disposition of heart that will make us victorious in every trial and temptation. R3830:5; SM163:T

There is a danger of manifesting a brotherly love where it should be withheld, and that in the interest of the brother. R3033:3

"God is love." So when man is restored again to the image of God--"very good"--man also will be a living expression of love. R2607:4

Inherited sin is in strong opposition to this law of love. R5123:4

Worketh no ill -- Nor does it wish ill. R5687:5

No injury of any sort. R4401:3

It rejoices not to find flaws; it does not seek for them. R5274:2

But delights itself rather in deeds of kindness and benevolence. R1738:1, 3030:2

Love for all the brethren is a sure indication that we love as new creatures. This love means we will do them no injury, that we will speak no evil respecting them, that we will not even surmise evil. R5348:4

If one willfully injures another, he has to the same extent injured himself. Q798:4

Whoever would work ill to his neighbor, with full knowledge, would not have love. Ignorance, superstition, misunderstanding, and imperfection of the flesh might work ill unintentionally. R4850:1

If we injure our neighbor in word, act or thought, it must have been from a bad motive--unless we did it ignorantly. R4524:1

Some of our Catholic and Protestant friends have worked ill to their neighbors. We cannot say that they had no love, but that they did not have it to the degree required by the Law. R4850:1

"Speak evil of no man." (Titus 3:2) R3030:4

The true soldier starts a campaign against the well-intrenched evils and weaknesses of his fallen flesh. His drill recognizes that perfect love must rule, and that evil speaking comes from evil thinking. R3275:4

The Lord receives us into his school, which means instruction. God purposes that all in this school shall come to the place where their hearts will approve only that which is approved of the Lord. R3275:4

Therefore -- This gives us the thought that the Apostle had in mind the Jewish Law and not the law of the New Creation. R4850:2

Love is -- Greek, agape, disinterested love. R2807:5

Noble, generous, free, frank, unselfish, kind, tender, pitiful and true. R1789:1

Love expresses the full measure of the Law's requirements. R5287:2 The spirit of God's Law. R614:6; SM11:1

The kind of love epitomized in our Lord's command, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself." (Matt. 22:37, 39) A246

Love might go much further than would justice. And the Church shall love on the highest plane of life. R5072:2

If we have pure, fervent love, and walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit. R1188:1

Our warmest affections, our profoundest gratitude, and our implicit faith and obedience should be manifested in our conduct toward our heavenly Father in an effort to learn and do his will. R1117:5*

Love for the Lord would prompt one to be obedient to his just commands. Q799:T

A loving spirit affects our health and strength, spiritual and physical; our faces will show that we by faith grasp the promises and daily strive to live so as to maintain our relationship with the Lord. SM338:2

Supreme love to God (laying hold upon his mighty power, trusting his wisdom) and then to the neighbor as to self (pure, peaceable, kind) is that disposition of heart that will make us victorious in trial. R3830:5

When we speak of embroidering our robes for the inspection of the Lord or for the marriage, embroidery represents love. SM259:1

The superiority of love is that it will endure throughout eternity. R4042:6

In their endeavor to measure up to the divine standards, some are in danger of erring in an opposite direction--of manifesting a brotherly love where it should be withheld in the interest of the brother. R3033:3

The reward of the "sheep" will be granted because they cultivated love.

The Lord will consider their loving deeds as done unto him, counting them his brethren, though they will be human and he divine. R2606:5

When man is restored again to the image of God--"very good"--man also will be love. R195:6, 2607:4, 655:5

Selfishness, the work of the Devil, displaces love. Selfish ambitions have a distracting influence and remove us from the Lord. Anger, malice, hatred, and envy are branches from this root of selfishness. R5099:6

The fulfilling -- The "thou shalt nots" might be multiplied indefinitely to fit the thousands of occurrences in daily life, but the one "thou shalt" covers the entire situation. R5287:2

Love to God would lead us to do all those things which are inculcated in his Word; and love for our neighbor would lead us to fulfill all our obligations toward them. R5359:6

Love delights to bless, and against its pure and benevolent instincts there is no law. R1789:1

This text is speaking to "everyone that believeth," for whom "Christ is the end of the Law"; those whose love to God produces a spirit of obedience. "The righteousness of the Law is fulfilled in us." (Rom. 10:4; 8:4) R315:2

We who are in Christ Jesus have the righteousness of the Law fulfilled in us. R5099:6, 2757:1

Filled full, completely met; requires that the heart shall be full of love. R4850:1, 3030:4

Love shall be the test, not only of his deeds; but also of his words and thoughts. SM11:1

"The end or purpose of the divine commandment is love out of a pure heart and a good conscience." (1 Tim. 1:5) R4153:6

When we were sinners, aliens from God, Christ died for us. Can we not in part repay him by loving in return? If we have his spirit, we will love him; for love begets love. R31:5

Merely abstaining from evil and loving our neighbor as ourselves would not fulfill the law as given to the new creature, but it would fill the Law of justice given to the Jews. R4850:2

The divine law which the Apostle had specially before his mind was the Law given to Israel (Deut. 6:5; Lev. 19:18). All the mind and soul and strength are required to fulfill this Law. R4850:1

To be a member of the Royal Priesthood who covenant to lay down their lives as a sacrifice, requires more than mere fulfilling the demands of the Law. It requires love to a self-sacrificing degree. R5644:4

Love for God controls life as respects holiness; and love for the neighbor, as respects earthly justice. R4374:4

If we cultivate and possess the heart quality of love (God-likeness) it will be acceptable--because Jesus' sacrifice makes good all deficiency. R5369:6, 4567:6

Whoever comes short of this law of love in heart intention is unfit for the Kingdom, and will not be of the Little Flock or Great Company. During the Millennial age, all must attain perfect love actually. R4401:2

Whoever has most of it will come nearest to the standard. R3754:4

Jesus told the rich young ruler, "One thing thou lackest." You have not apprehended the spirit of the law. You have been getting the shell, but have overlooked the essence--love. (Mark 10:21) R2728:2

With the world, at the beginning of the new age, it would be a law quite over their heads to say, You should love everybody. They would need to have some simple statements, such as the Decalogue. R4856:5

Of the law -- The divine law; especially the Law given to Israel. R4850:1, 5359:6, 2269:4; SM469:1

The law of love is the real law of God. It was written in the perfect nature of the first perfect man, when he was created in God's likeness and image. R1499:2

We have been freed from the letter of the Law by the death of Christ. If we walk after the spirit of the Law (love), there is no condemnation. We may thus have life through Christ. R614:6

The dominion of earth conferred upon man was to be exercised in harmony with the law of love. A246

The Ten Commandments were not given to the Church, but the spirit of them is comprehended in the word love, which is the law of the new creation. R4856:5, 4850:1

When man is restored again to the image of God--"very good"--man will be love, as "God is love." R655:5

Those who have made a consecration to the Lord constitute the pure in heart. But the purity of their hearts and wills does not remove the battle they wage. The law of their depraved members is of selfishness. R5123:5

Godlikeness is love-likeness. Our great Creator, the only living and true God, is thus seen in contrast with all the gods of the heathen, who are pitiless, merciless, vengeful, devilish. SM469:2

Human reasoning can be earthly and selfish; while the wisdom from above, reasoning on the basis of a proved divine revelation, is pure, peaceable, gentle. R1567:4

If we have pure and fervent love, and if we walk not after the flesh but after the spirit, the law is reckoned as fulfilled in us. R1188:1

Romans 13:11

And that -- Having considered our duty to rulers and neighbors the Apostle next turns to the Christian's duty toward himself. R3180:5

Knowing the time -- Knowing that the time is short in which to build up this godlike and Christlike character. R3830:5

The time for the establishment of the Kingdom is very nigh. R5450:3

The near approach of the day of Christ when virtue will meet its just reward. R1789:4

The chronology is the basis of nearly all the suggestions of prophetic interpretations set forth, but the chronology of the Bible is not stated with great clearness: fractions ignored--breaks are in it. R5450:5

Our acceptance of chronology is based on faith that God wished that we might have some knowledge of the times and seasons, and yet wished that it might be so obscure and indefinite as to require our faith. R5450:5 All readers should use their own judgment along the lines of chronology. R5450:6

We look for the Church Federation to reach its climax of organization and power prior to the full ending of the Gospel age and the glorification of the last members of the Church. R5450:6

High time to awake -- Greek, egeiro, to arouse, stir. R1512:2

To a closer walk and intimate fellowship with God. R3830:6

Time for earnest searching and self-examination, not allowing things of this present evil world to absorb our thoughts and energies to the imperiling of our heavenly hopes. R5770:3

Each day, week, month and year should find us more awake and more zealous and more appreciative of our wonderful privileges. R4401:6

Let us assist in awakening all the wise virgins from the lethargy which misunderstandings of God's Word have induced. HG264:1

The Apostle was addressing Christians in whom the new life had been begun.

But after the early Christian experience of turning from sin to righteousness, there comes later to some a measure of carelessness. R4401:5

Out of sleep -- Drowsiness, a spirit of the world, when the beautiful truths lose some of their freshness. R4401:5

Out of ignorance, superstition, blindness, sordidness. R3180:5

Some, surrounded by the cares of this life, or weary in the struggle against sin, have become drowsy, so stand in need of this stirring exhortation. R3830:6

Our salvation -- We do not know exactly how many days still remain before that glorious consummation. R5450:2

Only "believers" (in a reckoned sense) grasp "the hope of salvation" and anticipate it by faith. We are "heirs of salvation," and are "kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation." (1 Thes. 5:8; Heb. 1:14; 1 Pet. 1:5) R2051:2

Nearer than -- We do not know exactly how many days remain before the change of first resurrection; we cannot say positively just what day or hour the Messianic blessings will begin. But they are nearing. R5450:2
This should increase our zeal. R3295:2

As we review the leadings of divine providence, let God's goodness and mercy stimulate our confidence in him. Let us render thanks for the past and lift up our heads, realizing that our deliverance is near. R2738:4

The consummation of this Gospel age is now at the door. It will end in a great time of trouble. The great crisis, the great clash that will consume the ecclesiastical heavens and the earth is very near. R5450:3

The greater nearness should make many features of that salvation much more conspicuous. Thus we see that the foundation has been laid for God's return of favor to humanity--a sin-offering and atonement. HG670:4

Nearer than when the first members of the Body of Christ walked in this narrow way of self-sacrifice. R4513:4

The Apostle wrote after four thousand years had passed and when the fifth was under way. We live when the entire six thousand-year days are in the past and the Millennium is chronologically already begun. R4401:6

The early Church could only speak of time from a general standpoint. They knew that time was passing, the day of deliverance was drawing near, and it was closer at hand than when they had first believed. R3030:5

When we believed -- When we first believed. R4513:4

Nothing could shake our faith in the divine plan of the ages--that all the families of the earth will be blessed, that God sent his Son to be man's Redeemer, that the Church has been called to share with Jesus. R5450:2

"Faithful is he who called us, who also will do it." (1 Thes. 5:24) R5450:2

The night -- That period of darkness which set in after Adam fell. R5097:2

The six days preceding the Millennial age constitute the night time, in which sin abounds, in which "darkness covers the earth and gross darkness the people." (Isa. 60:2) R3030:5

The Jewish people had the light of the moon, the Law Covenant and its promises, which shines with a light reflected from the sun. But they often went from the light of their Law and walked in the shadows. R5338:5

This is the time mentioned by the prophet in which "weeping endures for the night." (Psa. 30:5) R3030:5; HG415:4

Is far spent -- More than two-thirds gone at the time the Apostle wrote. R3030:5, 5768:3, 3180:6; HG415:4

From whatever standpoint we view the matter, it must be that the night-time of sin is far spent. It must be that the morning of the new dispensation is near. R4401:6

A short time from God's standpoint, and even from the human standpoint it would be a short time to each individual. R3180:6

The day -- The Millennial age is reckoned as the seventh day--the Sabbath or rest day. R3030:5

The Millennial age has already begun; the day of the Lord is now at hand, now present. R5769:4, 5770:5, 3830:6, 1155:5

The glorious Sabbath day. R5768:3 The last day, the great seventh day. R5339:4

From different perspectives, the Gospel age may be called day, or the first advent of our Lord, or the Reformation following the Dark Ages, or the present time. But now the Sun of Righteousness will rise. R5097:3

We are living in the early dawn of a new dispensation, and as soon as the harvest of the Gospel age shall have been garnered, "the kingdoms of this world" shall "become the Kingdom of our Lord." (Rev. 11:15) R5097:3

When virtue will meet its just reward, and when sin and selfishness will be exposed in all their horrid deformity. R1789:4

Is at hand -- The apostles and early Church were living in the fifth day. There was only one more day to intervene before the seventh. R5339:5 How much more appropriate is this exhortation to us who are now living--to us who already see with the eye of faith the Day Star, and the first rays of the Millennial morning's light. R3030:5 We are living in the early dawn of a new dispensation. R5097:3, 3180:6

Even now the gray streaks of dawn appear. R3830:6

The Lord designed that the second coming should be constantly an incentive throughout the age. R3180:6

In the great revolutions of thought in this wonderful "Day of Jehovah," it is refreshing to observe that the dim outlines of God's purpose are beginning to dawn upon the minds of sincere thinkers. R1154:2

Cast off -- Live in accordance with our citizenship and our responsibilities toward the Prince of Light and in opposition to the prince of darkness, his works and his ways. R5339:6

Because we are no longer in sympathy with the things of darkness. R3030:6

Works of darkness -- "Darkness covers the earth, and gross darkness the people." Satan is called the prince of darkness, and he is working in the children of disobedience. (Isa. 60:2; Eph. 2:2) R5338:2

The darkness is the result of ignorance, superstition and misunderstanding--the whole heathen world is in gross darkness. R5769:5

Those things done in the dark; works of sin. These are not done in the open, as a rule. R5769:6

Evil has brought sorrow and the darkness of ignorance and superstition among mankind until human affairs have become demoralized. R5097:2
Injustice. R3030:6

Superstition and ignorance. R5098:1, 5769:5

Everything that is selfish and sinful. R5339:6, 5768:3

Everything pertaining to sin and error. R4401:6

Any works that will not stand the fullest approval in the light of the new dispensation. R3181:1

Things occult, things not in fullest harmony with the Lord. R4402:2

"Abstain from all appearance of evil." (1 Thes. 5:22) It would not be consistent with righteousness to do otherwise, as well as abstaining from the evil itself, because we love purity and delight in moral excellence. R1789:4

God's power overrules the wrath of man and makes it to praise him; the remainder, which will not accomplish good, but which would be subversive of the divine arrangements, he will restrain. (Psa. 76:10) R3179:6

The Jews were in darkness in respect to God's plan and the meaning of the promise to Abraham and his seed respecting the blessing of the world. R5769:5

Let us -- Who are of the day. R5098:1

The majority of the world would doubtless prefer right rather than wrong if all the conditions were favorable. But the Lord is now calling the ones who say, I will devote my all to do what is right. R5338:3

Put on -- That we may stand approved in that day. R1789:4

As our necessary preparation for the trials of this particular time. R3181:1, 4401:6

We have enlisted with Christ, and we will fight against the enemies of our new nature. We will strive earnestly, that we may be associated with the Lord in his Kingdom of righteousness. R5339:6

We change our will and also our outward appearance and habits of life, enabling us to represent our Lord as his ambassadors--changed into our Lord's likeness, as we get clearer views of his glorious character. R3030:6

The armour of light -- The armor of righteousness and truth. R3831:1

To protect you, not as a robe, but as an armor over the robe--put on the breastplate of righteousness and take the sword of the spirit. (Eph. 6:14, 17) R5770:1, 3030:6

The armor which protects from the darts of the Adversary, and includes the helmet of salvation. R5339:6

Light is made the Christian's shield, whose beams search into every nook and cranny of earth's impurity. R135:6

The whole armor of God; not a useless weight, but a necessary protection in battle. R5098:1

That we may stand approved in that day. R1789:4

The Christian is learning of his own weaknesses and of God's mercy, and growing strong in battling for the right day by day. R5638:6

Those who will be joint-heirs with Messiah must learn obedience. They must not only be outwardly obedient, but inwardly obedient to the spirit or intent of the Lord's law. R5638:3

The Jews had stars--Abraham, David and the prophets. These were luminaries that shed more or less light upon their pathway. R5338:5

When Jesus came, he was the one chosen of God to be the Light of the world. But he was not this light to all. His light was very local, and sometimes obscure because of the ignorance and blindness prevalent. R5338:6
Wherever the true light of Jesus comes it reproves these works of darkness. R5770:1

The true children of God as candles are to set themselves upon the candlestick (and not to put their light under a bushel) to give light to all in darkness about them. R3030:5

Romans 13:13

Let us walk -- Let us daily progress. R5340:4

Live. R4402:2

Honestly -- Honest with God, honest with ourselves, with our neighbors, and with the brethren. R3031:2

Not only in money matters, but also in the treatment of neighbors and the brethren, and above all in confessions respecting God and our faith.

R5098:3, 3181:3, 3031:2

In the sense of conscientiously, openly, having nothing that we would need to secrete from the whole world, if they were able to understand our motives. R5340:1

Becomingly; in harmony with our faith, our hope, our appreciation of the Lord, our appreciation of the morning light. R4402:1

A pastoral exhortation to be on guard against the sins and principles which generally prevailed. R5770:4

As in the day -- As though we were living in the broad daylight. R5098:5

Works of darkness thrive at night. R5770:5

Live as those will be living when the Millennial day shall have fully come. R5770:5, 3181:2

The shadows of night still linger. It is much more difficult now than if the day had fully come and all the allurements of darkness were banished by the bright shining of the Sun of Righteousness. R3031:1

Joy cometh in the morning of the (seventh) Millennium when "the sun of righteousness" shall chase the darkness away, and cause the earth to be filled with the light of the knowledge of the glory of God. (Psa. 30:5; Mal. 4:2; 2 Cor. 4:6) R3030:5

Not in rioting -- A spirit of anarchy, a lack of orderly behavior.

R5341:1

Worldly revelries, time-killing pleasures. R3181:4

Of the grossest sinners nor in the refined figurative reveling of worldliness, fashion and ostentation. R3031:2

And drunkenness -- The Spirit of the Lord gives a sober mind, a thoughtful mind, a reasonable mind. Some may become careless in their walk. The only proper course is to avoid all excess and worldliness.

R5340:5

Babylon made drunk the inhabitants of the earth with a stupefaction of the mind, a crazed condition. (Rev. 17:2) R5340:5

No saint should ever be intoxicated; no drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of God. "They that tarry long at the wine" reached that condition through habit, expecting that they could be moderate. (Prov.

23:30) R5098:6

One can become intoxicated with pleasure of any kind. R4402:1

Intoxication with the spirit of the world, as respects wealth, business, dress, music, art. R3181:4, 5340:4, 5098:6

Not in chambering -- Unlawful intercourse or fellowship--including things of darkness, sins, the occult, things that are not in fullest harmony with the Lord. R4402:2

Inordinateness in sexual matters. R3181:5

We are betrothed to the Lord Jesus, as his Bride and are to be separate from the world, pure in heart, undefiled by wrong union with Babylon. (Rev. 14:4) R3031:4

Improper associations. R3031:4, 5098:5

And wantonness -- Selfishness; may apply to refined kinds of self-gratification; pampering of appetites and failure to sacrifice earthly pleasures in the service of the Lord or in doing good to all we contact. R4402:2

In worldliness or sectarianism. R3031:4

Strife -- Contention, willfulness, arousing jealousy and ambition on behalf of self or others, for prominence in the Body. R5098:6, 3181:6

We should follow peace, seek to promote the interests of peace in our home, our neighborhood, and amongst the Lord's people. R4402:2

We are not to indulge in strife of the national sort, leading to wars; nor of the commercial sort, leading to injustice and unkind competition; nor amongst the brethren. R3031:4

And envying -- Indicating a wrong condition of heart on the part of the transgressor that would eventually bar him from the Kingdom. R5098:6, 3181:5

Jealousy is a fruitful source of much injury in the Church. No other evil quality can lead to more harm to ourselves and others. R4402:3

Put ye on -- Put on his character. R5641:3, 3181:6

Substitute our garment of the old nature with new clothing, the livery of heaven, so others may know us outwardly as children of God. R4402:3,4

"Your citizenship is in heaven." (Phil. 3:20, Revised Version) R3179:6

Implies a change of will. R3031:4

Put on his loving, generous, noble, pure spirit: study and copy his life, which was an illustration of the perfect law of God. R1789:4

Lord Jesus Christ -- The mind or disposition, the spirit of love and loyalty, which characterized him. R5770:4, 3831:1, 1789:4

The work of a life-time. R4402:4

To stop trying to be good, and only give your attention to gaining a knowledge of God's plan, would not lead men to a higher and purer life, as the apostles exhort. R121:1*

Make not provision -- The "Vow unto the Lord" is helpful to many along this line. R4402:5

In proportion as we yield to the improper desires of the flesh, in that same proportion the flesh will prosper and the spiritual new nature will languish. R3031:5

We should not shape our affairs so as to yield to any of the demands of the flesh, which are contrary to the will of the Lord. R3031:5, 3181:6; CR455:4 The mind, and the desires, of the flesh are to be considered as mortal enemies. R2336:3

Completely ignore the desires of the old nature, thus manifesting the singleness and fixedness of your purpose to follow him. R1789:4

For the flesh -- The flesh generally has its own way; for that reason the overcoming self-sacrificers will be but a Little Flock. R4402:5

For a list of the works of the flesh see Gal. 5:19-21. R121:1*

Romans 14

Romans 14:1

Weak in the faith -- "Weak" is the Greek word astheneo, and here denotes moral or spiritual sickness. R4099:2*

Faith, in its beginning, is always comparatively weak; but God does not despise the day of small things. "A bruised reed shall he not break." The strong in the faith are taught to bear with the weak. R2163:4*

Not fully committed to Christ. R1868:2

In bondage. R1734:6

We are not all alike strong in the faith. Some weak in the faith can see that Christ is our Redeemer, but cannot as yet realize the liberty we have in Christ. R974:5, 1734:3

Receive ye -- The weaker brethren must be left to the liberty of their conscience and should be received as brethren, and the truth alone must gradually educate them. R974:6, 1734:5

But not to -- Do not meet to discuss the unbeliever's doubts, but to confirm the believer's faith. R1868:2, 3019:1

Doubtful disputations -- It would be unwise for us to shut and lock the door of interrogation and contrary expressions as thoroughly to exclude all that might be considered error. F318

The consideration of secular subjects, worldly sciences and philosophies should be excluded, and only the study of the divine revelation be discussed. F318 The congregation should recognize the difference between the foundation principles of the doctrines of Christ and the discussion of advanced doctrines. F318

The discussion of non-fundamentals should at all times have full, free opportunities to be heard, and there should be meetings at which they can be heard. F318

Controversies should not be heard over and over, and an individual should not be permitted to confuse and distract every meeting and every topic with some particular hobby. F318

Let a hobby be given a fair discussion at an appropriate time, with some well versed in the Truth; if ruled out as unscriptural, let the promoter refrain from intruding the subject for a year. F318

If it is not permitted to express a contrary thought, there is the danger of falling into the condition of Christendom, in which it is impossible to find access to their ears, every approach being guarded. F318

An individual having a theory would not feel satisfied unless it should have a hearing; after having been heard reasonably, he would respect the impropriety of intruding the matter again. F318

Trust that discipline and experience and growth in grace and knowledge will gradually bring him to the liberty which others might reach more quickly. R974:6, 1734:5

Romans 14:2

All things -- Used by way of contrast with "herbs only." R1778:2, 1269:4

As we would say, "ate anything and everything." R1778:2, 1269:4

Who is weak -- Greek, astheneo, without strength; as in, "Is any sick?" (James 5:14) R4099:2,6*

Under bondage to some law under which he thinks himself. R1734:3, 974:5

Eateth herbs -- Vegetables only. R974:5, 1734:3, 1269:4

God hath received him -- Each should learn to grant the other full liberty of conscience. It should be sufficient for us to know that God accepts even of the weakest ones. R1734:3, 974:5

Romans 14:4

Judget -- Neither the world nor the brethren were capable of judging Paul; only the Lord, who could read the heart, could properly judge him. And we are not to condemn others who claim to be walking as God's children. R2480:2

No one has the right to judge his fellow man in regard to which day he should observe the Sabbath. If anyone presumes to so judge, he is violating a direct command of the Lord. (Col. 2:16) Q824:T

Another man's servant -- Temptation to meddle in matters the Lord has put into the hands of another. R4305:3

To his own master -- The Lord. R4305:3, 2480:2

It is not ours to judge, but to help the brethren by word, by example, every way. CR38:4

Standeth or falleth -- It is for the Lord to approve or disapprove. We are not to grasp management or control, or in any degree to force our views upon others. R4305:3

To make him stand -- In their testing or judgment. R3052:5

Because his imperfections are covered by the robe of Christ's righteousness. R3052:5

14:5

One day above another -- It would be well for us to keep Sunday more particularly than any other people in the world; we very likely do. We have a day full of spiritual enjoyment, preaching the Gospel, enjoying its message. R4920:1, 5412:5

Let us reverentially keep Sunday, not as under the bondage of the Law, but as a great privilege and opportunity for fellowship in spiritual things, better than any we could ourselves devise. R4085:1

Some claim that the first day Sabbath was introduced by an edict of one of the popes. But this is a mistake: it had its start in the fact that it was on the first day that our Lord arose and met with the disciples. R1727:4, 1446:5

We have learned to esteem every day as holy unto the Lord, but we shall not offend the conscience of other Christians who regard the first day as holier than the rest; we delight in such a day. R1580:5, 5412:5, 4085:1

Since Jesus has blotted out the handwriting of ordinances which was contrary to us, and nailed it to his cross, no man should judge us in respect of an holy day, a part of the shadow of things to come. R543:4

The question of Sabbath-keeping is one that depends on the intent of the observer. If he keeps the seventh day as under "Moses' Law," in hope of gaining its blessings, then Christ is profiting them nothing. R543:5

We cannot gain life by keeping the Law, for none can keep it perfectly; to keep the third commandment and to fail in any other point, deprives of life and condemns to death under the Law Covenant. R543:5

Failing to realize that they are all to be counted as days in which his glory is to be sought. HG583:6*

The seventh day was commanded in the Law given to the Israelites to be a holy day. That Law is still binding upon the Jews. Q823:4; R5412:5

A Seventh Day Adventist or a Protestant or a Catholic should observe the day that he believes is commanded; it would not be right for him to violate his conscience by doing otherwise. Q823:4

Every day alike -- All the days of the week are consecrated to the service of the Lord, and all of the labors of the week are done with an eye single to God's glory. R1557:3, 1727:3, 1446:4
Holy unto the Lord, a sabbath or rest of faith. (Heb. 4:10) R1580:4, 5412:5
A proper time and occasion may occur for explaining our higher thought respecting the significance of the Sabbath. R4084:6
Paul was the Lord's agency in leading the Church in general into true liberty; sometimes he met with the Church on the first day, and sometimes went into the synagogues on the seventh day. R543:5
The Apostle used the opportunities of the Sabbath (the seventh day of the week) in the Jewish synagogues, not as a Jew under the Law, but as a Christian free from the Law, esteeming every day alike. R1557:3
Under the Law the seventh day was commanded for rest. He who trusts in Jesus as his justifier rests from attempting to do the work and accepts it as a finished work--a gift of God through Jesus. R543:5
The time for entering by faith into the real rest came at Pentecost. The time for entering actually into the real rest is just at hand, at the ushering in of the new dispensation. R1446:3
The Law was never given to the Gospel Church, but its righteousness (right-meaning) is fulfilled in us. There can be no bondage to the observance of any day. R543:3

Fully persuaded -- Each should carry out fully the conviction of his own mind, but not make up his mind and stick to it right or wrong. R1734:4, 974:5

At the same time having patience and consideration for the weaker brethren. R5556:1

We are not to make up our mind what is the will of God for others. R5556:1

The Lord's people must grasp the fundamentals--that all were sinners; that Jesus redeemed us by his sacrifice; that we are being taught and fitted in the school of Christ; and full consecration. F327

Though realizing his liberties in Christ, the Apostle was not anxious to use his liberty except as between the Lord and himself, and such of the brethren as could appreciate the matter. R2118:6

In his own mind -- It is a common mistake to attempt to force all to decide on exactly the same conclusion respecting the meaning of the Lord's Word. F326

If he shall make up his mind on this subject, from the foregoing statements of the Apostle, he will be persuaded that there is no law except love. R543:3

Romans 14:6

Regardeth it unto the Lord -- We do not consider it wrong to do on Sunday whatever might be done on other days, but our conduct might have an injurious effect upon others and so discount all that we could say to them along religious lines. R4920:1, 5412:4

We should so conduct ourselves in the observance of Sunday as would bring no disrespect to the Lord nor to his Word. R4084:6, 5412:3

What wonder that, without any command to do so, they loved to meet together on that first day, giving thanks, breaking bread, recounting the gracious promises of God and the Lord's explanations of them. R1727:4

None of us -- Only Christ and the Church have entered in to such a covenant of self-renunciation. R5324:2

Liveth to himself -- As for the world, they do live to themselves. Their own personal interests stand first with them. R5324:2

Romans 14:8

Live unto the Lord -- To do his will and not our own will, to serve him and not to serve self. R5324:2

Die unto the Lord -- In the sense that they are counted as members of the Body of Christ. R5324:2

We are the Lord's -- Love is the principal thing. Whoever has love and sympathy most highly developed, the Lord will esteem as highly developed along the lines most essential for a place in his mediatorial Kingdom. R5324:4

One viewpoint of the Lord's will is not as right as the other, and we are to grow to be strong; but we are not to rail at the weak, nor make light of him, nor force him to violate his conscience. R974:6, 1734:5

To this end -- From the moment that Jesus said, "It is finished," and died, the "crisis" was past. That was the great turning point, the decisive act which legally released man from the bondage of death. R669:2 Jesus, by reason of his "purchase" (a full transfer of man's account, his indebtedness, etc.) with his own precious blood, is now in consequence the owner, master, "Lord, of all." E18 When risen from the dead, he no longer said, "I can of mine own self do nothing"; he then declared, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." Him hath God raised up to be prince and Saviour. (John 5:30; Matt. 28:18; Acts 5:31) R745:4

Christ became David's Lord and the root from which David must receive life at his resurrection, by virtue of Christ's death. The authority was recognized of God, and declared to men, by Christ's resurrection. R810:1 Jesus is not David's Lord by reason of anything that he was as a spirit being. He became David's superior, "Lord of all," by reason of the great work which he accomplished as the Mediator of the Atonement. E134

Adam was lord of the earth; Jesus died to be lord of the dead, the living, the uttermost parts of the earth. Christ took the natural to redeem the natural; possesses the spiritual to impart the spiritual. R483:6*, 43:5*
The work of redeeming by death is not to be confounded with the work of the second Adam, which is to impart spiritual life. Christ did not become the second Adam until he was made a "quickenning spirit." (1 Cor. 15:45)
R43:5*

The penalty of our sin was death. The question was, "Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" And the answer points out, "[He] bare our sins in his own body on the tree." (Rom. 7:24; 1 Pet. 2:24) R641:6, 464:1
When the Lord occupies his throne, the Church reigns with him--over all nations, dead and living, else their title "Seed of Abraham" is a misnomer. (Col. 3:4; Gal. 3:29) HG336:5

Christ -- This completed Christ, including all who present their bodies a living sacrifice, having suffered and died and lived again glorified, becomes Lord or age-lasting Father of the human family restored. R316:5*

Died -- He died that he might thereby have the right to control all who have gone into death. R5612:1, 709:5

Rose, and revived -- Our Lord's death, raising and revival were necessary features of the redemptive work. R4633:3

Died and revived--Oldest Greek manuscripts. R1853:6

That he might be -- By his death and resurrection. HG359:5

After his resurrection. B133

It was by virtue of our Lord's death that he became the master, ruler, father of the race, and obtained power to deal with the race as with his own children, freed from the curse of the divine sentence. E453

This text very appropriately states the valuable transaction accomplished by our Lord. His death was a necessary feature of the redemptive work; his raising and revival were also necessary. R4633:3

In his resurrection he became the heavenly Lord. A133

Ruler, controller. A149; E18; R726:3*, 709:5, 43:5

Master, owner. R1286:4, 1970:3, 726:3*, 641:6, 464:1, 61:2*

Governor. "Lordship" signifies dominion, power, authority. R726:3*, 61:2*

David's Lord; Lord of all. E134

Lord of the Sabbath, Lord and Christ, Lord of glory, Lord from heaven, One Lord Jesus Christ, One Lord, one faith, Lord of Jew and Gentile, Lord of angels. R61:2*

The Anglo-Saxon word, Hlaford, signifies Breadkeeper, and is applied to one who has the care and control of a family. The title of Lord thus applied to Jesus expresses a glorious fullness of power and love. R61:2*

Our Lord, having provided a ransom for Adam's race with his own life, can justly give a new offer of life to them all. A141

With the right and power to deal with the race as with his own children. E453

If you would lay hold of the great salvation of Rom. 10:10, you must publicly and openly confess that Jesus is Lord--your Master; that by his death he purchased you and thus became your owner. R1970:3

1 Cor. 15:21 agrees with this scripture, that the right or authority to awaken the dead, and to bring some or all to perfection, was gained by our Lord by his death as a ransom for all. R1854:6

He could not have been Lord in any other way than by the Father's proclamation. R4633:3

This scripture is cited with others and questions for a model study on the first paragraph of The Divine Plan of the Ages: Upon what sure ground can we hope for the "morning" and its "joy"? R1900:5

Though still speaking of Christ as Lord, some despise and deny the importance and efficacy of the very transaction by which he became Lord. They boldly claim to need no Redeemer. C202

Part of Christ's role as Lord will be that of Judge. Whoever will fail in the new trial of the Millennial judgment day will be sentenced to the second death. R1452:6

"Ye are not your own--ye are bought with a price." "The man Christ Jesus gave himself a ransom." (1 Cor. 6:19, 20; 1 Tim. 2:5, 6) He did not release all. He arranged that there should be one way to get free--by faith in his sacrifice. R1286:4

Our Lord Jesus Christ, as Jehovah's representative, secured this privilege of reconciliation of sinners with his own precious blood. R1316:5

By virtue of his obedience to death. R810:1, 726:3*

No one can escape, either in this age, or the next, of standing a probationary trial for his life at Christ's tribunal. HG41:2

Both of the dead -- The dead and dying world of mankind. A150; R1853:6, 1680:4

Christ lived as a man, and died that he might thereby have the right to control all those who have gone into the prisonhouse of death. R5612:1

God commanded Israel to destroy nations. Those people who were slain are in an unconscious sleep, not in any anguish. They will be called from their sleep, and receive all the blessings of everlasting life. R5706:4

It is his voice that shall awaken the dead, and his wisdom and grace that shall lead all the willing and obedient to the realization of full resurrection. R1816:3

The second resurrection will be Christ's work and will take place during his Millennial reign; to restore, or raise up, or give life will be his special work during his reign. R1118:2*

The first resurrection will be that of the saints immediately at Christ's coming. R1118:2*

"Restitution of all things" implies a restoration of all things, both dead and living, to their original condition or state of perfection lost by Adam's transgression. (Acts 3:21) R1118:5*

And living -- The living fallen angels, not condemned to death. A150; R1853:6, 1680:4

Messiah's Kingdom will bless not only the living, but also those who have fallen asleep in death. R5706:4, 5324:2; A149

Judge -- Greek, krino, judgment or trial. (Not final decision) R2430:2, 2431:5

The word "judgment" signifies more than simply sentencing, or the execution of a sentence. It includes the idea of trial, and a righteous decision based on that trial. R568:6

New creatures are exhorted not to judge the brethren in the sense of condemning them, but rather to judge themselves, and thus help the brethren and set a noble example before the world. R4517:4

Each is to remember that God is the Judge, and to make sure that he himself has a conscience void of offense toward God and man. R4084:4

The Apostle is stringent in his condemnation of judging one another, which so often leads to roots of bitterness, misunderstanding and disfellowship, and which, as old leaven, should be purged out. R3034:6

Thy brother -- If we should see blemishes in the flesh of the brethren, disapproved and striven against, we should remember that the evil which we see is our brother's enemy and not the brother himself, the new creature. R4810:5

Set at nought -- By ridiculing him, and getting him to violate his conscience. R2167:4

Shall all stand -- Either while living, or after death. HG41:2

Each one now accepted as a member of the Church must ultimately stand the inspection of the Head of the Church; for our present membership in his Body is a probationary one. R5324:6

The Church is on trial, and Jesus representing the Father criticizes and examines the members of his Body, not to cut them off, but to aid, encourage, assist, instruct and prepare for the Kingdom. R4084:4

Both the quick and the dead will have their case tried before Christ, the great judge, in due time. R569:1

Before the judgment seat -- As we are now before the judgment-seat of Christ, so during the Millennial age the whole world of mankind will be before his judgment-seat and be separated into two classes, sheep and goats. R4084:4

The "judgment of this world," which Christ said began with himself, has, thus far, been a probationary trial for life. The great judgment day is designed expressly for the purpose of placing the world on a probation or trial for life. HG41:2

Of Christ -- Who, as the Father's representative throughout the age, has been examining the members of his Body, and in the end of the age renders to each one according as his work has been. R4084:4

Of God--Tischendorf, Rotherham, Revised Version, and all the best authorities. R2425:3*

Christ's commandments are our daily rules of life. The Church's judgment is committed to the Son by Jehovah. (John 5:22) The judgment is of the Father and by the Son. R2426:3,4,5

For us to judge others is unnecessary. If we have criticized each other in the past, we should avoid this in the future. R4517:5

The mass of mankind have not had probation in Christ, the only name given under heaven whereby they must be saved. (Acts 4:12) HG41:2

Romans 14:11

Saith the Lord -- It is Jehovah's power that will bring about the Millennial victory of The Christ. R3079:5,6

Every knee shall bow -- During Messiah's Kingdom of righteousness. CR131:5

To the power then in control. D520

Bowing before the King of kings. SM172:2

When Christ comes to set up his Kingdom in power and great glory for the blessing and salvation of the world. CR131:4

Rev. 21:3-5 is a picture of God's dealings with the children of men on earth, after the glorification of the Church, when all men shall have a full opportunity of coming back to all that was lost by Father Adam.

HG234:2

All who were willing to come into harmony will have bowed the knee. R5303:1

The passage to the "Queen's Chamber" is low; the traveler must bow his head. The path of right-doing has always been one of humility. In the Millennium, all will be required to bow to Christ's Kingdom. C369

The Millennial age will break many stony and proud hearts, bringing mankind to a condition to be able to appreciate the grace of God. R1466:1

None could stand before Joshua, the Lord's representative; none of the forces of evil nor the obstructions in the pathway of the fulfillment of God's promises shall stand before the antitypical Joshua. R3079:6

The Redeemer and his followers shall be the kings and priests, clothed with glory, honor and immortality. The King shall rule in righteousness and princes shall execute judgments in the earth. R4331:5

All who refuse shall be destroyed in the second death. R4956:6

And every tongue -- Including the fallen angels. R1679:6; HG729:5

Shall confess -- To the justice of the arrangement. D520

God's object in providing the Kingdom of Messiah and causing the knowledge of God's glory to fill the earth is to give mankind a better opportunity for repentance and reconciliation with himself. HG647:3,4

Then there will be a downpour of truth and grace which will produce a flood of righteousness and knowledge of the Lord world-wide and ocean-deep. HG432:2

All will be brought to this good confession in the Millennial age, even though they have not all been brought to the knowledge of the truth in this world and some have committed the unpardonable sin. HG15:1

Every one -- As a consecrated member of the Body of Christ. R2167:2

Shall give account -- In due time. R2735:5, 2613:5, 723:4

We are now living in the very time when, preparatory to his reign, the Lord is reckoning with his servants now living, with a view to their appointment to places in the Kingdom he is about to inaugurate. R2736:3

The Lord expects his consecrated people to use the talents they have in their possession, and he will not hold guiltless even those who have the smallest ability to serve him and who neglect to use it. R2765:1

It is from this standpoint that we interpret the testings and siftings now in progress amongst the consecrated ones in and out of all the sects of Christendom: "The Lord your God proveth you." (Deut. 13:3) R2736:3

In a study of St. Paul's expressions concerning what weapons and in what spirit Christians should gain the victory, this text is listed under the subheading, "Keep your conscience pure." R4479:1*

Those of this class who have died in the past of this age would be dealt with first; those accounted worthy have a share in the first resurrection preceding those who are alive and remain at this time. R2736:3

The living must give an account; judgment must pass respecting them; they must either be gathered, as "wheat" into the barn or be left to the field where the "tares" are shortly to be burned. (Matt. 13:30) R2736:4

Elders assume a weighty responsibility. The Lord purchased this flock with the precious blood of the Lamb of God. R4459:1,2

The reckoning is not of an instant; time is granted. Blessed is he who, finding he has not been as faithful as he might have been, now puts forth redoubled energies. Our King is willing to show favor. R2736:4

It will require all of the thousand years to demonstrate who are the friends of righteousness. This is Scripturally represented as the separating of the "goats" from the "sheep." (Matt. 25:32, 33) R2736:6

Some of the citizens misunderstood the King's character; but, perceiving how grossly the "Prince of this World" misrepresented the Prince of Peace, they will become his supporters and rejoice greatly. R2736:5

The punishment which the Lord prescribes for the enemies of righteousness is the second death. R2736:5

To God -- The weaker brethren are not to judge and censure others, nor are the stronger brethren to judge and censure the weaker. God is the judge. R4084:4

We are not to gauge ourselves entirely by what our fellow-men might think, but to have special respect to the Lord and his judgment of us. R4084:5

God's people are amenable only to God with respect to their views of his will on minor matters respecting which he has not given positive instructions. R2167:2

The law of love left much more to the judgment of the individual than did the Law given at Sinai. With the law of love, responsibility for decision rests largely with the individual and his own conscience. R4084:2

Romans 14:13

Let us not -- None should endeavor to interfere with the proper liberties of conscience and conduct. R3034:6

Therefore judge -- Condemn. R4084:5, 5324:3

The Apostle did not mean that the brethren should be watching for an occasion of fault-finding in every word and act; but that they should be so full of love that trivial matters would be passed over. R3034:5,6

The Lord is not establishing a low standard, nor wishing his people to think lightly of their own weaknesses and failures nor that of others. He is setting up a high standard of love, sympathy and kindness. R5324:4

It is not the province of anybody to forbid marriage, directly or indirectly. It is for each of the Lord's people to decide this matter in harmony with his or her own judgment and convictions. R4717:4; Q461:1

One another -- Examine yourselves. R845:4

If you wish to measure others up to the full standard of perfection, you are thus recognizing a high standard, and that will make it proper for the Lord to measure you by that high standard. R5324:4

The Apostle had no intention of cultivating a spirit of fault-finding as respects private affairs--use of time or money, etc. These belong to our individual stewardship and proper liberties of conscience. R3034:5

But judge -- Greek, krino, judgment, or trial. R2430:1, 2431:5

Examine yourselves. As messengers of God, serve, strengthen, bear up the "feet" of Christ, each member assisting one another, preparing the Bride for the Bridegroom. R845:4

That no man put -- It is men in the flesh who cast stumbling-blocks in the way of the saints, and they who remove them. "He shall give his messengers charge over thee, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone." (Psa. 91:11, 12) R844:6

A stumblingblock -- Wound or injure or cause a stumbling of conscience. R4084:6

To pride or vanity or any other evil thing. R1895:2

No badges of distinction or flattering homage may be tolerated in the Body; many indeed have been the prominent ones in the Church who have been overcome by flatteries--undue praise, worshipful reverence. R1895:2

We should avoid condemning one another--avoid doing anything that would discourage a brother or cause him to fall away from the faith--and content ourselves with encouraging each other in the way. R5324:3

Our liberty in Christ must take care that others are not injured by our use of liberty; for this would be condemned by our law of love. R1734:3

Some, specially prizing the liberty from the Law, used it thoughtlessly to the injury of weaker brethren who had not yet learned of this freedom.

R1580:1

We have noticed the force of temptations at the time of the Passover, the liability to "be offended." Let us watch and pray for ourselves and others, and not cast a stumbling-block before our brother. R3178:6

Those who scatter the pestilence, and shoot out the arrows of error, and cast stumbling-blocks in the way, are men in the flesh; and those whom God will use to bear up the "feet" are also human agents. R844:6

An occasion to fall -- In a study of St. Paul's expressions concerning weapons and in what spirit Christians should gain the victory, this text is listed under "Consider the Effect upon the Consciences of Others." R4478:1*

In his brother's way -- It is a very serious crime against the law of love and against the Lord's injunction, to cause one of his brethren to stumble, but it would also be a crime in his sight for us to stumble others. R3145:6

Is nothing unclean -- Legally unclean, forbidden as food. R4084:6

The restrictions of the Jewish Law were imposed as tests of their loyalty and obedience. R5324:5

As the mind expanded and grew, it was realized the idols were not gods at all; and hence that the custom of the people to offer the meat to idols before it was sold for consumption had done the meat no harm. R4084:2

Of itself -- The Greek word heautou is here translated "itself." Yet the same word is translated "himself" in scriptures where trinitarians want to refer to the holy Spirit as the third person of the trinity. E171

It was not that swine, rabbits and oysters would make the Jew impure in God's sight, but that the restrictions were imposed as tests of his loyalty and obedience to God. R5324:5

To him -- If one thought himself under obligations, he would be responsible according to his mind or judgment on the subject. R5324:5
There should be permitted the greatest liberty of conscience. However, we need to discriminate between liberty in the matter of conscience, and liberty in the matter of faith. R2166:2

It is unclean -- Unholy. R5324:4

Let us not use our liberty if it cause brethren who do not yet realize it to stumble and violate their consciences. A285

If thy brother be grieved -- A brother less well-informed on the subject than ourselves. R4517:5

The new creature is his brother's keeper in the sense that he must consider his brother's interests as well as his own. R4006:2

The Roman Jews had experienced trials in their endeavor to observe the Law. When they accepted Christ, they had difficulty realizing that the Covenant under which they had sought to please God was at an end. R4084:2 Paul agreed with the few that an idol was only a piece of handiwork, but he realized that it might require time for some to surmount their prejudices and give their consciences a sure footing on the subject. R4084:3, 5412:2, 4478:3

Destroy not him -- By ridiculing his conscientiousness, getting him to violate his conscience, and thus starting him on the downward course which would lead to his destruction. R2167:4

For him to violate his conscience would mean that he had willingly committed sin. R5324:5

The thought that our Heavenly Father has favored and called anyone should make us extremely careful how we would cooperate with the Lord in respect to the call, and be as helpful as possible to them. R3136:3

Control your liberty by the law of love. R4478:6 For whom -- We should have special patience with the brethren. R3136:3

Christ died -- If Christ loved the world so much as to die for sinners, we should be glad to lay down our lives for the brethren, ready to abstain from the use of trifling liberties for the sake of the weaker. R5324:6

If Christ so loved them that his death was made available to their salvation, we should so love them as to be willing to cooperate for their assistance. R4084:6

The one of broader comprehension should be willing to refrain from eating such meat rather than run the risk of injuring his brother, whom Christ so loved that he died for him. R4006:3

Your good -- The knowledge and appreciation of your liberties. R5325:1
Your right view of the matter. R2167:4

Be evil spoken of -- Through any careless or imprudent conduct. R1586:6
The Apostle urges to more carefulness. R1580:1

Do nothing that to others would seem to be unrighteous. R4084:6

Do not allow your clearer understanding of the meaning of the Sabbath to bring disrespect to the Lord or his Word. R4084:6 Do not live in such a way that your good intentions may not exhibit to others your real sentiments. R3305:5

We should deny self, if need be, that others be not caused to stumble. R756:3*

Romans 14:17

The kingdom of God -- The Kingdom of God is prominent in the Scriptures; it constitutes the sum and substance of the gospel theme. R1579:3

Parables represent the same Kingdom from different standpoints--the grain of mustard seed, leaven hidden in the meal, treasure hidden in a field, the pearl of great value, the net gathered of every kind. R4636:2

The Jews of the early Church were translated into the Kingdom of God's dear Son, in the sense that they had certain liberties which they did not have under the Law. A285

We are, in embryo, the Kingdom of God. R2167:4, 4085:2

The precious privileges of the Kingdom even in this time of its humiliation--righteousness, peace, joy--are such as the world cannot appreciate. R1580:4

There is a difference between the Kingdom established in glory and power, and the Kingdom in its incipient or formative stage, in its humiliation as it at present exists. R1579:3

To the Kingdom of God in its humiliation belong those prophecies which tell how the Kingdom of heaven must suffer violence and how its members would be despised and counted as offscouring of the world. R1579:6

To the Kingdom established (at the second presence of Christ) belong all the precious promises of its glory. R1579:3

The glorious reign of Messiah for a thousand years. R5097:1

Not meat and drink -- Consists of much greater blessings than liberty as to food. A285

Not merely liberty in those things forbidden under the Law. R5918:5, 4517:5, 1580:1

The Pharisees of eighteen centuries ago and the Jews today gradually got away from God's Word and became followers of human tradition. R5096:2

The customs of the Pharisees, of wonderful washings of their persons and vessels, consumed much of their time and were burdensome upon the poor, who had no servants to do these things for them. R5096:5

The Talmud made God's commandment to honor your father and mother null and void, when it said that a man might be free from his parents by consecrating himself and substance to God and religious uses. R5096:6

This statement is misconstrued by some to mean that the Kingdom is not real, and is only a rule of righteousness, joy, and peace in the hearts of believers. R4085:1, 5097:1

Although the Bible is the recognized authority and standard of Christians today, when it is read the gloss or interpretation of the accepted creed is before the mind and veils it. R5096:2

But righteousness -- Justification through Christ. R2167:5

The imputed righteousness of Christ, making us acceptable to God as his sons. R1580:1

With the righteousness of God always goes divine blessings. CR425:1

Liberty to do right. A285

The advantage of our relationship to the Lord does not consist chiefly in liberty to eat and drink what we please; our chief blessing consists in our "justification and peace and joy in the holy Spirit." R4517:5

Transformed by the renewing of their minds, they had come to appreciate and love righteousness and truth. R5097:4

Christians have all questions left in their own hands with merely the general guidance that they must conscientiously seek to honor God and to do good unto all men in their bodies and spirits which are his. HG368:1

And peace -- Toward God through Christ. A285

One of the grand blessings enjoyed as members of the embryo Kingdom class. R5097:4

In the holy Spirit, resulting from our justification. R2167:5, 1580:2, 4517:5

There being now "no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 8:1) R1580:2

This verse and "Seek peace and pursue it" and "Follow peace with all men" and "God is the author of peace" and "God has called us to peace" are listed with many under "God's Message on Peace." (Psa. 34:14; Heb. 12:14; 1 Cor. 14:33; 7:15) R2946:3

Its blessings of peace and joy and justice will be realized by all the families of the earth. R1579:6

And joy -- The joy that comes from the possession of the mind of Christ. R1580:2

The fruits of our new relationship to Christ. R2119:1, 4085:2

These do not constitute the Kingdom, but are blessed results of membership in the Kingdom class. R5918:5

It is Satan's misinterpretation that the Kingdom of God is merely righteousness and holiness of life. R5918:1

In the Holy Ghost -- In participating in the holy Spirit of God. A285

Fellowship with the Father and with the Son and with all who possess the spirit of righteousness. R5097:4

Romans 14:18

In these things -- Under the heading "God's Message on Peace," scriptures are quoted ("The meek shall delight themselves in abundance of peace," "To the counsellors of peace is joy"), and this closes the article. (Psa. 37:11; Prov. 12:20) R2947:4

Serveth Christ -- Surrendering his own rights and liberties. R2167:5

The Apostle did not always choose to exercise his liberties in Christ if he found better opportunities for usefulness by simply neglecting to claim or use liberty. R2119:2

Approved of men -- Have the approval of right-thinking men. R4085:4

So far as possible in line with his conscience, Paul sought to be pleasing to all men, disregarding his own advantage and considering chiefly the profit of the many for their salvation. R4007:6

Fellow-men will appreciate such little sacrifices on their behalf. R2167:5

Romans 14:19

Let us -- All who have become new creatures in Christ. R3146:5

Therefore -- Instead of contending about our rights and privileges and battling to have these. R2167:5

Make for peace -- Instead of judging fellow-members of the consecrated Body, we should be full of sympathy for them, realizing that we do not know thoroughly their trials, difficulties, environments, heredities. R5324:3

Consider the motives and endeavors of the new creature, and not the frailties or mistakes of the earthen vessel. R1841:5

By presenting the truth in so kind and gentle a manner that all who are of the truth would appreciate it and be strengthened thereby. R4085:5

This verse and many others, including "Lead a peaceable life," "The wisdom from above is peaceable," and "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace" are included in a list entitled "God's Message on Peace." (1 Tim. 2:2; Jas. 3:17; Isa. 26:3) R2946:6

Amongst those who have accepted Christ as their Savior there should be permitted the greatest liberty of conscience, discriminating between liberty of conscience and liberty of faith. R2166:2

The liberty wherewith Christ makes free allows us to eat without restraint and also the liberty to abstain. The spirit of Christ uses liberty lovingly, to self-sacrifice in the interest of others. R3145:5

Principles may never be abandoned for any consideration, but liberties and personal rights may be ignored in the interest of others, frequently and to divine pleasing. R2119:2

We refuse to use our personal liberties to stumble others, but we should not bow to people in each mental crotchet or superstition. We might attend a nominal church, but not partake of the Mass. R3146:1

One may edify another -- In meetings, seek to do good and to get good. R1867:1

Whatever is not to edification is not profitable, and is not to be entertained or practiced regardless of law on the subject. R4006:1

There is great advantage in measuring one's self by growth in love rather than by growth merely in knowledge, though to be great in both knowledge and love would be the ideal condition. R4920:2

A person of feebler reasoning powers may be weaker in every respect, susceptible to others' leadings--into paths which his conscience could not approve, a step toward willful sin--leading even to second death. R3145:5

Romans 14:20

Destroy not -- Overthrow not. R4478:6

Do not jeopardize the interests of another merely for the sake of preserving a non-essential. R4085:5, 2167:5

Do not even risk injury to the work of God's grace in others by using liberty contrary to their welfare. Count it a privilege to void your rights, to glorify God and bless your fellows. R4517:5, 4478:5

The work of God -- The work of grace in your own heart; or, by breaking down the conscience of a weaker brother destroy the work of grace begun in him. R2167:5

All things indeed -- All kinds of meat. R4085:3, 2167:5

Now that we are free from the Mosaic Law. R2167:5

Are pure -- Clean. R4478:6

Eateth with offence -- Eats what he believes is forbidden by God's command. R2167:6

Romans 14:21

It is good -- Christian liberty gives us liberty to eat without restraint and it gives us liberty also to abstain--in self-sacrifice, following in the footsteps of the Master, seeking to lay down our life for brethren. R4920:2

No other religious system teaches personal liberty to the degree that it is taught in the Bible. The difficulty is in knowing how to balance our liberties as new creatures with the blemishes of the old nature. R4005:2

Neither to eat flesh -- Where there may be a difference of opinion concerning a meat or vegetable diet, each should decide for himself as to which is most beneficial. Paul is not discussing that. R4919:2

Animal sacrifices were offered to idols and the carcasses given to the priests, who sold them through butchers in the markets. It was difficult to avoid eating this meat in the heathen world. R4006:2, 5412:2, 4478:3

The early Christian was not bound to suppose that his meat had been offered to idols; he need not refuse it. He might give thanks for it--unless a fearful brother was stumbled by his eating it. R4006:6

As with Daniel and his three Hebrew friends, fearlessly upholding the principles of righteousness will best serve the Lord and best influence others about us. R4873:6

Nor to drink wine -- While there is nothing in Scripture to forbid wine, our liberties should be limited by the surroundings: it was used more then than now, is used in Europe more than here, and the race is weaker now. R4919:5

We should not leave the more important work of preaching the good tidings of the Kingdom to engage in a temperance work; but it is a better cause than almost any other in the world. R4007:1

In the Memorial it would not be wrong to use something that will not tempt any, as a substitute for the wine. R1101:5

Nor any thing -- We should not use our liberty in any way that would stumble a brother in any sense of the word, or cause him to violate his conscience. R5324:5, 2167:2

It is part of our privilege and of our contract with the Lord to abstain from anything which would be injurious to others. R4919:2

Whereby -- If the interests of the brethren should ever require foregoing of liberties in respect to food or drink, such self-denials would be counted as sacrifices made with joy. R5097:5

The new creature is his brother's keeper in the sense that he must consider his brother's interests as well as his own. R4006:2

Brother stumbleth -- By eating meat and causing a weaker brother to violate his conscience. R4919:3, 5556:1, 5324:3, 4873:6

Control your liberty by the law of love. R4478:6

The new creature should allow the spirit of love to so thoroughly fill his own heart that he would be a helper and not a stumbling-block to the brethren. R4006:2

It would also be a crime in the Lord's sight for us to stumble others--those not our brethren--to hinder them from becoming brethren, and of the household of faith. R3145:6

Is made weak -- The conscience is the most important thing we have to deal with, and should always be obeyed. We should not seek to break down another's conscience, nor permit our influence to break it down. R4919:3

The brother who cannot conscientiously partake of such meat might have pride or lack courage to follow his convictions, and violate his conscience in trying to keep pace with one who understands liberty. R4006:3

Romans 14:22

Hast thou faith? -- Confidence that all kinds of meat are proper to eat, and that, since an idol is really nothing, the meat has really not been injured by being first offered to an idol. R4084:3, 2167:3

In the truths of the new dispensation, which enabled the Jewish converts to realize their release from the bondage of the Law Covenant. R1581:2

Have it to thyself -- Do not declare all your liberties at times and places which might prove injurious to others. R4084:6, 1581:3

If we advertise our faith and needs, eliciting the sympathies and assistance of men, it is not resting in God to a very great extent.

R1159:1*, 2163:2*

"When thou prayest, enter into thy closet and pray to thy Father which is in secret. When thou fastest anoint thy head and wash thy face that thou appear not unto men to fast." (Matt. 6:6) R865:1

That condemneth not -- Others have the right to commend or advise, but not to command or condemn. R2167:2

Which he alloweth -- Does not violate his conscience, whether that conscience is enlightened or not. R1581:5

He that doubteth -- That is unsettled as to what is right or wrong in any matters. R1581:5

Is damned -- Not consigned to eternal torment, but under condemnation, alienation from the Lord, for violating his conscience. Such alienation, if persisted in, might ultimately lead to the second death. R4086:1

If he eat -- If in eating he does that which he believes to be wrong. R1581:5

Eateth not of faith -- Because his eating, and thereby repudiating the claims of the Law, was not on account of the newly received faith which set him free from the Law. R1581:5

Is not of faith -- But a violation of conscience. R1734:5

Is sin -- To follow the example of a stronger brother, but feeling that such a course was wrong, the act would be a sin to him. R4920:5, 1994:5
Hypocrisy. R2005:4

If a brother is using reasonable energy to reach a decision, he is not a doubter. His mind is merely in a quandary. He is merely questioning the subject with a view to doing whatever is the Lord's will. R1994:5

Romans 15

Romans 15:1

That are strong -- Intellectually, physically and spiritually. R4927:3, 1954:6, 216:5

The elders, older in years, older and more developed in the truth. R4927:6
There are not so many strong; it behooves each of us to become strong and helpful to the weak brethren in the Church. R4995:1

All are not alike strong in the faith, but the stronger should not despise the weaker. Paul approves the stronger, but counsels patience and consideration on their part. R1734:3

Some Corinthian Christians felt that it made no difference whether they partook of meat offered to idols or not, since the meat suffered no change, and since they had no sympathy with the idolatrous worship. R1586:6

All of this world are not equally endowed with perceptive and reasoning powers and judgment and acquisitive propensities. Forceful, intellectual power makes natural leaders. R1954:6

Ought to bear -- Stronger ones should not rail at, or make light of, a brother's conscientious weakness, but receive him as a brother, trusting that experience will bring him to the liberty which others reached quickly. R1734:4

If the stronger brethren by sarcasm should try to force the weaker ones to use a liberty which they do not realize, it would be forcing them into sin. R5556:2

This does not imply that we should not expostulate with such a one and endeavor to help him to get rid of his infirmity. R5557:4, 4767:1, 3647:2

Weaker brethren should be left to the liberty of their own consciences.

Love and truth may be used in hope of educating them to an appreciation of their full privileges as free men in Christ. R5556:2

Be peacemakers amongst the brethren. R4995:1

Because the Lord's people have "this treasure in earthen vessels" (2 Cor. 4:7) all of which are imperfect through the fall, true love ought to produce in our deportment great self-restraint lest we injure their weakness. R4263:5

As a matter of equity, laws should compensate for inequalities of the fallen race; but the only hope for this is the glorious Millennium; and many will then begin to search for true riches. R1954:6

The great principle set forth is the principle of love, the essence of the divine spirit. R4927:2

The infirmities -- In the Body of Christ, the various members have inherited weaknesses, against which they must wage a lifelong warfare; these sometimes interfere with the rights and comforts of others and themselves. R3647:1

The stronger should bear with them in their difficulties as well as bear some of their blunders. R5557:4, 4927:3, 3647:2

They seek the welfare of others as well as of themselves, especially the welfare of the household of faith. R4927:2

The mission of the stronger would be so to call the attention of others to their weaknesses as not to offend or stumble them. R4927:3, 5557:4

All men were not enlightened by the gospel and so relieved from superstition; and the eating of meats offered to idols seemed to them to be an indorsement of idol-worship. R1587:1

The Apostle urges growth to the brother who thinks himself under bondage regarding meat or Sabbath days, and does not teach that this bondage is right considering the liberty we have in Christ. R1734:4

The weak -- Intellectually, physically and spiritually. R4927:3 The younger. R4927:6

The weaker ones of the household of faith are to be cared for and loved and helped that they may grow strong in the Lord. R4767:1

Faith, in its beginning, is always comparatively weak: but God does not despise the day of small things. "A bruised reed shall he not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench." (Matt. 12:20) R2163:4*

It should be sufficient to know that God accepts even the weakest one--weak in the faith, under bondage to fast days--who thinks that our Redeemer wishes him to be bound by such ordinances. R1734:4

Please ourselves -- Principles may never be abandoned for any consideration; but liberties and personal rights may be ignored in the interest of others frequently and to divine pleasing. R4928:4, 5557:2, 5412:2, 4927:6

Use care that others are not injured by our liberty in Christ. R5555:3

We should look beyond our own preferences, seeking to arrange our own affairs so as to be most helpful to the brethren. R4928:1

Too often the Lord's people fellowship with those of the brethren most congenial to them in cultivation or in advancement. Rather, we are to "cover the blemishes" of those who are weak and out of the way. R4269:5
The Apostle does not teach that each should make up his mind and stick to it, whether right or wrong. R1734:4

We are not merely to please ourselves in respect to time and place of meetings. R4928:1

The elders and deacons should seek to arrange their meetings so as to assist all the congregation who have time and ability, etc., that all will feel that there is no class separation. R4928:4

Romans 15:2

Every one of us -- Not "The younger" nor "The older" but every one of us. R5412:1

We should deny self rather than injure another's conscience. R5412:2

While the new creature should have his own upbuilding prominent in his mind, he should also remember that he has a responsibility in being a member of Christ and be willing to serve others. R4927:6

He who does not learn to sacrifice his own preferences in the interests of others, will never have that character which the Lord demands of those who shall be joint-heirs with himself in the Kingdom. R4479:4

Please -- It is not possible for us to please all people. The direction of our energies should be for their good as we have opportunity. We should rouse them to love and good works as far as possible. R5556:4

According to right principles. R5413:4

Even as I also please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved. (1 Cor. 10:33) R4479:1

If every Christian could apply these words to himself, the effect upon the world would be magical--energizing. They would see in Christians a renouncement of their own preferences in the interests of others. R4479:4

His neighbor -- Those closest to us: the brethren, our families, and then others. No amount of zeal for the service of the truth will excuse us from the duties which we owe to our families. R5557:1

His brother; patiently submitting to the discomfort his errors entail. R4767:4, 3647:2

We have a responsibility towards those who are not so strong or not so clearly informed as ourselves--a responsibility that we will not wish to pass by if our hearts are in tune with the spirit of divine love. R4479:4

For his good -- Let no man seek his own, but each his neighbor's good. (1 Cor. 10:24) R4478:6

This does not mean that we should necessarily please them according to the flesh. Rather, "Stir up their pure minds," their spiritual minds, to love and faith and zeal, to good works. R5556:4

Should all those now enjoying present truth resolve to live up to the standard of the Lord, what an influence it would bring, what an influence would extend from their words, their thoughts, their deeds! R4479:4

To edification -- To assist, uplift, upbuild, primarily in spiritual things. R5412:6

Not by ignoring his fault, but by kindly urging him to strive against it. R4767:4, 3647:2

All things are lawful, but not all things edify. (1 Cor. 10:23) R4478:6

Our general conduct, conversation, manners, dress, etc., should all be to the glory of God. R1587:4

We are not to descend to the world's methods. If we cannot please them by that which is good, we are to avoid unnecessary contact. R5556:5

Romans 15:3

For even Christ -- Those who deny themselves what their consciences permit, have the greater blessing. They can realize in an additional degree that they are following in the Master's steps. R5556:2, 1734:4

We are enlisted under the banner of Christ, which is the banner of love. We are to look well to the rules which belong to this new order of things of which we have become members. R5556:3

Pleased not himself -- Christ sacrificed his own spirit, and was filled with the spirit of God. "The words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." (John 6:63) They express the mind of God, in giving heed to which is life. R371:5

He was not in the world to seek to do the things pleasing to his own flesh. He renounced his own fleshly interests and gratification for the benefit of mankind. R5556:3

So we are to give thought and time to pleasing others where this will not conflict with our consecration. R5656:5, 1734:4

Lev. 2:11 forbade honey, to teach that whatever is sweet to nature must be disowned, if we would walk after the example of Christ who pleased not himself. R84:5*

Jonah was more interested in himself and his own reputation than in the Ninevites and their interests. The Lord's servants must not be so! R4785:6

Reproaches -- The reproaches of the Scribes and Pharisees were evidently the most cutting of all. R2316:4, 1964:4

"Let us go to him without the camp bearing the reproach with him." (Heb. 13:13) R3776:5

Fell on me -- Whoever will faithfully exercise his ambassadorship, can so say. E490; R1964:5

This does not mean that the disciples of Christ are to seek their own misery, but they are to give their thought and time to pleasing others rather than themselves. R5556:6

Written aforetime -- In the Old Testament. R5607:2

It is a great mistake to affirm that the Bible is the product of the Church. The Old Testament Scriptures were written before the Church came into being--before Christ, the head and forerunner of the Church. R1584:3

The Old Testament Scriptures abound in significant types, one of which is the nation of Israel, a picture of what he is now doing and what he purposes to do through Christ and the Church to the world. CR485:1

"Holy men of old spake as they were moved by the holy Spirit," in various times and places, uttering words not knowing what they meant, words constituting a harmonious whole. (2 Pet. 1:21) OV407:4

For our -- Prophecies of the past were written for the special instruction of the Church. PD37/48

Even those things in Jeremiah's prophecy which were applicable in some measure to his day were of two-fold significance--applying also to the mystic Babylon of this Gospel age. R3614:3

Learning -- Instruction. R3435:2

Not for the learning of those who uttered them. B23

The holy Spirit of God is exerted in directing those now begotten through the pathway of their humanity, and upholds them by unfolding the exceeding great and precious promises of God's Word. R385:4*

An example of spiritual lessons to spiritual Israel, found in the Old Testament's account of experiences of the past: Gideon's call resembles the Gospel call for volunteers on the side of righteousness. R5607:2

That we -- Prophecies, though recorded aforetime, and made to bear witness to the divine foreknowledge and arrangement, were for the learning of those living in the due time for their fulfillment. B23

The sanctified in Christ Jesus, not the for the unregenerate world. R3646:3

Jeremiah and his scribe prepared another statement of the prophecy destroyed by King Jehoiakim; and this larger and fuller book was designed for the instruction of the Gospel Church. R3614:3

And comfort -- "The Comforter, which is the holy Spirit." (John 14:26) E268, 267

To the "new creature in Christ" who seeks to know the Father's will, comfort and peace and joy and contentment are found in the instruction of the divine Word, even in the midst of tribulation and persecution. E268

The holy Spirit comforts the Church through the Scriptures, and through the promises of God, the truth. R3435:1

The Scriptures are the medium through which the knowledge of God's grace and the comfort of all knowledge reach us. R2665:1, 3435:1, 385:3*, 372:3

Of the scriptures -- The Word of God, as the channel of the truth, is to comfort us in proportion as the holy Spirit guides us into an understanding of it. R3435:1

The Word of the Lord through the apostles is not the product of the Church but of divine revelation. R1584:4

Might have hope -- Because we are commanded to be subject to the powers that be, we receive comfort and hope through the dream of Nebuchadnezzar and its divine interpretation. A252

The hope of the Gospel. R1584:4

Romans 15:5

And consolation -- The mission of the brethren is to comfort the Church as the channels of the holy Spirit, and as the mouthpieces of God. R3435:2

Romans 15:6

With one mind -- "Gathering or Scattering. Which?" offers kind words of admonition. The love of Christ constrains us to be of "one mind," "one mouth," "of the same judgment," having the "same love." R3920:2*
The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God, may be seen in this text and others, including "Love one another, as I have loved you. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples." (John 13:34, 35) R1130:6*

Of the circumcision -- Symbolizing a cutting off, a separation from the flesh, its aims, hopes and desires. R3022:3

Romans 15:9

That the Gentiles might glorify God -- In this chapter Paul alludes to and explains something of God's plan relative to the casting away, and subsequent restoration of the Jews; and hints at the casting away of the Gentile Church likewise. R777:3*

A root -- Origin, source of life, progenitor. E136

Romans 15:13

Peace in believing -- Our peace in Christ begins from the moment we begin to believe in him. R2625:2

Whosoever believes in Jesus as the propitiation for his sins has a rest not transitory but permanent, not partial but complete. R543:6

Romans 15:16

The offering up -- Our sacrifice forms a part of the sin-offering, the completing of Jesus' sacrifice. PT392:T*

Romans 15:24

On my way -- A precedent for helping our preaching brethren on their way. R449:5*

Romans 15:25

Saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

Saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

Romans 15:30

That ye strive -- Greek: agonize. R1865:5

In Judea -- The nominal church. R238:6*

For Jerusalem -- The Bride. R238:6*

Saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

Romans 16

Romans 16:1

I commend unto you Phebe -- It was the usual custom to give and carry letters of personal introduction and commendation. R1720:2

Which is a servant of the church -- Some services can best be performed by females, especially visiting the female sick. Many suppose that this verse refers to such a female assistant. In the early church many sisters did service. R1891:6

Romans 16:2

Receive her -- The Apostle's high regard for women and women's work is shown by his mention of faithful co-laborers. R766:4*, 1076:5*

Romans 16:3

Priscilla -- Her name is mentioned before that of her husband, as if she were the more efficient of the two, as a fellow worker. F268; R1549:3

My helpers -- Fellow-workers, helping Paul not merely in tent-making, but specially in his chief work as a minister of the Gospel. F268

Romans 16:4

Have for my life -- Greek, psuche, soul, being. E338

Their own necks -- Risked their lives to hide me, at the time of the riot at Ephesus. R2207:3

Romans 16:5

In their house -- The congregations of the primitive Church were small and usually met in private houses. R2941:6

Romans 16:6

Much labour on us -- Personal services, perhaps washing and mending. F268

Romans 16:9

Urbane, our helper -- Another fellow-worker, helping Paul in his ministry, the same as "Priscilla and Aquila, my helpers." (Rom. 16:3) F268

Romans 16:12

Tryphena and Tryphosa -- Two sisters whose labor in the Lord is honorably mentioned. F268

Romans 16:13

His mother and mine -- Paul mentions with evident appreciation the activity of certain females in the early Church. R1549:3, 1076:5*, 766:4*

Romans 16:15

The saints -- The truly consecrated among the professing Christians. R1139:1

Paul had a considerable number of kinsmen and acquaintances in Rome, the number of whom we know was at least over thirty-two according to the salutations of this epistle written to them from Corinth. R3208:3

An holy kiss -- In spirit, but not in letter; the courtesies and civilities of our times being somewhat different from the customs of that day, although equally hospitable. R1550:5*

In the East, it is frequently the custom for men to kiss one another. The sex dividing line was very strict in olden times, so there was no indiscriminate kissing among them. Q618:5

Churches of Christ -- The Church of Christ and The Church of God are synonymous, because our Lord and the Father have one interest in us. F81 Our Lord established "The Church of the First-Born which are written in heaven," "Church of the living God," "The Church of Christ." He gave it no party name. (Heb. 12:23; 1 Tim. 3:15) Q755:4

Mark them -- The greedy, hungry wolves in sheep's clothing. R1558:6 Teachers who favor divisions should be watched and turned away from. R1571:2

Let us "mark" the course taken by those who have separated themselves from us "because they were no longer of us," and whither that course leads them. (1 John 2:19) R4531:4,5

We should not allow any bitterness respecting them to enter our hearts or to escape our lips or our pens. Would we smite the blind? Surely not! R4483:5

Satan still "works in the hearts of the children of disobedience." (Eph. 2:2) Let us all, therefore, beware of this spirit of disobedience in our hearts --of any alienation from the Lord. R4469:5 Avoid their fellowship as you would avoid a pestilence or a vile odor or sparks from a neighbor's burning barn. R4381:4

If, after we have done all in our power to hold a fellow-member with our love and with the truth, he departs, we are to take the matter with equanimity. R4375:5

It is not for us to judge, condemn, nor slander them, but to pity and pray for them. It is ours only to reprove their bitterness of spirit. Our avoidance of them for a time may be the best lesson we could give. R4327:2 Our enemies become unconsciously our best friends, when their slanders deepen in us heavenly graces. Let them do their worst; they only give us the God-like victory of forgiving them. R1665:2*

The ungodly policy of this evil day of compromise cannot believe that any will arise to "pervert the truth" in the midst of the consecrated, but it is made obligatory upon all the faithful to be on the alert. R1589:2

Avoid contentions and strife except it should be unavoidable, and then let it be with loving desires. R4540:6

Warn the disorderly: those who are drifting away from the spirit of Christ; busybodies who do not work; immoral and unjust persons; those who wrest the Scriptures; doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

If one has a gift of debate, arguing whatever side of a question he chooses to take up, proudly defending his liberality, the Lord will punish him with stripes; but he can be renewed unto repentance. R1482:5

As soon as we see that any teacher is wrong on the one central and vital point--the ransom--evading, misrepresenting and misapplying the word and doctrine--we should have nothing further to do with him. R1453:4

Avoid helping such a person to an office, or anything that would specially help him along if you see him in an unsafe position. Do not express yourself so freely as to those who are in closer harmony. Q226:8

Prefer the company of those who are in the spirit and fellowship of the truth. Q148:2; R1130:6*

Don't make them your bosom companions; don't elect them as elders. Don't encourage anyone who has a strifeful condition. Q30:6

The sifting must go on to the finish. R1279:5

Cause divisions -- By a lack of love and humility, harsh and unkind words. R4299:3

The spirit of favoritism led to factions, an evidence of carnality--a worldly spirit. The Corinthians who took party names, evidencing a selfish, party spirit, did not appreciate the oneness of the Body. R1571:3

Let the truth make the separation. R1279:6

The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God, may be seen in this text and others, including "The multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul." (Acts 4:32) R1130:5*

Contrary -- Should "grievous wolves," "backbiters," "slanderers," and "contentious" persons attend meetings of truth people, they should be treated so scripturally as to make them ill at ease. R4461:4

The doctrine -- Of the ransom. R1453:4, 1482:5

Ye have learned -- The royal law of love. R2368:6

From inspired sources. R1453:4

Avoid them -- Treat them not as enemies; hope for their return to a better spirit. R4540:6

We should not allow any bitterness respecting them to enter our hearts, no matter what they may say or do against us. R4483:5

Does not mean excommunication. Avoidance for a time may be best lesson. R4327:2

Reprove them by avoiding them. Show them that you do not sympathize with such a strifeful, unholy spirit. R4318:3

The Apostle does not say to brand him as a heretic and have nothing to do with him. But do not give him so much of your fellowship; just be a little more cool toward him. Q227:T

Paul was not the man for compromises. He did not counsel gentle handling of wolves. He did not say, You must call them brethren. R1559:1
Do not waste time investigating "the errors of the wicked;" the more thorough our knowledge of the Lord, the more intimate our acquaintance with him, the more secure we are in our own steadfastness. R3215:2

Good words -- Kind and complimentary words. R1571:2, 3215:2

Deceive -- Mislead. R1571:2

In this day of "deceivers," it is well to use conscientious care before offering a testimony on a traveler's behalf. R1720:3

The simple -- The unsuspecting. R1571:2, 3215:2

Those not on the alert for the encroachment of error. R1589:2

Romans 16:20

Shall bruise Satan -- The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal Devil, as shown in this text and others, including (addressing Elymas as) "Child of the devil" (Acts 13:10) and "Turn them from the power of Satan" (Acts 26:18). R3165:6

As in Heb. 2:14, we find the Devil is to be destroyed: "He might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil." R4363:5*, HG304:1

Crush the serpent's head; destroy him. R255:1

Satan is going to have his head crushed. That will be the end of him.

CR461:6

The Kingdom will crush out evil and bless and heal all nations. A306

Crushing Satan and all his willful followers who love evil rather than good. R1176:4

Putting "all enemies under his feet" (1 Cor. 15:25) is not conversion but destruction as also taught in Rev. 20:10. R1057:2

Totally destroyed in the end of the Millennial age. R725:3, 696:6

This serpent that is now to be crushed is not merely Satan, but it is all sin in every shape and form. CR462:1; A306

Accept with fortitude and resignation whatever tests of patience and perseverance the Lord may permit to come upon you. All our experiences will result in blessings, however unpropitious they may appear. R2413:4

The bruising of Satan and the destroying of death have both been deferred until the Body of Christ is complete, and they shall bind Satan, destroy death, and restore mankind to harmony with God. R86:6

Under your feet -- The feet of The Christ. R3926:6, 11:2

The Church's feet. OV224:1

So intimate is the association of the Church with Christ that the work of restraining Satan and the powers of evil in the opening of the Millennial age is here ascribed to the Church under her Head. SM243:2

The Little Flock, who are to be joint-heirs with Jesus Christ their Lord, shall share glory with Christ and they are to share in the bruising of Satan and in blessing and restoring of sight to the blind. R526:5

The feet of the Church; thus associating the Church with the Lord, the Head. OV305:5; R2842:2

The seed which will bruise the serpent's head is not Christ, the Head, alone, but the Church, which is his Body, "Which seed is Christ, and if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed." (Gal. 3:16, 29) R257:2, 6:1

The Church is a part of the seed of the woman. CR461:6; R257:3, 11:2

The seed of the woman and the seed of Abraham are different ways of referring to Christ and the Church. Q643:T

Not until it is selected, developed, and exalted to power, will the Seed bruise the serpent's head. A98; R2434:5, 257:2, 6:1; OV224:1; HG343:3

There is a future favor to the world to be accomplished through the elect Church, called and tested during the Christian age. R868:3

When the called-out company is complete, the plan of God for the world's salvation is only beginning. Then will the seed "bruise the serpent's head" and bless all the families of the earth. (Gen. 3:15) R533:1

Shortly -- As soon as this age shall end. R4965:1

The next thing in the outworking of God's plan will be to bruise Satan and destroy sin. R4964:6

Satan and ignorance are the real assailants of truth, and the veil of ignorance and power of Satan will soon be cast aside and trampled upon. R3121:1

The "promised seed" is to crush the serpent's head, thus destroying evil and bringing about "the restitution of all things." R270:5, 255:1, 134:6, 11:3

"A little while and he that shall come will come." (Heb. 10:37) "A thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday." (Psa. 90:4) R11:1

Tertius -- This epistle was sent from Corinth, dictated by Paul, written by Tertius. R1582:2

Gaius -- A Corinthian Christian, at whose house this book was written. R1582:2

Quartus a brother -- A brother in Christ; the apostles never ascribed titles to each other or to other brethren, nor did they receive homage from the Church. R1523:5; F230

Romans 16:25

To him that is of power -- This scripture, like many others, differentiates between "him" and the preaching of "Jesus Christ." Jesus said: Ye call me Lord and Master and so I am, but one is your Father, which is in heaven. (John 13:13; Matt. 23:9) R369:6 To my gospel -- The inspired writings of the apostles, in their various epistles, are as authoritative as were the words of Jesus. OV412:1

Revelation -- A full knowledge of the mystery of the Lord was not promised until the end of the Gospel age. OV6:T

Of the mystery -- That at the second advent the Messiah will consist not only of Christ Jesus the Head, but also of the Church his Body. R3192:4 Daily and hourly the saints of God are being searched out and sealed intellectually with a clear appreciation of the "mystery of God"--the mystery of God being about finished. R1279:2

Kept secret -- In part, hitherto. R1279:2

The proclamation of many of the sweetest notes of the glad tidings of restitution, are reserved until now, during the sounding of the seventh trumpet, when the mystery of God is finished. R287:2*, 3192:4, 757:2

Romans 16:26

Made manifest -- Unto the saints, according to the will of God. R1279:2

God only wise -- "Jehovah our God is one--Jehovah." (Deut. 6:4) R369:2

Glory through Jesus Christ -- By and by, God will reveal to the world his loving character. When "the glory of the Lord (through the Christ) shall be revealed, all flesh shall see it together." (Isa. 40:5) R385:1*

1 Corinthians

General

Written about 3 years after the Apostle Paul left Corinth. R3144:3

The church at Corinth had been founded for nearly five years and had enjoyed a wide range of experiences and divine providences. R4442:1

The church at Corinth was split into factions, divisions (literally, sects); some were Paulites, others Apollosites, others Peterites, and others Christians. Since the majority were Paulites, and since Paul had founded the church at Corinth, it might appear to some that he had been seeking to make converts to himself, Paulites instead of Christians; and as it turned out thus he was glad to have it to say, that very few of those calling themselves Paulites had been baptized by him. R1540:5 The first epistle of the Corinthians was mainly to correct sectarianism among those at Corinth, and to answer the erroneous teachings of some, that there would be no resurrection of the dead. What a valuable fund of blessing and knowledge came to the Church down the ages in connection with the answer and refutation of these errors. R868:3

Corinth was nicknamed the Vanity Fair of the world, because it was a center of frivolity, pleasure-seeking, etc. It is credited with having been one of the most licentious and profligate cities of its day. It may at first seem very strange to us that this vilest of the great cities should yield larger spiritual results than any other, so that the Lord would specially specify that he had "much people" there and would providentially detain his ambassador there a year and a half, while in other places he had been permitted to remain only a few days or a few weeks. The philosophy of the matter seems to be this: Outward morality frequently leads to a pharisaical spirit of self-righteousness, which is most pernicious and a deadly foe to true righteousness. On the other hand, where sin stands out glaringly, it has a repulsive effect upon the pure heart, upon all who love righteousness, and this repulsion seems to prepare such hearts the better for a genuine consecration to the Lord and for his message. This theory holds good, at least in the missionary work at Corinth, as in contrast with that of places much more respectable in reputation. R4417:1

Like the Apostle, we are to discern the most fruitful fields, and spend our energies upon them. R3143:2, 2191:2,3, 1557:3

This once voluptuous city of Greece was 40 miles west of Athens, on the isthmus of Corinth. It has two seaports. On its south rises the rocky mountain, Acrocorinthus, whose summit was crowned with a Temple of Venus. It once had an extensive commerce, but was noted for its licentiousness, and the name "Corinthian" applied to a woman was notorious. Paul preached there a year and a half (Acts 18:11), and evidently paid it a second visit (1 Cor. 16:7; Acts 20:2,3). He wrote two letters to the Christians in that city, rebuking their sins, and referring to the Isthmian games celebrated there every Olympiad. It has greatly descended from its ancient richness of commerce, learning, and magnificence; and its site is now occupied by the miserable village of Gortho. CR278:5

1 Corinthians 1:1

An apostle -- The Lord had his own choice for the one who would take the place of Judas, and this one already had been undergoing special training and discipline "from his mother's womb." (Gal. 1:15) R2823:2

1 Corinthians 1:2

Sanctified in Christ -- Paul was not addressing his words to the world; but to the true Church. R3174:6, 4660:2; OV188:3

"Members of the body of Christ"--prospective members of the Church Triumphant. CR80:1

By making a full consecration of themselves, to live as nearly as perfect as they may be able. R2987:5, 4660:2

Reckoned new creatures. The sanctifying power, or spirit in us, is the spirit of truth. R375:1, 442:5; E243

The complete sanctification in Christ constitutes the perfection and unity of the church. R69:2*

Called to be saints -- The word saint stands for one who is holy. R5856:3, 2987:3

Called unto the fellowship of his Son, (vs.9) to be holy ones, partakers of the divine nature, etc. F87

Those who cannot think of themselves as saints cannot apply to themselves the precious promises of these epistles. R2987:4; OV123:4

Let us not be ashamed of this name, "saints"; if it present before our minds saintship, holiness, separateness from the world, that is just the very thought which should be there continually. R2987:5

Every place -- Words of warning in this epistle apply to the entire probationary membership of the Gospel Church down to the end of the Age. R1898:3

Theirs and ours -- The word "theirs" refers evidently to Jews. Paul was a Jew, but he styles himself "the Apostle to the Gentiles," (Rom. 11:13), so in harmony with the latter he could say this to the new Church which was made up of both Jews and Gentiles. R179:3* 1:4

On your behalf -- This was written subsequent to Paul's stay in Corinth recorded in Acts 18:111. R2192:4

Grace -- The Gospel age is one of superior favor. R643:5

Enriched -- The Apostle refers to the value of knowledge to the Church. NS506:2

1 Corinthians 1:7

Waiting for -- The Lord's people will need to keep active, watching and waiting for the manifestation of the Lord; but if watchers, they shall be made aware of his presence and the work of "harvest" beforehand, and shall share in the revelation. R2979:3

The coming -- Greek: apokalupsis, uncovering, revelation. R2979:2
Revelation. R69:2*

God is faithful -- Faithfulness on our part is also required. We must show our appreciation of his love by faithfulness. R1211:2*

Of his Son -- This implies an association, oneness. F87

1 Corinthians 1:10

Speak the same thing -- The early Church had a grand unity of sentiment. R1421:1

All who are speaking and teaching should speak and teach the same things.

We should all mind the same things. (Phil. 3:16) R4446:2

The ideal condition for which we should strive--the mind of Christ. 1 Cor. 11:19 shows the actual working out of it. Q723:3

Should the temptation ever come to you, to seek to show your wisdom by magnifying a minor difference between yourself and another of the Lord's servants, reject the thought as a temptation from the devil, and minimize differences. R1537:4

Only those who take heed to the Lord's Word and cultivate its spirit, and recognize the Master, and his providential leadings and care, and the feeding of the flock, will be able to bring forth much fruit, and gain the kingdom. R4447:1

No divisions -- Sects, or schisms. R1571:2, 1540:5, 4375:5, 1130:5*

The entire foundation of divided Christianity would disappear and the true church of Christ be speedily manifest, if true catholicity were acknowledged. HG736:1; SM460:3

Every sect is a sin and every division a proof of disobedience. R1130:5*

Perfectly joined -- The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God. R1130:5*

The remedy is one we have sought to present in all of the Society's publications, namely, the ascertainment of the mind of Christ, the spirit of the truth, by the acceptance of the entire Word of God. R4446:3

If we ever conclude to have only the one human channel of instruction our decision will be to stick firmly to the one God has used and blessed to our enlightenment. R4447:1

The same mind -- This is possible if the same spirit (the spirit of God) dwell in us--if the one mind enters and animates these bodies in which the human mind and will are dead. R309:3*

So accustomed have we become to difference of opinion that many of God's children have come to feel that if there is perfect unity of thought, of mind, it must betoken a subserviency. Paul is criticizing such a sentiment. R4446:2

Same judgment -- Sentiment. R69:4*

There is one line of judgment which should govern all who have the Lord's Word and spirit, viz., the letter and spirit of the truth. R2386:1

Corinthians 1:11

Contentions -- The congregation of Corinth had not made the proper progress in spiritual development, and hence was greatly in danger of losing the truths received but never properly put into practice. R1593:6 It is not strange that the adversary was able to stir up some little sectarianism even in the primitive church, but all such partisan spirit the Apostle rebuked. R5941:3

Two centuries of the Gospel age had not passed when the worldly spirit called out for more organization--the partisan spirit whereby the people in various parts sought headship for their bishops. R4199:6

I am of Paul -- The idol of sectarianism. R5298:5, 868:3, 81:2*

Each of these teachers had his peculiarities of manner in teaching, which caused some to esteem one, and others another, most highly. R1571:2

Contrary to the spirit of Christianity. R81:2*

While ye say I am of Luther, I of Calvin, I of Wesley, is it not a sign of carnality? And worse than this, is there not danger of worshiping the human institutions which bear these human names? R5298:5, 918:6

I of Christ -- They were dividing into Paulites, Apollosites and Peterites, while a few rightly clung to the name Christian. R1571:2, 1540:5 As only Christ died for us all, he alone must be recognized as our Savior. SM121:1

Is Christ divided -- Are ye not carnal? Is not this sectarian spirit an evidence that you are not in the proper relationship to the Lord? Your Redeemer is the only Head which should be recognized. R4199:6, 1571:3; SM460:3

All should have recognized that Christ is not divided, and that his Gospel is not discordant, but that it is one glorious, harmonious message of divine revelation. R4446:2

Paul wrote against the spirit of sectarianism, already manifest in his day. SM460:3; R1571:6, 4446:2; HG736:1; NS374:4

Paul's warning was evidently heeded at the time at least, for no great sects of Paulites or Apollosites developed. R1571:6

The Spirit of Christ, which would have preserved the unity of the body, in the bonds of peace, was neglected and a spirit of "independence" was fostered until the result is--Babylon, confusion. R4446:2, 1571:6, 693:3

Ye should recognize no divisions, and call yourselves by no name but Christ. R81:2*, 5941:3

The Church of Christ should be united in the one faith once delivered to the saints; not federated, still holding to its own creed. OV417:4

Undoubtedly, the Adversary had much to do with the organization of the various denominations of the Reformation which nowhere have authority in the Bible. R5742:4

Was Paul crucified -- It is not strange that the Adversary was able to stir up some little sectarianism even in the primitive church, but all such partisan sentiment the Apostle rebuked, reminding them that not one of these teachers had died for them. R5941:3

Paul did not die for you; neither did Peter; neither did Apollos. Though they may be appreciated, they are nothing more than the Lord's mouthpieces and representatives. R4199:6

Repeatedly we have reminded the Lord's faithful of the experience of John when he fell down before the angel to worship him. The angel rebuked him, saying, "See thou do it not: I am thy fellow-servant,...worship God." (Rev. 19:10) R4199:6

Baptized -- The form of words used by the apostles and early church is not given. Baptism "into Christ" into the name of the Lord Jesus Christ was the thought; and that it was expressed in words. R1544:4

I thank God -- Paul was glad he had in no way aided sectarianism, and was glad he could say, I never authorized you to call yourselves by my name. R1540:5; F449

Baptized -- Greek: baptizo, to dip, immerse or cover. R1541:1
Baptism was not a feature of the Law Covenant. R1540:1

None of you -- Probably because of imperfect sight. F448; R1540:4

But Crispus and Gaius -- The few whom Paul baptized probably received this service at his hands because no one else suitable to perform it was conveniently at hand. F448

The book of Romans was sent from Corinth. It was dictated by Paul and written by Tertius, at the house of Gaius. (Rom.16:22,23) R1582:2

1 Corinthians 1:16

And I baptized -- Showing that he considered the ordinance important. F448; NS54:4

1 Corinthians 1:17

Preach the gospel -- This message was so great, so different from anything else in the world, that the Apostle concluded that he had no time for the discussion of any other topic. R5126:4, 5125:6

We are to discuss the truth rather than the error. If we should have occasion to mention the error, it should be only as a side-light to illuminate the truth by contrast. R5126:5

Paul determined to preach nothing but Christ, and not to mix in the doctrines of Plato, to gain an audience. R5126:1

Glossing over of truth is what is done today in all of the great pulpits of Christendom. If our Lord's death is mentioned at all, it is done apologetically. R5126:4 Those consecrated ones who have permitted other themes to engross time and attention are in great danger of being led astray. R5126:5

Wisdom of words -- To be a minister in the nominal Church of today, one must bring with him a plentiful store of that which Paul despised and left behind, namely, human wisdom. R505:3*

Many of Paul's hearers would have been glad to learn about Christ and to admit that his philosophy was good, but he had not borne a good reputation. R5126:2

The Greeks, the learned of the world, would become followers of Christ, had the plan of salvation been more consistent with their worldly wisdom. R863:1

The cross of Christ -- A weaker man than Paul might have covered up Christ's crucifixion. He might have said that the Jews did not appreciate what Christ was doing, that Christ was the Son of God, and then he might have glossed over his death on the cross. R5126:2,4

Under the terms of the Law Covenant, Christ must die on the cross in order to redeem Israel from the curse of the Law. (Gal. 3:13) R5126:4; NS622:2

The shame, ignominy, ordeal pictured by the cross, were foreordained picture-lessons, of self-denial and sacrifice not only for Messiah, but his "Bride" class. NS622:3

It is because the doctrine of the ransom has been held, and that as the foundation of faith, that even in the dark ages, and in the midst of great corruption, the nominal church has been recognized of God at all. R1452:3

Of none effect -- Of no value. R1452:3

If Christ's death in itself does nothing, then it is of no effect. The cross must refer to the death and not to the after life. R483:4*, 43:3*

1 Corinthians 1:18

Preaching of the cross -- Preaching the necessity for Jesus' death as the redemption-price for the sins of the world. R5919:2

That Christ's death as our ransom is the basis of our hope of the resurrection to life. R1259:2; HG361:1

No wonder the Apostle makes the cross of Christ the center of his preaching, declaring; "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins!" (Heb. 9:22) R5919:6

The preaching of the cross of Christ is dying out. Those who still preach it give the impression that at most it means renouncement of sin and the incidental self-denials. R5919:2

It is remarkable that, by divine providence, the cross, which symbolized the most ignominious form of capital punishment under the laws of the Roman Empire, should be the symbol of Christianity. NS622:2

The mystery of the cross is that it is the divine purpose that the Lord Jesus should be the chief priest and, during this Gospel age, God would draw out from the world an under-priesthood. NS625:2

Foolishness -- In their day our Lord and his prophets and apostles were all accounted "fools" and "cranks;" and the same worldly estimate will continue to the end of this age. R1873:1

We cannot expect sympathy from Churchianity and the world. R2616:3
Is it not a foolish waste of time to preach the cross of Christ and faith and obedience, under the present adverse conditions? Do not the results of these eighteen centuries of preaching show the folly of this procedure? NS624:1

Us which are saved -- It has pleased the Father to select the "jewel" class during this Gospel age by means which the world would think foolish--by means of the preaching of the good tidings. SM439:1
We who have come into relationship with the Father through faith in the precious blood and have come to an understanding of the divine plan of salvation. NS624:2

It is the power of God -- The message of the cross has been a transforming one, which, as we have come to appreciate it, has been changing our characters and lives. NS624:2

So far from the preaching of the cross being a failure it is a great success. It has served to attract the loyal-hearted and to repel all others. NS625:1

1 Corinthians 1:19

It is written -- The divine prophecy briefly quoted that the worldly-wise would not appreciate the divine plan and especially the center of that plan--the cross of Christ. R5920:1

Wisdom of the wise -- Of this world; the simplicity of the gospel is foolishness to them. R350:4*, 1043:2*

The truth is not intended for the proud or the dishonest. God hides his truth from the worldly wise and prudent, and reveals it unto babes. (Luke 10:21) R2026:5

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools." (Rom. 1:22) R1643:5

Bring to nothing -- Doctrines of Evolution and the wonderful progress of our race will speedily come to naught, and prove the wisdom of the world's wise men to be foolishness. OV86:3

1 Corinthians 1:20

Where is the wise -- A man who considers himself wise does not realize how transient are his treasures, how unsatisfactory they will prove in the end, what snares are in them, nor how great is the value of the heavenly treasure which he has missed. R1919:3

"The wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid." (Isa. 29:14) R1920:4; HG518:2

Where is the scribe -- Who boasts of his wisdom. R1955:2

Where is the disputer -- A "Thus saith the Lord" must be the end of all controversy when human reasonings come in conflict with divine wisdom. R1919:6

Wisdom of this world -- That arrays itself in opposition to the heavenly wisdom. R1919:6

Tends to self-exaltation and pride. R1919:3

It was in Abraham's day and thus it is still--the Lord does not honor the world, nor the worldly wise, with a knowledge of his secret purposes.

R1617:6

1 Corinthians 1:21

World by wisdom -- The world by its wisdom knows not God. (Revised Version) R5717:2

Whom the god of this world hath blinded with the brilliancy of their own earthly learning and with their love of honor of men. R1418:3

Those of the "Higher Criticism" have reached the conclusion that man's fall has been upward, and he needs no redemption with the precious blood of Christ. R1782:3, 5919:3, 2220:2

Knows little of his plan; understands little of the language of his Word--it is a different language from that to which they are accustomed. R3189:4

Jehovah does not purpose that any shall know him save in his own appointed way. The wisdom of man cannot find him out. R5717:2

Knew not God -- The truth-searching of geologists, astronomers, chemists, physicians, statesmen, etc., as a rule, leads away from sanctification, from "Thy truth." F138

Scientists as a class admit that there must be some kind of God, but, looking in the wrong direction, they fail to see the real God, fail to discern his real character and plan. R2834:5

We are not to study along the lines of worldly wisdom, but along the lines of "that wisdom that cometh from above"--the inspired Scriptures. We must study! Whoever will not study will not know! NS816:2

The worldly-wise have rejected the Bible, and do not trust it as a revelation from God. SM792:1; R3189:4

The world sees to some extent that great blessings are coming; but just what these are and how they are to come, mankind know not. SM792:1; R6013:5

By the foolishness -- By that which the world considers foolishness.

R3279:2, 3580:2, 5534:6

To the unbelieving, the proclaiming of the gospel message is foolish, a waste of valuable time, an evidence of unsoundness of mind; a weak and unsatisfactory method dealing. R5534:3, 3305:2

The message of God's grace is the noblest, the grandest, the most wonderful, but from the worldly standpoint it seems foolish on God's part to address the world when he himself declares that the vast majority are deaf. SM53:2

To the worldly-minded the preaching of forgiveness on account of faith in the crucified Jesus did not seem the wise course. R3279:1, 2220:3, 858:4

The world would say, "If God has all power why does he not enforce his commands and send forth judgments to compel obedience rather than send forth a message of love and an invitation to obedience?" SM53:2; R3279:1; HG615:6; NS364:2

Seemingly slow and unsuccessful method. R790:6; NS601:1

There is a wide difference between foolish preaching and "the foolishness of preaching." HG614:3

Of preaching -- Teaching; declaring. R790:6

The preaching of this foolishness. R1955:2

God appeals to our hearts, heads and consciences, but not to fears. R3305:2

Thus God has manifested the humble ones who will receive his message by any means which he is pleased to use. R3521:6, 5534:6

It looked very foolish for Jesus to go about Palestine with twelve disciples, performing some miracles and inviting chiefly the poor to become his followers, leaving business and other pursuits. HG615:5

That which Christian people sometimes attempt to do in prayer should be done in preaching. It has not pleased God to save by prayer those who believe, but by public speaking, private proclamation of the truth and the printed page. R5834:1, 790:6

Preaching which seems to be so weak, to be the poorest way the Lord could have possibly chosen to make known the riches of his grace--a way so open to hindrance through the weaknesses and imperfections of the human channels used. R3521:3

The preaching tongue has been practically the only instrument which the Lord has used in connection with his great work of calling out and sanctifying. R2820:4

It pleased God to adopt this method of declaring the truth respecting his redemptive plan, and to accept and justify those who would believe and accept this testimony. R2990:1

All of God's people are preachers. The begetting influence of the Holy Spirit is the only ordination necessary. Preaching in its broad sense, means to declare, to make known. HG617:4

To save them -- We have passed from death into life, because we have come into relationship with the great Life-giver. R5920:1

Not the belief of anything or everything is saving, but merely of that which is preached by divine authority. R3521:6

The true theory of reconciliation through the death of his Son to reconcile and save them which believe. R735:3

That believe -- Implies that those who do not believe are not saved. R3521:6

The world thinks it strange that believers should be saved on account of their belief, rather than from the standpoint of works. R3580:2

To select a special class for a very special purpose. R5534:6

1 Corinthians 1:22

Require a sign -- The Jews, claiming to be God's children, would have walked by sight if God had forced the matter upon their attention in a manner not requiring faith. R863:1

Seek after wisdom -- The Greeks, the learned of the world, would have become followers of Christ, had the plan of salvation been more consistent with their worldly wisdom. R863:1

1 Corinthians 1:23

But we preach -- The changes were to be so radical and revolutionary, and so different from all human expectations among either Jews or Gentiles. R1647:2

Christ crucified -- That Christ's death as our ransom is the basis of our hope of the resurrection to life. R1259:2; SM183:T

The fact that our Lord died on a cross is not doubted. The test with the Jews was whether or not they would accept the sacrifice there finished as the ransom-sacrifice which paid the penalty of their sins and justified the believer. R1452:3

Do not search the Scriptures to find anything about Brother Russell, but search to find things about the glorious One whom we all reverence. Q77:3

Unto the Jews -- And the nominal Christians. R684:2

The philosophers and upper classes, including the Scribes and Pharisees, the thought of their own unworthiness was repugnant. Were they not the teachers of the common people, and therefore better certainly than the general herd? NS40:3

A stumbling block -- Because the Jew could not realize that that which they had for centuries been trying to accomplish for themselves, by an attempted keeping of the law, should now be handed to them as a free gift. R863:1, 6:4

As the fleshly house stumbled over the cross, so the spiritual house is to stumble over the same obstacle--the cross. We see this taking place in Higher Criticism and Evolution. R3298:4

The butt of contempt. R75:2*

Unto the Greeks -- The worldly-wise. R2106:2, 1235:3, 684:2, 323:2

Foolishness -- The preaching of the cross is to the perishing world foolishness. R863:1, 75:2*

Christ and the glorious message of his Word has always brought opposition and persecution from the Adversary and from all who are under his blinding influence. SM183:T

The great "falling away" from the faith predicted of the close of this age would come along this line--the denial of the need and the fact of the ransom. R2106:3, 1452:3

As the god of this world blinded Israel, so he blinds the vast majorities of other nations. D567

1 Corinthians 1:24

Which are called -- Not all are called. F88

Under the blinding influence of the prince of this world, to the few only--the meek and humbled-minded ones in Israel--would this power and wisdom be manifest. R1647:2

Not those who believe without evidence, but who believe on the strongest kind of evidence, the harmony of God's Word. R323:2

The power -- The sinner, justified, is reckoned holy or godly, having secured "the gift of (attributed) righteousness." (Rom. 5:17) Therefore Jesus' death is made the power or source of godliness. R1350:3

The wisdom -- To us the great Redeemer is the wisdom of God personified, and that wisdom is shown in the Master's course in sacrifice. R5920:4
Found only in the Bible, and in proportion as we are enabled by His grace to rightly divide it, to understand it. HG471:2

1 Corinthians 1:25

Foolishness of God -- The plan which God has adopted for dealing with sin and with sinners seems to the worldly mind to be a very foolish, a very unwise plan. R5534:2

Wiser than men -- Knowledge may be viewed from two standpoints. Worldly knowledge does not commend anyone to God. We sharply discriminate between earthly knowledge and heavenly knowledge. NS809:3

1 Corinthians 1:26

Your calling -- Now to suffer with Christ for righteousness' sake, to cultivate his spirit, to bear much fruit, and thus be fitted for a place in the glorious temple. R2414:6

Ye know the object of the call, ye know the method, ye know the conditions of the call. CR34:4

Not many -- The Lord intimates that not all are called, not all are drawn. R5719:2; NS372:1

"Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart." (1 Sam. 16:7) God looked for the same characteristics in David that he now seeks in those whom in this age he calls to be anointed for the kingdom. R1901:2

"Ye are not of the world, even as I am not of the world, therefore the world hateth you." (John 15:19) "The light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehendeth it not" (John 1:5)--"the darkness hateth the light." NS385:1

We need make no mistake--the Lord knoweth them that are his, even though they be but a small minority and very insignificant in the world's affairs. NS388:6

Wise -- According to their own estimation. E255

The Lord is seeking only the meek, the humble-minded, those who will be willing to learn of him and to have their minds transformed and conformed to the pattern most pleasing to the Lord. SM13:2, 176:3; R5737:5

These in the eyes of the world, are foolish; but in the eyes of the Lord, they are wise. R5920:1

Not that God objects to those having many talents serving his cause, but not many of these accept his call. R4659:6, 2728:6

Success in life leads to more or less of self-confidence, self-esteem, self-will; such are self-confident and not sufficiently reliant on the Lord. R4969:3, 5605:2, 5920:1; SM13:2; HG746:3; NS67:3

The number of wise, learned people, who are willing to become fools for Christ's sake, is exceedingly small now, as ever. R2948:3, 1102:6, 921:4
Those who came to the Master and those who have been interested in his message ever since, have not in any large proportion, been the rich, etc., but chiefly the poor. SM176:3

There are compensations in the divine arrangement, and in some respects poverty is a blessing in disguise. Hence the assurance of the Word that not many rich would be among the chosen of the Lord or receive positions in the bride class. R5840:1; NS67:3

"Hath not God chosen the poor of this world, rich in faith." (James 2:5)
R2702:5, 5692:2, 5676:4, 5415:5, 4969:3, 4158:2, 4082:5, 3952:3, 3797:6, 742:1; OV215:3

The message of God's grace often lays hold upon the lower, meaner and more degraded members of the human family. R5737:5, 3054:5

There are comparatively few five-talent servants amongst the Lord's people; the majority being of the one and two talent classes. R2764:5

Not many mighty -- Not many great, not many learned. R5840:1, 5692:2
Like their Master, of "no reputation" or influence. D516

In the apostles days, as in ours, the wealthy and learned were regarded as the special representatives of religion. NS270:2

Not many noble -- If the nobility is in the heart, that is what God is looking for. CR335:2; SM391:1; R2322:1

If all the characters of the Scriptures were notable, the majority of us would feel ourselves so commonplace as to excite our fears that the Lord would have no place for us amongst his elect. R3952:3

It is the spirit of Christ, of righteousness from the Word of the Lord, which is the civilizing, enlightening and ennobling influence which has wrought the marvelous changes of this Christian era and especially of this last century. R2321:4

The son of noble Christian parents who has inherited a more noble mind, may maintain it, but eventually selfishness will undermine nobility, and we may expect a degradation in posterity who do not receive Christ. R2320:6
"The testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple." (Psa.19:7-14)

It would be impossible for any class of people to receive such instructions into good and honest hearts, without being uplifted by them, made more Godlike. R2321:3

Gratitude not only is a fragrant flower, but is indigenous to the soul of every true and noble heart. Accepting this standard, we are bound to conclude that comparatively few of the human family are noble in this respect. R4200:4

Their riches and their nobility are not of the flesh, but of the spirit, of the heart. SM391:1

Proportionately a larger number of the world's noble-minded children reject the Gospel of Christ, and a larger proportion of the world's ignoble children accept it. He came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance. R2319:3, 2320:1

The noble and the great usually trust too much in themselves and are unready to accept forgiveness through the only name. Hence the seeing of unmanliness and unwomanliness must not hinder our love for all whom the Lord has called. R4121:6, 4082:3

Are called -- When the lists shall be proclaimed, the names of many who have been greatly honored of men and who expected to be honored of the Lord may be found missing. R3054:5, 5415:5, 2246:2, 2122:5

1 Corinthians 1:27

But God -- Because he wishes to show the power of his truth in the transforming of character. F88

Hath chosen -- With their Lord, they are to receive glory, honor, and immortality; and be his instruments to bless the remainder of mankind. R5711:1, 5534:6

"Hath not God chosen the poor of this world, rich in faith." (James 2:5)
D516; R2520:2, 3720:5, 3707:6, 3218:5, 3054:5, 2860:3, 2761:2

The foolish things -- Those who are not noted for worldly wisdom or influence or wealth. R1920:3

To confound -- The wise are being confounded today by the power of the truth in the hands of the humblest of God's children. Systems of error are put to confusion and are tottering before it and the sages of all the sects are troubled by it. R1920:4

Wise men whose wisdom would become a trap and a snare unto them, so that "the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid (obscured)." (Isa. 29:14) R2492:6

The wise -- The worldly-wise, in our day, are usually to be found in the most respectable and aristocratic congregations of professed Christians. R2262:6

The weak things -- This was true in times past when the weak ones of the world espoused the cause of Christ. And the same thing is still true of the same class. E250

"When I am weak, then am I strong." (2 Cor. 12:10) E250

Because poverty of purse and intellect are much more favorable to the development of humility than are riches of any kind; and humility is a prime essential to an inheritance with the saints in light. R2580:1

Those who accept the Lord's arrangement are usually poor, the unlearned, etc., who realize their lack of wisdom and seek it from the Fountain of wisdom and through the channel of wisdom--the Bible. R5920:1

It is marvelous in our sight that so much has been done with a comparatively small amount of money. R5566:3

The Lord's use of even the weakest instruments, of those having even a small measure of talent for his service, sometimes proves an exaltation too great, and that which was a blessing becomes a curse through pride and vain glory. R1920:5

Base things -- The humble poor. R1920:3

We are very thankful that God would accept what he tells us are the mean things of this world. The thought behind the expression is that which the world would consider mean. CR334:1; R4200:4, 1206:2

There may be some real mean Christians come into the Truth. Christianity was not the cause of their being mean, but they were naturally mean. CR334:2; Q439

The twelve apostles were all plain men, mostly fishermen; and so also the whole Gospel Church--not the Church nominal, but the true ones written in heaven. R1921:4

Which are not -- Things that are not of value, and to uplift these. E261
Not esteemed amongst men. R3226:5

Nought -- Greek: katargeo, "to render powerless," used in the sense of utter destruction. R2001:5

Things that are -- That are esteemed by men. R3226:5

1 Corinthians 1:29

No flesh should glory -- God has arranged his plans thus that he might hinder human pride and vainglory; the very thing so many are disposed to cultivate. R1047:3

That no man should be able to boast that he had in any sense or degree merited the great blessings conferred. F88

If by the grace of God we have in any degree been used by him in serving present harvest truths, we rejoice in the service, but as for vanity on this account, we see no room or reason for it. R3595:6 The exaltation will come in due time to the faithful. R1921:4

1 Corinthians 1:30

Who of God -- Christ is the sufficiency which God has provided for us in all respects. R5507:2

Is made unto us -- The New Creation only. F123; R3280:3

God has made Jesus to be all these things to the Church; they are to be attained by the Church through Jesus. Q123:4

The particular thought of the text seems to be that of a progressive order. R5105:3; Q65:2 We long to be perfectly obedient, and but for our realizing Christ's provision, the sense of our shortcomings would be unbearable. R1151:5*

A comparison may be drawn between these four steps, which begin with the first tendencies toward the Lord and culminate in the "redemption of the body," and the four positions of the tabernacle--Camp, Court, Holy, Holy of Holies. R4245:1*

Wisdom -- After the Father has drawn, the wisdom comes from Christ, who instructs us how to come to the Father. R5105:5; Q65:3

Through learning of his sacrificial work on our behalf. R5507:2

Jesus gives us the necessary knowledge to come to God. Q123:5

Since God's dealings with his creatures recognize their wills, the first step in his dealings with them is to give them knowledge, or "wisdom." It is for this reason that preaching was the first command of the Gospel age. R3279:1, 5507:2, 493:2*; F97

Knowledge of the greatness and absolute justice of God; knowledge of man's fallen, sinful condition, and need of a Savior; of the penalty, "the wages of sin is death" and that the death of our Redeemer paid the penalty. R3279:2; F98

This wisdom came to us through Christ; because, had it not been for the plan of salvation of which he and his cross are the center, it would have been useless to preach. R3279:3

In that we are to accept his will and thus have the spirit of a sound mind, and "walk in wisdom." E435

Jesus was our wisdom before he became our justifier and sanctifier. "No man cometh to the Father but by" our Lord. (John 14:6) R5105:3; Q65:2, 123:4; F98

"Wisdom is the principal thing." (Prov. 4:7) Wisdom is necessary at the very beginning of any matter that would result favorably. F96; R2262:2

"The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy." (Jas. 3:17) F98; R2263:5

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." (Prov. 9:10) Wisdom is reasonableness, discretion, that characteristic which prompts us to pursue the right course. R4245:1*, 2262:3

Those who would take the wisest course should promptly admit their own unwisdom and seek for divine direction, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God who giveth to all liberally and upbraideth not." (Jas. 1:5) R2262:3

Some of the world, typified by the Camp, began feeling after God, and the call went forth from the Gate of the Court. R4245:1*

After the Father has drawn, the wisdom comes from Christ, who instructs us how to come to the Father. R5105:5; Q65:3

This comes also through Christ's exhibition of the graces of the Spirit and of obedience to the Father; through the apostles teachings, and all those daily let their light shine. F100

This knowledge was prepared for by the Mosaic Law, which was a schoolmaster, or pedagogue, to lead men to Christ. R3279:2

And righteousness -- Justification. R3279:3, 5105:3, 5507:2, 2262:5; Q123:6, 65:1; F100

The primary thought in the word Justification is (1) justice, or a standard of right; (2) that something is out of accord with that stand; (3) the bringing of the person or thing that is deficient up to the proper or just standard. F101; Q124:1

Justification signifies to make right, or whole, or just. R3280:2

Faith-justification does not cease when the next step of sanctification is taken. It continues with us as New Creatures. F103

Though all men are to be saved in the sense of being brought to the knowledge and opportunity of salvation, none have Christ as their justification, the covering of their imperfections, imputing his righteousness to them, except "us." R3280:1

In that, as our representative, he gave himself a ransom for all, and now in his righteousness represents all those who come unto the Father by him. E435

The principle of justice, the very foundation of divine government, must somehow have been fully satisfied in all of its claims. R3279:4; F103

Implies that we are unjust, or unrighteous in the sight of God, and unworthy of his favor. R3279:3, 2262:5; E435

But this does not imply that Christ's righteousness covers every sinner, so that God now views every sinner as though he were righteous, and treats all as his children. R3279:3

Christ covers our sins; he imputes to us the merit of his own sacrifice, which brings us to a condition of reckoned righteousness, or "justification by faith." R5507:3, 5105:6, 3279:5; Q123:6; F103

The justified individual, compared to the Court, is able to have access by faith into the additional grace of presenting him body a living sacrifice. R4245:2*

Moses taught righteousness, and taught it by sanctions. He imparted righteous words and righteous motives; in addition to these, the Righteous One imparts righteous life--the power which embodies righteous words in righteous deeds. R1323:1*

The priests were obliged to wash themselves and put on new, clean linen garments before consecration to their office, representing justification. R3280:3

And sanctification -- The term sanctification means set apart, consecrated or marked out for a holy use or purpose. God through Christ sets apart for a special share in his great plan "us"--the Church. R3280:3, 5507:4; E241; F121

By assisting in everything necessary to sanctification. They have the will to do, and as they have this will, so now Christ works in them a sanctified character in life. R5105:6; Q66:3

In that, through his merit, we are accepted as (reckonedly perfect) living sacrifices. E435

He is our teacher. We enter the school of Christ as pupils and need sanctification. Q124:2

Christ by God is made unto us sanctification--in that we could have no call and could experience no work of grace under the divine plan, except for Christ and the work he did for us. R3281:6

True sanctification of the heart to the Lord will mean diligence in his service, in declaring good news to others, in building up one another, in doing good to all men; increasing love to the Lord, to the brethren, to our families and to the world. F137

Our devotion should be as that of a maid to her mistress, or of soldiers to their officers, or of a dutiful child toward a beloved parent; swift to hear, quick to obey, not seeking our own wills, but the will of our Father in heaven. R3281:2

No one can be sanctified in God's sight, and in the Scriptural sense, unless he has first been justified or cleansed from all sin. R3280:3; F121 Many make the serious mistake of supposing that God is sanctifying the world, sanctifying sinners. R3280:3, 69:2*

Symbolized in the type by the consecration of Aaron and his sons in the priestly office--a consecration to sacrifice. F124

The sign of consecration or sanctification was the anointing with the holy oil, which symbolized the holy Spirit. R3280:4; F124

In the condition of the Holy of the Tabernacle, the Lord agrees to make all the experiences of the honest Christian to work in a way that they will have a sanctifying effect upon him. R4245:2*

And redemption -- Greek: apolutrosis, deliverance, in that he will in due time deliver us; a setting free, "a loosing away." E435; R2262:5 In that the fact that he lives, who bought us with his precious blood, is the guarantee that we shall live also; that he will deliver his Church from the bondage of corruption, death. E435

Signifies the deliverance from sin or setting free of that which was acquired by the payment of a price--in the first resurrection. R3281:6, 3279:4, 5507:4, 5105:6; Q66:4

He who redeemed us with the sacrifice of his own life, gives us, as our Prophet or Teacher, wisdom, by his Gospel; as our Priest, he first justifies us and then sanctifies us; and finally, as King, he will fully deliver the faithful. R3281:6

Jesus is the one who calls all the saints from the sleep of death. (John 5:28) Q124:4

Glorieth -- Boasts. R1768:6*

Glory in the Lord -- "Let him glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me." (Jer. 9:24) "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." (John 17:3) R1919:6, 1920:1

This is the knowledge that does not puff up, the wisdom that cometh from above. The beginning of this wisdom is indeed the reverence of the Lord. R1919:6

If you have an eloquent tongue or other such gift, be sure to use it zealously. R1047:3

We have not the opportunity of even glorying in our faith--it is the gift of God. R5446:5

1 Corinthians 2

1 Corinthians 2:2

For I determined -- To be really in the divine service involves, first, the careful and continual study of God's plan; second, the imbibing of its spirit; leading, thirdly, to an enthusiastic zeal for its accomplishment. R5970:2

Concentrate our energies upon those things which we can best bring to perfection; "This one thing I do." (Phil. 3:13) R5044:3, 5046:4, 3200:3

Not to know -- Talk of or discuss. R1811:5

Paul would be as though he knew nothing else. R5045:1

The Apostle's course was self-abandonment. His knowledge on other subjects was all sunk out of sight. R2190:5

Some would-be teachers fail because their ambition really preaches self, and the gospel as a means for calling attention to self, and others combine self-glorification with the gospel and attain only partial results. R2190:5

If any of the brethren feel disposed to go out after the manner of Babylon and preach something else, here is the reproof. R5045:1

Give no heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils (1 Tim. 4:1), but apply yourselves to the one thing to which you are called. R5970:1

Among you -- The Apostle's one business in life was to be acceptable to the Lord, and to do with his might what he could to assist others into the same condition. R5044:3

Jesus Christ -- If faithful in service, we have no time, nor the disposition, to give heed to false doctrines or other themes which have no bearing on the one thing to which we have solemnly dedicated our lives. R5970:2, 5044:3, 5046:1, 1811:5

And him crucified -- St. Paul would preach, not only that Jesus was the Messiah, but that he was the crucified Messiah, for he would not be ashamed of the divine teaching. R5044:6

The defense of this cause and subject was St. Paul's special business in life. R4921:6, 483:4

Jesus' crucifixion was a part of the great divine plan and without this no salvation could be effected, either for the church or the world. R5045:1

The cross is the basis of all the glory. R43:3*, 483:4*

To rivet your attention on this one thing. R3200:3, 4921:6, 5045:4

1 Corinthians 2:3

In weakness -- Physically weak, possibly for a time ailing, to such an extent as to be unable to work at his trade. R3143:5

Probably the result partly of his weak physical condition and of the remembrance of the trying experiences already passed through. R2192:4

And in fear -- This implies St. Paul's discouragement and possible sickness. He was apparently considerably cast down. R4416:2, 3143:6

1 Corinthians 2:4

Enticing words -- The Lord's ministers are not to expect that their message shall be with words that will entice the world, but are to present in the name of the Lord the wisdom which cometh from above. HG352:3

Of man's wisdom -- Of human philosophy and theory. F232; R1524:5, 5968:1, 1719:6

The simplicity of the Gospel is foolishness to them. R1043:2*

In demonstration -- These demonstrations of divine power supplementing Paul's faithful use of his natural abilities were the Lord's endorsement of all he did. R1745:4

And of power -- The power of the truth. R3200:3, 5045:5

1 Corinthians 2:5

Your faith -- The faith of the Church. F232

The wisdom of men -- But in "The wisdom which cometh from above." (James 3:17) F225

The creeds and opinions of fallible men. HG317:2

The Apostles did not cultivate a blind and superstitious reverence for themselves. F232; R1524:5

In the power of God -- Based upon the inspired writings of the Old Testament and upon the words of the Lord; and the Apostles. F219; R1525:5; SM302:1; CR10:3; HG317:2

Founded on and supported by the word of God. R207:5

The apostles were not mere mechanical amanuenses, but rather, they clearly show they were filled with a knowledge of the truth and with a holy enthusiasm to declare the good tidings, as in the hearts of all God's people. R1525:6

Then we shall have that which neither the arrow of infidelity, nor the pestilence of spiritualism, nor the purifying fire can destroy. R207:5

1 Corinthians 2:6

That are perfect -- Of a perfect heart or disposition or intention, humble, obedient, the truly wise. R1598:5

Developed; we are not to cast our pearls before swine. R3200:5

Wisdom of this world -- "Higher criticism" has reached the conclusion that man's fall has been upward and that hence he needs no redemption with the precious blood of Christ. R1782:5*

Nor of the princes -- The popular leaders and teachers. R3200:5

1 Corinthians 2:7

The wisdom of God -- The wisdom that indicates and approves the narrow way of self-sacrifice is an inspired or begotten wisdom which cometh from above, only to the consecrated, the spirit-begotten. R2074:5

In a mystery -- A knowledge of the secret mine of wealth hid in Christ. R1657:1

The secretiveness as respects the divine purpose shows that if it were generally known amongst men, the divine program would at times be interfered with. OV5:3

The hidden wisdom -- Or plan. A84

The Jews and the majority of professed Christians do not understand these words now. R2419:3

The prophecies of the Old and New Testaments are sealed against their learning, for they have studied only at the feet of science and sectarianism, and neglected the school of Christ. R589:1

Before the world -- Therefore not the Kingdom prepared for the sheep class of mankind "From the foundation of the world." (Matt. 25:34) A305

1 Corinthians 2:8

None of the princes -- Chief ones--ecclesiastical or civil. A84; R1598:5; OV5:3

Nor do they yet know of the glory to be revealed in the saints. R1598:5

Many of the Scribes and Pharisees were fairly decent people.

Their own plans seemed better than God's because they were worldly minded at heart. R5145:3

Had they known -- They were the blinded servants of Satan; though if their hearts had been true and humble, they would have been able to see. R5719:5, 1712:1; SM630:2

Ignorance rather than malevolence is at the foundation of opposition to the truth. R5145:3, 5172:6

Only partly excusable ignorance, because it was the result of prejudice, which in turn was the fruit of selfishness. R2786:3

Error, fostered by self-will and by plans and schemes not of God, always has a blinding effect. R5512:2

Had the rulers of the nominal Church recognized the Lord's anointed body during this Age, the members would not have had the privilege of suffering with their head. R369:1

When Saul of Tarsus persecuted Stephen, and others, he verily thought that he did God service. (Acts 26:9-11) R5172:6

Similarly, those of the Dark Ages who burned one another at the stake, supposed that they were serving God. The same is true today of those who after a more refined manner oppose, speak evil of and misrepresent their brethren. SM631:T

"I wot that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your rulers." (Acts 3:7) R5751:4, 5512:2, 5315:5, 5234:6, 5172:5, 5145:3 4452:4, 2745:6; CR492:6; SM750:1, 630:2

Not have crucified -- The crucifixion of our Lord was not really intentional. R5751:4

Those who crucified Christ did so ignorantly and merely fulfilled the divine intention. R5315:5, 5234:6; HG622:6; NS606:1

One reason why the Lord kept his identity secret from the Jews in general. R4452:4

The Lord of glory -- Nor the Church, which is his Body. A85
Our Lord Jesus will indeed be majestic, but not the "King of Glory," Jehovah. E44

1 Corinthians 2:9

Eye hath not seen -- Human eyes. R2958:4

This is the most the Word declares of our heavenly inheritance. The Bible makes no attempt to describe heaven itself, nor its inhabitants. R4966:5, 4675:3, 3892:1, 3166:1, 1511:1

It is intangible, indescribable. It can be received only by faith.

OV119:1; R176:1, 3892:1

The eyes of our understanding must be anointed in order that we may appreciate the length and breadth and height and depth of the love of God. R3861:4, 2581:4, 2419:3; CR84:2; Q748:4

We now see these things of the future through a smoked glass. R3267:5, 3285:2; NS451:2; OV284:5

Many natural eyes have seen that there is this spiritual something, but the details of it they cannot discern any more than the natural sight can discern the conditions prevailing on the moon, though the moon be seen often. OV315:3

Man must discern God in his works--the noblest of which is the perfect man. CR117:4

The Queen of Sheba's declaration that the half had not been told her, reminds us of this scripture respecting the greater than Solomon and the wonderful kingdom glories in reservation for his faithful. R3285:2

Nor ear heard -- Our circumcised ears heard of the glorious things. R176:2

Many natural ears have heard something about spiritual things, but they never really understood or appreciated these things. OV315:3

When any are found who have not the hearing ear for the truth we should not seek to pound it into them. R4125:5, 127:1

Heart of man -- The natural man, unilluminated by the holy Spirit. E201; F385; R3585:5, 3278:6, 2834:6, 2581:4, 2565:6, 578:3, 371:3, 261:2

The eyes of their understanding open wider and wider to the things not seen by the natural eye. F80; R3278:6, 3167:6

By any other sense or power of perception. F80

Nor angel, we might add, on the strength of Peter's statement. (1 Peter 1:10) R218:1

The things -- At first these things are not great inducements. R4975:4

These things are spiritual and might be apprehended by our minds, but could not be comprehended. R4911:1, 3278:6, 3267:5

Honors and dignities which at present we can but imperfectly imagine. NS466:6

The blessings by and by to be conferred. R3789:2, 2284:4

By faith we already enjoy many of the things. R5420:2

The study of pictures of heavenly things is intended to lift our minds from things earthly and sensual to the things eternal. HG448:3

Having food and raiment, be content, not spending strength in amassing wealth or in worldly ambition, but begin to enjoy the Lord, study and enjoy these glorious things. NS67:6

Hath prepared -- In reservation. R3167:6, 5080:3, 4910:6, 4675:3, 2973:5, 2439:4, 1176:3

God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5, 3892:1; HG132:1; NS182:6

The things which we have sacrificed are not worthy to be compared with the glorious things God has for us. The things that once had value to us have lost their charm by comparison. CR368:6

"An inheritance incorruptible and undefiled," "that fadeth not away!" (Rom. 8:17; 1 Peter 1:4) SM344:2

In joining the Lord in faith and consecration we are proclaiming ourselves, not as graduates and heirs, but as disciples and students, who desire to be prepared to inherit. R4810:4

In the flowers, birds, and everything that is beautiful, the awakened, the quickened soul finds a hint and suggestion of the still grander, still nobler things. NS638:3

It is as proper for the earthly father to make provision for his children--especially in good training and fair education, as for the heavenly Father to plan for and educate and prepare a future home for his children. R1828:4

Them that love him -- Supremely. E247; HG448:3

More than they love houses, lands, name or fame, self or others. NS182:6; SM532:T; CR171:3

His special elect ones. R3892:1; NS415:4, 610:2, 654:6

Who manifest their love by devotion to him and his. R2581:4

The Lord is selecting and directing those who of their own will desire to lay down their lives in his service. R5584:6, 4966:2, 4669:5, 534:2

This appreciation of righteousness is what the Scriptures intimate to be God's drawing influence. R4975:4

He has caused us to sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. CR443:3

For this purpose of proving and manifesting who are the friends of God, "God hath appointed a day," (Acts 17:31)--the Millennial day. R1176:3

1 Corinthians 2:10

Hath revealed them -- These things, spiritual things. F385; R2455:1

In the sense that he has revealed himself to us. We know that his heavenly home which God has prepared for us must be far above the very glorious things he has prepared for the world. R3892:1

The "high calling" and "so great salvation." SM46:2; A84; R3861:4

So much of the divine plan as was due to be revealed. R2208:3

Spiritual understanding is a guiding light, an inspiration to righteousness; it creates an enthusiasm for righteousness. R5719:4

Unto us -- The New Creation. F458, 80; T117; R534:2; NS73:2

Spiritual Israel in the Gospel age. D191

Christ and all of his spirit-begotten followers--the mystery class. (Col. 1:27) R4544:3, 4452:6, 2573:3

The Church, the consecrated. Q749:T; R261:2, 218:1, 3278:6, 578:3

The "elect," the "very elect." SM46:1; CR84:2; R373:3, 2767:3, 5507:1

Those who have made advancement by growth in grace and knowledge and love. SM6:1

The heartily obedient, the consecrated ones. E192; T117

"Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom." (Mark 4:11)

R4398:6, 2767:2, 2712:2, 2723:4, 1506:1; Q748:2; NS606:2

Today we have a hundredfold more to attract our minds and ambitions and desires to the earthly things. How needful it was that the Lord should open simultaneously to his faithful a clearer understanding of his Word and plan. R3914:2

By his spirit -- The holy Spirit. R5507:1

The light of divine revelation, represented by the "golden candlestick."

R1732:4; F690; T117

Granted only to the consecrated. CR414:6; R2723:4, 1697:6

Illumination; as a guide and teacher. R4544:3, 5402:1

This new gift was never known of before the Gospel age. R252:3, 1506:1

By the eyes of our understanding; by the hearing of faith, by coming in touch with the Lord, by tasting that he is gracious; by offering up sacrifices which are a sweet odor. F80, 690

Our Lord's anointing by the holy Spirit quickened his understanding and made all that he had learned much more significant. R4544:3

For the Spirit -- Or mind of God in us. R3200:5

Searcheth all things -- Searcheth out; revealeth. F80; T117; R371:4, 5066:1

Is so anxious to know God's truth. R3200:5

The holy spirit, or mind of God, when received by his children, fits or prepares or enables their minds to comprehend his plan. E279

Our finite minds have difficulty in understanding; because of insufficiency of knowledge and experience. R5064:1

Take heed to his instructions in every detail. E201

Yea, the deep things -- Guided beyond the mere letter. E164; T117;

R2208:3, 2071:1, 4385:3

Why does God permit evil to come to his saints, and why are the wicked permitted to flourish. R1506:1, 4398:6

Correct ideas of righteousness, sin, the character and object of the coming judgment--that it will be a thousand-year day; the Church's call during this age, to become judges by now voluntarily sacrificing earthly interests. E192; F690

Cannot be discerned except by those having the spirit. R127:1, 5489:6, 5402:1, 2782:5, 2581:4

Having the mind or spirit of God, that new mind prompts us to search into the deep things of God--to study that we may know and do his will, as obedient sons. R371:4 This knowledge cannot be known instantaneously but comes gradually as an evidence of faithfulness to God. R5134:5; E202; F80; NS636:1

The hidden, obscure things.

"The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him." (Psa. 25:14) R2208:3. 1071:1; T117

Made known by our acquiring more of the spirit of God, the spirit of Truth, the spirit of the Word. Q749:T; CR84:2

One who can grasp the deep things and who has a desire to work in the vineyard has strong evidence that he is begotten of the Spirit. C222; R5597:2, 1506:1, 1416:1, 775:5

The mysteries of God are now opened up to his faithful children, the watchers. Some features were never revealed until the present time, even to the most faithful of the Lord's saints. R5489:6

Only those with the wedding garment on can see these things. C203

Of God -- His good and acceptable and perfect will concerning us, now and hereafter. F385

1 Corinthians 2:11

What man knoweth -- Your own mind knows your own mind. CR397:2

The things of a man -- The mind, the will, plan of a man. E201; R370:6, 371:4

The spirit of man -- The mind of man. E201; R371:4

Even so -- As no man can know another's mind and plan, except as they are revealed to him, so no one can understand the divine mind and plan, except he come into harmony with the divine mind, receive the holy Spirit. E201, 279; Q748:2

Knoweth no man -- No natural man is spiritually-minded. R4968:3

The Bible is a sealed book, no matter how intellectual a man may be. Q748:2

Until the Spirit had come upon his followers it was useless for Christ to try to tell them of heavenly things. Hence our Lord's energy was largely expended in uttering parables and dark sayings to be understood later. F632

They fail to see the real object and chief characteristic of the coming age of blessing. R1760:4

But the spirit -- Mind, and plan. E202

Of God -- Which is from God. E279; R373:2

God only knows his own mind, his own purpose, his own intention. CR397:2

1 Corinthians 2:12

Not the spirit -- Greek: pneuma, disposition, mind. E318; R373:6, 371:4
R5127:3

Spirit which is of God -- Mind, disposition or will. E202; R371:4
The spirit or mind of God in his children, is no more a person than is the spirit of the world. R373:2

That we might know -- Appreciate, be satisfied with. R2575:2
Might be able to comprehend the deep things of God's character and plan.
CR391:5; R2596:3, 373:2

Giving our best thoughts and talents to the study of God's Word. NS816:2

Here is a certainty that what we wish to know is revealed. HG28:2

At Pentecost the apostles received an illumination of the mind which enabled them to understand the things of God. R5088:2, 5941:2; B123;
NS656:5

See, hear and know things which in times past God had not made known.
R124:2

1 Corinthians 2:13

Which things also -- The things which are freely given us of God. HG28:2

Man's wisdom teacheth -- Teacher and hearer should see to it that it is not man's wisdom that is proclaimed. F255

The vain philosophies. R1719:6

The simplicity of the Gospel is foolishness to them. R1043:2*

"Professing to be wise, they became fools." (Rom. 1:22) R1643:5

Holy Ghost -- Holy Spirit, or mind of God. R373:2

Teacheth -- The holy Spirit or mind of God, when received by his children, fits or prepares or enables their minds to comprehend his plan.

E279

Comparing -- He gives us the rule by which we may know. R18:1, 261:2, 578:3

Spiritual things -- Only those who are begotten of the spirit can see spiritual things. R5580:2, 5402:1, 5295:2

With spiritual -- With the facts recorded in the Scriptures. A182

We thus gain a true understanding both of type and antitype. R1336:4; F458

Not comparing spiritual things with natural things, as the natural man is disposed to do. E202; R578:3, 371:4, 261:2, 18:1

Compare what is revealed of Christ and the angels, with the risen saint.
HG28:2; A182

The natural man -- All mankind, including Adam; human. R5133:2, 242:1;
OV314:1

The old nature. R4005:2

The psuche man. HG128:5

All men are natural men except such as have been begotten again by the holy Spirit. OV354:5; R5133:2, 523:3; NS337:3

The natural man would be a perfect man; fallen man is imperfect, unnatural. R4968:2; Q183

Even a perfect human being cannot receive the deep spiritual truths.

R5133:2, 5157:5, 4544:3, 3297:2; T19

This does not signify a mean or bad man. OV314:1

We are not to accept gentleness and kindness of manner as evidence that their possessor has the holy Spirit. R5133:5

The apostles were natural men who did not receive the begetting of the holy Spirit until Pentecost. R5941:2, 5920:3, 2455:1

Before he had been begotten of the holy Spirit, Jesus did not have the understanding of the prophecies and of the types of the Law. R5157:4, 5064:5, 5054:2, 3291:4; Q183:T; PD57/69; NS479:6

Many have undertaken to interpret "the things of the Spirit of God" and have thus become blind guides, leading multitudes into error, and filling their minds with gross darkness. R813:3*

The children of this world and the children of the kingdom of God too frequently join. The effect always is to bring in worldliness and to give the worldly mind a measure of control in respect to spiritual things.

R4894:5

Receiveth not -- Understandeth not. SM6:1

No matter how wise, or educated, or talented. R5838:1

Educating a man for the pulpit can never make him a proper minister of the truth. Only those who have received the anointing of the holy Spirit are authorized or qualified. NS562:1

The light, the instruction; as the light in the "holy" could not be seen by those outside. R2835:2; T117

He finds them impossible of comprehension. OV354:5; R5054:2, 3265:2, 3177:5; SM6:1

The disciples, though justified men, had to be begotten of the Spirit to comprehend spiritual things. R412:3, 231:2, 4125:4; C222; T116

"Cast not your pearls before swine;" (Matt.7:6) attempt not to tell the deep things to those who have not the spirit and who cannot comprehend your teachings. R3265:2

Nicodemus was inclined to stumble over spiritual things; he could not see how one could be born again. R5506:6, 4125:4

The Lord was able to get up the best secret society. We have a society respecting which nobody can give away its secrets--the Mystery of God, and we can't give it away. CR52:3, 10:3

"None of the wicked shall understand." (Dan. 12:10) HG316:4; NS790:2; SM6:1

Things of the spirit -- The deep things of God; spiritual things.

R5838:1, 2455:1

Of the higher, spiritual nature. A181

The pearls; deep, hidden, glorious things. E280

We have to be regenerated to see spiritual things. HG128:5; R5190:5
Spiritual things in the interiors of the Tabernacle and Temple. T19, 116
Not until we have received the heavenly illumination can we discern them in the way of appreciating them fully. R5742:5, 3265:2, 371:4
The Lord is not dealing with the world; they are not in covenant relationship with him, therefore they cannot please him now. R5219:5
Foolishness unto him -- In the estimation of the worldly the way of the fully consecrated seems foolishness. R2074:5
To the unregenerate appears to be hypocrisies, frauds, impositions. R5190:5
Satan is exercising a blinding, deceiving influence upon all except true believers. (2 Cor. 4:4) R4908:5
We cannot expect sympathy from the world. R2616:3
Neither -- Because he is full of human mindedness. T116
Can he know them -- Appreciate them. D577; R2981:3
The natural man does not understand spiritual things. R5461:2, 5190:5
"I will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it." (Rev. 2:17) R1820:6
Spiritually discerned -- Of spiritual appreciation. D577
Can be discerned only by those who have the spirit or mind of God, the spirit of his plan, the spirit of the truth. E201; F729
Only the spirit-begotten may understand the deep things of God at all and their understanding is in proportion as they attain more a filling of the Spirit of God. R5982:4, 5088:2
The ability to discern spiritual things must depend on the extent to which our minds are controlled by the spirit of God. R21:2*, 692:4*
Spiritual discernment grows from a small beginning. R5742:5
Unless one becomes a New Creature in Christ, he will never understand the divine plan. CR386:3
Heavenly wisdom is never popular with the world. R2053:2

1 Corinthians 2:15

That is spiritual -- Who has received the holy mind or Spirit. E202
Judgeth all things -- Is able to understand and properly estimate both human and spiritual things in the light of the divine plan. E202; R3217:1, 938:3, 371:4
Judgeth of no man -- Understood by no man. R3217:1, 938:3, 371:4
No natural man can understand or judge of the motives which prompt the spiritually minded "New Creature" to sacrifice things valuable to the natural man. R371:4; E202

1 Corinthians 2:16

Who -- Man. R371:5

The mind of Christ -- All the responsibility is with the Head. The Lord requires of every one who shall be accepted as a member of the body of Christ that he shall lose his own headship, his own individuality, and shall accept instead the will of Christ. R3709:6
The disposition that is loving, kind, generous, forgiving toward our fellows and reverential and obedient toward God. R3928:4, 5063:2
We are to love the beautiful, pure, true, noble; we are to love (sympathize with) the weak, the penitent and oppressed. R4909:5
Signifies an intimate acquaintance with the Father and with the Son--a full and clear representation of the Father's mind. SM448:2
There are divine commands with principles behind them and these principles are to be incorporated into our characters. R5123:6
Not dependent upon apostolic or other hands. R3153:4
It requires time to become emptied of self and prepared for the mind of Christ. R4983:6

1 Corinthians 3

1 Corinthians 3:1

As unto spiritual -- We are strictly unsectarian, and consequently recognize no sectarian name. R344:1
Babes in Christ -- Undeveloped Christians--Tribulation saints. SM437:2; D17
The majority of Christians lack a sufficiency of knowledge. R2136:6
We should not be satisfied to remain such, but desire individually to grow into Christ in all things. R2205:4
The vast majority of Christians never experience the fulness of joy, peace and blessing that they might possess. Too many are content with simply diluted first principles of the doctrine of Christ. R5938:2
Some "babes" in Christ are always "catching" something in the way of false doctrine--usually because under-nourished in the truth. R4129:3,5
One that has not made proper progress in spiritual development. R1593:6, 2134:5
A babe in knowledge and a babe in the development of grace. R4628:5, 5938:2, 229:6
New creatures who have only started in the new way of full consecration. R5445:2, 2810:4
Let us not remain such, but while always retaining the childlike, trusting, spirit, let us grow in the favor and knowledge of our Lord. R1043:6*
Just as we care for a babe, specially handle it, specially feed it, specially deal with it, and not treat it as an adult, so the Lord purposes that he will deal with all those who are babes in Christ. R4628:5, 2810:4

1 Corinthians 3:2

Fed you with milk -- Presented in a manner to avoid choking the babes in Christ. R806:2

Neglect not to feed the babes with the sincere milk of the word; but not the strong meat until they are able to bear it. Neither offer to them milk which is not pure. R679:2*

Not with meat -- Not used to strong meat, and likely to be choked by it. R2137:1

1 Corinthians 3:3

Carnal -- Fleshly-mindedness, indicating an immature development along spiritual lines. R4252:1, 2134:5

Worldly, human. NS374:6

Not gross worldly sin, murder, theft, blasphemy, etc., but the more refined evidences of a wrong condition of heart--a lack of the spirit of love; murder in the heart. R2386:2

There is among you -- Gradually the apostle leads his readers onward and points out to them their low spiritual condition. R2386:2

And divisions -- Sectarianism. R1571:2, 5941:3, 4252:1, 1309:2, 81:2*; F81; NS292:1

A party spirit, dividing themselves under human leadership rather than uniting themselves under Christ, the true and only head. R2386:2, 4252:1
Having peculiar, unscriptural designations. F207

Since the 1260 years ended, misguided by the thought that the Church should be one of outward organization, each reformer gathered his followers to him and started a new sect, which claimed to be the true Church. R5742:4

1 Corinthians 3:4

I am of Paul -- They were dividing into Paulites, Apollosites, and Peterites, while a few rightly clung to the name Christian. R1571:2, 5941:3; F81

Idol of sectarianism. R5298:5, 3152:3

Sectarianism is wholly out of accord with the teachings of the Scriptures. OV121:4; R5941:3 The believer does not belong to any man; each is a free man in Christ, belonging to the Lord only, though pleased to recognize any whom God may seem to use as his ministers of truth and grace. NS374:6

I am of Apollos -- That the Corinthian brethren were greatly pleased with the masterful ability of Apollos as a teacher of the truth is implied by the fact that some of them were disposed to say that they were followers of him. R3152:3

As some today are disposed to say, I am of Luther," or "I am of Calvin," or "I am of Wesley." F81; R5298:5, 2134:5, 918:6, 81:2*; NS292:1

Carnal -- Is not this reverencing of men a form of idolatry? R5298:5

An evidence of lack of spiritual perception that there is but one Bridegroom; calling ourselves by any other name would be to that extent renouncing our betrothal. NS292:1

Fleshly; misunderstanding the divine arrangement as worldly people might be expected to do. NS292:1

1 Corinthians 3:5

As the Lord gave -- The true church of Christ is composed only of saints, and they gather to the Lord, irrespective of denominational lines of any kind. R5742:4

1 Corinthians 3:6

God gave the increase -- Not attributing success in convincing the people to their own eloquence or power, but to the favor and blessing of God. R1425:4

1 Corinthians 3:9

Labourers together -- God is working with us, and we are working with him; finding the saintly, the true, and guiding them, fitting them for the spiritual kingdom. R5302:5

God's husbandry -- The great husbandman waits for the gradual development of the fruit. R3020:5

1 Corinthians 3:10

Foundation -- The individual Christian faith is a building, and must have both foundation and superstructure. God would have us grow in grace and knowledge and love, following examples of building which he has furnished. R428:1

Every man -- Not the heathen world, but those who at least nominally accepted Christ as the foundation of their hopes. SM290:T

Thereupon -- Faith--Christ the foundation of hope. SM290:T; R1576:5

1 Corinthians 3:11

Other foundation -- The Redeemer is the foundation. OV174:7; R1484:1
The foundations of any system are easily discovered, and there is only one true foundation--Christ, the ransom. R1900:1, 3823:1, 1213:5*, 564:2
Of the New Jerusalem, "The city which hath foundations," (Heb. 11:10) the Kingdom of God. A295

"Upon this Rock I will build my Church." (Matt. 16:18) F220; R1760:3
Laid in the heaven, not on earth; all other living stones on this foundation are drawn and cemented to it by heavenly attractions. R1982:1;
CR360:3

The unwise believer fails to appreciate the necessity for having a proper foundation for his faith and works. R5029:6

He that trusteth Christ Jesus, and he alone, shall not fail. R2814:1

The great master craftsman of our high order of free and accepted masonry,
Christ, laid the foundation. CR359:5

No man -- We understand these words to refer only to those professing full consecration to the Lord, the Church of Christ. R5696:3

Jesus Christ -- Jehovah's Anointed--the Rock of Ages. R813:4*

The Rock, the true foundation. R3748:6, 5696:3; HG736:6; SM463:2

The success of Ezra and Nehemiah and their co-workers should be regarded as an encouraging prediction of the final completeness and glory of the church built upon the one true and only foundation. R1484:5

The central theme of the Apostle's preaching on every occasion. It would be a poor text for Higher Critics, for Evolutionists, for Theosophists, for Christian Scientists, and for most other of the new gospels. R3144:6

1 Corinthians 3:12

If any man build -- Build character--development of true character. A321

Faith upon the only recognized foundation. A320; R5823:5, 266:6

Upon this foundation -- Christ Jesus' finished work of redemption. A320;
R3748:6

The overthrow of all systems which reject the only foundation is well illustrated by Jesus simile of building in the sand alongside the rock.

Faith, hope and love will abide the fiery trial. R3760:6, 5517:2

Developing their faith and character in harmony with the divine requirements. R5407:6

Each member of the Church being a "living stone." R2054:2

Their building will stand the fire of this great day. R5696:3, 5407:6, 3748:6

A little flock, a royal priesthood who will sit in the throne; the priestly class will be the antitypical temple of God. R5408:1

The gold that is needed is the wisdom that cometh from above; the white raiment, the righteousness of Christ; the eyesalve, the Spirit's help in the understanding of the Word. R505:6*

All of the gold class will be purified, the Little Flock; all of the silver class will be purified, the Great Company. R3684:5, 428:4; NS506:1

Wood, hay and stubble -- Traditional errors and corresponding unstable characters. A321

Human traditions, theories and creeds. R5823:5, 5753:5, 3684:5, 3411:2, 428:3, 275:6, 266:6, 207:5; SM553:3; HG627:2, 398:5

Formulated laws of the leaders of the various societies. R358:4*

Combustible materials, which will shortly be destroyed in this day when the fire of divine judgment shall test every doctrine and every error;

Their superstructure will be burned. R3748:6, 5696:3, 781:5

The Great Company, before the throne; the antitype of the Levites.

R5408:1, 4079:1

Have no place in the true Church. R2054:4

In Solomon's Temple, we find that the wood was merely used as a filler, that the symbol was the gold which covered the wood. R2054:4

1 Corinthians 3:13

Every man's work -- Every man who has built upon Christ. R36:2

Not of the world, but of the church. R4568:6; HG627:2

For the day -- Now present. R571:2, 428:3

We have been in this day of trial for over twenty years. (1901) R2751:5

The close of the Gospel age, the same day as Mal. 3:2, 2 Pet. 3:10, Zeph. 3:8, etc. R5916:1, 5517:1, 1944:3; A320

Corresponding with the shaking of the heavens and the earth in Heb.

12:18-27 and Haggai 2:7. R5517:1

Shall declare it -- Demonstrate the faith that will stand, and the faith that will be consumed. SM290:1; R5097:5, 571:2

Is even now begun. R221:4*, 403:5

Revealed -- Greek: apokalupsis, uncovered, unveiled. R2979:2

By fire -- Trials. R187:6, 801:5*

Those who are able to patiently endure the fiery ordeals will stand in this evil day. R5651:6, 2792:4

In the time of trouble. A321

Anarchy; great tribulation, which is to consume every vestige of present civilization. R5715:3, 5916:4, 5232:5

It would be idle for any of the Lord's consecrated people to hope to be made meet for the glorious inheritance of the saints without the refining processes of fiery trial. R1944:3

The burning, or destruction, allows a much better preparation for the erection of a better faith-structure. R5823:5

Selfish doctrines, errors and all improper faith will be destroyed. SM290:1

And the fire -- Symbolical. R5753:5

In the end of this Age. R2496:5, 5442:5, 5407:6, 2814:2, 916:1; HG627:3

Of his jealousy. R505:5

This reference evidently is to the testings of the Lord's people during the period of his presence in the end of the Age. R2979:3, 4628:1, 4568:6

The siftings of this day will manifest it--the Lord will separate the deficient ones. R3760:6, 5696:3, 5651:6, 5517:2, 3405:5

Shall try -- Every man's faith and character structure. A321; R862:3, 2496:5, 1809:6, 207:5

The living members of the Royal Priesthood will be subjected to fiery trials. R3684:5, 801:5*, 266:6

Every man's work -- Prove what foundation his disciples have built upon. R5442:5

All iniquity and injustice will be exposed, reprobated and destroyed. R4628:4

Amongst professed believers. NS43:5

Every one in the Church is to be tried, however, in great measure it will be a trying time for all the world as well. R4628:1

What sort it is -- All who are truly the Lord's people will be granted an opening of the eyes of their understanding to appreciate where we are. R5753:5

"Judgment must begin with the house of God." (1 Peter 4:17) R3405:3, 4583:3, 4628:1; B239

If any man's work -- Those whose faith structure contains little of wood, hay and stubble, will suffer least. R4583:3, 571:2

Abide -- Remain, his faith will not be destroyed. R266:6

Our Lord would have us carefully note the times and seasons and all the directions of the divine plan if we would be in cooperation with him. Such work only will abide. R1784:1

He hath built -- They will have a superstructure of truth and loyalty to the Lord. R5696:3

Thereupon -- Upon Christ. A321

Receive a reward -- In proportion to his faithfulness in building, making use of the truth in the development of true character. A321

The Little Flock, faithful to the Word and upheld by it and protected.
R3748:6

1 Corinthians 3:15

Any man's -- In the Church. R2453:2

Shall be burned -- Others who build with wood will find their faith structure will be consumed. R5407:6, 5029:6

Many serve very actively whose works are to be burned in the fiery trials to which they shall be subjected in this day of the Lord. R1797:1

How many are finding their faith burned out! SM290:1

Those who have more of these combustibles will suffer the more. R4583:3

And probably including also social institutions and business. R588:4*

Shall suffer loss -- Loss of the reward because of unfaithfulness. A321; R140:4

Loss of the kingdom; take a lower place, not rulers, but honorable servants of the ruling class. R5916:3, 2481:1, 1783:4*

Those who do not properly set their affections on heavenly things, but allow their affections to center chiefly in earthly things--the Great Company. R2481:1

He himself -- Sometimes termed a tribulation class. R5407:6

Shall be saved -- Because truly consecrated, and whose hopes, though false, were built upon Christ and his redeeming work. R5517:2, 5823:5, 5407:6, 1008:6

Rescued from the catastrophe. R3941:6; SM568:T

Brought to perfection. R1008:6

Many of God's dear people in the great nominal systems in the time of trouble. SM126:3; R3941:5

Some cling so closely to the world, its forms and institutions, etc., that they must be put through a severe ordeal; and every true grain shall be saved by some process. R576:2

The Great Company class will get a reward to which they were never called. R5060:2

"To deliver such a one unto Satan for the destruction of the flesh that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord." (1 Cor. 5:5) R5056:5

Yet so as by fire -- Singed, scorched and alarmed. A321

Severe discipline destroying what such do not sacrifice. R1008:5, 5056:4

Fitly describes the deliverance of the Great Company, who will "come up through great tribulation," (Rev. 7:14); the "foolish virgins." R3748:6, 3865:3, 1952:4, 428:4

Typified by Lot and his daughters. R2857:6

Not sufficiently diligent and careful respecting the divine promises.

The Lord's people will be tested along the lines of their separation from the spirit of the world. R2858:1

"These are they that have come up out of great tribulation." (Rev. 7:14)

1 Corinthians 3:16

The temple of God -- The Church as a whole is the antitypical temple of God; each individual Christian is a member in particular. R2367:4, 5831:5, 5713:2, 5504:1, 1484:1, 398:1; CR456:3; PD45/55

Each Christian is a living stone in preparation for the great Temple of the future, now being chiseled, polished, made ready for his place in the Temple above. R5831:5, 5504:2, 2512:5, 2367:4; CR360:1; PD87/100; NS517:5
Construction has been in progress throughout the Gospel age--ever since Christ became the world's Redeemer and the chief cornerstone. R5822:2, 5152:2

Each congregation might be considered the temple of God. R5831:5
The church as a whole when gathered to the heavenly condition will be God's temple, in that God will dwell in them, by his holy spirit. R5831:5, 5504:2, 3053:5; NS517:6

The Church in glory will not be the Temple of God until the heavenly Father himself shall have recognized it. CR457:1, 361:1

The Church is to be "filled with the glory of God," or glorified, before the plagues are fulfilled; and not until then can any more enter the Temple. HG83:3

The "Man of Sin,"--Papacy--did take his seat in God's church (temple), and used in a blasphemous manner the titles and honors of the "King of Kings." R55:1, 306:1

The Temple of Solomon was a type of God's holy people, the Church. R5713:2, 5504:1, 1981:2, 1484:1

The building of the antitypical temple will be done at the close of this Gospel Age. CR456:6, 360:4

The consecrated or temple class in the nominal church stands related to the nominal church as a whole, as the literal Temple stood related to the holy city Jerusalem, as a whole.

The Temple class must now be cleansed. B239

"Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." (Rev. 3:12) B209, 239

"How amiable are thy tabernacles" (Psa. 84:1) in the eyes of all who have the same spirit. R1401:6

There has been no other temple since, and there never will be another, for this one is an everlasting habitation. R305:6, 55:1

That the Spirit -- In the spirit of our minds we are risen with Christ. R172:1

1 Corinthians 3:17

If any man -- After he has been made a partaker of the holy Spirit and has tasted the good word of God and the powers of the coming age. R1981:5
Restricted to the Church. NS516:3

Defile -- Destroy, by turning again to the spirit of the world. R1981:5
It is our duty not only to keep our bodies as pure and undefiled as possible, in thought and word and act, outwardly and inwardly; but it is part of our duty also to take reasonable care of our physical systems. R2367:2

Every vile thought or act, every pandering to appetite, is sure to bring depravity on body or mind or both; and depravity is the death process at work. NS517:2

This "Man of Sin" system arises in the Church, and professes to be in and of the true Church--the Church of the living God and not of the world.

Paul declares this to be an apostasy. R980:2

The temple of God -- His spiritual life, which was holy, and consecrated to God. R1981:5

Shall God destroy -- The Lord has "no pleasure" in any who "draw back." "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die." (Heb. 10:38, Rom. 8:13) R1981:5
In the second death. NS517:3

Contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:3

Temple of God -- Christ became the world's Redeemer and the chief corner-stone of this Temple. R5822:1, 1982:1

The foundations of our Temple were laid at Pentecost, under apparently very unfavorable conditions from the world's standpoint--a dead leader, and a handful of a few hundred disciples scattered and considerably discouraged. R3649:5

Is holy -- Every faithful consecrated child of God in whom God, by his holy spirit, dwells, is a Temple, a royal residence of the King of kings, a holy sanctuary; "an habitation of God through the Spirit." (Eph. 2:22) R1981:3; NS815:2

It is to those who appreciate the sanctity of the Temple that all the blessings of divine grace belong; God's glory shall be manifested in them and to them. R1981:6

Wherever God may dwell is necessarily holy; any wilful sin would be an offence against God. NS517:6

God, who declared he would have no fellowship with sinners, has provided a way by which these sinners can come back into harmony with him, through the temple arrangement. CR359:5

No unconsecrated stones are wanted in this Temple; there is not place for worldly workers in this great work of God; the worldly mind has no real knowledge concerning it. R4894:5, 2512:5

Which temple ye are -- The Church. R2795:2, 5822:1, 5504:1, 2512:5
Both individually and collectively. R638:3*, 1982:1

Wherever God's Spirit is there is a Temple. CR457:4

Paul here referred to the Church in its present condition, on probation, as though it were a finished Temple, because by faith may be realized the Lord's presence and protecting care in their temporary organization as the Church. R4296:4

Typified by Solomon's Temple. (2 Chron. 2:7; I Kings 6:8) CR359:1,6, 456:3; R172:1

The apostles taught that the real work of the Church of Christ is not to build costly edifices beyond their means; but to build themselves up in the most holy faith. PD87/100

1 Corinthians 3:18

To be wise -- We cannot expect sympathy from them. R2616:3

Become a fool -- In the eyes of the world, by faithfully preaching the Gospel at every opportunity. A347

From the world's standpoint the Lord's consecrated people who seek to make their calling and election sure are counted fools, because to attain that they are willing to sacrifice present temporal interests. R3585:4, 2616:3, 2074:6

In their day our Lord and his prophets and apostles were all accounted "fools" and "cranks," and the same worldly estimate will continue to the end of this age. R1873:1

1 Corinthians 3:19

For the wisdom -- Worldly wisdom wilfully closes its eyes to the broadest principles of righteousness and truth whose effects reach on into eternity. R1776:6

"Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes." (Isa. 5:21) R1896:5

Which delights in envying, strife, and every evil work; selfishness.

R1518:3

Worldly wisdom got its hold in the Dark Ages and greatly perverted the Gospel. HG615:5

Men have been searching for centuries to prove that man is susceptible of a moral training which would bring him into harmony with God; or that God's love will override his justice. R391:5

The wisdom from above, from the Word of God, is what we need, not worldly wisdom which is becoming more and more foolish to all thinking people.

CR498:5

Of this world -- The world lives for the present, thinks for the present, strives for the present. CR424:1

"Earthly, sensual, devilish." (James 3:15) R1520:1, 1518:3

The more we see of the foolishness of men, the more we should rely on the wisdom and Word of God. R4826:2; SM438:2

The Lord does not honor the world nor the worldly-wise, with a knowledge of his secret purposes. R1617:6

God chooses "babes" who will babble forth the truth unceremoniously to confound the wise and the great. R942:2

Foolishness with God -- Even as the wisdom of God is foolishness with the children of this world. HG615:5; NS265:1

Taketh -- Entrapped. R2882:3

Their own craftiness -- "The meek will he guide in judgment; and the meek will he teach his way." (Psa. 25:9) R2882:3

The divine plan is hidden from the great majority of the learned, the doctors of divinity, etc., because it has pleased the Father to reveal his purposes to those of an humble mind. R2624:6

They are too wise to learn, too great to be "taught of God" through his Word. R2882:4

They have rejected the Bible and do not trust it as a revelation. Their boasted wisdom ensnares them and blinds them. R6013:6

1 Corinthians 3:21

All things -- Sacrificing things of the earthly nature, to become joint-heirs with him in glory, honor and immortality. R4998:6, 3161:6

Are yours -- New Creatures; believers--nothing belongs to the world as yet. R5088:3, 4998:6

The meek ones of the Lord's followers even now in a measure receive the fulfillment of the promise "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." R3734:6

In a figurative sense, by faith. R2586:3

The Lord's saints can enjoy the rich works of art displayed in the shop windows without any desire to have them under their special care. R3734:6

A general reference to the fact that every member of the anointed body is to preach the Gospel. R2157:2

1 Corinthians 3:22

Cephas -- Peter. R4252:1, 2157:2*

Things to come -- God's promises are sure. R1217:4*

All are yours -- The church is soon to have the entire inheritance; the land, the power, the dominion, the glory and the honor. R1164:2, 3161:6; CR149:2

Not only the possession of all power but all riches, not for selfish uses, but that they may lavish divine favors upon mankind during the Millennial age. SM275:T; NS466:6

What this means is described in Psalm 23. R5654:1

Things present and things to come. R4784:1

Let us enter into the blessings of the Lord more, and allow his leadings past and present to give us courage and fortitude for the future. R4064:1; NS105:3

Whoever does not appreciate the spiritual joys can hardly be expected to endure the present training with patience and thankfulness. R5147:6, 1656:1

1 Corinthians 3:23

Ye are Christ's -- Not any sect or party or denomination, but individuals who, regardless of sectarian lines, have entered into a heart covenant with the Lord.

These are the ones addressed in the Bible as the saints of God. R5692:2

If Jesus is our Purchaser, all men belong to him and are under his control; he has a right to do for them what he pleases. R387:4

We are vitally united with the illustrious Son of the great King of the Uni verse. R4784:1

Christ is God's -- Whom he has made his sole associate in the glory and dominion of the universe. R4784:1

Jehovah is the great original fountain of life and blessing, the author of the great plan of salvation, executed by our Lord Jesus--the Grand Father and Over-Lord of all. E142; NS609:6

1 Corinthians 4

1 Corinthians 4:1

Of us -- Paul, Apollos, Peter, and a general reference to all who are Christ's. 2R2157:2*

As of the ministers -- Servants. F231; R1972:3, 1524:1

While this ministry belonged specially to the apostles, it belongs also to the whole Church, who have the anointing and commission (Isa. 61:1, 2) and the consequent responsibilities of the sacred trusts. R1972:3, 2157:2*

And stewards -- The consecrated, the saints, are God's stewards. We are stewards of all the talents, etc., which we consecrated to him. So then our stewardship is a very special one. R819:2

The positive element of character and the recognized obligation to activity are specially implied in the term "steward," as well as a righteous character. R2157:3*

The apostles bore witness not only to the things they heard and saw, but, additionally, to the instruction which they received through the holy Spirit; thus they were faithful stewards. F217; R1523:3

The apostles were specially guided in respect to the testimony, doctrines, customs, etc. which they would establish in the Church. F217

Paul used his judgment as a steward. R1545:3

The mysteries of God -- God's Plan. In addition to our own consecrated powers to use, God gives us a glad glorious message to the world. R820:1

To receive the "good news" is to become a steward of it, and brings the opportunity and the incentive for carrying out the original stewardship. R820:1

1 Corinthians 4:2

Required in stewards -- A special class of servants--also called sons.

R5385:6 A term common in olden time. R5385:6

The entire body of Christ is called, not to indolent, self-complacent ease, but to diligent and enterprising activity in the divine service.

R2157:5*

Each one, male or female, who possesses a talent or gift, becomes a steward of the same; and in the reckoning day the Lord will require each steward to give an account. R1549:2

Be found faithful -- To his trust. R820:4

A faithful steward would be on the lookout for everything that represented the Master's interests; would be as careful of these as he would be of his own. R5385:6

Faithful with what he has. The one who is using his talents to the full capacity is specially pleasing to the Lord. This matter calls up the thought of full, complete loyalty of heart devotion. R5386:2

By a proper and diligent use of our gifts in harmony with the divine purpose and methods. R1972:3

One person might be a good writer; another a good speaker, or a good exhorter; and another may be good at all three of these things. The one good at all three would have three times as much responsibility. R5387:1

Faithfulness is required of all in the use of all talents possessed.

R1549:2

The Lord will not count us faithful if we simply be good and make little or no effort to do good. It is important to consider whether our course of service is day by day approved of God as faithful. R2157:5*

We want to spend, fully and promptly, yet wisely as possible, the Master's goods, time, talent, money, influence, etc., put into our hands for disposal, as the Master's example and Word directs. R819:3

Paul was a faithful steward ever seeking new and greater opportunities to spend and be spent in the heavenly service. R819:6

Whoever receives the truth in the love of it will to the best of his ability and judgment show it to others at whatever the cost may be. SM294:T

O that all the consecrated may more fully realize themselves as the Lord's Stewards, or Executors, appointed to administer upon their own Wills. How it would destroy the I, my, mine, spirit. R819:3

If we are unfaithful, can we expect him who knoweth the heart to entrust to such care the true riches of his glory and kingdom? R820:4

The parables of the pounds and talents (Luke 19:11-27; Matt. 25:14-20) show what is considered faithfulness to our stewardship. R1972:3, 819:5

1 Corinthians 4:3

That I should be judged -- Paul's faithfulness in seeking to build up and establish the Church in purity of doctrine and life, was often misunderstood, and failed to be appreciated by them. R664:4*, 416:4*

Of you, or of man's -- Neither the world nor the brethren were capable of judging Paul. R5887:5, 4829:1, 2480:2

It would be improper to say, This one belongs to the Great Company and that one to the Little Flock. R314:6

I judge not -- Condemn not. R2480:2, 5887:5, 5519:6, 4829:2, 2480:2; Q314:6; CR446:6, 294:3

I realize that I am not competent to judge even my own case. R4683:6, 4971:5; Q384:1

You and I are incapable; even in our own case we cannot always be able to judge thoroughly. CR446:6; R5519:5

Use a certain amount of leniency. R5519:6

Only the Lord, who can read the heart and know all the conditions, testings and weaknesses to be striven against, can properly judge.

R5887:5, 5245:5, 4829:1, 2480:2

There is a difference between judging the heart, which we have no right to do, and judging the conduct, which is right to do. R5245:5; Q385:4

Mine own self -- Paul might be too lenient with himself, and again too severe, when, perhaps, he was doing the best he could. CR294:3

I might pass a wrong judgment on myself and say, You do not belong to the Little Flock, or say, Surely you do belong to the Little Flock. Q314:6

It is difficult even for one to judge himself aright--difficult to know to what extent the new creature has done all in its power to war a good warfare against the flesh. R5902:5

It is an excellent plan neither to condemn others who claim to be walking conscientiously as children of the Lord, nor even to condemn ourselves if we are sincerely striving to do the Lord's will. R4829:2, 2480:2

We may not even too hastily judge ourselves to be worthy of the second death. R4971:5; Q384:1

This is not a contradiction of 1 Cor. 11:31; but seems to be that when we come to realize how high is God's standard, we might be inclined to judge ourselves too severely. R5519:6

1 Corinthians 4:4

Nothing by myself -- For I know nothing amiss of myself as a steward. F410

He that judgeth me -- Who is infallible in judgment and to whom judgment belongs. R5604:4

We cannot properly judge even ourselves as respects our own weaknesses.

The Lord knows how to make all due allowance. R5586:1

Is the Lord -- Sometimes the New Creature is so beset by the world, the flesh and the Adversary, that his victory may seem to outsiders to be rather ignoble. God alone knows to what extent better results were possible. R5902:5

God loves us and is willing to give us credit for every good desire and effort, even though it result in total or partial failure. F411

Only the Lord, who can read the heart and know all the conditions, testings and weaknesses to be striven against, can properly judge. R5887:5

No one would be condemned to death for not controlling the tobacco habit or the coffee habit or the morphine habit. God alone knows how each is struggling. R4971:5; Q384:1

1 Corinthians 4:5

Judge nothing -- Greek: krino, to distinguish, decide, try, etc. referring to the judgment of the Millennial age. R2426:4

Condemn nothing. R5389:5

Beyond discriminating between the true sheep and the wolves in sheep's clothing. F198; R1362:3

We are not to judge the world now. R2415:3, 5979:4, 5845:5, 5644:5, 5604:4, 4991:2; Q651:1

We note injustice; we ought to note it. But it is not our province to flay, to inflict punishment. R5604:4, 5979:4

It is not for us to settle with the criminal. God knows to what extent he is responsible. It is our duty to look at him from the standpoint of sympathy. R5979:4, 5604:4 We should avoid judging the brethren. R5887:1, 5701:3, 5604:4, 2666:2

Our responsibility may vary according to the natural strength or weakness of our character: God alone can fully judge. R5701:3

We cannot fully appreciate the degree of the temptation and the weakness of the tempted. R5032:3

This does not refer to our judging ourselves. R5519:5

If the matter is a legal one, and we are personally wronged by process of law, we are to yield in the right spirit, even though it be unjust. Let us wait for the Lord's time and way to set things straight. R5644:5

Before the time -- When we shall be our Lord's associates, his wife, the Royal Priesthood. R4991:3, 5628:4

"The saints shall judge the world." (1 Cor. 6:2) E193; R2426:4, 2415:3

Do not decide about anybody else; but let each of us watch himself, and see to it that he keep his heart in the right attitude toward the Lord and the brethren. All will soon be manifested. R5845:5

It is very seldom that God visits punishment upon the world in the present time. He hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world. R569:5

The world has not yet come into this judgment: its reckoning is yet future; but ours is now upon us. R1362:5

When God's time shall come, no room for doubt will be left; every member of our race shall come to a clear knowledge of the truth that he may be saved. NS284:1, 317:4

Until the Lord come -- The teaching of the Apostle here is parallel to that of our Lord in his parable of the wheat and the tares. (Matt. 13:24-30, 36-43) R1362:1

We are now living in the days of the parousia (presence) of the Son of Man, "The Lord of the harvest." (Matt. 9:38) R1362:1, 5389:5

In this day, it becomes our duty, as well as our privilege, to judge who is on the Lord's side and who is against him. (Matt. 12:30) R1362:3

Will bring to light -- The Sun of Righteousness will, in the Millennial day, shine for the benefit of all the world, dispelling the noxious vapors of evil, and bringing life, health and peace, and joy. A21

Everything hidden will be uncovered--we are living in this time of special testing. R5154:5, 5389:5, 1362:3; HG572:5

"God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." (Eccl. 12:14) R2612:6, 722:2

"The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good." (Prov. 15:3) R2612:6, 722:2

Hidden things of darkness -- Not only the hidden things of creeds and systems of error and iniquity, but also the hidden things of individual character. R1362:4; HG572:5

God is with men, and Christ and the Church are with men, more or less contradicting and putting to shame the things of darkness of the present time. R4973:3

Will make manifest -- If we would not be put to shame before him, we must be honest. R5154:5; HG572:5

Among those whom we fellowship and bid God-speed as brethren, it is our duty to judge whether they are still faithful when the magnet of truth makes their judgment so manifest. (2 John 10, 11) R1362:5

It is the nominally elect class that is being tried now; and God is now making manifest the secret counsels of the hearts of his people. R1363:4

The counsels -- The intentions of the heart. F410

In the next chapter, Paul tells the Corinthians to deal with the fornicator. Men could deal with sinners, but when it is a heart work, a question of motive, they could not deal with it. R98:1*

1 Corinthians 4:6

Above that which is written -- If any be disposed to worship the humble human instrumentality chosen of God as the channel for this blessing of present truth, we say to such, "See thou do it not." (Rev. 22:9) R1867:3
When there is no revelation on the subject. R4654:3

1 Corinthians 4:7

Who -- God has set the various members in the body as it has pleased him and the bringing forth of the different degrees of fruitage are manifestations of his grace in our hearts. R5284:2

It is all by God's grace that we are better than others; it is not for us to glory, but to give thanks. R4991:4

Maketh thee -- A New Creation--a new order--amongst whose members there is a difference. R5284:1

To differ -- By his grace we are what we are. R3842:2, 5284:2

Some in the Church have many talents, others, few talents, some have special talents, some have ordinary talents. R5284:1

No two persons are exactly alike in opportunity, talent and ability. God did not create some better and some worse, some less and some more richly endowed. R5284:1

Sin has made us all to differ from the original image and likeness of God.

Satan brought about this difference through Mother Eve. R5284:1

We give God the praise that he has made us to differ from our former selves, and that he will continue the work as we seek to do his will.

R5284:5

The degradation which came upon the world through the fall of Adam has been to a considerable extent offset by the grace and truth which our Lord Jesus brought to light through his message of salvation. SM381:1

Truth mixed with error has made Christendom to differ from heathendom, greatly to its advantage in some respects. SM384:2, 387:2

The people of Israel were made to differ from other men by reason of God's dealings with them and promises to them. SM380:1, 381:1

Didst not receive? -- From the Lord. R3842:2, 5000:6, 1867:3; SM387:2

What have we of ourselves? Nothing! R5284:5, 1972:3

Nothing with which we may do as we please. All that we have belongs to God, and we are merely stewards of his goods. R1972:3

Justification through faith in the precious blood is surely not of ourselves. It was favor upon favor that we were granted the privilege of presenting our bodies living sacrifices, to become the Lamb's wife.

SM387:2 Everything that we possess--every quality of character and its development--has come to us from the Lord; in these words there is a thought that should help us toward humility. SM387:1

Any progress made by any of the race has been in proportion as he has received of the Lord's favor and accepted the same. SM375:2, 387:2

The response of our heart must be gratitude and thankfulness. R2460:2

Why dost thou glory? -- If what we have received is a gift, where is our right to be proud? There is no reason to be proud, but every reason to be thankful to the Great Giver of good. R5000:6

All Christians by virtue of their relation to God have every reason to give thanks to the Lord that they differ from their fellow creatures; but they have nothing whereof to boast. R5154:5, 3842:2, 2999:5*

1 Corinthians 4:8

Now ye are full -- You imagine that somehow the reign of Christ is in progress. A287

Said ironically. R1524:1; A286; F231

Ye are rich -- You are getting along very prosperously, you have had no trouble or persecution at all. R5023:5; Q118:2

Ye have reigned -- Some were already grasping honor and power, cultivating pride and avoiding sacrifice. A286; NS338:3

Catholics claim that for over 1000 years the Pope has been the representative of Christ as King of earth; they are laboring under a misapprehension. R5023:5; Q118:2

As kings without us -- Paul was opposing the idea of some of the brethren who seemed to be aspiring to lordship over God's heritage. F231; R1574:2

Living as kings without waiting for the time to come to have association with the other members of the body. NS338:3

I would -- Making fun of them a little. R5023:5; Q118:2

That we also -- We persecuted apostles. A286

Reign with you -- If the long-looked-for reign had begun, Paul also would be reigning no less than they. He by faithfulness was a sufferer for the truth's sake, which was a proof that their reign was premature. A286
When the reign of Christ begins, it will be such a thorough reign that all the members of his body will have some part in it. R5023:5; Q118:3; HG186:6

1 Corinthians 4:9

Set forth -- Exhibited. R756:2*

Us the apostles -- So assured was the Apostle of his own, and the other apostles, faithfulness, that he could say to the Church, "You have us for examples." R1884:6

Appointed to death -- Alluding to an illustration to those last exposed in the theatre to fight with wild beasts, or with each other, and who were devoted to certain destruction. R756:2*

Spectacle -- The word in the marginal rendering of the Authorized Version, is theatre. The apostles were being made "a show of" because of their loyalty to the cause of Christ. Q744:1

Not an object of reverence and homage. F231

Those who have consecrated themselves as sacrifices, are being made a spectacle to all those outside as well as within their own company. R756:2*

And to angels -- Man was intended from the first to be a spectacle to angels as well as himself a miracle of divine mercy and love. The perfect, inexperienced pair were subjected to a trial which God knew would fail.

What the race of mankind is learning by actual experience the spirit beings are learning by observation. Q744:1

The holy angels, who have known no sin, will in mankind read to eternity a valuable lesson of the exceeding sinfulness of sin and the wisdom and blessedness of righteousness. SM470:T; R313:3

"By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison." (1 Pet. 3:19) R1679:6

And to men -- Both men and angels will shortly be judged by the Church, and blessed by it, if found obedient and worthy of life. R1679:6; HG729:5

1 Corinthians 4:10

We -- Apostles and faithful servants. A286

Are fools -- Said ironically. A286; R2514:3

Though counted as fools by the worldly-minded. E202; R5495:6, 2547:6; NS265:2

To those without faith in Christ and his teachings this was all foolishness on the part of the Apostle. To them Paul seemed to be a religious fanatic. Q778:6; 744:1

From the world's standpoint our Lord made a serious misuse of his time and talents in sacrificing. This is true of all proper sacrificers since; they must go to the Lord without the camp; bear his reproaches. NS254:2; R1109:6; SM9:1

The Lord's consecrated people who seek to make their calling and election sure are counted fools, because to attain that they are willing to sacrifice present temporal interests. R3585:4, 371:4; Q779:T

Many will think the Christian's course strange, unnatural, insane; because we preach the wisdom and love of God, in preference to the wisdom and love of humanity. R5426:2

The world has applauded and reprimanded the outward Church of God, but has uniformly disallowed the true and considered its members to be merely foolish. SM9:1

As David was counted by his brethren too insignificant to be considered for the Lord's anointed, so also are those whom the Lord is choosing and anointing for his heavenly kingdom. R3226:5

For Christ's sake -- To be disowned and disesteemed of the world for the Truth's sake; the test which the Father imposed as a demonstration of our loyalty to him. CR38:1

If others think us fools for getting our instructions from the Bible, we are willing to be called fools for Christ's sake. CR496:6

1 Corinthians 4:11

Unto this present hour -- Apparently referring back to experiences at Corinth. R2192:5

Hunger and thirst -- Permitted to be in want. R4416:2

1 Corinthians 4:12

Labor -- That we might not be chargeable to any, but might have the privilege of helping, together with all saints, in supplying the lack, both temporal and spiritual, of others. R548:1, 552:1

As well as in preaching and expounding the Scriptures. R733:2

Working with our own hands -- Because others were not exercising their gifts, Paul's love for the body and the truth, led him to attempt still greater service to make up for the deficiency of others. R733:2

Being reviled -- To be traduced. R4416:2

It requires some stamina to be a loyal follower in the footsteps of Jesus, misunderstood and reviled as he was. R5495:6

We bless -- Not that when one has said a slanderous thing of us, we are to say, "God bless you"; but that if a person is in difficulty and needs help, we are to overlook altogether what he has done, and be ready to help him. R5172:3

Instead of feeling like bringing vengeance upon our enemies, we should feel sympathy for them--not with them, but for them. R5173:1

By helping them, if opportunity offers, out of darkness into light.

R5172:4 The spirit of generosity and benevolence should be the spirit of the Lord's people. R5172:4

No matter how much we are reviled, we are not to revile in return. R5172:3

You not only must not retaliate and revile your foes, but must not even wish to do so. R2412:5

Being persecuted -- Oppressed. R4416:2

The majority of persecutions have been by those who professed to be the people of God. R5172:5, 5173:5

The persecutions of today are different from those of any other period of history. Many faithful followers of the Lord are reproved and slandered for their loyalty to the Word of God. R5173:1

Our Lord adopts the flesh of his followers as his; the Church is said to be filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ. (Col. 1:24) R5173:4

The Corinthians had flourished financially, socially and suffered little persecution; and were unable to rightly sympathize with Paul in his active ministry and the many hazardous incidents therewith. R2514:3

We suffer it -- It behooves the Lord's people to look with great sympathy upon those who may be their persecutors. Some persecutors think they are doing the will of God. R5172:5

These conditions are a test to the Lord's people, to prove whether they are willing to endure persecutions and oppositions cheerfully, as a part of the cost of being disciples of Christ. R5173:2

No matter how much we are persecuted, we are not to persecute in return. R5172:3

If we receive these lessons with patience and long-suffering, we will develop more of the character-likeness of our Redeemer and thus become more worthy of a share with him in the future glory. R5173:2

1 Corinthians 4:13

Being defamed -- Slandered. R4416:2

We entreat -- The apostles issued neither bulls and anathemas, but we find loving entreaties. F232

Filth of the world -- All who have espoused Christ's cause have become identified with a body, or company, that is despised of men, a humiliated body. R5579:6

The offscouring -- These insults came frequently from poor, blinded slaves of sin; at other times from those who are "willingly ignorant." R5252:6

"The world knoweth us not, because it knew him not." (1 John 3:1) R3918:4; NS694:4

Unto this day -- If God permitted Paul such experiences to bring out the best in him and make his epistles more useful to us, the Lord's dealings with us may be for our preparation for further usefulness in his service. R4416:2

1 Corinthians 4:14

Not these things to shame you -- I have a better and a nobler object. A286

Speaking of his labor and suffering for them. R664:4*, 416:4* Not to cause them pain or shame but to awaken them to a proper appreciation of the true situation, to the intent that they might be to a larger extent co-laborers with him. R2514:3

I warn you -- Because present honor and glory lead not to the glory and honor to be revealed; but present suffering and self-denial are the narrow path to glory, honor, immortality and joint-heirship in the kingdom. A286

Begotten -- Through the truth--the gospel. R836:3

In the natural birth there are three steps of development, begetting, quickening, and birth; and so with those who become "new creatures in Christ Jesus." R836:3, 837:1

In due time the quickening into activity, zeal, and labor, will give evidence to others that we have been begotten of the truth to newness of life. R836:3

Greek: gennao, represents the same thought as our two words, beget and born, and in our common translation it is rendered, beget; conceived; begotten; as well as born; delivered; and bear. R836:6

When used in connection with God, it should always be rendered beget or begotten. R837:1

In Christ Jesus -- God gave Christ "to be head over all things to the church which is his body." (Eph. 1:22) R72:6

1 Corinthians 4:16

Followers of me -- Suffer and be reviled and persecuted now, that you may share with me the crown of life. A286

The only right way, which is that of humility, in this respect. R1524:1; F231

Paul meant the narrow way of sacrifice; in the footprints of the Lord. R756:2*

1 Corinthians 4:17

I sent unto you Timotheus -- Paul sent two of his helpers, Erastus and Timothy in advance of his visit. (2 Tim. 4:20) R3159:2

1 Corinthians 4:20

In power -- It is only through the "ministration of the Spirit" that man obtains freedom. R1322:5

1 Corinthians 5

1 Corinthians 5:1

It is reported -- In the extreme case of immoral conduct referred to by Paul, he was reproofing the Corinthian church for not judging such a one unworthy to be counted one of their number. R954:1*, 2430:6

Commonly -- Publicly acknowledged by the offender against morals, and known to the entire Church. F412

One should have his father's wife -- A brother who was not living according to his covenant, but who was living in a measure of sin. R5056:2, 2430:6

Not necessarily a wilful sin, but quite probably in part at least a sin of ignorance; the transgressor was probably a "babe" in Christ. R1699:1

1 Corinthians 5:2

Ye are puffed up -- The Apostle reprimanded the church for not having done their duty by the brother. R5056:3, 4626:1, 2430:6

Present in spirit -- Greek: pneuma, mentally. E312

Have judged already -- Greek: krino, relates to probationary trials and testings only the Lord himself or one of his apostles had the right to do. R2430:2; F412

It is the duty of every child of God to judge what is right and what is wrong, and what is true and what is false. R416:2*, 664:4*

1 Corinthians 5:4

In the name of -- Our Lord is in a Church of even two or three met in his name, to direct such as seek his guidance. R2431:1

My spirit -- Judging by the Church of its own faithful is by virtue of the spirit of the Lord in the Church. R2431:1

Deliver -- Figuratively. F412

Such an one -- This class is treated as the scapegoat and driven into the wilderness condition for tribulation experiences. R5196:5, 3802:6 Referring to one class of the consecrated members of the Body of Christ who had not been living up to their privileges. R4035:6

The Great Company, who come up through great tribulation. Q434:1 That which they refused to give voluntarily will be taken away from them. R5056:2

Who loves the present world but has not wholly forsaken the Lord and despised his covenant. A214

Not a hopeless case, as it would have been had the sinner transgressed against full light and knowledge, wilfully. R1699:1

The only alternative is the Lord's providential interference in their affairs. R3445:3

Whoever does not give himself fully in sacrifice is delivered over to the Adversary. R5056:2

Satan -- The Adversary. R80:6

Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

For the destruction -- To receive a scourging and purifying by the fire of affliction. A214

The death by compulsion. T71; R5196:5

The Great Company. R3684:5, 4546:4, 4079:5*, 4035:6, 3445:3, 1699:5

If there be a measure of ignorance connected with the perverse course, the Lord may give severe chastisements to awaken thoroughly such a person. R5102:4

Subjected to the great time of trouble; to bring destruction to the flesh.

Buffer; until earthly, clinging tendencies, are broken down and their minds become fully submissive and in harmony with God. R5056:2, 4035:6, 954:3*

God's dealings with his people might reasonably be expected along the lines of earthly disciplines. This might mean financial difficulties or losses, or physical ailments, disease or what not. R2295:5

The Lord permits their cherished ambitions to ensnare them, punch them, their idols to fall, their earthly sweets to turn to bitterness, until heart-sick and disappointed, the spirit may turn fully to Him. R1699:4

Of the flesh -- Carnality. F412

If the flesh is not destroyed, the spirit will not be saved. R5056:3

Not with a view to their destruction or injury as individuals, but with a view to the destruction of their flesh. R5442:5

"These are they that have come up out of great tribulation." (Rev. 7:14) T69; R5102:5, 3802:6, 3445:6, 1470:1; NS603:3

These conditions which prevail today have prevailed in some measure since the beginning of the Gospel age. R3445:3, 1470:1; T71

If the will is overcome by the flesh, the result will be second death. R5056:4, 3445:3

That the spirit -- Life. R140:3, 80:6

The newly begotten nature. A214

The new mind. F412

If his spirit had been bad, the Apostle would not suggest its being saved. R1699:2

May -- The result is at best an uncertainty; it may or may not be saved ultimately. R1699:4

The only way to save those who will not sacrifice is to put them through troubles which will destroy the flesh and develop the spirit. R1699:4, 4035:5

Be saved -- The scapegoat may attain spirit conditions on a lower plane than the Body of Christ. R4546:4, 4855:2

The class which does not go voluntarily to sacrifice. These are not the Bride class, but a servant class. Q659:2; R5056:4, 4855:2, 4035:6, 3445:3; NS603:3

This saving of the spirit in the day of the Lord, as apparently relating to the Great Company, would seem to correspond with the expression in the text that the Lord would "give him life," would preserve his life. R4626:1

To everlasting spiritual life as the angels have it, but without the prize of immortality. A214; R4546:4

The day of the Lord -- The reckoning time at the close of this Age. F412; R4546:4

A little leaven -- Corruption, error, sin, selfishness. F464; T98; R4153:3, 208:2

Symbol of impurity. R1800:2, 2635:1

This kind of leaven of sin cannot be put away unless it be burned; and only love can burn it out. R4153:3

A little envy, malice, anger, hatred and strife, may leaven our hearts completely; and in a comparatively short time, turn our new nature, the spirit of love, into acid bitterness. R4209:1, 2283:4

The sweetness of love covers considerable of the bitterness of slander. This is Satan's artifice. He may mix a little of conscientiousness and duty. NS565:6

Leaveneth the whole lump -- Poison will work and increase. NS565:6

The leaven is not likely to be confined to one, but spreads to others; and thus many may be defiled. R4209:4

Purge out -- Put away. R5193:3

All the evil-speaking, malice, hatred, envy, strife; proceed from evil in the heart. R4978:3, 5193:3, 2445:6

Before the Jews gathered to eat their Passover lamb they searched everywhere throughout their habitations, for anything containing leaven or putrefaction, bones, crusts, everything. R5193:3

The old leaven -- Anger, malice, hatred, strife. R5193:3, 3013:6, 2446:1, 721:1

And other works of the flesh and the devil. R2283:4

Represents corruption; an evil thing. R2635:1

Only love can burn it out; heavenly love, the love of God. If we have that love, it will consume everything of the opposite character. R4153:4, 5193:5

May be a new lump -- Pure, unadulterated loaf; a proper representative of the Body of Christ. R2446:1

Christ our passover -- Our passover sacrifice. R5193:4

Not the world's Passover, but the Church's Passover. R3749:4

Passover Lamb. R2116:4, 3525:3, 3308:6, 2772:1, 2449:1, 2436:3, 721:1, 253:5, 17:4; NS75:2

The lamb is a peculiarly innocent animal, wholly unprepared for defense or resistance, and thus a suitable type of our Lord, who was non-resistant and freely surrendered his rights. SM558:3

The Apostle clearly and positively identifies the Passover lamb with our Lord Jesus. R5641:3

The Passover was not for all the people, but only for the first-born. This symbolized, therefore, the work of Christ for the Church of this Gospel age, which is elsewhere designated the "Church of the first-born."

R4335:1, 128:1; F459; SM557:2

The Jewish Passover was a foreshadowing, or typifying, of the better things, the real Passover, with which we Christians have to do. SM557:2

The antitypical Passover Lamb. R4703:4, 5640:5, 2918:1, 2592:3, 721:2; NS75:2

The Passover lamb was prepared whole, not a bone being broken. It thus represented our Lord alone, and not his "members," the Church, R4335:1, 4384:3; SM559:2

The term Passover signifies to pass by or spare from an affliction.

R1657:1 "The Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." (1 John 1:29) E446; F463; R4128:4, 4703:5, 3013:6, 2436:3, 839:1, 721:1; PD67/79; SM559:1

What a meaning is in these words when seen in connection with the Memorial Supper as the remembrancer of the Jewish Passover! How the light of the type illuminates the antitype. R4128:3, 1657:5, 211:6

The Passover was, and yet is among Israelites, one of the most important of their religious observances. It was the first feature of "the Law" given them as a typical people. R839:1, 465:2, 94:2; F457; SM557:2

Kept annually as a commemoration of their deliverance under the tenth plague upon Egypt--the sparing from death of their firstborn. R208:1, 94:2; F457, 465; NS73:1

Sacrificed -- Slain. F463; R5193:4, 3960:3, 1787:2

Slain nearly nineteen centuries ago. R4703:4

So as many of us as have by faith partaken of Christ's imputed merit should henceforth continually rejoice before God and feast upon the truth. R721:1

Our Lord, as the antitype of the Passover lamb, was crucified the day before the "Feast of Passover" began. R2592:3, 721:1; F461

For us -- Jesus death was as essential to the deliverance of "the Church of the first-born" from death, as was the death of the typical lamb to the first-born of Israel. R839:2, 465:3

When the true Lamb of God became our Passover, the typical lamb ceased to be so esteemed by God or any of his children who recognized its fulfillment. R310:3; F463

1 Corinthians 5:8

Keep the feast -- Not the Jewish feast, but the substitute. R4420:2

In remembrance of our deliverance from the bondage of sin and death. R721:2; F462

As it would not have been lawful to celebrate the Passover at any other time, it is still not appropriate to celebrate the antitype at any other time than its anniversary. F465

The Memorial of his death; not any day, but only on its anniversary. R3526:2, 803:1*, 466:2

As often as the season returns, until we shall be fully delivered from death to life in his likeness. R1657:5

We must eat the Lamb, must appropriate Christ, his merit, the value that was in him, to ourselves. R5641:3, 3960:3, 2449:1; F463; SM562:2

We feed on our Lamb, with some of the "bitter herbs" of affliction to sharpen our appetite. R253:5, 3960:3, 208:1, 17:4; F460

Not merely in this special manner once a year; but day by day, hour by hour, feed upon the Lamb of God; by faith realize and appropriate to ourselves his virtues and merits, and to grow in grace and knowledge and love. R3751:2

The celebration of the supper at its appropriate time ceased, superseded by the numerous sacrifices of the Mass--and thus this one particular memorial lost its meaning. F480

Not with old leaven -- Rank wickedness. R2292:2

If any true believer sought a blessing in commemorating, and failed to obtain it, let him inquire within, and find that it was because the works of the flesh and the devil still had a place in his heart. R3013:6

Leaven of malice -- Less rank, but more insidious. R2292:2

And wickedness -- Envy and strife. R2116:4

The unleavened bread -- Unfermented, pure. R5641:3

The unleavened loaf; the body of Christ; each member, not puffed up, but easily broken. R325:5

Sincerity and truth -- We are to eat of the unleavened bread of truth if we are to be strong and prepared for the deliverance in the morning of the new dispensation. R5641:3, 3960:3

1 Corinthians 5:9

In an epistle -- Paul was answering a misunderstanding of his previous message. R2430:6

Not to keep company -- They were to withdraw from evil-doers not professing Christ. R2430:6

1 Corinthians 5:10

Yet not altogether -- Not forbidding dealings. F412; R2698:4

In our social and business affairs we should to a reasonable degree avoid fellowship and dealings with the disreputable. R2962:2, 2576:6

Go out of the world -- Implying a recognition of the principle that evil is contagious, and that the Lord's people cannot be too careful to avoid every contact with evil. R2698:4

In person we are to be separate from sin, pure, clean in mind and in body; and we are to live separate from sinners. R227:5

We should separate ourselves to the Lord, to holiness, and seek to place ourselves under influences in harmony with our holy, true, and pure aspirations, begotten by the holy Spirit. R2698:5

1 Corinthians 5:11

Not to keep company -- To withdraw fellowship from. F413

We are competent to decide whether or not his conduct is moral or immoral and we should not fellowship the immoral, even though they profess to be brethren. R1255:1, 1699:1

Thus left to the world and the devil for fellowship, he would be the more likely to see his condition and reform. R1699:1

If any deny the ransom, there is no room to doubt how firmly we should take a stand in respect to any kind of fellowship with them. R3752:4, 1453:5, 1255:1

With such an one -- Known positively to be of disreputable character. R2962:2

In the Apostle's estimation, doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

No not to eat -- In church relationships the Lord's people are duty bound to maintain a very high standard of purity of morals; not to fellowship in the church or at the common meal or love-feast. R2962:2, 1699:2

1 Corinthians 5:12

What have I to do -- I am not attempting to judge the world. F413

It is not my business to judge those who are outside the church and name of Christ. R2430:6

Judge -- Greek: krino, probationary trials and testings and corrections. R2430:2

Do not ye -- My complaint of you is that you neglect to judge (krino) those who are within the pale of Christian brotherhood. R2430:6, 954:2*
I am urging that you as a church should judge those whom you accept as brethren. F413

1 Corinthians 5:13

That are without -- Those outside the church. R2430:6; F413

God judgeth -- God will judge (krino) in his own time and manner. (Acts 17:31) R2430:6

Put away -- Expel from your midst evil-doers. R2430:6

1 Corinthians 6

1 Corinthians 6:1

Matter against another -- Applies only to differences between brethren in the Church; amongst the consecrated. R2945:1, 2430:6, 954:3*; F413 Paul more than once appealed to the law for justice and protection from his enemies. (Acts 16:37, 22:25-28; 23:17; 25:10-13; 26:32) R954:3* In the Post Office case, Br. Russell appealed to the President of the U.S. R2945:2

Go to law -- Greek: krino, judge, examine, try, test. R2430:6, 332:5

Before the unjust -- Speaking of the impropriety of the saints appealing to earthly Courts of Justice for adjustment of difficulties between themselves. HG728:6

Before the saints -- The Apostle asks if there is not in their midst a single person in whose wisdom they could rely. R2430:6; F413

1 Corinthians 6:2

Do ye not know -- We do know it. Our experiences now are fitting us to judge the world later, that we may do it successfully, courageously.

R5414:5, 4986:2; NS745:1, 833:2

That the saints -- The Body of Christ, now being selected. R2375:4, 2338:1, 1383:6, 829:5

The Church, the Royal Priesthood. R3056:4, 5030:2, 4515:5, 3085:3

Those who successfully pass their trial and shall not come into judgment with the world. A145; R5442:2, 1748:2

Those whose judgment is successfully completed in this age. R569:4, 4990:6, 699:5, 519:5*; PD62/73; NS423:5

The social, moral, religious, political, and financial standards of the world will be in their hands with full power and authority to execute justice and judgment and to lift up the poor and needy. R3113:1

The elect; consecrated believers. R3026:5, 1748:1, 954:1*

These will offer every inducement to the world of mankind to come into harmony with the gracious requirements of the divine law of love and justice. Q853:4

Shall judge -- Greek: krino, judge, examine. R2430:6, 2426:4

To govern, to test. R1679:3, 332:5

A time when punishments and rewards shall be meted out. R5442:2

The judging will be in the nature of a trial or testing, to determine how many of humanity can be helped up to perfection. SM175:2; NS643:2

We will judge of the measure of the guilt of all in respect to their course in the future as well as in their past lives. HG299:5

After we shall have been changed in the first resurrection. R4991:3, 5776:2, 4198:6, 3832:5, 2733:6, 2691:2, 2338:1, 1510:1; HG232:2

Christ Jesus and his glorified Church will together judge the world.
R4996:6, 4986:2, 4084:4, 3994:1, 2611:6, 1211:1; OV165:4; NS393:5, 678:3;
HG684:6

During the Millennial age the whole world of mankind will be before
Christ's judgment seat and be separated into two classes, sheep and goats.
R4084:4, 3528:4, 2303:6, 892:6; HG439:3, 273:2; OV165:4; NS179:6, 678:3
When they shall sit in the Great White Throne with the Redeemer, as his Queen. OV311:5, 255:5; HG186:6; OV165:4

The true Church does not rule the world now. R3113:1, 5776:2

Justice is not the Lord's rule for his people in the present time when their judgment of others would necessarily be imperfect. "Judge no man before the time." (1 Cor. 4:5) R4198:6, 3778:3

The fact that the followers of Christ are not judging now proves conclusively that the world is not on trial for eternal life at the present time. Q853:4; NS161:3, 333:5

"God hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world in righteousness." (Acts 17:31) Q853:4; R4990:6, 4986:2, 3305:1, 2733:6, 2434:5, 2398:5, 2338:1, 1073:4; HG273:2; NS161:3, 285:2; OV40:T

The judging of the world is commonly supposed to signify a condemning, or damning of it. Having condemned the world through Adam, God has arranged a full, fair, personal trial for life or death. R4996:6

The judgment day, in place of being a time of terror, distress and sorrow, is represented in the Scriptures as being a special time of joy and gladness for the world. (Psa. 96) Q853:4

As Joseph was the judge of his brethren, so The Christ, Jesus and the Church, will be the judges of the world. He judged them according to their attitude of heart at the time. R5234:1

It is God's will that every member of the "Body of Christ" should be touched with a feeling of the world's infirmities, in order that, in the kingdom they may be very tender, sympathetic and generous. R2029:5, 1155:1

terrible, blasphemous and cruel a counterfeit. R1469:5

Bringing about all needed moral and social reforms. D633

Meting out swift and unerring justice and having compassion upon the weak.
D519, 618

"The upright shall have dominion over them in the morning." (Psa. 49:14)

Individually, not representatively. R699:5

The judgment will be fair and impartial, with due consideration for circumstances and opportunities of each individual. R2612:6, 1941:1, 1655:1, 722:2

Our own trial takes place in advance, that we may be prepared to judge the world; and by the experiences through which we have passed, we may be assistful to them, as they shall be on trial and under our control.

R4990:6, 5446:1

The Church's share in the work of mediation will be a great one; not only to invite the world to an appreciation of divine mercy, but also to judge, correct, and discipline in righteousness. R3917:3

The dishonorable will need proportionately more stripes in order to rise up out of sin, degradation and death. R4902:5

Be judged -- Greek: krino, judge, examine. R2430:6, 2426:4, 332:5

By you -- You who are now receiving in the school of Christ the instruction and discipline necessary to enable you to sympathize with others in their trials and troubles. C352; R1092:6; HG315:5

Those who hope to be entrusted with the judgment of the world in the future must qualify now by a development of a high sense of mercy and love, as well as of justice. R5274:5, 4558:1, 3113:1; HG299:5; Q805:3; SM354:2

Christ, Head and Body; the Royal Priesthood. R2117:1, 2434:5, 2029:5, 409:4

Are ye unworthy -- There is no lack of harmony with this Scripture and Matt. 7:1 "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Our Lord addressed those who had not yet received the spirit of adoption, while Paul addressed the Church. R954:1*, 664:2*, 416:2*, 207:1*

To judge -- Paul judged according to God's Word and taught the Church to do the same. R416:2*, 664:4*

Smallest matters -- If God is selecting the Church to be the future judges of the world, its members should certainly be no less fair and honorable and just in their decisions than the world, even now. F413

Since we are to be judges in the weighty affairs of the next age, we ought to be able to judge in the small matters of the present. R1531:4, 954:3*

1 Corinthians 6:3

That we -- The saints, in the divine nature, far superior in power and glory to the angels. R1265:1, 2612:4, 1542:4, 828:2, 486:4

Shall judge -- Greek: krino, to govern, to test. R1679:3, 2426:4, 281:6, 143:4; HG728:6

Krino is used in referring to the judgment (trial) of the Millennial age. R2426:4, 2646:4

Grant trial to. R1155:1, 2399:1, 2185:3, 1833:4; Q19:4

The condemnation of the Millennial trial (destruction, second death) will cover a wider range of offenders than the penalty or curse for the sin of Adam, which passed upon all men. R2612:4

Angels -- The fallen angels, fallen spirits, "The angels that sinned."

(2 Pet. 2:4) R2185:3, 4068:5, 3771:6, 3727:2, 2646:4, 2612:1, 2582:1, 2399:1, 892:6

Those "angels which kept not their first estate," (Jude 6) of purity and obedience to God. R892:6, 3727:1, 2612:1

Refers to a trial or testing of these spirits in prison who were once disobedient, in the days of Noah; this implies a hope for them. The holy angels need no trial, no judging. R5044:4, 4879:3; Q672:T, 564:T; SM198:T; OV18:4

The fallen angels are to be granted a trial and hence it is stated that our Lord shall "judge (both) the quick (living) and the dead at his appearing and kingdom." (2 Tim. 4:1) R1854:1

The demon of Mark 1:24 seems to have had the thought that at the coming of Messiah all evil was to be abolished and destroyed; that the time for the manifestation of power through Messiah was still future. R3727:2

Greek, tartarus, the place or condition in which the fallen angels are reserved, waiting for their trial in the Millennial Age. R2399:1, 4879:3, 3727:1; Q19:5

When the prince of this world is cast out. R519:5*, 433:5*

We cannot think that God will allow this trial of the angels during the Millennial reign, for then, Satan will be bound and all evil influences restrained. R4880:1, Q17:T

Judgment is to be extended to those angels that fell, with the exception of Satan, the leader and instigator of the whole conspiracy. R1833:5; SM198:T

When Satan shall be bound, the judgment of the fallen angels shall proceed. The Lord's grace is sufficient for the delivery of all who shall demonstrate a thorough conversion to righteousness. R3771:6

In order to be tried, these fallen angels must have certain liberties granted, to prove them. Their trial, after the same manner as before the flood, is near future--perhaps to some extent already begun. R4880:1, 4068:5

Fallen angels learn from the Church; the things we see and declare become a test to them. Q18:T

Once the fallen angels get the information respecting the Lord's will and the time in which we are living the test will come on them that they may see what is right and what to expect. Q18:T, 19:T

Some of them will have an opportunity of benefiting by that trial. Q19:4, 17:T; OV18:4

The work of The Christ pertains to all things in heaven and in earth. A289
The condemnation of the second trial will cover a wider range of offenders than under the first trial. It will be an utter destruction of every being and every thing which will not glorify God. R893:1

It will be a part of the work of The Christ to rule over and direct both human and angelic sinners; fallen men, restrained in death, and also fallen spirits, now restrained alive. R1679:3; HG729:1

1 Corinthians 6:4

Least esteemed -- If they have lost confidence in the leaders whom the Lord has set in the Church, they should at least choose as judges the least esteemed in the Church as preferable to a court of unbelievers. R2430:6

1 Corinthians 6:5

Wise -- Such as both the accuser and the accused would recognize, and whose judgment they would respect and follow. R2431:5

1 Corinthians 6:6

Before the unbelievers -- If they had no confidence in each other, they at least should not manifest more confidence in outsiders. R2431:1

1 Corinthians 6:7

Go to law -- Greek, krimati, (trials) referring to law suits. R49:1*
For brother to go to law with brother would not indicate that either has much of the spirit of Christ, or much love for the cause they represent. R954:3*

To be defrauded -- We should rather suffer wrong and take injury from a brother in Christ than take the matter before the world of unbelievers and thus risk a general odium upon the Lord's cause. R3266:5, 2431:1
To suffer injustice rather than bring reproach. R954:3*; F413

1 Corinthians 6:9

Know ye not -- The Lord speaks to the New Creation. R3322:5

The unrighteous -- The unjust. F414

God's severity consists in his insistence upon absolute righteousness; his refusal to approve sin in any sense or degree. R3321:1

To those who exercise the requisite faith the Lord imputes righteousness, which offsets the unrighteousness or natural blemishes of the flesh.

R3322:6

The Apostle enumerates various sins in speaking of the forgiven Church. NS248:2

As these unjust things are examined individually they are all found to contain a weakness in favor of self at the expense of others; they all imply an injustice to others for the pleasure or advantage of self. R3323:3

Not inherit the kingdom -- Not be joint-heirs with Christ in the kingdom--not inherit the glorious things which we have hoped for by the Lord's grace. R3322:5

The kingdom will not be made up of babes in Christ, but of overcomers, by spiritual development of growth in grace, knowledge and love. R3323:1
This indicates that the Apostles hope was still in the future Kingdom; in no sense of the word did he consider that the Kingdom had been set up in any but its embryo or preparatory form. HG368:5

Be not deceived -- Some take advantage of God's grace and mercy, and while willingly, knowingly indulging in sin, hope for justification in sin instead of from sin. We might deceive ourselves but we cannot deceive the Lord. R3323:1

It behooves us to see that the sentiments of our hearts are continually in opposition to unrighteousness, to sin, to all in-equity. R3323:1

Many are deceived, professing to be the Lord's people and yet blind to justice. They exercise too much mercy in dealing with their own shortcomings and not enough in dealing with those of others. R3323:2

It is in vain that we profess to be the Lord's people, profess to be the servants of righteousness and truth, and love these principles; if our conduct clearly demonstrates that we love unrighteousness. R3323:3

Nor idolaters -- What is idolatry but selfishness, the idolizing of money or fame or influence or child or self or some other creature, exalted to, and receiving the honor due to the Almighty. R3323:4

Nor effeminate -- Not merely gross violations. The words effeminate, covetous, revilers, extortioners, take in a vast multitude of proceedings more or less countenanced by the world; things with which we can have no sympathy. NS173:6

Nor covetous -- Desiring to have, possess or enjoy something at the expense of others. R3323:3

Nor drunkards -- No saint should ever be intoxicated. R5098:6, 3454:6

We are not to understand this to mean that no one who has ever been drunk can enter into the kingdom of God. R2533:2; NS745:5

The class who have become dead to sin and alive toward God will desire to abstain from "every appearance of evil." (1 Thess. 5:22) R3248:4

In a figurative sense drunkenness represents an addled condition of the mind; as, for instance, Babylon's cup made all the nation's drunk. (Rev. 18:2,3) NS745:5

Nor revilers -- Injurers of the feelings or reputations of others. R3323:4

We must not retaliate and revile our foes, nor even wish to do so. R2412:5
Evil speaking against others is a part of the filth of the flesh from which we must be cleansed. R3092:1

Nor extortioners -- Accepting from others, either because of ignorance or stress of circumstances, money or valuables which are not fully, justly, righteously due. R3323:4

Inherit the kingdom -- This statement of offenses which would debar from the Kingdom is to be a guide respecting offenses which should debar from fellowship in the Church. F414

No one of a murderous condition of heart, seeking to do evil to a brother, could possibly be of suitable character to be a joint-heir with his Master. SM221:1

1 Corinthians 6:11

Were some of you -- Speaking of some very vicious traits of character. R5246:6

When you loved sin, you were aliens from God and he had nothing to do with you. Q620:4

The Apostle intimates that he knew full well that many who were of the Church had at one time been quite disreputable characters. He is not suggesting inquisition into their past lives. R5275:1

Ye were once in darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord. (Eph. 5:8) R4188:6

But ye are washed -- Whatever you were through the fall, you have been redeemed from that condition. R5461:5

"The blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth us from all sin." (I John 1:7) E445

Ye are sanctified -- A setting apart or separation; first, a consecration, and second, the performance of that consecration in our daily life. R374:6; E241

This sanctifying comes not merely through the reading of the truth, or mental application of the truth, but through heart-thinking on the truth. R5246:6

When we come to the knowledge of the truth, it gives us a sympathetic feeling for the world. R5260:2

God sanctifies by the truth, by giving an opportunity to share in Christ's sacrifice. R4493:3

"Sanctify them through thy truth." (John 17:17) E243

Ye are justified -- Ye are holy. E241

Or cleansed from Adamic sin by accepting in faith the testimony of God. R374:6; NS734:3

The cleansing of justification by faith is for the purpose of cleansing us that we might be acceptable sacrifices. R4493:4

It was after you turned from sin, that you were brought into the position of a son. Q620:4

Jesus was treated as a sinner on our behalf, and we are now treated as just persons on his behalf. R199:3

If the mercy and grace of God have been such toward us, during this Gospel age, why should we object if his mercy and grace abound to the remainder of the race in due time? NS248:3

In the name of the Lord Jesus -- If you had not turned from sin, then Jesus would not have received you and acted as your Advocate. Q620:4

By the Spirit -- The spirit of truth. E244

Through the channel of the spirit of holiness, the spirit of God, which we have received. E242

The power which enables us to live up to our consecration vows is the Spirit or mind of our God of which we receive. R374:6; E242

1 Corinthians 6:12

All things -- Paul did not consider that "absolutely all things" were lawful unto him; nor did he suppose that any sane man would so interpret him. R1778:1, 1269:2

Some so misconstrued the Apostle's words at the time, declaring that evil might be done if good would follow. R1269:2, 1778:1

Are lawful unto me -- I have as much right to the protection of the civil law as any other man. R1778:1

Are not expedient -- For the cause of Christ and my personal influence as a representative of that cause. R1778:1

Going to law has a tendency to bring the cause of Christ into disrepute. R1778:1

While nothing is forbidden the New Creature under direct divine law, it is true that there are many things that would be inexpedient, ill-advised, contrary to its best interests. R4006:1

"Marriage is lawful in all," (Heb. 13:4) even though this and other lawful things be generally inexpedient to the saints. R916:2

The Christian is bound only by the law of love; but even under that, many things might be inexpedient, inadvisable, because of the mental and moral condition of those who might misunderstand his course. R3666:2

In the Apostle's day nearly all the meat sold in the butchers' stalls had been offered to idols. R3666:2

Paul felt that he had the liberty to eat such meat, yet it was decided to be wise to avoid eating it because of others who might consider it a sin. (See Acts 15:29) R3145:6, 5324:6, 3666:4, 2158:6

1 Corinthians 6:13

God shall destroy -- Greek, katargeo, utter destruction. R2001:5

God hath -- Christ could never have raised himself. R2795:2, 2037:5

No agency of man, nor even of the angel Gabriel, was permitted in the work of our Lord's resurrection. R1005:4

Raised up the Lord -- It was Jesus' soul that died; then he was wholly dead, and could have no power whatever to resuscitate himself. R2795:2

Also raise up us -- We are to be resurrected by the Father. R1227:2
By his own power -- Exercised through the Son as his representative.
F399; R297:2

It is of God that the dead are to be raised, but by Jesus. Our Lord is the Father's agent in carrying out the entire plan of redemption. R2001:1

1 Corinthians 6:15

Members of Christ -- Speaking of our bodies from the standpoint of our new relationship in Christ.

God no longer counts our fleshly body as the body of a human being. It is the property of the spiritual New Creature. R5918:4

Of an harlot -- An unfaithful, worldly Church. C186

Compare this Scripture with Rev. 17:5 and decide whether you are joined to one of the daughters. R721:5

1 Corinthians 6:16

Flesh -- Greek, sarx, means flesh, simply and only, and is used in reference to Adam and Eve before they sinned as well as after. R1223:5

1 Corinthians 6:17

Joined unto the Lord -- Bound only by the tender but strong ties of love and truth, outside of all human organizations. C186

Is one spirit -- Christ and his Church have but one name, one body, and one spirit. R1130:5*

1 Corinthians 6:19

Body is the temple -- The antitypical temple. R5504:1

The new mind, dwelling in the old body and using it, constitutes that old body thenceforth a temple of God, and gives to that body a holiness or sanctity. R5504:4

God's holy Spirit constitutes its recipient a temple of God. CR457:4, 92:4*
Every faithful, consecrated child of God is a royal residence of the King of kings, a holy sanctuary. R1981:3

The Body of Christ, the spiritual house of Israel, "cannot be shaken," because it is firmly founded upon the Rock Christ Jesus. R3053:5, 5250:2
As the Church will be the temple of God, perfect on the heavenly plane, so each member begotten of the holy spirit as a new creature, has to that extent God dwelling in his mortal body. R5504:4

"Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." (Rev. 3:12) B209, 239

Holy Ghost -- Let us have the holy Spirit ruling in our mortal flesh; and then how can we have other than the peace of God ruling there. NS596:6

Which is in you -- Wherever God's Spirit is there is a temple. CR457:4
Ye are not your own -- The glad bond-servants of him who loved us and bought us. R5949:5
Your time, talent, influence, money, all that you consider precious or in any degree valuable, properly belong to God. R2098:6; NS451:6
God has ratified our decision. We are now under the most binding obligations. R5949:6; Q389:T
Not only do we owe the Lord a debt of gratitude for natural life and earthly blessings, but additionally, we now owe him a still greater debt on account of our redemption. NS451:4; Q390:T

1 Corinthians 6:20

For ye -- The "ye" class; the Church. R4633:2, 4998:2; NS449:2
When addressing the New Creature the personality is still maintained. It is the same ego, the same personality as before. R5303:2
Our Lord, after his resurrection, ascended up on high, there to appear in the presence of God for us (Heb. 9:24)--for the household of faith--not for the world. R4998:3, 4633:2, 4601:3, 4519:1, 2098:4; CR490:5
Jesus is represented as having paid the price to justice as far as the Church is concerned, and the Church is bought. But the world is not yet bought. Q555:4; CR490:5; R4998:2,6, 4633:2, 4536:2, 2098:5
Other Scriptures tell us that "Jesus Christ, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man" (Heb. 2:9)--that he redeemed the world. R4998:2, 4601:3

Bought with a price -- "Even the precious blood of Christ." (1 Pet. 1:19) E135; R4601:2, 2098:6, 1350:2, 1247:1, 1086:2, 876:2, 642:2, 464:4, 392:3, 387:2, 381:2; HG609:1

The ransom-price. R4519:1, 4157:5; OV23:3

At the very foundation of all Christian doctrine lies the doctrine of the ransom; a corresponding price for Adam's sin. R5948:5

The One who bought us not only risked his own life, but sacrificed it on our behalf, that we might be rescued from eternal death. CR491:1

He redeemed us, purchased us back out of death. R981:1, 2098:6; CR490:3, 491:1 Bought, redeemed, and ransomed seem to be used in the same sense. R13:2

The application of the ransom-price to us is provisional, conditional. R4536:2

We belong to one who has the right to command and require implicit obedience. R13:2, 2099:4; CR491:1

This seems to imply that we had something. Having recognized Christ as our Redeemer, we are called upon to renounce sin. R4798:1, 4601:3; Q489:1

Our justification, without his death as our ransom price, would have been legally impossible. R1247:1

The word from which "bought" is translated is agorazo and conveys the "commercial idea" in the fullest sense; it means to purchase in open market. Something was given for us, and to some one. R387:2, 642:2, 464:4; CR452:3

Our Lord's sacrificed life constitutes the price of redemption, but his having the price and the application of the price are properly considered two things. R4601:2, 4633:6

The price laid down by the Redeemer at Calvary is eventually to be made applicable to the sins of the whole world, but not yet. R4998:3, 4601:2, 4519:1

Personal responsibility to the Redeemer who purchased, and to the heavenly Father who provided the gracious arrangement, lies at the foundation of all true consecration to God in Christ. R2099:1

To the heart of the natural man these sentiments are very objectionable; but to the heart fully in harmony with God and the divine plan they are precious words, full of comfort and joy. R2097:1

Glorify God -- To the very best of your ability. F91

When we consider the greatness, majesty and glory of our Creator, the proposition of our text seems astounding. In what way is it possible for any of our race to add to the glory of the Heavenly Creator? NS449:1

All should feel the responsibility of making some return to the One who has made so bountiful provision for our needs. NS449:2

Use all that you have energetically in the divine service. R5436:5

Allow nothing of selfishness or personal ambition to have place in our hearts. Seek exclusively to glorify God. R3885:4

This means holiness in the most absolute and comprehensive sense of the word; not only separation from sin to righteousness, but separation from self to the will of God in Christ. R2099:4

Our perfection and acceptance with the Father will be demonstrated by our loyalty of heart and the fullness and thoroughness with which we submit our all to the divine will. R5067:3

Our justification comes to us as a reward of faith--our glorification will follow as a reward for faithfulness. R5067:4

This is all the work of the new creature. R5671:6

In your body -- By using it to God's glory and praise. NS452:6

By consecrating our lives, our bodies, to his service. R4798:1, 4601:3; Q489:1

The giving up of the will by which our lives and bodies are controlled. NS450:5

Any misuse of talents, either through intoxication or otherwise, would be a misuse of our stewardship. R2873:5

Not only consider whatever we eat or drink or whatsoever we do may be done to the Lord's glory; (1 Cor. 10:31) but also, our mortal bodies surrendered unto death as "living sacrifices." (Rom. 12:1) NS451:5

We give the Lord the money we spend for food and clothing, because our body belongs to him and is being used to glorify and serve him. The food gives us strength to do more for him. HG583:1; CR491:6

And in your spirit -- Greek: pneuma, mind. E312

1 Corinthians 7

1 Corinthians 7:2

Wife -- Help-mate. R1555:2

Husband -- A true husband is a provider, and his care should include provision of spiritual as well as natural food and raiment for his wife and family. R1555:1, 1549:5

1 Corinthians 7:3

Due benevolence -- What she might reasonably, naturally and justly demand. F512

Power -- Sole control. F512

After marriage is too late for one to decide for himself whether or not he prefers to live a celibate life. F512

1 Corinthians 7:5

Defraud ye not -- In marriage each has given himself to the other in such a degree that any refusal of moderate, reasonable, marital rights would amount to an injustice and violation of the marriage contract. F512

One the other -- Due benevolence and continence should obviate any necessity for domestic imposition and consequent discord, and should insure harmony on the firm foundation of mutual love and respect. R1555:1

To fasting -- Abstention from all "fleshly lusts which war against the soul;" (1 Peter 2:11) these appetites always under restraint with the saints, may well be specially mortified at the Memorial season. R3170:5
This fasting may or may not affect the food and drink, according to the judgment of each, respecting what diet will best enable him to glorify God and to keep his "body under." R3170:5

And prayer -- Drawing near to the Lord. R3170:5

Communion with God is a great privilege and an evidence of his favor. R4983:1

Satan -- The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

1 Corinthians 7:6

Not of commandment -- Not inspired. R435:2

1 Corinthians 7:7

Even as I myself -- Continent and free, practically an eunuch. F512
Not that celibacy of itself need be considered a necessity for the perfecting of the divine character, but that its practice will give increased opportunity for serving the King of kings. OV368:6

1 Corinthians 7:8

Abide even as I -- Paul had found the single, or celibate, condition, advantageous--he was able to accomplish greater service than if he had been mortgaged by the care of a companion and the necessary duties toward that one. R5353:1

1 Corinthians 7:9

Marry than to burn -- To be consumed with an uncontrollable passion which would hinder their fellowship with the Lord and might prove to them a snare. F512

1 Corinthians 7:11

If she depart -- If it must necessarily be so. R1083:6*
He or she would be bound not to marry another so long as the first companion lives. R1555:4 Put away -- But rather to seek to establish peace. R1554:4

1 Corinthians 7:12

I, not the Lord -- The fact that the Apostle was thus careful to clearly specify which particular items were his affords the best possible proof that the remainder of his teachings are of divine inspiration. R1419:2; HG311:4

That believeth not -- Do the best in whatever circumstances we find ourselves when called, unless the circumstances are such as we can control and improve. R1083:6*

1 Corinthians 7:14

Is sanctified -- In respect to the subject under consideration, viz., the offspring of the wedlock. F532; R3204:6, 2991:4
Has a blessed, or favorable, influence. R3204:6

The standing of the believing parent is counted as offsetting and overruling the standing of the unconsecrated parent, so far as the child is concerned. Q825:5, 804:1

The children shall not be counted as partially the Lord's and partially children of wrath; but shall be counted as entirely the Lord's and as under his protection and care. R2991:4; F532

The only exception to the rule of being born condemned is in the case of children, one or both of whose parents are believers. R2719:1, 2023:6

Wife -- Any rule or authority the believing wife should exercise would be delegated by her husband, who, whether saint or sinner, is the responsible head of his family. F533

Husband -- The believing husband, letting his light shine, should expect that ere long his wife, as well as his children, would discern his difference from irreligious men, his spirit of love, gentleness and helpfulness. F533

Children -- The children of believers are justified through the faith of their parents up to the time they reach years of mental discretion.

God does not accept children of believers on account of parental faith beyond the period of their minority. When years of accountability have been reached, a personal covenant with the Lord is required. R2320:5, 1961:4; HG644:6

It is not necessary that the child should have both parents in the Lord, to be under divine supervision. Q58:4; R4090:6, 3462:6

When marriage has occurred prior to consecration, the children shall be accounted as the Lord's through the consecrated parent. R4090:6

Illustrated in King Ahaz, a reprehensible king, his wife Abijah, a godly woman, and their son, Hezekiah, who had a hearty desire to please the Lord. R3462:3

In the Resurrection Age, children of believers will have a little advantage over the children of unbelievers, in that they will have less depraved organisms when awakened. HG644:4

Unclean -- Unholy, sinners under condemnation, unjustified, unrelated to God, aliens from his care and blessing. F532; R3204:6, 2991:2, 952:6
Out of God's favor. CR319:3

But now -- In view of this provision of divine grace. F532

Are they holy -- In a justified or acceptable state with God through which he may treat them, not as enemies. F532; R952:5; SM429:T; CR1:4
Washed and cleansed; justified. R3507:3, 2991:2; CR1:4

Subjects of divine supervision and care. HG644:6; R2020:6; Q59:2, 58:4
Children of the Lord's consecrated people who will not have previously reached years of discretion and personal responsibility will be preserved, guarded, provided for in the midst of the day of trouble. R2020:6

Such children, partaking of the justification of their parents, might properly be considered as belonging to the "household of faith," although they had not in any sense of the word become saints. R2991:4

Even though the children are born before the parent believed. CR319:3
Even though only one of the parents are consecrated. Q804:1; CR428:2
If born of Christian parents, and in a justified condition, there would not be the same experience some have of a violent turning around in coming to the Lord. CR1:4

A relation to God as tentatively justified until the child would be of age to think and act for itself. Q59:2; NS440:3

The words "sanctify" and "holy" as used in this text, do not have at all the same signification that is properly attached to them elsewhere in the Scriptures. R2991:1

1 Corinthians 7:15

Let him depart -- Permit him to cancel the marriage contract if he will. R2666:6

Or her. R1554:5

Do not oppose their going if they desire to go. The Lord is able to provide for your affairs. And if that is the Lord's providence for you, so accept it. R5498:2

If the greater faithfulness the worse the treatment from the unbelieving partner, that a separation might be necessary, let us remember that the Lord's counsel forewarned us. F533

Brother or a sister -- Common terms of salutation in the early Church. F230; R1523:5

Not under bondage -- But not free to marry again unless a divorce be secured on the one permissible ground. F505; R5954:3, 1554:5

The believing one if once deserted by the unbeliever would not be bound to receive the deserter back again to marriage fellowship; although upon evidence of reform it might be well to be reconciled. R1554:6

1 Corinthians 7:19

Is nothing -- Paul found no objection to Jews continuing their national custom of circumcision. F227; R1526:5

1 Corinthians 7:20

Let every man abide -- Or woman. R1083:5*

When the truth finds us it does not necessarily change our earthly relationships. R5666:5

The same calling -- The vocation. R3721:2

Not all are called to an open, public ministry, devoting all of the time, talent, effort and interest to the Gospel message. R3721:2

If a foreign missionary, after an appreciation of God's plan, stay abroad and seek the ripe wheat. R1348:6

The majority of the called the Lord evidently intends to instruct as his disciples while they are about their ordinary business, the duties and responsibilities of life. R3721:2

All service, in whatever capacity, should be rendered unto the Lord--that is, with the single desire and effort to please him. R1083:5*

Wherein he was called -- In which we were when the message of grace first reached us. R3721:2

Whether the position be that of husband, or wife, or mother, or servant. R1083:5*

1 Corinthians 7:21

Being a servant -- In the Apostle's time and in every time the humble classes, the servant classes, the slave classes, seem to have been ready to receive the message. R5498:5

Care not for it -- Seek not to be free. R5498:1

A slave should not rebel against his earthly master. R5666:5

Do not consider that freedom is necessary to your spiritual welfare. R3768:6

Use it rather -- Be glad to avail yourself of the opportunity of having a wider field of service as a free man. R5498:1

To remain in the very same position in which we were called is not always obligatory. If the nature of the contract be such that it can be broken to the advantage of the Lord's work, it should be done. R1083:5*

1 Corinthians 7:22

Lord's freeman -- While the actual freedom or liberty of the sons of God is not yet enjoyed by any, a few have regained their title to that inheritance through faith in Christ, and are now, therefore, reckoned free. R1738:3

While we are free from condemnation--justified--yet actually we realize the law of sin still working in our members, which makes us realize that our actual liberty as sons of God is not possessed. R1738:3

Being free -- Freedom in a very important respect. We are getting a victory over the bondage of sin and of the weaknesses of the flesh. R5726:4; CR475:2

The love of freedom is inherent in all of God's intelligent creatures. It was the divine purpose that all enjoy liberty, under limitations of righteousness. R1737:2

Is Christ's servant -- All who are slaves of the Lord Jesus are voluntary slaves. CR475:1

Before we can fully realize the actual liberty which God designed for all his sons, we must first become the willing servants of a new master, Christ, in order that he may accomplish our deliverance. R1738:4

While we enjoy blessed freedom in Christ, we are nevertheless under strictest bondage to him.

We are bond-servants of Jesus Christ, and like him we glory in being so branded. R1738:6

Bought with a price -- "Even the precious blood of Christ." (1 Pet. 1:19) R684:2, 387:2; E446

A reckoned deliverance is granted at once, when we believe. R3088:5

This application of the ransom-price to us is provisional, conditional. R4536:2

When our Lord appeared in the presence of God, he presented before him the sacrifice which he had made in the flesh, appropriating part of it at once to all who would believe on him throughout this Gospel age. R3088:5

In the case of the world in general, practically no benefit from the death of Christ comes in the present time. R3088:6

The world must wait until the Church of Christ shall have filled up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ. (Col. 1:2, 4) and shall have been glorified with him. R3088:6

The Greek word from which bought is translated is agorazo, and conveys the commercial idea; it means to purchase in the open market. Something was given for us, and to some one. R387:2, 3088:2; E447

A corresponding price for Adam's sin. R5948:5, 3088:3

Servants of men -- Serving with eye-service as men-pleasers. R1083:5*

1 Corinthians 7:24

Brethren -- A man would not be a brother in Christ while in a business repugnant to his conscience and injurious to his fellow-creatures. R5498:4

Wherein he is called -- If married when called, there is a mortgage upon his time. R5498:2

Therein abide -- Having your mind at rest. The Lord's people are not to want an immediate change from the condition in which they were called. R5498:1

A prisoner would do well to say, "Well, in God's providence this message has reached me here in prison. Perhaps I should never have had it if I had not been here--I may have opportunities here." R5498:5

With God -- The Lord will give what is best to all his faithful ones. R5498:5

1 Corinthians 7:25

Concerning virgins -- Males and females. F509

I give my judgment -- He clearly specified that these particular items were his, and not of divine inspiration. R1419:2; HG311:4

1 Corinthians 7:26

Present distress -- Under present conditions--our own imperfections and the imperfections of others; the special duties, privileges, and opportunities of those who have made a full consecration to the Lord. F509
In the case of the unconsecrated, early marriages are desirable, because life's lessons can best be learned by marital experiences. F558
For a man so to be -- To remain in the condition in which the Truth may find him, married or single. F509

1 Corinthians 7:27

Bound unto a wife -- Or a husband. R1083:6*
Seek not to be loosed -- If married when called, he should not say, "I wish I were not married." R5498:2
The Apostle is speaking of the body and not the heart. R5666:5

1 Corinthians 7:28

Virgin -- Female. F510
Nevertheless such -- As are married. F510
Trouble in the flesh -- Hampered by many cares, and vexed with many perplexing problems. R1554:3

1 Corinthians 7:29

Brethren -- The Apostle is addressing the Church only, as a peculiar people, separate from the world, with hopes and aims, and present conditions, and future destiny entirely different from those of the world. R900:3
The time is short -- The Apostle did not pretend to say how short. F225
The all-important work to which every earthly consideration should now bend is the seeking out and preaching the gospel to the meek, helping them to make their calling and election sure. R901:2
In harmony with their consecration, the elect class should continually seek to live abstemious lives in respect to all the affairs of life. NS454:5
Earthly cares and responsibilities not yet incurred should be regarded as so many hindrances to the great work to which time and talent are already consecrated. R1083:5*
Let us make haste to improve passing opportunities for such a grand and blessed service. R901:6
They -- Of us. R901:2
Had none -- We should not reckon our earthly relationships as being the highest and best of all things. R5906:3

Ignoring earthly relationships as much as possible, and setting the affections specially upon heavenly things. F510

Husbands and wives should not set their affections too much upon each other. R5906:2

Urging the saints to continence in social relations, that the thoughts of the Kingdom shall lift their minds and disengage their affections and lawful sexual congress, except as limited in verses 5-7. R3181:5

The establishing of an earthly home and the rearing of an earthly family should not be the ambition of the saints. R901:3

1 Corinthians 7:30

And they that weep -- Who are in earthly trouble. F510; R901:5

They wept not -- Not letting them detract from our interest and effort in the Lord's work. R901:5

Endeavoring to forget the trials and disappointments and difficulties of the earthly state in the joy and rejoicing of the better promises that are ours for the future. F510

They that rejoice -- In earthly prosperity. F510; R901:5

They rejoiced not -- Their rejoicing in spiritual things quite overshadowing all earthly sources of joy. F510

They that buy -- Those who acquire wealth or goods. R901:5

They possessed not -- Not setting their affections on earthly things. F510

Not reckon their acquirements their own, or for the gratification of self-pride, or the love of display. R901:5

1 Corinthians 7:31

Use this world -- Those occupied with this world. R900:3

As not abusing it -- Not misusing it, permitting moderation and the interests of the new nature a controlling influence in all of life's affairs. F510

Not misusing the things of this present time. Using this world without using it to the full--using it in moderation. NS106:4

While necessarily occupied with the business of this life and the expenditure of its income, we should not go beyond the just using of it for ourselves as becometh saints. R901:6

World passeth away -- We are to live in accord with our new hopes, and not to be continually making provision for the flesh; but seeking at every cost to make our calling and election sure and thus to be joint-heirs with our Lord. F510

1 Corinthians 7:32

Without carefulness -- Free from care of an earthly kind; and hence, in addition to the foregoing admonition of change of affections and transformation of mind, I now call your attention to certain unquestionable facts. F510

He -- The fully consecrated. F510

Unmarried -- Paul's counsel that the unmarried should remain so, that they might thus give themselves without hindrance to the Lord's service. R901:4, 4959:5*, 1554:1

Both the Lord (Matt. 19:12) and the Apostle recommend the celibate state as preferable. R1892:1, 1555:1, 1554:3, 901:4; F509

Mormon doctrine teaches to the contrary. HG732:3

Careth for -- Is careful for. F510

Please the Lord -- The Apostle's teaching is not a condemnation of marriage in others, but one of the incidental sacrifices of those anxious to be most fully used in the Lord's service. R3148:3

1 Corinthians 7:33

Married -- The married should not add to their earthly cares, and thus make their pathway more difficult and their opportunity for service less. R901:4

Careth for -- Is careful of. F510

Please his wife -- He has a danger of a division of his affections and needs to be on guard, lest the earthly affections shall absorb all of his time and love and interest, to a violation of his covenant with the Lord. F510

1 Corinthians 7:34

Also -- Likewise. F511

Between -- Between the condition of. F511

The unmarried -- The fully consecrated. F511

1 Corinthians 7:35

For your own profit -- Not as seeking to bring you under bondage or in any manner to add to your burdens, but that you who are unmarried may carefully weigh the matter and consider your spiritual interests and the privileges you will be losing by marrying. F511

A snare upon you -- To restrain you from the exercise of your liberties. F511

Which is comely -- Most favorable to you as new creatures. F511

1 Corinthians 7:36

Any man think that -- In remaining unmarried. F511

Uncomely -- Improperly. F511

Toward his virgin -- Toward a female friend whom he had given reason to expect he would marry her. F511

Pass -- Be past. F511

Flower of her age -- So as to have lost other matrimonial opportunities through her engagement to him. F511

And need so require -- If she needs a protector and supporter. F511

Do what he will -- Marry or not. F511

Let them marry -- If the necessities of the case seem so to dictate. F511

None are forbidden to marry; and false teachers who have since arisen, "forbidding to marry", are condemned as seriously out of order.

(1 Tim. 4:3) R1554:1

In breaking any ordinary engagement for marriage there is nothing that is dishonorable: it would be unwise and unjust for either party to insist upon marriage if the other desired to cancel the engagement. R3110:4

7:37

Over his own will -- To exercise self-control and to live a celibate life, that he might give himself more fully to the Lord and his service.

F511

Decreed -- Determined. F511

Keep his virgin -- His own virginity or purity. F511

1 Corinthians 7:38

He -- Paul is not addressing the world, but those who have devoted their lives to the Lord. R5900:4

That giveth her -- His virginity. F511

Doeth well -- If marriage would not interfere with their consecration to the Lord, then they might marry. There are cases in which marriage has been a benefit to brethren and sisters relationship to the Lord and others. R5900:4

Doeth better -- For those to whom it may be possible to live a life of chastity, it would be a very desirable one. Q555:6

He that brings forth natural children of the highest type does well, but he that cooperates with God for the begetting of spiritual sons does better. R2902:3

It is not the province of anybody to forbid marriage. We can call attention to the words of St. Paul, a divinely inspired instructor; but there might instances in which this general rule might not apply. Q460:8

1 Corinthians 7:39

Be dead -- Greek means fall asleep, awaiting the resurrection. E345;
R1881:1; HG332:2

At liberty -- Free. F511

Only in the Lord -- Only the consecrated. R4776:6

Worldly people should marry worldly people; nominal church people should marry nominal church people; justified believers should marry justified companions; New Creatures should marry New Creatures. F515; R4912:4, 4776:6

Whoever follows this advice will eventually find that he has been blessed thereby, and whoever disregards the advice will generally learn the un wisdom of his course through severe experiences later. F513

The woman should see to it that she marry only such a man as she can look up to morally, intellectually, spiritually, as the head of the family--one whom she can "reverence." F516

The man should marry one who would be a true help-mate, pure-minded, loving, gentle, helpful--one not his superior, to whom he would be obliged to look up and esteem as the proper head of the family. F516

Marriage is a very weighty contract, and should be undertaken only after prayerful, thoughtful consideration and examination of every feature bearing upon the situation as far as can be discerned. F517

1 Corinthians 7:40

So abide -- Abide as she is. F511

After my judgment -- I am not speaking by commandment or under direct inspiration, but according to my conviction or judgment of the divine will. F511

These particular items were Paul's, and not of divine inspiration.
R1419:2; HG311:4

The spirit of God -- The mind of the Lord in this subject. F511

1 Corinthians 8

1 Corinthians 8:1

Offered unto idols -- Nearly all meat used in those times was first offered to idols. R3145:1

All have knowledge -- That since an idol is nothing, meat offered to an idol cannot in any sense of the word be injured. R3144:3, 5412:2

Knowledge puffeth up -- Knowledge alone. R2219:6

A comparatively little knowledge might puff one up greatly without any solidity of character. R3145:1

Knowledge alone without self-submission to God would incline to puff us up, to make us heady, arrogant, self-sufficient. R2198:3, 2219:6

The Lord's object in providing us with the knowledge is that thereby we might grow in grace. We must have knowledge as the basis for love.

R4042:3, 5479:3, 2198:3

We could not have any love if we did not have some knowledge; because how could you love that of which you knew nothing? CR149:6

But charity -- Greek: agape, disinterested love. R2807:5

We must have love as the outgrowth of the knowledge, if we would be acceptable as members of the elect Church. R4042:5, 2198:3

Love would forbid the use of knowledge and liberty if it perceived that their exercise might work injury to another. R3145:2, 6, 2198:5, 1587:4

Edifieth -- Builds up. R1587:4, 2219:6

The getting of love is sure to build us up substantially (avoiding the inflation or pride) in all the various graces of the spirit. R3145:2, 2219:6

If knowledge be accompanied by a love to God, which leads to self-consecration in his service, it will work good for us by introducing the spirit of love as the controlling factor in our lives. R2198:3

Love is constructive and builds up our own characters after the divine pattern, making us co-workers together with God, in our sympathies for and interest in others. R2198:3

Measure oneself by growth in love, rather than by growth merely in knowledge. R3145:1

1 Corinthians 8:2

Think -- Confidently think. E256

Knoweth anything -- Of his own wisdom. E256

1 Corinthians 8:3

Love God -- Knowledge without love would be an injury. To consider it otherwise would imply that real knowledge has not yet been secured. R4920:2

Is known of him -- Acquainted with him, recognized by him. R3145:2

God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

We might have a great deal of knowledge and yet not know God and not be known or recognized by him. R4920:2

1 Corinthians 8:4

Eating of those -- It was the custom to eat consecrated food--meat that had been offered before an idol. R2198:3, 2158:6, 2119:1, 1586:3

An idol is nothing -- It is only an imaginary god. R1587:1, 1052:3*

The meat could be neither benefited nor injured by the offering. R3020:4,

4478:3, 3145:1, 2198:5, 2158:6, 2119:1

The personal liberty question alone would be in dispute for there was no law given on this matter except the law of love. R4006:3

Is none other God -- No other eternal and almighty author and source of all things. E54

But one -- Not two, nor three, nor more. E54

1 Corinthians 8:5

Though there be -- Many. R1410:6

Those. R1052:2*

Are called gods -- Greek: theos, a mighty one, not Jehovah. B274; R803:1

There be gods many -- To the heathen. SM483:2

1 Corinthians 8:6

To us -- Christians. R3474:6

There is but one God -- One supreme God. E82; NS255:6

Not three! R4165:2, 2199:4, 1411:1; SM602:T

The word god signifies mighty one; but there is only one God whose name is the Almighty. R5352:1, 3474:6, 1410:6

The Father -- One God over all. R1410:6; HG410:6

Jehovah is the fountain of our blessings. R1410:4, 5392:4, 2465:1

A father is a life-giver; a son is one who receives life from a father.

This distinction implies that the father existed first. R5747:3; E143

Of whom -- Out of whom. E82

Who created. R369:3

Of or from whom, as the first cause or Creator, all things came, including ourselves. R3145:3, 1778:3; E82, 398

The entire plan of salvation is of the Father and through the Son.

R5847:4, 5809:3, 3172:3, 1778:3; E54, F401

Are all things -- Blessings. E45; R1410:4, 5392:4, 1777:6

Including all life on every plane. E398

The various features of our salvation. R1778:3, 1269:5

It is by our willing and our running that we obtain the prize; but it is of God's mercy. R2001:1

And we in him -- And we for him. E82

Unto him. R1052:2*

Lord -- Master, Rabbi. OV114:3

Jesus Christ -- The channel of blessings. R5392:4, 1410:4

The only direct creation of Jehovah. R1060:4, 5992:6, 5748:1, 4051:6, 2431:3, 1278:3, 446:5*

The Head of the Church. R1278:3

The Lord Jesus is not the second person of a triune God. The word "triune" is unscriptural; so is the thought. R5748:3, 1411:1, 802:5; SM494:3;

NS257:6

By whom -- By, or through whom all things, including ourselves, have been brought into existence. R3145:3, 5748:1, 4051:6, 1060:4, 1052:2*; E82
The power was of the Father, but it was exercised through the Son. R4107:3
Jesus was the Father's honored agent. R5748:2, 4107:3, 2464:6, 2199:5, 1061:4, 446:5*; HG297:2

Every divine favor is granted in and through Christ. R965:2

"All things were made by him, and without him was not anything made that was made." (John 1:3) R1904:6, 5748:1, 2431:3, 2199:5, 1278:3, 369:5; OV114:3

The Father bestowed the holy Spirit upon the Son, and authorized him to bestow it upon his Body. R5549:5, 5537:1

Are all things -- Including the creation of the angels. R5748:5, 4051:6
Including the judgment of the Church. F401

And we by him -- And we through him. E82; R1052:2*, 715:4*

1 Corinthians 8:7

Not in every man -- By reason of differing conditions of mental strength, perception, reasoning faculties, etc., all could not have exactly the same standpoint of knowledge and appreciation of principles. R3145:2

All men were not enlightened by the gospel and so relieved from superstition. R1587:1

Of the idol -- The appreciation of idols as gods had become so ingrained that it would be impossible for many fully to divest themselves of some respect for the idols--to eat meat that had been offered to idols. R3145:2

Conscience -- The voice of conscience must be obeyed. Every violation is so much of character destruction, no matter how erroneous may be its standards. R3020:4, 3144:6

Being weak -- We should deny self rather than injure the conscience of another. R5412:2

Is defiled -- The eating of such meats in the presence of a weak ones might seem to them to be an endorsement of the idol worship; and thus they might be misled into a partial endorsement of idolatry. R1587:1

1 Corinthians 8:8

Commendeth us not -- It is not the food that we eat that makes us acceptable to God. Our relationship to God is that of the new creation, a heart relationship. R3145:4; HG368:2

Are we the worse -- There would be nothing wrong--no sacrifice of any principle. R1587:1

1 Corinthians 8:9

Liberty of yours -- Control your liberty by the law of love. R4478:6, 3145:2

The liberty of Christ gives liberty to eat without restraint, in a manner that the Jews were not at liberty to eat, it gives liberty also to abstain; sacrificing on behalf of the brethren. R3145:5, 2198:5, 1473:1

Stumblingblock -- It is a serious crime against the law of love to cause one of our brethren to stumble. R3145:6, 5412:3

Abstain altogether from eating meat rather than risk stumbling a brother who could not take the broader, truer view. To stumble such a one, might be to throw him out of the right way entirely. R5412:2

1 Corinthians 8:10

Idol's temple -- Some Corinthian brethren might be fully at ease in their own consciences if as guests they attended a municipal feast or banquet in an idol temple, but there might be onlookers with less knowledge. R2198:6, 3145:1

We do not feel such a restraint that we would fear to enter a nominal church building to hear a service there; but would not seem to give our assent to their errors by regular attendance and participation. R3146:4

Weak -- Of weaker mind, feebler reasoning powers or inferior knowledge; likely to be weaker in every respect. R3145:5, 4920:4

Be emboldened -- Follow the example of his stronger brother. R3145:5, 2198:6

Susceptible to the leadings of others, into paths which his conscience could not approve. R3145:5, 4920:4

1 Corinthians 8:11

Thy knowledge -- Intelligence, poise of mind. R5412:3

Weak -- Greek: astheneo, without strength. R4099:6*

Brother -- A term of general salutation in the early Church. F230; R1523:5

We certainly should have special patience with the brethren. R3136:3

Perish -- To stumble such a one might be to throw him out of the right way entirely. R5412:2, 4920:5, 3145:5

If one should be influenced by another to violate conscience, one might thus be started on the downward course which would lead him from righteousness. R4831:1, 2198:6

Every violation of conscience, whether the thing itself be right or wrong, is a step in the direction of wilful sin, leading into grosser transgressions of conscience, and possibly to the second death. R3145:5, 4920:5, 3020:4

For whom Christ died -- It would be a sin against the spirit of love to do anything which could reasonably prove a cause of stumbling to our brother, or fellow-creature--for Christ died for the sins of the whole world. R3145:6, 4920:5

When ye sin so -- Some perceived that there could be no sin in the eating of such meat where their consciences were not violated; perhaps to show not only their Christian liberty, but that they entirely disregarded an idol. R3144:6

Wound their weak conscience -- If a Christian could take the position that his own conscience would approve of a certain course, then would he allow his poise of mind, to work injury to a brother, to lead him to violate his conscience? R5412:3

Sin against Christ -- Against the very spirit of his law of love one for the other. R2199:1

1 Corinthians 8:13

I will eat no flesh -- In order that he might be a help to the brethren, and not a stumbling block to any, the Apostle would take pleasure in denying himself, not only the meat offered to idols, but all meat of every kind. R2199:1, 1587:4

Similar arguments might be urged respecting the use of liquor, tobacco, cards and the various implements which the Adversary uses in luring mankind into sin. R3146:5, 2199:1, 1695:6, 1101:5

Any liberty of ours that would work our brother's injury, that liberty we will not exercise. (Rom. 14:21) R4920:5, 5412:2, 4833:5*, 3145:6, 2198:5, 1101:5

Let our light so shine before men as to assist them to glorify their Father in heaven. R4191:5

While the world standeth -- Forevermore. (Revised Version) R4920:6
As long as Paul lived. R2199:1

To offend -- To stumble. (Revised Version) R4920:6
Lose all influence for good over a brother. R5412:3

Any liberty of ours, however reasonable in itself, that would work our brother's injury, we will not exercise; we will sacrifice it; we will to that extent lay down our life for him. R3145:6, 4920:5

This is not meaning that the Lord's people are to favor the mental crochets of each other in such a manner as would be to the general injury of the Church. R3146:2

1 Corinthians 9:1

Am I not an apostle -- Paul was one of those twelve specially commissioned of God and recognized of the Church as God's representatives. R1419:3; HG311:5

"He is a chosen vessel unto me." (Acts 9:15) F216; R2823:2

Seen Jesus Christ -- His real, glorious, spiritual body. R1873:6

1 Corinthians 9:9

Law of Moses -- In whose writings Paul had great confidence; proving that Moses was not a fraud. R3177:5

The priests were not permitted to squeeze the tithes from the people; the people were free to do as they pleased, although the tenth of all increase was demanded by the Law. R1638:5

The saints are typified by the tithe-takers and not by the tithe-payers. R1638:5

Those who give most to the Lord's service are most blest, provided they give it of a grateful, willing heart. Those who are of a willing mind need no prodding. R1638:5, 2500:3, 1822:4

Not muzzle -- The ox was to be free to provide for his necessities. F287

1 Corinthians 9:11

Sown unto you -- Each is anxious to serve the other, first with the spiritual and priceless favors, and second with temporal favors as opportunity offers. R1455:5

Your carnal things -- To ask earthly remuneration for spiritual services would in no sense violate justice. F287

Refers not to princely salaries, but to bare necessities. F287

1 Corinthians 9:12

Not used this power -- To demand support. R1638:5

This right over you to require temporal things in exchange for spiritual. F288

Paul and others seem to have strenuously avoided asking or receiving anything from those whom they were seeking to win to Christ. R1822:4

But -- On the contrary. R1638:5

Suffer all things -- By sacrificing for the truth and for all those who love and serve the truth. R985:4

1 Corinthians 9:13

Of the temple -- Greek: hieron, referring to the Temple in Jerusalem.
R638:4*

1 Corinthians 9:14

Live of the gospel -- Be supported by it. R548:1
It is the privilege of the Church to support those who are giving their entire time to the ministry. R2500:2; F288

1 Corinthians 9:15

Used none of these things -- If support was not voluntarily rendered, Paul made tents or otherwise labored with his hands. R2500:3, 619:5*
So done unto me -- He would not make request for support or any carnal things. R2500:3

1 Corinthians 9:16

Woe -- It would be a cause of great distress to me. It would mean a loss of the Lord's favor and blessing. R5893:1
I could not be happy in anything on earth; I would have fire in my bones. CR297:5, R5893:1
The Apostle could not be satisfied except when doing all in his power to make known to all who have the "hearing ear." R5968:1; NS467:5
Under the influence of the Spirit he could take pleasure in nothing else. His own comfort, ease, pleasure, honor or wealth appeared as loss and dross, to be gladly abandoned for being a co-worker with God. R637:2
This does not signify that the Gospel was preached for fear of being tormented after Paul would die. R5968:1, 5893:1
So it should be a great distress to those whom the Lord has granted the illumination of his truth, if the opportunity of preaching the glorious gospel were taken from them. R5893:1
If the disciple of Christ properly appreciates the privilege of being a messenger of God, it would be a woe indeed to him if he could not proclaim the message, to the extent of his ability and opportunity. R5893:2, 637:2; NS562:4
I -- A servant of God. CR297:6
Any one of God's consecrated people is a minister, ordained to preach. (Isa. 61:1-3) R5893:1, 670:2
Preach -- Declare. R4006:5
Make known. R5893:4
It is the greatest privilege in the world to tell. CR297:5
It may be done by literature sent through the mails, or by handing out a tract, a book, or by preaching from the platform. R5893:4

Some can preach in several ways. Others can preach in nearly every way. Some can preach in very few ways; but all can preach in some way. R5893:5 We still have this opportunity to make known the message of the Kingdom; it is God's method of gathering the Church, and a witness to the world. R5893:4

The gospel -- The message of God's grace centered in Christ Jesus. The "good tidings." R5968:1, 5893:4, 4810:1
The goodness of God, the redemptive work of Jesus, and what the terms and conditions are of joint-heirship in the Kingdom. CR297:5

1 Corinthians 9:19

Though I be free -- Realizing his liberties in Christ, his freedom from all bondage, as of holy days, new moons, sabbaths, meats, etc. R2118:6
Use not your liberties for an occasion of the flesh. R2119:1

As a Jew -- Paul had no thought of compromising the truth in any degree. R3022:3
He did not mean that he dissembled or deceived or pretended to be a Jew; but he did not always choose to exercise his liberties in Christ. R2119:2
Refraining from exercising liberties which would stumble them; as we may now also refrain from using our liberties regarding Sunday, in the interest of those about us who do not see the truth on this subject. R2119:1

Under the law -- Bounden by ceremonies and human traditions received from the elders. R2118:6

As under the law -- Paul waived for the time his own liberties. R2118:6

Gain them -- That he might thereby through sympathy and patience help them to the same liberty which he enjoyed at heart. R2118:6

Not without law to God -- Christ is Jehovah's agent in making the new arrangement, and his law is in harmony with the Father's law. We may say with Paul, that we are not without law to God. R542:6

Under the law to Christ -- Our responsibility is transferred from the Father to our Lord Jesus who bought us, hence we are no longer under Jehovah's Law given at Sinai, but under a new law--under law to Christ. R542:6

1 Corinthians 9:23

The gospel's sake -- Principles may never be abandoned for any consideration, but liberties and personal rights may be ignored in the interest of others, frequently and to divine pleasing. R2119:2

Which run in a race -- The Apostle illustrates this by the Olympic games of his day, prominent amongst which was foot-racing. R2119:6; NS414:6
The race set before believers during this Gospel age is an uphill one, a difficult one, so that it would sift, test, prove and separate all those who have the spirit of loyalty and obedience. NS414:5

The first quarter mark is duty love toward God; the second, appreciative love of God; the third, love for the brethren; and fourth, love for enemies. NS417:2-6; F187-189, 369-371

One viewpoint of the Christian's race course is of striving from the beginning of his consecration until death; a different view would be the Christian's attainment of character-likeness to the Lord. NS416:4

No running is spoken of in connection with the highway of holiness in the next age, probably because those disposed to run in the way of righteousness, hating iniquity, are selected during this Gospel age.

NS414:3

Prize -- The kingdom honors and glories in joint-heirship with Jesus. NS371:5, 415:1; R2119:6; T69

So run -- With diligence, energy, patience and perseverance; according to the prescribed rules. R3070:2

As runners exercise great care in their diet and in all of life's affairs, and bend every energy to their racing, so the Christian should make business, pleasure, food and raiment all to bend to the central all-absorbing ambition of his new life, his Christian career. NS414:6

This means taking up of the cross to follow Jesus; a zeal for him, for his truth, his Word, his brethren, for the cause he represents. NS415:1

That ye may obtain -- The prize of our high calling in Christ Jesus. R2119:6, 624:4*; HG316:5; NS415:1

The conditions of this high exaltation are so severe that only a few will make their calling and selection sure. R297:3

Everyone who would attain to life and the glorious divine character, must strive and attain. A willing mind and its exercise are necessary to divine favor and life eternal. NS413:2

Sufferings in the present time for the truth's sake we are to reckon a part of our wages. R347:3

The Great Company do indeed run the race, but with not sufficient earnestness to win the great reward. R4078:4

1 Corinthians 9:25

Striveth -- To have the mind of Christ is the one requirement of lawful striving. R3070:2

Crown -- Prize; reward. R1642:4, 3273:2

An incorruptible -- Greek: apthartos, that which cannot corrupt. R2339:2, 204:1; E397

1 Corinthians 9:26

So run -- Like one who has a purpose in view, and who, in desperate earnest, is determined to make his calling and election sure. R3149:3, 5777:3, 4810:3, 3069:3

Not as uncertainly -- Paul had definite knowledge as to what constitutes the prize, the terms and conditions of the race, and that he had entered the race. He was determined in his covenant of sacrifice unto death. R4809:3; NS371:5

He had a definite goal in view and meant to win. R5777:3

We are not running doubtfully, not knowing what the prize will be, for we are instructed by the Lord's own words. R2120:1

We know that faithfulness will bring results not only to ourselves, but which will be a blessing to all mankind. R3273:2 This is the only attitude if we would gain the prize that God has offered us; and the whole matter is dependent upon our zeal, our faithfulness and our earnestness. R5777:3; Q119:2

So fight I -- He who possesses no combativeness, the fighting quality, can evidently never be a victor in the good fight. OV313:2; R2878:3

The thought of Christian warfare as a continual battle against adverse influences is everywhere prominent in the Scriptures. OV313:3; NS413:2

The fight is chiefly against our own flesh. OV317:1; R4810:2, 3275:1

This battle begins at consecration and continues until our death. R5778:2

The battle begins in our mind, our will. We submit our mind to the mind of Christ. R5778:1

After enlistment, each soldier should expect his share of the provided armor. R3273:5

The soldiers of the cross hold up the banner of truth, the light, not aggressively but defensively, holding up the banner of the Lord with meekness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly kindness. R3274:6

Nothing impossible is required in this race; grace and help comes from the Lord. R4809:6, 5778:5, 3069:3; NS417:1

Beateth the air -- In preparation for a certain contest, the contestants had a wind bag to practise on. So the Apostle says that he was not using his strength merely in practise. He was fighting a real battle. R5777:3
We are not to be expending our strength merely on a bag of wind, but we are to fight to some purpose. R5778:4

But with wisdom and prudence and faithfulness doing those things which the Lord had indicated would be pleasing in his sight, as evidencing our loyalty to him, his brethren and his truth. R4480:2

1 Corinthians 9:27

I -- The new "I," which loves God and men, desires holiness, seeks peace and endeavors daily to become more and more an exact copy of the Lord Jesus Christ. R2226:2

The Apostle speaks particularly of himself with the evident intention of teaching a lesson to all of the Lord's people. R5001:2 Keep under --

Dead, buried. R4811:4, 2769:6

Dead, as respects all control from the old, selfish will of the flesh.

F600; D476; R5002:4, 1861:5

Crucified. --R140:2

In subordination, under restraint. R5001:3, 5002:1

Under the control of the new mind. R5686:4, 5220:3, 5002:4; F489

I am the master--I will not allow my body to master me. R5220:3

When we find any part of the body sticking up a little from the grave, we should bury it again, stick it down and put a little more dirt on it. Q333

In proportion as the new mind develops in likeness to Christ it will relax no efforts to keep the body under, with the motions of sin--to keep the will of the flesh dead. R4810:5, 1884:6

All who serve the Lord's cause in any capacity will be blessed proportionately as they do this. If less careful, they will be less skillful in the preaching of the Word and in the service of the truth.

R4728:6

My body -- My flesh and its desires. R5127:5, 2309:6

In respect to food, drink, thought, speech. R3894:3, 4833:5*, 4289:2

Its ambitions, appetites, desires. R3273:3, 5777:6, 4810:4, 4289:1,

1457:6, 960:6

"I browbeat my body"; i.e. I use coercive measures upon my body. R4810:1, 5902:4, 5686:4

The new creature is in mortal combat with entrenched sin, and the cravings of human nature. R5778:1

The old nature balks, and gives a lot of trouble. Q649:1; R3275:3, 4810:1

The mortal body being rebellious against God's will, must be brought under the rule, and submissive to, the new mind. R5001:6, 5687:1, 5686:4,5,

4810:1, 4289:1, 2769:6, 1457:6, 442:4

If the flesh conquers, the new creature dies--second death. But if the new creature conquers, it will be by the death of the flesh. R5902:5, 5778:4

Into subjection -- To the new mind, the will of God in Christ. R5935:5, 5127:5, 4921:4, 4830:3, 4811:4, 3273:3, 3353:2, 2769:6, 2309:6, 1457:6;

T65 To things which would be for righteousness and truth, and also as regards natural things. R5002:1

We are to make it serve the new creature. R4810:2

We must be moderate, temperate, self-denying in all things. R2120:1
The Vow strengthens our wills in respect to all the various features of our covenant with the Lord and bringing our bodies under subjection.

R4227:3

When the old creature is knocked out, or brow-beaten, it will groan; but the new creature will be glad and rejoice in the Lord. Q613:1

As a colt needs to be broken, to be brought into subjection, so it is with our flesh. If it is thoroughly broken, it will remain in subjection.

R5686:5, 5001:5

Lest -- Even after. R296:4

Preached -- Instructed. R5686:6

All the preaching to others will not get me into the Kingdom. I must keep my body under, and keep it in subjection to the new mind. R5220:6

To others -- Of the great prize for which we run and sacrifice. R1457:6

What God's people are to do for the world is to be merely secondary, merely what opportunity may offer. Their chief work is to be for themselves; not arranging for the world's conversion. SM635:3

Be a castaway -- Rejected. R5687:1, 3273:3, 1457:6

Unless he continued to stand fast in his integrity and to grow in grace.

R1885:2

Might fail to make my calling and election sure. F600; B28; R5220:6, 5002:1, 3894:3, 3273:3, 2466:5, 1575:5, 365:2

Receive only the reward of the Great Company or the second death. T69;
R5687:1, 2120:4; NS415:2

Unworthy of a place in that choice company which God has predetermined shall be composed of "overcomers." R1457:6; NS417:1

With every true Christian this is a matter of supreme importance, and should be particularly noted by every one who is a teacher in the Church.

R5686:6, 2952:1

Paul said this after having sacrificed much, after having experienced many sufferings of Christ. R4921:4, 4210:3, 1885:2

Nothing is determined or fixed in respect to any of us until our tests have all been passed. R4921:4, 1651:2

1 Corinthians 10

1 Corinthians 10:2

Were all baptized -- Greek: baptizo, to dip, immerse or cover. R1541:1

Buried. R2299:2

The walls of the sea being on either hand and the clouds of water overhead. R1541:6, 2299:1

As a nation. HG600:2

Unto Moses -- Into Moses. R5046:5, 2825:6, 2417:3, 1725:4; PD56/69; HG732:5, 254:3

As all the world were actually in Adam and could be redeemed by one sacrifice, so all Israel was represented in one man Moses, the Mediator of their Law Covenant. R1984:3

So thoroughly was the one man Moses, the typical father of Israel, that God proposed its destruction, and fulfillment of all his engagements with Moses' family instead. (Exod. 32:10, 31, 32) R5046:4,6, 1725:4

They all recognized Moses as the leader upon whom depended their deliverance from Egypt and their finding of the promised land. R2299:2
Paul teaches that baptism is an emblem of both death and resurrection.

R1322:2, 1450:1*

This transaction is a striking figure of the deliverance to be effected by Christ from the bondage and power of death, hades, and the devil. R1322:1*
Every Jew was counted as a member of the house of Moses, bound to him even unto death, and merely needing repentance to be transferred to Christ whom Moses typified. F432

When Jesus took the place of Moses, this baptism was counted as baptism into Christ to all who accepted him. R5963:3,5, 3712:4, 2417:4; PD56/69
John's baptism was for the Jews, not for the Gentiles. R2825:6, 2417:4; HG732:5

As the consecrated are now baptized into Christ, so this was typified in the immersion of all the Israelites, when they passed through the Red Sea. R2299:1

In the sea -- Gives of the form that they were covered with water, (though not wet), the sea being on either hand and the clouds overhead. R1541:6

At the crossing of the Red Sea. HG732:5

When they left Egypt. R3712:4

Same spiritual meat -- Which had a spiritual significance. R2299:2

The manna, a symbol of our Lord--the Truth. R3036:6, 2299:2

As we require the spiritual food continually to give us strength for the journey toward the heavenly kingdom, so fleshly Israel had need of the manna for their strengthening in their way to the typical kingdom. R2299:2

As the truth must be sought daily, is found in small particles, and requires searching for to gather our heavenly food and experience in spiritual things so this was typified in natural Israel's experiences. R2299:2

Spiritual drink -- Had a spiritual significance. R2299:3

As we may come to the Lord for refreshment; and when needing purification, may come to the washing of the water through the Word of him who died for us, so this spiritual truth was typified to fleshly Israel. R2299:3, 4012:6

"If any man thirst let him come unto me and drink." (John 7:37) R3509:6

For they drank -- As the grace which flows to us through Christ comes as a result of his being smitten for us, his death on our behalf, so the waters flowed to Israel as a result of the smiting of the typical rock.

R2299:3, 334:4

When in due time the faithful ones of Israel accepted Messiah by faith, they came into vital relationship to him. R5963:5

Typical Israel drank of the typical water from the typical rock; but the substance is of Christ and the whole world--whosoever is athirst may yet come to the river of life and drink freely. R334:4

That followed them -- As the waters of that rock followed the Israelites, so the stream of God's favor, through the sacrifice of Christ, refreshes Christ's disciples throughout their wilderness journey. R5285:1, 2299:3

That Rock -- The source of life, the foundation of all faith and hope is the smitten Rock, Christ as our ransom. R1228:3, 1922:4

It was by the Lord's arrangement that this "Rock of Ages" was smitten, that the water of life should flow from Jesus for all of Adam's race who would become Israelites indeed. R5957:3, 5315:3; PD34/45

Those who are rooted and grounded in Christ and built up in him--in his doctrine, his love, and his character--shall never be moved. R1922:5

Was Christ -- Represented Christ. R5285:1, 5315:3

1 Corinthians 10:5

Not well pleased -- Israel's conduct with respect to God's favors was typical of the conduct of many in nominal spiritual Israel in respect to the realities, the antitypes. R2299:3

Implies that God will not be well pleased with many in the nominal spiritual Israel. R2299:4

The smiting of the rock represented the putting of Christ to a shameful death. R5285:1

In the wilderness -- Implying that many of nominal spiritual Israel will be overthrown in the wilderness and fail to reach the antitypical Canaan. R2299:4

Examples -- Figures. R2299:4

Greek: tupos, types--a type is a very exact pattern of the antitype, which is on a larger scale. R5267:2

We should not lust -- In their experiences God gave us a lesson of what results would come to us if we received his mercies and favors in an improper manner. R2299:4

After evil things -- The things we left behind when we quit the world, typified by Egypt; to follow Christ, typified by Moses. R2299:5

They -- Typical Israel. R5267:2

Also lusted -- For flesh--worldly doctrines for religious food. R5267:3*

1 Corinthians 10:7

Neither be ye -- Paul urges spiritual Israel to overcome the temptations which are along the same lines, only on a higher plane. R2299:5, 2086:4

Idolaters -- Of wealth, pride, ambition, self-esteem, boastfulness, love of show, tyranny, unreasonable self-will, self-ease regardless of others, gratification of passions, gluttony, drunkenness or denominationalism. R2299:5

Religious leaders setting forth products of their own intellect as objects of worship. R5267:3*

The worship of money incidental to the decline of the worship of the true God. R5267:5*

1 Corinthians 10:8

Fornication -- Fellowship in spirit with those who have not the spirit of the Lord, but the spirit of the world. R2300:1

The tendency to mix religion, and pleasure and money-getting; religion and politics. R5267:5*

Fell in one day -- Improper combinations have caused considerable destruction of spirituality in Christendom. R5267:5*

Three and twenty thousand -- 24,000 is recorded in Num. 25:1-9. R2300:1

1 Corinthians 10:9

Tempt Christ -- By losing appreciation for spiritual things and hungering after pleasures, ambitions, etc., of the world; rebellion against the providential leadings of the Lord. R2300:2

Pictured by a rebellion against Moses, who typified Christ; when the people desired to take a short-cut through the land of Edom. R5267:5*

Official removal of restrictions upon Christian conduct. R5267:5*

Tempted -- Their leader Moses. Evidently refers to Num. 21:4-9. R2300:2

Of serpents -- A yielding to worldly appetites and desires will surely expose such a one to the bite of the great serpent sin, whose poison will effectually destroy in them the spiritual life. R2300:2

1 Corinthians 10:10

Neither murmur ye -- Against the plan of God by which "He hath set the members in the body as it hath pleased him," (1 Cor. 12:18) as 250 of the elders murmured against Moses. R2300:4

By murmuring against the narrow way. R5267:6*

Murmurings against the divine arrangement are really murmurings against the Lord himself. R4502:4

Wide murmurings against the Watchtower publications--as mouthpieces of God; the suggestion of the Vow. R5267:6*, 5268:3

Do without murmuring, without complaining, without fault-finding. R4502:4

Also murmured -- The children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron over the destruction of Dathan, Abiram, and Korah; instead of recognizing the justice of the Lord. (See Num. 16) R5268:4*, 2300:4

Destroyed of the destroyer -- (1) The conspirators were destroyed; (2)

Many of Israel in sympathy with the them blamed Moses for having caused their death, in consequence of which the Lord visited upon them the plague. R2300:4

The murmurers and complainers in typical Israel were not permitted to enter into Canaan's blessings. R4502:4

1 Corinthians 10:11

All these things -- Typical experiences of the past. R5351:2

Intimating that the whole matter of Israel's history was typical of the experience of Christians. R5732:1; Q47:2

Happened unto them -- The servants of the Lord in past dispensations. R5490:1

The Israelites. R5967:4*; Q722:3*

God delivered the nation of Israel, but subsequently, because of their lack of loyalty, he permitted them to die, some for one offence and some for another. R4006:3

For ensamples -- Greek: tupos, types. A type is a very exact pattern of the antitype, which is on a larger scale. R5267:5, 5401:5, 2299:1; Q722:2*

An example. R5351:2

The experiences of Israel were overruled to make of them types and symbols illustrative of the divine plan as it will be finally outworked on a higher plane. R5335:6

The things were allegorical. The chief object and purpose was to illustrate certain great truths for spiritual Israel. R5598:2

The various evidences of divine favor toward Israel were types of greater favor of God bestowed upon his Church in the Gospel age. R2299:1

The whole nation of Israel was this type, with their experiences, testings, etc. Q722:3; R5967:4*, 4782:3, 2299:1, 1850:2, 1842:1, 1450:1*, 722:6

The prophets' experiences furnish us good lessons. R5333:1, 5401:3, 3650:5
For our -- God's children, the new creation. F123

The Gospel Church. R1418:6

Paul urges respecting this same time that God's people should have on the whole armor of God. (Eph. 6:13) R5267:2

Including also those who shall become God's children in the Millennial age. R2611:5

Admonition -- Instruction. B188; R5490:1, 5333:1, 5239:2, 1418:6; OV407:4
Learning. R4782:3

The promises and exhortations spoken directly to fleshly Israel apply in a wider and fuller sense to spiritual Israel. R1850:2

The prophecies had been there for centuries, but the revelation or understanding of them was reserved. R919:4, 658:2, 414:2

Written in the Bible--so that we might know God, and be prepared for our glorious inheritance. OV424:1; R5800:1, 5598:1, 5402:3

It was in the lapping of the Jewish and Gospel ages that the Way, the Truth, and the Life first were manifested; now in the lapping of the Gospel and Millennial ages the light shines as never before. F206

Suggests that in this harvest time some of us may feel too self-confident and hence not sufficiently watchful, careful. R5267:2

Ends -- Harvests. R5267:2, 4782:3

The opening and closing of the Gospel age. R1419:1, 1146:4

Implying special light upon the beginning and the ending of the Church's earthly career. F206; R2942:1, 1418:6, 919:3, 658:2, 414:2

Implies special pressure or testing connected with the harvests of the Jewish and Gospel ages. R5267:2

World -- Ages. B188; R5401:2, 5267:2, 5055:4, 4782:3, 4057:3, 3650:5, 2942:1, 919:4, 658:2, 414:2; OV424:1, 407:4; NS112:6

Age. R2300:4

The present evil world. R1850:2

Are come -- Literally; "upon whom the ends of the ages press down."
R5267:2

1 Corinthians 10:12

Wherefore -- This word connects the danger of falling with those stumblings and fallings of Israel which are our types. R5267:2, 2300:5

Thinketh he standeth -- The moment when we feel self-confident is the dangerous one. R3667:5,4, 2300:5; CR280:5*

We stand not in our own strength but in the strength that God supplies through his promises and holy Spirit. R3667:5

Only those who can stand siftings, trials and tests are fit for places in the Kingdom. R5563:6

Take heed -- Lest we feel over-confident in respect to our own strength, our own standing on these questions of liberty, rights, privileges and self-denials for the good of others. R3667:5

Those who feel that they are standing, who feel strong and that they are in no danger, should take special heed to the examples herein before presented. R2300:6

Sudden and sharp will be many of the tests applied to prove our continued faithfulness. R3103:6

Meekness and humility is the most favorable condition for those who would keep faithfully on the pilgrim way and reach the Canaan of promise. R2300:6

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time." (1 Pet. 5:6) R5268:6, 4364:2

Lest he fall -- Stumble by not letting his light shine. E295

We learn from the lesson of Solomon's fall that it is not only important to begin life wisely in harmony with God, but equally necessary to continue it, and to end it so. R2069:4

The followers of the Master today, beset by weaknesses, frailties and temptations, have the lesson of Peter's experience as a warning to look to the Lord for assistance, rather than to be self-confident. R4712:5

"Let us fear lest the promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of us should seem to come short of it." (Heb. 4:1) R3667:5

This scripture shows the possibility of falling from grace. Our safety is in a vivid realization of our own helplessness and dependence upon God's favor. R1458:2

1 Corinthians 10:13

God is faithful -- Faithfulness on our part is also required. R1211:2*

We glory in tribulation because we realize that the Lord will be near us while we endure faithfully. R3281:4, 4004:6

The Father knows just how much we can stand. R5440:4; Q459:T

Suffer -- Permit. R964:6, 962:2; Q459:T

To be tempted -- And tested. R962:2

He may suffer us to stumble, but so long as we trust in him he will not suffer us to be utterly cast down--to fall in the second death. F161

That ye are able -- Beyond what we are able to bear. R5440:4, 962:2

To resist and overcome. R2568:5, 699:1

Able to withstand. R964:6, 962:2

It is not the Lord's intention that trying experiences shall crush the new creature; but that the putting forth of endeavor to resist the Adversary and every evil shall make us stronger. R5902:6, 5764:1*, 5440:4

The furnace heat will never be permitted to grow so intense that the precious gold of our characters shall be destroyed or even injured.

R5802:6, 4386:6

The spirit-begotten ones have much advantage by reason of having the Lord Jesus as their helper under the assurance that "All things work together for good to them." (Rom. 8:28) R5681:5, 5878:6, 5239:4, 4628:5, 3865:1; NS122:3, 373:5, 482:1

With the temptation -- Every temptation. R4628:5

Or trial. R2005:3, 28:3*; NS565:5

Difficulty. R699:1

Too hard to be borne. R2357:1

The Lord allows the storms to press us more and more so that we will cry unto him. Then he will hear us and give us the necessary deliverance.

R5239:4

We are not called upon to endure greater trials than the worthies of the past. R28:3*

Make a way -- Provide a way. R4628:5, 5498:2, 699:1

Will open a way at the very moment when strength and endurance would fail--not through lack of desire to do the Lord's will, but through weakness of the flesh. R962:2

God delivers us from those things which would prove too weighty for us. R5119:2

He will supervise our interests. SM392:2

If you are strongly tempted to be overcharged with the cares of life, look out for the way of escape which God indicates. R572:2*

This would apply to our business relationships--to everything. R5498:1, 572:2*

If we are in earnest, and will but do what we can. R699:1

To escape -- From the trial. R962:2

Direct the issue. R5498:2

So that the trials of life will not consume us as new creatures, but merely consume the dross. NS671:6

The evil one would indeed utterly destroy the Lord's consecrated ones, but he will not be permitted so to do. Thus far he may go but no farther.

R3807:3; SM392:2

He loves us too well to permit any needless sorrow, any needless suffering. R5802:6

Pictured by God's leading the Israelites from the bitter waters to Elim and its rest and shade. (Exod. 16:27) R5278:6

Able to bear -- The trials are commensurate with the weakness of the new creature. R4628:5, 4164:6

But we may rely upon it that no real son of God is exempted from the needed trials of patience, faith and love. R3820:1, 3281:5, 3236:6

1 Corinthians 10:14

Flee from idolatry -- In view of the prevalence of idolatry at that time, Paul felt it expedient to urge the Church. R4006:4

1 Corinthians 10:15

What I say -- Paul proceeds to contrast the feast which marks us as Christians--the Memorial of our Lord's death--with the heathen feasts to which many would be invited, and be exposed to misleading influences. R4006:4

1 Corinthians 10:16

The cup -- The sacrificed life of our Lord. R4591:5, 4153:2, 3548:4
We should have a double thought before our minds: The literal cup, the literal fruit of the vine, which represents the blood of Christ; and the privilege of partaking of his sacrificial cup. R5341:2

It is one cup, though it contains the juice of many grapes. The grapes cannot maintain themselves as grapes if they would constitute the life-giving spirit. R5341:3, 2772:6

The Lord's cup signifies bitter experiences and trials in the present time. This is the symbolic cup we share with him. The sweet mingles freely with the bitter. R5654:5, 4331:6, 2272:2, 1898:6

Not only our Lord's blood, but also the blood of the Church. R5342:3,4
Symbolizing the covenant of the Lord's people to share his sorrows and sufferings--death--with their Lord. R2812:2

The full renunciation of earthly life and all claim thereto. R5341:1

The death of our humanity. R2272:2, 5192:6, 1637:2, 1302:5

Also, the joys of the Kingdom which all the faithful in Christ will share with the great King of glory. R4703:6, 5341:2, 5192:6, 2272:6, 1637:2

Of blessing -- The blessed privilege of suffering with Christ, and the blessed things which will come as a reward of those sufferings. R5341:1

Which we bless -- For which we bless God. (Diaglott) R5192:2, 5341:1, 2272:5, 1943:4, 1898:6, 1800:6, 1637:2, 1290:5, 840:4, 467:1, 346:1, 57:4*
For which we give thanks and praise to the Lord. R5341:2, 4591:5, 3548:5, 2292:2; F467; NS79:2

For an opportunity of sharing with Christ his "cup" of sufferings and shame. R5192:6, 1637:2

The communion -- Greek: koinonia, partnership, participation. R4436:1, 5342:5, 5341:2, 5192:6, 4703:6, 4547:1, 4625:4, 4605:3, 4475:2, 2772:5, 2292:2, 2272:2, 1800:6, 346:1, 57:4*; F467; NS79:2

Common union. R4341:2, 5342:5, 4591:5, 4331:6, 4153:2, 3526:5; F467; NS79:2, 298:1

Fellowship-sharing. R4375:2, 4620:2, 4331:6, 3880:6, 3548:4, 2622:6, 2436:5, 2148:1, 1016:5, 740:6, 721:5, 325:5; F466

Emphasizing the thought of the unity, the oneness of the Church with each other and with the Lord. R3880:6

The sharing with Christ as joint-sacrificers with him even unto death. R5871:2, 3194:1

We should be very thankful for the great privilege we have been accorded to share in his cup, to be "baptized into his death." (Rom. 6:3) R4605:3, 5341:4

This fellowship or communion in sufferings is confined to this Gospel age. R2116:4, 4625:4, 4331:6; Q486:2

The blood of Christ -- Shed blood--death. R5192:6, 3548:5, 2436:5, 2272:2, 1637:2, 1336:1, 1302:4, 840:4, 467:1, 325:5

The sacrifice of Christ. R4475:2, 4625:4, 3014:1

His sufferings. R4128:5, 3194:1, 2622:6

The entire anointed company. R1016:5, 900:4, 840:4, 466:4, 346:1, 57:4*

Our participation with him in death--not as ransomers, but merely as joint-sacrificers with him. R1302:4; Q486:2

The blood of the New Covenant, in which we participate. R4605:3, 4475:2

The New Covenant cannot be sealed, finished, made operative until all the members of the body shall have died, when the great High Priest's "better sacrifice" shall be finished. R4310:3, 4332:1

The bread -- The loaf. R5341:4, 3014:1, 2436:5, 2292:2, 1898:6, 1800:6, 346:1, 94:5, 57:4*

Represents primarily the Lord Jesus' body: in a larger sense it includes all the Body of Christ. R5341:5, 5542:4, 5342:3, 5192:4, 2272:2, 1637:1

We all are, with Christ, members or parts of one loaf--all pledged to be broken, that we may be of life-giving power and influence to others.

It is one loaf, though made from many grains. The grains cannot retain their individuality and their life if they would become bread for the world. R5341:3, 2772:6

Food for the world. R5192:5, 3881:1, 3014:1, 2272:1, 1637:1, 840:3, 466:6

Which we break -- The breaking of the one loaf was accomplished primarily in our Lord Jesus; is continuing in those who are accepted as members of him, those who keep their hearts with all diligence. R4616:6, 5192:5, 4620:2, 4591:5, 4375:1, 2272:2, 1637:1; F466

The most forceful figure used by Paul to illustrate that the Church, with their Head, is the "one loaf," being broken, during the Gospel age. A striking illustration of our union and fellowship with our Head. R5192:5, 2272:1, 1637:1, 840:4, 466:6

In breaking the loaf, after recognizing it as the sacrifice of our Lord on our behalf, we are to recognize it further, as the sacrificing of the whole Church, consecrated to be dead with him, broken with him. F466; NS78:6

The breaking of the loaf represents our mutual strengthening of one another as members of the Body. R346:1

As the unleavened bread at the Memorial season is passed to each of us, and as each takes a portion of it, he breaks it for himself. R5341:5

The fact that our Lord first broke the bread does not mean that we should not have our individual part. R5341:5

The communion of -- A participation with. Q486:2, R5341:1, 4703:6, 1898:6
The participation of. (Diaglott) R5192:5, 5341:1, 4436:1, 2772:5, 2272:5,

Fellowship. R3880:6, 3548:4

In his sufferings. R4620:2, 4375:2, 4153:2

Sharing in the breaking or sacrifice. R740:6

It is necessary that we should see, first of all, our justification through the Lord's sacrifice. Then, that the entire Christ is a composite body of many members, which must be broken, and sacrifice. R2772:6

After we have partaken of him (been justified by appropriating his righteousness), we, by consecration, become associated with him as part of the one broken loaf. R5192:5, 1637:1

Our privilege of justified believers to share now in the sufferings and death of Christ, to be associates in the great work of blessing and giving life to all the families of the earth. R5192:5, 2292:2, 1637:1

A double figure: (1) Christ our Passover slain for us, on account of which we keep the feast, feeding upon his merit. (2) Our union with him and consecration to participation in the sufferings. R2292:2, 1943:4

We who eat and drink--who thus partake of our Savior's merits--are reckoned in with him as "members" of his "Body" being broken; and our lives sacrificed in his service are counted as part of his sacrifice.

R3526:5, 2772:5, 2436:3, 2148:1; F468; NS79:2; SM564:2

Many today who think that they worship God really worship doctrines of devils instead. R4006:4, 1991:4*

I would not that ye -- Believers, Christians. R1899:1

During the Jewish age God guarded his typical people against these delusions, and lying spirits of devils. R1642:6

Fellowship -- What communion could there be? R4006:4

Ye -- These words of warning apply to the entire probationary membership of the Gospel Church down to the end of the age. R1898:3

Implies a turning away of those who have already pledged themselves to drink of the Lord's cup. Partaking of the doctrines of Christ and the doctrines of devils, would be doing despite to the spirit of favor.

R1899:1,6, 1900:4

Those who wilfully do so after being once enlightened are of the sinful class typified by rebellious Israel. R1900:4

Drink -- Partake. R1899:1

Cup of the Lord -- The cup of sacrifice, even unto death. Not only the sacrifice of life, but of reputation and all that humanity holds dear.

R1898:3

The spirit of Christ, which is unselfish, humble, self-denying and glad to sacrifice earthly ambitions in his service. R1899:1

Cup of devils -- Hopes of earthly prosperity, pride, self-exaltation and "honor one of another;" to which time, talent and influence are sacrificed to the bitter and disappointing end. R1898:6

The spirit of the world, selfishness, ambition, pride. R1899:1

While the Lord's cup is presented to us, the devil, as an angel of light, and with great subtlety, presents his cup also. R1898:3

Paul knew of only two cups. R4547:1

Cannot be partakers -- "No man can serve two masters." (Matt. 6:24)

R1899:6,1

While Satan and the children of darkness may stimulate the table of the Lord and the grace of his truth, yet there is no real harmony or fellowship between their table and the Lord's table. R2406:3

Of the Lord's table -- With its bread of life, its meat in due season, honey in the honeycomb, its milk and wine, and its water of life, clear as crystal. R1899:2

The heavenly, spiritual things. R4006:4, 1957:6

Now, in the harvest, the richest season of all the year, the table of the Lord fairly groans under its bounty, and the Lord of the harvest comes forth and serves his people. R1899:3,5

Only deeply appreciative ones are desired at this feast--those who will gladly forsake all to enjoy the favor. R1958:1

Pointing out the distinction, separateness, of those who are truly the Lord's people. R3963:3

The table of devils -- Those who were more or less identified with the heathendom of the time. R4006:4

Many, while thinking that they worship God, really worship "doctrines of devils," of which they are ashamed and by which they are hindered. R4006:5
Of these are the tables of Papacy, Theosophy, Spiritism, Christian Science, all of which teach man how to climb up some others way to eternal life except through our Lord's vicarious sacrifice. R1899:5, 3665:5
"All tables are full of vomit and filthiness so that there is no place clean." (Isa. 28:8) R3963:1, 1899:4
While the Lord spreads his table, the devil spreads his also. R1898:3
The Lord has permitted the Adversary to prepare a table for those who are not of the spirit of the truth. R3963:3

1 Corinthians 10:22

Stronger than he -- Let us away with every evil thing, and find our delight in God, and be satisfied with the consolations of his abundant grace. R1900:5

1 Corinthians 10:23

All things -- Permitted by the loose rein of Christ's commands. R1628:6

Are lawful -- It is a trick of the condemned flesh to appeal to the new creature that there is no law restraining its liberty, therefore, it should grant to the flesh larger concessions than the world would enjoy. R4005:6

Not used unlimitedly. It would not be lawful to murder or steal. The Christians one law is supreme love for God and consequently a love for all mankind. R3666:1

Are not expedient -- Inadvisable, because of the mental and moral condition of those about us, who might misunderstand our course. R3666:2
While nothing is forbidden the new creature under direct divine law, there are many things that would be ill-advised, contrary to its best interests. R4006:1

Love must govern our conduct automatically on every occasion. The Lord wishes us to learn, not as children, certain fixed rules, but as philosophers the fixed principles which can be applied. R4006:6

Edify not -- Not all things profit, strengthen, build up, encourage; and are not to be entertained or practised regardless of law on the subject. R4006:1

No man seek his own -- His own welfare merely. R3666:3, 4006:2

But control your liberty by the law of love. R4478:6*, 3666:2

We who are truly consecrated to the Lord, have given up our own wills and preferences in every matter with a view to honoring the Lord and doing all the good we can in the world in his name. R3666:3

Another's -- Think not only of what would be harmless to himself but what would be helpful or injurious to his neighbor. The new creature is his brother's keeper. R4006:1,3

Wealth -- Welfare. R4006:2

1 Corinthians 10:25

In the shambles -- Butchers' stalls. R4006:2

It was the general custom to offer to their gods certain parts of the animal; the remainder might be taken home to eat, or given to the priest, or sold in the market place. R4478:2

Asking no questions -- Stand by your personal liberty. R4478:6*

For conscience sake -- Whoever would violate his conscience would injure his spiritual welfare and interests. R4478:3

1 Corinthians 10:26

Earth is the Lord's -- Does not belong to the strong and avaricious. D310
Mankind is one family and all are therefore beneficiaries of the divine provision. D310

The fulness -- Accepting the food as of the Lord's bounty, they may give thanks for it and eat it, regardless of whether offered to an idol or not.

R3666:3, 4006:6

Everything that we receive is a gift from the Lord, and anything that we can render him thanks for would be proper for us to use in a becoming manner. R3667:2

1 Corinthians 10:27

A feast -- If invited to a feast by some of their unbelieving friends or relatives, as for instance a marriage supper, they would in all probability sit down to meat which had been offered to idols. R3666:2

Eat -- A Christian was not bound to suppose that the meat had been offered to idols, and therefore not bound to refuse it. R4006:6

Paul was thus in some degree stepping beyond the decree of the council at Jerusalem, which urged upon the Gentiles who had accepted Christ, that they abstain from meat offered to idols. R3666:4,2

Asking no question -- So that no one's else conscience may be involved. R3666:4

Those advanced in the truth to appreciate the fact that an idol is nothing, and that the offering of meat to that idol would in no degree affect it, might properly enough use their liberties and eat the meat.

R3666:3

1 Corinthians 10:28

Unto idols -- The offering of the food to it being nothing, the personal liberty question alone would be in dispute, for there was no law given on this matter except the law of love. R4006:3, 3666:4

Giving the inference that he believed it would be sin to partake of it. R3666:3

Eat not -- It should not be eaten for the sake of the brother who indicated his own knowledge and fear. R4006:6

For his sake -- Not because it was a sin, nor that the meat had been injured, but for the conscience of the one telling us, lest he should think we were committing a sin and thus be led to think lightly of our professions. R3666:4

The strong minded brother might eat with impunity; while his neighbor, less strong in mind, might be influenced by his example to eat, to the injury of his conscience he might be led out of the way altogether. R4478:3

If the conscience of another were involved the Golden Rule would immediately operate and forbid us doing anything which would injure the conscience of a brother and break our good influence over him. R3666:4

The one of broader comprehension should be willing to consider his brother and not to stumble his conscience. R4006:3,6

For conscience sake -- For his conscience' sake--lest he should be stumbled. R4006:6, 3666:4

He thinking it to be sinful to eat such meat. R3666:4

1 Corinthians 10:29

But of the other -- Consider the effect upon the consciences of others. R4479:1*

My liberty -- If it is not my own conscience which reproves me why need I put myself under bondage in the matter if it in no wise affect the interests or conscience of another? R3666:4

The Christian is at liberty to do anything that does not conflict with this basic law of his new nature--the law of love. R4478:5,3

Of another man's -- We should avoid doing what might affect the interests or conscience of another. R3666:4

1 Corinthians 10:31

Whatsoever ye do -- Paul sums up his argument in favor of loving consideration for our brethren and liberty of conscience for ourselves. It is difficult to imagine a more comprehensive statement of the Christian's liberty and limitations. R4007:3 In his Word the Lord sets the standard of a sound mind, not only in respect to revelry and the use of liquor, but to all manner of conduct. Those who love him will strive to attain that standard. R5099:3, 4919:5, 4007:1, 3667:1

It is applicable not only to food and drink and clothing, but to every interest and affair of life. R3665:6; HG583:1

Our characters are manifested by our habits of life; and each act, even the smallest, tends to form some new habit, or to confirm one already established. R3674:1

Do in moderation; be willing to sacrifice self-gratification in the interest of others. R4919:5, 3667:2

It would not be to God's glory, or to his own profit, for any Christian to use tobacco in any form. R1849:4

To the glory of God -- That you may glorify him in spirit and mind which are his. Q614:3

Even in the smallest affairs of life we are to look for the Lord's will.

The humblest kind of service is acceptable to the Lord if prompted by love. R5740:3

Service rendered to an earthly master "as unto the Lord" and because of a desire to please the Lord will be accepted of the Lord as though it were done directly in the interest of his cause. R2724:5

When perfection is attained, everything will be done for the glory of the Lord rather than for earthly name or fame. R5183:2

1 Corinthians 10:32

Give none offence -- The Apostle carries this thought of our personal responsibility in seeking God's glory to its legitimate conclusion. R4007:5
Anything that would be a hindrance to the spread of the Lord's cause, a dishonor to the truth in the sight of others, it is for us to sacrifice that thing, and give no occasion of stumbling. R3667:2,4

Nor to the Gentiles -- We are not to speak of ourselves as "Gentiles" or as "Jews" but as the Church of God. R5071:3

1 Corinthians 10:33

Even as I -- Paul's own personal course known to the people of God is in full accord with the teachings he has set before them respecting self-denial for the good of others. R3667:2

Please all men -- Disregarding his own advantage. R4007:6, 3667:2

He sought, so far as loyalty to the Lord was concerned and loyalty to the principles of righteousness, to do or be everything for the advancement of the Gospel and the blessing of the people. R3667:4

And this should be the rule with all of us, not merely to give precepts but to follow them with example. R4007:6 Does not mean that the Apostle succeeded in pleasing all men, for he was stoned, beaten, and finally suffered death because he did not please all men. R3667:4

"Do good to all men, especially to them that are of the household of faith." (Gal. 6:10) R4479:4

1 Corinthians 11

1 Corinthians 11:1

Be ye -- This verse should be a part of chapter 10. R4007:6

Followers of me -- Paul was a noble example of earnest endeavor to attain the perfect likeness of Christ, and his love, zeal, and earnestness in striving to copy him and accomplish his will should be an inspiration to us all. R5494:5

In sacrifice of earthly interests, sufferings of persecution in the flesh, and self-denials in the interests of the Gospel service. SM628:2

Christ was filled with the Father's Spirit; Paul had a similar experience. R4458:6, 5375:6

"Doing good unto all men as we have opportunity, especially unto them who are of the household of faith." (Gal. 6:10) R5375:6

I also am of Christ -- It would have been strangely inconsistent of the Apostle to set himself up as an example except only as he was a follower in the footsteps of the Redeemer. R4007:6

Every Christian should strive to be a pattern worthy of imitation--a pattern of earnest, faithful endeavor to copy Christ in his daily life, and of active zeal in his service. R1886:1

Patterns of perfection, of the ultimate glory and beauty of holiness, we cannot expect to be in the present life; such is only in Christ. In no such sense did Paul ever say; Follow me, or, Follow us. R1886:4

1 Corinthians 11:3

The head -- Which is the chief member--the member in which inheres the right of leadership and authority. R1549:6, 1075:2*, 765:1*

The relationship of man to Christ and of woman to man should be that of subserviency. R1550:1

Every man -- Believer. R202:5

Is Christ -- When completed and glorified, the Bride, the Church, will be the "helpmeet" of Christ, and will be to his honor and glory. Q803:1

"I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus." (Rev. 20:4) It is self-surrender to Christ on the part of his Church that is represented in this symbolism. R2844:3, 2845:1

The head -- The two sexes stand related to each other--man the "head" of the earthly creation, and woman a "suitable help" for him; regardless of the marriage relation. R1552:1, 1549:6

A woman should remember that she is not the chief, the leader, in the world's affairs, though there is ample scope for the use of her powers under a proper and generous exercise of the headship of man. R1552:2

A man should fully recognize, appreciate and accept of the help which a woman is capable of rendering in all the affairs of life where such capability is manifest. R1552:2

The least prominent place should be taken by the sisters in public service. Q662:4

The woman -- A symbol of the Church. F270

"The glory of the man" (verse 7) in all the natural relationships of life, but especially that of wifeness, his worthy companion and joint-heir, his queen. R1552:2

A willing co-worker in harmony with his will. R765:3*, 1075:4*

So long as the woman's work is done in a modest, womanly way--with no disposition to lord it over the divinely appointed head or king of earth--let her do with her might what her hands find to do. R1552:2

As a general thing, a woman's special helpfulness is in the sphere to which her special work of necessity usually confines her--as wife, mother, sister, friend. R1552:3

Marriage means the union of these two recognizing each other as one. Q461:3

The progression, from lower to higher in creation, illustrates the progression in God's plan of the ages. The last work of the new creation, before the Millennial work, is getting a wife for the second Adam. R91:6*

Is the man -- A symbol of the Lord, the Head or Master of the Church. F270

As a woman who becomes a wife accepts her husband as the head of the family, so the Church accepts Christ as its Head. R2845:1

Man, in the image and glory of God, was created the sovereign of the earth. R1552:2

The husband should be the protector, provider and director in the affairs of life. R765:3*, 4098:1, 1549:5, 1075:2,4*

The headship of the husband which in perfection would have been a rule of love for the protection and interest of his family, in a majority of cases, became, through the fall, selfishness, fear and imposition. R1548:6

Some men will use this very scripture as justification of their course of selfish tyranny. R1548:6, 1550:2

The head of Christ -- Christ never claimed to be "equal in power." E49, 55

In all his works subject to those principles of action, and that plan of work which the wisdom and goodness of Jehovah have decreed. R1550:2

The perfect illustration of headship is in the relationship of Jehovah to Christ. In the one inheres the legislative, in the other a delegated executive power. R1550:1

"He is Lord of all," next to the Father. They are one in mind, purpose, etc. R296:3

Is God -- The Father. R462:6, 2985:3; E55

The headship of the Father over the Son, and the Son over his Bride, will always exist. R385:2*

There is no semblance of bondage in this relationship. Under Jehovah's supreme headship there is fullest liberty and the widest scope for the development and use of all Christ's noble powers. R1550:2

Not that he was the Father, but that he was the Son of God, who came to do the will of his Father in heaven. R5352:1. 2985:3

"My Father is greater than I." (John 14:28) R765:2*, 1075:3*, 462:6

Shown in the Tabernacle--the Mercy Seat, cherubim and glory light represented Jehovah; being the top or cover of the Ark, which represented The Christ. T124, 126

Every man -- In the public assembly of the saints. R3698:5, 2692:1

His head covered -- A man who covers his head in his devotions shows that he does not appreciate the divine Word on this matter. R4097:6

Every woman -- In the public assembly of the saints. R3698:5, 2692:1, 1549:3; Q660:6

The woman is not to usurp the natural position of the man as leader and teacher, to take that attitude herself. R1550:3

The woman did a work in the Apostle's days which was approved and appreciated by them and by the Lord. R1076:5*, 766:5*, 227:2

Prayeth -- If a sister engages in prayer at a cottage meeting, or family circle, she should wear a covering on her head "not merely her hair," as the apostle says, but also an additional covering. Q662:4

Prophesieth -- Speak. F272; R4122:5

Teacheth. R1076:5*, 766:5*, 227:2*

Prophesying publicly. R1549:3

In the social meetings it is quite proper for sisters to take part if the head is covered. F271, 272

Dishonoreth -- The woman who does not recognize the headship of her husband dishonors him and dishonors herself. R4097:6

1 Corinthians 11:6

To be shorn -- Women should not only let their hair grow long as nature provided for, but should wear a covering. F271

Let her be covered -- The condition of the Corinthian women makes clear the necessity of the Apostle's instruction, which among that people specially was an indication of modesty. R1551:5, 1549:3

To ignore such a custom would have brought reproach upon the cause of Christ. R1549:3

In the Church, the woman figuratively represents the Church. R4122:5; Q662:4

Indicating the subserviency of the Church to the Lord. F271

Representing her acknowledgment of the fact that the Lord, the Great Teacher, is specially represented by the brethren. F272; Q662:4

Illustrated by the bonnets worn by the underpriests, to indicate acknowledgment of the divine arrangement that the headship did not rest with them. F271; T36; R1076:4*

To cover his head -- In the home in which the husband does not occupy the place of the head of the family, he is covering his headship. R4097:6

Image and glory -- More properly, "the glorious image of God;" the first perfect man, not man as he is today. Q803:1; R1266:2

Woman is the glory -- His "help-meet." (Gen. 2:18) In the proper relationship that should exist between the two, this should be to his honor and glory. Q803:1

Similarly, the wonderful glory that will be manifested through the Church will be a reflection of the glory of Jesus. R4602:3; Q740:T

1 Corinthians 11:8

Woman of the man -- The headship of the man was indicated to be the divine intention in the creation of the man first and of the woman subsequently. F491

Adam originally possessed both masculine and feminine qualities, which were divided between him and his wife, when she was taken from his side. PD9/16

1 Corinthians 11:9

For the woman -- To be her helpmate. F491

A suitable help for man. R1551:3

Woman for the man -- To be his helpmate. F491

1 Corinthians 11:10

For this cause -- To symbolize that the Church is under the authority of Christ. F271

To have power -- Put a sign of authority. F491

*Signifies submission to authority; a recognition of God's order of headship. R1076:4 Of the angels -- The elders, who specially represent the Lord, the Head, in the ecclesias. F272

1 Corinthians 11:11

In the Lord -- United in the Lord. R1076:4*

1 Corinthians 11:12

Of -- Greek: ek, out of. R1269:6

By -- Through. R1269:6

But all things of -- Literally, "out of." R1268:2, 1777:4

Neither is independent of the other, but both are dependent upon God, the Creator of both. R1778:3

1 Corinthians 11:16

Contentious -- On the subject. F272

Have no such custom -- No such positive law in the church. F272; R1822:6

It should not be considered a vital subject; though all who are seeking to do the Lord's will should be particular in this from the time they discern its appropriateness as a symbol. F272

I have set before you the truth on this subject, through obedience to which you will have a larger measure of blessing of God. Nevertheless, do not consider what I have said as a law. This is an admonition. R4097:5

If anyone is disposed to resent my presentation and to argue the question and to contend about the matter it would be better dropped. R4097:6

Permit love to be the constraining power in our hearts and lives in all matters of small importance. R1822:6

About wearing the hair long or short. R1822:6

1 Corinthians 11:18

Come together -- Greek: sunerchomai, one of the 32 Greek words signifying "come," each of which has a fine shade of difference. B158

Divisions -- Sects. R1577:1, 538:2

Schisms. R4375:5

Grievous wolves will come in and among you will some arise to draw away disciples. Then it will be necessary for something to come in order that there may be a division or that the wrong may be manifested. Q723:3

I partly believe it -- I believe it respecting part of you. R2386:2, 2368:6

Where the apostolic rule of the advanced bearing the infirmities of the weak was observed there could be no division in the Body. It was when error began to develop in the congregations that Paul wrote this. R1576:6, 538:2

There must be -- It is evident from what I learn of the worldliness and error coming in among you, that there would of necessity be divisions. R1577:1, 538:2; NS374:5

The actual working out of the ideal condition of 1 Cor. 1:10. Q724:T

We must expect continued and increasing testings of faith and love, even to the end of the Harvest time; for in no other manner does it seem possible for the Church to be tested. R4375:4, 3015:6, 2386:2, 1279:5

Heresies -- Partyism. R2368:6, 2386:2

Sects, or denominations. R1130:6*

Factions. NS374:5

Permitted of the Lord. R2368:6

The Vow awakened such hostilities as to create a schism. R4370:1

There are some people who have the spirit of Satan. We could have no unity with such a one. R5229:5

The energetic and ambitious among the worldly whose motive power was selfish pride, vain-glory. R2368:3

These are active in planting "roots of bitterness by which many are defiled" (Heb. 12:15) and sifted out, stumbled, leaving the remainder stronger and purer. R2368:6

Which are approved -- By God, because they endure the tests and stand strong in the faith. R1711:5

True and loyal to the Lord and, approved by him. Q724:T

Those true to the Lord could not have fellowship with unfruitful works of darkness, but must reprove them. R1577:1, 538:2

The Ephesus stage of the Church is commended for its faithful, patient labor and for its discernment of truth and true teachers. R5992:3, 491:2

Made manifest -- The falling of the false that the true may be made manifest. R1919:4

Divisions are sometimes necessary so that the approved course and doctrines and methods may be discerned and the true teachers be more fully appreciated. R5981:2, 5982:3

So that whatever was wrong might come to the surface--that the inharmony of the situation might be realized, and the one in the wrong might be led to go out, because he was an intruder. R5229:5; Q724:T

It is needful that offences and divisions come, "but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh." (Matt. 18:7) R1279:5

1 Corinthians 11:20

The Lord's supper -- The word in the Greek signifies "an evening meal." R2265:6

1 Corinthians 11:22

Them that have not -- That have not wealth. R2932:4

I praise you not -- Reproving some of the wealthy brethren for improper displays in connection with the Memorial Supper. R2932:4

1 Corinthians 11:23

I have received -- Paul was informed by a special revelation. R839:5, 466:2

The same night -- On the night in which he was delivered up. R5192:2, 2271:5, 1290:3

On the 14th of Nisan. R3526:2, 2271:3, 1625:3, 1182:6, 1014:3, 465:3, 325:2, 211:5; NS74:6

On the evening before he was crucified, but on the same Jewish day. R3526:2, 4436:5, 1942:6, 1657:5, 1625:3, 466:2; NS74:6 This verse gives conclusive evidence that a definite time was referred to when Jesus instituted the celebration. R839:5, 466:2

Took bread -- A loaf. R5192:2, 2271:5, 1290:3

Unleavened bread. R1800:2, 5641:5, 2271:6

Our Lord as a man was living bread (literally, bread of life) which came down from heaven to give life to the world. R1014:5

"I am the bread of life." (John 6:35) R2772:3

Symbolizes everlasting life. R5192:4, 2271:6, 1290:4

1 Corinthians 11:24

Take, eat -- Appropriate by faith to ourselves, reckoning ourselves justified to all the rights originally possessed by Adam. R3548:4

Let us appreciate the pure, unleavened, undefiled bread which God has provided--and so let us eat of him--by digesting the truth, appropriating to ourselves, by faith, his righteousness. R5192:4, 2272:1, 1800:6

If you incline to feel discouraged, go partake of the broken loaf, asking the Lord for a fresh realization of your justification, and a fresh appreciation of your consecration to be sacrificed with him. R5193:2

This is my body -- Represents the flesh of the antitypical Lamb. F464; R3960:5, 2271:6; NS75:3

He could not have meant that it was actually his literal body, for he was still in the flesh. R3879:5, 5542:4

Which is broken -- None can have eternal life except by partaking of this broken body. R2291:4

Also the broken body of the Church. R4436:4

For you -- On your behalf. R5192:2, 2271:5, 1290:3

This do -- And do it intelligently. R1016:5, 900:4

Only on its anniversary. R466:2, 5192:1, 2271:2; NS76:1

In remembrance -- For commemoration. R5192:1, 2271:4, 1290:2

Of our Lord's death as our Passover Lamb. R3960:5, 3751:2, 3013:6, 619:6, 325:2, 211:5

The Memorial followed the Paschal Supper--a separate institution designed to take its place. R2291:5; NS75:6

The Supper which our Lord instituted as a remembrancer of his great sacrifice is striking in its appropriateness and simplicity. The world's great men have different means of perpetuating their memories. R5191:1, 2270:2, 1289:1

1 Corinthians 11:25

He -- Our Lord. R1014:2

Took the cup -- Signifying our participation in the Lord's dishonor, our share in his sacrifice--the death of our humanity. R5192:6, 2272:3

Representing the crushing of the grapes, the blood of the grapes, the Master's blood, his life poured out, sacrificed, and our lives with him. R3880:3, 4475:2

The juice of the grape not only speaks of the crushing till blood comes forth, but also an after refreshment--when we drink the new wine with him in the Kingdom. R5192:6, 2272:3

When he had supped -- These words show that the Lord Jesus drank of this very cup first. PT382:2

The records in the Gospels leave the matter of our Lord's drinking of the cup indefinite, though they clearly intimate that he first drank and then gave to his disciples. But Paul makes the matter positive. R4436:5, 4475:2

New testament -- New Covenant. R1336:1*, 2859:1; NS76:1

The New Covenant cannot be made operative until all the members of the Body shall have died, when the great High Priest's "better sacrifice" shall be finished. R4310:3

In my blood -- The evidence of death. R1336:1*

The shed blood was the ransom price for all. R5192:5, 2272:2, 1800:6, 1336:1*, 1290:3

The blood which seals the New Covenant. NS76:1

It also memorializes the consecration to death of all the members of the Body of Christ. R4980:5, 4563:4

This do ye -- Celebrate the Memorial of the Passover season. R5641:4, 5542:3, 3961:3, 325:2

As oft -- Whenever. R1014:2

Annually. R1786:6, 5641:4, 5191:5, 1290:2, 1014:2

We esteem the observing more as a privilege than as a duty; and if we should err in the matter of selecting the day, through ignorance or misunderstanding, we believe the Lord would accept our intentions. R5192:2, 2271:4, 1290:2

As ye drink -- The "cup" was both Christ's blood or sacrifice and ours if we accept it at his invitation and partake with him. R4436:4

Remembrance of me -- Not any longer in remembrance of the typical deliverance. R3961:1, 4436:2, 1787:1

A celebration of the antitype, not the type. NS76:1

As soon as the requirements of the type had been fulfilled, our Lord instituted a new Memorial upon the old foundation. R3960:4; NS75:6

"The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" by whose death and blood of sprinkling you are passed over, from death unto life.
R1787:1, 4128:4

As often -- Annually. R4128:4, 5420:1, 3960:4, 1382:2; F465

As the type foreshadows it, and the sense demands it; we conclude that the Lord's death should be commemorated at the time he died. R211:5*, 803:2*. 325:2

Never oftener, and never less often did the Jews celebrate their Passover.
R1786:6

The annual Memorial Supper is not our feast, but an illustration or archetype of it--a remembrancer--most beautiful, most solemn, helpful. Let us keep the feast of faith and also the Memorial Supper. R4128:4

In the nominal churches, there is little regard as to when the Lord's supper is celebrated. R839:5, 466:2

Eat this bread -- Passover bread. R5193:1, 2272:4, 1290:6

The appropriation to ourselves, by faith, of justification to human life-right; and the sharing with Christ as joint-sacrificers. R5871:1

We show our communion or participation with Christ in death, as members of the one loaf, the one body. R619:3

Drink this cup -- Of suffering, shame, ignominy, the world's derision and opposition. R5420:2, 1302:4

Signifies our acceptance of restitution rights and privileges secured by our Lord's sacrifice of these; and our participation. R5871:2

The sacrificing must all be done in the present age. R1016:2

In the future the cup of new wine in the Kingdom shall more than compensate for any bitterness of the present time. R5654:5, 5871:5

Partaking of the emblematic bread and wine is only the symbol of the more important feast--our appropriation of the merit of Christ, which secures to us eternal life. R5192:3, 4128:4, 2271:6, 1290:4

Ye do show -- You declare the death of the Lord as your hope and confidence. R5193:1, 2272:4, 1290:6

Although not laid upon his followers as a law, and no penalties were attached for failure of its proper observance, the Lord knew well that all would be glad to take up the Memorial which he suggested to them. F465; NS76:2

The Lord's death -- Applies exclusively to the death of Jesus. R5341:5

At Calvary--the only death ever referred to by the Lord or the apostles. R5192:3, 2271:5, 1290:3

Till he come -- Till he come again. R4128:4

Till the last member is gathered to him beyond the "veil" to participate to a still fuller degree. F465; Q486:2; NS76:2

Speaking of the second coming of our Lord, the Apostle includes the gathering and exaltation of the Church. R5193:1, 4592:6, 3880:6, 3652:6, 2272:3, 1290:5

Until the Lord's Kingdom shall have come and he shall have called you to share the new wine, joys, rights, privileges of the divine nature. R721:2, 2436:3, 2272:3, 1504:5, 1115:6, 840:2,5

When the full harvest work on the age shall be completed. R5420:1

So long as the sufferings of the Body of Christ are not ended, and the measure of his afflictions not filled, it is both proper for us to fill them up and share the cup, and also to symbolize it. R619:3, 346:3

The kingdom glory being the end of the symbol. "I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom." (Matt. 26:29) R5193:2, 5420:1, 2272:4, 1290:6; F465; NS76:2

Since our Lord placed no limit upon the Memorial Supper observance, this expression is not to be understood as limiting the length of time in which it will be appropriate to commemorate the death of our Lord. R5192:6, 2272:3, 1290:5

We do not think Jesus meant, "Remember me during my absence." R619:3

1 Corinthians 11:27

Unworthily -- Ignorantly, improperly. R1637:5, 840:6

Any not fully consecrated to him and his service. R5420:3

Guilty -- An offender against. (Diaglott) R467:4

Failing to recognize Christ's sacrifice for their sins, the eating of the emblems implies their guilt as his murderers, in the same sense that the Jews cried out, "His blood be upon us; and on our children." R1016:2, 937:1
As the Jews made themselves guilty of innocent blood, so do all who now by eating the emblems say, his blood is upon us--unless they discern the Lord's body and blood as their ransom. R1016:2, 937:1

Body and blood -- The body broken and the blood shed, viz., the death of the Lord. R1336:2*

1 Corinthians 11:28

Examine himself -- As to his worthiness to partake of the emblems.

R1808:3; F474

See that he understands the significance of the emblems. R467:4, 1637:5, 840:6

Paul means only to interpose a caution to prepare the receiver to eat the Lord's Supper worthily. R1516:3*

Examine his heart, not his life. He that judges his heart, his motives, will, intentions, should always be able to find it true to the Lord, however much his life may come short of his new will. R1516:6*

Let him note the weaknesses and filthiness of his fallen fleshly nature and seek to cleanse himself "putting off" the deeds of the "old man" and being renewed, changed from glory to glory. F409

Now that God's people are emerging from the errors of the Dark Ages, when this Memorial can be more clearly understood, the judging of one's self can be more thorough than ever before. R5193:5, 2272:5, 1291:1

It was not the "clergy" that were to examine and determine who might partake, but each one whom the Son had made free was to use his own freedom and examine himself before God and in the light of God's Word. R1808:3

And so -- And thus, with an understanding and appreciation of its significance. R467:4

And then, if he think proper, let him partake. R5193:5, 2272:5, 1291:1

Drinketh unworthily -- Carelessly; one not consecrated; or one debarred by the Church. F473, 474

Lightly, irreverently, yet intelligently. R4591:6

Ignorantly, improperly. R1637:4, 840:6

A warning against a careless celebration of the Memorial, which would make of it a feast, and inviting persons to it in a promiscuous manner. F473

Drinketh damnation -- Condemnation, reproof. R5872:5, 5420:3, 4591:6, 2773:5, 1016:2, 936:6, 840:6, 467:4

Condemnation in the Lord's sight, and also in his own conscience. F474; R1637:5, 840:6

It is this blood, viewed from this standpoint, that the Apostle speaks in Heb. 10:29. R4591:6

Some, who take a wrong view of these words, may need to be encouraged to partake. They refer to those who fail to see the real import of the sacrifice and who recognize this service as a mere ceremonial form.

R5872:5, 2773:5

To himself -- Condemnation as sharers of the guilt of the breaking of Jesus' body and shedding of his blood, seeing that to them it speaks no forgiveness--no remission of sins. R1016:2, 937:1

Discerning -- Discriminating, appreciating. R467:4

Recognizing in the emblems. R1637:4, 840:6

The Lord's body -- As our ransom. R1637:5, 840:6

1 Corinthians 11:30

For this cause -- Through this lack of a proper appreciation of the true import--that it signifies our sharing in the sufferings and death of Christ--for this reason. R467:4

How careless and unappreciative of their covenant many of them were, failing to recognize their proper participation with Christ, to be broken with him and share his cup of suffering for the truth's sake. R2008:2, 1637:5, 840:6, 467:1

Many are weak -- This may refer to spiritual lethargy and sickness only; but not improbably also to the physical. The general object of many such afflictions is our discipline and reformation. R2008:2

And sickly -- A failure to appreciate and a losing sight of the truths represented in this Supper are the cause of the weak, sickly and sleepy condition of the church nominal. R1637:5, 840:6, 467:5

Sleep -- Gone asleep entirely, become dead to spiritual things. R467:5
Dead--used in full view of the ransom by which all were redeemed from the Adamic sentence. R2197:6

1 Corinthians 11:31

If we -- The Church. NS163:4

Would judge -- Greek, diakrino, thoroughly examine, criticize, judge.

R2430:5, 5519:1, 2008:3, 1471:1; NS163:5

Correct, chastise. R4870:6, 4805:4, 1938:4

Punish, correct. R5729:1, 5802:5, 1985:4; NS245:3

See that we live in obedience to God's will. R187:5

Ourselves -- Our thoughts, words and actions. R5586:4, 5519:2, 4524:1; NS164:6

When the infirmities of the flesh are cultivated. R1759:6

The first step in correction is to go to the throne of grace in prayer to obtain mercy and find grace to help. Another step is the imposition of restrictions and sometimes penalties. NS164:6, 165:2

Happy are those people who seek to punish themselves by some discipline, such as fasting. R5102:6, 5519:2

Some make the mistake in not giving themselves a correction in righteousness. A special blessing comes to those who chasten themselves, judge themselves. R4760:4, 5807:4, 5729:1, 5586:4, 5519:1

Whenever we find that we have been overcome of evil, we should scrutinize our own course, and not only feel contrite toward God, but we should right the wrong to the extent of our ability. R1985:4

Examine every step in life's pathway, measuring our conduct by the Golden Rule, comparing ourselves with the divine standards set for us in Jesus. NS244:5

It is easy say "I love the truth and the Lord's cause better than anything else"; but lest our hearts deceive us, we should measure and weigh our devotedness to God by our daily sacrifices. R874:6

We may advance more rapidly in the school of Christ by giving attention to the lessons set before us, by not waiting to have these lessons impressed upon us by divine corrections. NS164:5

Such co-operate with God in the development of their own character, noting their own defects and seeking to correct them--hearkening for the Father's voice of direction--ever seeking his approving smile. E233; NS244:6, 165:5
As a rule, if we were using our powers entirely and conscientiously in God's service we would not be so subject to sickness. R187:5
We should use a certain amount of leniency in judging even ourselves, as we might be inclined to judge ourselves too severely. "Yea, I judge not mine own self; but he that judgeth me is the Lord." (1 Cor. 4:3) R5519:6
Not be -- Not need to be. R5850:5
Judged -- Greek,+ krino, judgment or trial. R2430:1,5
Chastened of the Lord. R5103:1, 5850:5, 5729:1
Punished, corrected. F407; R4870:6
Reproved, corrected by the Lord. R1985:4, 2008:3, 874:6
If we neglect to judge ourselves, he has to do it for us. Then we are being chastened with a view to our correction. R5890:5, 5519:2, 4870:6, 1759:6; NS162:1
Require less disciplining by the Lord to correct faults. R5586:4, 374:2; E233

1 Corinthians 11:32

When we -- The saints shall not come into purgatorial judgment at all. R1469:5

Are judged -- Greek, krino, judgment or trial. R2430:1,5
It is now our judgment day. R569:3, 5519:2, 2405:4, 2398:5, 2008:3, 1397:4
The judgment itself consists of the innumerable encouragements and chastisements, rewards and punishments, corrective in their intention and results. NS162:4,2, 163:4

We are chastened -- Corrected. R2008:3
Punished with "stripes." R1985:4, 5519:3, 1471:1; SM315:2
Largely by the experiences through which our own faults put us. R4805:4, 1938:4

The proper penalty for our degree of wilfulness that we shall learn the needed lesson, and be more watchful. Q656:2; R5428:3, 1748:5; NS245:2
He will not spare the rod, because he loves us and because he has separated us from the world to himself, and is disciplining us for the glorious things which he has in reservation for the faithful. NS165:6
Some will need to come through the fiery ordeal, and "wash their robes and make them white in the blood of the Lamb." (Rev. 7:14) R5850:5, 4870:6
Those who are subject to these corrections will be liable to the extreme penalty of the divine law should they wilfully, intentionally, perversely decline the divine leadings. NS162:3

The instructions of the Lord must either result in our instruction in righteousness and develop in us the character likeness which he would approve, or else it must land us in the second death. NS163:3

By the Lord -- By the Lord Jesus. R2430:5

That we -- Howbeit. NS161:2, 163:1

In order that we. R2008:3, 739:1

Not to be condemned -- Greek, kata-krino, on trial with. R2430:5, 2398:5, 1397:5

Judged; tried and punished. R1471:1, 2435:1, 2398:5, 1854:5, 1654:6

With the world -- In the next age. R5519:3, 2398:5, 1397:5, 569:3; NS161:3

In the Millennial age. R2008:3, 2405:4, 1655:1, 1471:1; SM315:2; NS163:2

The judgment of the Church is totally separate and distinct from that of the world. NS161:2

We have escaped the condemnation which is on the world. NS357:1, 570:3

1 Corinthians 12

1 Corinthians 12:1

Spiritual gifts -- The "gifts" were miracles, tongues, interpretations, etc. SM572:T; R5093:3, 3153:1

Conferred upon the early Church for its establishment and development. R3150:1, 1695:4

To draw and hold them together, making them mutually dependent upon one another. R2203:1, 5224:6

These gifts were for two purposes; for the benefit of the person himself, and also for a testimony to outsiders. Some effective and convincing methods were necessary to the start the infant Church. R5786:2, 5093:3, 1422:5

The gifts were given for a witness; because the Old Testament was heard only occasionally in the synagogues of the Jews, and the New Testament had not yet been written. R4732:1

The early Church could not walk by faith as we do. They needed the assistance of sight; for they had no Bibles. Their instruction from God came through the gifts. R5224:4,6, 5668:2, 4443:1, 3153:1, 1422:5

Such instruction is no longer necessary, and is therefore no longer given.

We have the Bible. R5224:5, 3153:1; E179

We have no power to communicate such gifts today, nor have others this power. R3153:1

Ignorant -- The meetings in the early Church were not all of the preaching kind. Preaching services have given rise to a division of clergy and laity. Let those who have ability to preach do so in moderation; let them also help others to various shares in the service of the truth.

R3014:5, 836:2

No man can say -- Understandingly, from a scriptural standpoint. R137:6*

Jesus is Lord -- Hundreds who accept Jesus as Savior from sin have no real conception of him as the actual Master and Sovereign of the daily life. R2164:3

Diversities -- Divers operations. E178

Some of the gifts are departed, but the chief ones remain. We still have the apostles and prophets. These being dead, yet speak. R182:6, 3153:5

Gifts -- These gifts three purposes: Proving that Jesus had been faithful; that God was with these people, for their message to be investigated; and an assurance to the disciples themselves that God was leading them. R5224:4

Not fruits of the Spirit in any sense of the word. The disciples at Pentecost were not prepared to manifest immediately rich, ripe fruitage of the holy Spirit. R5224:3

But the same spirit -- The one holy influence. E179

1 Corinthians 12:5

Differences -- Our Lord has, to some extent, changed his administration, but he, as Head, is still ruling over his Body. R182:6

Of administrations -- Of operations. E179

But the same Lord -- The one holy influence shed forth by the one Lord. E179

Diversities -- These variations in the manifestations of the Spirit. R5224:6

Of operations -- The Spirit does not now operate by the lower gifts of tongues, cures, etc., probably because the ignorance which made it expedient then, has now given place to knowledge. R182:6

It is the same God -- Fountain of the one holy influence. E179

Worketh all in all -- Worketh all things among all. E278

The one Spirit working in the entire Church, to build them all up as various members in the one Body of Christ. R5224:6

The manifestation -- A measure. E185; R2736:1; SM570:1; HG404:2

Not the same measure, for all do not have the full capacity. HG665:3

One or more of the "gifts." R1998:2

The gifts granted to the early Church. E179

A portion, at least one talent. R2764:3 Though the special "gifts" are not bestowed upon every member, they do benefit every member. R732:5

The measure will be according to the degree possible through infirmity of the flesh. R4641:6

Of the Spirit --The appointment of all the servants of the Church is of God (verse 28), by or through the manifestation of his holy Spirit. E278

It is the same gift to all, the same Spirit amongst all, working in all of this class, and the duty of each one is to use this gift of the Lord for its increase. R2736:1

Is given -- Was given in apostolic times for the purpose of establishing the Church. R1998:2, 5786:2, 2764:5, 1998:2, 1422:5

Since the early Church, the natural gifts or talents which each person possesses through birth, education and training are accepted by the Lord, as being possessed by the man's new spirit, for his care. R2764:5; E180; F238

To every man -- Member. R732:5

In the Church. E185, 179; R4641:6

In the true consecrated Church. R2736:1, 2764:4

Every man in Christ. E179, 185, 278; R2764:4, 732:5, 373:2 Each had a responsibility in proportion as he had talents or gifts of the spirit.

R2764:4, 5225:1

In the early Church, following the Pentecostal outpouring of the holy Spirit, every consecrated believer received a gift or talent, and some received many of these. R2764:3, 1998:2

Any one lacking some special gift at that time would thus manifest that he had not become a member of the Church of Christ. R5668:2

To profit withal -- Thereby. R732:5

For his profit and for the general advantage of the establishment of the Church. SM570:1; HG404:2

For the benefit of all the members. R365:2

1 Corinthians 12:8

By the same Spirit -- Spiritual gifts to be exercised in the Church. R781:3

1 Corinthians 12:9

Faith -- The Apostle Peter, strong in the assurance that the Lord would work with him in healing the lame man, boldly commanded him to rise up and walk. R1421:3, 4732:1

To another the gifts -- Which, however, a man might receive and yet be sounding brass. F213

The gifts of the Spirit died out with the death of the apostles and of those upon whom they had conferred the gifts, but the fruits of the spirit were to abide. R5093:3, 1998:3; F213

1 Corinthians 12:10

Working of miracles -- Power to work other miracles. R5224:4

Prophecy -- "Speaking to edification, exhortation and comfort." (1 Cor. 14:3) R1549:2

Discerning of spirits -- Reading the thoughts and intents of the hearts. R1695:4

This gift was exercised by Peter in the case of Ananias and Sapphira, as an evidence or proof of his apostleship. R2943:6, 372:4

Divers kinds of tongues -- Unknown tongues. R1422:5

Some spoke one language and some another, of which they previously had no knowledge. R5224:4

The interpretation -- The gift of interpreting the foreign languages which the others spoke. R5224:4

1 Corinthians 12:11

Dividing -- No one had all the help the Spirit gave, but God divided according to his will. R67:4*

The apostles enjoyed all of the gifts. SM570:1; HG404:2

To every man -- Each should study how best to use his talents for the edification of his hearers. R1638:2, 5225:4, 1998:2

1 Corinthians 12:12

The body is one -- The Christ of God is Jesus and the redeemed Church. R751:3

For Christ and the Church have but one name, one body, one spirit. R1130:5*

Hath many members -- On the spirit plane. SM505:T

All under the control of the Head, Jesus. R5224:6, 2122:4

Unitedly constituting one body and each member dependent largely upon each other member. R732:1, 733:5

We are bound together by love and common interest. R1575:1

Let not the least member despise his office. R1574:6

That during the Gospel age God has been selecting a Church is admitted by all Christians except Universalists; and that a membership in that one Church can be secured only during the present life. R1570:3

But while we and other Christians agree that the Church triumphant is to be one Church and not many churches, there are parts and bearings of the subject regarding which we are not agreed. R1570:6, 1571-1573, 1579:1

Being many -- From the divine standpoint, a composite Body. R5871:3

Are one body -- Unity; the oneness of the Church, with each other and with the Lord. R3880:6, 868:5; F236

The only union of the early Church was of the spirit; their law for the government of each was love; and all, as a whole, were put under obedience to the "law of the spirit," as expressed in our Lord's life. R1574:4

The true Church are fully consecrated to the doing of our Father's will; one in aim, hope and suffering. R1574:5

If the entire Body could recognize its oneness and each use the gifts possessed, remembering that they are bestowed not for itself, but for the Body, how great would be the strength and vigor and present power. R733:1

Our standing before Jehovah is not so much as units, but as parts of a unit, which is Christ. E215

The gifts enabled the different body members to cooperate for their mutual welfare, edification and upbuilding in preparation for the glories of service in the coming Kingdom. R5224:6

The head of the priest represented Jesus; the body of the priest represented the Church. R5532:5, 270:6

So also -- One body or company of many members. F236, 444; R5213:1, 4841:3, 2479:3

Is Christ -- The Anointed. In olden times the priests were anointed with oil, as were also the kings of Israel. This ceremony seems to typify the anointing of the antitypical kings and priests. R4841:3, 5235:6, 5227:3; F443

As the anointing oil was poured upon the head and ran down the High Priest's beard, to the skirts of his garment, it anointed the entire body, (Psa. 133:2) typifying the anointing throughout the Gospel age. R5235:6, 270:6, 134:1

The will resides not in the members, but in the Head. R2479:3, 1574:4

The Christ, which Jesus the Head controls, and for which he thinks, plans and provides, using the various members to help each other. F73

The body of believers, the corporate whole. R1992:6, 1010:1, 48:4*

We have come back to the primitive simplicity of the early Church. The Lord Jesus is our Head or Law-giver; his Word is our rule of faith or practice; the holy Spirit is our interpreter and guide into truth.

R1575:1, 4136:1

1 Corinthians 12:13

For -- Linking the Pentecostal baptism with our individual baptism, and showing the relationship of the two. E443

By one spirit -- At Pentecost. F443; R5235:6, 5224:6, 1422:5

All received a begetting of the holy Spirit. R5213:1; CR230:2

Christian unity on the Bible basis. R5156:5; HG569:4

All who are begotten of the one spirit, the holy Spirit, are desirous of knowing and doing that which is right--that which is pleasing and acceptable to God and for the best interests of his cause. R5348:1; CR230:3

God's people are all one, whatever denomination they are found in. R5615:1
Are we all -- Both Jews and Gentiles. E214; R5212:6

Baptized -- The baptism of the holy Spirit was one baptism for the entire Church. F442

Throughout this Gospel age the anointing of the holy Spirit, which came to the Church at Pentecost, has continued, and gives an unction to all.

All that the world can see is the fact of this baptism. They recognize a difference between our spirit and the worldly spirit. R3712:6

One body -- As the human body has many members under control of the head, except when diseased, so the Church, as members of the Body of Christ, are all to be subject to the Lord as their Head. CR68:4,5, 463:3, 464:3; R5348:4; OV234:3

By the anointing the members may be recognized as one with Christ. R5235:6

The figure of a human body of many members, operating together for the accomplishment of one work, is a mental picture that is very generally made use of by the whole world; such as in the government. R5212:3; CR229:2

Into one spirit -- The spirit of devotion to God. CR464:2; R81:4*

Find the members of that one Body where we may we find them of that one Spirit. It is always beautiful. It is always separate from the world. It is always showing forth the praises of him who called us. R5316:2, 5213:1

1 Corinthians 12:14

For the body -- Of the Christ, the anointed company. A82; R5871:3

We should have missed much had the illustration of the Lord as the Head, and the Church as his Body, been omitted. R1387:5, 732:1

The figure of a vine and its branches conveys the same thought. R5227:2; Q810:3

Is not one member -- Not merely Jesus the Head. A82

But many -- This figure of a man refers to the Church, Jesus the Head, and the Church, his Body. Q531:2; R5871:3; F236

The Head has been present representatively through members of the Body upon whom he, in his absence, confers certain gifts representing his qualities and office as the head--the eye, the mouth, the ear members.

R1387:5; NS341:1

Every member of the Body of Christ is necessary; none to be despised.

R4207:1, 732:3; F238

1 Corinthians 12:15

Foot -- The foot is an important member of great value in the service of the Body. R732:3

The feet make progress and represent the mission work of evangelists.

R365:2

Hand -- It can execute what the eye could not do, yet without the eye, how slow would be its work, and how much of it useless. R732:3
The hands care for, protect, assist, and feed the body, and thus answer to the work of pastors. R365:2,5

1 Corinthians 12:16

Ear -- The ear is useful to the body advising it of the harmony or discord of the immediate present. R732:3
Representing members specially used to unfold prophecies and dark sayings, and to direct to the "meat in due season." R365:5,1

Eye -- The eye discerns; and by it, we mostly judge. R732:3
Representing members who look through the eyes of the apostles at the plans and works of God, and have not left these for the traditions of men. R365:5

1 Corinthians 12:17

Whole body -- The Church at any particular time is recognized as complete, having in it the representatives of the various functions of the body. R3668:6, 2845:6

Some at the first advent were more important members, representing the quality of eye, ear or tongue, hands, etc., while others were less important functions of feet, legs, etc.; this has continued to today. R3668:6

Eye -- Scripturally, representing understanding or knowledge; in the world, it is the symbol of intelligence. R732:4
The fact that some are able to discern points of truth, by the aid of the eye, should be considered a proof that such are fellow members of the same body, but not an eye member. R733:5
John and Paul had this quality through visions and revelations. R364:6

1 Corinthians 12:18

God set the members -- Divided or established the various members and gifts. R2203:1
The helps and counsels necessary the Lord provides. F147; R5508:3, 3153:5
Not by apostolic power, nor laying on of hands. OV160:2
Through the voice of the Church. R5305:5
God, through his faithful, still sets in the Church the various members, in proportion as they conform to his will and Word. R2985:5
The principle expressed in Psa. 75:6,7 is now operating in the Church--the setting up of one and the putting down of another. R5711:2
Teaching is not within the province of all the brethren, but only for those specially indicated by divine providence. R4122:4

At first, the apostles appointed elders and deacons in each city; but afterward the body members at each place, guided by the spirit of truth, elected successors to the offices. R836:3

Some have felt distress if not elected an elder or deacon; but they should remember that the Lord has the supervision of the affairs of his Church, and prominence, promotion, and control, are in his hands. R5711:3

The choice of elders would not be according to earthly preference or family kinship or selfish ambition, but the Lord's preference. R3276:6, 2985:4

A place and an office in the Body to which God himself has wisely appointed him, and which belongs to no one else. R2157:6*

We are not to think of the Lord's cause as being wholly dependent on us. We are to remember the mistake of Uzzah in steadying the Ark. Only the priest might touch it. R4207:1, 4376:2

We should not be ambitious for a high station, but humbly desire to be and do those things acceptable to the Lord. HG751:5

This is the only kind of organization or union recognized in Scripture. In this organization God can and does make choice of some more than others for the good of all. R836:2

Both the setting, or apportioning, and the bringing forth of the different degrees of fruitage are manifestations of God's grace in our hearts. R5284:2

To be a member of the Church militant will not prove that we shall be in the Church triumphant. R5245:6; Q119:2

The Lord will come to make up his jewels. There will be a setting in the end of this age, when the Church is completed. This began when the first resurrection began. R4913:6

Every one of them -- Even the Head. Our Lord Jesus did not appoint himself high priest. "No man taketh this honor unto himself." (Heb. 5:4) "God hath given him to be the head over the church which is his body." (Eph. 1:22, 23) R3276:5

There is plenty of service for each member of the Body, but not all the same service. R4047:3, 3152:2. 3006:3

The body would not be complete without every one of them, unless one should fail to make his calling and election sure. R5213:2

In the body -- All the parts are represented in any assemblage of the Church, the hand and foot, etc., as well as the various qualities which belong to the head--hearing, seeing and expression. R757:1, 1891:2, 287:1; NS341:1

Thus the Head of the Church is present with the members of his Body whenever two or three or more of them meet in his name; and the Body is complete and as effective for growth in grace, knowledge and love. R757:1, 287:1

Hath pleased him -- Each should seek to recognize the Lord's appointments in his own case, as well as in that of others: and each should endeavor to serve according to the Lord's recognized arrangement, only. R1894:2, 3276:6, 3005:4; Q844:2

Where were the body -- Where would be the symmetry? R1935:4, 1894:2
Where would be its perfection and completeness; and how could the Body edify itself in love? R733:5

Where would be the mutual dependence of one member upon another, which cements and unifies all the members as one Body in which every member is needful and appreciated. R733:2

There are eye, ear, foot, hand, and tongue members who have unlike services to perform for the welfare of the whole Body. R5321:6, 2827:1
Each member should find his true position of usefulness in the Body and fill what position he is best qualified for. R732:5

Let not the least member despise his office. R1574:6

1 Corinthians 12:20

Many members -- No one could serve in the typical High Priest's office who had a superfluous finger or toe, or one missing; indicating the antitypical priesthood is composed of a definite, fixed number. R5532:5; Q231:T

But one body -- Every member is to be nourished and exercised that the Body may be symmetrical, perfect. R1894:2

There is no evidence in the early Church that the elders monopolized all the time or authority of teaching the brethren and fellow members. R836:4

1 Corinthians 12:21

Eye -- A prophet, expounder; special teacher, a see-er through whom hidden things may be manifested. R732:6

Hand -- Teachers, instructors, who carry the bread and water and feed the flock. R732:6

Head -- The more able and intelligent are mentioned in contrast with the less able, by calling one class head members, (eye, ear, etc.) and the other class feet. R757:1, 364:6, 287:1

There is a work for every part of the body to do. The hand and the foot are connected through the head. The brain is in touch with all parts of the body through the nerves. R5213:2, 4047:3

Because Jesus is on the spiritual plane, the various qualities of the head are delegated to some members of the Body. R364:4, 365:2

Feet -- The lowest members which require the especial assistance of the others. R757:1, 287:2

Those who bear much of the weight and carry the Body forward over obstacles; the member possessed of money talent which uses it thus. R733:1, 2827:1

In the human body the eye, ear, hand, and foot represent the principal serving members. R732:2

To recognize that the Lord's people in every part of this age have been "feet" members of the Body, does not contradict the application of Isa. 52:7 representing the "feet" members of the present time. R2827:2, 757:1, 287:2

No need of you -- All the consecrated; not differentiating between the Little Flock and the Great Company. R4655:5

The various members of the congregation should be in positions where they can render the most efficient service. R5322:1, 3006:3, 733:4

Every member is to be considered, and no one is to assume a position over others. R4928:4

When the time for rewards will come, who knows how much of the usefulness of Paul and Apollos may be accredited in some of the humble ones such as Aquila and Priscilla, who supported their abler brethren. R3152:3

1 Corinthians 12:22

To be more feeble -- Most feeble. R850:5

And less important. R1935:4

The humblest. R3929:4

By far the larger proportion of the members are such; and their office in the Body is just as necessary as that of the more notable members. R2157:6*

Are necessary -- To the prosperity of the Body as a whole. OV234:4

And none to be despised. F238

And may be something in the service. R1935:4

And has a duty to perform toward other members, as well as blessing to receive by its fellowship with them. R732:2

1 Corinthians 12:23

Less honorable -- Ungainly. R4269:5

More abundant honor -- The most blemished members should have special care as well as the covering of charity--love. F236; R4269:5, 3929:5

"We that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak." (Rom. 15:1) R4269:5

As in our natural bodies we take the greatest care of the least pleasing members, so in the spiritual family those which are least attractive of themselves need our attention and sympathy. R3929:5

1 Corinthians 12:24

God hath tempered -- Seek to know the service God has evidently prepared each individual to perform. R5322:1, 3006:3, 733:4

Part which lacked -- If the congregation lays too much on the feet members, it is depriving the hand members of their use. R5322:1

1 Corinthians 12:25

No schism -- No division. F236; R5225:1, 4252:1, 1577:1, 732:2, 589:5
No split. R4252:1

No sectarianism. R5225:1, 2845:5, 538:2, 732:2, 589:5

No denomination. R1130:4*

Divisions were objected to in the one true Church, and all the apostles taught that there is one Lord, one faith, and one baptism. There is one fold and one Shepherd. R1577:1, 2080:4, 538:2 Sectarian love and sectarian pride should be unknown. R5225:1

Body -- Christians are a separated class--separated from the world, separate from sinners, separate from all others. R1577:1, 538:2

Have the same care -- The same love. R5225:1

For the most humble as well as the most highly favored member. F236

A mutual care and love which seeks to encourage and strengthen all that is good and discourage, by example and sometimes by a kindly word, all that is unbecoming; and conceals faults. R5557:4, 3647:4

Cooperate with each other, off-setting each other's imperfections, compensating for each other's shortcomings and weaknesses, seeking only the welfare of the whole Body. R5225:1

None is to be despised or hindered from having his part in the general work of building up the Body in the most holy faith. R4207:1, 732:2

Each doing the part designed by our Head, shall thus accomplish his will--the edifying and building up of the Body. R732:5

One for another -- Seeking to encourage and strengthen all that is good, to discourage all that is unbecoming, and to throw the mantle of love over deformities and faults. R3647:4, 5557:4

The whole living Church scattered worldwide should be knit together as one. Whenever there was opportunity the Churches sent Christian greetings and benedictions to each other. R1895:4

1 Corinthians 12:26

And -- Thus, in the true Church of Christ, which is knit together in love. R5557:4, 3647:4

One member suffer -- Pain, degradation or disgrace. F236

Is injured or not as perfect as others. CR41:4

The complete glorification of the Church will not occur until the completion of the sufferings of Christ. R4398:4

All the members -- Willingly, or unwillingly, are affected. F236
All the other members come to its relief. R5213:4, 4965:6
In proportion as they are more or less directly associated with him.
R3647:4
Others share the injury. R2845:5
There is such a sympathy and union and fellowship in the Body of Christ that each is intimately and deeply interested in each other member, both within a class and worldwide. R4965:6, 5225:1, 3929:5; Q68:1
Fellow-sharers in the suffering of the present time; to be fellow-sharers in the glories that are to follow. R5213:2
No member can be in ill condition without the knowledge and sympathy of the Head member, Christ. R5213:4
Special trials may be expected in the Church, amongst the brethren. R5118:3
Member be honored -- Rejoices. R2845:5
Is specially blessed, comforted or refreshed. F236 The honor and glory of one are the honor and glory of all. R5213:5
Just as when in an earthly family one member rises to honorable distinction all the members partake of the honor and joy. R3647:4, 5557:4
Rejoice -- Proportionately share the blessings. F236
Other members are comforted. R2845:5

1 Corinthians 12:27

Body of Christ -- The Church. SM45:T; R2859:5, 2080:4, 364:6; CR269:6
The Body of a company of anointed. CR346:2; R5227:3
"So many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ." (Rom. 6:3) F235, 436
In illustrating the complete subjection of the now crucified, will-dead
Little Flock, to their Lord, it is difficult to find a more perfect figure than the human form. R962:1,5, 732:1
Members in particular -- With various functions. R962:1
This is the mystery which has been kept secret in ages past and is still a secret to all except the saints. A81; NS740:6
We shall know the different members in the same manner that we can decide whether we are right or left-handed; by the adaption to the work, by the relative ability to perform any particular service. R733:3
Every member must be in perfect accord with the Head, that the great work of The Christ in the coming age may be accomplished. R962:1
144,000. The Church of the firstborns, whose names are written in heaven.
(Heb. 12:23) SM14:2; R962:4; NS341:1, 534:4
These alone will have part in the first resurrection, these alone will reign with Christ a thousand years. R4914:6; Q116:3
When all the members pass beyond the veil, that will be the completion of "his resurrection;" the first resurrection. R4494:2, 1855:1, 962:1
Pictured both by Aaron's sons and by the body of Aaron, he being the head.
R5873:4, 5532:5, 1008:3

1 Corinthians 12:28

God hath set -- Placed in position. R2224:5, 5321:6, 1524:2

Placed or appointed. R732:6

Set apart or raised up. R364:5 For the Church's instruction and edification. R1524:2, 373:2; E245

God superintends; he does not leave the result to human wire-pulling.

F237; R2141:5, 1822:5, 732:6

God places the various servants and we note the placement and bow to his wisdom. R732:6

We look for the Lord to set every member; and recognize character and consecration as essential prerequisites to a believer, before he could be "apt to teach." R1822:5

Some in the church -- Greek, ecclesia, the Body of Christ. F237

Congregation. (Diaglott) R182:6

As an aid to all who forsake not the assembling of themselves together. E245

The Lord's personal supervision and appointment of the various orders and grades of teachers and helps is clearly indicated. R1524:2, 5508:2

Many of the early gifts to the Church passed away but some were intended not to pass away until the Church should be complete. See Eph. 4:8, 11-16.

First apostles -- Twelve; Paul being God's appointment to Judas' place.

R732:6, 435:5; NS657:5

First, or chief, in the Church, as rulers and teachers of all. R1419:2, 435:5; HG311:4

The prominent and leading position of the apostles, as those specially empowered to minister to us in spiritual things, is clearly indicated.

R1524:2

Paul was one of those twelve specially commissioned of God and recognized of the Church as God's representatives. R1419:3; HG311:5

Though every member of the Body may declare the unsearchable riches of Christ. R1524:2

Secondarily prophets -- Orators. E283; R836:4; Q115:3

A discerner and expounder of truth. R733:3

Expounders are those who are used of the Lord in bringing forth from the Scriptures things new and old to the Church. This seems to be the "eye" quality. A see-er through whom hidden things may be manifested. R732:6, 733:3

Thirdly teachers -- Expounding and harmonizing the Scriptures. R1136:2, 732:6, 365:5

With the ability to make clear to others the plan of our Father from his Word of truth. R825:1, 733:3

The entire Church or priesthood is blessed of God through such teachers. R1136:3,2

Instructors might be termed the "hands" of the Body who carry the bread and water and feed the flock--either publicly or privately. R732:6

Jesus was a teacher sent of God. R364:6

The teachers or elders are specially chosen, though always from among the males. F272

God sets in the Body many more teachers than prophets, orators. R3005:4

\The gifts of the apostles, the orators and the teachers, are still with the Church. E207; R371:6, 1136:2

Miracles -- Powers. (Diaglott) R182:6

Healings -- Cures. (Diaglott) R182:6

Helps -- Assistants. (Diaglott) R182:6

Each should seek to occupy a place of helpfulness, helping one another. F306

Not many special teachers are necessary; helps, pastors, etc., are more numerous. R1136:2

Governments -- Directors. (Diaglott) R182:6, 1524:2

Governmental rule, order or law. Q103:2

God is the one we are to recognize, the one who has established the order in the Church. Q103:2

Tongues -- Unknown tongues. R732:6

Different languages. (Diaglott) R182:6

To supply their lack otherwise--the early Church had no Bible. R5265:2, 5224:4

Paul ranks the gift of tongues as the very last of all the gifts. SM277:T

1 Corinthians 12:29

Are all -- Implying that it will be generally conceded that this is not the case. E237; NS657:6 Teachers -- There is a special responsibility resting on these as respects the feeding of the Lord's flock. R4122:4

1 Corinthians 12:30

Healing -- The apostles in exercising this gift did not practice mental healing, nor even prayer healing. R1998:1

Tongues -- They were putting rather too high a value upon the gift of tongues. R4443:1

1 Corinthians 12:31

But covet earnestly -- Desire; prefer; exercise discrimination of mind as to which would be the best gift. R5265:2, 3046:4, 3006:4, 2203:1, 732:5; SM570:1

Be extremely careful to covet merely the Lord's favor and the gifts and talents by which we can best serve one another and not ourselves. R3046:4, 733:4

Earnestly desire or seek to cultivate. R386:2*

Urging all, without discrimination to sex. R1549:4

The New Creature cannot covet anything belonging to another. R4021:5, 3046:4

You earnestly desire. (Diaglott) All in the early Church aspired to be teachers and prophets, etc., hence the Apostle reproves them. R732:5, 182:6

The best gifts -- The superior ones. R3150:1

The Apostle thus exhorted the brethren while the inferior gifts were still in the Church. F238

The more eminent gifts. (Diaglott) R732:5, 182:6

"Specially that ye may prophesy (publicly expound)." (1 Cor. 14:1) E180; F238

Seek to use the highest and noblest gifts where several were possessed. R2203:1, 836:4

Speaking of ambitions, Paul advised the Church that they should have the more profitable aspirations, that they might be instructors of the flock; for this is the most useful office in the Church. R5321:3

Intimating that the gift of public teaching, oratory, was the most valuable. R5786:2, 5321:6, 5265:3

These gifts were necessary for the establishment of the Church. R5831:2, 3153:1

Things on the higher plane, the spiritual, the things which God hath in reservation for them that love him. R4021:5

The Scriptures compliment Jacob upon his appreciation of the divine promise, and his willingness to sacrifice earthly interest to secure the best gifts, which his brother despised. R2863:2

Show -- Point out. (Diaglott) R732:5

More excellent way -- An evidence of divine favor far beyond that of the gifts. SM572:T; HG404:6

The fruits are more valuable than the gifts, because they represent character and not merely powers. R5831:2, 5786:2, 5321:6, 2203:2, 1998:4

The fruits are far more to be desired than the merely mechanical gifts. R5265:4

Something still better than any of those gifts of the spirit. R3150:1, 5265:3, 5225:4, 2820:6, 2203:2; SM277:T This evidence will not be by our speaking with tongues, etc., but by the appearance of the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit--meekness, patience, gentleness, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love. R5549:6, 5225:4, 5093:3, 4732:4, 3153:1, 2961:2; E180

The Apostle shows the super-excellence of the fruit of love. R5668:2, 5265:4, 3153:1, 182:6

Chapter 13 pertains to this more excellent ambition which should actuate every child of God; viz., the acquisition and development of the spirit of love, the spirit of the Lord. R3150:3, 2203:2, 732:5; F238

1 Corinthians 13

1 Corinthians 13:1

Though I speak -- The conferring of the gifts marked the apostles as the special servants or representatives of the Lord in the work of founding the Church. F635

The possession of an unknown tongue did not imply that a man had reached a higher attainment and relationship of God. R4732:4, 4443:2

Miraculous gifts does not imply any greater favor of God to the primitive Church than to his people of a later day; it was possible for some to have the gifts without much of the real spirit of the Lord. R2820:5, 2203:1, 375:6

The period of the gifts of tongues and miracles was the period of the infancy of the Church. R2205:4

The gift of tongues ceased shortly after the death of the apostles. R4444:2

Ability to speak fluently on gospel themes, even, might not be a proof of our relationship to the Lord as new creatures. R3150:3

Men and of angels If the Apostle could speak all the languages known among men and the angelic tongue as well. SM282:2

These would still not constitute a proof of his harmony with God and his acceptance of life eternal. R4443:2

Have not charity -- Greek, agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:5

Godlikeness in the heart, tongue, hands and thoughts, supervising all the human attributes and seeking fully to control them. R3150:2

One might do these good works to have the honor of men. R5819:4

Where love is lacking results are more or less evil. R2203:3

The word charity is coined from the pure Latin word caritas, the h being inserted to make it appear as if the Apostle had used the Greek charis.

The translators accepted caritas as Latin for Greek caris--charity.

Caritas is from caras, dear, costly; and careo, to want. The only sense in which there is even a remote equivalent in caritas for agape is the love we have for things dear, scarce, costly. R2223:6*

As a brass horn will make a noise when it is blown, yet have no appreciation of itself, so some possessing the gifts might exercise these in a perfunctory manner and be lacking of the real Spirit. HG404:6; SM572:1

Sounding brass He might still have no heart in the matter. R4443:2

Lack the evidence of being new creatures, making a noise, but having no acceptable feeling or virtue in ourselves in connection with our words.

R3150:2, 2446:4

God has not glory, honor and immortality for brass horns and cymbals. SM282:2

Tinkling cymbal Paul testified that he might have gifts, or be acted upon by the Spirit, and yet be almost destitute of the Spirit of love and sacrifice itself. R375:6

A mere empty professor, lacking the all-important gift of love. R1433:5
The miraculous gifts conferred upon the early Church are not proofs of spirit-begotten conditions; a greater proof is the possession of the spirit of love. R2675:5, 2820:6, 375:6; SM337:1; NS350:5

The power to work miracles might be there and operate through them, and yet they might have no more relationship to it than the cymbals have to the power which strikes them. HG404:6; SM572:1

The gifts of the Spirit in no sense hindered or took the place of the fruits. F213

Since Cornelius, there have been no such outward manifestations of God's favor; but instead, the inward witness of the Spirit of the truth. R375:6

Ananias and Sapphira were illustrations of sounding brass and tinkling cymbals. NS350:6

1 Corinthians 13:2

I have the gift -- Given for a special purpose in connection with the establishment of the Church. R4872:2, 4732:1, 4444:2

Because the Church did not then have the Bible; the Old Testaments were in the synagogues. R4732:1, 5668:2, 4443:1, 1890:2

Many in the early Church who possessed the gifts lacked the seal and witness of the Spirit. E247; R5786:3, 2203:2

It might be that those having the gifts had merely come into relationship with God in an outward, formal way, and had made no real progress in spiritual things. R5549:6

The gifts of the Spirit died out with the death of the apostles, and of those on whom they conferred the gifts. R5093:3, 5225:4; E207

The gifts of the Spirit might be imparted instantaneously; but the fruits of the Spirit could only be had by growth. R2961:2, 2203:2

Gift of prophecy -- Oratory. R4443:3, 3150:3, 2446:4

Teaching. R3831:4

Foretelling future events; will cease, because the necessity for prophecy would cease. R2205:4,3

Mysteries -- Secrets. (Diaglott) R182:6

If Paul's knowledge of divine mysteries and all other mysteries were very great, superior to those of all other men. SM282:2

Knowledge -- The Apostle seemingly points out the dangers of those of large knowledge. R2446:4

The Lord still continues to provide knowledge in the Church. R2205:4

Knowledge without love would be an injury; and to consider it otherwise would imply that real knowledge has not yet been secured. R4920:2, 3145:1

We might have a great deal of knowledge and yet not know God and not be known or recognized by him. R4920:2, 50:1*

If the knowledge does not produce the fruitage. NS505:6

There is a kind of knowledge that cannot be gained from books, but comes by experience as a fruit of the indwelling of the Spirit of God. R78:5

The leading characteristic to be looked for in every one accepted as a servant of the Church, should be first of all the spirit of love.

Knowledge and ability should be considered secondary. R2446:5

Knowledge is a power for good or for evil, and if a man does not obey the truth, the more knowledge he has the worse man he is. R85:5*

Faith -- That could cure all manner of diseases. R2203:3

The foundation of hope. R74:3*

Remove mountains -- Our Lord's illustration of the largest degree of faith. (Matt. 21:21) R2203:3

Charity -- Greek, agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:5, 3949:4

The great fruit of the Spirit. R5225:4; HG405:1; SM572:2

Permeating the heart and extending through all the course of life, and actuating and operating our mortal bodies; the real proof of our divine relationship. R2446:4, 2203:3

We should measure ourselves by growth in love, rather than by growth merely in knowledge. R4920:2, 3145:1

We should steer clear of two extremes: (1) Laying all the stress upon the heart and feelings and ignoring study; (2) Studying the Bible from curiosity or a desire to shine before others, and ignoring heart-development and a sympathetic entrance into the divine plan. R4578:1

One could not have a knowledge of the deep things of God without being begotten by the spirit of love; but one might lose the spirit before losing the knowledge it brought him. R3150:3, 2446:4

I am nothing As respects a share in the Body of Christ. R3153:4, 4443:3, 2961:2

A mere cipher, not a member of the new creation at all. R3150:3

Those who have received the gifts of God before coming into a proper relationship; if they lose the spirit of Christ are "none of his." (Rom. 8:9) R2446:4

One might have the gifts, but if devoid of love, is without Christ's spirit. R1998:3

Far from the condition of heart which would be fit for the Kingdom. If love be not the motive power, the greatest zeal and richest rhetoric and eloquence would pass for nothing in God's estimation. R2203:2; HG404:5; SM572:2

John and Paul had this quality through visions and revelations. R364:6

Any or all of these abilities would have no value whatever, would profit us nothing, unless mixed with and based on love. R4443:3

1 Corinthians 13:3

Though -- The Apostle says this in connection with the contrast between the gifts and fruits of the Spirit. R5786:5

Bestow all my goods -- The giving of all of one's possessions. R2203:3
Keeping back nothing. R3150:4

Even generosity is not sufficient. SM572:2; R5127:1; HG405:1; SM572:2; NS564:4

God would be more pleased with us if we did not sacrifice and merely maintained our relationship to the Golden Rule, than that we should manifest ever so much zeal in sacrifice and yet violate the rule of justice. R5430:3

To feed the poor -- Most of those who give to the poor have some love. R5786:6

It is still more important to feed the spiritually hungry and assist in clothing the spiritually naked. R5786:6

Body to be burned -- As martyrs at the stake. R4443:3, 5127:1, 3150:4, 2203:3; SM283:T; NS564:4

In some worthy cause. R5370:1, 5127:1

In the interests of righteousness. R5348:4

In faithfulness to the Lord. HG405:1; SM572:2

For loyalty to our convictions. NS564:4

Have not charity -- The great fruit of the Spirit. SM572:2; R5348:4; HG405:1; SM572:2

The principal thing of Christian character, the crown of all Christian graces. R2807:6; F406

The spirit of Christ and of the Father developed in us as the ruling principle of life. R5127:1, 5787:4, 4443:3, 3546:1, 3150:4

Proper love as the mainspring to the conduct. R3150:4

Before we can "put on love, the bond of perfection" we have many enemies to put out. R5127:1

Before we can make much development in the cultivation of sacrificial love, we must learn to have love of justice, righteousness. R5430:5, 5603:2

To whatever extent an act of benevolence is prompted by selfishness and a desire for vainglory, it will bring no blessing. R5786:6, 2203:3

All of these things might be done from selfish motives--to be seen of men, to be highly esteemed by men, for ostentation, for pride, or because of a combative disposition. R2203:3, 5786:6

Profiteth me nothing -- As respects membership in the heavenly Kingdom, as a member of the Body of Christ. HG405:1; SM572:2

Would not count in God's sight. R5370:4, 5348:4, 5127:1

All sacrifices and self-denials would be valueless in God's esteem, but with love as the inspiring motive our feeblest efforts are acceptable through Christ. R2807:6; SM283:T

If the motive behind the giving were not love, there would be no reward. R4443:3, 2203:3; SM572:2

A man might have some miraculous gifts and still be a castaway. R5786:3

If it is done from love it will be rewarded in heaven; and it profiteth also in character development for the Kingdom. R5787:4

1 Corinthians 13:4

Charity -- Greek: agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:5, 3949:4

Love is sympathetic, helpful; the Spirit of God. R2590:2

Enumerating nine ingredients: patience, kindness, generosity, humility, courtesy, unselfishness, good temper, guilelessness and honesty. R4443:3, 2203:4*

The Apostle, in this spectrum of love is delineating the various parts of the one great lesson of Christ-likeness, which is God-likeness. R4443:6, 3831:4, 3233:5

Love represents the full standard of the Golden Rule and the full character of God; for "God is love." (1 John 4:8). R5308:6 St. Paul's exhortation is to the Church, that special class called out. Their call is to a sacrifice with Jesus of all earthly rights and claims, and to a full submission to the divine will. R5308:5

Suffereth long -- Is patient with the weaknesses and imperfections of those giving evidence of good intentions; even with those who are out of the way. R2204:1, 4918:1, 2203:4

It cannot be quick, irascible. SM283:1

"Consider him that endured such contradictions of sinners against himself, lest ye be weary and faint in your minds." (Heb. 12:3) R2203:4, 2204:2, 4918:1

And is kind -- To the wrong-doer. F406

Even to the unthankful and the unholy, endeavoring to show them by example a more excellent way. R1330:5

Love is always kind, and cannot wilfully injure another. R5124:3

Sometimes kindness is prompted by motives other than love. R5124:3

A Christian should be kind, courteous, gentle, in his home, in his place of business, in the Church--everywhere. R4918:1, 3150:6

Kind methods, seeking to guard manner and tones, knowing that they have much to do with every affair of life. R4918:1, 2204:2

Our Heavenly Father is "kind to the unthankful and the evil." (Luke 6:35) R3150:6, 2203:4

Love might sometimes be regarded as unkind--it might be misunderstood. R5124:3

It is well to remember the motto of the old Quaker: "I shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer it, nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." R2204:2

Envieth not -- True generosity, the very reverse of jealousy. R4918:2, 3150:6, 2204:2, 2203:4

The success of others; seeks not to detract from their honor or to pull them back from it. F406; R2204:2, 1330:5; SM283:1

So that I can see others prosper and rejoice in their prosperity, even if for the time my own affairs be not so prosperous. R4918:1, 3150:6

The root of envy is selfishness: envy will not grow on the root of love.
R4918:2, 3150:6, 2204:2

But the old spirit in us "lusteth to envy." (James 4:5) E200

Vaunteth not itself -- To be a general critic, fault-finder and "accuser of the brethren." (Rev. 12:10) R2590:2

Is humble. R2204:3, 1330:5

Cannot be boastful and proud. SM283:1; R4918:2, 3151:1, 2204:3, 1330:5

Love that tends to humility, is not boastful; "saves a man from making a fool of himself by consequential conduct and by thrusting himself into positions which betray incompetence." R4918:2, 3150:6, 2204:3

Is not puffed up -- Not lifted up. R4918:2

To see the faults of others and to be blind to his own. R2590:2

Never seeks to make self shine by contrast over others. F406

Knowledge puffs up because of selfishness of heart, because we are more likely to be conscious of our own good qualities than of those of others.

R5124:5

Divine Revelation was intended, not to puff us up with mere knowledge of divine mysteries, but to build us up in the character-likeness of our

Redeemer and of our Father. R4578:1

All giving evidence of lording it over God's heritage, should be passed by as servants. They are unsafe teachers, and are likely to do more harm than good with whatever knowledge they may possess. R2446:5

1 Corinthians 13:5

Itself unseemly -- Discourteously, impolitely. R3151:1, 2204:3

Immoderately. It has no extreme and selfish desires and avoids extreme methods. F406

Unbecomingly. It is consistent with its profession in all its actions.

R1330:5

Will not be ungracious, unkind, rude. SM284:T; R1330:5

Politeness has been defined as love in trifles; Courtesy love in little things. R4918:2, 3151:1, 2204:3

Pride is the root out of which grows most of the unseemly conduct and boorishness so common to those who think themselves somebody either intellectually or financially. R4918:2, 2204:3

Seeketh not her own -- Greek: heautou, as in "Shall not speak of himself." (John 16:13) In our common version heautou is rendered in the masculine, feminine, common and neuter genders. E170, 171

Rights. R3862:5, 3151:1

Her own interests, exclusively. R4918:3, 3151:1, 2204:3

He who is full of the Spirit of love will not be selfish, grasping, neglectful of the interests of others. SM284:T; R4785:6, 3862:5, 2203:4, 1330:5

Not take unjust advantage of others, and rather suffer a wrong than do a wrong. R4918:3, 3151:1

Does not covet the honors and wealth or fame of others, but delights to see them blessed, and would rather add to than detract from these blessings. F406

Put into exercise, this element of love would have a great influence upon all the affairs of life, inside as well as outside the home and family.

R4918:3, 2204:3

Not easily -- Not unjustly. R5603:2

Easily is not in the original. R3151:1

Provoked -- Irritated, roused to anger, exasperated, worked up into a passion where evil looks, words and sentiments are involved. R3151:2, 5604:1, 5603:1, 5125:5, 4918:2, 2204:4; SM284:T

Not bad tempered, fretful, bad humored, touchy, quick to take offense.

R4918:4, 2204:4

Endeavors to make due allowance for the weaknesses of others. R1330:5

Is longsuffering, not unjustly provoked, will not readily take offense, but will think kindly and sympathetically of others. R5604:1, 5979:5, 5603:1

Is very patient with others. R5124:6, 5125:2

Kind and forbearing one with another, seeking to put the kindest construction upon the words, actions and natural tendencies of others, remembering our own peculiarities and foibles. R5603:5

Remembering the present distress of the entire race through the fall, it is sympathetic rather than angry. F406

However much natural depravity and heredity and nervous disorders may tend toward the spirit of fretfulness, taciturnity and touchiness, we must oppose this disposition to evil in our flesh. R4918:4, 2204:4

Righteous anger--a just indignation aroused by our love for the principles of righteousness--is not incompatible with love. R5603:1, 5978:5, 4918:4, 3151:2

It required the act of intentional disobedience on the part of father Adam to provoke God to anger. R5978:6, 5603:2

Thinketh no evil -- Guilelessness. R2203:4, 4918:5, 3151:2, 2204:4

Not suspicious of evil or looking for faults in others, not attributing to them evil motives. R4918:5, 5123:2, 3151:3, 2204:5; SM284:T

Is slow to impute evil motives, and anxious to see and to foster every good intent. R1330:5

Love filling our hearts will not only hinder evil conduct and injurious words, but will prevent evil thoughts. R5123:2

It not only will not invent and imagine evil, but is so disposed to give the benefit of any doubt that "evil surmisings" are foreign to it. F406
"Taketh not account of evil." (Revised Version) Holds no grudges, does not charge up the wrong against the evil-doer; but may, however, withhold cordiality in the interests of the wrong-doer. R3151:3, 4918:5

It is an old adage that "faults are thick where love is thin." R3151:2, 4918:5, 2204:5

Evil has been surmised against people without a shadow of proof. R5266:4

Love does not surmise evil--not that love is blind to evil. R5266:3
It does not treasure up animosities and suspicions, nor manufacture a chain of circumstantial proofs of evil intentions out of trivial affairs. R2204:5

Not in iniquity -- In in-equity. R4918:3
Is sincere. R2204:5

It is grieved by evils wherever encountered, sympathizes with all who fall into evil, or who are beset by temptations. So opposed to the wrong that it would not encourage it even if it brought advantage. R4918:6, 3151:4, 2204:5

He who has the Spirit of love will have no satisfaction in the adversities coming upon those who are even his enemies. SM284:1

Has no pleasure in either hearing or telling evil tidings, or evil of any kind. R1330:5, 2204:6

An opposite course of action from that of Balaam who "loved the reward of iniquity." (Acts 1:18) Some Balaams are in the ministry for salary and maintenance of positions, and the friendship of wealthy Balaks. R2204:5
In the truth Truth upon every subject, and especially in the truth of Divine Revelation. R2204:6

With rightness; delighting to uncover and make known noble words or acts, taking no pleasure in, but avoiding exposing ignoble words or deeds. F406
Even to the upsetting of some of our preconceived opinions, or to the disadvantage of earthly interests. R4918:6, 3151:4

To share loss, persecution, distress or whatever may come against the truth or its servants. R4919:1, 2204:6

Delights in God's truth and its fruitage of developed holiness. R1330:5

1 Corinthians 13:7

Bearth all things -- Is impregnable against the assaults of evil; resists impurity, sin and everything contrary to love. Willing to endure, for the cause of God, reproaches, reproofs, insults, losses, misrepresentations and death. R4919:1, 3151:4, 2205:1

Enduring pressure on every side without being crushed. R4444:1

The elements of patience and gentleness are love in the sense of willingness to bear, to endure under all sorts of opposition. R4443:6

We are not able to read the heart, and hence we are to think kindly and generously of God's family. R5843:2, 5430:3

Covers all things. Makes due allowance for the weaknesses of the flesh. R1330:5, 5843:2

Covereth; as with a mantle of sympathy--for nobody and nothing is perfect, so as to stand full inspection. F406

In all persons there are certain qualities that may be esteemed and appreciated; even as the old lady said that she could wish that others had as much perseverance as Satan. R5843:2

Believeth all things -- Is not disposed to dispute claims of good intention, but rather to accept them. F406

Believes in the conquering power of love to help the weak and erring in the struggle against sin. R1330:6

That would rather believe good than evil about everybody. R3151:4; SM284:1

It is not suspicious, but on the contrary disposed to be trustful.

R2205:1, 4443:6, 1269:4

Unwilling to impute evil to another unless forced to do so by indisputable evidence. R4919:1, 5123:1, 3151:4; F407

It acts on the principle that it is better to be deceived a hundred times, than to go through life soured by a distrustful suspicious mind; far better than to wrongly accuse or suspicion even one person unjustly.

R2205:1, 5123:1, 4919:2

Full of faith in the divine promises and arrangement, doubting nothing.

R4444:1

Not absolutely all things; not falsehood, hypocrisy and deceit. R1777:6, 1269:4

Hopeth all things -- Hoping always for the best outcome in respect to all with whom he may have to do. SM284:1; R4919:4

Love's hopefulness knows no despair, for it is anchored to the Rock of Ages. R4919:4, 2205:1

Persevering in unfavorable conditions, and continuing to hope and labor for those who need help. R4919:4, 3151:4, 2205:1

Desires a blessing for all, and is continually striving to do good. R4443:6

Perfect love toward God enables the heart to be full of confidence toward the Almighty One, in whose love it reposes. R4444:1

Disputing the thought of total depravity as long as possible. F406

Not absolutely all things; but favorably in all that we can so far as we are ignorant of the matter in question. R1269:4

Endureth all things Endures under all sorts of opposition. R4443:6

Endures the necessary reproach and trials of faith and patience in the careful endeavor to build up and strengthen the weak. R1330:6

Continues to hope for the best in regards to all and to strive for the best and that with perseverance; not easily discouraged. R3151:4, 4919:4

It is impossible to fix a limit where it would refuse the truly repentant one. F406

It cannot be quenched wherever there is anything that it can properly exercise itself upon. R4443:6

It is ready to submit to many unkindnesses and to credit these largely to weakness or poor judgment or fallen nature. SM284:T

The soul that is united to God by the link of love cannot be crushed or overcome because this is the divine arrangement. God will not suffer such to be tempted, above that they are able to bear. R4444:1

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." (1 John 5:4) R2205:1

1 Corinthians 13:8

Charity -- Greek: agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:5, 3949:4

Never faileth -- Will never cease; whoever attains this glorious character of love has a thing of beauty and a joy forever. SM284:2

The most excellent thing, the most enduring. R3151:5

Other graces and gifts may serve their purposes and pass away; but love is so elemental that, attained, it may always be ours--throughout eternity.

Love is the principal thing. F406; R5370:1

A growth, a fruitage which must be developed in the garden of our souls and be tended with much care. Infinitely higher than any of the gifts in which the early Church rejoiced. R4444:1, 2205:3; HG404:5

Love will only enlarge and deepen; it is a characteristic of God himself, and every perfect being will be an embodiment of this glorious quality.

R5786:5, 5668:6

The Apostle institutes a comparison between love and some of the gifts, which would lose their value as changing conditions would do away with their necessity. R4444:1

But Seeking to discourage a too great appreciation of the gifts and to encourage an appreciation of the higher things, the Apostle contrasts the two. SM278:T

After the first introduction of Christianity, the miracle-working power gradually left the Church, because no more needed as an introduction.

R1722:2, 5265:3, 1890:2, 605:3

When the Church was thoroughly established and the Gospel message in its completeness had gone abroad, there was no longer any need for the "signs" or miraculous gifts of the spirit. Q768:T

All of the gifts were evidently necessary at the inauguration of the Church, but became unnecessary after the Church had been established and the canon of the inspired writings had been completed. E179

The Apostle distinctly foretells the discontinuance of these gifts.

HG404:3; SM570:2

Miraculous gifts imparted through the laying on of the hands of the Apostles necessarily ceased when the last of the Apostles had died and when those died who had received these special gifts through them.

SM278:T; E207

The gifts were given by the "laying on of the hands of the Apostles."

(Acts 8:18) The fruits of the Spirit replaced the gifts, which passed away when the apostles and those who received the gifts died. R4872:3, 5786:3, 4877:6; E207

Many of the gifts would fail, vanish away: it was necessarily so when, all the apostles having died, all those upon whom they had conferred those gifts also died. E207; 5786:3, 5831:2, 4877:6, 732:6

Simon Magus and Philip the Evangelist, though granted gifts, could not confer them to others. E207

These gifts were necessary to the Church in its incipient stage, but were not intended to be continued beyond the days of the apostles. R1558:4

Prophecies -- The power of oratory. R4444:1

They shall fail -- Greek, katarego, cease. R2001:5

Pass away. R3151:5

Because the necessity would cease. R2205:3; SM278:T

They shall cease -- The value and necessity would cease. R3151:5; Q768:T

Being superseded by education in the truth, in the knowledge of the Lord and in the graces of the Spirit. F238

The Apostle distinctly foretells the discontinuance of these gifts.

SM570:2; R4877:6

No intimation is given anywhere that the Lord's people were to expect a repetition or continuance of tongues, etc. SM574:1

It is no loss to the Church of today that the gifts have passed away.

R1433:5

Some today have the faculty of speaking in unknown tongues, but this is of the evil one. Q768:T

There be knowledge -- Special inspirations of knowledge. E179

Of mysteries and the ability to expound the deep things of God. R2205:3

Miraculous ability to understand. R5786:3

Shall vanish away -- As greater knowledge would come. SM278:T

The imperfect knowledge of the present time will cease to be valuable when the perfections of the new dispensation are fully ushered in. R3151:5

As the perfect light gradually comes to all men. R2205:3

1 Corinthians 13:9

Know in part -- The very best informed now know only in part. R3151:5

None but the watchmen of Zion will "see eye to eye" (Isa. 52:8) until that that which is perfect is come. R344:2

1 Corinthians 13:10

But -- As. HG404:4; SM571:T

The Church would gradually come into a more developed condition, in which the gifts would no longer be necessary, but would give place to a higher, nobler, more certain manifestation of the indwelling of the Spirit.

HG404:3; SM571:T

Which is perfect -- When perfection would come in; all our gifts and talents are imperfect. R4444:2

Perfect spiritual bodies, like Christ's glorious body. A227; R4558:1

In the first resurrection. HG404:4; SM571:T

When perfection shall be attained in the Kingdom, and under its ministrations, all the partial and imperfect conditions of the present time will have been superseded. R3151:5

Then that -- That spirit of love, the begotten condition. A227; E250; R5095:4

Which is in part -- Which was at first more or less selfish, cumbered with the various hindrances of the flesh. A227; E250
Earthly education and wisdom do not enter into the Lord's call because much of it is error. HG746:4

Shall be done away -- Greek, katargeo, cease. R2001:5

With our "change" in the first resurrection, our conditions would be so different that many things highly esteemed in the lesser light and under the unfavorable conditions of the present would be valueless. R4444:2

1 Corinthians 13:11

When I was a child -- Comparing the gifts of the spirit with the fruitage of the spirit; the former in contrast with the latter were as the toys of childhood in comparison with the valuables of manhood. R4444:2
Contrasting the gifts of the Spirit belonging to the kindergarten stage of the school of Christ and the fruits of the Spirit belonging to the further developed stage of the school of Christ. NS350:6

An illustration of the growth which we must expect as between the present knowledge and attainments and those of the future, is of the child and the growth to manhood. R3151:5

Having converted from sin to God, learned of Christ, put off the old man and put on the new man, (Eph. 4:24) and having been renewed in the spirit of our minds, we are reckoned sons of God, babes in Christ. R1906:6

As children of God we have a period of infancy. R5151:3 Let us not be content to remain children long. Let us rapidly grow in grace and knowledge and love. R5151:3, 2205:4

To be a child in guilelessness and simplicity is one thing, while to be a child in understanding and development of character is another. R1972:2

"Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit, in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men." (1 Cor. 14:20) R1972:4

As a child -- The child in Christ has its own childish understanding, thoughts and ways, and his brethren in Christ should not expect from him the wisdom of the sage. R1907:1

I became a man -- Paul had rapidly passed from the early stages of Christian character to higher degrees of development. R1906:6

The milk and the strong meat of the Word were intended to develop the Body members until they all come to the stature of manhood in Christ. R4444:4

The maturer growth should find our first love deepened into a more steady, constant and enduring thing, not characterized with the gush and fluster of youth, but with the mellow benedictions of a more nearly ripened character. R1907:5

By exercise of the strength gained in active service of the Lord, we are prepared to receive more and more of the fullness of his grace, and so go from one degree of advancement to another. R1907:3

Ripe in character and learned in the wisdom of God. R1972:4

I put away -- The gifts of tongues, interpretation, etc., were given to the Church in its infancy and served useful purposes then, but might well be put away as the Church emerged from infancy. R4444:2, 3151:6, 2205:5
He puts away his immature conceptions, and becomes educated and advanced in the deep things of God. R5689:4

Childish things -- As members of the Lord's Body, we properly have made progress from the infantile condition at the beginning of the age. SM571:T; HG404:4

The more advanced the Christian, the more would he know that the gifts of the Spirit were merely like a childish plaything to be supplemented by the fruits of the Spirit, more valuable to the developed Church. R4444:4

We need to exercise ourselves to counteract the results of childishness and the mistakes of our earlier experiences in the family of the Lord. R5151:3

1 Corinthians 13:12

For now we see -- By faith. CR38:5

With all the light, privileges, and opportunities which we enjoy, both as respects the representatives of God through the Law and the prophets, and through the leadings of the Spirit in the present. R2833:6

This is still true, though, as it is a little lighter, this much farther along we can see better. R518:3*

Through a glass darkly -- We now see these glorious things of the future through a smoked glass, obscurely. R3267:5, 5804:1, 4444:4, 3285:2, 2345:4, 2205:4, 1536:3; CR38:5

Dimly. F113

The old-time mirrors gave but imperfect reflections. R3151:5

There is nothing to indicate that every matter of which the Bible treats will be seen clearly by the Church this side of the veil. R5804:1, 67:1*

Whatever clearness of sight we have at the present time we shall then find to be but darkness in comparison. R4444:4

Face to face -- We shall see clearly, for we shall then be like our Lord. R5804:1

But then -- Beyond the veil. R5804:1, 109:3*

When we get our spiritual bodies. R5560:5, 106:6*

We are nearing that glorious Millennial day. R546:2

Know in part -- Our anointing does not permit us to know all things at the present time. SM597:2

Shall I know -- With the perfections of the new condition we will see perfectly, know perfectly, understand perfectly. R3151:5
Including future recognition of friends. R2345:4, 678:4; Q592:2
There will be no barriers between, no misunderstandings, no false doctrines to separate into sectarian divisions. CR463:2 The gifts will all pass away in time, for when the Church complete is perfected, there will no longer be use for them as a means for edifying the Body. R733:1

1 Corinthians 13:13

And now abideth -- All through the age. Until the Millennial morning we shall need faith, hope and love. R4444:5; CR424:3*

They will continue forever because they are the three principal elements of a Godlike character. CR424:3*; R5225:4

Not the miraculous gifts, but the growths, the fruits of the Spirit. E207; R2205:2; SM278:T

High developments of divine favor were to be expected. All three the Church is to cultivate and to esteem as fruits of the Spirit, far above the gifts. R3151:6, 2203:2,5

Faith -- A correct faith, faith in God, faith in the precious blood, faith in the Bible. SM278:1; R4731:3,6

Faith may be viewed from two standpoints; belief and trust. R4731:3

A heart-quality of trust in the Lord; something that has been acquired through the knowledge of God. R4731:3

"Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." (Rom. 10:17) R471:4*

When faith shall be swallowed up in sight, there will not be the need of its exercise as it now exists. R5786:3, 4732:5, 3151:6, 2205:5; SM284:2

We shall continue to exercise faith in that we shall never lose confidence in the Lord and his goodness and faithfulness or in one another, but it will not be necessary in the same sense as now. R5786:5

Hope -- Faith in activity; well anchored in the hopes and promises given by our Lord. SM278:2

Hope springs from faith, and waits for the accomplishment of faith's object. Hope comes by experience. R471:4*

Hope will reach a glorious consummation, for instead of hope for the things God has promised us we shall then have them. SM284:2; R5786:5, 4732:4, 4444:5, 4042:6

When hope is lost in full fruition, we shall not need it as now. R5786:3, 4732:5, 3151:6, 2205:5

We shall continue to have hope in that we shall always be looking forward to glories to come, but it will not be necessary in the same sense as now. R5786:5

Charity -- The greatest attribute in the world. R3862:5, 5093:3, 3949:4, 2205:3; SM573:T, 280:T

It will never fail, never fade, never grow dim. R2205:5, 5668:5

No other quality of character is so lovely, so beautiful, so productive of happiness and joy, so great a blessing to all upon whom it operates.

R5668:5

Love and righteousness are inseparable. R5668:6

Love includes every kind of gentleness and kindness imaginable, and love must be the basis of such conduct in order that it may have value in God's sight. SM282:1

Whoever would be God-like must have love as the dominating quality of his character and his life. R5668:6

In our hearts, we must love the Lord supremely, love the brethren, our neighbors, our enemies. SM280:1

Love is not a gift, but a growth, a fruitage which must be developed in the garden of our souls and tended with much care, in order to its proper development. R4444:1

These three -- Whoever has these three, with what they include, is rich in grace beyond all comparison with those who had the gifts of the Spirit at the beginning of this Gospel age. SM278:T

We cannot make any progress in the footsteps of Jesus without these.

R4444:5

The Church had faith even before it partook of the spirit of love.

Subsequently, the "work of faith: became a "labor of love." R4750:4

Faith and hope in the Lord lead us to earnest endeavor to develop the fruitage of love in all its varied and beautiful phases. R5668:3

Without faith, neither hope nor love would be possible; but love, by which faith now works, will continue when faith is ended in sight, and hope has been realized. R74:3*

All three are essential to vital Godliness. There can be no religious experience without these. Faith is foundational; hope and love resultant.

R471:1*

Three of the chief graces. R438:6

The patience of hope will continue to be necessary until the works of faith and labors or love meet their reward. R4750:4

Three essential gifts of the Spirit were always to remain in the Church. R1433:5

Throughout eternity all of God's intelligent creatures will exercise faith in his four attributes; will continue to hope for his marvelous favor to them; and will love him, his righteous laws, and his people. CR434:3*

Greatest of these -- Chiefest. R4444:5, 2205:5

The most important of all. HG405:2; SM573:T

The principal thing, the greatest thing in the world. SM280:T, 573:T; R5370:1; HG405:2

Because it is the divine quality without which, with all the other qualities possessed, we should still be unsatisfactory to God. R4444:5

Is charity -- Greek, agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:5, 3949:4

"Love is the fulfilling of the law." R4042:6, 3831:1, 2202:2; SM280:T
Love excels all other virtues, because it is the most enduring. R4732:4, 3151:5

Faith and hope are temporal, but love is eternal. R74:3*

It will endure throughout eternity. R4042:6, 5668:6, 4732:4, 4444:5; HG405:2; SM573:T

The most important thing to the Christian is the love which Paul has described. R4444:4

God is love. Since God was without beginning, so love was without beginning; and as God endureth forever, so love will endure forever. R4732:4, 3151:6

This love-standard of character, which is now being developed in the saints in the few short years of the present trial time, must be developed also in the world of mankind, but they will have a thousand years. SM285:1
Next to the Great Teacher's sermon on the mount stands this discourse upon Love by the great Apostle Paul. Both teach the same lesson; but they approach it from different standpoints. R2202:2

Suggestion to read Matt. 5:1-16 and 1 Corinthians 13 on alternate Sundays. R2205:6, 2234:5, 2240:1

1 Corinthians 14

1 Corinthians 14:1

Follow after charity -- Ardently pursue love. (Diaglott) R733:4

Greek, agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:3,5

And desire -- Cultivate. E180

Be emulous of. (Diaglott) R733:4

Our ambition and pursuit should be love, and if love for the Head and Body is cultivated, we will be honored and used because of love and service.

R733:4; F313

Spiritual gifts -- It is proper enough for you to esteem these gifts and to seek to use them and to desire the most useful of them. SM277:T

Ye may prophesy -- Publicly expound. E180; A55; R825:1

All the brethren were to seek ability to teach publicly. (Verses 31 & 39) R984:4

Choose rather to have ability as public speakers. Q527:T; SM277:T

Public speaking would be the most useful of all gifts, because its opportunity for influencing others would be the greatest. SM277:T

Those who find themselves possessed of the gift of teaching--ability to make clear to others the plan of our Father from his Word of truth, will thus be provided a grand opportunity for holding public meetings in school houses, halls, churches, court houses, market places, parks and vacant lots, to which the public might be invited; or private gatherings for the help of those found truth-hungry might be held. R825:1

The personally developed gifts are to be esteemed more highly than those miraculously bestowed. E180

1 Corinthians 14:2

Unknown tongue -- This gift of the spirit, to speak in unknown languages, was for the purpose of bearing witness to the truth to people of foreign lands. Q768:T

Some today have the faculty of speaking in unknown tongues, but this is not accomplished through the power of the Lord; it is of the evil one.

Their frenzied condition evidences that they are possessed by demons. Q768:T

He that prophesieth -- Public expounder. A55

Teaching or exhorting according to the measure of the gift of God.

R1549:2, 825:1

God still continues, to some extent, the gifts of teachers. R183:1

Speaketh -- This gift was specially notable in Peter and James. R365:2

1 Corinthians 14:5

That ye prophesied -- Because its opportunity for influencing others would be the greatest. SM277:T

The Apostle advised that they should have the more profitable aspirations.

R5321:3

Greater -- This would mean more of personal contact with the Lord.

R5265:3

God can and does make choice of some more than others for the good of all.

R836:2

May receive edifying -- The different tongues and gifts were all intended to minister to the Church for their benefit as a whole. R5265:2;

F312

1 Corinthians 14:8

Uncertain sound -- We perceive our privilege in continuing to give no uncertain sound upon the silver trumpets of Jubilee. R5715:6

Let the trumpet give no uncertain sound; there is a danger in the pathway of the preaching brethren--a little mote of pride. R309:1*

1 Corinthians 14:9

How shall it be known -- Let us not cultivate the habit of speaking in that irreverently familiar way of the Lord which is becoming common among many of the subtle adversaries of the truth, saying, The Lord told me so, as though he had spoken to you face to face, or through some medium other than what he has appointed. R1481:4*

1 Corinthians 14:10

So many kinds -- Some calling in one direction and some in another. The world calls us, the flesh calls us, the Adversary calls us, the Master calls us. R3163:3

Voices -- The Christian may readily enough discern the voices of the world and the flesh, and should be on his guard against their seductive influence. "My sheep hear my voice; and they follow me." (John 10:27) R3163:3

1 Corinthians 14:12

Of spiritual -- Greek, pneuma, invisible power or influence. E174

Edifying -- Some travelling and preaching the good news, some distributing tracts and papers, and some superintending the publication of papers and tracts, but all for the same purpose. R449:5

Unknown tongue -- Unknown language; for a sign, which was not to be used unless an interpreter were present. Q768:T

He may interpret -- One who had the gift of tongues should pray that he might also receive the gift of interpretation of tongues. HG404:3; SM570:1 Let him pray that he might be able to express himself intelligibly to those to whom he was speaking, rather than in dark sayings. R4732:4, 781:3* They should not only desire to speak in unknown tongues, but also desire to give the proper meaning, in order to be understood. R5265:2

Pray -- In the public assembly of the saints. R3698:5, 2692:1 Neglect of either private prayer or prayer in the congregation of the Lord's people is sure to lead to leanness of soul and lukewarmness in respect to spiritual things; unfaithfulness, coldness, death. R2692:1

Prayer is closely and actively identified with progress in spiritual things, progress in the fruits of the spirit; toward God, the brethren, and all men. R2692:2; F687

Pray -- All of Jesus' followers are to realize that they have a special privilege of fellowship in prayer. R3806:1
Paul exhorts those who lead the company in prayer to seek to do so in such a manner that all may be able to hear and acquiesce in it. R799:6
Prayer and giving of thanks before the Church is to be done in an audible voice and in a common tongue, in order that the hearers may be edified. R2023:5

It is evidently impossible, "seeing through a glass darkly" (1 Cor. 13:12) to always "ask according to his will;" (1 John 5:14) Our imperfect prayers have to be revised by our Advocate. R469:5*

Sing -- All were able to lift their voices in praise, in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs. (Eph. 5:19, Col. 3:16) R1890:3; F268

1 Corinthians 14:16

He that occupieth the room -- The worshippers. R2251:6

Say, Amen -- One who prays amongst the Lord's people should remember his audience in connection with his ministry, and perform the service so that he who hears may be able to say "Amen," whether audibly or in his heart. F688

Giving of thanks -- The thanksgiving of the congregation should be presented before the Lord not only audibly but in a language heard and understood so that all might be able to say "Amen." R2251:6

Understandeth not -- Prayer in an unknown tongue is of no value. R5833:6

1 Corinthians 14:18

Speak with tongues -- Those gifts ceased within a short time after the death of the apostles. R2764:4

The early Church thought very highly of the gift of tongues. R5265:2

More than ye all -- Paul had various gifts and declared that he spoke more tongues than they all. R5265:1, 4443:1; SM276:2

He did not esteem these his highest treasures nor the most noble marks of his being the servant of the King of kings. SM276:2

He had a greater responsibility because he had greater opportunities. R2764:4

1 Corinthians 14:19

Speak five words -- The Apostle gives them a warning reproof. R4732:4

My understanding -- In a known tongue. R5265:2

That he might be able to express himself intelligibly to those to whom he was speaking. R4732:4

Be understood by his hearers. R4443:2; Q710:T

This is a good lesson. We should speak language that can be understood; and we suggest that all try to learn to lift up their voice like a trumpet. Some need to put on three or four trumpets. Q710:T

Might teach others -- Each should study how best to use his talents for the edification of his hearers. R1638:2; F312

Unknown tongue -- And not be able to interpret. R5265:2

The possession of an unknown tongue did not imply that a man had reached a higher attainment and relationship to God. R4732:4

Be not children -- Not as a little child in stature, nor in blankness of undeveloped character. R2063:2

The young Christian and less developed are likened to babes, to children. R2660:2

"Unskillful in the Word." (Heb. 5:13) R230:1

Infants can have no share under this Gospel call; but they will surely share the great world-blessing that will speedily follow the completion of the Church. R2660:2

Understanding -- Knowledge, character. R2063:5, 1972:2

In malice -- Having none. R521:3

Be ye children -- In humility, simplicity, guilelessness. R2063:2, 1972:2, 230:1

Humble and trustful disciples as God's little ones. R2660:2, 230:1

Though old in years and gray-headed, their hearts are young and preserve the sweet simplicity of childhood. R1972:2

The simplicity of childhood, realizing its need, confesses it and asks mercy, instead of attempting to deceive itself by philosophizing. R1972:4

We must continue to admit our own imperfections, continue to admit our need of mercy, continue to trust in the precious blood provided to cleanse us from all sin. R1972:4

Jesus represented the gentle, teachable, guileless, humble disciple by a little child. R521:3

Be men -- Ripe in character and learned in the wisdom of God. R1972:4

More developed. R564:3

It is written -- In Isaiah 28:11. R3962:3

Tongues -- A demonstration of divine power to natural Israel, used to establish spiritual Israel. R3962:3

1 Corinthians 14:22

Are for a sign -- Greek, seemion, a proof or evidence. D598

To the natural man, these gifts were the evidences of the possession of the Spirit and acceptance with God. R375:6

To draw attention to the Church and her methods until she had gained a footing and a recognition in the world. E180

That believe not -- This gift, which was highly esteemed by some of the Corinthians, was of the least spiritual; adapted less to the development of the spiritual Church, and chiefly useful with the unregenerate world. E180

The Apostle found the brethren of that time inclined to think of the gifts of the Spirit too highly, attaching too much importance to them. Some of them seemed to take pride especially in the gift of tongues. SM276:2

The gifts of the Spirit in the early days of the dispensation, were to convince, not saints, but unbelievers. R378:6, 376:1

Now the world has many proofs of the truth of Christianity which then it did not have and which made miracles and gifts necessary, as a proof that the teachings were of God. R378:5

1 Corinthians 14:23

Whole church -- This account of an ordinary church meeting in the Apostle's day could not be followed fully and in detail today, because of the peculiar "gifts of the Spirit" temporarily bestowed upon the early Church. F313

There are spiritual needs which require ministering to: (1) Instruction; (2) Opportunities for each to express his understanding; (3) Frequent regular meetings to present a different view of truth; (4) Each one, confessing with his mouth, his devotion to the Lord. F313

Prophecy -- You do not meet to discuss the unbeliever's doubts, but to confirm the believer's faith. R1868:2

That believeth not -- Sinners should be free to attend the meetings, but should be let alone to see the order and the love prevailing. F312

Convinced of all -- Even though he comprehend only in part, he may be reproved of his sins by discerning the spirit of holiness and purity in the Church, and may be convinced respecting his errors of doctrine. F312

1 Corinthians 14:26

Ye come together -- Opportunities for getting into sympathetic touch with one another provided by studies, and particularly testimony meetings bind together in the bonds of Christian love. R4010:4

Every one of you -- One or more gifts were bestowed upon each one who associated with the Church, for edification and instruction. R1998:2
Each may and should use the gifts possessed. R836:4

Edifying -- Building up the Body of Christ. R1893:3; F313
Being put out of the synagogues, the early Church had no access to the Old Testament, and the New Testament was not yet written. Without the gifts God's people would have had very little to help and teach them. R5265:2; HG405:4; SM276:1

1 Corinthians 14:27

Unknown tongue -- Which he had never studied. SM276:1

By two -- The message came through two persons: the speaker and interpreter. SM276:1

Let one interpret -- One gifted with ability to translate the message of the unknown tongue into the vernacular of the congregation. SM276:1
God would in this way give his people some milk of the Word, until the New Testament should be written and collected in an available form. R5265:3

1 Corinthians 14:29

Speak two or three -- Not more than two or three orators speak at one session so as not to have too great diversity of sentiment at one session. F268

1 Corinthians 14:30

If any thing be revealed -- If a revelation be made. R781:3*

Hold his peace -- Keep silence. R781:3*

1 Corinthians 14:31

Prophecy -- Teach publicly. R984:4

One by one -- Each may and should use the gifts possessed. R836:4
Be respectful one to another. R781:3*

That all may learn -- One speaker orate or prophecy at a time, and all others give attention. F268

1 Corinthians 14:32

Are subject -- The fact that the Father sends the holy Spirit shows that it is under his authority, just as your powers are under your control.

R372:2

Though "psalm, teaching, revelation, tongue and interpretation"

Verse 26) crowded upon each other, order was possible; and we may presume that the exercise of all other gifts were equally under personal control.

R781:3*

1 Corinthians 14:33

The author -- A God. R1133:3*

Confusion -- Tumult. R1133:3*

Sin is the greatest confusion ever known. R848:5

To charge God with being the creator of sin--moral evil--is going to an extreme as unreasonable as it is unfounded. If God is the author of sin (evil), then he would be the chief of sinners. R848:2, 3145:3

God is not the author of the confusion that now prevails in the world.

Surely conditions are not so in heaven. Sin, death, pain, sorrow, crying, graveyards, nor hospitals are there. NS547:3

"All his work is perfect." (Deut. 32:4) R3145:3

Saints -- The word saint is used to designate the truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1, 3828:1

The epistles to the Corinthians were not written to the debauchees, neither male nor female, of that time. A saint at Corinth meant exactly the same thing as a saint elsewhere. R3828:1

1 Corinthians 14:34

Women -- The women of Greece were very degraded and ignorant; Paul spoke to them with a degree of force which he never used in speaking to Hebrew or Roman Christian women. R1550:5, 1551:5

Christianity, then, as now, did not generally make its converts among the great men and philosophers, but among the poor classes--the common people.

R1551:4

In order that all may see clearly the conditions which necessitated the Apostle's seemingly harsh language to the women of the Corinthian church, a few brief quotations from noted authors, showing the state of society in Corinth, Ephesus, and the principal cities of the Greek civilization of that time are given. R1550:6, 1551:1-5

Keep silence -- He probably had reference to the public gatherings at which it was the custom to have more or less debate. R227:3, 1076:5*, 766:5*

It is sophistry, false reasoning, to say that Paul would not have expressed the same limitations of the sisters in public services of the Church to other congregations and that his words do not apply at the present time. R3827:6

There would be no violation of the Apostle's injunction in the sisters' taking part in a Berean study. If there are no consecrated or competent brethren present, the sisters might lead a Berean class. R5922:5

To force the application of this instruction upon the whole Church during the entire age, would do violence to the general tenor of Scripture teaching with reference to woman's service as a helpmate. R1550:5 We, the spouse of Christ, are not to dispute or instruct in the Church, but listen to the voice of our Head; give ear to his word. R194:1; Q662:2

Churches -- Congregations. R227:3, 1076:5*, 766:5*

At the meetings of the Church. R1550:5

Speaking of the Church, not of the family. It is right that the mother should instruct the family. Q662:2

Unto them to speak -- At regular preaching services. F268, 269

The unlearned and illiterate women of those days, especially in Corinth, were not to interrupt and confuse the meetings. R1890:2, 1550:5, 1551:4

In the more public meetings the sisters would do well to take a secondary place and be comparatively quiet. At small meetings, it would not be wrong for a sister to ask a question, to bring out a truth. Q662:2, 661:1

1 Corinthians 14:35

Ask their husbands -- Or more properly, their own men; or make queries through those with whom they were most intimately acquainted. F269; R1550:5

The women were inclined to disturb the meetings by asking unprofitable questions, which their husbands could answer at home with the simple instruction which they needed. R1551:4

Home -- Has the significance of family or acquaintanceship. F269

It is a shame -- An improper thing. R1551:4

Because any publicity of their women was so regarded there and then; and because they were unfitted to speak intelligently. R1550:5

For women -- Evidently some in the Church at Corinth favored the "women's rights" idea, claiming that in the Church the rights of the sexes were indiscriminate. F269

The Church at Corinth seemed to feel itself superior to the other congregations, and desired to grasp liberties for its women which the other Churches never thought of. R3828:1

Speak in the church -- And to disturb its proper, orderly worship, etc. R1551:4

1 Corinthians 14:36

What? -- The Apostle reprimands their audacity in thinking to inaugurate a procedure not recognized by others of the Lord's people. F269

Word -- Message. F269

Out from you -- Did it originate with you? Are we to look to the Christians at Corinth as the expounders of the message? R3828:1; F269

Or came it unto you -- From elsewhere. F269

Did you not receive the Gospel as others received it? Do you not admit that you were not the originators of it? You have, therefore, nothing whatever to do with adding to or changing its regulations. R3828:1

Only -- Merely. R3828:1

"The faith once delivered to the saints" (Jude 3) is not a variable but a fixed one. R3828:1

1 Corinthians 14:37

Spiritual -- The caution was sometimes given that the spiritually minded would receive the Lord's counsel through his mouthpieces, the apostles. R1822:2

Commandments of the Lord -- And not merely my personal opinions, or crotchets. F269

Paul's writings are specially inspired. R435:2, 434:2*

We then, no more than the Corinthians, are to exercise our own preferences or judgments on this subject, but are to bow to the Apostle's statements as the Lord's command. F269

1 Corinthians 14:39

Brethren -- All the brethren. R984:4

Covet -- Seek ability to. R984:4

Prophesy -- Teach publicly. R984:4

1 Corinthians 14:40

Let all things -- Especially the selection of elders. R1890:4

Each one should learn to attend to his own business, and not interfere with others, and in this way will the work prosper, by each one attending to his own part of the work. Q526:T

In this chapter, Paul laid down some very necessary rules and regulations. R1550:5

With a view to the building up of the Body of Christ. R1893:3; F313

Decently -- In a becoming manner. (Diaglott) R1133:3*

And in order -- According to order. (Diaglott) R1133:3*

In order that the meetings of the early Church should be profitable an orderly arrangement of their affairs was enjoined by the apostles, and acted upon by the various companies of believers. R1890:2

The whole service was to be characterized by becoming dignity, sobriety and solemnity; yet with the greatest simplicity, all, from time to time, taking part in edifying and building up the Body of Christ. R1890:3

Becoming acquainted with each other, they were able to bear one another's burdens, and together to advance in Christian growth and development, their means of edification being supplied by the Lord, and their orderly methods through the advice of the apostles. R1890:3

While order in the exercises of meetings was indicated, and was acted upon by the Church, there was also an order in the leadership and various duties of the Church. R1890:3

If this order was necessary to the spiritual prosperity of the early Church, and was so authoritatively enjoined and universally adopted, we believe that the same necessity for order and for the appointment of elders exists today. R1890:4

The simple order of the early Church proved a blessing; and the Lord established a precedent in acknowledging the arrangement, when, in his revelation to the seven churches in Asia, he addressed his messengers through their representative elders, "angels," messengers or servants. R1893:2

The objects to be sought in the assemblies of the saints and the ministry of the elders, etc. were: (1) Training schools for present and future service; (2) For edifying the Body of Christ. R1894:3, 1893:3, 781:2*

It was the Lord's design that the whole Church, scattered over the world, should be knit together as one; all subject to the same regulations, having "one Lord, one faith, one baptism." (Eph. 4:5) R1895:4

The Scriptural order, and not the order of Babylon, which exalts a class of lords over God's heritage and ignores the true Head of the Church. R1893:3, 836:2

The fact that we have escaped from the bondage of Babylon, is no reason why we should discard all order and system in our affairs. R1893:1

The Church at Corinth was in a very disorderly condition, and their assemblies were often confused and unprofitable. R1550:5

When approaching Babylon on any errand, we must be sure that we give no occasion for criticism as evildoers. We must not present the truth through lawless means. R1133:3*

1 Corinthians 15

1 Corinthians 15:1

Brethren -- This chapter is an inspired treatise on the topic of the resurrection. In it the Apostle sets forth practically every phase and point relating to this momentous subject. Q819:4; HG137:1

He was writing to those who believed in the resurrection of Jesus, but who disbelieved in the necessity for their own resurrection. R4175:4

He was not addressing the world, but the "sanctified in Christ Jesus." (1 Cor. 1:2) R3174:6; F694

The clearest and most explicit account of the resurrection to be found anywhere in the Scriptures. Paul commences with Jesus and his resurrection and shows that we have many and reliable witnesses. R95:1

He outlines the great plan of God showing the importance of the resurrection, not only for Jesus but also for all who ever shall be blessed through him. R3564:1; HG227:5

Evidently assaults had been made upon the faith of the Church at Corinth respecting the resurrection of the dead. F456

It is because he recognized so clearly the matter of the resurrection of the soul, and not the body, that Paul stated himself so positively in this chapter. R2794:6

Gospel -- Good tidings. R4994:6, 1204:1

Paul declares the resurrection to be the very essence of the Gospel. R1204:1

That God, in his own due time, had provided a Redeemer, who died and had risen, that he might, as Messiah, confer upon the human race the blessed opportunity of restitution to all that was lost in Adam. R4994:6

Ye have received -- In advance of its general revealing to every creature during the Millennial age. R3282:4

1 Corinthians 15:2

Ye are saved -- By which they might reckon themselves saved. R429:1

Faith is important to present salvation. He who cannot believe cannot be saved. Whoever has not heard the Gospel, as in the case of the heathen, is not saved. R4187:2

Jesus' death is made the power or source of godliness to them that believe. R1350:2

Keep in memory -- Whoever has heard the Gospel and does not keep it in memory and thus loses its power will miss the present salvation. R4187:2

For -- In the two preceding verses Paul tells us that this was the Gospel. R429:1

Delivered unto you -- Had it not been for the redemption through the blood, the forgiveness of sins, nothing else could ever be glad tidings. R652:2, 538:1

First of all -- As of primary importance. R4187:3
As the foundation of the Gospel. R925:5

I also received -- First of all. C368; R2166:3, 3564:2, 1794:5, 1572:2, 925:5, 652:5, 538:1, 482:5*, 429:1

As a foundation truth or doctrine, upon and in harmony with which all other doctrines must be built. R1572:2, 538:1 How that -- Through Verse 4 is a synopsis of the Gospel in a few brief words. Q820:T

That Christ died -- This much of knowledge is necessary to anyone who would be properly termed a believer, a Christian. R4187:3, 5207:2, 2789:4, 1577:5, 1572:2, 538:1

The entire plan of salvation is pivoted upon the great transaction of our Lord's sacrifice, which, beginning with his consecration at Jordan, was finished with his expiring breath at Calvary. R2789:2

Suffering alone would not pay the wages of sin for us. E127

He died in order that by paying our penalty of death, God might be just and yet the justifier of him that believeth in Jesus, and release him from the death sentence R3372:4, 1591:3

It is expedient that he who shall judge the world shall have full ability to sympathize with the world; one able and willing to succor those beset by sin and weakness, and to have compassion on them. R3372:4

But not on account of any sins which he committed. R648:3, 641:3; NS346:6

The Lord's death was the first one in which the victim was entirely innocent, entirely unworthy of the death sentence; the matter of dying was wholly voluntary. R3369:3

He died of a broken heart. R3563:4

Not suffered eternal torment. E441; R2601:1, 1086:2; SM73:2; NS551:4, 793:6

For our sins -- As a means to our recovery from. R2789:5

His death was a free-will sacrifice as our redemption price. R463:6, 5854:6; NS52:2

He is a propitiation for our sins, "the just for the unjust," to bring us to God. (1 Pet. 3:18) R3806:6, 3560:6, 3066:2, 538:1; E446, 443; HG654:6

He thus redeemed, ransomed, bought us with his own precious blood. R708:3

He legally set us free and made provision for our recovery out of death in due time, by the process of resurrection. R1443:2

"And not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2:2) R2601:1; E442; HG654:6

To remove the Adamic curse. R216:1, 1878:3

Original sin is not forgivable, but God in his mercy provided a Redeemer. R3806:6

He could have sustained life as a perfect and sinless man forever, but he "gave his life a ransom for many." (Mark 10:45) R463:6

He could not effect our justification until he had risen and presented his merit on behalf of the Church. R5854:6

God did not pardon, remit the penalty. R1058:2, 324:1

"Jehovah hath laid upon him the iniquity of us all." (Isa. 53:6) R1058:2, 648:3, 324:1

On this truth hangs the argument respecting our justification from original sin, through faith in his blood, through faith that he really died, that he really gave his life as our redemption price. NS175:4

The very foundation of Christian faith and hope. R708:3, 1591:2, 1025:4*, 393:4; OV197:5

Ultimately this doctrine will be seen to be the touchstone which will clearly show who are the Lord's and who are not. R3561:1

Even a hazy ignorance of the philosophy of the ransom does not hinder from mentally grasping and appropriating the great general fact that "Christ died for our sins," and we have "redemption through his blood." (Eph. 1:7)

R4578:1, 4187:5, 2789:4

The sin of the world is denied when it is claimed that man is by an evolutionary process rising from the monkey condition. If there is no sin of the world to atone, the record of Jesus' atonement is in error.

R3561:1; HG411:4

According to the Scriptures -- Typified in the sacrifices of the Law and the divinely arranged plan. R5034:3

1 Corinthians 15:4

He was buried -- He was dead during the interim. R3902:3

He rose again -- "For our justification." (Rom. 4:25) NS5:1, 544:1; R925:5

Raised from the dead by the Father, who thus gave assurance to all that Christ's sin-offering on our behalf was complete and fully satisfied.

R1576:5

Evincing the satisfying of divine justice, and that the Redeemer lives to carry out the glorious features of our salvation. R4187:5

His perfection, his keeping of the divine law, his acceptance with the Father, were fully demonstrated and assured to us. R3710:3

It was Christ's soul that died--his very existence had ceased in death; not merely his body, but himself was absolutely dead three days. R2794:6

Not that he came again from "Paradise." F670; R3902:3

The masses of Christendom think of Jesus as being alive during the three days; that it was his fleshly body that was inanimate in the tomb, and that the resurrection was merely the reanimation of his dead body.

R3374:2; NS175:3

The third day -- After his death. R95:1, 3574:5*

At the appointed time. B25

This Scripture concerning the firstfruits is the only one which we recall as in any way pointing out the time of our Lord's resurrection. (Lev. 23:6,7,11; 1 Cor. 15:20) R5191:6, 1289:6, 2271:3

The waving of the barley sheaf of first-fruits on the 16th of Nisan typified the resurrection of Christ. (Lev. 23:11) This is the strongest possible confirmation that our Lord was not three 24-hr. days in the tomb. R5191:5

A purely idiomatic phrase, implying that he would be in the heart of the earth "till the third day." R3574:5*

We recognize the custom of the time of reckoning a portion of a day or year as though it were a complete one. R3903:6, 5017:4, 2796:2

Dr. Abbott points out that the Christian observance of Sunday is of itself a strong testimony in support of our Lord's resurrection. R2796:3

He did not arise from the dead the next instant after he expired on the cross. R3174:5

Jesus was in hell during the three days following the crucifixion. The hell of the Scriptures is not the hell of the creeds, but the condition of death, the grave. Jesus was in the tomb, the grave. Q784:2, 352:3; R5017:4

The reason that Christ rose the third day was to represent the days of the plan, each day being a type of a thousand years. R92:5*

The Church will not be raised up until the time of its completion, in the end of the Gospel age. R3174:4

According to the Scriptures -- Paul must have referred to the Old Testament for the New Testament was yet unwritten. R92:5*

Indirectly taught in the sign of Jonah. R92:5*

1 Corinthians 15:5

And that -- Prosecuting his argument, the Apostle marshaled the whole chain of witnesses, except the women who first saw the Lord on the morning of his resurrection. R5034:3, 4187:6; Q820:T

He proceeds to recount the evidence respecting our Lord's resurrection, apparently confining himself to those manifestations which our Lord made to the apostles. R4187:6

The resurrection of Christ, attested by many infallible proofs (Acts 1:3) is the guarantee that all those whom he redeemed shall have an opportunity to attain a complete resurrection. R1591:3; Q820:T

Was seen of -- Had Jesus not tarried forty days, the disciples, stunned and bewildered, would have had no assurance of the resurrection. R5026:4; OV355:2

The Lord adopted the only reasonable way of helping his disciples to understand that he was no longer dead--that he had risen from the dead--and that he was no longer human, but had been glorified. R5026:5, 4994:5, 3377:4; OV355:2

The third appearance after his resurrection. R2478:3, 3905:3

Then of the twelve -- The remainder of the twelve. R5034:1

He was seen -- At Christ's ninth appearance after his resurrection.
R3905:5

Near the close of the forty days of his invisible presence after his resurrection; the sixth occasion of the kind. R2808:3

A materialization and manifestation of the Lord. R3377:4

Above five hundred brethren -- In Galilee. R3905:5, 5589:2, 3376:1

Witnesses of the resurrection. R5589:2, 4794:2, 2072:3

A general company of his followers. R3905:5

Of the household of faith. NS322:1

Brethren who believed on him during his ministry. NS642:3, 324:3

The seventy evangelists were undoubtedly a part. R3346:3

The apostles, and other faithful brethren; a small remnant as compared with the whole nation. R3476:2, 4187:6, 3340:6, 1414:6

Implying a keen interest on the part of several times that number. R2674:1

"And when they saw him, they worshipped him; but some doubted." (Matt. 28:17) Those who doubted must have been at this meeting, and were much weaker in faith than those who had already communed with Jesus since his resurrection. R2809:3

There were only five hundred who believed on Jesus until after his death, when there were thousands added to the number. R5163:3

A list of Dr. Bordman's suggestions of some of those composing this number. R2808:6

At once -- At one time. R5237:2, 3376:1

This meeting was by special appointment of time and place; hence there was an opportunity for all the deeply interested ones to be gathered together.

R2808:6, 3905:5

The greater part remain -- This epistle was written about twenty-four years after the crucifixion, and Paul assures us that, at the time he wrote, over two hundred and fifty witnesses of our Lord's resurrection were still living. R2478:6

Unto this present -- The time the Apostle was writing. R3376:1

Are fallen asleep -- In death, awaiting the resurrection morning. E345; R4994:3, 2197:6, 1881:2

Used in full view of the ransom by which all were redeemed from the Adamic sentence. R2197:6

The condition of all the dead, up to the time when the resurrection begins, is one of total unconsciousness. R4794:2

Not dead in the same sense that the brute beasts are dead--actually. R4994:3

After that -- Later. R5034:1

Seen of James -- At his tenth appearance after his resurrection, at the close of the forty days, probably at Jerusalem. R3905:5

Then of all -- When he ascended. R5034:1

1 Corinthians 15:8

And -- Paul is summing up the strongest kind of evidence respecting our Lord's resurrection. R4187:6

Last of all -- As a glorious spirit being. F723; R1873:6, 550:3

Years after our Lord's previous appearances. R3905:5

Paul declares that he was one of the apostles--the last. R1419:2; HG311:5

He was seen of me -- He was seen by me. R550:3

On the way to Damascus. E277

Some miraculous power was exercised to enable him to see the Lord, for normally a natural eye cannot see a spirit being. R5408:3; HG25:5; NS322:1

A momentary glimpse of our Lord, to enable Saul to be the twelfth Apostle. R5408:6

All of the apostles must be eye witnesses of his resurrection. R162:5, 5408:3, 3905:5, 2478:6, 1522:5; F214; CR467:5

He was not thus seen by the other apostles. They saw merely the various forms in which he appeared. R5035:1, 1873:6, 550:3

He did not see Jesus under a veil of flesh, as he appeared to the others before the spirit dispensation began. R2478:6, 1873:6

He saw Jesus, as we shall see him when born, a spirit being. CR468:2

Paul was discussing the resurrection of the dead. He realized that on that great fact rested the weight of the Gospel message. To an incredulous world it was difficult to prove that Jesus had risen. R5033:3

The climax of the argument was reached; he had a demonstration in the blinding flash of light which felled him to the earth, and in the voice which said to him alone, "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest." (Acts 26:15) R5034:4

As of one born -- As by one born. B134; R550:3

Like one born. R1558:3

The Church must all be begotten of the holy Spirit in order to experience the resurrection birth. R5035:1

Saul needed something to thoroughly arouse him and to teach him, and others through him, that the Lord is not a man, but "that Spirit."

R5026:4; OV355:3

Out of due time -- Before the due time; before the time when it will be ours to see him as he is. B134; F215; R5623:4, 5416:6, 5408:3, 5035:1, 3905:5, 2479:1, 1558:3, 242:3; CR468:1

As one prematurely born. R5034:6, 4187:6, 3905:5

As one resurrected before the time. R5035:1, 242:3

As one "born from the dead." R1523:1

Before the time for the Church's exaltation and glory. R1523:1, 5623:4, 5035:1; PD71/85

More than eighteen centuries before the time. Saul's experiences were out of the ordinary. No one else than he alone were to see the Lord before their resurrection change, in the end of this age. R5034:6

Saul of Tarsus saw our Lord as a spirit being "shining above the brightness of the sun" at noonday. (Acts 26:13) R5416:6, 5299:2, 5034:2, 4187:6, 2478:8, 579:1, 550:3

Paul was not really entitled to see the Lord in glory before the remainder of the Church at his second advent. F215

The time for giving ocular demonstrations of the Lord's resurrection had gone by; the next manifestation of him is to be to his saints, and after that to the world. R5034:6

Not having been thus born himself by a resurrection change to the newness of nature, the sight was a calamity to his flesh. R2479:1, 579:1; CR468:2

Those begotten of the holy Spirit now are to be born of the Spirit in the resurrection. R5416:6; B134

The peculiar experiences, visions, revelations, etc., granted to Paul, who took the place of Judas, have been more helpful than those of any other of the apostles. F215

1 Corinthians 15:9

Least of the apostles -- One of those specially commissioned of God and recognized of the Church as God's representatives. R1419:3

God never recognized any but twelve apostles. R162:5

I persecuted the church -- There is something pathetic in this reference to Paul's own glimpse of Jesus. It called up the period of his own bigoted persecution of the Church, because they believed that Jesus died and rose again; the very thing he was now trying to testify to. R5034:2

Paul remembered his astonishment at learning that those whom he had persecuted were not renegade and deceived Jews, but highly esteemed and acknowledged by this Great One. R5034:2

He frequently referred to the matter with contrition. R1885:4

1 Corinthians 15:10

More abundantly -- To testify to his appreciation of the grace bestowed, and to be long-suffering with others as God had been with him. R1885:4

1 Corinthians 15:11

So we preach -- The Apostle sums up the essence of his preaching. In verse 1 he calls this the Gospel. R4994:5

While the merit of the redemption resided in the sacrifice of Christ, yet the redemption itself was equally dependent upon his resurrection, because a dead Savior could not help us. R4188:1

Paul proves Christ's resurrection as an evidence of the power of God to raise the dead in general, for this was the general preaching of the apostles--viz: "They preached through Jesus (the value of his death as our redemption price) the resurrection of the dead." (Acts 4:2) R95:1

"I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God." (Acts 20:27) R2220:5

So ye believed -- The foundations of any system are easily discovered, and there is only one true foundation--Christ, the ransom. R1900:1

So the apostles preached, and so the primitive Christians believed; so we preach and so our hearers believe. R601:6*

1 Corinthians 15:12

Rose from the dead -- Verses 12-19 call attention to the great importance of the doctrine of the resurrection, presenting it as the twin of the other great doctrine which the Apostle sets forth "first of all." (Verse 3) R1591:2; NS321:6

Paul's argument from Verses 12 to 22 is that death is a horrible reality; that the only hope of escape from it is through a resurrection. NS566:6

Our Lord's resurrection is God's guarantee of a resurrection to all our race, for which Christ died. R1511:1, 5579:2, 1545:4

The assurance that he is now able to deliver those that trust in him and who wait for his time of deliverance. HG137:2

It was Christ's soul that died; his very existence had ceased, he was absolutely dead three days. R2794:6

Say some among you -- Some of Paul's hearers claimed that it was much more easy to believe that Jesus never died at all, but merely transmuted, than to believe that he died for our sins and rose again for our justification. R5033:6

The erroneous teachings of some, that there would be no resurrection of the dead. R868:3, 4521:3, 4187:6

You occupy an unreasonable, a ridiculous position when you say that a resurrection of the dead is an impossibility. R705:3

Or as some now would perhaps state it, there is no necessity for a resurrection from the dead. NS2:2

No resurrection -- One of the most prominent doctrines of the New Testament. R1508:6

Greek, anastasis, without the Greek article, hence no emphasis, no special peculiarity. R1512:1

How is it that you do not see the importance of the doctrine of the resurrection respecting the Church? R4188:1, 3563:5

The Platonic theory that the dead are alive. R3563:5, 4187:6, 3903:6, 3774:2; NS2:1

When many, imbued with the Platonic theory, had become interested in Christ, they were associating the Platonic view with the Christian view that death is the penalty for sin. R3563:5, 3174:5

Of the dead -- Not of the body; the soul, the being, is resurrected.

R2187:3, 3564:2, 1509:2

A dead Christ, one not raised from death, can never bless you. R705:3

1 Corinthians 15:13

No resurrection -- Greek, anastasis, a full raising up to perfection of life and health. R1451:1, 1512:1

Without the Greek article, hence no emphasis, no special peculiarity. R1512:1

On no Christian doctrine does there seem to be a greater confusion in all denominations than on the subject of the resurrection of the dead.

Nevertheless, all Christendom unites in declaring that our Lord's resurrection was an indispensable necessity to our salvation. R2794:1; NS320:3

If the dead were really alive, as taught by Christendom, there would be no need of a resurrection. R4521:3, 4791:1, 2794:4, 1450:6; C117

If, as some claim, the doctrine of the resurrection is foolish and false, then Christ is not risen. R4188:1

Whoever would believe the doctrine of the resurrection, must also believe the doctrine respecting death--that death is death, the cessation of life. R4791:6

The doctrine of the resurrection itself is peculiar to the Jewish and Christian religions. R3903:5

The very basis of all hope of a future life. A60; R5333:5, 4791:1, 3374:3

Without a resurrection there would be no hope. R4187:6, 3903:5; SM115:1

In that event, death would have been more than a sleep. It would have meant extinction. R5180:6, 4175:4; CR242:4

Of the dead -- The unanimous testimony is that the dead are dead; that "in that very day their thoughts perish." (Psa. 146:4) R4792:1

Then -- Neither hath Christ been raised. R3563:5

Is Christ not risen -- But is still dead. E348

If the resurrection of the dead is an impossibility, it must have been an impossibility in our Lord's case, is the argument. NS2:2

1 Corinthians 15:14

And if -- The glorious doctrine of the resurrection finds no place in any religious system except Christianity. R1774:1

Christ be not risen -- But is still dead. E348

Do you say, What if he is not risen? R4188:1

Then the death penalty upon Adam and his race has not been met. R5018:4

Death would have been an eternal sleep. R5768:4

Then we are yet under condemnation, not reconciled to the Father. R3563:6
Upon the death of Jesus and his resurrection hang the resurrection hope of the Church and of the world. R4588:1, 5017:4,6, 3905:5; SM115:2; HG331:5; NS783:2

As the death of Jesus was absolutely necessary as the atoning price for human sin, so the resurrection of Jesus was absolutely necessary, that he might be glorified and come again to effect the resurrection of his Church and awaken the world. R5017:6

Had the Father not raised him from the dead, it would have implied some unfaithfulness, some failure on our Lord's part. R4588:1, 3563:6

Our preaching -- Teaching. NS283:2

Of the Gospel. R1591:1

Christian preaching. NS2:3, 320:6

There is no gospel if Christ is not risen. HG217:1

Faith is also vain -- Our hope is gone. R5612:1

All faith, all hope is vain. OV329:6

Faith in a resurrection is a part of Christian doctrine without which the entire fabric would be senseless. R1511:1

Because a dead Christ could know nothing and could help nobody. E348

If he had not arisen, how could he have made application of his human rights on our behalf? R4588:1

While the doctrine of redemption is the central doctrine of the Christian system, the doctrine of the resurrection is the end of our faith, our glorious hope through Christ. R1774:2

All Christian preaching and all Christian faith is vain if there be no resurrection of the dead. CR242:3; R5768:2,4, 2170:4, 1511:1; NS96:2

The Apostle lays the whole stress of future salvation upon a future resurrection of the dead, and he unites the resurrection hope of mankind with the resurrection of our Lord. NS2:3

We -- Apostles. R2102:2, 3563:6

False witnesses -- Wicked deceivers instead of divinely appointed ambassadors. E348

Their teachings are all false. R3563:6

Other religions ignore the necessity for a resurrection, and claim that those who die are more alive than they were before their death. R3903:5, 4791:2

If God's people could all come back to the simplicity of the Bible's teaching in respect to the resurrection of the dead, all the differences of the six hundred denominations would speedily disappear. R5016:6

He raised up Christ -- Christ could never have raised himself. R2795:2

No agency of man, nor even of the angel Gabriel, was permitted in the work of our Lord's resurrection. R1005:4

If the resurrection of Christ was necessary, the resurrection of the Church and of the world is also necessary. R4188:1, 5017:6

If so be that -- If it be true that. E348

The dead rise not -- That the resurrection of the dead is an impossibility. R2102:2; NS783:2

1 Corinthians 15:16

If the dead rise not -- Not, "if the body rise not." E377

If the resurrection of the dead be denied it would imply a disbelief in Christ's resurrection; for if it was possible for God to raise Christ, it is equally possible for him to raise whoever else he may choose. R1854:6
The Apostle was writing to those who believed in the resurrection of Jesus, but who disbelieved in the necessity for their own resurrection. R4175:4

1 Corinthians 15:17

Be not raised -- Risen from the dead. Paul in no way shared the views of those who unscripturally claimed that Jesus, while dead, was really alive. R5579:2

There could be no message of hope of divine favor through a dead Savior. R5579:2

It would have been a waste and loss to purchase us had he not had in view a resurrection, which would enable him to bless those bought. R705:2

If Jesus remained dead, he did not complete the work he undertook, he did not become the Savior, the Deliverer. R3563:6, 705:2

The Heavenly Father gave evidence that the ransom-price was entirely satisfactory; and our Lord, who was obedient to the Father, was raised from the dead. R4793:2

His resurrection is evidence (1) that in him was no sin, (2) he had a merit in God's sight by reason of his sacrifice, which he presented, and (3) assurance that God will accomplish restitution through him. R1394:6

Your faith is vain -- So important is the doctrine of the resurrection, that Paul declares that without it the hope and faith of the Church is vain. R1816:2, 1505:2

The basis of all your hopes and faith drops out. R4175:4

Our hope of forgiveness of sins through the merit of Christ's sacrifice is a vain one. R3563:6

And we who have espoused the cause of Christ are most wretchedly deceived. R4181:1

We might as well abandon any expectation of a future life unless there be a resurrection of the dead. CR170:4

If you claim our Lord was alive, "more alive than ever" during the three days, the Scriptures say he was in the dead. E350; HG191:3, 723:1

Yet in your sins -- And under the death penalty, without a ray of hope.
R1591:3

Christ has made no atonement acceptable to God. HG137:3
As Jesus' death ransoms man from the sentence of death, so his resurrection from death became the assurance of the justification of all who accept and obey him. R4793:1
If the doctrine of substitution be true, verses 17 and 18 cannot be.
R705:1*

1 Corinthians 15:18

Then they also -- This verse contains a statement that nearly all Christian people have overlooked or misunderstood. Q820:T
"If there be no resurrection of the dead." (1 Cor. 15:13) E345; SM100:2

Asleep -- In death, awaiting the resurrection morning. E345; R5017:6, 4794:2, 4793:4, 2197:6, 1881:1

The apostles frequently used this appropriate, hopeful and peaceful figure of speech. E345; R1881:1; HG332:2

The word sleep implies that in the divine purpose a future life is intended, and will eventually be given. R5017:3

All who have faith in the resurrection might be spoken of as falling asleep now, assured that there is a glorious awakening coming. CR321:3

Distinguishing between the Church, who are in Christ, as members of his Body; and the world of mankind in general, who "sleep in Jesus." R2528:3,
5354:1, 4794:2, 3174:4, 2197:5; NS837:6

When the new creature falls asleep, it is asleep as a spirit being; waiting for the resurrection change. R4668:4; Q587:6

It is that which falls asleep, not that which turns to corruption, that is to be awakened, resurrected. E377

In Christ -- Trusting in Jesus. HG137:3

Christ is the title of our Lord as the new creature and of his office.

Jesus is the name for the Redeemer, through whose sacrifice comes to all men an opportunity to share in a resurrection of the dead. R4794:3

Are perished -- Greek: apollomee, destroyed. E350

Destroyed, annihilated; disintegrated into the dust. Q820:T; R1018:1*
Like the brute beasts. OV352:2; NS782:2

If Christ was not put to death and resurrected. Q820:T

If Christ did not rise from the dead you must logically believe that the resurrection of his followers will be like his. R4175:4

There is no hope of a future life. R5354:1, 934:1*, 846:5; NS2:3

Contrary to Satan's doctrine of human immortality. C116, 117; R5017:5, 802:3*

Contrary to the teachings of Spiritism. R2170:2; SM100:2; OV296:3;
HG723:1; NS96:2, 125:5

"The dead know not anything." (Eccl. 9:5) R5579:2; NS96:2

Except they be restored to life by a resurrection. R1591:5

The hope of the resurrection is set before us in the Gospel. OV296:3
If they are gone to paradise, or to heaven, could there be any question about perishing? HG137:3, 347:4; NS321:1

1 Corinthians 15:19

In this life only -- So important is this doctrine, that Paul emphatically declares that, if it be not true, then there is no hope for any man beyond the present life. The preaching of the gospel is in vain. R1591:2, 1259:2

Hope in Christ -- And if our joys are dependent upon the circumstances of this life merely. F678

Most miserable -- If God has provided no resurrection for the dead then our future is hopeless and we might as well eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die. (Verse 32) R4175:4

Our life of sacrifice, in view of the resurrection and its rewards, merely robs us of what little enjoyment and advantage may be gained in the present life. R1591:2

The case of both the Church and the world are hopeless. F695

We who are hoping and seeking for a future life are deceived and will be sadly disappointed. R1259:2

Yet the hope in Christ is not merely for the things of the life to come, but also for this present life. NS104:6

1 Corinthians 15:20

But now -- With close argument Paul reaches the conclusions of Verses
20-22. R95:1

Verses 20-26 emphasize the truthfulness of the resurrection. R1591:3

Paul assures us that there is best ground for faith in God's power and purpose to have a resurrection, and that the resurrection of our Lord
Jesus is the proof of this. R1259:2; F695

While the death of Christ was the greatest event in history, his resurrection from death readily holds second place. Without his resurrection our race would have been helpless and hopeless. R3563:1,
1631:6, 1591:2; NS321:6

"It was not possible that he should be holden of death." (Acts 2:24) because he had accomplished the giving of the ransom, and attested his worthiness of high exaltation to the divine nature. R2795:3

The same justice which had operated for four thousand years against Adam and his race because of transgression was not operative on behalf of Jesus for his deliverance from death. R2795:3

Is Christ risen -- Christ has been raised. R95:1

Resurrected and glorified by divine power. R1692:1

Jesus was the first to be raised completely out of death's power; to perfection of life, of being, on any plane of existence. R3563:4, 3174:3, 1591:3

It is no fable. It was not only necessary to our salvation, but it is a fact well attested. R3564:1, 3174:6, 1545:4

Giving us assurance that death shall not always have dominion over us. R1505:1, 5579:2, 1631:6; NS322:1

"I am he that liveth and was dead; and behold, I am alive forevermore."
(Rev. 1:18) R3563:3, 2794:6

The Scriptures lay great stress on the importance of the resurrection and deduce various proofs and demonstrations intended to establish our faith in it. All four evangelists give details with great particularity.

R3564:1, 3374:6, 2795:6, 2476:2; NS322:1

From the dead -- Death implies extinction. R1631:6, 3563:1

His death satisfied the claims of justice against us. R1505:2

Our Lord's sacrifice--the death of the man Christ Jesus--was an everlasting death, which fully offset the penalty upon father Adam, and as Adam's substitute the man Jesus could never be released. R2476:6

Churchianity does not believe in the resurrection of the dead. It has adopted the heathen theory that the dead are not dead, but alive. R3173:3, 5016:3, 3374:2, 2476:5, 2187:3, 1889:4*

Many Christian people hold that there is no such thing as death; that what appears to be death is merely a transformation to a larger degree of life; and so our Lord Jesus did not die for our sins, but merely shed off an outer covering of flesh. R2476:5; HG137:2

Heathen philosophies assume that the dead are not dead, but more alive than ever before. R3563:2

The firstfruits -- In his resurrection; the firstborn from the dead. R2796:4

Our Lord was the first fruit of all. R3131:6

And a pledge of the resurrection of those whose resurrection God has promised. R1204:1

A first fruit. R95:1

None preceded him. R2796:5

None having been raised from the dead previously. None having gone to heaven previously. R1591:5; F676

The first to experience a resurrection in the full sense, to perfection and everlasting life. R1591:3, 2811:5

"That he should be the first that should rise from the dead." (Acts 26:23)

"The firstborn among many brethren." (Rom. 8:29) R3174:4, 4563:3, 3563:3, 2747:5, 2618:5, 2447:3, 1857:1, 1259:2

In harmony with the type in Lev. 23:15-21. R5831:3, 2271:1,3

We have the promise of a future life through Christ and the example of the Father's power in the resurrection of our dear Redeemer: but Jesus had no such evidence of the divine power; he himself was to be the "first-born from the dead." (Col. 1:18) R2467:3; HG229:4

"That in all things he might have the pre-eminence." (Col. 1:18) R2288:6, 2288:6

As the firstfruits of the sleeping ones, Jesus is an example and a guarantee of the fulfillment of the divine promise that "there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust." (Acts 24:15) R5017:4,6; 4498:5, 2796:5, 351:1*

The Church are to have part in "his resurrection," "the first resurrection"; and are to be joint-heirs with him in his Millennial Kingdom. R1505:4, 4175:4, 3564:1, 3377:5, 3174:4, 2796:5, 361:2

The raising of Jairus' daughter was not a resurrection, nor were any of the other cases of awakening from death recorded in the Scriptures. R2618:5, 5025:1, 3706:6, 3563:4, 2811:5, 2796:5, 1591:3, 1259:1; OV352:1; HG136:1, 646:3; NS637:2

The transfiguration scene was a "vision" where the unreal appears real. Moses and Elijah could not have been there, since they were not resurrected from the dead. R2288:3, 4142:4*

A firstfruits implies after fruits. R4175:5, 3563:4, 1505:2

You never have firstfruits unless you expect after fruits. HG137:3

The after fruits of God's great plan will be developed during the Millennial age. R2796:6

Them that -- Of those having fallen asleep. R95:1

Slept -- In death. R2197:6, 3174:3

Which implies that when he was raised the others still slept. R5017:4

If our Lord became the firstfruits of them that slept, then he slept. R4175:5

Christ himself "slept" for parts of three days. NS637:1

The proper figure of death, in view of the divine purposes and promises, permits it to be called by the more comforting term, sleep, which expresses both our hope for the dead, and our faith in God. R3174:3, 2796:5
The apostles frequently used this appropriate, hopeful and peaceful figure of speech. E345; R1881:1; HG332:2

Natural sleep illustrated the condition of mankind in death; when a man is soundly asleep he knows nothing; when a man is dead he knows nothing. CR242:5

God would not permit more than one member of the human race to be tried and sentenced to death; for his purpose from the beginning was that the sacrifice of one life should redeem the entire human race. R5872:6, 5211:1, 5141:4

If two or more separate individuals had sinned and involved the race, it would have required just as many redeemers, according to the divine law, a man's life for a man's life. (Deut. 19:21) R5141:4

As all the world came into the death condition by one man's disobedience, so all are to be rescued from death conditions by the obedience of another one. R5314:4; SM588:1; HG137:4

If the fall is denied, then no redemption is needed. R4792:2

Of the entire race. R5530:6

The curse. CR242:5; PD11/18

Mental, moral and physical degradation, culminating in utter dissolution, utter loss. R1509:4 Death is the wage or penalty of God's law against sinners. R3774:1

By one man sin entered into the world and death as the result of sin.
R4869:4

By one man the whole trouble came; by another man the whole trouble will be rectified. R5872:6

As death came as a result of something done by man (Adam) so the resurrection comes as a result of something done by another man. R1259:2
God condemned the race as a whole that he might have mercy upon the race as a whole. NS474:6

Not a man such as we are, full of inherited imperfections and blemishes.

He was "holy, harmless, separate from sinners. (Heb. 7:26) E95; R5873:1

The taking of human nature was necessary, because it was a man that had sinned, and as by a man came death, by a man also must the resurrection of the dead be secured. R2794:5

He became flesh (holy, undefiled) in order to pay the price or penalty against us--death. R981:2

This mighty one must become a man in every particular. He must partake of "flesh and blood." (Heb. 2:14) R418:1, 164:4; E425

He never took back the "flesh and blood," he never will take back our ransom price. R720:1

Recovery would be by a man's redemptive work. R5050:5

There could have been no resurrection without this redemptive work, the substitution of our Lord's soul for the soul of Adam. R3174:5, 3706:6

The death of Jesus was the ransom for sinners. R3774:2

Universal redemption of mankind. R5925:1

God arranged this death sentence purposely, so as to make necessary the death of Jesus. R5768:2; OV329:5

By the sacrifice of a perfect human existence is secured the right of the priest to restore. To secure this right he must first satisfy the demands of justice, which required the extinction of the human race, and could only be met by a corresponding sacrifice--a human life. R3951:2, 713:2; OV24:1

One sacrifice for sin would make possible the reconciliation of the entire race. NS827:6

The sacrifice of the man Christ Jesus will ultimately be made available for the sins of the world, because the children of Adam are counted as members of the one man. R4499:4, 5108:5; SM658:2; OV406:6, 407:T

God purposed that the entire race should be born from the one pair, in order that, when sin should enter and involve the whole human family, the death of one person would suffice to redeem the entire race. R5900:1, 5141:4

"The just for the unjust." (1 Pet. 3:18) R5919:5, 4792:6, 4775:2; CR278:3; NS833:2

Because of sin, it was necessary to find an outsider to be the world's Redeemer; and whether angel, cherub, or the great Michael himself, the Logos, he must exchange the spirit nature for the human nature. R5873:1, 3174:6

The right or authority to awaken the dead, and to bring some or all to perfection, was gained by our Lord by his death as a ransom for all. R1854:6

Paul declares the decision of God for a general resurrection. NS178:2

It is from the death-curse that Messiah rescues all. PD11/18

Adam was the father of the race and failed to give it life. Jesus is to become its second father, the Second Adam, through whom everlasting life may be attained. PD9/16

Our Lord's mission to earth at the first advent was to undo for the race, legally, the results of Adam's transgression, and to secure the right to resurrect them and restore them. R1125:4, 705:4

Truly God condemned all in one, that he might have mercy upon all through another one. R381:4

The resurrection -- Greek, anastasis; without the Greek article, hence no emphasis, no special peculiarity. R1512:1, 360:2

The resurrection blessing is made to all. R1511:1

The complete restoration to all that was lost, a full raising up to perfection, the image and likeness of God at first enjoyed. R1509:4, 360:5; NS551:4

Raising up completely out of death and imperfection. R4999:1, 3774:1, 709:4

Resurrection means "a setting up again," "rebuilding," "restoring" of humanity from every vestige of death to the perfection of their nature as represented by their head, Adam. R360:3

Since Christ is risen from the dead there is therefore an assurance of the resurrection. R5612:1

God having arranged, through the ransom which Christ Jesus gave for all, that all who come into relationship with Christ the Redeemer may inherit lasting life, even as all by relationship with Adam inherited his condemnation to death. R1204:1

If God had not provided a sinless Redeemer, and he had not died for our sins, and risen for our justification, then there would have been no future life for humanity. R5768:2, 5291:5, 5166:3

The dead -- The entire race. R5530:6

Since Adam was the representative of the whole human family, therefore, all of the human race must share with him in the benefits to accrue through the redemption provided by Jesus, his substitute. Q816:2

The sin leading to "mortal error" is atoned for by divine favor, to the intent that all sinners may be rescued from "mortal error"--from death.
OV377:1

If Jesus merely gave proof of the possibility of a resurrection, then Paul would be made to mean that Adam merely proved the possibility of death.

The two companies of verse 23. R1437:1

Now is the opportunity of coming into relationship with Christ as his Bride; in the time of his presence the world of mankind in general will be granted an opportunity as children. R3927:4, 1855:1

Only the members of the "Body" can be said to be in Christ or to have any hope of sharing with him in his resurrection. R3174:4, 1855:1, 1854:6, 1219:2

We cannot suppose that in any sense the Nephilim would be included in the redemptive work of Jesus, who died only for Adam and his posterity. SM64:1

Angels were not in Adam, and did not share his sin and its penalty, death; neither did the lower animals. R1854:6

A wicked man dying out of Christ will not rise in Christ, as some fancy from a misunderstanding of this passage. R1449:2*

Be made alive -- Gain life in full measure. F695, 697, 699; R1592:1, 95:1; Q761:1

Be restored to life. (Diaglott) R527:3*, 360:2, 95:1 Brought back from present dying, imperfect conditions, to the perfection of life. R2395:1, 95:1

In the resurrection morning for the Church, and also for the world in general in the Millennium as they "eat" Christ's flesh. (John 6:53)

R3132:3, 1437:4

Made to share the blessing which the man Christ Jesus merited, but which he laid down in death on behalf of all those who will obey him. R1259:3;

CR65:5

A full release from death, which is the great enemy. R3564:1, 1511:2

The death of Christ was for the very purpose of giving a second trial to Adam and all his race. R5639:1

The entire race lost life with Father Adam; and Christ died to secure a second chance for Adam and an individual chance for all of his race, who lost their first chance in Adam when he sinned. R4955:6; NS727:2

What Adam failed to accomplish, God proposes still to accomplish through Christ--a regeneration for the world. NS340:4

All shall be permitted to share in Adam's recovery from the power of the tomb, from sin and death. OV139:2, 380:6, 301:T; R3174:5, 1511:1

Share Christ's victory and have everlasting life. R1854:6

All that was lost in Adam will have been restored in Christ. R1149:3*, 545:2

He came into the world to meet Adam's penalty. PD7/13

He that gave himself a ransom for Adam, and who thus incidentally purchased not only him but all of his race who had lost life in him, this great Redeemer, is about to establish his rule of righteousness. R3926:6; SM73:2

No one will be made alive, except he come into Christ in the ways of faith and obedience appointed thereto. R3725:2

None will be made alive in the full, complete sense in which the word "alive" is here used, except those who in this age become the Redeemer's Bride, or in the next age, become his children. R1437:4

A restitution to life. NS846:4

The works of Jesus will last for a thousand years, lifting them up out of their dying condition. CR279:2

The remedy will be co-extensive in its results with the evil. R698:3

This declaration is set forth as the conclusion of the Apostle's argument preceding it. F695 The making "alive" of this verse is clearly the raising "of the dead" of the 21st verse. R726:6, 62:4*

This does not mean that Adam must first be redeemed and atoned for before any of his children can receive reconciliation. R4498:6, 4556:1

Father Adam will be one of the last to be awakened from the sleep of death. R4499:1; Q761:1

This making alive will be the resurrection of the dead--not of those particles of matter which have gone to fertilize a tree and then through its fruit become a part of another organism, but of the being--the soul. R5166:3, 5017:4, 4994:1, 1853:1; E349

Reach a state or condition of perfection and freedom from death. Not that all will be kept alive everlastingly, as taught by universal salvation. R1219:2, 1043:5*; F696; OV388:3; NS340:3

1 Corinthians 15:23

Every man -- Of those in Christ to be made alive. R1437:1, 3132:1

In his own order -- In his own band, or company. Q503:7; R4999:1, 4775:4, 1437:1; SM225:3; OV138:2; HG646:4; NS794:1

Class. OV388:3; R2528:2, 1855:1, 1511:2; CR430:5; SM225:3; HG434:2; NS340:5
Rank. R361:3, 404:2, 227:2*, 222:1*, 95:1

Band or cohort. HG495:3

Two orders, or classes or grades. R1259:3, 1855:1, 1511:2, 433:2, 361:3, 351:1

The spiritual order and the human order. R1259:3, 361:3

There is to be an order in Christ's work of life-giving. Every man who receives life will belong to one or another of these orders. R1204:1

God divides the salvation of mankind into two parts--the Church to spirit nature and the world to perfected human nature. NS827:6

The Gospel Church, the Bride, the Body of Christ, first. F699; R5530:6, 5018:4; OV226:T

The Church will be the first class and the world will be raised in the next age. CR279:2; SM589:1; HG344:4

The Church class first; then the Great Company; early in the new order of things the Ancient Worthies, and then the world of mankind. SM226:T; R5167:1, 361:5; Q16:2

The Ancient Worthies could not be perfected until the Church has been completed, "they without us, should not be made perfect." (Heb. 11:40) Q16:2

The world's awakening will merely bring them forth from the tomb in the condition in which they entered it. R5167:1

Theirs will be a resurrection to human perfection, but of gradual development; first the awakening, and subsequently the gradual raising up out of sin and death conditions. R4588:4

The privilege will be theirs of rising up, up out of present degradation, mental, moral, physical, to the glorious perfection which father Adam enjoyed in the image and likeness of his Creator. R4552:6

Since mankind will not all be raised at once, but in separate ranks or orders, during the thousand years, each new rank will find an army of helpers in those who will have preceded them. R655:5

Dealing with the world will begin with the generation living at the time of the establishment of the Kingdom, and will ultimately include all that are in their graves, in the reverse order from that in which they entered. SM440:2, 441:T

Gradually, after dealing with the living nations to some extent, the sleeping world will be awakened. NS782:5

God has time and order for everything, and he has wisely arranged for various ranks, or orders, or companies in the resurrection. R95:1

Christ's merit could not be released to apply to any others until all (both classes of the Church) who now have the imputation of this merit have finished their course. Q16:2 This indicates that several resurrections may take place before all are raised. Paul does not specify how many orders or companies there will be. R62:2

Intimating that from the divine standpoint there are numerous classes of the dead. HG434:2

Nothing is more simple than that death and resurrection are not at the same time. R89:5

Not all at once. OV198:2; R5832:4, 1204:1; SM225:3, 548:T; SM225:3; HG434:2; NS794:1

Christ -- The anointed, the Messiah class. R5291:5, 1204:2

The Christ, Head and Body, Christ Jesus himself being the firstfruit of all. R3131:6, 277:6, 206:4, 184:1; SM54:1

The Gospel Church, the Bride, the Body of Christ. A106; R1855:1, 1592:1, 1437:1, 1204:2, HG654:2; NS390:5

The Head was raised eighteen hundred years ago, and the Body very soon. R277:6, 206:4

The whole Body of Christ, the Church. This is the "mystery hid from ages and generations." (Col. 1:26) NS341:2

Should read, "The anointed firstfruits." R5965:4

The firstfruits -- The Church class. R5612:1, 5530:6, 1816:5, 868:5

The Body of Christ not only first in rank, but first in order of time.

Q16:2; R2528:2, 1511:2, 1204:2

A firstfruit. R361:3, 95:1

The firstfruits class, firstborn class. NS390:5; R184:1

The chief of the two classes is mentioned first and includes the Redeemer and all of the Gospel age overcomers who are now having fellowship in "his sufferings," "his death." R1437:1

The spiritual order of which, the Body of Christ, under its Head, is represented in Israel's priesthood, and the second company represented in the Levites. R1259:3

As strawberries might be called the first fruits of the season, and the first strawberry ripened would be the first fruit of all; so Christ is the firstfruit and the Church together the "firstfruit unto God of his creatures." (James 1:18). R3131:6, 3377:6

Under the Law (Lev. 23:10) a sheaf was taken as a wave offering, the firstfruits typifying Christ; and fifty days after, two wave loaves were brought out, typifying the Body of Christ. R33:6*

Even Christ was not raised until the third day after his death. R89:5

Church of the firstborn, including the Little Flock and the Great Company.

Q15:6

Paul was writing to believers and informs them, that their resurrection is the first order. R62:2

Afterward -- During the thousand years of Christ's reign. A106; R5018:4, 3132:2, 2528:2, 1855:1, 1259:3

During the Millennial age. A106; OV226:T; HG344:4

During his presence at his second advent in the Millennium. SM54:1

Next in order, or the remainder of those to be made alive in Christ.

R1511:2

The world's order of time. R1816:5, 4999:2, 1511:2, 868:5

They -- No matter when they died. R89:5

That are Christ's -- Those who during the Millennial age shall become the Lord's people. R2935:3, 3132:1; OV226:T

By faith in his sacrifice. R1592:1, 1511:2

Whoever will accept the opportunity of coming into fellowship with the King Emmanuel will receive the blessing of an admission to Messiah's family. R5018:5

The world will become Christ's in the possessive sense. R4498:5

The human order brought to perfection as members of the great restitution class. R1259:3

The remainder of the world who shall come into Christ from the firstfruits class. NS342:1

"All them that believe in that day." (2 Thes. 1:10) HG337:1

All of the restored world will belong to the general family of Christ Jesus the Bridegroom and the Church his Bride will have the regenerated human family as their children on the earthly plane. R5965:4

Mankind will become Christ's children by the consecration of themselves.

The symbolic baptism is a fitting picture of consecration to God on whatever plane of life, whether spiritual or earthly. R5965:4

At -- The time of. R1437:1

During. R5291:5, 5018:5, 4498:5, 4175:5, 3132:1, 1855:1, 1592:2, 1511:2, 1437:1, 1204:2, 361:4, 95:1; SM586:1; HG337:1; NS825:1

In his presence, during his parousia, the thousand year's of Christ's reign. R5965:4, 4175:5; NS342:3

This evidently does not refer to the Church, for they are Christ's before his second advent, and with him constitute the firstfruits first mentioned. HG337:1; NS342:3

His coming -- Greek, parousia; presence. A106; B159; R5291:5, 4498:5, 4175:5, 3132:1, 2978:6, 1855:1, 1693:1, 1592:2, 1437:1, 1259:3, 1204:2, 361:3, 277:6, 206:4, 223:2*, 62:2; SM586:1; OV226:T; HG337:1; NS342:1, 825:1

The thousand years of his Kingdom glory. R5018:5

During the Millennial reign of The Christ. (Rev. 20:4) R1855:1, 1592:2, 1511:2; HG337:1

The awakening of those who have slept in Jesus. R1816:3

The conversion of the world is not now. At his second advent, our Lord will conquer the world. R4288:1

This verse reaches down to and beyond the final trial at the end of the Millennial age represented in Rev. 20:7-10. R3132:2

1 Corinthians 15:24

Then -- At the end of the thousand year reign of Christ. R5164:5, 4999:2, 4882:1, 3456:5, 3322:1, 1601:4, 1234:1, 763:6, 418:5, 277:6, 206:5, 165:2; E78; CR270:4; Q781:1

In the end of the Millennial age. R453:3

Jesus during that age having put down all enemies. R95:2

Having accomplished his mission as regards the reconstruction or restitution of mankind. A304, 222

When all of the orders (Verse 23) are complete, when all have been brought to life and perfection either on the human or spiritual plane (except those who die the second death.) R277:6, 206:5

When the great Mediator-King shall resign, the lasting results of his redemptive work will have accomplished (1) the sealing of the New Covenant; (2) Harmony with God of a "little flock," (3) Full restitution of an earth full of perfect, happy human beings, (4) the destruction of all others of the race. E30

Until all shall be tested and the disobedient cut off from life. (Acts 3:23; Rev. 20:9) Then all the worthy having been made perfect, the perfect law will be very good for them. R1068:4

After all the companies or orders of the dead are raised, etc., when "all are made alive," having destroyed the last enemy, death. R62:3

When the Mediatorial work is completed, and mankind have been fully restored. CR486:1; F108

This verse represents the everlasting condition after the world shall have had the opportunity of coming into Christ as the "City of Refuge," and after all who would corrupt the earth are destroyed. R3132:2

Verses 24 and 25 assure us of the victory of Christ, and in what that victory will consist. R1592:4

Cometh -- This word is not in any manuscript. R62:2, 763:1

The end -- The Kingdom will then cease, in the sense that Christ will deliver the authority over to the Father. R4974:4, 568:6

The end of his mediatorial reign, it having accomplished its object. D645; R5164:5; NS84:4

Messiah will abdicate the throne, after his reign shall have accomplished its work. OV192:3, 341:6

The end of sin on earth, the end of the great work of ransoming mankind and bringing them into full harmony with their Creator. R277:6, 206:5

The finish of the great salvation which he began by the sacrifice of himself once for all. R1511:2, 763:6

At the end of the Millennium. R4555:2, 5183:4, 5073:6, 4999:2, 4263:4, 2832:6, 1204:2; A305

Before the little season of Rev. 20:3,7. Q423:3; R5080:2. 4986:1; CR486:1

In the end or closing period of the age, Satan is to be loosed for a little season for the final testing of mankind. R763:6

At that moment the fiftieth thousand year period will begin. R5139:6

Christ's Millennial Kingdom will end, being merely a beginning of Christ's power and rule. The Kingdom bestowed upon The Christ is a spiritual Kingdom and it shall "have no end." (Luke 1:33) R2607:1

When he -- Christ. D645; R5965:4, 1511:2

Having "Prepared the way" of Jehovah. (Isa. 40:3) E44

Shall have delivered -- Shall give up. R763:1

With the close of the thousand years of the Messianic Kingdom, the great Mediator will deliver over the Kingdom. Those who then fail will be destroyed with Satan in the second death. PD96/110

At the conclusion of the Mediatorial reign, when all unwilling to make progress shall be destroyed in the second death, and all willing and obedient shall have been brought up out of sin and death conditions to perfection. R4631:2

The Father has committed the work of reconciliation of man to the Son, and also the judgment of the race, and will receive it back again under divine jurisdiction, when through the Son as his agent, he shall have made all things new. R2434:6, 764:5

He will have first destroyed the reign of sin and death, granted each member of the human family a full and gracious opportunity of reconciliation with God, and destroyed all willful sinners; then all the remainder he will present before the Father, perfect and unreprouvable. R1601:4, 975:4

The rebellious province having been redeemed and conquered by the Prince and Savior, as the Father's representative, establishing his laws and obedience thereto, every enemy to righteousness and truth having been either corrected or destroyed, the Lord Jesus will deliver up the then rectified and peaceful province. R1204:5

Messiah shall deliver the perfect world from his administration of mercy to the Father's administration of justice. OV130:4; R5183:4, 4974:4, 4442:2, 3322:1

When the thousand years are finished, Christ will deliver the Kingdom up to the Father, before the little season of Rev. 20. Q423:3

Having finished his work, Christ will turn it over to the Father, and then all mankind, being perfect, will be under the control of the Father. Q423:3 Mankind will not need justification by faith in order to stand before God, because only those justified by works during the Millennial age will have any standing before the Father. R3456:5; F107

The world will be perfect mentally, physically, morally; all that Adam was, plus the experiences received through the reign of evil and the subsequent reign of righteousness. R4442:2, 4175:5, 3322:1, 975:4 The law which Jesus will enforce during the thousand years will be exactly the same law that God will enforce after the thousand years, but Jesus stands for divine mercy; as the Mediator, he stands between justice and the sinner. Q424:T

Every man will be perfect and able to stand the test of justice, and will be required to do so from the moment the Mediator steps aside and turns over the Kingdom to God. R4631:2; CR486:1; Q425:T

Messiah will not deliver up any portion of the world until the end of his reign of glory and restitution. Consequently, the Ancient Worthies will belong to the "after fruits." R4999:2

The Ancient Worthies will not have life in the fullest sense until the close of the Millennial age. Q12:5

When at the close of the Millennial reign the whole world shall be delivered up, it will no longer be a fearful thing, because having been perfectly restored all will then delight to do God's will perfectly. R764:2; A305

Mankind will deal directly, as at first, with Jehovah--the mediation of the man Christ Jesus having accomplished fully and completely the grand work of reconciliation. A304

Mankind will no longer need a Mediator, but will then be able to stand in his own righteousness as Adam could before he transgressed. R2304:4, 5240:5, 4999:2, 4631:2; Q424

Those of the world, who, after trial during the Millennial age, are found worthy of life, will then be presented to the Father. R388:4
All enmity and the curse will have been destroyed. R587:5
We may assert positively that there will be no probation beyond that time. R726:5

The kingdom to God -- The Millennial Kingdom. R1511:2, 1904:6

The restored empire. R763:6

The dominion of earth to the Father. A305; R277:6, 206:5

Control. R453:3

Whose Kingdom it is anyway, since it will be established and perpetuated by his power. D617

A separate Kingdom from that of the remainder of the universe. R2832:6

Nothing by way of making it more perfect will remain to be done in the successive ages. R770:1, 726:2

Perfect in every respect. R1118:5*

Presenting to him the justified and perfectly restored of the human race, who thereafter shall be directly amenable to the Father. R453:6; F108

When Christ has completed his work of restitution, the final test must be applied to prove the worthiness of each individual of the race to continued existence throughout the ages of glory to follow. R1234:1, 4999:2

His special law and special judgment being over. R1068:4

After the Mediatorial Kingdom shall have passed, Satan will be loosed for a little season, to prove all those that dwell upon the face of the whole earth. (Rev. 20:7, 8) R4999:2, 4538:4, 1234:1; Q425:T

The fact that this testing of mankind will be after he shall have delivered the Kingdom to the Father, does not prove that the glorified Jesus will have nothing to do with the destruction of Satan and those obedient to him. R4999:4; Q425:T

Individual relationship with God will not be possible until the end of the thousand years. R5240:5, 2426:6

Not until the end of the age will any of the world, under the New Covenant arrangement, reach sonship. R4729:4

They will be presented to the Father as sons. R1412:4

The world will not be accepted at all, nor have any intercourse with the Father, until the close of their trial at the close of the Millennium.

R2426:6; E458

The New Covenant does not become personal between God and mankind until the Mediator steps out of the way. R4903:4

Mankind anew in covenant relationship with God. R4538:1

Man, through rebellion, forfeited his God-given rights--among others, self-government in harmony with Jehovah's laws. God, through Christ, redeems all those rights, and secures the right for man not only to return personally to his former estate, but also return to his former office as king of earth. A304

The Kingdom of God and the laws will always be the same. All mankind, then perfectly restored, will be capable of rendering perfect obedience in letter as well as in spirit. A304

"That God may be all in all." (Verse 28) R5965:4

"The head of Christ is God." (1 Cor. 11:3) R462:6

Even the Father -- And Father. R763:1

By whose authority and in whose power the Millennial reign will be inaugurated and brought to a successful issue. NS567:2

By delivering it to mankind as the Father's representatives, who were designed from the first to have this honor. A305; F50

When the Messianic Kingdom has restored mankind to perfection, it is the divine purpose for Messiah to relinquish this subordinate Kingdom, which will merge into and become a part of the great Kingdom of Jehovah.

R4974:4, 1204:5

Then mankind will be introduced to and come under the direct control of the great, grand Father of all, Jehovah Almighty. E458

When he -- Christ. D645; R1511:2

When our Lord Jesus, as the Father's honored agent, will have completed the beautifying and glorifying of the Lord's "footstool." D649; E47

Put down -- Greek, katargeo, destroyed. R2001:5, 418:5, 165:2

Abrogated. R763:4

By love or by force. R1511:2

Put away, not only other oppositions, but the opposition to the workings of death. R4999:5

Destroyed all opposition to God's laws, sin. R165:2; NS680:2

All insubordination. Q218:T, 753:2; NS680:1

Complete subjection. R1592:4

So thorough will be its work, that when this seventh day shall close, no force or governmental power will be necessary to secure obedience to God's will. R763:2

Having terminated this work, our Lord will not be without an occupation.

He will relinquish the oversight of the affairs of earth, and will assume again the general position as Associate- administrator of the affairs of the universe. R4974:4, 3683:5, 3470:4; Q425:T; NS84:4

Rule -- Conflicting rule. D649

Opposing rule. D645

Misrule. R1204:4

Antagonistic rule. SM54:1

Government. R763:4

Opposed to the divine government. OV47:4

Opposed to Jehovah and his righteous law. E47; D645, 649; A261; R3322:1, 2434:6, 1592:4, 418:5

And power -- Opposed to righteousness, truth and love; opposed to God and his perfect law. R1511:3, 1204:4, 62:3

The fact that the world is thus to be tried, shows that God has a standard of character to be attained by all, on any plane of existence. R5080:3, 5575:4

He will completely overcome every opposing power by the exercise of his own almighty power for their complete and final overthrow. R1592:4

1 Corinthians 15:25

For he must reign -- Christ must reign. E40; R526:4, 474:4

Messiah. OV44:2, 340:2

At his second advent. R3564:1; Q741:2

In his Millennial Kingdom. SM116:2; R2607:1, 2063:5; Q218:T; OV44:2; NS713:3

His Millennial reign following his second advent. SM54:1

The second advent lasts much longer than the first advent; it includes the Millennial reign. R263:1, 19:2

A reign of righteousness unto life. R5031:3, 5336:1, 5293:1; Q5:7

Messiah's reign will be that of a monarchy; and it will be very exclusive and aristocratic. Additionally, it will be most autocratic-theocratic; for the will of its subjects will not be consulted in the slightest. OV340:2

The fifth universal empire of earth. (Dan. 2) OV340:5

The world's great judgment day. R1248:1

He must reign as the representative of his Kingdom and the Father's. CR452:4

He must be present until all of this work is accomplished. R361:4

During the reign, Jesus will be given full power and authority to control the world. R5022:6, 278:1; Q69:4

As evil now reigns and rules and opposes good, so then righteousness will reign and rule and oppose all evil. R734:4; CR452:4; OV434:6

When our Lord's Kingdom shall be established it will be a spiritual empire, against which flesh and blood will have no prevailing power. NS238:6

The limited time of that reign is a thousand years (Rev. 20:6-10), at the expiration of which all opposing individuals, and the devil who deceived and led them, are to be cast into the lake of fire. (Rev. 20:7-15) R1592:5

Satan will be bound and will deceive and blind the nations no more until the thousand years of Christ's reign are finished. HG188:5; NS526:5

Christ's millennial work will not consist simply in drawing men's hearts by love, through a knowledge of the truth; it will be ruling with an iron rod--with unbending justice, as well. (Rev. 2:27) R1057:1; NS133:2

The force that will be employed during the Millennium will not interfere with man's God-like quality of free will. R1057:2

Messiah's Kingdom will address itself promptly to the rectification of every form of righteousness, financial, political, social, religious.

Every nation, system, or element contrary to the divine standards of righteousness will be broken to shivers with his "iron rod." HG496:4

The great work of Christ, during the thousand years of his reign, will be accomplished in all who willingly submit to his righteous authority, and all others shall be cut off in the second death. R1248:4; HG496:2

Messiah's glorious rule of a thousand years. R5604:2, 5022:6, 4986:1, 763:6, 568:6; HG514:6

Nothing insignificant will be the outcome of that glorious reign of a thousand years. At its very beginning Satan will be bound. For a thousand years the Sun of Righteousness shall pour forth the light of truth and grace upon our poor, fallen, race. OV341:6; R5780:1, 4729:3, 3175:5, 1592:5, 1248:1

It is apparent to all thinking minds that Christ's reign has not yet begun, for the Scriptures declare that during the reign of the Lord, Satan will be bound, and that in the close of that reign he will be loosed for a little season. Q827:4

At the end of the thousand years of Christ's reign the whole world will be turned over to the Father; the race will then have a trial time, a testing, just as Adam had when he was in Eden. R4986:1, 5073:6, 4999:3
There is no reason for a further trial to be assigned; for the trial during the Millennial age under Christ, as Judge, will be a thorough, fair, individual and final trial. HG294:2

The Kingdom which Jehovah will establish in the hands of Christ during the Millennium will be Jehovah's Kingdom, but it will be under the direct control of Christ, as his vicegerent, in much the same manner as the Southern States were dealt with after the rebellion by the United States government. A303

We see evidence that the time of that reign is drawing near. CR452:2

The Church shall reign and judge with him. R1176:3

The Millennial age, or age of conquest, is the first of the "ages to come." (Eph. 2:7) HG11:6

Till -- Messiah's reign will not be dealing with perfect conditions. R4985:3

It will require all of the thousand years of Messiah's reign to subdue all unrighteousness and bring into subjection all evil and error. Q852:2

God is able to undo in one thousand years the work which Satan has accomplished in six thousand years. R764:4; CR279:2

Six thousand years past and one thousand is future, seven thousand years of Jehovah's "rest," will carry us to the time when the Son's Millennial reign shall cease, having accomplished its design. F50 Being associated with the Father, Christ (and we in him) shall always belong to the reigning and ruling power (Rev. 11:15); but in the especial sense of ruling over and subduing earth, the reign is limited. R165:3

Put all enemies -- Put down all enemies. R579:4

Placed all enemies. R763:5

Of the human race. HG514:6

All sin and all insubordination. F398; OV192:1, 341:5; NS354:4, 680:1; OV192:1, 341:5

Subdued. R1155:4, 1204:4; HG12:1

Christ's Kingdom must rule the earth until all the wicked are destroyed.
R5293:1

All opponents, all things in the way of the great restitution which he comes to accomplish. B106; R5992:4; CR452:4

Evil and every form of opposition. R734:4

Whether they be evil conditions, principles, powers or individuals.
R1592:4, 764:1

Including physical evils, such as sickness, pain and death; as well as mental imperfections and moral evil, sin; Satan and all who have his spirit of wilful insubordination to God's beneficent laws. HG309:5

Including not only evil forces, but also all persons who wilfully become associates in and parts of those evil things. The enemies will therefore be both animate and inanimate. R1511:3

Until he has liberated all the groaning, travailing and sin-sick creation from the bondage of corruption and death into that freedom from pain, sorrow and dying which is the divine provision. (Rom. 8:21) R1176:4

The awakening will find men morally and intellectually as they were when their existence terminated; hence the raising to perfection will require training, discipline, etc. R763:5

Those things which hinder men from keeping divine law, and thus being in full harmony with the Creator. R4999:5

Those who, when brought to a full knowledge and ability, are willingly and knowingly the opponents of righteousness. R1155:5, 4999:3

People will be more or less in the Adamic death during the thousand years and will rise gradually out of Adamic imperfection and death to the perfection of the human nature. R5031:3, 361:4; Q5:7

That there will be some who after being forced to bow in submission will remain enemies at heart and require finally to be destroyed, is evident.

The significance of this expression is not conversion, but destruction.
R1057:2

The object of Christ's reign is to bring about the grand results for which he died. The world redeemed by the death shall be saved by his life. (Rom. 5:10) R763:5

Some will maintain an attitude of rebellion, loving sin and hating righteousness. These will be granted a hundred years of trial. (Isa.

65:17-25) Messiah, as judge, will cause such to die accursed. R4986:1

The goats in Matt. 25:41,46. R1057:2, 1155:4; Q425:T; A305, 144

After perfection is reached there will be no more accidents. R5031:3; Q6:T

The reign will accomplish the wiping away of all tears from all eyes, and there shall be no more sorrow, crying, pain, nor death. (Rev. 21:4)

HG514:6; NS567:6

Satan is not one of the enemies whom Jesus will destroy in his role of Mediator; but divine justice will determine his deserts. R4999:6

The great work just at hand is not the work of a twenty-four-hour day, but the great, grand, God-like work of the Millennial day. R1155:4

The time for doing this work, the time for exercising his power as the Mediator and putting all things into subjection, is still future. SM720:1; NS356:3

Under his feet -- Jehovah's feet. R3683:5

The God of peace will introduce lasting peace and blessing by crushing Satan and all wilful children under the feet of The Christ, shortly. (Rom. 16:20) R1176:4

In subjection. R1681:5, 764:4

In full subjugation. SM116:2

Humbled in the dust. R1511:3

Trodden under foot--destroyed. R1204:4, 1155:4

Subdued everything that is not in harmony with the divine arrangement. OV44:2

The special reign of Christ over the affairs of earth is for a limited time and for a particular purpose, and it will terminate with the accomplishment of that purpose. A304

The honor of completing man's recovery, the right which he died to secure, is conferred upon Christ; until none exist who do not recognize, honor and obey him. A304

Force will be used instead of preaching; that his rebuke will smite into the hearts of his enemies, and that all shall fall under him. SM54:2

Put down every opposition and evil. SM16:2, 116:2; R4999:2, 1248:1, 361:3

The complete overthrow of sin and every enemy of righteousness. R2049:5, 2032:1

Messiah will not deliver up any portion of the world, even when perfected, until the end of the thousand years of his reign of glory and restitution.

R4999:2

His Millennial Kingdom having been arranged for the very purpose of releasing those who shall desire to be in harmony with God; and destroying all who are wilful opponents of God and righteousness. R1511:3

Right doing and right doers only shall continue forever. A121; HG394:2

Not upon thrones of honor. R1176:4

The glorious future of eternal blessedness bursts upon our enraptured vision, beginning at the close of the Millennium with the great jubilee of jubilees--the jubilee of the universe. R716:6*

1 Corinthians 15:26

Last enemy -- The greatest of all enemies. R474:4, 303:3

Death, which is an enemy. Q261:1

God meant no pleasant, agreeable thing when he pronounced death as a curse, a penalty for sin. R1018:1*

We are all dying as a result of sin. CR228:2

It has been an enemy, because all down through the age, people have been suffering under the Adamic death who really, if they had had the opportunity, knowledge, etc., would have liked to serve God. Q261:1

It will take the whole thousand years to bring man out of death. So long as death has any hold on mankind, it is not destroyed. A218:T; R277:6, 206:5; Q218:T

Other evils will be brought into subjection early in the Millennium.

R3176:1

The one enemy which shall longest have a footing is Adamic death. It will continue to have a measure of power until near the close of the Millennium. Any imperfection of mind or body is so much of death. R1219:3

Adamic death is classed as an enemy because it has a hold upon some who are already reconciled to God by the death of his Son. R1219:4

The last foe to God, and to righteousness, and to man. Q218:T

Satan and his hosts would be destroyed before death is destroyed, and both would be destroyed during the reign of Jesus. Q827:4

Death is always spoken of in the Bible as an enemy. Q766:3

It is not a friend, it will be destroyed. R625:6

The second death is not an enemy of man; it is the righteous sentence of a righteous God in the interest of his creatures. R4999:6, 1511:4, 1248:1, 1219:4, 764:1; Q261:1

This text can in no sense or degree be used as a proof of the everlasting salvation of all. R1219:5

Shall be destroyed -- Greek: katargeo, used in the sense of utter destruction. R2001:5

To be set aside or rendered powerless. R1204:4, 763:5, 95:2

During the one thousand years' reign. R277:6, 206:5

He shall destroy Adamic death during his reign by releasing from its dominion all whose liberty he purchased with his own precious blood. R764:1

No man shall fail of eternal life except by a wilful rejection of the truth, when, or after, he has come to the knowledge of it. R630:5

"He will destroy those who corrupt the earth." (Rev. 11:18) F398

Is death -- Adamic death. A222; D645; R5780:1, 4999:5, 4941:1, 3175:6, 1592:5, 763:5, 382:4, 277:6, 206:5; Q261:1, 5:7; CR228:2

THE death, which had reigned over and conquered the race through Adam's sin had now become an enemy, an opponent of God's plan, and hence would surely be destroyed by the reign of Messiah. R1511:3

Which will be destroyed when men, by obeying the voice of the great Teacher, Priest and King, have been gradually raised by restitution processes up out of death until they shall reach life in its full, perfect degree. R1204:4, 3176:1

When sin is completely eradicated; when sickness and pain are no more; when all sorrow and sighing and tears are forever banished; then, and not until then, will death be destroyed. R763:5

Sin and death go hand in hand, and neither shall be destroyed until the end of the thousand years. R10:3*

Adamic death in all its forms; sickness, and pain, as well as the tomb. R277:6, 206:5

Death as the final sentence is clearly shown in Matt. 25:31-46 where Jesus, with the Church, is pictured judging the world. R4986:2, 1155:4; A305, 144; F50
Sheol [Hebrew], hades [Greek], and the grave will be no more. OV177:1; R4892:5
Disguise the facts as we may, death is an enemy. OV214:6
Death had not always been an enemy or an opposer of God's plan: once it was his servant, executing upon fallen man the penalty pronounced by God. R1511:3
The condition of death is the antithesis of life, it can only be defined in negatives or in figurative expressions. R822:5*
Not the second death. R4999:6, 1592:5, 1219:6

Hath -- Promised to. R1204:5
Put all things -- Subjected. R1511:3, 1269:3 Signifying the whole intelligent creation, human and spiritual. R1778:4
Including the Church. A82
Not absolutely all men and all angels; only all who submit themselves to Christ willingly, and in harmony with the New Covenant. R1778:4
This statement is obviously not literal, but symbolic of the subjection of all authority and power to Christ. R1778:1
It does not mean that our Lord Jesus stands with his feet upon all things--earth, sea, angels and men. R1269:3
Under his feet -- Under Christ's feet. E40; R3470:5, 1778:1, 1511:3, 1269:3, 1204:5, 165:4
Under his control, power, or authority. R1269:3, 827:1
The dominion of earth is to be placed in the hands of Christ by Jehovah. A261
To make him Lord of all. R1204:5
But -- Yet. R1204:5
When he saith -- When the Father saith. E40
Jehovah. R1204:5, 1778:1
Are put under him -- Are put under Christ. R1269:3
The Son. E40
Under subjection to Christ. R3687:5, 1269:3
Are to be subject to him. R1204:5
It is manifest -- To that Christian common sense instructed of God in the principles and purposes of his plan. R1778:1 Is left for inference to the intelligent mind, and not stated. R1269:3, 2985:2

That Jehovah did not mean by that promise of the high exaltation of Christ that he would exalt him and his authority superior to himself and his own authority. R1204:6

That he -- That Jehovah. R2985:2, 1879:4, 1269:3, 1204:5

The Father. E79, 40; R3687:5

As God over all. R1778:1

Is excepted -- From every comparison. E392, 394, 444

Jehovah alone is the superior to our Lord Jesus. R1511:4

In no sense of the word will Jesus take the place, the honor, the glory of the Father. OV308:1

The power all resided in the Father--everything is of him, from him, through the Son, by the Son as his honored instrument and representative. R3475:1, 3161:2

Which did -- Which by his plan and power, by promise gave to Christ this high station. R1204:5

For the thousand years. D645

Under him -- Under Jesus. R2985:5

Christ. R1269:3

The Son. E40

1 Corinthians 15:28

And -- Hence. R1204:6

When all things -- After all things. R1204:6

All earthly things. E40

All the conditions and circumstances of the present and past, which, under God's overruling providence, are made to work together for the final accomplishment of the divine purpose. R1778:4

When Christ shall have conquered sin and Satan. R5210:1

When all are brought into harmony and perfection--at the end of the age. R249:3

When the Son of God's work is finished of restoring all things and bringing order and harmony out of confusion. R196:4

When all the willing shall have been made perfect, and all the wilfully wicked shall have been destroyed. CR479:5

The reign of evil. R1904:6

Paul refers to Psalm 8:6. HG671:5

Subdued -- Subjugated. SM54:1; R2747:6, 1204:6

Subjected. D645

All evil and death shall be conquered. R2690:3

Some by conversion, some by destruction. R2740:1

At the close of the Millennial age. R4729:4, 5210:1, 3470:4; CR479:5

The entire authority, with the world in complete subjection to the divine law and fully restored to the divine likeness and all wilful transgressors cut off, will be surrendered to the Father's hands, and in accordance with his pre-arrangement will be redelivered to mankind. R3470:4

After the thousand years' reign Satan shall be loosed and the trial of Rev. 20 shall ensue; but the reign of Christ and the Church will evidently continue long enough after the thousand years to destroy all found unworthy in that final test, and to thus complete the work for which this reign is instituted. R2740:1

Only the wilful sinners against light and opportunity will be utterly destroyed in the second death. R2690:4

Unto him -- The Father. D645

Christ. R1204:6

Under the Son. E40

Then -- When Christ shall accomplish the object of his reign. A308

Our Lord (his Church associated with him) will abdicate the throne of earth. R3470:4; OV192:3, 341:7

Then the New Covenant will be at an end; and there will be no further use for it. The special work of Christ as Mediator of the New Covenant will be at an end, for the same reasons. R1179:3

The Son -- The Christ. R3683:5

Be subject unto him -- Jehovah, the Father. E40, 79; D645; R2740:1, 1204:6, 331:6, 165:4

The great emperor of the Universe. R1262:4

God has given us a glimpse of the infinite future in Eph. 2:7. CR479:5

At the end of the Millennium our Lord Jesus will no longer hold office as Mediator between God and men, as he will have done for the thousand years. R5023:1, 3470:4, 1179:3, 387:4; Q69:6

Because there will be nothing more to be accomplished. R5023:1; Q69:6

Ultimately Messiah will transfer the allegiance of the whole world (perfected by him) to Jehovah God. NS848:5

The great honor of God upon The Christ will be an everlasting honor; but the details of the Father's purposes are still held as an unrevealed mystery. SM16:2

This Scripture cannot be reconciled with the doctrine of the trinity. R1236:3*, 802:6*

That put -- Which did subject. D645

By promise as well as by delegated authority and power. R1204:6

All things under him -- The Son. E40, 79

Under Christ. R1204:6 For the thousand years. D645

That gave him the power. R331:6

That -- So that. R1204:6

God -- The Father. E40; R3687:5, 3683:5

The God, Jehovah. R1204:6

May be all in all -- Of the universe. R3861:6, 3683:5, 3470:4

The supreme over all. R1204:6

Or above all. R165:4

Be recognized as The Great I Am in whom the all in all of majesty and power will inhere. R1511:4

The recognized Head over all--the All over all. R1204:5, 1076:4*, 766:4*, 763:2, 269:5

"My Father is greater than I." "My Father is greater than all." (John 14:28; 10:29) R715:4*, 369:6

May be universally recognized thus. R3161:3, 1204:6; CR276:5

To all eternity there will be no opposition to his will; God will have full control. R5210:1, 3683:5

Whose will then will be "in all," and done in earth as in heaven. R269:6, 277:6, 206:5

The restored world will, after the restitution process is finished, recognize Jehovah as the great original fountain of life and blessing, the author of the great plan of salvation--the Grand Father and Over-Lord of all. E142

When God's plan shall be brought fully into execution, loving authority and joyful submission will fill the universe with blessed peace and everlasting joy. R766:4*

The government will never cease, because the government which Christ establishes is the divine one. R3470:4

Comparisons which show dignity and honor pertaining to Christ, Head and Body, are never understood to be comparisons with Jehovah, who is beyond all comparison. R2747:6

God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself in the same sense in which he will be "all in all" when the Son shall have delivered up the Kingdom to the Father. Q781:T

It is not logical to say that there is a devil, an opponent of God, and at the same time to maintain that God is all in all, and omnipresent. R5210:1

1 Corinthians 15:29

Else -- This has been considered a very obscure passage, because the real meaning of immersion, as symbolic of death, has been generally lost sight of. R1545:2

A misapprehension of the Apostle's meaning of this verse led, during the "Dark Ages," to substitutionary baptism. F455; R1545:2; HG733:3

Paul's topic was the resurrection of the dead, and he is here sustaining and elaborating that doctrine. F456; HG733:6

Which are baptized -- Which are baptizing. (Sinaitic manuscript reading) R1545:2

They had all been baptized, and their baptism signified or symbolized death. F456; R1545:4; HG733:6

Each one of those who had been immersed, had symbolized his own death--had cast his lot among those dead with Christ, to share his sacrificial death. R1545:4; F456; HG734:1

A recognition of the death with Christ to self-will, to the world, and all worldly interests, and also of the water immersion as its symbol. R1545:5

Our immersion into death. R1986:6

For the dead -- On behalf thereof. (Sinaitic manuscript reading) R1545:2
On behalf of the dead and dying world. R1545:4, 1986:6; F456; HG734:1
Jesus was thus baptized for the dead. PT388:4*

Not those who are in the tomb, but those who are nominally alive, though under sentence to death because of sin, "dead in trespasses and sins," dead in God's sight, condemned in Adam. R1986:6

Why are they then -- Why then were you baptized for the dead, if you hope for nothing beyond? R1545:4

Why should we consecrate our lives unto death? F456; HG734:4

Paul is combating and disproving the theories of some who were teaching that there would be no resurrection. R1545:4

We would not need to sacrifice anything were it not for the dead and dying condition of the world. R1986:6

Baptized for the dead -- To bring the dying world to Christ or to serve them after they are brought to him, and to shine as lights in the world, reprovng sin. R1987:1

While our sacrifice is no part of the ransom price, it is a filling up of "that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ for his body's sake."

(Col. 1:24) R1987:1

Some have been led to the absurd conclusion that early Christians were immersed in the interest of their dead unbelieving friends and relatives. R1545:2

1 Corinthians 15:30

Stand we in jeopardy -- It is as new creatures in Christ we stand in jeopardy. PT388:5*

1 Corinthians 15:31

I die daily -- St. Paul was speaking of his own case, but this statement applies to all who are laying down their lives in the Lord's service.

R5173:5; Q760:2

Our baptism into Christ's death began at the time we made a full consecration of our life with no reservation. It will continue day by day until our sacrifices are wholly consumed upon the Lord's altar. HG264:4

By taking up the cross and following after the Lord and Head. OV317:2

There is continual mortifying of the old will until the time of actual death. R5103:4, 4615:1, 3282:5; Q760:2

It may be ostracism by the world; the expenditure of physical strength; or a stab from some one who has hurt us with his tongue. R5173:6,5

We renounce the earthly that we may share in the heavenly. During the change we are dying daily and becoming more alive daily. R5090:2 The new creature never dies, unless it forfeits its rights to life and goes into second death. R5103:4

The body of flesh which had belonged to the old creature, reckoned dead since consecration, is not really dead. R5103:4

1 Corinthians 15:32

If -- Seemingly referring to the persecution in Acts 19:21-34 when it was probably the intention of the ringleaders of the mob to have a "spectacle" in the Coliseum--to have the Apostle cast into the area to be devoured by the wild beasts. R2207:5

With wild beasts -- If Paul did not have a combat intended for him, it came near being such a conflict that it amounted to practically the same thing; or it is barely possible that Paul referred to the Ephesian mob itself, as "beasts" taking his life. R2207:5

Let us eat and drink -- Wiser and better far it would be that we should make the most of the present life, enjoying all its pleasures instead of consecrating ourselves to death in baptism, and then living a life of self-sacrifice, which is a daily dying. R1545:4

For to morrow we die -- And die and have no thought for the future at all. CR242:4

1 Corinthians 15:33

Evil communications -- A pure heart loves cleanliness of person, of clothing, of language and of habits. R5123:3

The ear becomes accustomed to profanity, unkind and bitter words; and the eye to sights of misery and injustice. R2146:2

It is all in vain that some testify of their love to God while they keep company with his opponents. R1588:6

Broadly applicable words. It is better never to mingle with others than run the least risk of having the heart polluted. R2577:4

Corrupt good manners -- The tendency is to blunt the finer sensibilities of the pure and good, so that in time the heart will become more or less calloused and unsympathetic unless the unholy influences are resisted. R2146:2

A pure heart loves righteousness and hates iniquity; delights in the society of the pure and shuns all others. R5123:3

The spirit of pride which had manifested itself among the apostles had been inspired to some extent by their treasurer, Judas--as evil communications always are corrupting. R2449:6

Awake -- This exhortation is not addressed to the world of sinners, but to Christians. SM349:1

This appeal is especially appropriate today, and it should be the effort of all of us to lift up the proper standard of righteousness not only in our teachings but in all the acts and affairs of life. NS445:6

Whoever hopes to be a king, priest and judge, should now attain the qualifications of heart and mind which will make him competent for the work. SM349:3, 354:2, 355:1

We all know how to will right, but how to do right is the problem. SM350:2

Whoever is violating the principle of justice in his home, in the church, in business, or social relations should examine the matter earnestly and prayerfully. SM354:1

If all might get the thought of the Golden Rule firmly fixed in the mind, if each one could awake to righteousness, to justice, the whole world would be revolutionized. SM353:T

To righteousness -- Awake to a proper appreciation of justice. SM349:1, 351:3

Justice is righteousness. SM352:T

Some Christians see the doctrine of love, and forget that there is a lesson which precedes it. SM351:3

In vain does any one practise love to his fellow creatures or God while he is violating the principle of justice. Justice first, love afterwards, should be the rule governing all of our dealings with others. SM354:1

To do justice to your neighbor as you wish that neighbor to do justice to you is the essence of the Law of God given to the Jews for their treatment of others. (Matt. 7:12) SM352:1

Justice is the foundation of all character, of all right living. It is the foundation of the throne of God. (Psa. 89:14) SM354:1, 355:3

Upon this sure foundation we shall build a superstructure of love. SM355:3

The very least that we must do is to give justice to one another; and to do so will mean a great blessing to our own characters. SM354:T

We should not be unjust even to an animal. We should give every creature the rights which belong to it. SM354:2

Paul did not always succeed in carrying out God's will for righteousness. "To will is present with me, but how to perform I find not." (Rom. 7:18) SM350:2

Sin not -- Do not sin against justice in your lives. SM349:2

To do violence to justice is sin. SM354:1, 352:T, 349:1

Some have not -- Paul reproves some of the members of the Church, the Body of Christ. NS506:2

We who are in the School of Christ recognize that the Lord is teaching us and is preparing us for a great work in the future. SM349:3, 351:2

The knowledge -- A knowledge respecting justice, the principles of righteousness. SM349:2

The glorious instructions of our Lord Jesus, the apostles, the Law and the prophets. SM349:4

God expects every member of his family to have a perfect will, so we seek diligently to prove "what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God." (Rom. 12:2) SM350:3

The knowledge of God's will is obtained through the study of the Bible. (2 Tim. 2:15) SM351:T

I speak this -- And this is. SM349:2

1 Corinthians 15:35

But -- Having proved the fact of a general resurrection, and having shown the two orders, the Apostle comes to particulars respecting the two classes in answer to a supposed question. R1511:4

Paul held an imaginary discussion with doubters of the resurrection in his day. SM40:2

He pauses to answer some questions. R95:2

Some man will say -- Some will unthinkingly ask. R1259:3

Dead raised up -- Our Lord's resurrection is God's guarantee of a resurrection of all our race, for which Christ died. R1511:1, 5579:2

During the Millennial age, while being raised up out of death to perfection of life, mankind will still be "dead" although, like the Church of the present time, they will be reckoned to have passed from death to life, from the moment they accept the New Covenant. R1854:2

With what body -- With what kind of body. R666:4

God's proposition is the restoration of the soul, the personality. R5612:2

Some dead souls, in the resurrection, will come forth with spirit bodies, and others with human bodies. The important part is, that it is the soul, the being, that comes forth--not the body. R5017:2, 1854:3

While the bodies with which mankind will be awakened will be physical bodies of flesh and blood and bones, they will not be the same bodies.

R1854:3; HG137:5

Their awakening will be in bodies such as men have at present--imperfect bodies--mentally and morally; but we should suppose that a reasonable amount of physical restitution would be granted at once. R1854:3

They will come forth in practically the same condition in which they died. SM40:2

A being is made up of two elements--body and spirit of life; hence, if restored to being, they must have some sort of bodies provided for them.

R277:2, 205:5

If resurrected (lifted up to perfection) at the moment of awakening, men would not know themselves or each other, so great would be the changes mentally, morally and physically. R1854:4

The statement "I believe in the resurrection of the body," made by various church-creeds, but not by the Bible, misleads so many. R1853:1; CR170:4; Q745:2

Do they come -- Will the dead return. SM40:2

Come forth in the resurrection. R666:4

These beings come into being again. R277:2, 205:5
Where are their bodies? R1259:3
Paul goes on to show that the dead in Christ are raised a spiritual body.
HG12:5

1 Corinthians 15:36

Thou fool -- O foolish person. HG137:5
O senseless man! Q820:T; R340:6*
O thoughtless person, to suppose that the decay of the body to dust could hinder the fulfillment of God's promise! Do you not see that in nature God teaches this very lesson? R1259:3; HG137:5
Quickened -- Made alive. Q820:T; R340:6*

1 Corinthians 15:37

And that -- The Apostle uses an illustration from nature to teach the Church, not regarding those living, but those dead. He is answering the question of verse 35. R666:4, 360:6, 95:2
The dying and living of the grain best illustrated THE FACT of the dead coming forth to life. R666:4
Which thou sowest -- In death. E344; R5108:5, 1880:5; HG331:4
Not -- The grain you plant never comes up again; it dies and wastes away. R95:2; HG137:5
Body that shall be -- In the resurrection of the soul or being. E349
The bodies in which the world will be awakened will be practically the same as those which died, though not the same atoms of matter. R4794:4, 1857:4, 360:6; E349; PD53/65; HG331:4
As with the development of grain, so with mankind, the body sown is not the identical thing which springs up, though the same nature, and the same identical personality. R360:6
The restoration of the bodies of the billions who have died would be a very absurd proposition. The human frame changes every seven years; so that a man who has reached the age of forty-nine years has had seven bodies. R5612:1, 5578:6, 5017:3, 4994:2, 3174:1, 1853:1
The resurrection body is not the body buried. R2082:2; HG137:5
There will be different kinds of resurrection bodies--just as with the different sorts of grain. R1259:3
Bare grain -- It is with man in death and resurrection as with the planting of grain and its reappearance. R1511:4
Though the seed planted does not come up, another seed of the same sort comes forth--a new grain of the same nature as planted. R1259:3; HG137:5
Whatever kind of seed is planted in death, of the same kind and nature will be the resurrection crop. SM40:2
It is not the old grain but the germ or vitality from it which comes forth in a new grain. R666:6

The Book of Mormon teaches that the very body which goes down into the grave will be the body that will be resurrected. (2 Nephi 9:12) HG731:5

Some other grain -- If you plant corn you do not expect to see the same grain of corn come up; but you will expect to find other grains of the same kind. HG137:5; R95:2

If you plant barley, you will reap barley. If an animal body is sown in death, the animal body will be raised. The Church is an exception to the rule. We have animal bodies merely loaned to us, in which to operate. We are new creatures, not human beings. R5108:5, 3063:5, 1511:5, 1259:4, 667:6, 360:6

If rye represented the human stock, and by a special treatment of the grain before sowing, changed it into wheat, then those changed grains would sprout and develop not as rye but as wheat. Thus the Apostle illustrates the resurrection of the Church. SM40:3

The children of Adam will have human bodies; those who experience a change of nature through Christ will have spirit bodies, in the resurrection.

R1857:4, 3063:5

Those who experience a change of nature, from human to divine, now, through Christ, will not have human bodies when perfected, but spirit bodies; now begotten and quickened, shall be born in the resurrection.

R1957:4

The resurrection, both natural and spiritual, finds an illustration in the processes of vegetation. R3250:2, 666:4

1 Corinthians 15:38

But God -- In the resurrection. E349; R5017:5, 4668:4, 2123:6, 1880:5, 1259:4; Q588:T

At the time of awakening. R4499:6

Not after the resurrection. R2797:2

Giveth it -- Each person, each soul or sentient being. R1880:5; CR170:4; E377, 349; HG227:6, 331:4

The soul or being that is to be restored. E344; R5166:3, 5017:5, 4994:2, 4499:6, 3063:1, 880:5; Q745:2; HG137:5, 331:2

What the individual is interested in is the resurrection of his soul--his being--his personality. R5166:3

The germ of life through which man shall be restored to being (whether earthly or heavenly nature) is "hid with Christ in God." (Col. 3:3).

R666:6 God will have no difficulty in making a body; divine power is equal to any emergency. The Sadducees doubted the power of God. R5612:2

The Scriptures never speak of the resurrection of our bodies. R5017:5, 2082:2; PD53/65

If "it" means the body, how does this verse apply? HG227:6

A body -- A new body. E349, 343; R2187:3, 1880:5; HG333:1

Not the body that died, with wounds and imperfections. R2479:4; PD53/65

It will not be the same body, composed of the same solids and liquids as the one which was buried, but it will be the same being who died that will be resurrected. R1259:3

There is not one statement in the Bible that declares that the same body that dies is to be brought forth in the resurrection. R5612:2, 2082:2

As it hath pleased him -- As he pleases. R1880:5

As his infinite wisdom has been pleased to provide. HG331:4

To every seed -- To every kind of seed. E349

There are as many harvests as there are kinds of seed. R576:2

The world at large have been sown with the natural seed--human nature--and will be raised with natural bodies; while the new--divine-nature, becomes a new seed, and requires a new body. R340:6*, 277:3, 205:6, 95:2

What body you will have depends upon what seed you are of when buried. R95:2

His own body -- His own appropriate kind of body. E349

His own body; the raised up one will be of the same nature as when he died. F706; R2602:4

To the Church, spirit bodies; to the world, human bodies, but not the ones lost in death. E344, 349; R1259:4, 360:6, 277:3, 205:6; CR170:4; HG331:4

All who are of the spiritual seed will get a spiritual body, just as surely as the natural seed will have its own body. R95:3

Provide to each kind of seed his own appropriate body. R1259:4, 666:4

We presume that children will arise children and develop. R201:4

Not the same flesh -- In verses 39-41 the Apostle introduces a description of the first or chief resurrection. R1511:5

Though you have never seen a spiritual body, yet you can see this to be reasonable, and in harmony with God's dealings generally as you see them every day--even of fleshly bodies, there are different sorts and grades--yet all flesh. R95:4

There is a difference in natures; one flesh of man, beasts, fishes, and birds. R5622:4, 5025:4; Q502:5; OV353:5

Various grades of earthly beings. R1511:6

Varieties of earthly nature. R666:4

However different the organism, they are all earthy. R5025:4; OV353:5

There will be on the earthly plane perfect fishes, birds, and beasts. R828:1

Kind -- Order. R828:1, 404:2*, 222:1*

Men -- Man is the lord or chief. R1511:6, 828:1, 470:3

The whole world of mankind are of one kind of seed--human stock. SM40:2

1 Corinthians 15:40

There are -- The varieties and differences of fish, fowl, etc., and of sun, moon and stars illustrate the differences which should be expected in the resurrection. R666:4

Two general sorts or kinds of bodies. R277:2, 206:5; HG138:1

Two classes of beings. HG137:6

Both will be glorious. R277:5, 95:4

Celestial bodies -- In the spirit realm there are various degrees or grades of being--the angelic being one, and the divine nature chief of all. R1511:6, 458:1

A variety of organisms, but all are spirit. OV354:3; R5025:4

We know that the spiritual is not composed of flesh, blood and bones.

R578:3, 261:3, 219:2, 18:1

The Bride of Christ will be like him and will come forth spirit beings.

R666:4

God is the chief; cherubim, seraphim, and the still lower order of angels are all spirit beings; Jesus was resurrected to the spirit plane. R5025:4; Q502:6; OV353:5 The angels are in God's image or likeness; the cherubim and seraphim as well, although on a higher scale than man. Q502:6

Bodies terrestrial -- Earthly. A182; R5025:4, 277:2, 219:2

The mass of mankind will come forth human beings. R666:4

Various orders of creatures adapted to the earthly home, of which man is the chief, lord, ruler, king. R470:3, 1511:5, 666:4; Q502:6

The glory -- Unseen as yet, except as revealed to the eye of faith by the Spirit through the Word. A181

The heavenly glory is represented in our Lord since his resurrection, the express image of the Father's person, and all the faithful of this Gospel age shall be made like him. R2242:6

It is the highest kind of glory to which the Son of Man has been raised--that glory which is peculiar to the divine nature. R1283:3; Q502:6

There will be one glory common to all the celestial beings. F725

Of the celestial -- Heavenly. R2242:5, 470:6, 458:1, 277:2; A182

Spiritual. R277:5, 219:2

Is one -- Is one thing. R219:2, 95:4

The glory -- The earthly glory was represented in the first man, Adam, and such as attain to it will attain a condition of glory similar to that which he enjoyed before he sinned. R2242:5, 95:4

The glory of the earthly was lost by the first Adam's sin, and is to be restored to the race by Jesus and his Bride during the Millennial reign.

R261:3

A glory common to the human. F725

Of the terrestrial -- Earthly. R2242:5, 470:6, 458:1

Earthly nature. HG137:6

Human. R277:5

Is another -- Is quite another thing. R95:4

Man, the highest of the earthly creatures, is lower than the lowest of the spiritual beings. The perfect human being is God manifest in the flesh.

Q502:6

There is a glory peculiar to each kind of existence, whether animate or inanimate, from the very lowest to the very highest. R1283:3

There is one glory of the mineral, and another glory of the vegetable, and another glory of the animal. There is one glory of man, and another glory of angels, and another glory of the Generator and Regenerator of man.

R1283:3

There will be grades or degrees of glory on each plane. R666:5, 458:1

There will be glory to both classes, though differing as the glory and beauty of fish, fowl, etc., differ from the glory of the sun and stars in kind. R666:4

Not all the same degrees, but all will have the same kind of glory. F725

1 Corinthians 15:41

There is -- In verses 41-44 the picture of the resurrection of the elect shows us how radical will be the change from our present condition as his body of humiliation to our glorious condition as his body celestial.

NS178:3

Another glory -- The glories yet diversities of the spirit world are well illustrated by those of the sun, moon and stars. R1511:6

There is variety in the heavens. R666:4

Sun -- The glory of a star is beautiful, yet different and less than the glory of the sun. R95:4

The Scriptures tell us that the Church as a whole shall "shine forth as the sun." (Matt. 13:43) This description by our Lord himself of the future glory is applied to all who are of the "wheat" class. F725

When our change takes place we shall shine forth as the sun in the Kingdom of our Father. R95:4

Moon -- Beautiful, but less majestic than the sun. R666:5

One star differeth -- The rewards will not all be alike as respects glory, and honor, though all will be glorious and honorable. F419;

R5747:5; Q500:3; CR179:4

All the faithful will be glorified, honored, blessed, perfected; not, however, blessed in the same degree. R5951:3

Some will blaze with a more resplendent brilliancy because of their great zeal. R5039:5

The more loyal we are, the more faithful we are, the fewer slips we shall make, the more like our Redeemer we shall be, and the brighter will be our reward. R5226:5 Those who joyfully endure for the Lord's and truth's sake, the greatest shame, ignominy, trials, persecutions, and thus have experiences most like the Master will, in proportion to their faithfulness, have a future great reward. R2762:4

Some of those who come forth spiritual will, though glorious and perfect, be less grand than others. R666:5

When we see noble examples, like that of our Lord and the Apostle Paul, we rejoice, and realize that their reward will be proportionate to their sacrifice; so it will be proportionately with all the Royal Priesthood.

Corroborated by the parables of the talents, and the pounds. SM512:1; F725, 419

The same lesson is given in Dan. 12:1-3 where the resurrection is referred to and the resurrected ones are illustrated by the stars, whose beauty and brilliancy vary. R5951:5, 3965:3, 2067:4

"Thy seed shall be as the stars of heaven." (Gen. 22:17) The stars of heaven fitly picture a glorified Christ and his Church. R5178:5, 2067:1

Many will be of the Great Company; some will be of the Little Flock.

R5747:5, 2067:4

From another star -- One having authority over "ten cities," another over "five cities." F725

In glory -- In the promised future glory there will be different degrees of brilliancy. R2239:5; F725; SM512:1 In position, magnitude and orbit.

R828:1, 458:1; F725

1 Corinthians 15:42

So also -- So Paul reasons that as we can conceive of harmony and perfection, with variety, in the earth; perfect horses, dogs, cattle and men, so we can likewise conceive of similar variety in perfection amongst spirit beings. R1511:6

Having established the general principle of a resurrection, and its applicability to all mankind, the Apostle proceeds to discuss particularly the first resurrection, in which the Church is specially interested.

Verses 42-52 wonderfully describe the change of nature of the Church.

Q838:4; HG138:2

Verses 42-53 refer exclusively to the first resurrection--the Church's.

R2339:4

Describing the differences between present conditions and those of the future. E726

The resurrection of the "new creature" in a spirit body, glorious, powerful, immortal. R2422:2, 1952:5, 308:3

The Bride will get perfection of life instantly, being made without further process or trial, incorruptible, glorious, honorable, powerful spirit beings. R1855:2

Our "change" is our full deliverance from flesh conditions and frailties into the perfections of our new being. R172:3

Is the resurrection -- The first, chief, best, superior resurrection.

F720; R3965:3, 3174:1, 2980:4, 2618:5, 2339:5, 2194:5, 2067:4, 1542:5, 1260:1, 1259:5, 666:5, 361:1; SM512:1; HG138:1, 334:1, 358:5; NS101:4, 178:2, 235:3, 534:4, 786:2

The Greek text guards against the supposition that the resurrection described could be other than that of the Church, by using emphasis which expressed in English, would make this verse read "Thus also is THE resurrection of THE dead." R2339:5, 2477:3, 1881:4, 1854:6, 1542:5, 1512:2, 1511:6, 1259:5, 666:5, 361:1, 95:4; CR41:1; HG138:1

The Apostle fully reaches his topic; as though he would say, Thus will be the special or first resurrection, of the special class of the dead.

R1511:6

Greek, anastasis, perfecting. R361:2

The grandeurs and perfections of being which shall be ours when we shall have experienced this great change. R3174:6

Born from the dead to glory, honor and immortality. R3485:6; HG358:5; NS195:6

Jesus' resurrection was to the divine or immortal nature, a spiritual body. And so many of us as shall be immersed into Jesus Christ, immersed into his death, shall also obtain a share in "his resurrection." R1542:5, 361:2; NS655:3

The papal counterfeit of Christ's Millennial Kingdom could not resurrect the dead to glory, power and immortality, as the Scriptures predict.

R1135:3

Of the dead -- The special, elect dead. HG333:6; F720; R2067:4, 1881:4, 1854:6

The Church. R4175:4, 3564:2, 1105:6; CR278:6; SM465:2; NS326:5, 637:2, 567:1

The overcomers of the Church. NS19:3

THE dead; changed from human nature to divine nature, the heirs of Galatians 3:29 R5178:5, 3564:2

The chief class, the sacrificing overcomers. R1259:5

Describing the differences between present conditions and those of the future. F723

It -- The new creature whose existence began at the time of consecration and begetting of the Spirit. F726

The new mind. R3063:5

The Church. HG231:3

"It" is the soul that is restored or resuscitated. What was it that died?

The Scripture reply is "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." (Ezek. 18:4, 20) Q817:4

The being--the individuality. R666:5

Sown -- In death. R666:5

In corruption -- In a fleshly, animal body. R5060:6, 2980:4; Q594:1

Imperfect, blemished, marked and marred by sin. R3729:6

Our flesh is subject to decay. R3175:2

The embryo spirit being develops in this mortal body until the moment of resurrection. R5329:6, 5158:4, 4793:4, 4177:4

These imperfect bodies show what the intents of our minds are; if faithful, God will give us the bodies promised. CR470:5

It is raised -- It is the being which God will raise up in a new appropriate body, even as in the grain. (verse 37) R666:6

The living, intelligent, sentient being is to be raised up by divine power. A phonograph with recording cylinder, furnishes an excellent illustration of the resurrection. Q817:4

In incorruption -- In immortality. E396; R2747:5

Greek, aptharsia, that which cannot decay, a death-proof state. E397; R3175:2, 2339:4, 204:1

All the marks and blemishes of sin which belong to the earthen vessel will be destroyed, "blotted out." R2194:5, 1856:4

Divine power will impress the spirit body with the knowledge of all the blessed experiences of the present time, so that these shall be profitable to us, making us better qualified for the divine service. R5158:4

It is sown -- In death. B133; R5830:4, 3027:6; NS655:5

Buried in the flesh. R4177:5

The being or soul of the Church. R3564:2, 3027:5

The new creature. F727

Verses 43 & 44 give a description of the resurrection which God has promised to all the members of the Church. R5017:5, 4994:5, 4854:3, 4668:4, 4177:4; Q587:6, 658:3

When buried in death, the Church is actually imperfect, dishonorable and weak. These conditions now covered are to be completely blotted out with the passing of the present life. R2194:5

Our Lord's change was but a sample of that which is to come to all of his true followers. R4123:6, 1692:1; SM655:3

In dishonor -- In disesteem. Our body is at present a body of humiliation. F728

Ignominy. R3175:3

With lines of care and sorrow, etc. B133

In death our Lord was considered a companion to thieves. R5830:4

With the wicked and the rich. R4177:5

Raised in glory -- Honored. R1692:1

In the "first resurrection." R4991:3, 4981:5, 2156:5; CR131:4; NS768:6

At the second coming of Christ, the resurrection of the Church will be the first item in order. R5132:2; OV190:1

"That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, and every tongue confess, to the glory of God the Father." (Phil. 2:10, 11) R2819:2

The description of the resurrection change of the Church fits equally well to the Lord. R5830:4, 4177:4; CR453:6

Our experiences in the resurrection must be similar to those of our Lord. In his case, there was a sowing in dishonor and raising in glory. R5222:2 Our Lord was raised from the dead to the glory of the Father--not to being a part of the Father, but to share in the Father's glory--glory, honor, immortality was the high reward. Q115:1

Jesus received his glorious body in the resurrection, but it remained for him to be glorified (honored) after he would appear in the presence of the Father. R2819:3

His glorification began in his resurrection from the dead, when he was raised in incorruption, in power, a glorious spiritual body. This glorification was enhanced when he was received up into glory. R2758:2

Is sown in weakness -- In imperfection. F728; R3174:6

As human beings. OV356:3

With marks and wounds, etc. B133

Their mortal bodies, now merely the instruments of the new creature, will be laid down forever in death. R5711:1; F728

Not until the resurrection are we given new perfect bodies. R5126:6

It -- The being. B133

The new creature, the soul. Q490:5; E728; R5304:5, 4998:5, 4177:5, 3027:5

Is raised in power -- Powerful. R1692:1, 152:2

The power of perfection, the power of the new nature, the power of God. F728; R4793:4

In the power of glory, honor and immortality--a spiritual body; giving us a faint glimpse of the perfected spiritual Church's power. R308:3 Without spot or blemish; all sin will have been blotted out. R4308:4; CR186:6

If in the present time of weakness and imperfection we manifest to the Lord the loyalty of our hearts. R5126:6

The hope of all of God's people is that the begetting of the holy Spirit in the present time will be followed by the resurrection birth. R5035:1

1 Corinthians 15:44

It -- The Church. R5126:6, 5026:1, 3904:4; Q582:9

The soul or being. Q745:2, 820:T; R667:5; HG227:6

The dead in Christ. HG12:4

The new creature. F728

The new creature is perfected by being given a new body. Thus seen, all of the Lord's people, as was their Lord, are dual beings. R4177:5, 667:5

Sown a natural body -- A human body. T58; R4793:4, 3175:3, 1259:5, 637:6 Earthly body. R4635:6

Literally, an animal body. B133; E396; R5903:4, 5839:1, 5830:4, 5711:1, 5690:2, 5416:1, 5222:2, 5132:2, 5060:5, 5017:5, 4994:5, 4991:3, 4869:3, 4177:4, 3564:2, 2797:2, 2318:2, 2194:6, 1881:4, 1854:6, 666:5, 514:2; CR80:6; Q53:4, 594:1; SM41:T; HG12:4, 217:2; NS178:4, 235:3, 567:2, 803:3

An imperfect body. R5126:6

With Adamic weaknesses and fleshly imperfections. SM190:2

Needing the imputation of Jesus' merit. R4998:5; Q490:5

The old body is not strong enough to keep God's law; even with the assistance of the new creature. R4869:3

God is not expecting perfection in the flesh, but he is expecting perfect heart intentions. We are showing him, by doing the best of our ability under present conditions, what we will do with a perfect body. R5304:5

The animal body is to be quickened by the Spirit of God, and by degrees the resurrection process in which the new creature is engaged becomes stronger and stronger. If this continues, we shall have a glorious change to the spirit plane. R5060:6; Q594:1

Not until the resurrection shall we receive new bodies; perfect, glorious, immortal. R5126:6, 5017:5, 4177:5

It is raised -- It will be raised. B133

Whoever shares in the first resurrection. E316; R4635:6; HG217:2; NS768:6
Full deliverance. R5758:5

With sins blotted out completely. R5839:1, 5690:2, 5416:1

To "Plane L" on the "Chart of the Ages." R274:6, 5060:5; A234; Q53:4

The natural and spiritual body do not exist together. R89:6

As one born of the flesh, our Lord was natural, but when he was born from the dead by the Spirit he was spiritual, and he is our leader in the order of development. This order in Christ is the key to the whole plan, and is the basis of Paul's statement concerning our resurrection. R6:2*

A spiritual body -- A pneumatikos body. E312

A heavenly body. R4635:6

A spirit body. R5026:1; F728

Spirit birth. R4889:5; Q582:9

In full possession of its own merit. R4998:5, 3729:6; Q490:5

In power, glory and incorruption. R667:5

The resurrection birth. R5035:1

When the work of fitting is completed. CR420:2

Perfect, complete, lacking nothing. SM190:2

Without flaw, blameless and irrevocable. R5345:6, 5903:4

The image of the heavenly one, our Lord. R2194:6

In the case of the Church, not of the world. CR321:3; R4889:5

"They shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years." (Rev. 20:6) R5049:4, 4914:3, 4793:3, 3564:3, 654:6; Q461:5

In our Lord's case there was a sowing an animal body and a raising a spirit body. "Christ...being put to death indeed in flesh, but made alive in spirit." (1 Pet. 3:18--Roth.) R5222:2, 5025:5, 3904:4, 3564:3, 482:3*; T58; OV353:4

Jesus' new mind, his spirit begotten new nature, was, in the resurrection, granted the new body which the Father had promised. R5748:2

There is no suggestion in the Bible about Jesus having a fleshly body in heaven--that is all in creeds and hymn books. R5026:5

Not raised a natural body out of which will grow a spiritual body.

R3904:4, 2797:2, 2318:3, 93:5, 66:2

The animal (natural) body and the spiritual body do not exist at the same time. R89:6

This was advanced truth to the Church, whose highest conceptions as Jews had been a resurrection in a body of flesh, an animal body, subject to many of the present blemishes. R1854:6

There is -- The spiritual nature is one thing and the fleshly nature is another thing. The blending of the two natures would produce a hybrid nature or being. Q807:4

Nature is simply organism, and varies according to the form or quality of the organism. The element of life is always the same. Q808:T

The Lord Jesus left his spiritual nature and condition when he became the "man Christ Jesus." At his resurrection he received the divine nature. Q808:T

Is a natural body -- A human body, which, in the resurrection, will still be earthly, human, adapted to the earth. A191, 200; R4668:4, 612:6; Q587:6

An animal body. SM41:1; HG35:1; NS637:3

An earthly resurrection which will in due time be revealed. F694

The stress laid by some on the present tense of the verb, be, in this passage, is of no value as an argument. It proves nothing. "Unto us a child is born" spoken by Isaiah (9:6) hundreds of years before the birth of Christ is understood by all. R89:5

The world is not to expect a spirit-begetting nor birth. R4889:5

And -- Separate and distinct natures. R514:2, 454:1, 18:1; A181

Which you will have depends on which seed you are of when buried. R95:4

Is a spiritual body -- A special, spiritual resurrection for the Church. F694; R5222:2

A spirit body. SM41:1 He does not say that the spirit body is a human body glorified. R5025:3; OV353:2

Earthly beings will not see these spiritual beings with their natural eyes, for the same reason that we cannot see angels now. R4064:6

If "it" means the body, how does it apply when the Apostle says "God giveth it a body as it has pleased him?" (verse 38) HG227:6

A spiritual body does not mean a soul without a body. HG12:5

We cannot imagine either the divine Father or our Lord Jesus without bodies of some sort. A200

1 Corinthians 15:45

And so it is written -- In harmony with this statement. (As surely as there are natural, human or earthly bodies, so surely also there is such a thing as a heavenly or spirit body.) R1259:5

The first man Adam -- There was no pre-Adamite man. F42

Adam was the first human being. All the peoples of the earth are descended from Adam, no matter how different in color, stature, intelligence, etc. they may now be. R2344:6

Father or life-giver to his race. R4556:1

Head of the human family, and pattern of the perfect human being. R205:5, 277:2, 205:5

Adam generated no children until first Eve had been taken from his side. R4556:2

The first Adam is the sample of what an earthly body will attain to in the resurrection. R1855:2, 3564:3

There is no intimation in the Bible that spirituality or immortality was placed before him as of possible attainment. R66:2*

We are not sure that the Lord's Word speaks of Adam as a type. The Apostle does not contrast Adam and Jesus, but speaks of the first Adam and the second Adam. Christ is very unlike Adam. He was obedient. R5967:2; Q721:7 Adam and Eve in some respects foreshadowed Christ and the Church. Christ is to be the Great Life-giver, or Father of mankind; the Church will be the mother or caretaker of the regenerated hosts. R5141:5, 777:1

Was made -- Became. R1259:5; Q742:1*

Made a living soul -- An animal being. E138; R3564:3, 2797:3, 1259:5, 191:3; HG138:3

A human being. OV353:4; R5025:4

An earthly being. R2797:3, 1259:5 Literally, animal soul or living being. R191:3

Person. HG12:4, 15:4

Adam gives the natural body, which is mortal. R62:4*

The last Adam -- The second Adam, "Root" or life-giver. E138, 455; R4556:1, 1747:4; NS340:4

The Lord in his resurrection is an illustration of the resurrection condition of the Church. R1855:2, 3564:3, 277:2; Q742:2

He is not the second Adam yet. He will not begin his work until the Millennial age, when he will become the second father to the race.

R5967:2; Q722:T

Before beginning his work of regenerating the world, God has arranged that first from the wound in Christ's side, figuratively, an elect Church shall be formed--the second Eve. R5141:5; Q264:2

The second Adam will generate no children until the Church, the second Eve, shall have been perfected; made joint-heir and help mate in the Kingdom and its work of regeneration. R4556:2, 4994:6

As Christ will be the second Adam to the world for its regeneration, so the Church will be the second Eve to nourish, instruct, all the willing and obedient back into harmony with God during the Millennial age.

OV381:1; R5967:5, 5188:5, 5719:3, 5141:5; Q264:2 The whole world can be regenerated only by the second Adam. R4555:2; NS340:4

Our Lord, as "the man Christ Jesus," was not the second Adam, and did not do the work of the second Adam. The plan of God proposes that the second Adam shall in relation to Adam take his place as the life-giver to a race who shall possess the earth and enjoy it; not as Redeemer, but as father to our race does our Lord correspond to Adam--as the second Adam. R4556:2

He is called the second Adam, in that he takes the place of the first Adam--undertakes to be the Father and life-giver to Adam and every member of his race upon condition of their obedience to him. NS340:4

A perfect one, just like Adam. R1043:3*

Was made -- Was raised. R4854:3; Q658:3

Became -- by resurrection. R1259:5

A quickening spirit -- A life-giving spirit being. B107; E138; R4854:3, 4556:5, 3564:3, 2819:1, 2797:3, 1855:2, 1259:5, 579:3, 316:4*, 277:4, 206:1, 18:6; Q658:3; HG138:3; NS198:4

At his resurrection. R2981:2, 2758:1, 1995:5, 1856:6; Q742:1*

He is now the express image of the Father's person. (Heb. 1:3) R277:4, 206:2

After Jesus' resurrection he appeared in a body of flesh which veiled, yet represented him. R1995:6, 1873:6, 1416:4

Our Redeemer is not our father or the giver of our spiritual life. His earthly life rights, he gave to the Father without appropriating the merit to any until he applied them "on our behalf." R4556:5

In accepting Christ as Redeemer, the believing one is reckoned no longer as a dying son of the dead Adam, but as a living son of the "last Adam," having a new life in Christ. R1438:1

Christ was the last Adam and the Church is to be like him, with spiritual bodies. HG138:3

Christ gives the spiritual body, which is immortal. R62:4*

Howbeit -- However. R1259:6

But as if Paul were anticipating the caviling which would come, and determined to give a clear offset to it, he continues. R89:6

If we would think of the two orders of beings, we should consider the change that took place in one of those who became divine and how the change was effected. R1259:5

First the natural and afterward the spiritual, is applicable to the relation between the two Adams, as well as to other features of the plan. R145:4*

Was not first -- That was not first. R89:6

The spiritual was not first, but the natural, afterwards the spiritual, so that the race in general inherited not the divine nature, but the earthly or human nature. R1259:6; E138

Which is spiritual -- Greek: pneumatikos. E312

Which was spiritual. E455; R89:6

Which is natural -- Which was animal. E138

Which is animal. HG12:4

Is first. R89:6

Afterward -- The natural could not of itself become spiritual, neither could there be the spiritual, in God's order without "first the natural." R66:2*

Showing that the earthy animal man, precedes the heavenly, spiritual man, as God's true order; therefore the work of the "first man," precedes that of the "second man." HG15:5

Which is spiritual -- Greek: pneumatikos. E312

The natural or "vile body" changed becomes the glorious body; changed by the power of the Spirit indwelling. (Rom. 8:11; Phil 3:21) R66:2

Illustrated by the written word, the Bible, in the order of purpose, preceding the unwritten, the book of Nature; yet in the order of time the unwritten word precedes the written. R29:6*

A spiritual body does not mean a soul without a body. HG12:5

Some incorrectly teach that man had and still has a spiritual nature. R191:4

1 Corinthians 15:47

The first man -- The first Adam continues to be the head of the human family. We still speak of him as father Adam. R5967:2; Q722:T

Who was a sample of what the race will be when perfect. A191

The world is to attain the likeness of the first Adam. R3564:3

The world at large will be members of the earthly Adam. SM41:T

See also comments on verse 45.

Is -- Was. R1259:6

Of the earth, earthy -- From the ground, earthly. R1259:6, 89:3

Human being. R89:3

Not a spirit being in any sense. Adam could not therefore die a spiritual death. R2841:1; SM47:2

He was an earthly image of a spiritual being, possessing qualities of the same kind, though differing widely in degree, range, and scope. A174

The energy of Jehovah operating on earthly substances produced man; the same energy operating on spirit substances produced angels. E105

The supposition that man could lose spiritual being arose from a confusion of thought concerning human and spiritual beings. R363:3

The second man -- The second Adam. E455; R5718:3

Jesus, the spirit being. CR472:2

Not as Redeemer, but as father or lifegiver to our race does our Lord correspond to Adam. R4556:2; Q722:T

Our Lord will be the second Adam or second father or life-giver to Adam's race during the Millennium. R4556:2

He is not the second Adam yet. R5967:2, 4556:2; Q722:T The "Little Flock" will be members of the second Adam. SM41:T

It is a great mistake of some to suppose that "the man Christ Jesus" was the second Adam. E137

Having taken our humanity, without its sin, Christ was in that nature made a sin offering. R106:5*

Is the Lord -- At his second presence, during the Millennium. E455

Not the Logos, nor the man Christ Jesus. E136

Our Lord is referred to as already the second Adam, not because he has already given his life to Adam's race, but because he will do so in due time. R4556:2

Lord signifies master, ruler, governor. Lordship signifies dominion, power, authority. Husband is also a definition of Lord. The Anglo-Saxon word, Hlaford, from which our English word Lord is derived signifies breadwinner. The title of Lord thus applied to Jesus Christ is expressive of a glorious fullness of power and love. R61:1*

From heaven -- The heavenly Lord. R5025:4, 5237:5, 3564:3; Q264:2; OV353:4; SM41:T

Our Redeemer, who humbled himself and took the earthly nature, thereby became the second Adam. R5025:4; OV353:4

The first-born from the dead, the justifier, the life-giver to the world. Q264:2

Christ, at his second advent; no longer identified with the first Adam. E137

Because the type was an earth man, does not set aside the truth that the antitype is a spiritual man. R145:1*

1 Corinthians 15:48

As is the earthy -- As was the first Adam. F721; R4556:4, 1511:5, 612:6, 206:4; HG138:3

Like the earthy one, Adam. R4556:4, 277:5, 206:4

Of what kind the earthy one, Adam. (Diaglott) R95:2

Such are they also -- So are they also. F721

Will be in the resurrection. R4556:4, 1149:2*, 277:5, 206:4

Will be when raised. (Diaglott) R95:3

That are earthy -- The world of mankind in general. F721

The earthy ones. R4556:4, 95:3

Human--adapted to the earth. R612:6

Those who shall have part in the earthly Kingdom shall partake of the earthly or human nature. R637:6, 277:5, 206:4

The world in general, who will experience restitution to human perfection, will be like the earthy one--like the first Adam before he sinned. F721;

R382:1; HG138:3 Of the kind or nature of the earthy one, in his highest attainment, will be the kind or nature of all the earthy ones who by resurrection attain fullness of life and perfection. R1259:6, 1149:2*

And -- Separate and distinct natures. R507:4, 18:1; A181

As is the heavenly -- Like the heavenly one, Christ. R4556:4, 277:5, 206:4

When "born from the dead." R277:5, 206:4

Such are they also -- So are they also. F721

Such will be in the resurrection. R4556:5, 95:3; NS178:5

Such also will be the heavenly ones when raised. (Diaglott) R95:3

The "second man," has a "wife" who becomes one with him. HG15:4

That are heavenly -- That are heavenly ones; the new creation. R4556:5, 1511:5, 277:5, 206:4, 95:3; NS178:2

Now begotten to the heavenly nature by the Word of God through the spirit, to be born into the perfection of that being. R277:5, 206:4

Of the kind or nature attained by the one from heaven is to be the kind and nature of the heavenly ones. R1259:6

Those who have part in the heavenly or spiritual Kingdom shall partake of the spiritual nature. R637:6

And as we -- The Church. F722; R5575:1, 4556:5, 1855:2; OV138:4; NS178:2, 637:3

Have borne the image -- Earthly bodies. B133

Borne the likeness of the earthly. R1259:6

As we now bear the image of the earthy--Adam. OV353:2

As earthly beings we did bear the image. NS178:2

In this life. R89:6

Been born of the flesh and thus attained something of the likeness of the earthly or animal man. R1855:5

When begotten of the flesh, we are born of the flesh in the likeness of the first Adam, earthly. R578:6

Although we have lost much of the grandeur and beauty of character, mind and form, yet we are in his likeness. R104:6

Jesus, in taking the form of a perfect man, would, of necessity, be in likeness to sinful flesh. (Rom. 8:3) R104:6

The old creation was in many things a picture or type of the new creation; a small representation. R1064:1*

All who are born of the flesh "bear the image of the earthy." R89:3

Positive evidence that here, in the flesh men have not attained the likeness or image of God, but that is something to be attained, when that which is perfect is come. R89:6

The first stage of the progressive development of the human family, is to bear the image of the first man, male and female, for "they were one flesh." (Gen. 2:24) HG15:4

Of the earthy -- The earthly father, Adam. R1542:6; B133; E455; F721; R1542:6; NS178:2

The earthy one, Adam. R4556:5

Human nature. R360:6 We -- The Church; joint-heirs with Christ, and sharers of the exceeding great and precious promises in the divine nature. (Rom. 8:17; 2 Pet. 1:4) E455; A198; R5575:1

Being begotten by the Spirit to the new, "divine nature." R1855:2, 578:6

Having given up the human nature to become "new creatures." R360:6

The spiritual body. R360:6
Heavenly and spiritual are used interchangeably in the Bible. R155:2*
Called to the obtaining of his glory; a share in Christ's resurrection,
the first resurrection. R5575:1
Attainment of immortality. R4775:1
Become partakers of the new divine nature in the resurrection. R1542:6;
OV138:4
The promises to the saints of the Gospel age are heavenly. HG333:5
Many seem to think that a spiritual body is not a literal body. The Apostle is not hear teaching that there is a "real" body, and there is a figurative, or metaphorical body. R119:3*; HG35:1

1 Corinthians 15:50

Now this I say -- Because I would have you understand that such a change from human to divine nature and organism is necessary. R1259:6
Flesh and blood -- Humanity; "That which is born of the flesh is flesh."

Jesus was made flesh merely "that he, by the grace of God, should taste death for every man." (Heb. 2:9) HG627:6

Jesus was the first to pass from earthly to heavenly condition by his resurrection change--"put to death in flesh, he was made alive in spirit." (1 Pet. 3:18). The Church is promised a similar glorious change.

R5772:2, 5416:1, 5222:3

It is not the flesh that has entered the school of Christ. Our acceptance of the divine call to spirit nature meant the renouncement of the earthly nature in every sense of the word. R2439:5

Our bodies will not be called spiritual, but yet actually be flesh and blood. R1855:2

The members of the Bride shall be like unto the angels--heavenly or spirit beings. R4966:2; Q461:5

The spirit body is not a human body glorified. A human being is so totally different from a spirit being, and the Scriptures do not even attempt to give us an explanation. (1 John 3:2) OV353:2

The members of the glorified Body of Christ will not be like either the white or the black man. R513:6

We are not to delude ourselves as some are inclined to do, by saying that "flesh and bones" cannot inherit the Kingdom. R3175:1, 1856:5

Cannot inherit -- We must die. R4054:3

We must be changed. CR471:6; R5199:5, 2573:4, 1952:6; OV285:T; HG204:6; NS199:5, 534:4, 637:2

Our Lord's elect Bride will constitute the first resurrection class, changed from earthly to heavenly nature. R4553:5, 5694:1, 4914:3; Q461:4

Jesus has gone to prepare a place for the Church in the Father's house on high. CR116:6

The full number of the elect must be found and be glorified by the resurrection change. Civ

Completeness of actual justification and of actual sanctification and growth will be attained only in the first resurrection. R5208:5

Mankind will see Christ and his Bride only with the eye of faith. R4706:1

Christ and the Church are to reign as kings and priests in a Kingdom which earthly beings cannot inherit. R5575:1

"A spirit hath not flesh and bones." (Luke 24:39) B128; R578:3

The Kingdom of God belongs to the world to come, and is a spiritual Kingdom; and those who inherit it are to be spiritual beings. HG12:4, 138:3

The Jews restored will be natural men, and such can neither see nor inherit the real Kingdom of God. R56:5*; OV108:2

There are two Adams, their two wives and two families; two births and two lives; two covenants, two laws, two sanctuaries, two circumcisions, two temples, two seeds, two nations, and two lands for inheritance. R56:5*, 89:6

The kingdom of God -- Shortly to be established. R5930:6

"Except a man be born again (begotten now to a new nature, and born in the resurrection) he cannot enter the kingdom of God." (John 3:3) R3175:1, 2980:4, 1856:3, 397:4; Q838:2; T23

When this class shall have inherited the Kingdom, they will be prepared to do the work of judging the world. R5776:4

The promise and hope held before the Church was always the hope of the Kingdom. For it all have prayed. R1855:2

Neither doth corruption -- Nor can we so long as corruptible. R1259:6

Incorruption -- Greek, apharsia, that which cannot decay. E397; F727; R2339:4, 204:1

This word, when applied to being, existence, is of similar significance to immortal. R1642:4

That incorruptible glory and kingdom promised us. R1259:6

Thus closes Paul's argument regarding the resurrection; but lest some should be perplexed and wonder how any could become spiritual bodies, if they should be alive when their Lord comes, he continues to explain. R95:5

1 Corinthians 15:51

Shew you a mystery -- I will reveal a mystery to you, a point not clearly seen heretofore. R1259:6

There is a mystery connected with this matter. F723

Which the Savior has been doing from the time of his death until now. NS740:5

The Apostle recognized that it would be difficult to fully grasp the thought of so thorough a change; that our difficulty would be less in respect to those who have fallen asleep in death than those alive. F723

So great a mystery, that few seem able to realize, that if a member of the Body of Christ die now, instead of sleeping even for a moment, he is changed to a spiritual body in an instant. R308:4

We -- The Church. R1854:5, 845:1*, 678:2; HG366:5

Not the world. Q584:2

Shall not all sleep -- In death, awaiting the resurrection morning.

E345; R5829:6, 5132:2, 3027:6, 2617:5, 2197:6, 845:1, 274:6; HG332:2

As all members do who die before this time. R5132:2, 5059:6, 274:6

"Ye shall die like men." (Psa. 82:7) "Be thou faithful until death and I will give thee a crown of life." (Rev. 2:10) R1855:4; F724; Q122:2

Speaking of the closing of the Gospel age. R2617:5

Some will be alive and remain till the second coming of Jesus. R5017:6; HG231:3

To die is one thing; to remain unconscious, dead, is quite another. C239; R3175:2, 1259:6

The apostles frequently used this appropriate, hopeful and peaceful figure of speech. E345; R1881:1; HG332:2

The Apostles did not expect Christ's Kingdom in their day. Paul, while foretelling his own death, declared that some would be alive at the second coming of Christ. R5829:6, 5339:4

When the time for the establishment of God's Kingdom has come it will no longer be necessary to wait in the unconscious sleep of death. R1259:6; F724

The early Church thought that St. Paul meant that they would not sleep, but he was referring to the Church as a whole. R5339:3

The hope of each generation of the Church in early times, was, that they would be of those mentioned by Paul who would be alive when the Lord would return; that they might not be obliged to sleep in death. R665:2

For those alive at the time of our Lord's second presence, the moment of death will be the moment of resurrection change. R4914:5, 5728:6, 5339:4, 5017:6; Q117:2; PD61/72

The resurrection of the saints takes place at the presence of the Lord and before the inauguration of his Kingdom. R6013:1*

Death would not have been figuratively called sleep, except for the provision for a resurrection. R2617:6; SM38:2

The Church were asleep as new creatures. R5108:5

This statement is misunderstood by many to mean, "We shall not all die."

It means that we shall not all pass through a period of unconsciousness.

In the case of Jesus, there were nearly three days of sleep. R475:2, 304:4

Regarding those who, at the time of their departure from this life, see heavenly visions of angels, and hear strains of celestial music, they saw not an actual glimpse of celestial glories, but merely a phantasmagoria induced by an excited condition of the imaginative powers of the mind, with a correspondingly dormant state of the reasoning faculties. Q762:1

But we shall all -- We must all; the living no less than the dead saints. C232; R1496:6

Though we will not need to wait in sleep, the same change will be needful. R1259:6

We must all be. R95:5

Be changed -- From human or flesh conditions to spirit conditions.

R2318:6

Those alive at the second coming of Jesus will not take precedence over the sleeping ones, for "The dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain:" (1 Thes. 4:15) shall be changed in a moment.

R5017:6, 4794:2, 845:2*, 667:2; HG231:3

The only reason why the Church will see the Lord in glory will be because she will have the resurrection change. NS656:6

The change may be said to be all at one time in the sense that it is all in the harvest time, all in the end of the Age. Q122:2

Translated in a single moment. R361:5

From sacrificing priests, to priests of the Order of Melchizedek. SM145:T

Our death takes place before we enter the grave, and our life begins and grows for a while before we get the body which God has designed for us.

R95:5

Rebecca's putting on of a veil (Gen. 24:65) would seem to mean the passing of the Church beyond the veil--beyond the flesh into the spirit condition.

NS293:4

The coming of Elijah to Mt. Horeb portrayed the fact that the Church will be in and under the Kingdom administration while still in the flesh, although the last members of the Church will not fully participate in the Kingdom honors and blessings until they shall have experienced the great resurrection change. R5752:6

All the peculiarities of male and female will be obliterated, for there is neither male nor female amongst the angels; and there will not be in the glorified Church. All will be alike, sexless. R4914:3; Q461:5

Those not thus changed will never see the Lord. D600

If we have our earthly natures consumed, then we shall get the divine nature. R5250:5

If the body members of Christ can be changed. so could the Ancient Worthies. They would be exchanging a perfect human nature for a perfect spirit nature as a reward for faithfulness in the service of the Lord.

Those of this class who have been previously dead will have an instantaneous resurrection. R4973:3

Instead of being awakened imperfect and requiring a thousand years to reach perfection, as will those of the resurrection by judgment. R1854:5

The wise virgins have been entering in to the marriage since the autumn of 1878 AD, and are still entering in; passing beyond the veil, changed, in a moment. R3868:6, 2982:5

1878 marked the time for the beginning of the establishment of the Kingdom of God, by the glorification of all who already slept in Christ. R3823:2, 5566:5, 2982:4, 1484:2

At the moment of death they enter into the glorious heavenly state where their works continue with them. From that time the Lord's people have entered at once into their reward. Q760:2

Though the moment of change may be the same for all who slept less, it is not God's plan that those who will be changed without sleep should be changed at the same moment; for it is written, "The dead in Christ shall rise first, then we, the remainder (or ones left over of the same class) appointed unto life, shall be caught away in clouds (into obscurity) to meet the Lord in the air." (1 Thes. 4:16, 17) R1260:4

When the seventh trumpet shall sound. R3175:4, 5132:2, 1855:5

It is a symbolic trumpet, which will sound during the entire Millennium. R1855:5, 2982:4; B148

When the Church is to be rewarded. There is to be no open demonstration. R579:6

We are now living under the sounding of the seventh trumpet. R845:2*

As we will not be rewarded twice, nor resurrected twice, we conclude that the "trump of God" (1 Thes. 4:16) and the "last trump" are the same, differently expressed. R579:6, 263:3, 19:4

The symbolic trumpet which covers the period of forty years called The Day of the Lord. R668:4

The seventh or last trumpet did not sound all the way through, as men have been dying. R89:5

And the dead -- In Christ, his members. R3175:4

The Church. E398; R1881:4

The sleepers. R678:2

The special dead, the saints. R204:4

The dead members must be raised to receive their change before they can be forever with the Lord. R5181:3

Those members of "the seed" (of God), Christ, who lie in death's cold embrace. R152:2

Raised incorruptible -- Greek, aphartos, that which cannot decay. E398; R2339:3, 204:1

All who have part in the first resurrection. R2747:5

Immortal, not liable to corrupt, decay or perish. R204:4

And we -- Of them then living. R3175:4

The saints who remain. R1881:4

Of the same order or class who remain. R1260:4, 204:4

Who are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord. (1 Thes. 4:17) R152:2

All -- All who have part in "the first resurrection," the victors, overcomers. R152:2

Shall be changed -- At the first resurrection; to the divine nature.

R4799:2, 5199:5, 5123:4, 4973:3, 3376:1, 1260:1

"Made like unto Christ's glorious (spiritual) body." (Phil. 3:21) R152:3

Those who are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord will be "changed" to the same place of spirit being; fully born of the spirit--heavenly, spiritual, incorruptible, immortal beings. A234

We know not how long it will be after their "change" before they, as a full company, will be glorified (plane K) with the Lord, united with him in power and great glory. A235; R5060:5, 274:6; Q53:4

Early in the morning of the Millennial age, the Church is to be helped, delivered. R4133:5

Not until our resurrection shall we be perfected in the divine likeness; but now, nothing short of purity of heart, will, intention, can be acceptable to God. R5123:4, 1855:4

The full change, begun in us by a change of heart, called the begetting of the Spirit. R1881:4, 626:4; HG333:6

Not at the same instant to all. A long period of over eighteen hundred years elapsed between the instantaneous change of our Lord and the change of those who have slept and waited for the Kingdom to come. R1260:2

Not a protracted or gradual changing from a little life to an abundant fullness. R1260:2

This change of condition, from the earthly to the spiritual body, is the third step of our development--redemption. (Rom. 8:23) R200:3

Of necessity. R204:4

This corruptible -- Greek, phthartos. R204:1

That part of the Body of Christ which is corrupted. R1260:4

This corruptible, diseased, perishable condition. R204:4

Put on incorruption -- Greek, aptharsia, that which cannot decay, the death-proof state. E397; F727; R3175:2, 2339:4

Although aptharsia and athanasia represent in many respects the same thought, yet by antithesis the Apostle brings out their shaded differences in verses 53 and 54. R2339:4

Be invested with imperishable quality. R204:4

And this mortal -- All who share in the first resurrection. E78

The Bible distinctly declares that man is mortal, that death is possible to him. R1642:5

That which is now dying. R1260:4

Dying condition. R204:4

Put on immortality -- Greek, athanasia, deathlessness. E397; R2339:2

Self-existence; life-inherent. E78

A quality ascribed only to Jehovah, to Christ Jesus, and to his Bride. A186; R5116:4

This is the class which will receive the preeminence over all other classes, all other stations, in earth or in heaven. R5711:1

Why should it be any more incredible that Jesus' nature was transformed from the spiritual to the human without retaining his former nature under cover, than that the Church "shall put on immortality," and yet not retain the flesh and blood nature? R677:4*

The resurrection moment is the moment of immortality, the divine nature. Q115:1

Invested with unchangeability. R204:4

So when -- The attempt of some to make out that incorruptible refers to one state, and immortality to another is without foundation. Prof. Young, Liddell & Scott, and all other translators are right in using the two words interchangeably. R204:4

This corruptible -- Greek, phthartos. R204:1

Our flesh is subject to decay. R3175:2

Referring to the saints who would be "asleep" or under the power of corruption and would put on a condition of incorruption by resurrection. R2339:4

Perishable condition. R204:4

Put on incorruption -- Greek, apharsia, that which cannot decay, the deathproof state. E397; F727; R3175:2, 2339:4, 204:1

This mortal -- Dying condition. R204:4

Referring to the saints who would remain until the "change" and would pass from mortal to immortal conditions. R2339:4

Or dying part of the "Body of Christ" which is not to be changed until the dead members of the same Body have first been made incorruptible. R1260:4

Put on immortality -- Greek, athanasia, deathlessness. E397; R2339:2, 204:1

Assume immortality; a lasting or unchangeable condition. R204:4

This promotion can be received from no other quarter than God himself, on his own terms. R5711:1

Be clothed with unchangeability. R204:4

When the entire Church of the first-born shall be completed. NS118:4

Then -- When the Church has been glorified with her Lord. R1855:5, 1105:6, 86:3; SM465:2

Then the prophecy of victory over death will begin to have its fulfillment. It will require all of the Millennium to accomplish the victory over death. R3175:5; NS568:1

When the Little Flock has been changed to the full divine nature and likeness and has begun to rule and bless the world. R894:4; E373

During that Millennial reign. R1855:5

The grand work upon which we enter when "our seed" gets its own body. R95:6

Brought to pass -- Begin to be fulfilled. R3175:5, 204:4, 95:6, 86:6

Be brought to fulfillment. R1260:4, 1106:1

Will that prophetic promise be fulfilled. R204:4

When this special class, the dead and we, the overcomers, the saints, are changed to undying, changeless conditions. R204:4

It is not now true. HG496:6

By the close of Messiah's reign he will have accomplished a great victory over sin and opposition, including death, which will be the last enemy to be fully destroyed. OV169:T; HG138:5

Saying -- Divine prophecy. HG496:6; R1260:4

The Apostle gives this quotation from the Old Testament in corroboration of his argument that the only hope for the dead is a resurrection. E377

That is written -- In Isa. 25:8. R86:3, 204:4; E46

As a general promise to the world. R1855:5

Death -- Adamic death, not the second death. R1219:6

Which, as a great monster, has swallowed up mankind. R86:6, 474:3

This text is no proof that the restitution standing given to all in Christ will be maintained in the trial of the Millennial judgment and forever. R1219:5

This death being destroyed by the release of all out of it would not hinder any so released from dying the second death as the penalty for their own wilful sins, when on trial. R1219:6

Is swallowed up -- An illusion to "He will swallow up death in victory." (Isa. 25:8) R2600:4, 1855:5, 1219:5, 894:4, 763:6

The work of the Millennial age, and a gradual one, just as the swallowing up of mankind by death has been a gradual one. E373; R1855:5, 87:1

The curse will not be entirely removed until about the close of the Millennium. R5780:1, 894:4, 87:1

Justice will never be cheated out of its dues; yet love gains the victory and provides the way out of the difficulty, and does this at the expense of the one through whom the whole plan is consummated; our blessed Lord Jesus. OV407:1 A pen picture of the blessings to be accomplished during (not after) Christ's reign of a thousand years. R1219:5, 86:6

The bruising of Satan "under your feet", (Rom. 14:20) and the destroying of death, have both been deferred until the Body of Christ is complete. R86:3

Our work is to be two-fold; destroying and removing sin and its effects, and thus restoring to man happiness, purity, and all that was lost through sin. R87:4

In victory -- Victoriously. R1260:4

The first resurrection, the change of the Church, will be but the beginning of the great victory which Christ is to achieve over death and the grave. R3175:4, 1260:5, 1106:1

The Church, and finally the world, get the victory over the grave by a resurrection. R308:5, 1106:1

The Millennial work of abolishing death and restoring life will then go on successfully. R204:4

To accomplish this complete victory over the grave will be the very object of establishing the Kingdom, and will require a thousand years. R3175:5, 1106:1

Every member of Adam's race is to be delivered by him who redeems all. HG497:2

Our Lord's resurrection was a step toward this victory. The change of his Church will be a further step; then the destruction of Adamic death by the release of all mankind from its control. R1260:5, 1106:1

The victory of our Lord, the victory of our Heavenly Father through our Lord Jesus Christ. HG138:4

O death -- Adamic death. R894:1

The Apostle, glancing down to the grand culmination at the close of the Millennium, exclaims with poetic fervor. R3175:6; NS5:4, 693:5

Where is thy sting -- The sting which caused death is sin. R1260:5

"I will be thy plagues (gradual destruction)." (Hos. 8:14) HG497:2; E373; R2600:4, 763:6; OV168:3; HG497:1; NS568:2

Death has been stinging our race, blighting it for six thousand years, and sending it ignominiously to the tomb; but God has provided a Savior.

R3175:6; OV406:5; HG125:4, 497:1

That there is a sting to death need not be told, for it has touched every member of our race. NS566:3

Where is now thy sting? By the close of the Millennial age sin and wilful sinners having been destroyed, there will be nothing thereafter to cause death. R1855:5; OV363:2, 169:T; NS568:3

When that which is perfect shall have come, the sting will be gone, the imperfection and weakness will be gone, the cause for sin will also be gone. HG497:1

In the case of Jesus, death had a sting which made him cry in agony, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mark 15:34) R308:4

All will have the sting of death withdrawn "through our Lord Jesus Christ." R308:5

O grave -- O death. (Oldest Greek manuscripts) R1260:4

Greek, hades, oblivion. E377; R3789:4, 2600:4; SM526:2; OV168:3; HG556:6, 735:4*; NS568:1, 585:4

If hades is to be destroyed, how could anybody be tortured there everlastingly? OV363:1; E373; SM526:2

Paul is quoting from Hosea 13:14, "O grave, (sheol) I will be thy destruction." SM526:2; E373; R2608:5, 763:6; OV138:3, 363:1; HG497:1; NS196:1, 118:4, 585:3; NS568:2, 793:6

Sheol, hades--hell. HG495:2; NS793:5

Whatever sheol is, it is to be destroyed. The grave, the tomb, the state of death is to be destroyed. OV138:3; NS118:4, 568:3, 793:5

"The gates of hell shall not prevail against it." (Matt. 16:18) R3789:3

The grave is really a symbol of hope; for we would not speak of it as a prison house were it not for our hopes of a resurrection. R1855:6, 894:1

The Revised Version translates this "death" instead of hades. We surmise it was to help keep the public in the dark respecting the true sentiments of the Word of God. R3176:2

Where is thy victory -- The whole Church, and finally the world, get "victory" over the grave by a resurrection. R308:5

Ultimately, when death and hell (the grave) shall have delivered up all that are in them, and when the curse of death shall be no more, love will have triumphed over justice. OV406:4

The Lord and his Bride shall have conquered Adamic death and the grave shall have been opened, and all the prisoners of death shall have had fullest opportunity to accept Christ, and everlasting life. R1855:6

When all shall have become released from death to life, or else transferred to the second death, then Adamic death will have been vanquished; its victory over all who long for life will be at an end.

R3176:1

The grave shall not always triumph over the human family; mankind will be delivered by Messiah's Kingdom from the power of the tomb. OV363:2

In the case of Jesus, the grave had a victory for nearly three days. R308:4

It is of those referred to in Verse 51 that the words of this verse are fully applicable. R308:4

"The gates of hell shall not prevail against her." (Matt. 16:18) As the Heavenly Father raised up Jesus from the dead, so the gates of death shall not prevail against the Church. OV363:4; R3789:4

For several thousand years death has had the victory and the human family have been swallowed up by it. It is conservatively estimated that death has swallowed up 20 billion of humanity, and that 90,000 are going to the tomb every day. NS693:3, 566:3, 321:2; OV168:6

As yet death has the victory--sin dominates the world, and the Lord's faithful fall with the rest of mankind under the power of hades, the tomb. NS568:1

"Death and hell (hades) shall be cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death." (Rev. 20:14) OV363:1

1 Corinthians 15:56

The sting of death -- The Apostle continues his argument and shows that the victory will not be completely brought to pass until the end of the Millennium. R3176:4

It will require the entire Messianic age to fully extract from humanity the virus, the sting, of sin by bringing mankind to perfection. Only as the sting of death is removed will the power of death relax. HG496:6

The sting or virus which produces death and all its attendant sufferings. R3391:2, 1718:2

The sting which caused death: had sin not entered the world human death would not have been known. R1260:5

Death is now a result of disease inherited and transmitted from one generation to another; it was incurred as the curse or penalty for transgressing the divine law. R1683:2

"The wages of sin is death." (Rom. 6:23) R3391:2

Satan has the power of death. (Heb. 2:14) R1683:2,5, 1684-1686

Is sin -- Sin is the poisonous sting which has blighted and killed our race. R1683:3

Illustrated through Israel's experiences with the fiery serpents in the wilderness. NS568:5

It was the poison of disobedience that entered our race through our first parents and has developed in us--as poison passes through the system from a serpent's bite. NS568:4

The strength -- Power or weight. R1683:3, 3391:2, 3176:4

To thus sting to death. R3391:2

Since Satan is the father of sin, and thus of sinners, the power or strength or weight of sin may be said to be his power or influence.

R1683:3

Of sin is the law -- Whose vengeance or penalty the sin brought upon the sinner. R1683:3

Satan, the tempter, by starting sin amongst men, brought all under the sentence of divine law--under the power of death. R1683:3

It was God's law behind sin that determined what should constitute sin and what its sting or penalty should be. R1260:5

Sin brings forth death in us because this was the divine law. NS569:1

The perfect law of God, having been met by the Mediator, will be applied to the ransomed race only in such proportions as they can receive it--in proportion to their knowledge and ability to obey. R3176:4

Only as the sting of death is removed will the power of death relax, because it is part of the divine law. HG496:6

God's law condemned us all; and we would have been helpless had he left us under that sentence. NS569:2

No reasonable man could deny that God has the right as well as the power to destroy in death any creature who will not conform to his just and wise law. R3391:1

The letter of the law killeth, but the spirit of the law giveth life.

R614:6

1 Corinthians 15:57

But -- The Apostle turns back his line of argument from the future time, to the present time. R3176:4

Thanks be to God -- Thank God for the Savior he has provided--a Savior and a Great One, able to save unto the uttermost all who come unto the Father through him. NS569:4

Which giveth us -- God gives us this by faith; so that even now we can "rejoice with joy unspeakable," (1 Pet. 1:8) and can so confidently look forward into the future as to claim a share in the victory over sin and death and the grave. R3176:4

While he was just in his law, and while the terrible penalty of that law, the sting of death, was merited by the race, he has graciously arranged for our victory over death and our escape from his just sentence. R1260:5

The victory -- Now, through faith. NS569:4
Over death, the king of terrors, our captor. R678:1
Victory over sin, over death. NS5:4

The deliverance, triumph. E46

There can be no victory except as we keep the faith--our trust in the Lord as our Redeemer, in his care over us, in his willingness to help us, and in his ability to help. R2312:5 Not only including the Church's victory in the first resurrection, but the victory of all that shall ultimately be saved through the Millennial age. NS569:2

Through our Lord -- And his meritorious sacrifice. NS569:2

He gained the victory by obedience in the things which he suffered, and by laying down his life as a propitiation for the sins of the whole world. NS196:1

"For to this end Christ both died, rose, and revived that he might be Lord (Master--or have authority over) the living and the dead." (Rom. 14:9) R464:1

The execution of every feature of the divine plan is placed in the hands of Christ. R27:2*

1 Corinthians 15:58

Therefore -- Because we see these things so clearly with the eye of faith. R3176:5

Be ye steadfast -- "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." (1 Cor. 16:13) To stand is to adhere to fixed principles. R90:1

Unmoveable -- To be established in the present truth signifies that our faith is steadfast and immovable. R1627:3*

Forasmuch as ye know -- Knowing that. R3176:5

Labor -- Faith sees the accomplished victory of the future; and even now exults and rejoices in the privilege of collaborating with the Redeemer, spending time, energy and life. R3176:5

Not in vain -- Our labor at the present time must seem small and insignificant, because few have ears to hear and hearts to receive, but it is acceptable to God through Christ, and fitting us for joint-heirship with our Lord in his great work of the Millennial Kingdom. NS569:5
Because we confidently hope for, expect and wait for the glorious resurrection "change" and the glorious privileges of association with our Master in his Kingdom and work. R3176:5

1 Corinthians 16:1

Collection -- Acts 20:35 was addressed to the Corinthian Church, on behalf of the Christians in and about Jerusalem. R5926:2

The saints at Jerusalem were poorer than were the saints at Corinth, therefore it was appropriate that the Apostle should suggest sending a gift. R5926:2,5

Because of a severe famine; Jerusalem was not a commercial city, and therefore money was less plentiful there; apparently those in and about Jerusalem who received the Gospel were chiefly the poor. R5926:2
Paul proposed taking contributions from them--not as seeking a gift, but as seeking evidence of their love for the Lord in helpfulness to their brethren who were disadvantaged by their loyalty to the truth. R3159:2, 5926:2

We may be sure that while the Apostle urged the Churches to contribute to the relief of the poor saints at Jerusalem, he made no request for personal assistance. R5810:3, 3159:2

For the saints -- The word saint is used to designate the truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

Order -- Instructions. R5926:6, 1480:2*

So do ye -- To whatever extent we have this thought before our minds we are likely to have a special blessing. "He that watereth shall be watered also himself." (Prov. 11:25) R5409:4, 5927:2, 1346:5

Use the money thus set aside to God's glory, in the best way your reason and conscience, directed by God's Word, dictate. R1378:5

1 Corinthians 16:2

First day of the week -- Methodical, systematic charity is better than spasmodic giving. Not only is the result generally larger, but the influence upon the giver is more beneficial; a service to be rendered as unto the Lord. R5926:6, 1346:5, 450:1*

Paul exhorts the Church to lay up money every week for the Lord's family, the Church. R521:2

For the poor and for the Lord's cause generally. R854:6

As a memorial of the Lord's blessings during the week ended, and of our thankfulness. R1378:2

Nothing, perhaps, furnishes so sure an indication of love for the truth as zeal to serve it--financially and otherwise. The following of the Apostle's instruction has its spiritually beneficial influence. R1480:2*

The "Good Hopes" plan has proved so much of a blessing to those who have adopted it, that no doubt many will desire its continuance. It is not our plan but the Apostle's; something for use in the Lord's cause. R1600:4, 1409:6*, 1378:2, 1346:5, 365:6

We urge all to follow the apostolic rule and set apart for the Lord's service a weekly thank-offering. If it be but one cent a day, or one cent a week even, it will surely bring a blessing. R1600:4, 1378:2, 450:1*

The Lord does not estimate the amount we give according to a worldly standard, but according to the intent and desire. "God loveth a cheerful giver." (2 Cor. 9:7) R450:1*, 5409:2, 1334:5, 450:1*

The disciples met regularly on the first day of the week, as the memorial of our Lord's resurrection and the outpouring of the holy Spirit. R1942:6, 543:4

Methods often used by Babylon to secure money, are fairs, suppers, etc., and appealing to the motive of pride, by publishing names and amounts. R1378:5

Every one of you -- This is not a law, but the principle applies to all; we are put on our own responsibility as to how we use the things we have sacrificed to the Lord. R5409:2

It is far better to give spiritual gifts and blessings, but some are so circumstanced that their only chance for serving the Lord and manifesting their love is through their gifts to his cause and people. R5926:6, 854:6, 365:5

Each one who engages in the Lord's work at some sacrifice to himself is proportionately blessed. R1346:5, 1334:6

Promotion to a higher opportunity of work will be from faithfulness in using present abilities. Use well your office, and perhaps you will be promoted by our Head and become a dispenser of spiritual things. R365:6

Lay by him in store -- That we may have to give to charities. R2241:2

Communism is not the Lord's arrangement. D478, 479, 480; R1862:5, 1390:5

God's people are to be frugal, to avoid debts, to be "forehanded," and with some reserve of capital. R4567:2

For our own future needs or that we may have to lend to others in need. R4567:2, 2932:5, 1862:4, 854:3; Q143:1

Economy and frugality, and provision for the necessities of our own household and generosity toward others needing assistance, spiritual and temporal, are the good counsels of the Lord. R2241:2, 5409:4, 4567:2, 2932:5, 1862:4

We may do good and lend according to our opportunities and abilities, but we are not to obligate ourselves beyond what we would be willing to give outright. R2241:2

If it is right to lay up for the Lord's family, it would be reasonable to lay aside for future necessities or emergencies of an earthly family, but let us beware of grasping miserliness which hoards. R521:2

Life insurance is equivalent to the laying aside in a savings bank a small sum, regularly, for the benefit of some dependent ones. R521:2

Very many folks can't give anything on the spur of the moment. They could not pay their rent on the spur of the moment either. A man is to arrange for it. R963:2*

Those who have never learned to give, have failed to rightly appreciate one of our choice privileges and pleasures. R365:6

Under Jewish Law, each natural Israelite was directed to give a tithe, a tenth, of his gross earnings. R5409:4, 963:2*

Hath prospered him -- During the preceding week. R1334:6, 5600:2,5, 4284:2, 4102:2,5, 3669:2,5, 2410:5

A share of his income. R2932:5

Whether one cent or one dollar or a thousand dollars. R1378:2

The degree of our prosperity should be the measure of our charity; none should give to such an extent as to bring financial bankruptcy upon himself and cause losses to others. R5927:4, 2212:4, 854:3

Gatherings -- Collections. R449:6*

1 Corinthians 16:3

Letters -- It was the usual custom to give and carry letters of introduction. R1720:2

With you -- Paul evidently paid Corinth a second visit. CR278:5

1 Corinthians 16:12

Not at all to come -- The calls or requests were not always obeyed: and no offense was taken by the Apostle if the brethren sometimes felt and acted differently from his suggestions. R1822:1

1 Corinthians 16:13

Watch ye -- We still have need of this exhortation. OV285:1

The careless, indifferent, and lukewarm may lightly heed the words of warning; but the faithful saints earnestly aspiring to attain that whereunto they are called, realize the necessity and thankfully heed them. R609:1*

First, last, and all the time we need to watch that the Spirit of Christ in us is not displaced by the spirit of the world. R609:1* That the fruit of the Spirit of God is manifest in all our actions; that no root of bitterness springing up may trouble us; and that we be not entangled with the cares of this life. R609:1*

We must watch unto prayer and thus keep open communication with the heavenly grace and secure the necessary help in every time of need; lest our Christian character be dwarfed, withered or utterly destroyed.

Stand fast -- Against the various oppositions of the world, the flesh, and the Adversary. R4912:6

Only those strongly supported by the truth will be able to stand in this evil day. R609:4*

To stand is to adhere to fixed principles; or in other words, to "be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." (1 Cor. 15:58)

R90:1

In the faith -- It is possible for every student of the Scriptures to have a clear, definite, positive faith, symmetrical and harmonious; and to be able to give every one that asketh, a reason for the hope that is in him. R609:4*

If our faith is not thus definite and clear, we are just in condition to be blown about by every wind of doctrine. R609:4*

Quit you like men -- Be faithful and loyal to God and his cause. R5840:5
Acquit yourselves like men. R4912:6

Be strong -- As men arm and prepare themselves for the battle. R609:4*

After reasonable instruction in the ways of righteousness, the Lord has a right to expect, strong characters. Be strong in faith and strong in character; so shall we be pleasing and acceptable to God. R1882:5, 1972:4, 1485:5

When God invites us to feast at his table, and then clearly indicates the manner in which he would have us use the strength thereby gained, we are not excusable in remaining either babes or children. R679:3*

Both strength and courage are necessary to faithful service and to success in the good fight of faith; and both are developed by patient endurance and faith in God under various trials to which the Christian is exposed.

We should be constantly growing in knowledge, in grace, and in usefulness in the Master's service. R679:3*

1 Corinthians 16:14

Things -- Deeds. (Diaglott) R5417:1

Done with charity -- Done in love. (Diaglott) R5417:1

In proportion as we develop strength of character as new creatures, this quality of love increases. In addition, we should find our judgment also becoming more accurate. R5417:1

Be careful our words are kind and loving; even sharp utterances should be tempered with love. R5417:4

Let us as the Lord's children, ambassadors of the King of heaven, seek more and more to exercise the spirit of a sound mind, the spirit of love and reasonableness. R5417:6

1 Corinthians 16:15

Themselves -- Greek, heautou, as in "Shall not speak of himself." (John 16:13) E171

Glad of the coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159

1 Corinthians 16:19

Priscilla -- In every instance, except this, where Priscilla and her husband are mentioned, Priscilla is mentioned first, as if she were the more prominent and active of the two. R1549:3

Salute you -- Even with their limited means of communication, whenever there was opportunity, the churches in one place were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions to those in other places. R1895:4

1 Corinthians 16:20

Holy kiss -- In spirit, but not in letter; the civilities of our times being somewhat different from the customs of that day. R1550:5; Q618:5
The sex dividing line was very strict in olden times so that there was no indiscriminate kissing among them, neither should there be among the friends now. Q618:5

There would be nothing wrong in a kiss of love; but there is no intimation that the brethren should kiss the sisters, or the sisters kiss the brethren. Q619:T, 618:4

1 Corinthians 16:22

If any man love not -- Greek, phileo, with duty love. R2807:3

Anathema Maran-atha -- He shall be accursed or condemned to the second death when the Lord comes. R2807:3

An appreciation of the work of Christ will be expected of all when brought to a knowledge of the salvation which God has provided in him. Whoever refuses to respond in duty-love will be cut off from life early in the Millennial reign. R2807:3

The present life does not close the door of opportunity to any that have never known phileo love, or to many who have known this, but have not yet attained agape. R2807:3

Let him be cut off. The Lord cometh. R98:4*

"Let both grow together till the harvest." (Matt. 13:30) Then the angels of superior power and wisdom will do the work of separation. R98:4*

General

Paul found that the Corinthian Church had been beset by false teachers, and as a consequence, their faith in his apostleship and teaching was somewhat shaken. He therefore found it necessary to write to them; for, said he, I fear lest by any means your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ. R551:5

Let us note the change which the full appreciation of the Gospel wrought upon the believers at Corinth. At first they were so negligent of their privilege that seemingly they never even thought of volunteering financial assistance to the Apostle when he was serving them by the labor of his own hands and receiving some assistance from believers in other places. But after the grace of God had entered more fully into their hearts, they began to appreciate the value of the truth which they had received and to realize that it had brought them priceless blessings of hope, joy, faith and character. Then they had a zeal, a "forwardness" to do something financially in the Lord's service. R5927:2, 2211:6

In the first chapter, verses 3-7, the Apostle uses the word, "comfort" ten times. A little further along in the same epistle 7:4-13, the Apostle uses this word, "comfort" seven times. Here we see illustrated, in the Apostle's language, the mutual helpfulness of the Church in this matter of comfort. Titus had a part in it, Paul had a part in it, the Church at Corinth had a part in it--every member possessing the holy Spirit and exercised by it had a share; and the Apostle declares that all this comfort was of God. R3435:5

Tischendorf writes regarding relative values of ancient manuscripts: "2 Cor. 4:13-12:6 are not found in the Alexandrine Codex." R1147:2

2 Corinthians 1

2 Corinthians 1:1

An apostle -- Showing the divine authority for Paul's teachings. R1419:2

All the saints -- The word "saint" is used to designate the truly consecrated. R1139:1

This entire epistle is addressed to the Church, the saints. NS569:3

Those who can not properly apply the term "saint"--sanctified in Christ Jesus--to themselves, can not properly apply to themselves the exceeding great and precious promises. R2987:4

Prospective "saints," the "elect," a "Little Flock." This class alone that receives spirit-begetting is the only class addressed throughout the New Testament. SM628:1

The followers of Jesus, of no earthly sect or party, "The church of the first-borns, whose names are written in heaven," (Heb. 12:23) who have died to worldly aims and have become alive toward God through the holy Spirit. SM391:2

This letter, together with the other epistles, was designed by the holy Spirit for the instruction of the whole Church, during the entire Gospel age. R1386:1

2 Corinthians 1:3

Father of our Lord -- Our Lord Jesus is not THE God, he never was and never will be. R5748:3

Father of mercies -- The God of the Bible is not a vengeful God, not unkind. R4982:3

"The God of all grace," whose name is love, and who is perfect in all his ways. SM443:1-445:2

All comfort -- The Apostle used "comfort" ten times in vss. 3-7. He used it seven times in chapter 7, vss. 4-13. R3435:4

Paul was peculiarly fond of repetition. Our modern taste prefers a change in sound to monotonous repetition, but change sometimes loses the force and power of repetition. R52:5*

Only the Bible reveals a God that is working all things for the ultimate comfort of as many of his creatures as will accept his favors after being brought to a knowledge of the truth respecting them. NS836:4

2 Corinthians 1:4

Who comforteth us -- With the holy Spirit--the channel of divine favor--called the Comforter. (John 14:26) R2665:1

How often the Lord has thus comforted us, and how such comfort offsets the adverse conditions incident to the present pilgrim way! R3384:4

Paul exemplified his own words on an ill-fated ship. (Acts 27) R4506:5

To comfort them -- The children of God, who have learned the true source of comfort, are the only ones properly qualified to be comforters, in the Scriptural sense. R5537:4

Whether while still in the flesh, or after we have come into our inheritance beyond the veil, we are to be comforters. R5537:4

Ability to be a comforter depends upon growth in grace and knowledge, for none but those who themselves are comforted can dispense this grace to others. R3435:3

All of our lessons and experiences in life in connection with trials and difficulties should make us the more capable in communicating comfort to others. R2665:5

"Comfort all that mourn." (Isa. 61:2) R2665:4

The word comfort does not contain the thought of relief, but rather that of strengthen together, or added strength. R3734:4

By the comfort -- "Patience and comfort of the scriptures." (Rom. 15:4) R2665:1

Comforted of God -- "Comfort one another with these words." (1 Thes. 4:18) R2665:2

"Comfort yourselves together and edify one another." (1 Thes. 5:11) R2665:4

Sufferings of Christ -- We, the members of his Body, fill up the measure of the sufferings of Christ which are behind. And these sufferings require all of the Gospel age to complete. T50

Whosoever believeth in Christ is justified from all sin, and sickness is a mark of sin; yet God appoints this Gospel age as the time for the Church's trial and suffering, so we are not freed from sickness yet. R2000:3

The afflictions of the gospel can not be endured without the consolations of the gospel. R27:3*

Our consolation -- How much the Church needed such consolation, how much the God of all comfort wished to have his faithful ones comforted, and even the strongest in the Church, the apostles, needed comfort. R3435:4

2 Corinthians 1:7

Ye are partakers -- "Rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings." (1 Pet. 4:13) T50 When Jesus gave his cup to his disciples we were symbolically invited to be partakers of the sufferings of Christ. R4475:1

Of the sufferings -- These sufferings require all of the Gospel age to complete them. T50

Blessed are all in Zion who mourn over and lament the mighty power of evil in high places, both of church and of state. Setting themselves in opposition to it, they incur reproach. R1493:6*

The consolation -- "Your sorrow shall be turned into joy." (John 16:20) R1493:6*

2 Corinthians 1:8

Our trouble -- It may have been the intention to have the Apostle cast into the arena to be devoured by wild beasts (1 Cor. 15:32), or it is possible that he referred to the Ephesian mob itself, as "beasts" seeking his life. R2207:5

2 Corinthians 1:10

He will yet deliver us -- Saved from death as yet only by hope. (Rom. 8:24) Believers cannot experience the actual delivery from the power of death until the resurrection. F697

2 Corinthians 1:12

Godly sincerity -- Delighting in the beauty of holiness, adorned with a meek and quiet spirit, submissive to discipline, patient in tribulation, abounding in the work of the Lord and delighting only in his manifest favor. R2123:3*

It requires constant watching and purging, humility, sobriety, godliness, to enable us to put this in practice. R2038:2

A warning to guard against every approach to a spirit of pride and vain glory. R1972:2

Fleshly wisdom -- The wisdom of this world which depends on self and takes credit to self. R1988:1

By the grace of God -- We are men of passions like Peter's: a very little exaltation often engenders pride, against which we must guard with the grace of God. R1988:1

We are your rejoicing -- Those who were noting Paul's trials and how he walked in them, were stimulated to do likewise. R4449:3*

As ye also are ours -- Paul's hope is that in the day of the Lord Jesus the believers would be a cause of rejoicing, like epistles sent to the "ends of the earth," and "known and read of all men." (Acts 13:47; 2 Cor. 3:2) R1323:5

Did I use lightness? -- False brethren urged that Paul erred in teaching that circumcision was unnecessary to the Gentiles; that his teachings were not fixed and consistent. R4517:6

2 Corinthians 1:20

The promises of God -- The world does not see the overshadowing wings of divine protection, but the faithful have a blessed secret realization of it and may sweetly rest in the precious promises. R4925:6, 3331:5

2 Corinthians 1:21

Stablisheth us -- Sets us, establishes us. R5498:3

Hath anointed us -- Of the holy Spirit. R5498:3

The saints of this Gospel age are an anointed company--The Christ. A81

The Spirit in the sense of enlightening and anointing is given only to the Body of Christ (anointed). R218:5, 5498:3; F132; Q23:T

When we come into Christ, we come into the anointing. If you and I maintain our membership in his Body, we are members of the Anointed One, we are under that anointing. Q23:T

Is God -- God does the calling of those who come to him. R5498:3

"No man taketh this honor to himself." (Heb. 5:4) R5498:3

It is not the province of even our Redeemer to set us and anoint us.

R5498:6

We are anointed in him by God. We cannot deal directly with God apart from Christ; we are not independent of Jesus. R1768:3*

2 Corinthians 1:22

Hath also sealed us -- Sealing goes beyond the anointing; you were not only anointed with the holy Spirit--you were also sealed. Our sealing, the imprint of the Lord's character upon us, is continuing unto the day of redemption. Q23:1

Marked or indicated by the giving of the holy Spirit. (Eph. 1:13) F132

Not an outward sign upon our foreheads, but in the heart. The Spirit of adoption or sealing as sons--the very cream of Christian experiences in the present life. E247

Impressed by the holy Spirit into the image of our dear Master through the promises of God. Those who are sealed have a considerable measure of appreciation of the truth. R5498:6

God only seals those hearts that are submitted willingly, joyfully, gladly, and fully, to him. CR349:4

Once entered into, the covenant or agreement is unalterable, the matter is fixed and sealed. R131:5

The earnest of the Spirit -- There is a change of nature for the Church, which begins here and is completed in the resurrection. R626:4

2 Corinthians 1:24

But are helpers -- The Lord does not raise up rulers from among our brethren in the Body of Christ; but he does raise up faithful leaders, to whom earnest heed should be given. R1559:4

2 Corinthians 2

2 Corinthians 2:4

With many tears -- His was the grief of an unselfish heart yearning over the salvation of others. R1886:5*

2 Corinthians 2:11

Lest -- "Watch and pray." (Matt. 26:41; Eph. 6:18) Important prerequisites to safety and victory. R2527:6

Satan -- The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6
The term Satan signifies adversary, opponent. R5183:3

"Deliver us from the evil one" (Luke 11:4) is a recognition that Satan is our great Adversary. (Eph. 6:12) R5379:5

Whose very existence is now being denied by many. See 2 Cor. 4:4; 2 Cor. 11:14. F609

Get an advantage of us -- The spirit adversaries are especially on the alert to entrap and ensnare the consecrated followers of the Lord. R5248:3, 2770:1

Through Satan's attacks many are being tested and their love of unrighteousness is being shown. R5148:1

Through one or another of the numerous snares Satan has set for our feet. R1687:5

The enemy by first one agent and then another in heavenly garb seeks still to overthrow the truth, using all subtilty. R899:6

We are not ignorant -- We are aware that we are surrounded by the powers of evil. R5379:5

As we near the consummation of the harvest, it should not surprise us that in every way the Adversary becomes more persistent in his attacks. R5147:3, 3884:6

The saints' strength will lie in great part in that they are taking heed to the warnings of the Apostle respecting the present time. R2770:5

Even spirit mediums are well aware of the danger they encounter; if they become obsessed, the evil spirit obtaining full control, the human will is powerless to expel it. R3310:5

If the Lord's people will only go to the armory they will find that the Captain of our salvation has made abundant provision that we should not be helpless in the hands of our Adversary. R2527:6

The ability to discern spiritual things must depend on the extent to which our minds are controlled by the Spirit of God. (1 Cor. 2:14) R21:3*

Some who are Satan's active servants are totally unaware of the fact, and are themselves deceived by his devices. R1217:3

His devices -- His intrigues, his deceptions. NS124:2; OV294:3
His snares. OV130:T

The Adversary, with his associates, is doubly active today, realizing that he has but a short time and that the fight is a desperate one. NS563:3
Satan misrepresents God's character as unloving, unjust, and unkind. R5148:2

The blinding of the minds of men as respects the light of truth. SM102:T;
R1217:6; CR463:2,6; HG256:1

That first great lie, "Ye shall not surely die," (Gen. 3:4) has been the foundation of all theological disaster. Satan sowed the evil seed of error in the wheat field, to have us think of God as the greatest of all demons. HG256:1

Many leading theologians teach that our Lord performed no miracles against demons or evil spirits, and that the people merely had nervous diseases or fits. 3310:5

Christian Science is one of Satan's latest fads. R3310:5, 3165:6

One of his old "devices" is his denial of his own existence. R3120:1, 3310:5, 3165:6

One snare, which at first seems to be harmless and benevolent, is the erroneous view of everlasting salvation of all. R1218:1

Our ancestors were among those whom Satan deceived and who ignorantly became his servants and tools in the establishment of the thought that the civilized kingdoms are the kingdoms of Christ--"Christendom." OV50:3

Opposition to the divine plan of the ages is on the increase. Slanderous misrepresentations are so unblushingly made as to carry a measure of conviction with them, to the injury of the cause we serve. R5147:3

What Satan cannot do against the truth along the lines of logic, the Bible and common sense, he seeks to do through slanderous misrepresentations of all who take their stand on the side of truth. R5147:3

Satan attempts to discourage us by exaggerating our weaknesses and failures, thus to cause us to cease striving. He would have us give up in despair. R5148:2

He got up dissensions among the Lord's chosen twelve; his spirit actuated Peter to interfere with the Lord's sacrifice; now, too, Satan is desirous to sift out some. R3884:6, 1217:3

Satan's devices and snares are operated by men. R1217:3

God's people have their contention with wicked spirits in influential positions. NS124:2, 563:3

There is a probability that Satan will prosecute his work in the near future through various materializations. R4743:3

Satan, wily, adroit and cunning, is the chief leader of the demons. The heathen world, while thinking they are worshipping God, are really deceived by demonology. NS124:2; OV295:T

2 Corinthians 2:13

Rest in my spirit -- Greek: pneuma, mind. E318

Causeth us to triumph -- Leads us forth to triumph. (Diaglott) R877:1
Paul's message was not always appreciated, but he triumphed in the fact that his labor was a sweet savor to God in any case. He rejoiced in his Master's approval, with an eye single to his glory. R877:2

If we accept the results of any matter as being good, realizing that we were guided to those results by divine providence, we should find no room for bitterness or railing against the instruments used. (Jude 9) R2896:1

We have full assurance that our labor shall not be in vain. In the harvest field, not even the humblest is excluded. The one, two, or many talents may all be employed. R877:1

In Christ -- With the Anointed One. (Diaglott) R877:1

Maketh manifest -- Diffuses. (Diaglott) R877:1

The savour of his knowledge -- The fragrance of the knowledge of him. (Diaglott) R877:1

A sweet savour of Christ -- As the spirit of loving zeal was demonstrated in the Lord's case, so in our case; otherwise we should not be members of that Body. R4922:2

Since nothing was said about offering the incense the second time, and we do not go into the Holy as individuals but as members of his Body, we are safe in saying that we are "in Christ, a sweet savor to God." Q343:6; R4922:2

In them that perish -- Among those who are perishing. (Diaglott) R877:1

2 Corinthians 2:16

To the one -- Those who are in a wrong condition of heart. R3537:1, 5678:1

To many, the words of Peter's Pentecost discourse were foolishness and had the death odor, and they passed on. R2930:5

In John 9, when the blind man received his sight miraculously, we see the spirit of disobedience and rebellion on the part of Pharisees, despising truth, rejecting light, because their deeds were evil. R2058:2*

As the persecutions of Stephen's day scattered the Church, some are thus sifted out, alienated, and develop a hard spirit. They go back into the outer darkness of the world. R4335:2

There is a danger that those whose hearts are selfish and lacking in gratitude will lapse into even greater worldliness, feeling that it will be well with them in the future in any event. R5678:1

We are -- Our good deeds, kind words and efforts. R3537:1

The word of truth. R2930:5, 877:2

The savour of death -- A bad, offensive odor. R3537:1, 877:2

A reproof, a warning, unpleasant in that it condemned them, declared their lives to be out of harmony with the will of God, showed that they are worthy of death. It held out no hopes of life to this class. R877:2

The preaching of the cross attracts the loyal-hearted and repels all others. NS625:1

Unto death -- The demands of consecration to some appear onerous, burdensome. They have an odor of death that repels them and leads on to second death. R4346:1

Tending to death. R3673:6

These whom our message does not now reach will be brought under favorable conditions shortly, when the glorious Millennial reign is fully inaugurated. Then the message will be rightly seen. R877:4

The conditions of the message as it relates to sin. God will not grant life to willful sinners--will not change, but the sinner's blindness will be removed, and then he must choose obedience and life or sin and death. R877:5

And to the other -- Those who are in the right attitude of heart. R3537:1
Inside and outside of all denominations we find the Lord's "Little Flock" considering it a privilege to have fellowship with Christ in sufferings, in prospect of the fellowship in his glory. NS625:1

As in Stephen's day, the Lord at times permits trials and persecutions which seem to wreck the interests of the Church, but they cause some to grow from grace to grace and from strength to strength. R4335:2

The young man who received his sight also received and appreciated the authority of truth and from its blessed testimony were drawn the lessons of faith, obedience, gratitude, humility and loving reverence. R2058:4*

As God's goodness and mercy hardened Pharaoh's heart and the love and humility of Jesus hardened Judas' heart, these principles are still at work, and may be witnessed in the harvest siftings today. R2450:1

Some feel an earnest desire to render thanks to the Lord for his great mercy and love as manifested in his glorious plan of the ages; they seek to know what is the Lord's will so that they may do it. R5678:1

The deeply interested hearers of Peter's Pentecost discourse were pricked to the heart, conscience-smitten, with his apt words. R2930:6

Regarding holding a meeting in the home of a brother with a weakness for alcohol, it would be most helpful to him to remove the meeting from that location so it would not bring dishonor on the truth. R4378:5

The savour of life -- With our endeavors to serve, some have been comforted and refreshed--to them the effort was a sweet odor. R3537:1

The message is "glad tidings," a sweet odor, a message of life giving hope of life. R877:2

Unto life -- Tending to life; there is no neutral ground. R3673:6

To some the ways of the Lord have a sweet odor, a life odor, bringing refreshment. R4346:1, 5678:1

It is only those who receive the truth into good and honest hearts that are rewarded with its blessed fruitage. R2058:4*

Who is sufficient -- There is a tremendous strain of responsibility upon all who minister the Lord's truth. R4346:2, 3674:4

None of us in our own strength. R3674:4

None but the faithful shall be able to stand, because the Lord will purposely make the test so severe as to sift and shake out all others.

R1280:1

Who is qualified? (Diaglott) R877:1

2 Corinthians 2:17

Corrupt the word -- The authority of the Scriptures is assailed in high places; the rapids of skepticism are fast hurrying on toward the final plunge into open infidelity. R1584:2

Trafficking the Word. (Diaglott) R877:1

In the sight of God -- In the presence of God. (Diaglott) R877:1

In Christ -- Concerning Christ. (Diaglott) R877:1

2 Corinthians 3

2 Corinthians 3:1

Commend ourselves -- False brethren had charged that Paul was given to self-commendation. (2 Cor. 5:12; 10:8) R4517:6

Epistles of commendation -- It was the custom to carry introductory letters. Paul sometimes used them, but he did not need one to the Corinthians, because he himself had founded and established that church and knew the brethren well. R1720:2

Paul's words explain why he was an exception--the brethren already knew him. We feel it is not right to expect people to receive strangers into their confidence without some introduction from us. R1706:5

2 Corinthians 3:2

Ye are our epistle -- The lives of God's people should in every case be "living epistles." R5571:6

It is well that we preach the Word. It is still more important that we live in it. R4391:4

Our Lord recognized no separate clergy class, but all the brethren were to be living epistles of God, ready at all times to give a reason to every inquirer, of the hope that is in them. R984:4

Every Christian is a tract, and one that all men read. R565:2*

A godly life is always a reproof to the ungodly, even where no word of truth may be possible or proper. E294

Written in our hearts -- These believers were not then "manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ," (verse 3) but it was Paul's hope that they would be so declared, and that hope was written in his heart.

R1323:5*

We shall not know how to write in the hearts of others what we have not had written in our own hearts. Hence the propriety of caution in the choosing of elders, those who have the Lord in their hearts. Q235:3

Read of all men -- The best epistle--even more valuable than the Bible, as respects reaching the hearts of men--is the life of a true Christian.

R5967:6

Especially by their own families. R5571:6, 4993:1

The person who is living to glorify the Father will be beneficial to himself and to the person to whom he ministers. Others will say, "It is good that such a person lives in our neighborhood." R4993:2

2 Corinthians 3:3

Epistle of Christ -- The writing, the tracing of the character likeness of the Master in the hearts of his people. R5968:4

Ministered -- Written. R5967:3

By us -- Paul declares he was one of the instruments used by the Lord in connection with the writing of the epistle. R5967:3

We wrote that in your hearts; we told you about it. CR436:2

Not in tables of stone -- Stone is a fitting figure of human hearts petrified by sin. R1322:4*

Of those upon whom the seed of the Kingdom falls, a large proportion are found to be "stony ground." (Mark 4:16) R1322:4*

2 Corinthians 3:5

But our sufficiency -- Ability to walk contrary to the course of the world. R2123:3*

For a contest against the powers of darkness. R2005:3

Is of God -- It is only as we become filled with the Spirit of God that we can do these things. R2123:3*

"I can do all things through Christ, who strengthened me." (Phil. 4:13)

R2123:4*

Our Lord is ready to deliver us and give us victory over the Evil One. R2005:3

2 Corinthians 3:6

Hath made us -- Our Lord's teaching, his ministry, were like the fullers' soap, the refiner's fire, purifying the sons of Levi, the consecrated Israelites indeed, the great Body of the Mediator, for its great work. R4595:6

Able ministers -- Greek: diakonos; servants. F252; R4537:6, 4331:3; CR326:6, 436:4

A servant, not a lord--servants of the truth, of the Gospel. CR436:4
Qualified or efficient servants or messengers. R4595:2, 4681:1, 4592:5, 4474:5, 4435:4

Paul and Timothy and all true elders in the Church are deacons (servants) of God and of the New Testament--the New Covenant. F252

Every member of the Church of Christ is an authorized mouthpiece of the Lord. CR434:2

We are associated with Christ in the work which he is now carrying on, to wit, the work of gathering together the Lord's jewels all through the Gospel age. R4596:6, 4474:6

"Ambassadors for Christ," representing the heavenly Kingdom and its King of kings, our words and conduct are all done in the name of the Lord Jesus from the time we formally confess him. R3329:6

There are still Church members who unfold prophecies, some who serve as pastors, some who strengthen and support others, some who give of this world's goods. R365:5

There are limitations, but there are plenty of opportunities. CR437:1

The first service is to sacrifice. R4537:6

Dying with Christ for the sealing of the New Covenant. R4319:6

We may now be permitted to minister or serve, to the laying down of our lives, and thus be prepared to be ministers to the world in general.

R4310:6, 5294:1

Jesus is the messenger or servant of the New Covenant, and each one of the Church now being called and chosen becomes an under servant and messenger of the New Covenant. R4474:5

We are ministers in the sense that we are serving it by training for future service--after it shall have been inaugurated. R5294:1, 4474:5

Ambassadors for God, explaining to men his provision of the New Covenant. R4332:2

We (the Body of Christ) already, before the coming of our glory, are authorized ministers of this New Covenant to every one who now has an ear to hear. R974:3

Christ and the Church will be the "able ministers" of the New Covenant when God's mercy will return to natural Israel under it. NS864:4

The Church are ministers of the New Covenant to the world as Moses was the minister of the Law Covenant to Israel. NS386:1

Antitype of the sacrificing priests and the teaching Levites who were the ministers of the Law Covenant. SM558:1

To every "Israelite indeed," it was only a small change to understand that their pledges under the Law to Moses were now transferred to Christ, the surety of the New Covenant which they engaged to serve. F434

Our acceptance will not mean Israel's everlasting loss, but they will be profited through the blessing of spiritual Israel. R4592:5

New testament -- New Covenant. R4331:3, 4681:1, 4595:2

A Covenant of law and of works. R4332:4

Not that the New Covenant is in effect, but serving its interests. R4332:2

The Church is not under the New Covenant. R5294:1

Not one statement of Scripture identifies the New Covenant with the Gentiles. It is Israel's New Covenant given to displace the old Law Covenant. R4319:5 Making preparation for its inauguration. R4681:1; PT377:1*

The New Covenant is served by: (1) gathering the members of the Body, (2) learning and teaching to others the lessons necessary to qualify for the position, (3) preparing the blood with which it is to be sealed. R4496:4, 4474:5

Preparing it, carrying forward its various interests to present them to Israel and the world in due time. R4492:1, 4474:5

Paul and the other apostles and each of the Lord's faithful ones are ministers or servants of this New Covenant now. R4475:5; CR434:1

The early Church were mostly Hebrews. The Apostle's references to the New Covenant are almost exclusively in the epistle to the Hebrews. In Romans and Corinthians, he is teaching specific lessons to Gentiles. 4319:5

Not of the letter, but of the spirit -- Now, the spirit of obedience or endeavor to observe God's law is all of which men are capable. A305

The New Covenant makes allowance for all the slips occasioned by our imperfections and takes cognizance of our efforts to discern and follow its spirit--its general disposition. R1404:4

We cannot preach to others nor keep the very letter of that perfect New Covenant, because of the present condition of imperfection, but we can conform as nearly as possible to its spirit. R974:3

We are qualified ministers of the New Covenant, not according to the letter of that Covenant, as it will operate during the Millennium, but according to its spirit, which now operates toward us through our Advocate. R4597:5

Not our letter or spirit, nor the letter or spirit of the Word; nor the letter or spirit of the Law, but the letter and spirit of the Covenant. R4595:2, 614:1

When the Kingdom is delivered up to the Father, all mankind will be capable of rendering perfect obedience, in letter as well as in spirit. A305

For the letter killeth -- The absolute, strict, personal conformity to every jot and tittle of the Law, as required under the old Covenant. R1404:4, 614:6

The letter of that perfect New Covenant. R4597:5, 974:3

The full letter of God's perfect law would now condemn man to death at once. A305

The Jews were placed under the "letter" of the Law, and the world has witnessed its enforcement upon them. R812:4*

The only way that anything could be done to Israel's advantage would be to enter into a New Covenant through a new Mediator who would be able to make up for their deficiencies. R4595:3

The "figure," the "old" Covenant, was ministered "in letter." Even the letter of the gospel "came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Spirit, and in much assurance." (1 Thes. 1:5) R1322:5*

It is not God's Word that kills, for his Word is the channel for communicating his will to men--for the minutest affairs of life, it furnishes principles, precepts and examples. R614:4

The tendency of seeing only the letter is killing. R67:3*

But the spirit giveth life -- The spirit of obedience or endeavor to observe God's law. A305

Which is love. R614:5

The spirit of the New Covenant. R4597:5, 974:3

The manifest disposition to obey the Law, and the acceptance of the righteousness of Christ to supplement our deficiency. R1404:4

"The Kingdom of God is not in word, but in power." (1 Cor. 4:20) Neither the letter nor the word assists man to break his fetters, but "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." (2 Cor. 3:17) R1322:5*

When that which is perfect is come, that which we can now fulfill only in spirit and intent, we then shall fulfill in letter, joyfully. R974:3

Showing the upward and downward tendencies of feeding on the two phases of truth. Paul draws a contrast between the Law and the gospel, between the letter and the spirit of the Old Testament. R692:5*

The Word is the voice of the Spirit. Since God's "two witnesses," the Old and New Testaments, were prepared, he has honored them, as the medium of his will. R614:1

The writings of Moses contain the gospel of the Son of God, as a shell contains a kernel. Both are real; each is valuable in its own place, for the purpose designed. The kernel is more valuable than the shell. R67:3*

2 Corinthians 3:7

Ministration of death -- Israel found it to be unto death. (Rom. 7:10)

R4595:3

Referring to the Law Covenant because it did not give life to any who were under it. NS386:1; R974:2, 1322:6

Because man is unholy, unjust, bad, the Law has neither promise nor power of life in it. R1322:6*

The figure, the Old Covenant, in its sanctions, did not extend beyond the first death; the reality, in its sanctions, includes the second death.

R1323:6*

Was glorious -- "The law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good." (Rom. 7:12) R1403:3, 1322:6*

The condemnation was glorious because through its execution infinite wisdom and love were seen providing a penalty, from which eternal life could be extracted. R192:1*

Could not steadfastly behold -- As Moses put a veil over his face to hide the glory of his countenance, so fleshly Israel are still hindered from seeing anything more than the veil, the outward, the ceremonial. R2086:4

Was to be done away -- Greek: katargeo; to render powerless, utter destruction. R2001:4

Transitory, typical. NS386:1

2 Corinthians 3:8

The ministration of the spirit -- The glorious New Jerusalem, the true Mount Zion, the city of the living God. R2035:5

Be rather glorious -- Is an object of hope. R1323:4*

The glory that attended the setting up of the typical kingdom was nothing in comparison to that of the real Kingdom. R2035:5

Ministration of condemnation -- The Law Covenant, which ministered only condemnation to death to those under it. R1403:2, 1404:6, 238:5*

A chart compares the 1009 years from the Exodus to the overthrow of Zedekiah (the ministration of condemnation) with 1009 years from 1874 to the destruction of Satan (the ministration of righteousness). R3579:2*

Ministration of righteousness -- The New Covenant in Christ. R1403:2, 238:5*

2 Corinthians 3:10

The glory that excelleth -- While Paul points us to the superior glory of the New Covenant, as yet only apprehended by faith, he reminds us of the glory of the old Covenant, and calls attention to the typical character of that glory. R1403:2

2 Corinthians 3:11

Done away -- Greek: katargeo; to render powerless, utter destruction. R2001:4

This refutes the Seventh Day Adventist understanding, that Christians are under the Mosaic Law. HG584:2* Compare the Revised Version of this text with Matt. 5:18. HG584:2*

2 Corinthians 3:12

We have such hope -- When the "kings and priests of God" shall go out of the city "which has no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it," they will need to wear a veil--a veil of flesh, to obscure their glory. (Rev. 21:23) HG34:3

2 Corinthians 3:13

As Moses -- A type of the greater Law-giver and Mediator of the New Covenant, the entire Church, of which our Lord is the Head. B134; D630

Vail over his face -- Seems to typify the earthly phase of the Kingdom, the "princes in all the earth" (Psa. 45:16) through whom the Christ will speak. D630

Illustrating that when the glory of the Lord is revealed, the glory of the spiritual persons cannot be seen. B134

If Moses concocted the Law with the assistance of a heathen legend, he perpetrated a fraud at Mt. Sinai; but our Lord and the Apostle Paul believed the Old Testament's record of Moses. R3177:5

That which is abolished -- "To those who are in Christ Jesus," there is now no further condemnation. (Rom. 8:1) R4619:4; Q729:1

It was the intention that the Law Covenant should not be perpetual; it is condemned, its passing away is arranged for. R4619:4; Q729:1

2 Corinthians 3:14

Remaineth the same veil -- The Law Covenant is still operating and is still a condemnation upon those who are under it. R4619:4

Untaken away in the reading of the old testament -- The Lord Jesus is found even in the writings of Moses, but hidden by the letter as a veil from the unbelieving Jew and from all others who "cannot discern spiritual things." R21:2*

Which veil is done away in Christ -- Greek: katargeo; done away, used in the sense of utter destruction. R2001:5

The whole Jewish nation will be granted an opportunity of transfer from the Law Covenant, under Moses, to the New (Law) Covenant, under the glorified Christ. R4619:5

Even unto this day -- The "veil" of prejudice still exists. R2605:2, 67:3*

The veil -- Those who are only fleshly Israel are still hindered from seeing anything more than the veil--the outward, the ceremonial. R2086:4

The writings of Moses are largely allegorical. In addition to the literal they have a superior value, typical, representing the great plan of salvation. R67:2*

We should refrain from covering our hearts with the veil of prejudice. HG584:3*

Upon their heart -- The veil which hides the liberation from this ministration of death is yet upon the heart of the Jew and the world.

R812:5*

The "veil" of prejudice still exists, but it will be gradually taken away as the light of the Millennial morning dawns; nor should we be surprised to hear of many Jews coming to acknowledge Christ. R2605:2; HG387:4

2 Corinthians 3:16

The veil shall be taken away -- From the eyes of Israel after the flesh; after spiritual Israel has been changed. R2086:4

See Jer. 31:29-34. R812:5*

This same thought of the veil being ignorance and unbelief is given in Isa. 25:7. R154:1

"The blindness that has veiled with night the lost of Israel's fold, Will be replaced by Gospel light, when Gentile times are told." HG320:3

The veil of ignorance, pride and human wisdom which Satan now uses to becloud God's true plan of salvation. R2602:2

2 Corinthians 3:17

Now the Lord -- Jesus "changed," glorified. R4176:1

Whom "God has highly exalted and given a name above every name." (Phil. 2:9) E298; R4657:3, 4176:1; Q592:2

"Though we have known Christ after the flesh (yet) henceforth know we him (so) no more." (2 Cor. 5:16) E298; R3075:2, 2981:2, 1278:4; NS176:1, 32:6, 6:6

As our Lord was born from the dead a spirit being, he must have been previously begotten of the Spirit. E175; R5580:4, 4123:6, 1278:4

Is that Spirit -- Greek: pneuma, he is now a powerful and invisible being. E175, 174

"That which is born of the spirit is spirit." (John 3:6) E175; R1278:4

"Put to death in the flesh he was quickened in spirit." (1 Pet. 3:18)

R3075:2, 5580:4, 5222:2, 2981:2, 2478:4, 1278:4; Q592:2

Christ Jesus was resurrected to the spirit plane "far above angels, principalities and powers." (Eph. 1:21) R5025:5, 4994:5, 4176:1; Q592:2 It was at his resurrection that he became the second Adam--"the last Adam, a quickening spirit." (1 Cor. 15:45) R2981:2

The forty days following Jesus' resurrection were very necessary for teaching the Jewish disciples and all of the Lord's followers since the great lesson that he was no longer a man, but a spirit. R5579:2

The Lord manifested himself in various forms so that his followers would know he was raised from the dead to a different plane of existence. The second Adam is heavenly, not the earthly Jesus. R5237:5

In Luke 24:39, Jesus appeared to the eleven in a body of flesh which veiled yet represented him. What they now saw was not his spirit but a body used to prove he was alive again. R1995:6, 2478:4

Paul says he saw the Lord, not in the flesh, but shining "above the brightness of the sun at noonday." (Acts 26:13-15) There is no Scriptural statement to the effect that Jesus arose in the flesh. R5222:2

The Lord is invisible to us, because in his resurrection he was changed, and instead of being, as before his death, the "man Christ Jesus," he is now the heavenly Lord. NS458:4

Our Lord is not a glorified man. R4155:1, 5579:1; Q592:2

"Flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God." (I Cor. 15:50) R3075:2

Having taken the human nature for the purpose of giving himself a ransom for all, he is now raised to newness of life in his resurrection--the Lord of glory, shining like the noonday sun. NS88:6

The Savior laid down the life he was privileged to have. Nor did he ever take it back. He arose from the dead on the third day, perfected as a new creature--as a spirit-being. NS751:4; R4155:1

"Destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up" (John 2:19) cannot refer to Jesus' fleshly body which he gave for our redemption, but to his spirit-begotten new creature, the first of the glorified Church. R4123:6

"The beginning (of this new creation)." (Col. 1:18) R5580:4

He was the Church's forerunner; and Paul explains the Church's resurrection, "sown an animal body, raised a spirit body." (1 Cor. 15:44) R4994:5

The Church is not to expect that they will be what they now are, men, fleshly beings. We shall be like our Lord Jesus, who is no longer a man, no longer in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit. HG366:5; Q592:2

Our expectations are, like those of the apostles, that we may be "changed" and made as he is, in order that we may see him as he is--not as he was at the first advent. NS6:6; Q592:2; E175

He is a manifestation or pattern to us of the spirit or disposition which we should have toward God's law. R1404:5

The Lord Jesus is the Spirit of the Word, the golden thread of revelation from end to end. R21:2*

There is liberty -- Not bound by priestcraft, ignorance and superstition. R4005:1

The papal counterfeit kingdom employed every means that could be thought of to crush out the very spirit of true Christianity, and to substitute the spirit, doctrines, and forms of antichrist. B328, 329

The essence of all human religion and philosophy seems to be the bondage of the individual to the customs, the usages, of his forefathers. R4005:1

Christians are, of their own free will and choice, under the authority of Christ. R1738:4

The Apostle presents the duty of submission on the part of the wife, a submission which savors of love, reverence, trust and humility, compatible with "the glorious liberty of the children of God." (Rom. 8:21) R1553:4

2 Corinthians 3:18

But we all -- Hence, a strong inference that those who are not being so changed are not of the class addressed. R3655:6

With open face -- Unveiled faces. R1404:6

With no intervening veil of prejudice or fear or superstition, but with simplicity of heart and mind. R3656:2

Beholding -- May behold by faith. R1404:6

As in a glass -- Even though but dimly. R2137:4

As reflected in the mirror of the Lord's Word and as exemplified in his living Word, Jesus Christ. R3656:2, 3040:5, 1404:6

The glory of the Lord -- The grandeur of the divine character. F376

God is pleased to open the eyes of a small class at this time, that they may see the King in his beauty, by the eye of faith, looking through the telescope of God's Word. PD44/53

As revealed in this New Covenant. R1404:6

We wish to see the more glorious results of this more glorious law upon the hearts and lives of our brethren, especially as it was reflected in our great Elder Brother, the Lord Jesus. HG584:4*

Are changed -- As new spiritual creatures we grow in his likeness. R200:3

As we get clearer views of Christ's glorious character and seek to copy it. R3031:4; F376

Daily and hourly. R548:5

A full transformation into a likeness of character to our heavenly Father should be the constant effort of every true child of God. R3655:3, 1404:6; OV424:5

This transforming of our characters is not instantaneous but gradual--in our minds, wills, hearts, characters--through justification, adoption, consecration, holiness, resurrection. R3040:5

The Church, God's new creation, is undergoing process of gradual transformation, not in the shape of the head, but in the sentiments of the heart. NS17:4

The Little Flock's resurrection will not be gradual. Their gradual change takes place in this present life, changing them from glory to glory into the likeness of God's dear Son. HG231:1

True to my profession, I will strive to realize a mastery over sin, able to distinguish some degree of advancement, according to 2 Pet. 1:4, 1 John 3:3, John 15:3, 17:17, Eph. 5:26, 2 Cor. 7:1. R1628:5*

We are transformed by the renewing of our mind (Rom. 12:2), the beginning of the divine life. R371:1

Into the same image -- The disposition of our Father and Elder Brother. R548:5

When the human mind is surrendered to God, it instantly, under the influence of his spirit of truth, begins to change into a holy or God-like mind. R370:6

One of the best methods for acquiring and cultivating important graces of the Christian character is to compare ourselves with our perfect pattern, and be "conformed to the image of his Son." (Rom. 8:29) R3537:6

Jesus makes good our deficiencies and develops our characters, fashioning us into his own glorious image. R5422:2, 3040:5

From glory to glory -- From one stage of heart development to another, making the necessary progress to be ready for the final stage when we shall share his glory. R5727:3,4, 3040:5

Growing more and more like Christ. R3040:5

Into the likeness of our Lord. In the end, these overcomers will each be so grandly developed that the Lord will not be ashamed to confess any of them as his follower. R5669:4, 4132:5

"This is the will of God, even your sanctification" (1 Thes. 4:3); our full setting apart of mind and heart entirely to the Lord, that he may complete the good work of transforming us into his own glorious likeness. R3655:6

The power of resurrection will come upon them suddenly, "in the twinkling of an eye." (1 Cor. 15:52) Their gradual change takes place in this present life, through experiences and trials, sufferings and self-sacrifices. HG231:1

Besides the molding, fashioning influences of the Spirit of God, the specially appointed means for our transformation is in the careful and constant contemplation of the glory of God. R3656:2, 3040:5

As new creatures in Christ, we are to be changed from glory to glory as in the image of the Lord--to become daily, hourly, as new creatures more like our pattern, our risen Head. NS336:4

We shall be satisfied thoroughly when we awake in his likeness (Psa. 17:15)--when the "change" of the first resurrection shall have completed our transformation as new creatures. R4132:5

Our object is to assist those who are striving to make sure their election by being conformed to the image of God's dear Son--changed from glory to glory of character by the Spirit of the Lord. HG359:6

Spirit of the Lord -- The holy Spirit, or power, of God operating through his Word shall do this work in our hearts. SM585:T

2 Corinthians 4

2 Corinthians 4:1

This ministry -- The Church's chief mission is toward herself. She holds up the light of the truth, to attract some--"A peculiar people," "even as many as the Lord our God shall call." (Acts 2:39) R2414:3

The Church is to teach and instruct those who see the light, and to introduce them to the full fellowship of the high calling. R2414:6

Not to rule the world, nor to judge the world now, but to "lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16) R2415:3

The Lord's followers in the present time are called upon to suffer persecution for righteousness' sake, to be tested, proved, polished, prepared for a future work of service. R2415:3

We faint not -- Are not discouraged. R2415:6

2 Corinthians 4:2

In craftiness -- Substituting traditions for God's Word. R525:3

The word of God -- Contrary to this text and many others, Rev. Lyman Abbott denied that the Bible is the Word of God, preaching rather that it is the product of the church, the literature of religion. R1584:3

Deceitfully -- Falsifying the Word of God (Diaglott)--wresting, twisting and ignoring Scripture. R525:3

We must cultivate honesty with ourselves, honesty with the Lord, honesty in handling his Word. R2569:6

It is as dangerous for one to deceive himself as to deceive others. We advise all to be especially on guard against self-deception in handling the divine Word. R1979:5

Quoting Biblical passages and words, robbing these words of their correct import, covertly and dangerously undermines the ransom even more than opposition that honestly states infidelity. R463:5, 448:5

By manifestation of the truth -- "The ministration of the spirit" is an object of hope, although many plume themselves with the conceit that they have that ministration now in all its fullness. R1323:4*

Our gospel -- Very much of what is preached today as gospel is far from being glad tidings. Like rubbish, it conceals, dims and tarnishes God's justice and love by misrepresentation. R525:2

The word "gospel" signifies the good message, the message of the angels at the birth of Jesus, the gospel of joy and blessing, divine love and mercy. HG655:3

Be hid -- Be veiled (Diaglott), obscured. R525:3, 1045:6*

The creeds of human tradition have so misrepresented God and his purposes as to make of them bad tidings. HG655:3

Them that are lost -- Those who are perishing. (Diaglott) R525:1

It is hidden to the perishing--the great mass of mankind, alienated, slaves of sin, including the very best of humanity. NS595:4

Not yet found. R857:5

All were lost, but believers (having heard and accepted) are reckoned as saved or recovered to life. These who reject are still in their former condition, still lost--unbenefited by the favor as yet. R877:4

The whole world is lost. The true gospel is hid to all but a few, and will be until the prince of this world is bound and man's ears are opened and the knowledge of the Lord shall fill the earth. HG190:4

They are not lost because they cannot see the gospel, but all Adam's race are lost through disobedience. HG656:2

Even though Christ died for them, the blinded ones are unable to realize the ransom, hence are still among the lost or condemned. They will not always be blinded or lost or condemned. R526:2

2 Corinthians 4:4

In whom -- In the masses through ignorance, and the more intelligent through pride, selfishness, etc. E189

The god -- Greek: theos; used of any mighty one, same as elohim in the Hebrew. R5749:2, 803:1*, 1645:1

Ruler. E189; Q827:T

Satan--John 14:30. R525:3

Satan, whose very existence is now being denied by many--see 2 Cor. 2:11; 11:14. F609, 627; R5544:6, SM78:T, 310:2; OV342:2, 393:7

Satan, who fell from his holy estate and became the adversary of God through unholy ambition. R5909:3, 5896:1, 5034:6; SM344:T, 428:3

Satan, the prince of this world--he has had much to do with many of the religious systems of the world. CR200:6; R1684:2

The prince of darkness. R2550:2; CR200:6

The prince of darkness, of evil, of sin, of error; the "father of lies";

"a murderer from the beginning." (John 8:44) SM548:1

Satan did not have divine commission to be prince of this world, but got possession of mankind through ignorance and misrepresentation, and easily holds the position of master. E113

Satan is not recognized to be the ruler, nor has God given him this dominion, but by deceiving mankind he has usurped the control of their minds. R3719:2

The whole world, the groaning creation, has a claim upon our patience.

Through the Scriptures, we see that their great difficulty is that they are under the delusions of our Adversary, who deceives them. F307

A deceptive work has been accomplished by the Adversary. Satan alienates the hearts of men and hinders them from a proper approach to their true Sovereign. NS521:6; F617

"The prince of this world," assisted by the fallen angels, deceived men by ignorance and blindness into iniquity, false doctrines and evil practices. Paul blamed not men so much as Satan who deluded them. R4527:2, 3274:2, 1645:1, 1174:6; CR424:2, 200:6

These words imply not only that there are evil principles at work in this world, but that behind them there are evil spirit beings, of whom Satan is the inspirer and through whom he is working. R5209:6; CR424:2

Paul warned that the falling away of the Church would be the result of giving heed to "seducing spirits" and "doctrines of demons"--the fallen angels. (1 Tim. 4:1) HG655:6; R3274:2; CR424:2; SM428:3

The dangers of ensnarement exist because Satan is the prince of this age; he has the majority of mankind under his influence, blinded by sin. R5445:3

It is because Satan is the ruler over this present order of things during this dispensation that it is termed an "evil world." Q827:T

Satan presents his own version of the truth, so is designated "the devil which deceiveth the whole world." (Rev. 12:9) R5849:2

We do not charge our forefathers with evil intent in the making of the creeds. Satan substituted the creeds for the Bible. They are unhealthful for the saints and poisonous to others. HG655:3, 657:5; NS750:4; OV401:1; SM692:1

Of this world -- Of this present evil condition of things. E189; Q827:T
Not that God gave Satan any authority to rule these kingdoms, but that he is ruling through human weakness. R5853:6

Jesus told his disciples that the "prince of this world" was coming (John 14:20); Satan would triumph over the world and bring it into subjection to his own evil sway until the Lord's second coming. Q826:2

Satan has a great spiritual empire amongst men, which controls through ignorance, superstition and fear. SM546:1, 425:1; R1174:6; NS750:4

"The prince of this world (age)" and the fallen angels have much to do with the iniquity prevailing in the world. R4527:2, 3274:2, 1645:1; CR424:2

The civilized world is called "Christendom"--Christ's kingdom. It is dominated by the "god of this world." God permits this, but he does not attempt authority over it nor its imperfect governments. R3752:5, 1645:1; CR201:1

It is natural that our first thought should be that the almighty God is the king and ruler of earth; but the Scriptures teach that Satan is the "prince," the "god," "of this world." NS547:3; R1645:1; Q827:T

Our Lord is not ruling over the nations now, and will not until the appointed time for him to take unto himself his great power and authority and establish his own Kingdom in the earth. Q827:T

Evil is a principle, and as such is eternal. Sin was produced by the evil principle becoming active when Satan himself sinned. He introduced sin and evil into the world through our first parents. Q773:4

Seeing men breaking away from error in the Reformation time, Satan misguided our fathers into the formation of their various creeds. HG546:2; NS798:6

Some of Satan's subtle attacks are through human agencies. He works in the hearts of the children of disobedience, not as a messenger of darkness, knowing that error and sin will repel the children of light. R5184:1

While many comprehend that Satan's present reign is invisible but powerful, they do not understand that Christ's reign over all the earth will also be invisible and powerful. HG365:5

Satan did not gain entire control of Christendom. There is a center or nucleus of truth in each creed, and around that kernel of truth, germinating power may be felt in every denomination. NS798:6

Thank God for the coming Kingdom and its righteous judgments and assistances to all now blinded! The Great Judge will have greater compassion upon the dupes than on those who teach them false doctrine. R3320:5, 2256:2

Hath -- Satan and the fallen angels have deceived mankind into false doctrines and evil practices: R4527:2 Atheists. R5849:2 Christian Science, Theosophy, Mesmerism, Clairvoyance, Hypnotism and Swedenborgianism--all related to Spiritism. R2189:1 "Mind cures." R2014:5 Mormons and Spiritualists. By usurpation. R3719:2

By persuading men not to reason upon religious subjects. R3313:1

By supplying them with false religions. R1684:2

Another class he blinds with pride and liberty of earthly wisdom, science falsely so-called. R525:5; CR424:2

By a thousand enticements to sin, which appeal specially to the depraved appetites of the fallen race now, but which will not be tolerated when the new, heavenly rule is established. R1092:6

By the snare of the Adversary. R862:2; F617

By prejudice and traditions. R699:4

By prosperity. R526:1

By cares of this life. R526:2

By multiplied forms and ceremonies, blinding them to spirit or true meaning. R525:5

By the success, pride, and worldly honor which followed the Reformation. R525:6

By adherence to the traditions of men, sophistries, and fallacies.
NS309:4; R3274:2, 2690:3

By putting darkness for light, and light for darkness, so that the creature feeling after God cannot find him. CR40:3; R5849:2*, 5718:6, 5545:1, 2707:2, 2504:3; NS521:6, 240:4; SM692:1, 421:3, 173:3

Largely by good people, used ignorantly on their part as Satan's tools.

The vast majority of those who promulgate the bad tidings of eternal misery as being the divine message are wholly unaware of how seriously they misrepresent the divine character and government. R2557:1; F617
Under the frenzied zeal of false religion, as Manasseh's false religions sanctioned immoralities; perhaps even his shedding of "innocent blood" being a crime done in the same ignorance. R2387:2

Through papacy in the Dark Ages. R525:6; OV401:1; SM128:1

Some see God's power, but are blinded to his justice, wisdom and love.
R525:5; F617

In merely appealing to "the best that is within man," and in merely exhorting him "to lead a nobler life," there is afforded a general platform for all shades of opinion and every philosophic speculation.
R5849:2

Some worship the work of their hands. In them the moral qualities--justice, love, etc.--are almost extinguished. These retain scarcely any of the image of God, in which man was created. R525:5
Blinded -- The skillful and intentional injury of the mental eye by Satan. R2582:5

More or less completely. R2573:6

In order that they might not see clearly. (Diaglott) R1046:1*

Originally, man had a clear eye, mental as well as physical. By reason of sin, his discernment of right and wrong has been blurred, and some are totally blind to the deeper and spiritual things. R5797:5

Because some wickedness is due to Satan's blinding influences, it was proper for David to pray that his enemies should go to sheol until the resurrection when they will have an opportunity to live righteously. E364

Satan is exercising a blinding, deceiving influence upon all except true believers. R4908:5, 5357:4, 4445:2, 3274:2, 2975:3, 1962:2; CR346:6

The wicked are those who willfully prefer sin to righteousness, while many violators of God's law now are deceived by the great enemy Satan and entrapped by depraved appetites. R1383:5

Satan obscures and obliterates the justice, mercy and love in men, and seeks to misrepresent God's character and thus hinder man's recognition of these qualities in Jehovah. R525:4, 5418:4; F617; NS798:6; SM692:1

They do not see things in their true light. R877:4

Satan presents himself as an angel of light. R5184:1; NS521:6; SM173:3

Besides man's natural depravity, Satan has conspired to blind man to principles of truth, warping and twisting him so that he is out of harmony with God, not even appreciating the message to return to him. R3915:1, 1175:1

Darkness covers the earth--gross darkness the people. (Isa. 60:2) T90; OV57:3

"The light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehendeth it not." (John 1:5) As in our Lord's day, Satan still blinds the darkened class. R4107:5, 3475:3

The religious leaders of Jesus' day did not receive his message; and during his ministry only about five hundred of the people believed. The god of this world blinded their eyes. CR499:1

The world still lieth in wickedness. (1 John 5:19) T90

The kingdoms of this world are under Satan, the prince of this world; but they do not realize this, for they are deceived. R5853:6, 3274:2; CR200:6

There are degrees of blindness: some see creation and not a Creator; some see the Creator but not his interest in us; some see creation and the Creator but they do not see accurately his character or plan. R3848:2

The whole world is referred to in the Bible as being blind and deaf to the things that are most interesting, most profitable. Only one here and there, like Bartimaeus, takes the proper steps to secure relief. R5485:2

Like the partly cured blind man of old, some see a brightness (as it shines around them on every hand) and can discern something, but see nothing clearly. R4214:2, 2377:4

As the Ephesians had been duped and were unable to discern God's message from Satan's teachings, so it is with heathens and Christians today--probably due to ignorance more than evil preferences. R3158:2

"Few there be who find" or see or know of the one way of return to the Lord, because Satan hath blinded their minds. R1771:2

The message of Jesus and the apostles comes as an eye-salve to some, but the majority, blinded by the Adversary and false doctrines, are ignorant respecting God and his Son and the plan of salvation. NS331:5

Never before did we realize so fully the need of the whole world for the promised eye-salve of Rev. 3:18, and none seem to need it more than the nominal Christian churches. R1400:6

The present heavens, the nominal religious systems, bow to Antichrist, "who now worketh in (through) the children of disobedience," (Eph. 2:2) and captivates and blinds the whole world with the exception of the few. R2832:3; CR200:6

Satan has not only blinded the heathen, but he is quite considerably blinding two thirds of Christendom represented in the Roman and Greek Catholic communions. R2548:4 The trinity is one of the dark mysteries by which Satan, through the papacy, has beclouded the Word and character and plan of God. E61

While Satan and his fallen angels have been persuading men that they were stoking fires for humanity's torture, they have been assisting in misrepresenting the Bible's parables and symbolic statements. HG655:6 "Destroy," "perish," "die," "second death," and "everlasting destruction" represent annihilation; but they are distorted into nightmares of torture. HG443:2; NS583:3, 530:5; SM521:T

During the Dark Ages, Satan came forth with the errors of purgatory and torment, which men emulated by burning one another at the stake. HG159:2 Molech might require sacrifices of burning, but Jehovah never. NS309:4 Satan has used the human tendency of fear as a lash wherewith to drive man away from God, and from the Bible, his revelation. NS750:4; F617; SM692:1 Under the terrors of the words "doom's day," the god of this world has obscured the glorious blessings which belong to the day of the establishment of the Kingdom of the Lord. NS692:2

God's book is not the foundation of errors about the future or horrible nightmares which have afflicted us and hindered many from a proper love and reverence for our Creator. NS530:5; F617

Others can hear a little, and say that there is one chance in a million of escaping eternal torment. R5275:6; F617

Our minds have been poisoned by the Adversary's substituting devilish doctrines for the Scriptural truth that God created us with a glorious purpose in view and his divine sentiment toward us has not changed. NS526:3; F617

The majority of Christendom, including many of the Lord's noblest children, have so long put darkness for light and light for darkness that the very terms justice and love are confused in their minds. NS508:5; SM692:1

The Adversary caused the wayside hearers to forget what they did not understand. Their minds were so down-trodden with ignorance and superstition that it could find no lodgment in their hearts and minds. NS607:2

Often because of our careless handling of the Word, we were confused on the lines with which the Adversary blinded the heathen world. NS583:3, 309:4

The fact that Satan, the prince of death and sickness (Heb. 2:14 and Luke 13:16), has adopted "mind cures" to keep the world blinded proves that our great foe is put to straits to continue his hold upon man. R2014:5

We believe that some miraculous healers are God's agents, thus used in order to make a beginning of restitution work. Others' powers are from the prince of darkness. R2030:1

Amongst the enlightened and civilized, thought and investigation are being aroused; and there Satan is kept busy. Necromancy, incantations and spiritism are too senseless to deceive. So "new light" is assumed. R1643:2 Some Satan has blinded with the brilliancy of their own earthly learning and with their love of honor of men. R1418:3

Satan has multitudinous devices for blinding men--fair earthly prospects, ambitions to be some one great, selfish schemes for gaining advantage over others. SM344:T; R4092:5

The great Adversary is diligently seeking to stir up strife in the race question which will evidently have its part in this mighty conflict immediately preceding Messiah's reign of righteousness. HG515:5

Whoever sees our wonderful God in all his glorious attributes is inspired to walk in the right way. But, for the moment, the great mass of mankind are blinded, poorly able to withstand the Adversary. CR496:2; F617

A measure of blindness continues with us for some time after we have accepted Christ and become his followers, but we should desire increasing light; God intended the light for us only. HG745:6

Where Satan's work has been fully accomplished, and men are blinded by ignorance and superstition, the gospel message can do nothing. We must wait for Kingdom power. HG721:3

With pitying love, think and speak kindly of those who cause division and stumblings contrary to the doctrine which you have learned. Avoid them. Do not render evil for evil, nor slander for slander. R4531:5, 3274:2

All mankind are serving either Christ and the soldiers of his cross or Satan and the powers of darkness, and many on both sides serve ignorantly. R1948:1

Many, who through association with the Adversary have become goat-like in many respects, still have something of the sheep nature, which, under proper enlightenment, would assert itself. R2707:2

Our finances are as nothing compared to the millions devoted annually to the propaganda of error, ministers' salaries, church edifices, and now Higher Criticism and Evolution, all by the Lord's permission. R3909:5

The Gospel age just closing, in which the dim light of faith has been a light to the path of only a few, is part of the world's night of weeping, and is about to give place to the Millennial morning of joy. R1877:5

Those blinded for years with misconceptions of the divine character--when now the eyes of their understanding are opened, feel as did Saul, that life is only too short to show forth God's praises. R2824:4

"Blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear," but there are many who have not this sight and hearing yet. HG145:5; R5354:4

Although God is reconciled through Christ, only a few have yet the hearing ear. The great mass of mankind are deaf to the voice divine speaking peace through Jesus Christ. NS384:6; R5832:2

The reconciled are privileged to tell of Jesus' redemption work to others--it is no longer confined to one nation or people--but only a few have the hearing ear. NS366:5

Up to this time, only elected ones have been favored, while the remainder of the race were passed by and are still in measurable darkness. NS351:6

One part of the gospel message to be proclaimed is the "recovering of sight to the blind." (Luke 4:18) R2580:3,5

God wills that all men shall be saved from the Adamic sentence and recovered from the ignorance and blindness with which Satan since the fall has darkened their minds. E470; R2550:2, 2504:3; OV381:5

Satan now realizes that it is impossible to shut out the light of the incoming day. SM323:1

We sorrow not as others in respect to friends who are blind to spiritual things. If we are unable to help them now, the time is coming when we shall be privileged to enlighten and uplift them. NS265:6; R2256:2

As the blind man received his sight on the Sabbath day (John 9), we remember that we are in the early dawn of the antitypical Sabbath when Satan-blinded eyes of men's understandings shall be opened. R1400:6

During the Millennial age, Christ's power will be exercised to prevent deceptions. R1092:6

"The eyes of the blind shall be opened." (Isa. 35:5) E470; R5896:2, 5832:2, 5667:4, 5354:4, 5084:1, 4107:5, 3195:2, 2414:6, 2375:4, 1958:4, 1400:6; CR40:3; HG145:5; NS769:3, 555:3, 85:3; OV393:7, 381:5, 253:2; SM680:T

"In that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness." (Isa. 29:18)

Those blinded by Satan now will not be everlastingly tormented. R1958:4, 1400:6

Referring to the future opening of blinded eyes of understanding, Jesus said, "Greater works than these shall ye do." (John 14:12) R526:5

One means for bringing the world back into harmony with God, will be the removal of Satan's influence (deception, error, ignorance, superstition), now upon the world, blinding mankind. E218; R2690:3, 2550:2, 2504:3, 2375:4; OV381:5

Satan shall be bound for that thousand years, that he may deceive the nations no more. Then his deceptions will all be exposed by the glorious light of that day. NS555:3; CR200:5; OV381:5, 253:2

Satan is not yet bound. He has little difficulty in finding human servants. This should make us extremely skeptical respecting whatever we hear that is uncomplimentary to anybody. R5655:4

A great many blinded minds do not know the object of Christ's coming, do not have the Scriptural teaching as to why he comes. But their eyes shall be opened. R5269:4

For some who are now evildoers and lovers of sin, our hope is that they are such because of blinding of the devil, which leads them to make a choice they would not make if they had a full, clear knowledge. R3084:5

Soon their eyes will be opened; then each will be responsible. R5084:1; OV381:5

Nero, and whoever is blinded and weakened by depravity, in heathen or Christian lands, is entitled to a chance in the future because "Jesus Christ gave himself a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:5, 6) HG245:1

The great work of that thousand-year Sabbath will be the healing of the morally lame and the giving of sight and hearing to the minds now blinded and deaf under the evil influences of the great Adversary. R5034:6, 2256:2 Satan has blinded their eyes by error and superstition and gross darkness which covers the earth. HG179:5; F617

It is not possible for them to see. God has permitted Satan's great power. But God will alter matters. HG112:3; R5354:4

The minds -- The minds or "hearts" of men is the battle ground on which the holy Spirit contends with the evil spirit of Satan. E189

Six thousand years ago, Satan started this work of blinding human understanding to the goodness of God. R5485:2, 2557:1; F617; CR459:1

And thus hindered the light of divine truth from shining unto them.

R2414:5, 5923:3, 5053:4, 2247:3; F617, CR463:4; OV255:3, 311:3; SM78:T Satan is in violent opposition to every feature of God's great plan.

SM344:T

The world in general knows not God. R5391:1, 2137:6

Man's ideas of right and wrong are badly warped and twisted, through various false doctrines and theories. R1175:1, 3915:4

They do not know the object of Christ's coming. R5269:4

The Adversary would alienate our hearts and minds from God and from his Book. He would have us think of God as the most terrible monster of the universe, bent upon the eternal misery of nearly all. NS701:2; F617

Satan has been successful in preventing mankind to enjoy a real knowledge of God, but it is impossible for him to hinder all appreciation of the Creator because man has an instinct for reverence. R3312:6

Of them -- The masses see not, hear not, neither do they understand the grace of God. R4557:3

Those in a lost condition, without God and without hope in the world; whoever is not in Christ, servants of sin, still under condemnation, still strangers from God, still lost in the wilderness of sin. R2414:5

The wise, the prudent, the self-satisfied; the people of Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum. R2267:5

Jesus did not mention the blindness of the heathen, but that of the favored people of Israel, especially the Pharisaic doctors of the Law.

(Matt. 15:6, 14) R525:5

Good men, deceived, bound up with error, influenced by sectarianism. R2256:2; Q752:4

The more honorable they are, and the more closely identified with the Lord and his people these children of disobedience may be, the greater service they may render to the Adversary. R5184:1

The great masses of Christendom, even as all the heathen, may have been in churches occasionally; nevertheless, the eyes of their understanding were darkened. OV311:3

There are very many who lack spiritual sight, many who cannot exercise faith in what they cannot see; and according to the Scriptures they are not responsible for their failure. SM680:T; R5418:4; Q752:4

There are some who desire to get away from the Lord as far as possible and to keep away. These have no real knowledge of him. R5717:4

Nearly one-fourth of the world's population are named by his name--Christians--yet the vast majority of these are in nearly as great darkness as the three-fourths who are heathen. R3475:3

As soon as they have any knowledge of God, the Adversary seems to conjure up slavish fear which crowds out love, and produces dread. R4841:2

Misunderstanding our gracious Creator, they are thus driven away from him. SM428:3, 128:1; F617; R3848:1; NS701:2

Many are deceived who would love to be on the right side, but Satan utilizes them on his own side of the question. NS240:4; R1174:6

They are ignorantly and blindly waiting, hoping for the "Golden Age" of which the world's poets have long sung. R2049:2

The "Great Light" arose in Palestine, and was not sent into Africa nor India nor China, but northward and westward to Europe and America. These lands were "honored"; these people "have seen a great light." (Isa. 9:2) R2377:4

Neither the masses in down town New York nor their polished, wealthy, better educated neighbors who have moved up-town as "churches," are on trial now; they will have their trial with the "heathen" millions. R2428:6; OV311:3

These who reject and do not receive the offer of life. R877:4

These will not be everlastingly tormented. R1958:4

Having fallen into the ditch, they shall be proved unworthy of the grand prize, but shall ultimately be recovered and freed from the blindings of false teachings. R862:2

God knows, not we, how many of these despisers who wonder (Acts 13:41), while perishing, have sinned against a sufficiency of light to hinder them from having any further opportunity during the Millennium. R4364:6

The world in general knows not God, and hence could not sin against the holy Spirit in that full sense or degree which would be punished with second death. R5391:1, 1962:2

These shall not be utterly and forever cast down. R1958:4, 862:2

Some may really be saints and merely blinded for the time by the errors which the Adversary has caused to be promulgated. R4692:5

Which believe not -- The children of disobedience. D611; R5362:5; CR200:6

Whose eyes of understanding have not been anointed with the Lord's eye-salve. D611

So they cannot believe. R2122:5

Millions have been driven into the Church by doctrines of demons, but driven away from God and from the Bible. SM128:1; NS750:4, 701:2

These are the "unjust" of Acts 24:15, who will have a part in the resurrection which is provided for all and which will be accomplished in all who will not individually reject its gracious provisions. R3195:2

The wise and prudent according to the course of this world, blinded with the brilliancy of their own earthly learning and with their love of honor of men. HG311:1

Some are so stupid through the blinding of the Adversary that they cannot believe it. To such, it is not good tidings at all, but foolishness.

R5275:6, 858:5

They believe not simply and implicitly in God's Word, but manufacture and use theories of their own and the traditions of other men to accomplish their own plans and to bring quick and popular results. R1645:1

Compassionate toward the ignorant who are blinded by Satan, some oppose the Scriptural teaching of restitution and education and trial, substituting the teaching of unbelievers going to heaven. R2247:3

As these were the vast majority in fleshly Israel, so they have been also among the Gentiles. D567; R5832:2

Well intentioned men try to explain how noble non-Christians will be saved, by lowering the standards, eliminating faith in Jesus as a necessary prerequisite. R2220:4; SM311:T

The real grounds for sympathy and hope for the masses is the statement that Satan has blinded their minds, misinterpreted the facts. R4907:5

During the present Gospel age, the spirit dispensation, the world of mankind is not liable to the second death because Satan is exercising a blinding, deceiving influence upon all except true believers. R4908:5, 1962:2

These words apply not only to an entire lack of faith, but also to the various imperfect degrees of development of faith in ourselves and in others. R4692:4

The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those who are of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

Lest -- To hinder. R5362:5

The battle of darkness against the light. R2137:6, 2504:3; CR200:6

The woman of Samaria was a type of thousands of others who would act very differently if they only knew that Jesus is Christ. If the Jews had known, they would not have crucified him. (1 Cor. 2:8) R1712:1

The Adversary has wrapped the creeds which hold some truth with layer after layer of mistranslation and misinterpretation. NS798:6

The light -- The truth. A20

Like Paul, the persecuted tent-maker, we thank God for the opening of our eyes and ears and mouths to this blessed message--the light of the goodness of God shining in the face of Jesus Christ our Lord. R1959:5

Well can we see how Satan put light for darkness and darkness for light during the Dark Ages. R5053:4; OV401:1

The mission of the great Light into the world was to enlighten man and to restore as many as may be willing to accept sonship. The vast majority from every kindred have been hindered from seeing that Light. R2409:3

Loving the darkness of error rather than the light of truth and reason which God's Word supplies, when brought in contact with truth they fear it and cling to the darkness. R1645:1

The message is clear and favorable, but they are blind. R877:4

The Sun of Righteousness has not yet arisen with healing in his beams. The world is still in darkness. The enlightenment of Jesus' followers' lamps is inadequate to dispel the night and bring in the glorious day. R3686:3

The mission of Christ and the Church in glory is to scatter the darkness of earth, binding the prince of darkness, and setting at liberty from the bonds of ignorance the whole world of mankind. NS292:6; R2504:3, 2256:2; OV381:5; SM428:3

The glorious gospel -- Of the goodness of God. R2851:3; NS583:3; OV393:7; Q547:T; SM521:T

The glorious light of divine goodness. E260; R2712:2

Those favored with the light of the knowledge of God, shining in the face of Jesus Christ our Lord, can rejoice and give thanks under all circumstances and conditions. R2076:3

The good message, the gospel blessing, of divine love and mercy toward our race is hidden because the creeds of human tradition have so misrepresented God and his purposes as to make of them bad tidings. HG655:3; F617

Only believers have received the atonement in the sense of accepting the opportunity which the grace of God has thus provided; the rest of mankind are blinded. E19

The gospel in this age is foolishness to many whom the god of this world hath blinded by error, etc. R858:5

The Adversary did not wish us to see with "the eyes of our hearts" the glorious character of our Creator, his love for mankind, and his glorious provision for us. HG546:4; F617; NS798:6, 701:2

God has but one way of salvation: through faith in the precious blood of Christ, and through an endeavor to come into harmony with his righteous law through the merit of the Savior. SM311:T

The apostolic writings were to the saints. The ministry of reconciliation is entrusted to us. We must eagerly proclaim the "the effulgence of the glad tidings of the glory." (Diaglott) R1046:1*

History is divided into (1) a time when God's grace was not revealed, (2) a time when some would see it and others would be blinded; and (3) a coming time in which salvation will be manifest. NS405:3

"I will come again, and receive you unto myself." (John 14:3)--and his Church shall sit with him in his throne, the righteous shall flourish, and all the evil-doers shall be cut off. R5362:5

God plans that the earthly Kingdom work shall be done gradually and that all shall come to a clear knowledge of the Truth so that they may make the best possible use of their new trial for life. OV381:5

"God so loved the world"--not just the holy angels and the saints. He would not plan to torture his enemies or the ignorant, the superstitious, the great masses of mankind. NS645:4

The Lord promises to turn to the people a "pure message"--instead of the contradiction of creeds of heathenism and Churchianity. OV253:2

Of Christ -- Of the Anointed One. R1046:1*

In the face of Jesus Christ. E260; R2550:2

The world, during the Millennial age, shall find how thoroughly they have been blinded by Satan against the true light of God's character, shining through Christ. See also 2 Tim. 2:26. F627

The image of God -- The likeness of God. (Diaglott) R1046:1*

"The express image of the Father's person." (Heb. 1:3) The Bride of Christ was promised to be made partaker with her Lord. (Rev. 21:11 and 2 Pet. 1:4) R1210:6*

We are not to be surprised at the wide difference of understanding of God and of his mightiness and of his character as viewed by the saints and by the world. R2712:2

Should shine unto them -- Shine into their hearts. R5718:6, 4629:1; CR392:6, 459:2

Should shine into their hearts, and should bring to them the spirit of a sound mind. E260

Into their hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the divine character and plan. R2712:2

Shining in the face of Jesus our Lord. R2712:2, 2550:2

Should enlighten them, and drive out the darkness of ignorance and misconception and let them see the real character and gracious plan of the heavenly Father. F617; CR392:6; SM428:3

Those thus favored can rejoice and give thanks under all circumstances and conditions. R2076:3

"God is not far from every one of us." Every one who will seek or feel after him, he will be pleased to bless. The object of this Gospel age is to gather those who "hunger and thirst after righteousness." (Matt. 5:6) R4629:1

All who obey the light are the "children of light"; after the image of the Lord has been impressed upon their hearts, they become light-bearers to others, reflecting the light from the divine source. R2137:6

It does not shine into the hearts of many. R2851:3

Thick darkness of error hinders many hearts from receiving the full benefit of God's light and blessing and joy. They find it impossible to love the Lord; because from all they know of him, he is not worthy. R2851:3

The only ones who are not blinded are those who are the servants of God, and the degree of the clearness of vision depends upon the singleness of their eye, heart, purpose, loyalty. R4445:2

Through all the darkness of the Dark Ages there were some who, by shutting their eyes to the error and opening their eyes by faith to the real character of God, were enabled to love God supremely. R2851:5

We long to see the knowledge of the goodness of God shine into the hearts of the Salvation Army and others who in ignorance commit the grievous wrong of preaching damnation while calling it gospel. R2596:1

If men could only get a glimpse of God's goodness in Christ, the entire world would be converted. God purposes to reveal his glory to the world in the Millennial Kingdom. OV393:7

When Paradise Lost shall be Paradise Regained, when the Lord will turn to the people a "pure message," (Zeph. 3:9) the most glorious change will be the change in humanity. NS769:3; OV253:2

"Every eye shall see him and they also which pierced him." (Rev. 1:7)
OV57:3

The heathen and great masses of Christendom shall be brought by Messiah's Kingdom to a clear knowledge of the truth and then will hear of the real character of God and his requirements of them. OV311:3

We rejoice that the time is near when Immanuel with the true Church shall bind Satan and set at liberty his blinded captives. R2256:2; CR200:5

2 Corinthians 4:5

Not ourselves -- Let us remember our highest place is lying low; the greatest mastery is self-mastery. R3614:4

Peter, too, arrested when he had healed the lame man in the Temple, wisely and properly credited the miracle to Jesus. This is a lesson for all who would represent the Lord as his ambassadors! R5839:3

Your servants -- The Church's servants, not the world's servants. R2416:1

2 Corinthians 4:6

For God -- The Spirit of God, the Spirit of truth. E293; R375:2

The light to shine -- Which is the only true light. (John 1:9) D238

The truth is breaking through the clouds of tradition and error. R795:2

Causing the path of the just to shine "more and more unto the perfect day." (Prov. 4:18) F61

Out of darkness -- With the clouds removed (by recognizing "The Rich Man and Lazarus" to be a parable), our eyes may behold the King in his beauty, and our hearts be drawn to him as to a Father, a God of love, a Savior.
NS818:3

Hath shined in our hearts -- It was necessary that some be honored with the gospel message in advance of its general revealing. R3282:4

This glorious shining in our hearts has impelled us to let our light shine out upon others. R1661:5*

Giving beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning. (Isa. 61:3) R1103:2

Our ideas of the glory and ministration of the Prophet like unto Moses are contracted, inadequate; but we have the witness of Patmos's description of the Glorious One, and our hearts are not blinded. R1323:4*

God's grace shined into our hearts, in contrast to those who "have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge," (Rom. 10:12) and those Paul reproves who "have not the knowledge of God." (1 Cor. 15:34) NS506:3
The great mass of mankind see not and hear not. R5354:4

In the Millennial Kingdom the Prince of Light (Christ, Head and Body) will open the blinded eyes that all may see. R1771:5

After preaching on this text three times, a member of the Brethren's Church learned the truth of the Bible rather than "orthodoxy" and wrote accurate facts which were put into a helpful tract. R802:2*

To give the light -- The blessed radiance has illuminated many hearts, and as one after another receives it and in turn becomes a luminary to others, the glory of God is seen more and more in his Church. R1661:5*

How we long for the ability to let the glorious sunlight of divine love shine into the hearts of the world, for the opportunity to show them that the Word of God is a message of love and benevolence! NS522:6

Pastor Russell's New Year wish for those feeling after God is that they might find the Lord, and obtain through his grace the peace of God, to rule in their hearts and to shed abroad in them this light. R2751:3

The Millennial church will walk by sight, not by the light of the lamp, the Bible, so precious and necessary to us now--a lamp to our feet and a light to our footsteps, assisting us in the "narrow way." NS660:1

Of the knowledge -- Greek: gnosis; the definition as "the spirit of judicial investigation and inquiry" is not adequate. R2037:2

The knowledge of God resulting from our experience in the school of Christ and the begetting of the holy Spirit. R2037:2

Delivered from the bondage of ignorance and superstition. R5602:2; NS660:1

2 Corinthians 4:7

But we have -- The Church only; mankind has no such treasure. E306

This treasure -- The holy Spirit, the renewed mind in harmony with God. E245; R3656:5

Our own spirit-begetting--the start of the new nature. Q714:6

The new spirit. R2463:6

The spirit of the truth and the new wills begotten of it. R1698:2

The new mind, the new nature. E195; F71; R5440:4, 5428:1, 1984:1; CR321:5; Q655:4

The newly begotten mind, or will, is all there is at present to represent the new nature, and all there will be until in the first resurrection that new will shall be provided a suitable body. F71; R5123:4

The newly begotten will or heavenly mind, "the mind of Christ." R1856:2

The new creature, the new will. Q508:2; CR454:1

The new heart--the new nature. R2445:4, 5185:2, 5123:4, 2304:2

We must be diligent in the exercise and cultivation of the powers of the new nature, that it may thereby develop strength sufficient to ever keep the old nature under full control. R1670:2

The new character. CR470:5

In earthen vessels -- Fragile and leaky. A226

Imperfect, fallen, earthly body. CR321:5; R5958:3, 5440:4, 5325:6; CR470:5; SM392:1

Which are subject to like passions and storms that assail the world in general. R5248:3; Q654:4

More or less cracked by the fall, so that we are unable to contain or to retain a full measure of the spirit of the truth. R1698:2

Under unfavorable conditions. R5428:1; Q655:4

We are surrounded by adverse conditions. The world, the flesh and the devil are assailing our hearts. We have these adverse tendencies, or conditions, to deal with. R4904:2

These earthen vessels are surrounded by selfish tendencies and examples; they must be kept well filled with the Spirit of the Lord, that the evil spirit of selfishness does not gain access. R2463:6

It is not that Christians are of two natures. But the new mind proposes to regulate the mortal body, which is reckoned dead, consecrated, sacrificed to death. R2445:4

Before his crucifixion, Jesus had the seed of the divine nature in an earthen body. R340:6*

In "earthen vessels," "new creatures" possess the promise of "divine nature," which they will have fully in resurrection; having borne the "image of the earthly," they will bear the "image of the heavenly." (1 Cor. 15:49) R1149:2*

The Bride class may not always be known, nor their true character and unselfishness be discerned, because they have the treasure in "earthen vessels," which do not always present their true benevolence of heart. SM190:1

We must have a condition of heart that will be in opposition to sin, that would die rather than yield to sin. To will is present with us, but the performance is another matter. NS227:6

Never satisfactory, to God or to us (except reckonedly through Christ), until the treasure, polished by the Lord, is set as a jewel in a heavenly, spiritual casket or body, by an actual quickening. R1856:2

It behooves us to take heed lest we lose this new treasure, lest the old selfish nature of the earthen vessel again rise up and re-assert itself. R1670:2

We are to do all in our power for the repair of the blemishes, that we may receive and retain larger measures of the spirit of holiness. R2373:4

Because the imperfections of our human bodies mar all our efforts to please and serve God, even the most devout find that they need to go repeatedly to the throne of divine grace for mercy (forgiveness). R1984:1

Moses fell within sight of the promised land; the man fell, but the movement went on; Canaan was reached. Man may stand or fall; the cause of the Lord will not fail. R41:2*

The fact that we hold this treasure of a transformed mind in these defective, deformed vessels proves the excellency of the power of God, and not of us. R3656:5, 1921:4

Illustrated in the Tabernacle by the sockets of copper in which were set the gold covered door posts of the Holy. T114

May be of God -- Let our present glory be in that we understand and know the Lord, and in that he condescends to make use of these poor earthen vessels in his service. R1921:4

Our infirmities will cause God's power to shine forth the more brightly. R1046:2*

Not of us -- With all our willingness, we have difficulty in performing because of the adverse conditions of our flesh and the world. So the Lord tests us respecting our faith and our obedience to him and his principles. NS228:1

It is not demanded of the Church that they must get the victory to overcome the world to so full an extent that they will never make a mistake. The Lord will judge them according to the spirit, mind, will. NS17:5

2 Corinthians 4:8

Yet not distressed -- Trusting in the Lord's precious promises that the troubles should all work out for good. R5670:6

God's grace was always sufficient for Paul. R2426:1* Not in despair -- Though things may look very dark, the Lord's people will not despair for the Lord has said he will never leave us. (Heb. 13:5) R5671:2

Anxiety or uncertainty of the Lord's people should never go to the length of despair. R5671:2

2 Corinthians 4:9

Persecuted -- Because of your love for God and his plan, and your desire to tell the good tidings, even nominal Christians will think you peculiar; you will be despised and counted a fool for Christ's sake. A347

Some are the objects of persecution and others share in those persecutions by suffering with those so persecuted. R5670:3

We are not to condemn those who run away from persecution. "If they persecute you in one city, flee to another." (Matt. 10:23) R5671:3

When persecutions come to us we are to inquire if there is something in our disposition which causes them. R5671:3

But not forsaken -- Though persecuted for righteousness sake, the Lord's people are not forsaken. R5671:3

Cast down -- A heaviness of spirit, feeling of loneliness--may be accentuated by physical health. R5671:4

But not destroyed -- The afflictions of the gospel can not be endured without the consolations of the gospel. R27:3*

If the Lord permits trouble, we are to exercise fortitude, to patiently endure, not allow it to destroy our faith, our loyalty. R5671:4

2 Corinthians 4:10

The dying of the Lord -- The members of his Body fill up the measure of the sufferings of Christ which are behind. (Col. 1:24) T50; R5053:6, 212:1* Always representing Christ and his sacrifice as dying members of his Body. R2416:1 The Lord's people are dying daily as he died, "laying down their lives." R5671:6

The testator (Heb. 9:16), through whom Israel will get the blessing of the New Covenant, is the Christ, Head and Body. The laying down of the restitution right received by us is our sacrifice, the dying of the testator's body. R4498:2

More than simply a crucifixion of the flesh. R128:1

God expects the life, or spirit, of Christ to be manifest in your mortal body. R5901:5*

Be made manifest -- Rendered apparent. E77

In our body -- The human body--the new creature owns this body. R5671:6 We must develop more and more the Spirit of the Lord in order to be useful now. First, by example. God expects this of you. The brethren need such an example and stimulus as you can give. R5901:5*

2 Corinthians 4:11

For we which live -- As new creatures in Christ Jesus. R2416:1

Unto death -- Our consecration was a consecration to death. R2416:1

The life also of Jesus -- His life vitalizes and raises to a high and glorious condition those who hear and believe (the Little Flock), those who feed on him. R327:6*

Be made manifest -- Rendered apparent. E77

When the world sees you it sees a member of The Christ, not in glory, but in the flesh. R455:5

In us, as in our leader and Head, God is manifest in our mortal flesh. R338:2, 455:5

In our mortal flesh -- By our sufferings as a part of the whole Christ. T84

Man is mortal, death is possible to him. R1642:5

We, now, though sons of the Most High, die and appear to men nothing more than others. R338:3

2 Corinthians 4:12

Death worketh in us -- Paul and his companions faced persecutions, difficulties, trials by the way, that they might bring spiritual blessing to the Church. The Church was to lay down their lives for one another. R5022:3,5; Q212:1,2

2 Corinthians 4:13

We having the same spirit -- Tischendorf: The Alexandrine Codex, which appears to have been written about the middle of the fifth century, does not have 2 Cor. 4:13 to 12:6. R1147:2

We also believe -- The whole matter is a question of faith and none of it is a matter of knowledge. CR308:1

2 Corinthians 4:14

He -- "God the Father." (Gal. 1:1) R2795:2

We are particularly informed that it was the Father that raised up Jesus from the dead and that the Father will "raise us up also" by his power exercised through Jesus our Head. R4528:3

Which raised up -- The Scriptures nowhere intimate that Jesus did or could raise himself from the dead. R2795:2

Shall raise up us also -- From the dead--if faithful to our call and covenant. R3282:1

What has been done for Jesus is God's promise unto us. R74:3*

Though death swallows up every member of the Church, all shall come forth to victory. R813:4*

Jehovah is our Father--lifegiver--though he has used the Spirit and the Word as his agents in our begetting, and will use Jesus as his agent in our birth or resurrection. R297:2

By Jesus -- Jesus will be the active agent. R5507:5 The Father's power exercised through Jesus. R4528:3

If he had not come to be the life-giver, mankind would have been like the brute beasts in death. CR321:3

Shall present us -- Unblameable and unprovable in love. R1007:5

Then we shall in the fullest sense enter into the fullness of sonship. R916:4

All things -- Whatever cannot be overruled for their good must be hindered. R4133:6

The spirit-begotten will need to grow in grace and knowledge and faith, and he will find in the divine provision everything needful to these ends.

R4133:6

Not all the bad things, but all the arrangements of the divine plan.

R1777:6

Paul's general use of the expression shows that it is not used in the absolute sense. R1269:5

For your sakes -- Everything in the realm of nature and of grace must for the time so operate as to be most favorable to this class. (Rom. 8:28)

R4133:6

Thanksgiving of many -- Of the world to be blessed by our exaltation.

R1777:6

2 Corinthians 4:16

We faint not -- In our battlings. R3275:2

The Christian's life is one of continual trials, of such a nature that the superficial Christian, who does not fully comprehend their use, cannot endure them. R27:3*

Our outward man perish -- Our natural man. R212:1*

New creatures have an old man, but God knows us not after the flesh.

Suffered, perished, been mortified. NS592:2

An advanced Christian recalls life's storms and its tears, and sorrows not as others who have no hope. His troubles have been minimized by the spirit of a sound mind. R2737:3

Individually and collectively, physically. Great as the annoyance and distress is to have a sore heel, it is infinitely better than to have a sore head. R192:4*

The inward man -- New or hidden man of the heart. F675; R2231:6

The spiritual. R212:1*

Mind. (Eph. 4:23) R192:4*

The new nature, renewed, strengthened, upbuilt in the image of God. NS592:2

The Scriptures speak literally when they declare the Church to be a "new creation." To these "new creatures" there is a spirit begetting, which will culminate in the first resurrection, in their spirit birth. NS591:2

God has been so overruling that their outward man may suffer but their inward man has been upbuilt in the image of God. Their trials have made them more nearly exact copies of God's dear Son. SM631:1

It is a misunderstanding to apply this thought of an outward and inward man to non-Christians. SM627:3

The confusion of thinking all have an inward man is due to the different classes of nominal Christianity: applying scriptures to all which only apply to those who have made a full consecration. SM627:4

Is renewed -- By communion with Jesus in spirit. R5052:6

We become stronger in the Lord and in the power of his might. R3275:2

Paul was energized by the power divine and by the message of God's Word, which spoke to him peace and relationship to God through Christ. R5951:3

We have the same favors of God, the same promises of God, the same inspiring hopes which Jesus and the apostles had. R5951:3

The new creature can triumph, become strong in the new, the resurrected life, only in proportion as the old body is kept dead--mortified. (Col. 3:5) NS637:6

The Church's resurrection is merely of the mind, of the will, of the heart, not physical; renewed day by day, the new creature progresses. NS337:4

Paul's inward man had the assurance of the Lord that the glories of the future would be proportionate to the trials faithfully endured. R5951:2
From the time of his baptism when the holy Spirit came upon him, our Lord was dying daily as the man Christ Jesus, but was being renewed in the inner man, the new creature, the spirit being. R2422:2

Our light affliction -- Trials, which may include these battlings with our own flesh. R3275:2

The adverse influences of the present time constitute the grindstone upon which the jewels are polished. Satan, through his various agencies, is used of the Lord in turning the grindstone. SM325:T

As we consider our Master's experiences and faithfulness, it makes ours seem very light. R5684:5

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee." (Is. 26:3) "No storm can shake our inmost calm, While to this Refuge clinging."

We have peace, no matter what the outward conditions. R5879:2

The Royal Priesthood find a peace and joy to which formerly they were strangers, and which the world can neither give nor take away; for now their faith can firmly grasp the promises as their own. R2762:6

Rejoicing in spirit is necessary to our courage and zeal, even with the wound of every thorn and the pain of every sharp arrow of bitter words with which we are assaulted for Christ's sake. R4592:4

Rom. 12:1--"Present your bodies a living sacrifice--your reasonable service." Paul teaches the truth by reason, law, prophecy, type and history. R1566:1

The loss may at first seem heavy, but if you endure it for Christ's sake, you will soon be able to say that such losses are not worthy to be compared with the offsetting blessings. (Phil. 3:8) R2444:2

It is our faith in our Father's wisdom and love that sustains us, that causes us to hope, and enables us to profit by our afflictions. R423:6*

These chiselings, chastisings "are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us." (Rom. 8:18) NS604:5, 338:2

True Christians, the elect, enjoy superior joys with Christ Jesus and can thank God often for earthly adversities. "Before I was afflicted, I went astray." (Psa. 119:67) SM330:T

Those who have believed through the word of the apostles have the consolations of scriptures to offset troubles. SM271:T

Sufferings of self-sacrifice for godliness, righteousness, the Lord, his people, the truth, are accompanied by joy and peace; sufferings for correction and unfaithfulness lack joy and rejoicing. R1699:6

More of the mortification of our flesh comes from professed brethren than from any other source. NS592:2; SM630:1

Our afflictions do not work out for us this glory because we are looking at our business, our family, the world and its pleasures, and the many other things the enemy places about us to distract us. R456:1*

But for a moment -- As compared with the eternity we hope to gain.

R3275:2, 2405:1

A grand change is coming. Every sigh and tear and sacrifice for righteousness' sake shall be fully rewarded in a manner that is beyond our present comprehension, because we serve from devotion. R2543:4; OV425:T

Worketh for us -- Preparing us for. R2413:3

The called and chosen are in "the school of Christ" now, for their development and testing. R3637:2

The Lord assures us that inherited physical weakness, troubles and pains permitted in the lives of sacrificers are not manifestations of God's wrath, but will be overruled to prepare them for glory. E411

God is making use of the implements of opposition which the Adversary is furnishing and is causing the wrath of men and devils to praise him; these experiences of his Church are working out for us glory. F628

Paul reasoned that if the sufferings of Christ are to measure the coming glories of Christ, then he was willing and anxious to fill up that which was behind in order to participate in those glories. R5951:5

Each of the Lord's chosen ones must prove their obedience by suffering in this present time, that they may be thus prepared for glory. To suffer much implies qualification for the higher glory hereafter. R2825:4

We are under divine supervision. This is the ground of our confidence and gives us the peace of God. "Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above." (John 19:11) R2786:6

To him that hath (used) shall be given (more) and from him that hath not (used) shall be taken away that which he hath. (Matt. 13:12) Faithfulness in little trials will bring increasing strength in the Lord. R2496:6

The Lord does not pour into our cup of sorrow and trial any bitter experiences that are not needful to us, and that will not subsequently work out for us the eternal glory. R2469:1

Any who have no opportunity for suffering with Christ cannot be of those "called;" for the terms are stated--If we suffer with him, we shall also reign with him; the sufferings work out for us the glory. (2 Tim. 2:12)

R1782:6

When the Father permits the enemy to try us by unusual suffering, then we are compelled to cease our anxious chase after the things seen, and our spirits are drawn with unusual power to cry out: Lord, save us! R456:1*

Our dear Redeemer permits the temptations of life to assail us, and often fiery trials, promising that they shall work out for us glory. NS597:1

Those who have received the adoption of children of God and undergo special disciplinary trials are God's favorites. NS578:2

Even if Satan should appear to get the victory over us. R5185:1

Disputation is better than not to care; such fiery trials will work out good for you. The lukewarm lose the privilege of being followers of Christ, but the Little Flock let these experiences work for them. R5118:4

Far more exceeding -- The parable of the pounds (Luke 19:17) shows differences of reward among the faithful. Matt. 11:11 speaks of some "least in the kingdom of heaven." R1973:5

While an exceeding glory is to be the inheritance of all the elect Body, the Apostle clearly indicates that that treasure may be augmented by special zeal and faithfulness. R1821:2

Eternal weight of glory -- "He called us unto his eternal glory." (1 Pet. 5:10) A211

"Obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ." (2 Thes. 2:14) A211

"Riches of the glory." (Col. 1:27) A211

"Like him." (1 John 3:2) A211

We are "called to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ." (2 Thes. 2:14) R5684:5

"The glory which thou gavest me, I have given them." (John 17:22) A211

Heavenly glory--the things that the Lord has promised to those that love him. R5223:6

We are to rejoice even under tribulation; for, rightly received, it will work out for us the "eternal weight of glory." The Lord promises us sustaining grace in the midst of trouble. R5758:4, 5546:6

We have the guarantee from the Lord that "all things shall work together for good to those that love God," who put their trust in him. (Rom. 8:28)

Whatever would not be a blessing to us will not be permitted. R5546:6 We desire to serve the Lord and be pleasing to him; be as close to him as possible. The closer we come to him in the present trials with faithfulness, the closer we will be to him in the future. R3362:6

The trials, difficulties and adversities of life, rightly accepted as lessons, are blessings in disguise and will result in glory in the life to come. R2737:3

"Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory." (Psa. 73:24) Our subjection to present ills, while often painful, is necessary, in the providence of God. R1561:2

When the reign of Christ begins, all the members of the Body will share the glory, share the reigning. NS338:3

In the continual warfare waged between the old nature and the new, their interests are so antagonistic that the development and victory of the one means the overthrow and destruction of the other. SM632:T

Because Paul had the hope of sharing his Master's glory, honor and immortality, he was willing to endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ and to count all his sufferings but light afflictions. R5851:1
The time for showing the divine favor to the elect has not yet come. When it does come, the Church will shine forth all glorious with their Lord. NS338:2

"Blessed are ye when men shall revile you. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in heaven." (Matt 5:11, 12) "If we suffer with him, we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) R3776:5

The spirit-begotten seed of Abraham must be developed through trials before it can be used as God's agency in glory to bless all the families of the earth. SM784:1

2 Corinthians 4:18

While -- This little adverb "while" is the hinge on which the door of entrance to the glory hangs. R456:1*

Look not at the things which are seen -- By the natural eye. R242:6
Popularity, worldly show, denominational greatness. E238; R279:6
Things of the present order. R5499:6
Earthly applause and glory. R5223:6
Uncertain and unsatisfactory. R1798:6

We labor not for these things, which we are "selling off." R1656:6
All the things of the present evil world are temporal in character; they are to pass away with the new dispensation which is just at the door; earthly honors and powers are of less value every minute. R5952:1, 1798:6

The things which are not seen -- Spiritual and eternal things. E238
Glories to come. R5499:6

The crown, the throne, the Church whose names are written in heaven. R374:5
Eternal, sure to the faithful, of inestimable value; things revealed to the eye of faith in the promises of God; hopes, ambitions and joys of a higher, nobler order than those of the world. R1798:6

The hidden treasure, the treasures of God's gracious plan hid in Christ, which we are giving our little all to possess. R1656:6

None of the things which we prize are visible to the natural eye--our heavenly Father's smile, Jesus as our Leader, the "crown of life," and "prize of our high calling." R176:2

Faith deals with the future and the invisible. The future is our hope, our reward. The invisible is our strength for the work of life. R74:5*

Those in the school of Christ can appreciate that the trials which are upon the Lord's people are manifestations of divine favor--the tried ones are under inspection and being chastened, polished, prepared. NS328:5
Paul had spiritual eyesight. Earthly attractions lost their drawing power upon him because of his perception of the things unseen--the heavenly Father, the glorified Lord Jesus, the coming Kingdom. R5951:6

This was the secret of Paul's perseverance. He seemed never to weary. He was always on the alert, in season and out of season, ready to preach the gospel anywhere, everywhere, to all who would listen. R5951:6

God's children have a peace that the world knows not of, that the world can neither give nor take away. When the trials are all over, the Lord will make up for all his children have suffered. R5403:3

The entire Church of this age has been "looking unto Jesus." (Heb. 2:9) "We see Jesus." (Heb. 12:2) T85

With the eyes of their understanding, the "watchers" discern the second presence of the Lord in its due time, by the light of the divine Word. T85
The invisibility of the new being to mortals is implied in verses 14-18.

Are temporal -- Natural. R279:6

Some have experienced the tender care of their Counsellor and Guide, then lost that first love, becoming deaf to the precious promises, and are now striving merely for the things which perish. R4784:5

Are eternal -- Whoever is without the knowledge of the Kingdom and without spiritual sight and hearing will necessarily be weak, and will lack the evidence of being a new creature in Christ Jesus. R5952:4

2 Corinthians 5

2 Corinthians 5:1

For we -- The Apostle is writing to the new creation, not the natural man. F673

Our earthly house -- The present mortal bodies of the saints, their houses of pilgrimage. (Psa. 119:54) R2231:2

The human body has become a temporary dwelling place for the new mind, the begotten new creature. R701:3*

Now we are as new beings in an "earthly house" and so our bodies are said to be the "temple of the holy Spirit." (1 Cor. 6:19) R237:2*

The nominal church is being dissolved. No matter. The Corinthians and the Galatians feared lest they should not be connected with the earthly house, but it was only a type of something better. R180:2,4*

For the world the body is part of themselves and not a house. R701:3*

Of this tabernacle -- A tabernacle is a temporary structure. CR457:4

A tent, which is better than none, though quite unsatisfactory. F673

Were dissolved -- Sacrificed, dead with Christ. E196

The human is to die--the earthly form must be laid off. (2 Pet. 1:14) R344:5, 340:6*

Even before the Lord's presence, it was the privilege of the saints to know that after their earthly house should be dissolved--in God's due time--they should be clothed upon with the heavenly house. R702:4*

A building of God -- A new, glorious, spiritual body, in every way fitted for the indwelling of the new mind and its Spirit of holiness.

E196; F663; R371:3

A new or spiritual body prepared for them, adapted to the desires of the new mind. R701:3*

"Ye (both individually and collectively) are God's building"; the habitation of God through the spirit, ye are the temple of God; though now it is but a tabernacle in the flesh. (1 Cor. 3:9, 16; Eph. 2:22) R1982:2

Those who are begotten will constitute the house of God, not the house of Moses nor the house of David (after the flesh) nor any other house but the house of God eternal. R179:6* If we keep our hearts loyal, we shall enter in due time. Then our Lord will present us before the Father. R5907:4
New creatures in Christ may be spoken of as separate and distinct from their mortal bodies. R5686:4

Not made with hands -- Not produced by human powers. F673; R2231:3

Eternal in the heavens -- The new life hid with Christ will not die. R344:5

The hope of the Church is the completion of our change of nature from human to spiritual, remembering that the full fellowship of the Lord cannot be obtained before that change. R701:6

2 Corinthians 5:2

In this we groan -- "We ourselves groan within ourselves." (Rom. 8:23)
F673 Oppressed by the evil influence of the world and the devil, and by the weaknesses of our flesh. F673; R2231:3, 2226:1

Our house which is from heaven -- Our new, perfect and permanent body, our "home." F673

Spiritual bodies. R2194:6

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth." (Rev. 14:13)
R344:5

2 Corinthians 5:3

Not be found naked -- Unclothed, without a body, asleep, waiting for the resurrection morning. F673

2 Corinthians 5:4

For we -- New creatures. R2226:1

The newly begotten spirit beings, the Church. R2194:6

In this tabernacle -- Earthly body. R2194:6

Present earthly conditions unfavorable to the new creature. R2226:1

Do groan, being burdened -- Oppressed by the evil influence of the world and the devil, and by the weaknesses of the flesh. F673; R2231:3, 2226:1

The new mind must constantly fight a battle against the flesh because the race toward the mark and the attainment of that mark must be made by the new mind while it is still in this "earthen vessel." R2754:2

Our fleshly imperfections and weaknesses burden us, and the weaknesses and frailties of our friends and neighbors have their influence upon us--we are in such close and constant contact with them. NS380:3

The burdens of God's people are lightened as their hearts are cheered through faith in the divine character and promises, and the burden decreases as we become acquainted with our Father and with our Lord. NS223:3

We, by virtue of our covenant with the Lord, have much advantage every way over the majority of mankind in that to us belong the covenants and the promises, and with them the hopes and the joys of the Lord. NS496:6

Unclothed -- The unclothed or death condition is not desirable though the majority of the Church had to remain in that condition for many years.

The crown was not to be received until the day of Christ's appearing. R702:1*

That we should lose our imperfect human bodies in death, and be obliged to wait until Christ's second coming. R2194:6

What we prefer is not to have the little spark of present life extinguished, but to have it absorbed into the perfect conditions of the life to which we are begotten. F674; R2231:4

2 Corinthians 5:5

The selfsame thing -- The perfect condition we are to obtain in the resurrection. F674; R2231:4

The earnest -- The holy Spirit granted us in the present time is a pre-payment. F674; R2231:4

We are begotten of God for the very purpose of being developed and born in to the spiritual likeness, leading us to sacrifice the earthly that we may be made like unto Christ's glorious body. R702:1*

In the fullest sense, God will not recognize us as sons until our Lord shall present us actually perfect before the Father in the end of the Gospel age. R916:4

2 Corinthians 5:6

At home in the body -- So long as we feel entirely contented with present conditions--ourselves and our surroundings. F674; R2231:4

But would feel like pilgrims and strangers, seeking a better rest, a better home. F674

Absent from the Lord -- Not living near to him, not "walking with God" as we should. F674

2 Corinthians 5:7

We walk by faith -- The Lord has made faith a condition for all his blessings of the present age. R4347:3, 4744:6

Whoever cannot exercise faith cannot have the blessings now proffered to the believer, but must wait for the next dispensation, in which sight will be granted and works will be required. HG453:5; NS617:5

In this time, his power is not manifested, so all his followers are required to walk by faith. NS579:1

The Lord desires we should learn to trust him where we cannot trace him; hence he leaves many things partially obscure. F142; R3004:2

In some of life's events we can see the Lord's protecting and guiding care most markedly (as with Peter's release), while in others it would seem absolutely lacking (as with James). R3004:2

We develop in faith by continuing in the spirit of obedience, following on wherever the Lord points the way. R5717:6

The true watchers are to expect reasonable, satisfactory evidence for faith, and not ocular demonstrations. R2975:6, 5634:2

Faith implies an expectation of divine guidance in the understanding of the Scriptures, even as God has promised, and, expecting this, God's people may seek for this understanding in prayer. R4885:1

We are to walk in newness of life, not after the flesh, but after the spirit; not as others walk in the vanity of their mind, but circumspectly and not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time. R1753:5

To these alone comes a measure of appreciation of the divine glories and blessings. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him, and he will make them to understand his covenant." (Psa. 25:14) NS462:2

We must have a heart condition of faith in God, as the great Teacher who knows our limitations and who has promised to guide the willing and obedient into all truth as it becomes "meat in due season." R4884:6

It would now be inappropriate to expect angels to appear, to manifest themselves outwardly. R5635:1, 5606:1

We merely have God's Word as respects his justice and love and gracious plans. OV129:5

Not by sight -- There is no warrant for seeking or expecting communications from the angels--no unusual manifestations or sights or sounds. R2179:3

The Gospel church is different from the Jewish church (which was privileged to walk considerably by sight) and the Millennial church (when the light of knowledge will flood the world). NS659:6

In the next age, the world will have the actuality instead of the promise--the world will walk by sight. OV129:5

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath in reservation." (1 Cor. 2:9) OV119:1

2 Corinthians 5:8

We are confident -- Full of faith toward God, we rejoice to walk by faith. F674; R2231:5

Rather to be absent -- Homeless, pilgrims, and strangers on the earth. F674; R2231:5

From the body -- The Methodist body, the Baptist body or the Presbyterian body, who may yet form the "household of God," but we are hid with Christ in God. R180:5*

With the Lord -- In the spirit of our fellowship. F674

2 Corinthians 5:9

Whether present -- In the present when we are away from home, pilgrims, and strangers. F674

Or absent -- By and by when we reach our home. F674; R2231:5

Be accepted of him -- Have his favor and blessing, with the assurance of ultimate acceptance. F674

God's Church is not yet organized. Unorganized, called out ones are seeking to make their calling and election sure that they may obtain a share in the Kingdom, counted worthy of the honors promised. R1574:1

2 Corinthians 5:10

For we must -- We, the Church. This text does not refer to "all nations" who will be judged by the Son of Man and the Church. F418

All through this pilgrimage we are standing at the bar of our Lord's judgment: he is testing us, proving us. F675; R2231:5; Q382:7

All -- The consecrated Church of the Gospel age. R2231:2

Appear -- In the end of this age, the first work of the King at his second advent, before he begins to deal with the world. F419

The judgment seat -- Every one is to receive stripes or favor "according to that he hath done." R570:1

In one sense of the word we are all standing before the judgment seat of Christ now. We are on trial. Jesus, as the Father's representative, is trying the Church. Q382:7

All the way down, the Lord has been judging his people. Q383:T

We are in the school of Christ; he is our teacher and instructor and discipliner. When we need to receive corrections, the Lord Jesus attends to that matter. Q383:T

That every one may receive -- The Church's judgment is pictured by our Lord in Matt. 25:14-30 and Luke 19:12-26. F419

According to that he hath done -- The rewards will not all be alike as respects glory and honor, though all will be glorious and honorable. F419
Faithfulness, love, zeal will be the tests. F419

2 Corinthians 5:11

Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord -- Our Creator has declared that "the wages of sin is death" (not eternal torment); "all the wicked will God destroy" (not preserve in fire). (Rom. 6:23; Psa. 145:20) NS836:3
Only such as come into vital relationship with the Redeemer can have everlasting life. NS836:3

We persuade men -- The Lord never compels the acceptance of his favors, but he does constrain by his love and grace and promises. R1958:4

In your consciences -- If conscience were a sufficient guide you would have no need of the Scriptures. R4803:6

2 Corinthians 5:12

For we commend not -- False brethren had charged that Paul was given to self-commendation. (2 Cor. 3:1; 10:8) R4517:6

2 Corinthians 5:13

Beside ourselves -- They say we are of unsound mind because we care for the better things, the heavenly things. R5094:6

Some thought Paul's mind unbalanced because he endured so much for the sake of preaching Christ; but he assures us that from his point of view he did none too much, that he would do more if he were able. R588:2

2 Corinthians 5:14

The love of Christ -- The love of Christ is the love of the Father. It was manifested by our Redeemer. R5597:4; CR487:3 The moving power must be love--love for God, love for the brethren, and at least sympathetic love for the whole world of mankind, even including our enemies. R3797:2

Not that we first loved God, but that he first loved us. This is the "should" love, duty love--the first, the simplest development of our love toward God, our starting point in the race toward perfect love. R2754:4
Love is the lever which will move men's hearts--not fear. R311:5, 2599:1; SM135:4

We are called during this time when Satan is the world's prince and sin abounds, in order that we make the demonstration of our love by sacrifice. NS362:6

The permanent conversion which produces the saintly characters is the appeal of love. OV138:2; R4774:6

This love can effect changes in conduct, language and thought, which can be accomplished by nothing else. OV138:2; R4774:6

Constraineth us -- Draweth, impelleth. R2723:1

The word constrain has the double thought of drawing together, holding together. R4836:3; F242

Paul would say, I am so closely drawn to Christ that I have the same sympathetic love for others that he had. As he had laid down his life for the brethren, so would I. R4836:3, 2204:1

All members of the new creation are bound each to the other by the cords of love. F242

Draws out our love in return. R2754:4

Those of a "broken and contrite heart" are charmed with the message of forgiveness of sins. If they continue to hunger and thirst after the Lord and his message, he will satisfy them and receive them back. R5596:3

Since Christ is the "express image of the Father's glorious person," (Heb. 1:3) God also constrains us--draws us to himself by his love. His

"loving-kindness is better than life." (Psa. 63:3) CR487:3

The knowledge of the mercy and love of God should draw our hearts to him and incline us to love him in return, and to seek to do those things which would please him. HG451:3

The drawing power of Christ has been exerted upon a class in whom the love of Christ as manifested in his being lifted up, awakens a sense of gratitude that draws them to follow in his footprints at any cost. R1055:1

There can be no better test of love than devotion, and no better test of devotion than obedience. R2456:4

The Lord never compels the acceptance of his favors, but he does constrain by his love and grace and promises those who love righteousness and truth. R1958:5

Drew us to the Lord in consecration. R4352:1, 5597:4, 1055:2, 1054:6

The assistance which should be rendered to those who have accepted Christ as their Redeemer is to teach them of consecration and sanctification so that their hearts may be constrained to obey. NS170:5

Simplicity and godly sincerity find delight in the beauty of holiness, but who can walk so contrary to the course of this present world? It is only as we become filled with the Spirit of God. R2123:4*

The class God is now seeking needs no stripes or punishments to constrain their obedience. They are constrained by love. R3305:2

The love of Christ has not lost its power to draw some and to hold them in loyalty and fidelity even against all the subtle and deceptive influences of this "evil day," and these perilous times. R1055:2

The power which constrains the saints into harmony and union with Christ, and through him with our Heavenly Father, is the truth. Hence the more clearly we discern the truth, the more it can influence us. R1055:3

The drawing is one thing and the coming another. It is God's prerogative to invite, and man's privilege to come. The truth is our anchor, but we can sunder it according to our free will. R1056:3

The Word of God is the treasure-house of our Father, wherein is "given exceeding great and precious promises." (2 Pet. 1:4) In it is revealed "the love of Christ." By it our Master prayed that we should be sanctified. R200:5

Many members of the sects are not constrained by the love of Christ but by the fear of hell. R2599:1

If one died for all -- "He, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man," (Heb. 2:9) the just for the unjust, to bring us to God (1 Pet. 3:18); to open up for us a way of return or reconciliation to harmony with the Father. E446

Jesus is not merely the Savior of the Church, but he is also the Savior of the world. R5596:3

Jesus, in the laying down of his life, was giving himself "a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:6) Q760:4

While the work of redemption was done by our Lord Jesus, it was all planned by the Father. R1269:5, 1778:3

Christ died for us whether we believe it or not. Whatever facts or changes were produced by the death of Christ are not dependent on our believing. R77:3*

As the "wise of this world" are denying the value of the precious blood, those whose eyes have been opened must emphasize the value of the cross as the basis of reconciliation between God and man. R3560:6

If the death of Christ secures spiritual life for some (as some teach, but which we do not believe), it would follow that it would secure it for all. R77:3*

Then were all dead -- Legally. R1697:5

Under just sentence of death. R3560:6

From God's standpoint all the world has already lost life, is dying, and might now be more properly described as dead than alive. A289; R1231:3, 1077:1

Yea, worse than dead in trespasses and sins and condemnation. R2723:1

Under divine sentence, the curse. R2754:4, 1231:3

To live means a great deal, in its full import. Adam and Eve lived, i.e., had life in perfect measure, before sin entered. When death entered, and the dying commenced, it was a process of ceasing to live. R1231:3

It is a fundamental teaching of Christ and his apostles (true Christianity) that man fell into sin and under its penalty--death. R3106:6

The law of God demanded as a penalty the life of the transgressor, and Adam through disobedience having incurred this, all his posterity are heirs of death--life being forfeited. R676:6*

Either actually dead and buried, or else under sure sentence of death. R588:2; Q760:4

The condition in which man now is, is Scripturally called death, even before he enters the tomb. R360:3

So counted even before execution. R75:3*

2 Corinthians 5:15

He died for all -- "He, by the grace of God tasted death for every man." (Heb. 2:9) E446

"For all" means the whole race was dead, none had a right to life. R5597:4
The love of God was manifested in giving his Son, not to redeem a few, as Calvinism would have us believe, but to redeem a world; while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. R556:1

They which live -- Justified to life through faith in Jesus' redemption.
R2754:1

Justified to life through faith in his blood. R2723:1

Justified and begotten to newness of life. R2456:4

Now reckoned alive in Christ. R2076:4

Through Christ's promise and work. R1697:5

Should not henceforth live unto themselves -- If any man will be my disciple let him renounce his own self-will; begin to live contrary to his own preferences, in that he will do according to the divine will, instead of according to his own will. R5596:6

The proper heart responds to God's grace by desiring to do his will; then the power of God operates in such, leading to works of obedience, self-denial, and self-sacrifice. R3305:3

It is not that the Lord looks with displeasure upon a life which seeks to avoid sin and which recognizes the merit of Christ, but it is a "reasonable service" to present our bodies a living sacrifice to God.

R1672:2

Those who were thus redeemed should not live for their own pleasure, but consecrate themselves to his service. R1576:6

But unto him -- Let us be more and more zealous in expending our little all in the service of him who loved us and who bought us with his own precious blood. R2671:6

The Lord and the apostles urge all true followers of Christ to present their bodies living sacrifices, to lay down their lives for the brethren, that they may thus attest their devotion to the Lord. R2659:1

It is not enough that we call ourselves by his name and say we are his servants, but his servants we are to whom we render service. R588:5

Not to give a tithe to the Lord, but to give all that we are and have--all that we can in as direct a way as we can, and the remainder is to be given him in a more indirect way. HG583:2

Christ having died for us, we should live the remainder of our lives in his service. R1672:2, 5597:4, 588:2

If the Master has placed you in such position that you cannot render great service, do not neglect what he has given you, to do that which he has not given you to do--faithful in least, faithful in greater. R588:5

In thankfulness. R2076:4

For the most profitable meetings, it is important to resolve to come together as God's children, henceforth to live unto him who died for you.
R1866:6

2 Corinthians 5:16

Know we no man -- Not even "the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself." (1 Tim. 2:5, 6) B107

No man in Christ after the flesh. D476; R1861:5, 216:2

Those who have received the new mind--the spirit of a sound mind. R1414:2

After the flesh -- We are to know each other according to the spirit, the intentions, the heart. R2446:2

As new creatures. R2581:2, 216:5

God knows us according to the spirit, the will, the heart, the intent.

R4494:6, 216:5; E110

"Ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of Christ dwell in you." (Rom. 8:9) R3832:1

Toward the end of the third quarter mark, our love for the brethren grows deep and strong and we learn to sympathize with them as new creatures in their battlings with the weaknesses of their flesh. NS417:4

Yet now henceforth -- "Now the Lord is that Spirit." (2 Cor. 3:17) E298;

We shall see him as he is when made like him. R629:6, 262:6; NS33:1

To "sit on David's throne" does not mean that Jesus will be a fleshly being--a glorified man; for he shall become ruler of Israel and all nations and families of earth unseen, through his agents. R453:2

When the work in the Most Holy is done, he comes into the Holy place, but not in the flesh. R102:6*

Know we him -- Know we him so. E298; R5917:5, 2556:4, 340:3

Not as the man Jesus, but as the glorified Lord. R5597:4, 1336:6*

Our knowledge of him as the risen and glorified Lord and Saviour thoroughly outshines all of our interest in his earthly life. R2556:4

We now know him as the King of glory. R1693:1, 5917:5

As a spiritual being--the express image of the Father's person. (Heb. 1:3)

R546:3, 507:4

No more -- Our Lord is no longer a human being; as a human being he gave himself a ransom for men, having become a man for that very purpose. He was raised from the dead a life-giving spirit being, and not a man. B107;

R1806:2

"The man Christ Jesus" suffered for us death, "everlasting destruction."

The flesh, the human nature, was given as our ransom price. E466

The life given in ransom was human life--flesh and blood life--never taken back. If he took back the price of redemption, there is no hope for us.

R690:3*, 1806:2

Christ will not again appear in the flesh. R578:2, 5917:5, 1336:6*, 262:6, 18:6

His humanity was all dropped. R507:4

"My flesh I give for the life of the world" (John 6:51)--not only for three days but forever. R4123:6

"He was put to death in the flesh but quickened in the spirit." (1 Pet. 3:18) He was raised by the Father's power from the grave the Lord of glory. R4123:6, 3075:2, 2981:2, 1278:4, 507:4; NS176:5, 32:5

"Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." (1 Cor. 15:50) R3075:2, 507:4

"Yet a little while and the world seeth me no more." (John 14:19) R1904:1
His human body was the body of his humiliation, which was sacrificed, given as the price of our redemption. He no longer lives life in the flesh, but is now highly exalted and lives as our divine High Priest. R1806:2

Jesus was tempted along the same lines as his followers of this Gospel age--who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit;--who are judged according to the spirit of their minds--their new wills. E110

2 Corinthians 5:17

If any man be in Christ -- Diaglott translation--"any one," rather than "any man." R5325:2

The sisters in the Church equally "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God," (Rom. 12:1) and perform an important "work of service" in the Church as members of the "Royal Priesthood." T103

One who has made a full consecration of himself and has been begotten by the holy Spirit. R5148:3, 5923:6, 5899:1, 5597:1, 5439:1, 5431:4

A very small proportion of the religious church membership. OV379:1

All who are have "passed from death unto life." (John 5:24) Only a very limited number have so done. SM341:3; R5923:6, 1841:1

Only since Pentecost have any been begotten as "new creatures in Christ." R5613:2

Not membership in any earthly organization, but union with the Lord as a member of his mystical Body. F78; R5227:3

The Scriptures frequently speak of the Church as being "in Christ," as here and in Rom. 12:5. R5227:3

Although the Greek word en sometimes means "through," "by," "with" or "under," it is here correctly translated "in." R826:3

To be accepted in Christ, obedience is a prime requisite, then consecration to sacrifice. R5431:4

Before we were in Christ, "We were enemies," (Rom. 5:10) because "The whole world lieth in the wicked one." (1 John 5:19) "Ye are children of wrath even as others." (Eph. 2:3) "All are sinners." (Rom. 5:2) R3458:1

Conversion, belief and reformation of life does not necessarily make a Christian in the Biblical sense. Righteous living should commend itself to all intelligent minds as advantageous and beneficial. HG667:3

He is -- Includes not only our Lord and the Church, but also the "Great Company." R5022:3

This is an individual matter. R5022:3; Q506:6

A new creature -- It is such a complete revolution that those who voluntarily surrender their will and all they possess to God are called new creatures in Christ Jesus. SM274:1

The Church of the Gospel age is frequently spoken of in the Scriptures as a new creation--its ultimate members, the overcomers, being specifically mentioned as "new creatures" in Christ Jesus. F59

Those who have become God's people by making a full consecration of themselves and then being begotten of the holy Spirit as new creatures in Christ. All such are recipients of special divine care. R5583:6

Having been begotten by the holy Spirit to a new life. R5312:6, 5325:2, 5208:2; OV143:3

The special good news (gospel) is that God is calling some to become the Bride--to become "new creatures," and as such to be "heirs of God, joint-heirs with Jesus Christ our Lord." This is "our high calling." R217:3

The Church is wholly distinct and separate from the remainder of mankind: the Scriptures speak literally when they declare the Church to be a "new creation" and its members "new creatures." NS591:2, 336:6

Spirit beings like unto our Lord, not flesh beings like Adam. (1 Cor. 15:45-49) HG235:5

From God's standpoint, the consecrated, the quickened, the begotten, the anointed, the risen with Christ seated in the Holy are new creatures, begotten again by the holy Spirit. NS337:1

Diaglott translation: "creation" rather than "creature." R5325:2

We no longer belong to the family of Adam. R5923:6, 5221:1

We are now spirit beings in human bodies. R5325:3

The Church, God's new creation, is heavenly, not earthly. PD8/15; R4553:3; HG333:6; SM430:2

Begotten, not yet born of the Spirit. A226; R3707:5

The Apostle speaks of these "dearly beloved" ones as "sons and daughters" of the Lord, children of the Almighty--hence begotten again of the holy Spirit. SM391:1

This new creature is in an embryotic state or condition while in the flesh, and will be born of the spirit in the resurrection. Q808:4

"We become partakers of the divine nature." (2 Pet. 1:4) R1881:4, 217:3

The new creature expects to attain the divine nature--glory, honor, and immortality--while the old creature desires earthly things and comforts.

Thus there is a conflict. It is a fight to the finish. R5439:4, 5312:6, 216:2

A spirit-begotten child of God possessing eternal life by faith, but the new creature is not yet completed. R5325:6, 5326:1; SM391:1

The new creature has the old body, but a new will--the will of Christ. R4842:1, 216:2

Newly "created in Christ Jesus" (Eph. 2:10) reckonedly; and in due time, if he "abide in him," he will be a new creature actually. R1438:1; A227; Q505:2

This new nature is the basis of our recognition as Christians, and of our fellowship. The reason we are so counted is because we are in Christ, and he is no longer known after the flesh. R237:2*

These who walk in the narrow way--begotten again, not of the will of the flesh, not of man, but begotten of truth. (John 1:13; James 1:18) NS19:3

The divine nature is the highest of all, yet each nature will be so thoroughly in accord with its own conditions and environments and perfection that each will have satisfaction in his own state. F63

The new creation is entirely separate and distinct from the angelic orders and from man. Each order will be perfect in itself. F62

The best epistle--even more valuable than the Bible, as respects reaching the hearts of men--is the life of a true Christian, a new creature in Christ Jesus. R5967:6

May be spoken of as separate and distinct from their mortal bodies. R5686:4; NS517:1

There is nothing said about being reckonedly new creatures. The change is actual, bona-fide. R5325:2, 4932:3; Q509:2, 61:2

The new creature is real, so real that it can die the second death. If it were only a reckoned matter, it would not be so serious. Q509:2

The robe of justification is given to the new creature to cover the blemishes of its imperfect body. R4761:5, 216:5; Q604:6

Their King, in calling them to be this "holy nation," started them as a new race. Their Master opened the way for a completion of his purpose.

They were begotten again, "new creatures." (Gal. 6:15) R2129:1

God is dealing with our spirits, our minds. Through the transforming influence of his Word, he is giving us a new mind; it is this new mind which he receives into his family. SM350:1

Old things are passed away -- The old love of sin, the old disposition to do evil, the old worldly and selfish ambitions, strifes, etc.

R1438:1,4; CR411:2

Jesus is the Captain of all those who voluntarily enlist as soldiers of the cross to battle against sin, especially in themselves--fighting a "good fight of faith" and overcoming the spirit of the world. SM180:1

The elements of darkness that reign in our mortal bodies are to be discouraged and to be expelled therefrom. R5099:6

Sins that are past are all cleansed. SM430:2; R5325:2, 4553:3

Old sins and hopes. E488

Human hopes, will, and ambitions. A227

Dead to worldly aims and objects. SM391:1

The embryo "new creature" continues to grow and develop, as the old human nature, with its hopes, aims, desires, etc., is crucified. A197; E488;

R5597:1, 5072:6; CR353:2

All earthly rights have been abrogated. R5325:5

Earthly things, prides, vanities, and follies, shall have passed from the will even though they may harass us because in a measure attractive to our flesh. F78

The thorns that choke the wheat are not wicked practices, but "cares of this life and the deceitfulness of riches" (Matt. 13:22, Mark 4:19)--the ordinary duties of life, proper to a limited degree. NS607:6

We have put off the old man, the natural, fallen man, with his privileges as the successor of Adam, in the same sense that we put off the old will. R5221:1

These old things pass away, not instantly, but gradually. R5742:5, 216:2

In Romans 8, the Apostle shows that a way of escape from the condemnation of the Law Covenant was provided for those Jews who come into Christ.

R4869:3

New creatures are not under the Law Covenant, but under the arrangement of grace, or God's favor. R5072:6

These "peculiar people" enter into covenant relationship with God by which they surrender all their rights and privileges as men. SM274:1

From the time the new creature is reckoned as coming into existence, the old creature, from the divine viewpoint, is non-existent. R4842:1

None of the human remains; at the time we were made members of the Body of Christ, we had become dead as human beings, by the surrender of our wills.

R5881:6; Q570:1

All distinctions of sex and color and condition are ignored, dropped from divine notice. (Gal. 3:28; 1 Cor. 12:13) T103

When grievous weapons of destruction and poisonous tongues do injury to the old creature--which we have already consecrated to death--they help us as new creatures, killing the flesh. R3051:1

All things are become new -- New relationship with God. R5947:4, 5325:2

New hopes, aims, ambitions, prospects, standards. R5899:1, 5597:1, 5148:3; CR469:5; OV379:1; SM510:T, 342:T

New will, new mind, with heavenly hopes and aspirations. R5439:2, 5461:6, 216:2; SM350:1, 430:2, 274:1; OV356:1

New heart, new desires. R3735:4; OV379:2

They have new ideals, heavenly ambitions, new standards, new representatives of these. SM274:1

New affections. "Transformed by the renewing of their minds." (Rom. 12:2) OV379:2; SM342:T

We have received a new mind in Christ. We have stepped into membership in the Body of Christ. R5221:1

To accomplish so radical a change requires a powerful influence--the holy Spirit. R5148:6

At first we are babes. Beginning with strong determination, we must grow in grace--grow in the Lord and the power of his might--grow up unto him in all things, becoming stronger and stronger. R5312:6

It regulates them as respects what they eat, what they drink, where they go, what they do, what they read, what companionship they cultivate, even their very thoughts. R5796:5

When the Jew became dead to the Law, he came into this one hope which could be attained only through sacrifice. His new creature was bound to do what is right; his old creature was reckoned dead. R5072:6

If we are in Christ we are keeping God's law in a way that is impossible to others, even though we have only the body of flesh in which to operate. R4869:3

The "wedding garment" is given to the new creature, to cover the blemishes of its imperfect body. R4842:1

At the moment of God's acceptance of our sacrifice, and of the begetting of the holy Spirit, the new creature is reckoned as coming into existence and as wearing the wedding garment. R4842:1

The new creature only is recognized of God, and invited to the wedding, and granted the wedding garment--the robe of Christ's righteousness--not for itself, but as a covering for its flesh. R4761:5

With this class, all of the Lord's dealings are intended to develop character. R4817:6

Such are already back into harmony or covenant relationship with God. R4542:3

Where the conversion from sin to righteousness is thorough. R3735:4

We, similar to the man with the unclean spirit (Mark 5:2), receive the new mind of Christ; we stand at Jesus' feet, clothed and in our right mind. R3773:2

Jesus ascended up on high and presented the merit of his sacrifice on our behalf. God granted the holy Spirit to the waiting disciples. That holy Spirit came to them as a begetting to the new nature. Q509:2

We are begotten again by the holy Spirit to newness of life, newness of purpose. To us he gives various talents. SM510:T

We now have the precious promises of God and the prospect of a spiritual existence in the future instead of a human existence. SM342:T

They will have higher riches and greater privileges as spirit beings, fully entered upon at their resurrection change but reckonedly entered into from the time of their covenant. SM274:1

Let each make an inquiry of himself: Am I living to the extent of my ability even in the present life in accord with the new mind, the new nature? Am I thus developing it at the expense of my old nature? NS102:1

If you have made the proper consecration and God has begotten you of the holy Spirit, you are a son of God. Q665:1

Now counted as members of his glorious Church. SM430:2

He has "passed from death unto life," (1 John 3:14) and has found the peace which the world can neither give nor take away. R1841:1

2 Corinthians 5:18

And all things -- All these new things. E488; R4542:3

Not all the wickedness and sin of the world. R1778:3, 1269:5

Here the term is absolute and unqualified. All the features of our redemption are of God, planned by the Father himself. R1778:3, 1268:3
Are of God -- Not of the Apostle's making up, nor of Jesus' origination. R5597:5

God himself shall wipe away all tears from their eyes. It was God's plan from the very first--God so loved the world that he sent Jesus; and so, of him and through him and to him are all things. R333:3

Who hath -- Before we were born Christ effected a work. R3707:5

Reconciled -- Back into harmony or covenant relationship with God. R4542:3

None can be reconciled to God without a Redeemer's sacrifice. R5284:3

Us -- True believers. R3707:5

God's real work is the reconciliation of the world, but he begins his work with an elect class, not with the world. NS384:4

So far as the world is concerned this reconciliation is still future. R3707:4

By Jesus Christ -- By the death of his Son. R3707:5

Through Jesus Christ--through the work which Jesus did for us. NS383:5

The ministry -- Service. E488; R4542:4

Not the service of our own reconciliation, but the service of making known that through Christ's death whosoever wills may return to harmony with God. R4542:4,5

The ministry of the New Covenant--the service of bringing Israel in covenant relationship with God anew. R4542:6

Of reconciliation -- Greek: katalage; the same word rendered "atonement" in Rom. 5:11. E488

Reconciliation to God which is eventually to reach the whole world, but at the present time is intended only for "him that hath an ear to hear." R4542:5; NS386:5

When we all shall have reached that glorious consummation of the Church, then the world's reconciling will be the great work of the Millennial age, carried on in power and great glory. NS386:2

Amongst the Lord's people we find some in a measure of reconciliation, others in a state of partial reconciliation; our message is to all: accept his Word, conform your heart and life to his arrangement. NS386:6

In proportion as we attain this reconciliation to God we are attaining a harmony with righteousness and truth and are learning that we are not our own but his, bought with his blood. Be fully reconciled. NS386:6

The ministry of reconciliation, committed to the Church, will not be finished until the close of the Millennium. R2855:6

To wit -- Namely. E488

God was in Christ -- This Christ is composed of many members. (1 Cor. 12:12) R4841:3

In or by or through Christ. R827:2

Paying the ransom exacted by his own justice. R333:3

Whose love? The Father's and the Son's, primarily the Father's, who hates sin but loves man. He hates sin because he loves man, and sin destroys man's happiness and if persisted in will destroy man himself. R9:5*

The salvation here taught does not depend upon acceptance of Christ. R108:5*

Reconciling -- At-one-ing. E488

The Church to be saved by a change of nature, the world by a resurrection to the perfection of human nature. R5596:3

In a Bible reading list entitled "Seven Stages," this text is included under "Deliverance" with Isa. 63:5, Luke 2:10,11, Gal. 3:13, 1 John 1:7, Rom. 5:18 and John 1:9. R465:4

A work begun, but not yet concluded. R2855:6

We must stand aloof from the practical anarchy, knowing that if all men loved God supremely and "their neighbors as themselves," they would "walk humbly before God"; all would become reconciled to him. R1190:5*

Christ did die, the Just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God; that we are "reconciled to God through the death of his Son." (Rom. 5:10) NS365:2,6

The world -- This Scripture is a comprehensive statement, covering the Lord's favor -- to believers in this present time, and as well his ultimate favor to all the families of the earth during the times of restitution. NS440:4

Those from the world who now accept the Gospel call. R5918:2, 2855:6
God is not yet reconciled to the world, and the world is not yet reconciled to God. R3707:4, 2855:6

For centuries we have been overlooking scriptures which speak of a reconciliation with the world, and not noting the difference between the Church and the world: "Ye are not of the world." (John 17:16) NS821:6

Unto himself -- First by the reconciling of his own justice, second by a restoration of those who turn from sin to righteousness. R3707:4

Not imputing -- Not reckoning. NS383:5

Trespases unto them -- Because their penalty was borne by Christ. E488
But imputing them unto "him who died for us and rose again." E444, 488; SM381:2

But reckoning those trespases unto his Son Jesus, who died for your sins, the just for the unjust, that he might reconcile us to God. (1 Pet. 3:18) NS383:5

Committed unto us -- The Body of Christ is helped and succored in its day of salvation in order that it may be the instrument of God for the blessing and releasing of those who are in the prison-house of death. HG337:1

God hath committed unto us, the Royal Priesthood. E488

The word -- Message, good tidings. E488

Of reconciliation -- At-one-ment. E488

The message of God's love. R5597:5
Telling of the way of return to God. R5597:5

2 Corinthians 5:20

Now then -- Because God has called us and given us as a priesthood this service, and this message to declare. E488

We are ambassadors -- God's representatives amongst men--ministers, or servants. R5597:5

Commissioned to tell the good tidings in the world. R3707:5

"Who also hath made us able ministers of the new covenant." (2 Cor. 3:6)

R3329:6

Whose commission arrays him, as defender of the faith, in opposition to every other form of doctrine. R1588:2

With all the consecrated, when they come to see the privileges of the present high calling, the service in the "Royal Priesthood" is superior to all else, even if tent-making is still a necessity. R1021:1

The Father is sending out messengers to inform the condemned of his reconciliation. R504:5

One necessity for ambassadorship is that "brethren" still in Babylon are in danger. They do not cry for help, because they do not realize their need. We must not wait our sacrificing until they request it. R2457:1

Whoever is negligent of his opportunities to serve others shows his own lack of appreciation of God's message. R4666:2

The spirit which would permit us to please simply ourselves, to the neglect of others who might be greatly blessed by the same truths which have so refreshed our hearts, would not be the spirit of love. R1672:3

The Apostle and all consecrated believers as members of the Church, the Body of Christ, are God's ambassadors in speaking to the world. NS569:3

From the time that Jesus had died and risen again and ascended up on high and appeared in the presence of God on our behalf, the apostles and all believers were commissioned to be ambassadors for God. NS365:5

The very humblest of the Lord's people should consider the honor, the dignity, the responsibility of being the representatives of the King of glory--the King of the universe. NS465:4

As workers with Christ, we must study him as the model workman in his work among men: The work is sometimes irksome, not to our taste; those we are to gladly help may be uninteresting or repugnant to us. R835:3*

"Do all in the name of the Lord Jesus." (Col. 3:17) R3329:6

"Our citizenship is in heaven." (Phil. 3:20) R3330:2

"Ye are not of this world." (John 17:14) R3330:2

We have transferred our allegiance and citizenship to the heavenly Kingdom. R3330:2

For Christ -- Our official head or High Priest, and the Father's representative. E488

"On behalf of Christ." (Diaglott) Let us make haste to publish the more the sure mercies of our God, through Christ. R1045:6*

We would bear more fruit, save wasted talent and energy, lighten and gladden the labor, if we would permit his power to relieve our heavy and wearisome toil and sanctify the senses in his work. R835:2*

God did beseech you by us -- The word "you" is in italics, indicating it is not in the original. It should be omitted. God is not beseeching the Church through the Church to be reconciled, for all of the Church are reconciled. R5597:6, 4542:4; Q578:6

This epistle was addressed "Unto the church, with all the saints." Paul would not beseech the Church to pray that the saints, the Church, be reconciled to God. They had already become reconciled. NS569:6
God through us is beseeching or urging all who have the hearing ear. R5597:6; NS365:5, 264:6

"As if God were inviting through us." (Diaglott) We must be on the alert to use every opportunity presented to call forth from Babylon the consecrated children. R1045:6*

"As though God were entreating by us." NS383:1

It is a mistake to interpret the divine attitude toward man as being a coaxing, pleading one. NS365:2

As the vine does not bear fruit directly, but by means of the branches, so it is with Christ. "Together with him," even as the branch abiding together in the vine, we are workers with Christ. R835:2*

The part of Christ's work of mediation which related to the settlement of the claims of justice against us, as sinners, was at a full end; the part remaining was the making known of reconciliation to sinners. R788:2

This has been the chief business of God's people all these 1800 years. CR308:4

The omnipotent one now uses "The foolishness of preaching" (1 Cor. 1:21) as his agency for appealing to sinners; but by and by he will send forth his commands, with penalties for disobedience and rewards for obedience. NS364:3

We pray you in Christ's stead -- "We entreat, on behalf of Christ."

(Diaglott) We who are consciously receiving "meat in due season" are especially called to proclaim the glad tidings of reconciliation. R1045:6*

Be ye reconciled to God -- At-oned. E488

The whole Gospel message is to this effect. R4978:3; NS383:2

God is now ready and willing to receive all who come to him through Christ. R788:2, 4978:3

This phrase may be applicable to the unconverted, but it was addressed to Christians. He is Lord and Master; we are called upon to admit his claims, and thus be at agreement with God. R99:6*

While our greatest work comes in the next age, let us not forget we should do all in our power in the present age to counteract sin and to restore mankind to harmony with our Father. R87:4

Knowing that only such as come into vital relationship with the Redeemer can have everlasting life, we persuade men everywhere, "Be reconciled." NS836:2

There was no reconciliation to God previous to the ministry of reconciliation, the gospel, when Jesus Christ by the grace of God tasted death for every man. (Heb. 2:9) NS384:2

The one little nation of Israel was favored with special information not granted to the other nations of the world, but even the Jews were not offered a full, complete reconciliation, but merely a typical one. NS365:4

The gospel was preached in advance to Abraham, but it was an indistinct statement--intended for Abraham and his natural seed, so that they would be able to exercise faith in the promise. NS365:5

For he hath -- God. R4542:3

Jehovah, the Heavenly Father. R1849:2

Made him -- Jesus. R4542:3

To be sin -- "A sin-offering." (Diaglott) R1696:2, 73:2

A sin-offering, not a sinner or sin. R1336:6, 5253:4, 4704:2, 4542:3, 416:6*; E446

A sin-sacrifice or sin-offering. R1287:2

Christ took the sinner's place. R5597:6

He was treated as the sinner, and received the punishment that properly belonged to the sinner. R5356:2, 5253:4, 4371:3, 701:5, 660:4, 441:4, 93:6

"Made a curse for us" (Gal. 3:13)--cut off from life, treated as the sinner, as our substitute. R701:5, 4371:3

Jesus freely gave himself up and submitted to entire destruction of the flesh. R73:2

As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so God declared in type that the man Christ Jesus would be lifted up upon the cross as our sin-offering. R1849:2, 1696:2

The bite of a fiery serpent (sin) was cured by a look at the brazen serpent (Christ)--the only hope of the fallen race of mankind. R1696:2

For us -- The household of faith. R4542:6

The guilt of the sinner was borne by the Redeemer, who gave the full corresponding price for our sins, that all seeking righteousness might be accepted as righteous, through the merits of his sacrifice. E444

Jesus was tested to the utmost to prove his worthiness of the greatest exaltation at his Father's hands. Our Lord Jesus gave up all that he had on man's behalf. E444

For him--"God hath reconciled us to himself." (2 Cor. 5:18) R4542:3,4

Who knew no sin -- Either personal or inherited. R660:4

He personally knew no sin--holy, harmless, separate from sinners. (Heb. 7:26) R5597:6, 73:2

Born of a woman he partook of the woman's nature, though retaining all the purity and perfection of the pre-existent (spirit) state. E105; R777:5

Jesus did not need to wait for any sacrifice for sins, for he knew no sin.

NS51:3

John did not want to baptize Jesus, knowing he was not a sinner. HG261:6

Jesus kept, fulfilled, all the requirements of the Law, which we know was the measure of a perfect man's ability; he must have been a perfect man if able to do what no imperfect man could do. R776:2

"I have found no cause of death in him." (Luke 23:22) Death, pain and sorrow are the direct result of sin. Death in no sense had any claim upon Jesus. R573:2

Our Head, our Lord, the holy, the pure One, was perfect as a man and gave a perfect sacrifice, without spot or blemish. R964:6, 73:2

His cross consisted not in his living separate from sin, for he had lived separate from sin up to that time. NS622:6

That we -- Those who receive this message. R5597:6

His "members." R4542:6

Zion. The typical Zion is the Jewish nation; the antitypical Zion is the glorified Christ. HG606:3

Might be made -- May have. R5597:6

The righteousness of God -- May have the privilege of coming into the righteous condition acceptable to God. R5597:6 The antitypical Zion is the glorified Christ. "He shall be called, Jehovah our Righteousness." (Jer. 23:6) "She shall be called, Jehovah our Righteousness (or, the Righteousness of Jehovah)." (Jer. 33:16) R4913:3

God's mercy will pass through the Church to natural Israel to whomsoever wills of all the families of the earth. R4542:6

In him -- Only sons of God are covered by the robe of Christ's righteousness imputed to them, because of which they find acceptance with the Father--not all believers, but only those who abide "in him." R1008:2

2 Corinthians 6

2 Corinthians 6:1

Workers together with him -- Our vital union with our Lord as members of his Body is shown by the prophet Isaiah, 49th chapter, verses 7-9, which is here interpreted. R5536:5

We are invited to become co-workers with God in carrying out his plan; in so doing, we are counted in with Christ Jesus as filling up the measure of the sufferings necessary to its accomplishment. R3161:4

In the accomplishment of the great transforming work to be wrought in us by the renewing of our minds. R4790:1

All the anointed ones, including women, are anointed to preach the gospel. R1083:2*

The grace of God -- Justification. F682, 117; A236; R859:2

The privilege of justification. R2733:1

Tentative justification--giving a standing with God--from which a believer may offer himself in consecration. R5207:6, 5196:2; Fiii

Our advice to Christians is that they no longer delay, but hasten to avail themselves of the greatest privilege that could be offered, the grace of the forgiveness of sins, of justification through faith. R2642:3

In vain -- The person who has come to a knowledge of God's grace and has rejected it will be in a worse position than those who have never heard.

Those that are justified to friendship with God (see Fiii) and fail to go on to make a full consecration. F682, 117; A236; R4629:2, 1669:5; SM762:1; Q396:3, 733:3

God justifies us reckonedly instead of actually, so that those who choose might draw back after being justified by faith, receiving the grace of God in vain, their reckoned justification becoming void. R1669:5

Those who neglect to use their reckoned perfection, by presenting themselves as acceptable sacrifices to God, have received the favor of justification in vain, and are not much better off than the world. R859:2

Receiving probationary adoption into the Lord's family in vain is a way we can take the name of the Lord our God in vain. (Exod. 20:7) R4014:6

As justification is accounted unto us only for the purpose of permitting us to go on to sanctification, such results or works must be forthcoming, or it will prove that we have received it in vain. R2847:4

Some are glad for what they see, but not anxious to see any more, as, intuitively, they realize that further knowledge would bring greater responsibilities, which they desire to avoid. R2733:1

To the extent that anyone's eyes see and his ears hear of the grace of God, he has responsibility. To possess the knowledge of God and to disdain it is to receive the grace of God in vain. NS741:6

If we receive God's grace and truth in vain, we may be sure it will be but a little while until it will slip from us and be replaced by misconceptions. R4782:6

Those whom God has called should seek enlargement in his grace, that as well-springs they may be filled to overflowing with that grace which came by Jesus, not vainly choked with worldly rubbish. R2508:6

Having just explained how God's grace provided reconciliation, the Apostle now exhorts such as have already recognized God's gracious character and the gift of his grace toward mankind. R2285:5

This text is one of many warnings that deny the view that whoever becomes a child of God can never become a "castaway" from divine favor. R1699:6

The gospel is to some a savor of life unto life, and to others of death unto death. Some have a form of godliness until fear is removed, when they manifest their preference for sin. R1633:6

The refining process means much to these who have been enlightened more than others, for their present testing is for either life or death, and to prove if they have received God's gift in vain. NS447:3

Any who are drawn or called of God and who do not accept him. Q288:3; R5207:6

Those who are consecrated and begotten of the holy Spirit and who go into second death or who do not run as they should and fail to get the great blessing to which they were called. Q288:2,3

2 Corinthians 6:2

I have heard thee -- The class addressed is seen to be consecrated believers of the Gospel age, the anointed, The Christ, Head and Body, which is to accomplish the great work of restitution in the next age. R858:3

Accepted -- Greek: dektos; acceptable or receivable. A213

Behold, now -- During the Gospel age. T61, 118; R5126:3, 859:1

The privilege of sacrifice is unique to this age. R4646:3

Could not begin until our Lord Jesus had made his sacrifice and opened up "the new and living way." (Heb. 10:20) R4653:4

The accepted time did not commence until the Gospel age began with Jesus' sacrifice, dating from his consecration at baptism. R858:6

Now is the time that God will accept us. (Rom. 12:1) It will not always be an acceptable time, for it will cease when the Bride class has been gathered, and there will be no more sacrifice. CR55:4

Is the accepted time -- The time in which sacrificers, coming in the merit of Jesus and becoming dead with him, are acceptable to God. A213; R4535:3, 4493:1

The time for sacrifice as represented by the Lord's goat. T61

"To offer up sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ," (1 Pet. 2:5) the time in which God will accept you as "members" of the Body of The Christ. R4535:3

"He hath made us accepted in the Beloved." (Eph. 1:6) Some, from Enoch to John, had the sacrificing spirit and did lay down their lives for the Lord, but our Lord's great sacrifice was necessary first. R4535:3

"Present your bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God." (Rom. 12:1) Now is the opportunity for believers who have the sacrificing spirit to be accepted to God. R4535:3

When we, like our Lord, may sacrifice earthly rights and restitution privileges and thereby attain the spiritual blessing of our "high calling." (Phil. 3:14) R4542:2

Now is the time when God is willing to accept our sacrifices, however poor or lean, contemptible or mean, if they are all that we have and are presented with faith in the name and the merit of Jesus. NS610:5

Isa. 49:8-10--The time in which God will accept the sacrifices of the Royal Priesthood; this day of acceptance of these sacrifices will end; the great privilege, the glorious reward, will then be passed forever. NS215:3
The time for the finding, testing, and glorifying of the antitypical Mediator. R4528:5

The opportunity, and the only one, to attain unto the divine nature--immortality. R527:3*

"The acceptable year of the Lord." (Isa. 61:2; Luke 4:19) R4535:3

Is the day -- Not a 24-hour day, but a definite or special period of time. A138

"Today" (Heb. 4:7), the age of sacrifice. R5134:2, 4528:4

A prophecy applicable to the entire membership of Christ, of whom our Lord Jesus is the Head: "For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are counted as sheep for the slaughter." (Psa. 44:22) R5173:5

The Gospel age, the antitypical Day of Atonement. R5173:5, 4542:2, 4528:4

The entire Gospel age. Q758:2; R268:1, 34:3

This day of salvation is already over 1800 years long; as with the great days of creation, they are long periods of time. HG583:4

Of salvation -- The great salvation to the divine nature. R4542:2, 859:1; F94

This Gospel age is the day of salvation, a special salvation such as will never again be offered to mankind, to joint-heirship with the Lord Jesus as his Bride, not referring to the world in general. NS500:1

2 Corinthians 6:3

Giving no offence -- Against the principles of truth and righteousness. R859:4

That the ministry -- All who serve the Lord are ministers. R5774:4

Be not blamed -- We should adapt ourselves to customs of others, without violating our consciences, to avoid offense and increase our influence for good. R5774:5

In all things -- Ours is not a life of easy lethargy, nor one that secures the approval of the worldly minded, nor which secures present temporal advantage, nor agreeable to the flesh; yet the "new creature" rejoices. R859:5

Approving ourselves -- The Apostle declares that the endurance of these crosses is a mark of his faithfulness as a servant of the Lord. R2616:4

Although the signs of an Apostle were wrought among the brethren in mighty deeds, the ministration of the Spirit was mainly an object of hope, presently overshadowed by many afflictions. R1323:5*

At most we have but a few years to live--a few years only to sacrifice. At best we have very little talent and opportunity to lay at the Lord's feet: hence the importance of doing so wholeheartedly. NS454:4

As the ministers -- Greek: diakonos; servants. F252; R5774:4

In much patience -- In a study on patience, this series of verses is listed with James 5:10, 11 and 2 Cor. 12:12 as notable examples recorded in Scripture. R3585:4

2 Corinthians 6:5

In stripes -- We are not to think of the Apostle as whipping and imprisoning himself, as do some, but as suffering on account of his faithfulness in declaring the good tidings. R2022:5

In fastings -- Some may have been enforced fastings because of his service of the truth. R2022:5

2 Corinthians 6:6

By knowledge -- The value of knowledge is set forth in the Scripture many times--the treasures of wisdom and knowledge divine which are hidden in Christ and intended for those who come unto the Father through him. NS506:3

2 Corinthians 6:8

By honour -- The fact that God has begotten any one of his holy Spirit should make us wish to respect those whom the Lord has thus honored. R5773:6

And dishonour -- Throughout this Gospel age God allows his faithful servants to suffer reproaches and losses. R5189:3, 2616:5

In the great feast and Kingdom work, "The rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth," (Isa. 25:8) but this odium has been attached to being God's people throughout "the reign of sin and death." NS694:3

By evil report and good report -- All who are to be members of the Bride class must be tested in respect to their humility--their submissiveness to the divine will. R5252:6

The faith and zeal of many are not sufficient to endure this test. R5118:2

As deceivers -- Our Master was counted a deceiver, while yet he was the true one. How faithfully he bore that cross! His followers must expect to share this cross, and be misjudged by those who are blinded by the Adversary. R2616:5

Paul was considered a deceiver by many Jews who accused him of being unfaithful to the Law. R5774:1

Such experience need not make the Lord's people timid or fearful. R4736:5

The great time of trouble is the "recompense of the controversy of Zion"--the saints, (Isa. 34:8) who have in every century suffered, been counted "the filth and offscouring of the earth." OV346:T

2 Corinthians 6:10

Making many rich -- Rich in hope, faith, love. R5927:5, 2212:5

The true riches of grace--"godliness with contentment." (1 Tim. 6:6)
R2083:4

Unlike the apostles whom they claim to succeed, the popes are rich by making others poor. R1002:4

Possessing all things -- In that all things are ours, for we are Christ's and Christ is God's. NS388:3

2 Corinthians 6:14

Be ye not unequally -- Ezra's reform against mixed marriages was a time of weeping. While there is surely divine wisdom to marry "only in the Lord," (1 Cor. 7:39) it is not a law for Christians; they must fulfill their marriage covenants. R4912:4

Jehoshaphat arranged a marriage between his son and the daughter of Ahab, considering it a wise method of re-uniting the two kingdoms; this was worldly wisdom, foolishness, not from the Lord. R4730:5

For one consecrated to God to thereafter become unequally yoked with one of the world's children, is to violate the direct command of God.

The spiritual Israelite is commanded to be separate from the world. R2534:2

Yoked -- Married. R1554:1

Signifies an intimacy, a companionship, a fellowship of spirit. R1588:1

Jehoshaphat's most important mistake was in affiliating with Ahab, king of Israel, in war. "Shouldest thou help the ungodly and love them that hate the Lord?" (2 Chron. 19:2) R4730:5

Together -- Neither by marriage ties nor by business partnerships and close friendships. R4730:5, 2666:5, 2534:2

In bonds of fellowship and friendship. R1588:2

With unbelievers -- Those who are of the world. R1588:2

Masonry is a system, and a very beautiful system--as is very much of Satan's work--when seen from the worldly standpoint; but its symbolism is derived from devil worship and the worship of the sun. R1848:6*

What fellowship hath -- None whatever. R1588:2

Our fellowship must be based upon the sure foundation, the blood of Jesus Christ. R647:2*

What communion -- Paul was not the man for compromises. R1559:1

Let us see to it that our fellowship is based upon the sure foundation of the blood of Jesus Christ, and that our rejoicing and communion be of the increasing light as we walk together. R647:2*

Hath light -- Truth. A20

Light is healing, beneficial, health-giving. R5544:6

With darkness -- Darkness stands for Satan, for sin, for everything contrary to righteousness. R5544:6

Error and ignorance concerning God's plans and ways. R1282:3, 1588:3; A18

"Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." (Eph. 5:11) R753:6

"If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine (of Christ), receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed:" (2 John 10) R753:6

And what concord -- What harmony. R1588:3

"Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of devils." (1 Cor. 10:21) R3963:3

There is no concord between Christ and Satan; nor between a believer in Christ and an unbeliever in his ransom and Lordship. R538:1

Hath Christ -- The Body of Christ, the true Church. R1588:3

With Belial -- With those who say, "Let us go and serve other gods." (Deut. 13:13) R1588:3

2 Corinthians 6:16

What agreement hath -- What harmony is there between the purity that belongs to the Temple of God and the impurities that belong to the flesh, the world and the devil? CR363:2, 457:4

The temple of God -- "Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." (Rev. 3:12) B209, 239

The Church, the Body of Christ. R1588:3; C98

There are seven uses of this phrase in the New Testament, none of which refers to the literal Jewish Temple, but all referring to the body of believers, including the Head and the members. R638:3*

With idols -- Can the spirit of God and the spirit of idolatry dwell in the same heart? God will not share his Temple. R1588:3

Ye are the temple -- The antitype of Solomon's Temple is found in God's holy people--the Church. R5713:2

Every faithful, consecrated child of God is a Temple of God (1 Cor. 6:19) R1981:3

"How amiable are thy tabernacles" (Psa. 84:1) in the eyes of all who have the same Spirit. R1401:6

2 Corinthians 6:17

Wherefore -- In view of the fact that it is impossible to serve two masters or to have the Spirit of Christ, and still have fellowship with the opponents of Christ. R1588:4

There is a tendency toward the denial of all positive faith in Christian religion in civilized lands, and a substitution of unbelief coupled with forms and liturgies, an agnostic ceremonialism. R2537:6

Come out -- "Come out of her, my people." (Rev. 18:4) R4022:6, 3963:3, 457:5*, 46:4; OV347:7

"The Lord knoweth them that are his," (2 Tim. 2:19) and is calling in a voice which all his true ones will hear and recognize and obey. R2704:6
"Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness." (Eph. 5:11)
R538:1

Look at Babylon. If you remain there you must submit to its fetters. Your presence binds your influence to its systems. You dare not declare the whole counsel of God (Acts 20:27) lest it condemn them. R457:5*

Paul makes a quotation from the Old Testament (Isa. 52:11) to support his teaching that Christians should be separate from unbelievers. R227:5

If your church lives in adulterous union with the world, you must leave her. If it lives separate from the world and bears the fruits of the spirit, it is not part of Babylon. R46:5

It is the duty of all who see the truth clearly to act positively. SM135:2

Regarding Rev. 18:4, a withdrawal letter, worded plainly but kindly, calculated to arouse interest in precious truths, was supplied. Each member of the congregation received one, with appropriate tracts. R3135:3

Many ministers and the more intelligent of all denominations realize that Churchianity is a golden calf, unworthy of reverence. Like Aaron, they lack courage and reluctantly join in sectarian practices. R4022:6

Since we hold to doctrines taught by Jesus and the apostles, and separate and cut ourselves off from all other religious jurisdiction and control, we are a sect by Webster's definition. R537:6

From among them -- The untrue, the unbelieving, the unclean. R3986:6
The enemies of Christ, whether the avowed or the deceitfully cloaked.
R1588:4

Be ye separate -- The "wheat," will first be separated from the "tares," as now commanded by the Lord; then the binding of the "tares" in bundles will take place, ready for the "fire" (trouble) of this Day of Vengeance.
R2538:1

We are to make a clean-cut division between ourselves and all the unclean, the impure in heart. R1588:5

Stand free from all slandering of the Almighty God and his gracious provisions. OV347:7

And touch not -- "Avoid them" (Rom. 16:17)--have no part or lot with them. R1588:5

Whatever God condemns and disapproves we are to condemn and discountenance both in word and in deed. R227:6

It is only on these conditions that we have the Lord's promise--"I will receive you." R1588:5

Whoever lends financial aid or moral support to the great systems which are opposing the true teachings of God's Word is a partaker of the evil deeds and will share in the woes soon to come. SM135:2

The unclean thing -- How many others like Lot and his wife have made the serious mistake of claiming more for the physical and temporal interests of their families than for their intellectual and moral welfare! R5179:2

I would not be dogmatic, but the position of separateness from human institutions (unions) and bondages is a safe position for the saints. R1285:5

The new creation should have nothing whatever to do with any of the semi-religious societies, clubs, orders, churches. This may not apply to labor organizations or insurance associations. F581

2 Corinthians 6:18

Be a Father unto you -- What a promise! To become his children and be given the assurance of his parental affection for us. R5739:5

Be my sons and daughters -- As sons we have the joy of knowing of our Father's character through his Word. R5739:5

2 Corinthians 7

2 Corinthians 7:1

These promises -- The exceeding great and precious promises of God's Word. (2 Pet. 1:4) R3986:6

The things which God has prepared for those that love him--things which "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man." (1 Cor. 2:9) R4975:4

Without these divine promises of the present and the future blessings, who would battle against his own weaknesses? R5739:4

The promises are indeed the power of God unto our cleansing--our salvation. (Rom. 1:16; Phil. 2:13) R5739:4; SM389:T

The Apostle shows the object of our consecration and subsequent disciplining under the guidance and power of the truth, its precious promises, our spiritual food, to be the formation of a holy character. R4782:5

The formation of a noble and pure character is the legitimate result of the reception of divine truth into a good and honest heart. R1628:5

Whoever has such a hope in him will purify himself. (1 John 3:3) R3987:1

Dearly beloved -- The saints. (2 Cor. 1:1) SM391:2; R5737:1

Not addressed to the world, but to the Church; not to unbelievers, but to believers; not to sinners, but to those who have already turned away from sin. R5737:1

Disciples, pupils in the school of Christ. R5737:3

Those who left the "wallowing in the mire." (2 Pet. 2:22) R4974:3, 5737:6

This text addresses those who have made considerable progress--those who are seeking to perfect holiness in their hearts, and so far as possible also in their earthly bodies. R2891:2

Because they have the mind of Christ. SM391:1

Let us -- It is the new creature that is addressed--the new will. R4974:6

The class already justified "through faith in his blood." (Rom. 3:25) R3985:3

The great King commands his consecrated people to purify the Temple of God, which is the Church. R4812:5, 2380:4,5

Those who at heart are loyal to the Lord are distressed by the blemishes, even though they are aware that the Lord has graciously covered them.

R5738:2

Cleanse ourselves -- Does not have reference to our getting rid of Adamic condemnation. Such cleansing from original sin is impossible on our part. R5738:3, 3985:2

A progressive work--to a high standard toward which we progress: "Be ye perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." (Matt. 5:48) R4974:3, 4663:5

In proportion as this is done, a blessed influence will go forth from the Temple of God, the true Church. R4812:5

It requires great strength of character, great power of the will, to cleanse our minds and our flesh. R3986:4

Purge out the old leaven of malice, hatred and envy. R3631:6

Now a believer will inspect his words, his thoughts, his actions, his clothing, his personal appearance from a new standpoint--as God's representative, his ambassador. R3168:5

As with Josiah's public work, so it should be with the heart work of all who present themselves to the Lord: they should break off their sins in righteousness, utterly destroying their fleshly idols. R2390:5

As with Hezekiah's reform, the Lord's people need to remember the necessity for cleansing from worldly defilements, of the past and also those which are ever present in the world. R2380:5

The minds (thoughts) should be pure, should be cleansed of everything not fully in sympathy and accord with the mind of Christ. SM395:1

Let none of us forget to "put away all leaven"--sin--in preparation for the eating of the Passover. Thus the remainder of life will be a feast of unleavened bread. R2283:4

"If we would judge (correct, chastise) ourselves, then we should not be judged (corrected, chastised) of the Lord." (1 Cor. 11:31) R2160:3

The armor of Eph. 6:10-18 cannot be put on until the body be washed and clothed in the garment of Christ's imputed righteousness. R1995:4

The cleansing process must begin at once, but it will continue until our latest breath. R3986:5

Every effort made by the chosen ones to cleanse themselves is a reproof to others who are not so striving. R5737:6

Elders are outwardly and inwardly clean--washed by the water of the Word from the meanness, the filthiness of the flesh. R5123:3

In preparing for a convention, make ready the heart in advance for a blessing, putting away the flesh that the Lord may open the windows of heaven and pour out blessings which will overflow to others. R4222:1

So long as we are in contact with the world we are liable to a certain degree of earthly defilement; thus, we should wash one another's feet.

(John 13:14; Eph. 5:26) R3544:1

Although the words of this text were not addressed by St. Paul to the worldly they would, nevertheless, be excellent advice and very profitable to all. NS824:2

From all filthiness -- Figuratively represented by "Having our bodies washed with pure water." (Heb. 10:22) R2671:3, 5123:3

Noticing to see where there is anything in us that is impure, and putting all that away from our conduct--and, from our minds. R5739:2

It is a tedious work--day by day we strive to put away sin, selfishness--every element of ungodliness and unloveliness. R5738:4

No longer slaves of sin--do not bear the fruits of unrighteousness. R5123:3

So that all unrighteousness, all sin, all injustice, would be an abomination to them--whoever truly loves righteousness must in the same proportion hate iniquity. R4663:5

Regarding the experiences of Nadab and Abihu, we learn the great importance of approaching the Lord in the proper spirit and condition of mind and heart--the spirit of a sound mind. R3055:3

The babes who are not developed new creatures will have their attention occupied with the cruder elementary lessons, respecting the coarser sins which the new creature must abhor and battle against. R2891:2

The world does not parade its defilement of mind and body where the bright light of truth and righteousness and purity shines. To do so would be a horrible condition, like Sodom. It prefers to hide. NS824:3

Generally, salvation is to be brought at Christ's second advent, but Zacchaeus's salvation (Luke 19:9) was of the heart, reclaiming it from sin, selfishness, meanness--filthiness of the flesh and of the spirit.

R2731:2

In the Millennial age God will not impress the law of love upon the hearts of any--each then, as now, must put away from his heart selfishness and all of the concomitant evils resulting from sin. R2330:6

Of the flesh -- Put away evil practices, outward wrongdoing of every kind--avoid careless language, restrain passions, curb selfishness.

R5738:5; SM395:1

Not controlled by the desires and weaknesses of the fallen flesh--loves cleanliness of person, of clothing, of language and of habits. R5123:3, 3168:5

Uncleanliness of hands, of teeth, etc.--filthy habits, tobacco, etc. R4975:1

An outward cleansing of the flesh would not prove a purity within of the mind, the heart (Matt. 23:25), but outward filthiness does indicate a filthiness of the mind (spirit), because the mind controls. R3986:3

In proportion as the spirit of righteousness, truth and love enter into the heart, filthy words, conduct, habits and appearance, all begin to come under the control of the transformed mind. R3631:6

Cleansing the flesh is a part of the sanctifying work. R3168:5

The Bible does not specifically condemn tobacco. Christians may spend money for it and smoke it if they believe it will do them good and result to God's glory; but our Lord did not reek with its fumes. R1849:4

And spirit -- Does not mean the new creature is filthy. The word spirit is used to represent the mind. R5738:6, 4975:1, 2390:5, 2022:1, 1739:3; SM335:1, 395:1 Every thought be brought into captivity to the will of God. (2 Cor. 10:5) F409

Our minds must be cleansed. We must learn to hate sin, to repel its first advances. R5738:5

The new creature must use the old brain and must exercise control so that we think purely. R4975:1

The cleansing of our minds is far more important than the cleansing of our flesh. R3986:1

Some filthiness of the mind is selfishness, which frequently hides itself under pretexts of generosity, etc. Other features of this filthiness are jealousy, covetousness, ambition, sensuality. R3986:2

Filthiness of the spirit cannot be cleansed with ordinary soap and water. SM388:1

Perfecting holiness -- God has but one standard--perfection of holiness.

Our Lord's instruction is "Be ye perfect." (Matt. 5:48) R3987:1

We cannot conceive of any other condition being acceptable to God, in harmony with our calling. How we long to have our new bodies in which the new mind can act perfectly, without hindrance, glorifying God. R4664:1

For the Christian the chief business of life. R1739:6, 5738:2

The present is the time for God's people to draw very near to the Lord, to come under the shadow of the Almighty, to put their trust more and more in him and to purge themselves from all filthiness. NS627:6

Holiness cannot be attained in a moment. It must be gradually effected, perfected. We must allow the Lord to work in us the holy will, the holy conduct--a life work. R5739:3, 3631:6, 1739:2

A pure heart delights in the society of the pure and shuns all others.

R5123:4

The special work of the Church in this present time consists of the building up of one another, helping one another to perfect holiness. R2690:4

We exhort all in a remembrance and renewal of our covenant with the Lord--to be obediently and lovingly his, in thought, word and deed. R2084:1
Through the cleansing power of his truth, "by the washing of water, by the Word." (Eph. 5:26, 27) R2160:4, 4782:5

Disciplines should be reminders to us that we are not perfect, that we still have need of the mercy of God in Christ; and they should lead us to greater diligence in perfecting holiness. R2061:2

When we shall have finished the race we shall not be absolutely clean.

But, if our hearts (wills) are subject to the Lord, they will be constantly seeking to come as near as possible to absolute purity. R2022:1
Holiness is moral purity--"without holiness no man shall see the Lord." (Heb. 12:14) R1739:2

The shining of one honorable upright life (even though it be not perfect--and none are perfect) is sure to have its effect in the midst of the darkness of sin and degradation which prevail in the world. NS824:3

In the fear of God -- Filial fear. R1739:2

The fear that is reverential, profitable, not the fear that is slavish. R5739:2

Through a reverence for the Lord--an appreciation of his greatness, his perfection. R3987:4, 2022:1

The Christian who is deficient in veneration will have difficulty in perfecting holiness. R3987:4

Filled with comfort -- The Apostle used "comfort" seven times in vss. 4-13. He used it ten times in chapter 1, vss. 3-7. R3435:5,4

Exceeding joyful -- Paul was happy, giving constantly for the good of others from his store of grace and truth. R4526:2

Hope and courage, inspired by the promises and strengthened by the experiences, will keep us joyful while we are still in the enemy's country. R4048:1

Let us learn to rejoice in tribulation because it is an evidence that the Lord still considers us worthy of being prepared, chiseled, polished, made ready for a place in his glorious heavenly Temple. R3929:3

Learn to trust to the Lord's providences in all affairs--not only in those which seem to go favorably, but in those also which apparently are working disadvantage and disaster. R3012:5

We have the present joys and hope and faith in the things unseen. R1949:1
"Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous." (Psa. 33:1) R1948:6

"At thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore." (Psa. 16:11)--even in the present life. R1948:6, 1949:2

In all our tribulation -- Tribulation has the thought of serious trouble--a combination of troubles that makes the experiences serious--severe and continued troubles. R5779:4

Tribulations are necessary for the perfecting of the saints, for the trial of faith, for the testing and preparation of those who would be joint-heirs. R3013:4, 3929:3

2 Corinthians 7:6

God that comforteth -- All comfort, though working through Titus, Paul, or the Church at Corinth, was of God; this is God's disposition, to comfort. R3435:5

The coming of Titus -- The word parousia occurs twenty-four times in the Greek Testament, and is only twice correctly translated "presence." "Coming" in this text is one of the 22 mistranslations. B159

By his coming -- The word parousia occurs 24 times in the Greek Testament, and is only twice correctly translated "presence." "Coming" in this text is one of the 22 mistranslations. B159

Comforted in you -- There was a mutual helpfulness of the Church in this matter of comfort--every member possessing the holy Spirit and exercised by it had a share. R3435:5

Sorrowed to repentance -- Repentance would be the proper fruitage or result of a proper sorrow. R2931:2

2 Corinthians 7:10

Godly sorrow worketh repentance -- Sorrow is not repentance. R2931:2
One has not repented until he has renounced sin and become a follower of Christ's teachings. R2931:2,3

2 Corinthians 7:13

Comforted in your comfort -- Even the strongest in the Church, the apostles, needed comfort. R3435:4

His spirit was refreshed -- Wherever we find one of the Lord's followers, we have an opportunity of serving the Lord, of being channels of his mercy, and carrying to the downcast one something of comfort and consolation and helpfulness. R3435:5

2 Corinthians 8

2 Corinthians 8:1

The grace of God bestowed -- At the council at Jerusalem, AD 50, Paul promised to take up collections among the congregations of the Gentiles for the poor at Jerusalem, which he had now done in Macedonia, Greece and Asia Minor. R1593:2

The grace of benevolence is an important factor in spiritual living.
R1593:6

2 Corinthians 8:2

Their deep poverty -- Evidently in the churches of Macedonia, as elsewhere, "not many rich" were among the "called." R4526:2
No doubt resulting from the famine which occurred in the reign of the Emperor Claudius. (Acts 11:28) R1593:6, 4526:1

Riches of their liberality -- They gave to the measure of their power and beyond it and without urging. R4526:2

God permits his work often to seem to lag for want of means, that the seeming necessity may give us the opportunity to deny ourselves in his service--for our benefit, our development, our blessing. R1334:5, 548:2
The warp in our "earthen vessels" is such that we shall probably find self more and better provided for than our poorer brother or the work of our Father. We should be constantly on our guard about this. R548:5

2 Corinthians 8:3

Beyond their power -- Inquire not, "How much shall I give of my time, money and influence?" Rather, ask, "How much may I use for myself?" None of the things you have are yours, but God's; you are his steward. R548:4

2 Corinthians 8:4

Praying us with much intreaty -- They had entreated the Apostle to act as their representative in this service. R4526:2

The Lord's children and work will get along without us; but what a loss of opportunity and blessing we should sustain. If we fail to use our privileges, some more worthy will enjoy them and be rewarded. R548:4

To the saints -- The poor saints at Jerusalem. There was great need: (1) the converts were mostly from the poorer classes, (2) the turbulent state of the times, (3) Christians were unpopular, and could expect no outside aid. R1593:2

The word saint is used to designate the truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

2 Corinthians 8:5

Not as we hoped -- Their course was more noble than the Apostle had dared hope. R4526:4

But first gave -- They had said in effect, "We are Christ's in this matter, and yours after him; for this we realize to be the will of God." R4526:4

Their own selves -- The Church at Macedonia did not stop with the giving of money, but extended even to the giving of themselves in any way to serve the cause of God, and thus it brought them spiritual blessings. R1594:1

Let each one possessing the gift of wealth exercise it according to his judgment of the Master's will--in "doing good unto all men (temporally or spiritually, especially spiritually)." (Gal. 6:10) R1593:5, 548:6

"The liberal soul shall be made fat." (Prov. 11:25) R1593:6

What am I sacrificing? I have time, money and influence, some of each: am I so arranging my affairs that as large a proportion as possible of these is used directly in the Master's service? R548:3

2 Corinthians 8:6

We desired Titus -- In view of this spiritual blessing upon the Macedonian Christians, the Apostle urged upon Titus the importance of bringing the subject to the careful notice of the troubled and distracted Christians at Corinth. R1594:1

In you the same grace -- It was this giving from the heart which the Apostle wished to inculcate. R4526:4

This Scripture may be said to be the only appeal for money recorded in the Bible. R4526:1

If they would practice the spirit of Christianity--benevolence--they would come to see more clearly the doctrines of Christ, which, because of failure to practice, they were in danger of losing. R1594:1

2 Corinthians 8:7

As ye abound -- The Apostle complimented them. R4526:4

And knowledge -- The clear teachings of the Word were so powerfully counteracted by selfishness--love of self, its ease, honors, etc., that the Word had but slight practical effect. R548:3

See that ye abound -- He urged for their own good. R4526:4
He asked nothing for himself. R4526:2

In this grace also -- The grace of giving. R4526:4

The congregation at Corinth had been appealed to with reference to contributions for the poor of the congregation at Jerusalem, but they had not responded according to their means. R1593:6

He would stir them up to the exercise of generosity that he might increase their spiritual vitality and joy. R4526:2

2 Corinthians 8:8

Prove -- "The Lord your God doth prove you." He permits his work often to seem to lag for want of means, that the seeming necessity may give us the opportunity to deny ourselves in his service--for our development. R1334:5

Sincerity -- Benevolence, unselfishness, is a test or proof of the sincerity of our love. The opportunities for the exercise of benevolence will prove to what extent the new mind is ruling in us and conquering the old. R1594:1

Of your love -- For the Lord and for the brethren. R4526:4
The Gentiles acknowledged that the spiritual blessings of the gospel message had come to them through representatives of the Jewish people. R4526:2

2 Corinthians 8:9

For ye know -- To emphasize the necessity for development of a spirit of benevolence, Paul reminds them of Jesus' example. R4526:4, 1594:1, 1299:1*

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ -- The same spirit of benevolence that moved him to leave the glory controlled him throughout. R106:4*

Though he was rich -- The great Logos, "the Only Begotten of the Father," the chiefest of all God's creatures. R5846:6, 505:2*

"His dear Son, who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature." (Col. 1:15) R446:5*; OV328:8

The Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last (Rev. 1:8; 3:14; 21:6; 22:13). As Jehovah's agent, he is the beginner and finisher of the wondrous plan. R1060:4, 446:5*

"Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him." (1 Cor. 8:6) R446:5*

"The glory which I had with thee before the world was." (John 17:5) E87; R4098:2, 1161:5, 1060:2, 446:4*

The spiritual nature with all its glory and honor. R5927:5, 5748:2, 4526:4, 2761:4, 2212:5, 1125:3, 327:2*; T51

He left the heavenly condition. R3847:3

On the spirit plane with its heavenly comforts. R5352:2

With dignity and honor. R5157:1

Our Lord Jesus existed prior to his incarnation in a more exalted nature and condition. R1673:3

In every sense of the word, far beyond our comprehension. R2762:2, 2729:2

He was possessed of glory and honor and riches of wisdom and power above both angels and men. HG292:3

He had been the honored agent of Jehovah in all his mighty works. R1247:2

"Before Abraham was, I am." (John 8:58) R1161:5, 505:2*

Unitarians take away from the dignity and honor of our Lord, besides contradicting much Scripture, by denying that he had an existence before his conception in Mary. (See Col. 1:15-17) R505:2*

This text, along with many others, refutes the theory that Jesus began his existence the same as other men--that he was the son of Joseph. R5767:6

Yet for your sakes -- "That he, by the grace of God, might taste death for every man." (Heb. 2:9) R4964:4

That he might redeem our race from its death sentence. R4526:4, 5927:6, 1125:4

The world of mankind, the entire race of Adam, was lost in sin and its penalty, death--without hope of ability to recover itself, for no member of the race could redeem it or give a ransom. (Psa. 49:7) R3847:3

The grandest example on record of self-denial in the interest of others is the gift by our Lord Jesus of himself for the world. R2212:5

He exchanged the heavenly things for the earthly, that he might sacrifice them. CR43:4; Q442:3

Many of earth's heroes have been warriors who slaughtered millions. Jesus refused men's honors and yielded up his own life that he might bring back to life and joy and peace those untold millions. R1063:3

When the time came for the Father to send a Savior into the world to redeem it, and the proposal to render the great service to men was proffered to the Logos, he replied, "I delight to do thy will." (Psa. 40:8) R5846:6

Inasmuch as the man and race to be redeemed were human, it was needful that he become human so as to give the ransom or corresponding price. R1879:3

Whoever would redeem man must himself be a man--the full equivalent of the man who sinned. SM659:T

There were no spirit beings condemned to death. He did not sacrifice pre-human rights. Man needs earthly rights. It is those rights Jesus redeems through giving his earthly life sacrificially. R4905:1; Q442:3,4 For the joy set before him. (Heb. 12:2) E394; R5215:2, 4905:1; Q442:3

He became poor -- Jesus has illustrated to us the proper course of full self-abasement and submission to whatever may be the divine will. R5847:5

Willingly our Lord Jesus laid aside the glory of the higher nature which he had had with the Father from before the creation of man. R1125:4; HG292:5

A great humiliation--leaving the dignity of the chiefest on the spirit plane, to become a human being--a man amongst men. R5846:6, 5927:5, 4964:3, 4905:1, 4669:5, 4587:6, 3847:3

"He made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men." (Phil. 2:7) R446:5*

Humbling himself to a lower nature, even as a man, becoming obedient even unto death. HG292:3

Taking the human nature that he might redeem us. R2212:5

His human body was the body of his humiliation (Acts 8:33), the "body prepared" for sacrifice. (Heb. 10:5) R1806:2

Endured the cross, despising the shame, took the bondman's form and humbled himself even unto the most ignominious form of death. R1879:3

He did not merely pretend to be poor, but he actually became poor--"He was made flesh." (John 1:14) R2409:6, 5622:5, 5157:1, 5064:1; CR290:5

Coming to the scenes of this world, darkened by sin and death. R5352:2

He lost friend after friend, and in his last hour was forsaken by all.

R4818:2

Not just posing as though he were poor. R5157:1

As a man, he had none of this world's goods. R1060:2, 1247:3,4, 446:4*

As the Master made a full surrender of his will and talents and all, so also must all who, hearing the Master's voice, become his disciples or footstep followers. CR423:5

The fact that the faith and preaching of the Lord and the apostles did not bring them wealth, but cost them much in self-sacrifice, is a convincing proof to us of their sincerity and their honesty. R4526:1

If you have given your attention, time, mind, reputation, friends, money and life, you are like Jesus of Nazareth, who for our sakes became poor.

Poor for awhile, you are an heir of the Kingdom. R285:4, 210:4*

Here and there amongst the many nominal Christians are found a few who have forsaken all earthly interests and have voluntarily and gladly cast in their lot with him who was rich and for our sakes became poor. NS271:2

Like Joseph, all of his humiliation prepared the way for him to be succored and honored by Pharaoh. R5215:2

Not just Jesus' body died: "He poured out his soul unto death." He made "his soul an offering for sin." (Isa. 53:10, 12) R5238:4

One proof that Christ's sacrificial death does not refer to his leaving his pre-existent life is that in John 10:17, 18 he said, "I lay down my life," speaking of something he was about to do. R1298:5*

Higher Criticism teaches that our Lord happened to be a rather superior type of man, but that he never had a pre-human existence, nor did he take a human form that he might be our Redeemer. NS255:5

Through his poverty -- The Logos was made Jesus. The death of Jesus constitutes the basis of all future blessings to the Church and to the world. R5352:4

All his previous humiliation from the spiritual to the human nature was only preparatory to the offering of the great sacrifice which was to accomplish our redemption. R1247:3,4

He humbled himself unto death, even unto the death of the cross. (Phil. 2:8) R5064:3

It is unsupposable that man's redemption would cost Jesus an eternity of poverty, while the Church would be rich. OV354:2

Might be rich -- Possessed of divine favor and the riches of divine grace in Christ--even joint-heirship with him. R5927:6, 4526:4, 2212:5
Eventually, in the Millennial Kingdom. R2761:4

That mankind might be redeemed from the curse--the death sentence and all it includes of sorrow, pain and alienation from God. PD55/67

2 Corinthians 8:10

Who have begun before -- They were dilatory about doing what they had purposed. R1594:1

2 Corinthians 8:11

Perform the doing of it -- Our concern is for you who have consecrated, lest you should fail to perform your sacrifice. We have for some time seen the necessity of sacrifice on the part of all who would win the great prize. R548:2

No saint has so little that he has nothing to spend for the glory and honor of him who did so much for us. If you have been led of the Lord to consecrate your all, you surely have a way before you to perform. R548:6, 4526:5

2 Corinthians 8:12

First a willing mind -- A truly "willing mind" to serve the Lord will always find a way. R1973:4

To be a sacrifice at all, it must be a willing offering and not one forced upon us. R548:4

God looks not at the amount, but at the heart condition prompting the gift. R4526:5, 1594:4

Lest some who had a proper, benevolent will in the matter might feel that their gifts were too insignificant, Paul assures them that God accepts our hearts, our wills. See Mark 12:42-44. R1594:4

According to that a man hath -- In this dark pathway of sorrow, there are abundant opportunities to be generous, even for those who have no money--perhaps a kind word of sympathy or advice, or even a kind look. R4526:5

Where much is possessed much is required; where little is possessed less is required as respects the flesh, provided the heart is up to the standard. SM309:2

This will be as true of the world during the Millennial age as it is of the Church now. A143

Not according to that he hath not -- If you have nothing to give, then you cannot sacrifice anything, and all who attain that goal are sacrificers. Search carefully; none were called to whom one talent or more had not been given. R548:6

By an equality -- Do for the poor so as to have them "decent;" yourself and family should be "decent;" the cause of truth should be supported decently; in no way have you a right to waste the Lord's goods by extravagance. R548:5

2 Corinthians 8:17

The exhortation -- Even when the apostles called or sent any of the younger brethren in the ministry, it was not as of arbitrary authority, but as of request which they were likely to follow, because of their confidence in him. R1822:2

2 Corinthians 8:18

The brother -- The apostles did not title each other, nor receive such homage from the Church. All the Church were similarly greeted--as brothers and sisters in Christ. F230; R1523:5

2 Corinthians 8:19

Who was also -- Paul himself was evidently chosen, by vote, to be a missionary--a representative of the churches. F277

Chosen -- Greek: kirotoneo; to elect by stretching out the hand. F277

2 Corinthians 8:21

Providing for honest things -- It is not wrong to make a reasonable provision for tomorrow, with a view to the necessities of one's family. The mistake would be to spend no money for the Lord until we have attained the comforts of life. R2259:4

2 Corinthians 9

2 Corinthians 9:1

Ministering to -- Some serve and feed and care for the Body as pastors. Others (equally members of the Body and beloved of the Head) support these by their means and by their prayers, and by their influence. R365:5

The saints -- The poor saints at Jerusalem--a severe famine had prevailed in the vicinity of Jerusalem, the city was not a commercial one, there was a great deal of opposition to the gospel. R2211:1

Superfluous -- Paul's suggestion nearly a year before had been well received and zealously entered upon. R5926:6, 2211:4

2 Corinthians 9:2

Forwardness -- Zeal. R5927:2, 2212:1

At first, the Corinthians did not think of volunteering financial assistance to the Apostle, but later the grace of God gave them a zeal to do something financially in the Lord's service. R5927:2, 2211:6

2 Corinthians 9:3

In vain -- A hint that the work zealously begun might not have been patiently carried out. R5926:6, 2211:4

2 Corinthians 9:4

Come with me -- Living at a time when the conveniences for transferring money were very inferior to the very poorest known today, the various congregations could send their gifts only at the hand of the Apostle. R5926:5, 2211:4

2 Corinthians 9:5

Your bounty -- Those who have never learned to give, have failed to rightly appreciate one of our choice privileges and pleasures. R365:6, 2511:2

Systematic charity is better than spasmodic giving. (1 Cor. 16:1, 2) The influence upon the giver is more beneficial. It keeps before the mind a service to be rendered unto the Lord. R5926:6, 2211:5

Whereas the rich of Jerusalem were too proud to follow the humble Nazarene, the poor of the Gentiles were too superstitious; so it was the more prosperous element of Corinth which accepted the Gospel. R5926:3, 2211:2

The books of magic which were burned represented a very large amount of money, verifying the fact that the chiefs of Asia were generally quite wealthy and prominent. R2211:2

Whereof ye had notice before -- The Apostle waited more than a year before he asked alms of these believers, lest they should get the impression that the gospel was being preached from mercenary motives. R5927:1, 2211:6

He sought not their money but themselves, to do them good. R2212:1

This I say -- What Paul says is equally true, whether we sow wild oats or good wheat. R1653:3

Reap also sparingly -- An intimation that absolute privation among the Lord's people may mean that at some time in their past life, when possessed of means, they failed to use a portion in the Lord's service. R5927:3, 2212:1

Some are lean of soul because they have not enough love and reverence. Giving the Lord the fag ends of time and influence, and only a dribble of their talents, their sacrifices cannot be acceptable. R2541:5

The present separation will not only gather out the tares, but it will also gather out those that fail to come in fullness of consecration to the Lord, who must therefore pass through the great tribulation. R2541:6
"Sow to the wind, reap the whirlwind" (Hos. 8:7); "Sow iniquity, reap vanity" (Prov. 22:8) R1653:3

Dig up your talent quickly and make active use of it, lest the King should speedily finish his reckoning with the servants and call you "wicked and slothful." (Matt. 25:26) R547:6

Soweth bountifully -- Liberality, in proportion to ability, would in a large degree be an index of love for the Lord and for the gospel. R5927:1, 2211:6

All who appreciate the "good tidings" feel as did the early Church, that it is a thing so precious that they must declare it. R547:3

"The liberal soul shall be made fat." (Prov. 11:25) R5927:2, 2212:1

The Lord is pleased to see his people cultivate breadth of heart as well as of mind. R5927:2, 2212:1

The giving of time, talent, strength, money or influence in the divine service will result in proportionate abounding in the different graces. R5927:5

Malachi 3:10 reproves and chides for the purpose of stimulating and reviving his people to spend and be spent in the Lord's service, according to their covenant of self-sacrifice. R2541:6

The tithe obligation was commanded to fleshly Israel, but the house of sons has a mind to consecrate all their possessions; the Lord makes us stewards of all which we sacrifice to him. Go, use; I will judge. R2542:1

The Lord esteems our gifts according to the spirit which prompts them, not the amount; the privilege of giving belongs to even the very poorest of the Lord's people. (Luke 21:1-4) R5927:3, 2212:5

In some instances in Scripture, giving has been restrained: no one should give to the extent of causing privation to his dependents, nor to bring financial bankruptcy upon himself or others. R5927:4, 2212:3

Reap also bountifully -- The great blessing which would result from liberality in the Lord's cause. R5927:2, 2212:1

2 Corinthians 9:7

Not grudgingly, or of necessity -- Giving, to be acceptable in the Lord's sight, must be voluntary--free will offerings--"not of constraint."
R2511:2

The work may seem to lag to excite your generosity. R1334:5
Jehovah is not impoverished, and his cause shall not suffer from lack of funds. R450:4

The calls upon us for pecuniary aid were formerly so extensive and burdensome, that when the burden was removed there was a tendency to run to the other extreme and carry no burden at all. R449:2*

Our Father is rich (Hag. 2:8; Psa. 50:10) and will not permit a single saint to go hungry for the bread of life through our unfaithfulness; yet, if we do not minister to the saints, the loss will be ours. R547:3

A cheerful giver -- It is impossible for the Lord's people to grow in the other graces inculcated in his Word without growing also in the grace of benevolence. R2540:3

Very likely, many of the individuals in the Body would, if their attention were called to it, cheerfully contribute that which would be for the growth and perfection of the whole. R449:2*

The original signifies, "The Lord loveth a hilarious (merry) giver."
R3448:5

It gives pleasure to each who has contributed even "two mites" that he has helped to preach the "glad tidings of great joy." R547:3

When the glorious import of the good news comes to be understood and fully comprehended, and we accept of the conditions of the "high calling," we then begin our everlasting, blessed and eternal employment of giving.
R449:3*

A prompt giver--not merely of money, but of everything. R2951:1
Willing giver. R2511:2

Gifts bestowed in any other spirit might just as well not be given. R2212:4
Such will find no difficulty in finding opportunities for contributing to the work they desire to serve. CR118:2

Otherwise there is no blessing. The gift must be a thank-offering to the giver of every good and perfect gift, or it has no "sweet odor." R5927:5, 2212:4

Money raised by the various begging devices is offensive, unacceptable to the Lord, and does not bring his blessing either upon the givers or the work accomplished. R2511:2

As in Malachi 1:8, we are warned not to bring the sick, the lame, the blind sacrifices to the Lord, for that is only "a form" of worship. The fruit of our lips, our service, our money is to be given heartily. R2541:1
We mention this as an aid to self-examination. May we all faithfully judge ourselves regarding the fulfillment of our covenant. R547:3

2 Corinthians 9:8

All grace abound -- The grace of giving is indissolubly attached to all the other graces of God's spirit. R2540:3

Whoever gives anything in the divine service will find himself proportionately abounding in the different graces. R5927:5, 2212:4

Sufficiency in all things -- Not necessarily luxury and every comfort, but "all sufficiency" is gained always where there is "godliness with contentment." (1 Tim. 6:6) R5927:5, 2212:4

We shall never be impoverished while the Almighty God is pouring into the vessel from which we are taking out. R449:6*

After consecration, we no longer ask, "How much should I give to the Lord?" We gave it all to him, and now ask, "How much may I use for myself?" R548:4

2 Corinthians 9:9

As it is written -- In proof that no new theory is being inculcated Paul quotes from the Psalms (112:9). R5927:5, 2212:4,5

Given to the poor -- The new creature is to be on the lookout for the welfare, the interests, the comforts of the weaker and the less able, whereas the self-pleasing world expects the weak to support and uphold the strong. R5926:2

Some are still in want because of famine (Amos 8:11). What a privilege to answer their prayer "Give us this day our daily bread," giving the "meat in due season." Freely receive, freely give the heavenly manna. R548:1

His righteousness remaineth forever -- Where a consecrated child of God can do so, it is far better that he should give spiritual gifts and blessings. R5926:6

2 Corinthians 9:10

The fruits -- These graces, these fruits grow gradually. R455:2

2 Corinthians 9:11

Being enriched -- Not financially, but in heart--rich in hope, faith, love. R5927:5, 2212:5

2 Corinthians 9:12

The administration -- For our benefit, development, and blessing. R1334:5
It is not the Lord's poverty, but his desire to give us an opportunity to be co-workers with him, that is the cause of the seeming poverty of many of his saints and of his treasury. R548:2

If you have been unfaithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches? How can we expect to be entrusted with heavenly things while we set a higher value on earthly things? R450:2,4*

The want of the saints -- The Christians in Jerusalem had suffered economically because of (1) a severe famine, (2) little commerce there, and (3) these brethren had always been poor. R5926:2

The wealthy and learned people of Jerusalem had developed a religious pride; the leaders and theologians could not regard the humble Nazarene and his unlearned followers except as impostors. R2211:2

To strengthen his appeal for the Corinthian brethren's liberality in giving to the saints, Paul reminds them (in the context of these chapters) of the Lord Jesus' gracious favor to them. R1299:1*

It is a privilege to care for the "earthen vessel"; yet more blessed is the feeding of the spiritually hungry with "the bread of life," and clothing them with the "wedding garment" by scattering the truth. R547:6

Unto God -- Not offering our sacrifices to "Churchianity"; this is sacrificing to idols. How can spiritual blessings be expected from God, when the reverence and service are rendered to men and to human institutions? R2541:5

Selfishness is our most imminent danger--our greatest enemy. We must arrange our affairs so that we will sacrifice as much of our time, money and influence as possible to be used in the Master's service. R548:3

Thanks be unto God -- Only the consecrated Church is in any sense prepared to give thanks now for the unspeakable gift. Their thanks go up in words and actions, ascending as sweet incense to God as his blessings and mercies abound. HG595:5; R5927:6

By and by, the whole world of mankind, including those awakened from the sleep of death, will be in a condition to recognize God's unspeakable gift, and bow and praise him for it. HG595:5, 5927:6

His unspeakable gift -- Eternal life through Christ. E285; NS516:4
Our Savior, our Redeemer. R5927:6

Refuting the teaching that it was Christ's pre-existent life that was sacrificed, many scriptures are used, including 1 Tim. 2:5, 6 ("The man Christ Jesus gave himself a ransom"). R1299:2*

Not called for by divine justice, this gift was prompted by divine love. HG595:4

As a gift to the world, Jesus' merit is beyond the power of tongue to tell. HG594:3

To his footstep followers, the Savior is specially an unspeakable gift of God, leading forth these sons of God, his younger brethren, to glory. HG594:3

Not only as Captain of our salvation, or as Bridegroom, is Jesus the unspeakable gift; but as High Priest, his merit imputed to our sacrifices makes them acceptable. HG594:4

It is impossible to tell the riches of God's grace in this connection--the numberless blessings and mercies which are ours through Jesus. HG593:1

This gift was not compulsory; rather, the Logos entered fully into the transaction. He had absolute faith and delight in doing the Father's will.

HG593:2

Only by recognizing that our Lord Jesus is one person and the Heavenly Father another person, can we appreciate how God could give his Son, and how Jesus could consent to be the gift of God. HG592:3

As we discern something of the magnitude of God's great gift, we have the greater desire to be likewise generous with all with whom we have to do, both in temporal and spiritual matters. NS750:2

The thought can only be imperfectly communicated, only imperfectly grasped, and must gradually dawn upon us, grow upon us in appreciation and comprehension. NS516:4

2 Corinthians 10

2 Corinthians 10:4

Weapons of our warfare -- All laboring upon the walls of Zion, as with Nehemiah, need to be equipped with the weapons of 1 Thes. 5:8 and Eph. 6:17 every moment or they will be in danger of being overcome by the Adversary. R3675:6

Are not carnal -- But spiritual. R1744:5

The Lord's great army will use carnal weapons. D543

Carnal weapons are not merely swords, spears and guns, but anger, malice, hatred, strife, and a contesting, combative spirit. R3274:4

There is no commission in the Bible for God's consecrated people to war--to take from others either life or property. R5760:6

The spiritual Israelite fights against a different kind of enemy and with different weapons. R2681:6

We have various weapons of defense given us by our Captain, a helmet of salvation, etc., but we only have one weapon for offensive warfare, the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God. NS239:4

Under the typical Jewish dispensation carnal weapons were proper. R2015:3, 768:4

Mighty through God -- Through the Spirit, the power of God. E250

God's truth is mighty. R3089:5, 1627:5*

Without him we can do nothing, but in him we become eventually mighty through God to the pulling down of the strongholds of error and to the setting up of the Kingdom of God under the whole heavens. NS502:2

Pulling down of strong holds -- Of error. R3675:5

Of error and superstition. R3089:5

Of error and iniquity. R1744:5

Of error and sin. E250; R5592:6, 3858:1

These are in ourselves, sin in our minds, in our imaginations--mental strongholds. R5889:3

The spiritual Israelite is to watch and pray to pull down error and gain victory over sin and self and Satan. R2681:6

Deceptive errors and influences must be pelted to death by the stones of truth. R768:4

Of the devil. CR437:5

2 Corinthians 10:5

Imaginations -- Human reasonings. D543

False doctrines, superstitions--ignorance, pride, unholy ambitions, idle speculations, etc. R5889:3

Every high thing -- Those which exalt themselves against the true knowledge of God, the Spirit of God. R5889:5

Against -- We should not accept any theory that does not prove itself from God's Word, and also be very certain that our heart is empty of self will and plans which we want to see carried out. R1223:1

To wrest the Scriptures in order to establish a theory is a terrible crime. If we begin with a theory we want to prove, the Adversary will be ready to assist us. R1223:1

The knowledge of God -- The members of the Church are required to avail themselves of knowledge, as a part of being copies of God's dear Son, the righteous Servant who shall justify many by his knowledge. (Isa. 53:11) NS506:2

Bringing into captivity -- That we may realize the seductive influences and treachery of our fallen natures and utterly destroy them, and thus come into the condition mentioned by the Apostle. R3103:4, 5646:3, 4527:2
Absolute holiness is to be the standard. R5127:4, 3307:4

This should be our constant aim. He who would be perfect must find his chief delight in learning and doing the will of Christ, even as Christ Jesus delights to do the will of Jehovah. R765:3*

By increased limitations of one's own liberty. F149

Judging ourselves--we scrutinize, criticize, so as to bring our very thoughts into captivity. R4524:1

Setting guards upon their lives, those who have suffered disease of the soul can manifest to themselves and others that they have sought and used Jesus' assistance in gaining victories over their weaknesses. F149

The saints' weapons are mighty among those who are influenced by them (to the true people of God, his Word is sharper than any two-edged sword) but these weapons do not operate upon the world thus. D543

Every thought -- And so far as possible, every word and act. R2878:3

Wishes, desires of our hearts. R2480:5, 5127:4; CR432:4

If we are filled with love there is no room left in our hearts for evil.

R4241:4*

Whatever things are pure, lovely, etc., think on these things. (Phil.

4:8) R1802:5*

The subjection of the Church to Christ is a willing subjection, inspired by love, veneration, gratitude, implicit confidence and trust in his superior wisdom to do what is best for us. R1552:5

This is the holiness that belongs to the Temple class. CR458:4

Through all his tribulations the Apostle pressed toward the mark for the prize of the high calling. The mark to be attained was the holiness which brings every thought into captivity to God and Christ. R1885:2

The Vow has helped many in this respect. R4227:3

Obedience of Christ -- To the will of God in Christ. R5488:2, 5127:4, 2480:5

He who would be perfect must find his chief delight in learning and doing the will of Christ, even as Christ Jesus delights to do the will of Jehovah. It should be his constant aim. R1075:3,4

Obedience to the Lord's Word is the first condition of acceptance with him. R2415:6, 2416:1

Heart-loyalty to the Lord requires effort. It is our first duty, our continual duty, the end of duty. "Be ye holy, for I am holy." "This is the will of God, your sanctification." (1 Pet. 1:16; 1 Thess. 4:3) R5127:4, 4524:1, 765:3

In proportion to our zeal for the Lord, will we be zealous in putting down all idols. R2381:4

2 Corinthians 10:7

Even so are we Christ's -- False brethren had charged that Paul was not Christ's servant. (2 Cor. 11:23) R4517:6

2 Corinthians 10:8

For though I should boast -- False brethren had charged that Paul was given to self-commendation (2 Cor. 3:1; 5:12). R4517:6

2 Corinthians 10:10

His bodily presence -- Greek: parousia; one of two places where properly rendered "presence." B158, 159; R2979:1; HG24:4

Contemptible -- Intimating that Paul was but lightly esteemed at Corinth. R3127:3

2 Corinthians 10:11

In deed when we are present -- Paul declares he would speak in the same denunciatory manner if he were present with them. R2514:4

2 Corinthians 10:12

Measuring themselves by themselves -- We are not to measure ourselves by one another, but by the standard "Be ye perfect, even as your Father."
(Matt. 5:48) R5123:4

2 Corinthians 10:14

We stretch not ourselves -- False brethren had charged that Paul assumed unauthorized authority. R4517:6

We would like to awaken the foolish virgins to a realization of their proper position and need of prompt action and redoubled energy in cleansing the robe and embroidering it. SM260:1

2 Corinthians 11

2 Corinthians 11:2

I am jealous -- Not a mean jealousy, but an earnest, anxious solicitude and vigilant watchfulness--a godly jealousy. R4789:4

Over you -- It is evident that the entire faithful Church is meant.
R1386:1; CR214:3

The Church's present work is to make herself ready. (Rev. 19:7) F608

With godly jealousy -- Paul was jealous for the things that were right and that the Church should be in accord with them. R4789:4

A jealousy we all should feel in the Church--be very sure, however, it is not jealousy of another, but jealousy for another. R4789:5

I have espoused you -- The consecrated Church. HG409:2

In the Jewish custom the espousal is the real marriage, accompanied by a definite contract which became absolutely binding forthwith. F74; SM122:T

In the present time the Lord's people are spoken of as the betrothed or espoused, never as the married wife or joint-heir. NS291:6

The Redeemer has appeared in the presence of God for us, the Church, and thus, as our Advocate has made it possible for us to become his Bride.

R4997:1

The promise to Jesus' faithful followers is that they shall be counted with him as his "Bride." R2859:6

We have entered into a special contract with our Heavenly Father to become the Bride of his Son. CR214:4

The beautiful imagery of Psa. 45:10, 11 relates to the elect Church of this Gospel age, pictured as a Bride, the spouse, and ultimately wife of the great King Immanuel. SM251:2

It is the Church of the future, after the resurrection, that is designated the Bride, the married wife. NS291:2

As the consecration of the Lord's people and their begetting of the holy Spirit constitute the betrothal to Christ, so the glorification of the first resurrection will constitute their marriage to him. NS295:1

The Revelator's picture of the Spirit and the Bride saying "Come" to whosoever will is future, for now there is no Bride. R3496:5

Abraham typified the rich heavenly Father; Isaac typified the Lord Jesus, heir of all; Abraham's servant was sent to find Isaac a wife, typifying the Church, which the Apostle here addresses. R3867:6

Abraham's servant represents the divine message, the Spirit of the Word of truth, sent forth of God, to gather during the Gospel age a people, who shall constitute the Bride. R2861:4

During Moses' absence (from Pharaoh's domain), he married a Gentile wife. In the interval between Christ's first and second advents, he selects a wife from among the Gentiles--the Gospel Church, the Bride. R1652:1

To one husband -- This saintly class is already vitally united with Jesus. OV126:2

To the Jewish house Jesus presented himself in three characters--as Bridegroom, Reaper, and King. To the Christian house he presents himself in the same three characters. B238

A chaste virgin -- The true Church is a virgin. R2047:1

All who as "wise virgins" continue faithful to the espousal vows. R1386:1

One who will recognize no other Lord than Jesus and call herself by no other name than his. NS294:5

The Church of Christ in its present condition; not the Bride of Christ until the Bridegroom's presence when the marriage of the Lamb shall take place and the marriage supper shall follow. (Rev. 19:9) Q838:2

The Bride of Christ is everywhere spoken of as a "chaste virgin," and never as impure or in unholy alliance with the world (a harlot). R399:4

The contrast is those nominally betrothed to Christ but really associated with the world, figuratively called harlots. NS294:5

The true Church of Christ, the "chaste virgin," the "Bride, the Lamb's wife" (Rev. 21:9), contrasted to the false churches represented as corrupt and debauched women. (Rev. 17:1-5; Rev. 21:9-11) Q842:5

The Spirit is choosing a Bride for Christ during the Gospel age; at the end, the marriage is consummated; during the Millennial age, the Spirit and the Bride (the Church) say, Come. R137:3

This is the same class sometimes referred to as the Church, the Bride of Christ who says "Come and partake of the waters of life freely," (Rev. 22:17) also symbolized as a beautiful city. Q789:2

Typified by Rebecca. F170, 363; R3867:6, 1386:2

The typical circumstances of Abraham calling a bride for his son is an illustration for the calling of the Gospel Church as a chaste virgin to be the help-meet and joint-heir with the true Isaac--Jesus. R609:5
Unity by returning to the Catholic church is not the solution. The "one church, one faith, one baptism" (Eph. 4:5) must be built upon the foundation of truth, not on any denomination. Our union is with the Lord. R4755:6

To Christ -- No virgin is a member of the body of her espoused husband until united to him in marriage. R493:4*

2 Corinthians 11:3

But I fear -- "Let us fear lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it." (Heb. 4:1)
R3331:3

We stand in constant fear for those who have failed to perform the symbol after having realized the true significance of baptism. R396:5

Serpent beguiled Eve -- Contrary to the teachings of many modern theologians. A61

This is one of many instances in which Paul wrote of his belief in the fall of man from a state of perfection, a doctrine contrary to the teachings of Evolution. R1799:4

By Satan's first great lie: "Ye shall not surely die"--God has deceived you, nobody dies. (Gen. 3:4, 5) R5909:6

Eve was deceived. Adam sinned knowingly. R866:1

Into thinking of the Almighty as ignoble and selfish, conspiring against the interests of his creatures and threatening them with death which the old serpent had assured her God was unable to inflict. NS549:5

The temptation put before Eve was an easy acquirement of knowledge. R728:2

Satan's general procedure is to put darkness for light--to deceive, to mislead. R3925:6

Whoever helps to blind others concerning "Christ in you"--that this is the only basis for your "hope of glory"--is beguiling them of the prize; for if any loses sight of it, he will cease to strive for it. R4535:5

The Apostle has forewarned the Church of an effort of the Adversary to beguile the second Eve, the prospective Bride of the second Adam. R1024:6

Lion-like, he springs upon us unawares. Serpent-like, he assumes a pleasing aspect and endeavors to beguile us. Our vigilant Adversary could gain an advantage over us which we may not be able to resist. R1053:6

Through is subtilty -- The English word "through" is translated from the Greek word en. In scriptures, en may mean "in," "by," "with" or "under."

We judge which English word best translates the Greek original by its context. R826:3

Cunning. R2180:3

With crafty sophistry. R910:3

One of the Adversary's seductions is curiosity. It was Eve's curiosity and her fearlessness to disobey the Lord's command that got her into difficulty. R2389:2

So your minds -- The Corinthian Church had been beset by false teachers and their faith in Paul's teaching was shaken. R551:5

So now the Church, the second Eve, is tempted to forsake all the truths of God's Word, and to seek other wisdom. R1257:1

Should be corrupted -- Those who are not ignorant of Satan's ways expect, and find, more subtle snares than ever before laid to entrap them. R1335:6

Through the same denial of God's sentence against sinners. R911:1

From the simplicity -- Purity. R2180:3

Simple truth. R867:1

In Christ -- Christ's doctrine. R1442:4, 1024:6*

Preacheth another Jesus -- The apostles continually sought to put believers on their guard against false teachers. R910:1

This does not signify they will deny our Lord as a person, nor deny his Lordship or authority over the Church. R910:2

Another gospel -- Built upon a different foundation--not on the ransom. R3820:5

Theosophy, Evolution, New Theology. R5137:2

2 Corinthians 11:5

For I suppose -- Paul felt a duty toward the truth which led him to state in no uncertain terms his apostleship. R5941:6

Paul labored hard with the Church at Corinth. To have them fail to make progress in the truth because they thought him incompetent seemed to him to be a pity. R5942:1

Not a whit behind -- In understanding of the divine program. R5941:6

God brought forth Paul to succeed Judas. R5830:3

Jesus chose Paul and ordained him to be an apostle (Rom. 1:5); and since all the apostles must be eye witnesses of Jesus' resurrection, Paul was caused to see him. R162:5

"He is a chosen vessel unto me." (Acts 9:15) F209

Sometimes Paul pointed to the Lord's blessing in connection with his revelations and ministries. F216

At the time the early Church attempted communism, Paul (who would become the twelfth apostle, replacing Judas) had not yet had his eyes open to the truth of the gospel. R5850:1

Chiefest apostles -- Having had special visions and revelations which the other apostles did not have. F215; A27; R5941:5, 552:1

False brethren had charged that Paul had falsely assumed to be one of the ambassadors of Christ (2 Cor. 12:1). R4517:6, 5941:6

The apostles alone are authorized as mouthpieces of the Lord Jesus Christ and his Church to the world. R5588:1

God never recognized any but twelve apostles. It was never designed that there should be any more (Rev. 21:14). The names of the twelve apostles (no more) are mentioned in connection with the foundations. R162:5

2 Corinthians 11:6

Rude in speech -- Paul was inferior to Apollos and some others in oratory. R365:2

2 Corinthians 11:7

Committed an offence -- You doubtless, thought I sacrificed the dignity of the office of an apostle by the things which I suffered for your sake.

R552:1

Freely -- Lest they should get the impression the gospel was being preached from mercenary motives. R5927:1, 2211:6

The traveling "elders" all seem to have strenuously avoided asking or receiving anything from those whom they were seeking to win to Christ.

R1822:4

2 Corinthians 11:8

I robbed other churches -- Paul was explaining to the Corinthians that others had been more careful to look after his necessities than they.

R2514:4

Taking wages -- He used some of the Philippians' gifts to him to help out. R619:5*

2 Corinthians 11:9

And wanted -- Being physically weak (1 Cor. 2:3), possibly ailing to such an extent as to be unable to work, he was in want. R3143:5

Chargeable to no man -- He never so much as asked assistance while with them. R2514:3, 2211:6

Macedonia supplied -- Voluntarily. F288

The Philippians--no other Church is mentioned as having aided Paul.

R5846:2, 3127:2

Internally, false brethren made various charges against St. Paul. They reproached him for having worked at his trade and received gifts from Macedonia, saying he should have urged his needs upon the Corinthians.

R4518:1

He would not have refused assistance from the Corinthian brethren if it had been tendered. R2514:3

Paul explained that others had been more careful of his welfare than they and had a corresponding blessing. R2514:4

From being burdensome -- Paul made no request for personal assistance, however much he may have been in need. R5810:3, 2227:6, 2211:6

He was willing to present the Word of God without charge so that his ministry would be more impressive, exhibiting the fact that he sought not their money but their highest welfare. R2514:3

The Apostle did not desire a gift, but realized that whoever receives the truth must be generous and do his share in forwarding it, or he will go backward and lose blessings and light already received. R2514:4

Traveling elders like Paul were sometimes supported by contributions of those previously served but seem to have strenuously avoided asking or receiving from those whom they were seeking to win to Christ. R1822:4

And so will I keep myself -- Paul had confidence the Lord would supply his necessities in the best way. R2514:3

The truth of Christ is in me -- We look to Paul as our example, who, when misrepresented and opposed by brethren who had deserted the cross, explained that all his actions had been for the Lord's glory. R1235:6

Boasting -- Paul boasted not of himself but of things others would think to be for his shame--his sufferings for Christ. R5942:1

2 Corinthians 11:13

False apostles -- "Wandering stars." (Jude 3; Rev. 2:2) D594

There were never more than twelve; any others were false. F209

We are not to recognize bishops whom Satan has deluded into thinking that they have apostolic power (apostolic succession). Jesus declares that they are false apostles and do lie (Rev. 2:2). R5347:2

The only annoyance ever manifested by the apostle Paul was upon his misrepresentation of false brethren. R3820:5

Their teachings served as siftings to draw off those who were not Israelites indeed. R2206:2

As in olden times there were false prophets among God's people, so there will be also false teachers among us. (2 Pet. 2:1) R1663:6*

Whether knowingly or ignorantly, they are serving Satan and error. R910:3

The apostles continually sought to put believers on their guard against false teachers. R910:1

Use and experience will teach you how to measure any new view presented.

If its foundation is out of square, stop there. You have proved it to be false. To handle it further is to run a great risk. R867:2

Deceitful workers -- Pretending to bring in "new light." R5800:5, 1643:1; SM133:2

By cunning sophistries, wrapped in fragments of truth, to deceive, if it were possible, the very elect. R882:6

Transforming themselves -- Imitating. R5848:6*

Apostles of Christ -- Some of the ministers of Satan are thought to be ministers of God. R5259:1

Those whom the Adversary has used to advance errors, have always been loud in their professions of faith in the Lord. R910:2

2 Corinthians 11:14

For Satan himself -- Whose very existence is now being denied by many. See 2 Cor. 2:11; 4:4. F609

Who makes himself to appear a leader amongst the children of light. R5981:5

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

We have a cunning, "wily" foe in Satan, and must keep close to our Shepherd if we would be delivered out of temptation and from the power of the Evil One. F610

False doctrine shall always be sugar-coated. R2852:5

In the present time there are two great opposing forces in conflict, Christ and Satan. All mankind are serving one of them. Many, on both sides, serve ignorantly. R1948:1

The main attack is on the ransom. R1335:3

As each new ray of light shines out, Satan counterfeits it with rays of false light. R910:4

Is transformed -- In order to fight the truth and destroy its influence. Aii

Makes himself to appear a leader amongst the children of light. R5981:4

The Adversary appeared, not as an enemy, but as a friend to the Master. R4970:3

The Adversary's method is to simulate, or counterfeit, the voice of the Shepherd. R3163:3

For the accomplishment of his purposes there is no measure of hypocrisy which he would spurn. R1687:4

He becomes a teacher along what might be termed good lines--he is aware that nothing wholly false could succeed. SM323:1

As Rome transformed itself from heathenism and claimed to be Christian. A259

An angel -- So as to exercise greater influence over humanity and thereby inculcate more successfully false doctrines. R4979:6

Feigning works of mercy and goodness to bolster his tottering kingdom. R3275:1

One of the delights of demons is to personate the pure, the good. R4070:1
When the Master was weakened, through fasting, at the end of the forty days, the Adversary appeared--not as an enemy and a fiend of darkness, but as a friend, professing interest in the Savior's welfare and work. R4970:3
Particularly within the past fifty years. F623

That he may preach false gospels and perform "many wonderful works," healing, etc.--Christian Science, Spiritism, Theosophy. R1736:4; B157
Matt. 24:23-26 describes happenings during Jesus' presence. If Satan is transformed, appearing as an angel of light, and if we look for Jesus to come in the flesh, it would be an easy matter to be deceived. R171:1*

Of light -- Messenger of truth. R551:5, 370:6

Minister of righteousness. Q623:T

Seldom or never does our Adversary commence with open error or direct infidelity--he seeks to clothe himself with a mixture of truth. R494:3

Satan knows that error and sin will repel the children of light. R5184:1

Evidently he has had much to do with formulating the creeds of Christendom. R5184:3

He associates eternal torture with moral platitudes and church work.

R2852:5

Older sects are well defined, plainly presenting their errors; we understand them. Newer forms of doctrine feign reverence, humility, allegiance to the Lord--as messengers of truth--then deny him. R3185:3

In the guise of Spiritism. B157

Some have come into a "new light" which declares that the Holy One, Jehovah, is the author and instigator of "all sin, wickedness and crime."

R1800:2

2 Corinthians 11:15

No great thing -- Not to be wondered at. R5848:6

His ministers -- The most insidious and dangerous "enemies of the cross of Christ" (Phil. 3:18) are those who, professing to be his servants and preaching his gospel, attack it on the inside by denying it. R1719:4

The servants of the arch enemy may be willful or ignorant. R1335:3

Satan sends his ministers preaching "another gospel" and "perverting the gospel of Christ." (Gal. 1:6, 7) R760:1

Also be transformed -- Error always presents itself as truth. R753:3

Romanism wears a garment of light--where necessary. R994:1

Ministers of righteousness -- Who represent themselves as messengers of truth. R1025:1*, 882:6

The apostles of Satan are not saloon-keepers and white slave traffickers, but for the most part "ordained" ministers. R5848:5*

Paul warns against those teachers, to put the brethren on guard lest they be injured by false teachings. R3820:6

Authority is given not in his own name, but in the name of God, at the hands of the apostate church. R1094:6

2 Corinthians 11:19

Ye suffer fools gladly -- The louder a man boasts of himself and the more domineering he becomes the more will he be revered. R3286:2

2 Corinthians 11:20

For ye suffer -- The more a religious teacher brow-beats you and the more he exacts from you of money and reverence, the more you esteem him. R3286:2

2 Corinthians 11:21

I speak foolishly -- Foolish boasting--Paul did not approve of boasting. He boasted not of himself but of things others would think to be for his shame. R5942:1

2 Corinthians 11:22

So am I -- False brethren had charged that Paul was unpatriotic and had fallen away from the faith. R4517:6
They even asked if it were certain Paul was a Hebrew at all--of pure blood--if he were not a Gentile in whole or in part. R4518:1

2 Corinthians 11:23

I speak as a fool -- The Apostle was narrating his experiences for our benefit, not as a matter of boasting. Q613:4
See verse 21.

I am more -- False brethren had charged that Paul was not Christ's servant. (2 Cor. 10:7) R4517:6

The leading servants in the early Church did not act like lords but served and were persecuted. R1523:6

Paul now lists his Christian experience, not just feelings of ecstasy, nor sitting quietly and letting the Spirit of God work in his heart, but "wisdom gained from practice," as a doer of the Word. R1022:4*

In labours more abundant -- Than the other apostles. R552:2

In stripes above measure -- Paul's zeal for the Lord and the brethren, and his willingness in laying down his life for them--in spending time and energy for them--testify to his worthiness to rank as an equal of any Apostle. F216

Through all these tribulations the Apostle pressed toward the mark for the prize of the high calling. R1885:1, 5851:1

2 Corinthians 11:25

Thrice -- One of the times was at Philippi, after Paul cast a demon out of a slave girl. R3123:1

Beaten with rods -- The apostles were not treated like lords of God's heritage. F231

I suffered shipwreck -- The Apostle had advised that it would be unsafe to sail on. This may have been the result of inspiration, but was possibly the result of his own judgment or experience or his contact with sailors. R3204:3

2 Corinthians 11:26

In perils -- To Paul these things were the marks of divine love and favor. R5942:1

Among false brethren -- Paul had his severest trials from "false brethren." R3820:4

More than the sarcastic, bitter threats of the scribes and Pharisees, or Satan's temptations, or open enemies, it was most sorrowful when Jesus' bosom disciples forsook him and one of them betrayed him. R3820:4
It is possible for human mouths to do us more harm than the mouths of brute beasts. R2502:5

False brethren will become the Church's greatest peril in these last times. R1319:3

Brethren of the closest imaginable relationship--fellow-members of the Body of Christ. SM219:T

The professed Church of Christ. (Isa. 66:5; Matt. 7:21-23) SM222:1

2 Corinthians 11:27

In weariness and painfulness -- Paul furnishes a noble example for our imitation. R1041:4
In fastings often -- Some may have been enforced fastings, because of Paul's service of the truth. R2022:5

2 Corinthians 11:28

The care of all the churches -- Particularly those which he had been the means of establishing, or who accepted his ministry, either in person or by letter. R3172:1

Upon Paul devolved the care of all the churches of the Gentiles, and great were the responsibilities of his office. R1744:3

Paul left Timothy as a sort of successor in this capacity. R4526:3

Sometimes Scripture counts a part of a thing as though it were the whole.

Thus, any number of the living Church assembled together in any place may properly be called the Church of that place. R1893:5

2 Corinthians 11:30

Of the things -- Paul mentions not one word about praying for the removal of these by divine power. R2009:3

Concern mine infirmities -- See 2 Cor. 12:10.

2 Corinthians 11:33

Escaped his hands -- We may use all lawful and legal means in our self-defense, and may even wisely run away from dangers and persecutors (Matt. 10:23), but we are not authorized to retaliate. R3738:3

2 Corinthians 12

2 Corinthians 12:1

I will come -- False brethren had charged that Paul had falsely assumed to be one of the ambassadors of Christ. (2 Cor. 11:5) R4517:6

Visions and revelations -- The Apostle's mind thus illuminated, he was able to write with great intelligence, clearness and power. Nearly all of our knowledge of the deep things comes from Paul's epistles. R5339:4; F215, 216

The Lord more than made up to Paul what he lacked to make him a competent and reliable witness to us. R1523:1, 1472:5, 1148:4, 665:5, 435:2

Not due and hence not permitted to be plainly expressed in Paul's day. R1525:6, 551:6

Hypnotism is now being used to make the visions and revelations granted the apostles appear very ordinary. R2033:2

Of the Lord -- Paul did not preach foolish speculations or human reasonings because of the popular craving for something new. He confined himself to the Scriptures and to exhortations inspired by revelations made to him. R1719:6

2 Corinthians 12:2

Caught up -- Caught away down the stream of time. A70

Caught away (in the spirit--that is, mentally). R900:6

Snatched away. R529:1*

To the third heaven -- To the new condition of things as they will be under the spiritual control of Christ. A70; HG539:2

The Millennial reign of Christ. R1744:3, 1558:3, 551:6, 529:2*; A70

A glimpse of the next dispensation, "the world to come." HG539:2

"New heavens." (2 Pet. 3:13) R2832:2; Q830:T; HG539:2

2 Corinthians 12:3

I cannot tell -- Paul saw things so vividly he could not tell whether it was physical or merely mental. R551:6; A70; HG539:2

2 Corinthians 12:4

Into paradise -- "A new earth." (2 Pet. 3:13) R2832:2; Q830:T

The new earth brought to perfection under restitution blessings. R2832:1; D648

The new dispensation or Kingdom of God where he saw things to come. R900:6

As our Lord knew matters fully after he was begotten of the holy Spirit, so Paul was caught away to the third heaven and received knowledge of wonderful things. R5066:1

Unspeakable words -- Doubtless the plan and purpose of God, as now made manifest in this harvest period. R1744:3, 901:1

It is not lawful -- He must not explain these visions; their meaning was a secret entrusted to him. R5339:4

Not then due to be understood by the Church in general. R2832:1, 1744:3, 901:1, 551:6

Paul is the clearest eye the Church has ever had, though he was not permitted to make known what he saw; but his writings have a rich depth and fullness possessed by no other New Testament writer. R365:1

Doubtless these were the same things which John afterward saw and was permitted to express to the Church in symbols, which may only be understood as they become due. A70

For a man to utter -- Not to be uttered clearly because it was not yet the due time. R900:6

But the illumination which they gave to the apostle's mind has through his writings been reflected, giving a force, shading, and depth of meaning to his words. F215; A27; R901:1; NS557:3; OV6:1

Paul had the gift or office of revelation in a remarkable degree, being in visions and revelations of the Lord more abundant than they all. R365:1

From this standpoint of knowledge he was able to guide the Church by his teachings all through the age--from the beginning down to the closing days of her course. R901:1

2 Corinthians 12:5

I will not glory -- Paul did not approve of boasting. He boasted not of himself, but of things others would think to be for his shame. R5942:1

2 Corinthians 12:6

Tischendorf writes regarding relative values of ancient manuscripts: "2 Cor. 4:13-12:6 are not found in the Alexandrine Codex." R1147:2

2 Corinthians 12:7

Exalted above measure -- The "thorn" was left as a reminder of previous error and hence served to keep Paul humble. R1540:4, 5933:5, 5416:6, 4821:5, 3794:1

In God's dealings with his people at all times we can see his care in guarding them against pride and self-sufficiency. R1920:6

The abundance of the revelations -- The broad view of God's plan thus given to the Apostle enabled him to realize the real position of the saints, and the weighty interests involved in their development as members of the Body of Christ. R901:1

The writings of the twelve apostles were especially supervised by the Lord, and their doctrinal utterances inspired. SM672:3; OV412:1

Thorn in the flesh -- In a measure a retribution, a correction. R5933:5, 5624:4

Not the sufferings of Christ. R5117:4

Kept him in remembrance of the great blunder he made in his zeal without knowledge, and of the Lord's mercy to him. R4356:6, 5416:6, 4821:5

Paul's Christian brethren would have gladly plucked out their own eyes for him. Although a learned man, Paul wrote very few of his own epistles and was largely dependent upon his companions. R2825:1

Following his blindness in the way to Damascus, Paul's sight was never again normal. History has styled him the "bleared-eye Jew." This would explain why Paul did not baptize more of his converts. (1 Cor. 1:14)

Figurative--an affliction. R1540:4, 435:6

Messenger of Satan -- Physical sufferings resulting from heredity are ministers of Satan. R5117:4

It came not from the hand of the Lord, though by his permission. R1744:3

To buffet me -- To tempt, annoy. A68

Trying his patience, his humility, etc. F651

To oppose, cause much difficulty. R5117:4

To polish. SM324:2

Because Satan is the prince (ruler) of the present evil world, evil prospers and the wicked flourish. He has no interest in Jesus' followers except to oppose, tempt, annoy and buffet them. HG538:3

2 Corinthians 12:8

Besought the Lord thrice -- The saints are never invited to pray for their own physical healing. R2837:6; F651

The Lord did not answer the first and second time. CR468:5; R2006:6

That it might depart -- In all the records we find no instance of the exercise of the gift of healing on behalf of any of the apostles or any of the Church. R2006:6, 5624:4, 1754:6

2 Corinthians 12:9

My grace -- My favor. R1745:1

Spiritual, not earthly favors. R2009:3

Sometimes our Lord may be pleased to grant physical relief and at other times he may do as he did to Paul--give us the more grace to bear the physical ills. R2281:1

Instead of removing the difficulty, the Lord promised the more grace, the more strength, the more endurance to meet the difficulty. R4433:5, 5952:4; CR468:5

The Lord gives consolation of heart that will enable his children to rejoice in tribulation. R5758:4

If the Lord's grace is proportionate to our trials, let us receive with rejoicing all the trials he may send that we may have the more of his grace. R4184:6

His grace justifies us, by his grace we will have part in the divine nature. CR469:6

Is sufficient -- God would give Paul that which would be better for him as a new creature. R5624:4

It shall cost us our earthly life--laying down our lives in God's service for the brethren, and in doing good unto all men as we have opportunity; but he promises us succor and every needed assistance. F374

To the faithful, in every time of need, he will make up the deficiency. R5437:4, 5477:2; Q440:T

"I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." (Heb. 13:5) R5058:3

I will be with thee in six troubles, and in the seventh I will not forsake thee. (Job 5:19) R4784:2

"I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me." (Phil. 4:13) R1558:5

What trials and difficulties he does not remove from us, he permits for wise and loving purposes. R4433:5

Grace is helpful in all things, taking away of the thorn would have been relief in only one. R4433:5, 5963:2

The moment of discouragement is the opportune moment for the discouraged one to recognize his need of the Savior and to cry unto him, and forthwith receive the re-enforcements promised. NS619:6

On the eve of the Apostle's departure to Jerusalem, the Adversary was permitted to stir up persecution. The Apostle knew "All things work together for good." (Rom. 8:28) R4432:1

It was not necessary for the Apostle to say one unkind word in reference to the goddess Diana. It is not necessary for us to do or say a single unkind word or act toward our friends in Babylon. R4433:1

This would not mean that we might not sometimes fall into temptation. R5668:6

For thee -- All of us who are of the one Body and energized by its one Spirit. R4433:2

My strength -- There is a wonderful power in the religion of Jesus, our Redeemer. R4432:6

Be of good cheer; I have overcome. (John 16:33) A214

The weakest are provided for, the strongest get what they need--no one is required to do more than he is able to perform. R5886:4

Our source of strength when battling with the current of life is never to be forgotten--"When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee." (Isa. 43:2) R4005:4

We have much advantage over the apostles prior to Pentecost. That was before their anointing of the holy Spirit, whereas our testings come to us at the time we are of the anointed Body. R4167:6

The more we exercise faith, the more of it we will have, becoming stronger in the Lord and in the power of his might; thus by divine grace and under the Master's assistance we come off conquerors. R2568:5

Made perfect in weakness -- Made manifest in your weakness. R1745:1, 5510:1; HG652:3

This is one of the "exceeding great and precious promises" (2 Pet. 1:4) upon which we may stand when tempted in any line or to any degree. R1802:5*

This is the secret of every successful Christian life. R5942:4, 1745:1

Our weaknesses and imperfections are covered by our Redeemer's robe of righteousness, which constitutes our "wedding garment." Thus we stand before the Father complete in the Beloved. R5855:3

My strength, operating through this imperfect earthen vessel, will be more manifest to men than if the vessel were a perfect and polished one. R1920:6

If Paul's thorn had been removed, permitting him to take back his consecration to sacrifice, it would mean his letting go of spiritual blessings which God bestows upon us when we sacrifice earthly things. R4433:4

As we note our progress in the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit, let us rejoice if the progress was great, and lament the fact if it was small, but not to the degree of discouragement or surrender. R4100:5

If we knew of our future trials, we should be unjustly overwhelmed, but as we take one step after another we find God's promises true: We are sustained. We have no more than we can bear. We can overcome. R4164:3

The hour of temptation would deceive the very elect if it were possible, but it will not be possible because of their love and zeal and the consequent blessings that divine favor will provide for them. R4167:6

This chapter gives examples of Christian experience--keeping ourselves unspotted from the world as we put off the old man, growing in grace and knowledge, and laboring in the Lord's vineyard. R1022:4

Charmed with the prospect of becoming "joint-heirs of Jesus Christ," believers are not daunted by the trials and difficulties of the way, especially when they hear the Redeemer's Word encouraging them. HG652:3

Most gladly therefore -- If having the affliction meant more divine grace, then Paul was content. R4356:6

I rather glory -- Paul had more abundant revelations than the other apostles, and he had made more converts and established more churches, but it was his sufferings he considered most important. R552:1

Since I shall have correspondingly more of the grace of God wherewith to resist them and be profited by them. SM324:2

My infirmities -- Physical restitution is not the hope set before the "Little Flock." R749:4, 2364:6

May rest upon me -- Work through Paul as a ready instrument--meek, willing, and energetic. R1921:1

The more our enemies assail and falsely charge us with evil, the more the Lord blesses us and his work under our care. R4660:6

2 Corinthians 12:10

I take pleasure -- Paul was a strong character, naturally positive and firm. He ruled himself. When the truth reached him, he was firm and steady. He is a noble example of steadfastness, endurance, untiring zeal, devotion. R1041:4

When I am weak -- When fully loyal to the Lord, I feel my own weakness and insufficiency. R5550:5

When I realize my own weakness and cannot successfully battle alone against the flesh and its infirmities. R5510:1, 3667:4; CR437:5

This was really the strength of Solomon's character--he was meek, teachable, like a little child. R5714:6

Then -- God's grace is sufficient for all God's people when their weakness is recognized and confessed and abhorred, and his mercy appreciated, sought, and accepted. R4821:5

Am I strong -- And reversely, "when I am strong in self-assurance, I am then weak." R4379:1, 2878:2

The moment when we feel self-confident is the dangerous one. R3667:5

By reason of his assistance, we are stronger in the power of the Lord's might than we could have been in our own strength. (Eph. 6:10) R3667:5

By relying upon the Lord for grace and help and guidance and strength. R3667:5, 5550:5, 5510:1,4

He shall divide the spoil with the strong. (Isa. 53:12) R3592:1

2 Corinthians 12:11

In nothing am I behind -- In the understanding of the divine program. R5941:6

Since all apostles must be eye witnesses of Jesus resurrection, Paul was caused to see Jesus. God never recognized any but twelve apostles. Rev. 21:14 speaks of the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb. R162:5

There were eleven apostles until St. Paul was received of the Lord. We have them still with us represented by their teachings. R5831:3
Though I be nothing -- It is Christ in me. R552:1

2 Corinthians 12:12

Truly the signs -- Greek, seemion; proof or evidence. D598
Of an apostle -- While some plume themselves with the conceit that they have that ministration now in all its fullness, to Paul, "the ministration of the Spirit" was an object of hope. R1323:5*
In all patience -- This scripture is listed with Jas. 5:10, 11 and 2 Cor. 6:4-10 as a notable example of patience. R3585:4

2 Corinthians 12:14

Not be burdensome -- "I have coveted no man's silver or gold or apparel." (Acts 20:33) F287
Not yours, but you -- Paul was laying down his life for the brethren--our object should be like his. R3143:4
But the parents -- Implying reasonable forethought and provision on the part of parents for those whom they have brought into being. R2488:1; F578
In one sense, God is the Father of the whole human race. A good father educates his children. The fact that he has not yet had these children instructed in Christ shows that his due time for this is future. R33:3*
For the children -- Includes not only food and raiment, but also intellectual and moral instructions. The child fairly well born and who receives a reasonable education and guidance to maturity has a rich legacy in himself. F578

Be spent for you -- This and Eph. 4:28 ("give to him that needeth") should be obeyed as nearly as possible, whatever our circumstances. It is well to use the spirit of a sound mind in attaining enough to be able to give. R2513:2

2 Corinthians 12:16

I did not burden you -- False brethren had insinuated that the collections taken for the poor at Jerusalem were probably in part, at least, for Paul. R4518:1
Being crafty -- Wise as a serpent, harmless as a dove (Matt. 10:16), Paul exercised wisdom in his method of dealing with those whom he desired to bless, hiding from them for a time truths which they could not appreciate. R3675:1

We should take advantage of our hearers' present religious views, as Paul did. R825:4

Caught you with guile -- Paul quotes his enemies as charging him with guile. An evil mind can put an evil construction on the noblest words and deeds. R3675:1

2 Corinthians 12:18

Walked we not -- They were walking in the spirit and steps of the Master. R3238:4

All in this pathway have the same spirit, mind or disposition--to do the Father's will and to serve his cause. R3238:4

Backbitings -- Evil speaking, backbiting, slandering are strictly forbidden, even if the evil be true. R4803:1

Professed Christians are often the most pronounced scandalmongers. R4803:1

2 Corinthians 13

2 Corinthians 13:4

By the power of God -- "Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father." God "raised up Jesus from the dead." "God hath raised up the Lord." (Rom. 6:4; 8:11; 1 Cor. 6:14) R2037:5

2 Corinthians 13:5

Examine yourselves -- "Try your own selves"--look at your present condition as compared with your past. R1516:2*, 1516:3*

For the "witness" of chiselings polishings, prunings, disciplines, chastisements. E232

Whether I am something or nothing in God's estimation is to be measured by my love for him, his brethren, his cause, the world in general, and even my enemies, rather than my knowledge. R4917:6

In the faith -- "The faith" is much more than belief, confidence, or trust. It involves much more than acceptance of Jesus' sacrifice as the at-one-ment. It also involves having Jesus' sacrificing spirit. R759:2*
Trials of faith can come when subtle errors are presented as advanced truth. R3104:2

Christ is in you -- No real child of God is devoid of this evidence of his adoption. R3251:5

Be ye reprobates -- No longer acceptable to God. R3251:4

2 Corinthians 13:8

Against the truth -- Our consciences will not permit us to compromise where principles are involved, though we should gladly be the readiest of all to compromise where principle is not involved. R4022:5

Whoever intelligently, willfully, heartily does anything against the truth is in serious danger. R3894:3

Some of the Lord's people are not as particular as they should be in estimating the weight of their influence and in determining they will do nothing against the truth. R3667:1

Not a finger dare we move, not a whisper utter, injurious to members of the Body of Christ. R3052:4

But for the truth -- Every effort must be for the truth. R4076:6

Do all in their power for the truth--for righteousness. R3667:1

2 Corinthians 13:11

Be of one mind -- This is the oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God. R1130:6*

Live in peace -- The comfort and peace of the Church are dependent largely upon unity of the Spirit of the Lord in the various members.

R3436:5

Among yourselves--we should strive to be at peace with all who love the Lord. R2251:1

"Be at peace among yourselves." "Lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty." "Follow after the things which make for peace." (1 Thes. 5:13; 1 Tim. 2:2; Rom. 14:19) 2946:6

An holy kiss -- The Eastern custom of males kissing males. R4238:2

There would be nothing wrong in a kiss of love, but there is no intimation that the brethren should kiss the sisters or the sisters kiss the brethren. Q618:5

2 Corinthians 13:13

Saints -- The word "saint" is used to designate the truly consecrated. R1139:1

Salute you -- The churches were prompt to send Christian greetings. R1895:4

Galatians

General

Galatia was the name of a district or state in which were located a number of cities and churches mentioned in the account of Paul's missionary tours--Iconium, Lystra, Derbe, and Antioch on the borders of Galatia, in the state of Pisidia. R3009:1

The Apostle Paul's epistle to the Galatians was written expressly to counteract the influence of the Judaizing teachers who mingled with the believers of Galatia and endeavored to subvert the true faith in Christ by pointing them away from the cross of Christ, to a hope of acceptance with God by keeping the Law of Moses in connection with faith in Christ. R1728:2, 972:6 ...giving the inference that faith in Christ was only efficacious for salvation when supplemented by the keeping of the Law. R1657:3

The Apostle was writing to Christians at Galatia, some who had been heathens. They had originally received the correct idea. But their early trust in Christ's redemptive work had been disturbed by some Christianized Jews, who, while calling themselves Christians, were denying the very foundation fact of Christianity, viz., that Jesus' death canceled the sins of all who accepted of him as their Redeemer and Saviour. R687:3,4 To re-establish confidence in the gospel message he had delivered, it was needful that he should rehearse to them something of his history. In doing so, it was necessary to refer again to the false brethren who claimed to be of the same body and who yet, in opposition to the truth, brought again upon God's children the bondage of errors already escaped from. R3820:6, 868:5

Many of them, Gentiles by birth, had been misled into believing that whatever blessings they might enjoy through Christ and the original Abrahamic Covenant, they must also become amenable to the Law Covenant. Note that the Apostle's letter to the Galatians is almost exclusively devoted to this subject, and remember that the Galatians were not Hebrews, or at least, the majority of them were not. R4510:3

Like all the early Christian churches, those of Galatia were no doubt composed in good proportion of Hebrews of various tribes. R1696:2

Galatians 1:1

An apostle -- Am an apostle. R551:1

Paul was as much an apostle chosen of the Lord as were the other eleven. R551:1

A special office or function which is of divine appointment solely.

Q521:2; R5940:4

To re-establish confidence in the Gospel message Paul had delivered, it was needful that he should rehearse to the Galatians something of his history. R3820:6

Neither by man -- Neither by man's appointment. R551:1

No man or congregation is competent to appoint or elect an Apostle. Q521:2; R5940:4

The Church or Rome, the Church of England, and the Greek Church do violence to the principles of God's Word in that they claim to make apostolic bishops. Q521:2; R5940:4

By Jesus Christ, and God -- "I am ordained a preacher and an apostle." (1 Tim. 2:7) F276

While assuring us that his authorization or ordination was from God only, he nevertheless went forth to his ministry with Barnabas under the auspices of the Church at Antioch. R1720:2

The Antioch Church did not ordain the Apostle Paul to be an Apostle, but ordained him to be their missionary. Q521:3; R5940:4

Respecting his call, Paul ignores any "third person." E275; R372:6

The Father -- There is but one Eternal God and Father--who is "from everlasting to everlasting." (Psa. 90:2) R369:6

Who raised him -- The Scriptures nowhere intimate that our Lord Jesus did or could raise himself from the dead. R2795:2

Galatians 1:4

For our sins -- The forgiveness of sins. R687:4

Deliver us -- Redemption from the curse of sin. R687:4

The mystery of God's will was to be fully appreciated by his saints during this evil day. They were to expect deliverance from evil both for themselves and the world. R1273:2

Present evil world -- Epoch. R5161:2, 3209:1

Dispensation. R2724:4

So called, not because there has been nothing meritorious during its forty-four hundred years, but because God has permitted evil to dominate the earth during the period. OV26:3; HG538:1

The second great epoch, from the flood to the establishment of the Kingdom of God is under the limited control of Satan. A67; R1615:4; HG537:6

The present epoch of disaster and trouble, since the Deluge; Satan being the prince of this world. (John 12:31; 14:30) R1684:1, 2724:4; HG538:1 From the flood; to the second coming of Christ and the full company of the Church of the first-born is complete. OV26:4; R256:5

Comprising the Patriarchal age, the Jewish age, and the Gospel age. OV27:4; A71; R256:5; HG539:4

Each of the three steps is higher than that preceding it, and carries the Plan forward and nearer to completion. A71; HG539:4

The present Gospel age, which is to end with the establishment of the kingdom, is the particular and all-important age. Neither the Patriarchal or Jewish ages brought any fruitage to full perfection. OV28:1; A72

The way of righteousness is narrow at the present time because this Gospel age is part of "this present evil world," or dispensation, during which Satan is the prince or ruler. NS17:6

The second "world", under the rule of Satan, has been indeed an evil world. A67; HG538:1

We are still living in this epoch because Satan is the god of this world. R3209:1

The power of Satan and the corrupting spiritual influences which he has been able to manipulate have hindered the blessing of mankind, notwithstanding God's favor given to natural and spiritual Israel. OV27:3

The epoch during which sin and ignorance and superstition prevail as darkness over the earth and as gross darkness covering the people. (Isa. 60:2) SM769:2

"The heavens and earth which are now." (2 Pet. 3:7) A67; R256:5; HG538:1

The period in which evil prevails and righteousness is at a discount, in which "the prince of this world" works and rules in the hearts of the children of disobedience. NS70:6; R3209:1

God has permitted evil to dominate the earth. OV26:4; A67

To be overwhelmed by the coming social, financial and religious trouble. R3074:6

Those in power, the wealthy and politicians, the financiers, princes of industry, and the kings upon the thrones will do their best to maintain this present evil world because it is to their advantage. R5567:4

The "Day of his preparation" (Nahum 2:3) and "the Time of the End" close this epoch, and introduce the "world to come, in which dwelleth righteousness." (2 Pet. 3:13) HG416:3

The present order must give place to the "world to come." R1814:1

God and our Father -- God required and accepted the death of Christ as man's ransom sacrifice. E450

Galatians 1:6

So soon -- When the gospel of the Kingdom had been so clearly set before them. R1657:3

Removed -- That they should turn from justification through the sacrifice of Jesus, and attempt to justify themselves by following his example and keeping the Law. R687:6

Become entangled in the error of the Judaizing teachers that faith in Christ was only efficacious for salvation when supplemented by keeping the Law. R1657:3

From him -- From Paul. R551:1

Grace of Christ -- The true gospel was that of grace or favor through Christ, not works. R687:5

Salvation as a gift, a favor of God through Christ. A "free gift" purchased for you with his own precious blood. R687:5

Another gospel -- Confessing that Jesus was a notable and worthy example, but that salvation was by good works and observance of the Law. R687:5, 1728:2, 687:6

A hopeless substitute--that Christ would save them if they kept the Law. R1734:6, 975:1, 972:6

Departing from a recognition of God's grace in Christ as our only hope for eternal life, and taking instead a hope of being able to walk righteously and do justly, and thus to merit eternal life. R2285:4

The ignorance of God's Word and plan and the present confusion of the nominal churches paves the way for the great falling away from the cross of Christ. R5801:4, 1643:6

Theosophy, Evolution, New Theology, Christian Science, Universalism, etc. R5137:2, 5801:1, 5800:6, 1643:6

Is not another -- For there can be but one. R1728:3

Is not really another gospel; it was simply the Jewish Law of salvation by merit and obedience, supplemented by the name and example of Jesus. R687:5

There was nothing in the Law which could give them life. R687:6

There be some -- False teachers. R868:5

Those teachers who were attempting removal to another gospel were making Paul the center of their attack upon the true glad tidings. R652:1

Would pervert -- Turn. R687:5 Teach false doctrines. R868:5

This epistle shows us how many, Gentile's by birth, had been misled into believing whatever blessings they might enjoy through Christ and the original Abrahamic Covenant, they must also become amenable to the Law Covenant. R4510:2

Satan has ever sought to counteract the force of truth by counterfeiting it; as with Spiritism and Papacy. R760:1

Mind-curers and Christian Scientists. R894:2

Gospel of Christ -- The foundation doctrine is that Jesus died to secure the redemption price for Adam and his race. R5916:4, 975:1, 728:2, 753:2, 496:1, 425:3

Paul was fearful that subservience to the Law Covenant might lead them to reject the true Gospel, that Christ gave himself for our sins. R1734:6, 974:6

Though we -- Paul and his associates. R551:1

The truth, divinely inspired and first announced by the Lord's chosen agents, the apostles, even they themselves, had they fallen away, could not nullify. R1524:4

So positive and definite should be our spiritual individuality that, should the one whose spiritual life first nourished ours fall away, we would still live being able to appropriate for ourselves the spirit of truth. R3250:6

Or an angel -- That would be proof that such angel had deflected from loyalty to the Lord. R5916:4

Those representing themselves as messengers of truth, wresting the Scriptures and perverting them to establish another gospel. R1025:1*

We are to receive nothing without evidence. R85:5*

Preach any other gospel -- Present any other foundation for faith. R652:1, 3186:6

The Apostle lays special emphasis upon the fundamental importance of correct doctrinal teaching. R5916:4

In the Apostle's estimation, doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

We are not to expect an additional revelation of any kind. God's people are not to trust either in their own speculations and mental gymnastics, or in visions and dreams. OV396:1

Theosophy, Evolution, Higher Critics, Christian Science. R5137:2, 5970:3, 3186:6

Let the soldiers of the cross be valiant for the truth, and let them negotiate no union with any class save the consecrated and faithful followers of the Lamb. D242; R1592:6

"If any man teach otherwise withdraw thyself." (1 Tim. 6:3) Do not lend support to that which is another Gospel than the one you have received. F255

Papal comment on this text is, "Catholics should not spare their own parents, if heretics." B320

Galatians 1:9

Any other gospel -- Than that of which Christ crucified is the foundation stone, and Christ glorified, the hope of restitution, the crowning feature. R1205:3, 1482:5*

Be accursed -- For he should know better in view of all the divine testimony herein furnished. R1205:3

We have not much liberty or choice in our attitude toward those who deny the foundation of our faith. R1453:5

"Receive him not into your home, neither bid him God speed. He that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds." (2 John 10, 11)

(Also see 2 Tim. 3:5; Titus 3:10) R1453:5

Have nothing whatever to do with such. R1482:5*

Those who pervert the true gospel are no longer to be affectionately loved as God's children but are to be pitied. R1255:4

Galatians 1:10

For do I now -- In 1:10-24, and 2:1-10, Paul reproduces the evidences of his apostleship and sets forth the strong foundation of the hope of the gospel. R1657:3

Galatians 1:11

I certify you -- I certify unto you. R1419:3; HG311:6

Let me say further. R551:1

Paul's writings are toned not only with meekness, but also with that authority which should mark one who knows what he teaches to be the truth.

R1419:3; HG311:6

Not after man -- Human weaknesses were not permitted to mar the Apostle's work or usefulness. R1526:3; F224

Galatians 1:12

By the revelation -- The visions which make Paul's writings of unspeakable value. F215

The Lord more than made up to Paul what he lacked, to make him a competent and reliable witness to us. R1523:1

Paul saw more literally the things subsequently revealed in symbols to John at Patmos. R4518:5

Paul being in visions and revelations of the Lord more abundant than they all. (2 Cor. 12:2-4) R365:1

It was because the Apostle Paul had visions and revelations that he was enabled to appreciate the divine character and plan so clearly, and was qualified to state them in his teachings and epistles. F215

He was a prophet as well as an Apostle. R1719:6

The apostles writings were especially supervised by the Lord and their doctrinal utterances inspired. SM672:3; R1719:6, 1526:3, 435:2; OV412:1

Of Jesus Christ -- "With the holy Spirit sent down from heaven." (1 Pet. 1:12) F224; R1526:3

Galatians 1:13

Ye have heard of my conversation in time past -- You heard of me in times past. R551:1

I persecuted -- Paul labored the more diligently to testify to his appreciation of the grace bestowed, and to be long suffering with others as God had been with him. R1885:4

Galatians 1:14

Exceedingly zealous -- How zealous I was for the tradition of my fathers. R551:1

Traditions -- The teachings of the Scriptures and Paul's own instructions, which he had presented to those that he was addressing. Q747:2

There are true traditions, and false traditions. All of those which are in harmony with the teachings of the divine Word are true. Q747:2

Galatians 1:15

It pleased God -- An illustration of God's election; for special services in the present life, and the shaping of their course in view of that purpose. R1651:1

Who separated me -- To be a special servant. F209
God chose and prepared Paul for this service in early life. R1457:5 1565:3
This does not involve the thought of divine interference with the free will. Paul went into blind error, persecuting the Church. R2562:3, 4724:3

From my mother's womb -- Who from my birth called me. R551:1
Paul was endowed from his birth, and was zealous toward God long before his conversion. R1671:6, 1651:1, 551:1

The Lord had his own choice for the one who would take the place of Judas, and this one had already been undergoing special training and discipline. R2823:2, 162:5; F209

Evidently divine providence had arranged that he should be born under certain conditions which tended to make him just such a vessel for the gospel as he now was. R4356:3, 5002:6

Such special preparation and supervision was no doubt applicable to all of the twelve, even as also with John the Baptist in his work. R5002:6, 1671:6

An illustration of the importance of prenatal influence. R1671:3

It has at times appeared as though divine providence occasionally interposed in prenatal influences which made the child very different in bent of mind from either of its parents. R4724:2

Galatians 1:16

Immediately -- Prompt obedience is specially pleasing to the Lord.

R457:5*

I conferred not -- But went forth at once to preach the faith which once I persecuted. (Verse 23) R551:1

Galatians 1:17

Neither went I -- Paul is proving that he received his commission and authority direct from the Lord and not from them who were apostles before.

R551:1

Apostles -- The twelve apostles (Paul taking the place of Judas) filled the office of prophets, as well as being under the guidance and supervision of the Lord with reference to future things. R1148:4

I went into Arabia -- If Paul had stayed in Arabia all the rest of his life merely studying and nursing his sore eyes, doubtless he would have been of the Great Company class. Q697:4

We do not know how much studying he did in Arabia, nor do we see that he did much sacrificing during those years. Q697:5

The fact that one might be in an inert condition for a while does not mean that God had rejected him from the Holy condition. The decision of the Lord is at the end of the course. Q698:1

Galatians 1:18

Three years -- Possibly spent in studying out various features of the divine program. R4357:4

Galatians 1:19

The Lord's brother -- So styled by Jewish custom; supposed to have been a second cousin. R3003:2

Galatians 1:23

Destroyed -- Persecuted. R551:1

Galatians 2

Galatians 2:1

Fourteen years -- After Paul's conversion; at the time mentioned in Acts 15:2. R1472:3, 551:2

Thirteen years after Paul's three years in Arabia (Gals. 1:17, 18)
Barnabas hunted him up and found him at home in Tarsus Cilicia, and got him started preaching for a year at Antioch. (Acts 11:25-30) Q697:4
Paul made a specialty of his Jewish brethren at least seventeen years after he was converted. (See Gal. 1:18) R116:6*

To Jerusalem -- A distance of about 300 miles. R1472:3

Long considered the center of the Christian religion, the largest number and oldest believers and apostles living there. R972:2

With Barnabas -- Barnabas did much to encourage St. Paul and to start his activities, and once started there was no keeping him back. Q697:4

Galatians 2:2

I went up -- On the occasion mentioned in Acts 15:4; to communicate the fuller, purer, unmixed gospel. R973:1, 1728:3

By revelation -- The Lord sent me. R551:2

Paul had visions and revelations more abundant than they all. R365:1, 5941:6

Special revelations from the Lord. R435:2, 1719:6 In visions and revelations the Lord more than made up to Paul what he lacked to make him a competent and reliable witness to us. R1523:1

See also comments on Gals. 1:12.

Communicated -- Not to learn of them, but to communicate to them. R551:2

Gospel I preach among the Gentiles -- The subject had been left for some years for gradual development and enlargement of heart and mind on the part of the believers. R3018:5

The other apostles, fettered in a measure by the Judaizing influences around them, and not making sufficient progress in the knowledge of the truth, Paul was sent by the Lord to strengthen and assist them. R551:2

Privately -- Secret conferences explaining the perfect law of liberty--the will and plan of God regarding the gospel among the Gentiles.

Lest their reputation should hinder them from receiving the truth. R973:1, 1728:3

Paul did not go about it boastfully. R551:2

An example of Paul's course in first presenting a matter privately to the more prominent brethren. R3825:3

To them -- Unto the other apostles. A27

Of reputation -- The apostles and chief brethren. R3018:5

Run in vain -- Lest I should fail to have them see the depth and fullness of the gospel revealed to me. R551:2

Galatians 2:3

But neither Titus -- Because he was not a Jew, but a full-blooded Greek.
F227; R1526:5

Galatians 2:4

False brethren -- To reestablish confidence in the Gospel message, he had delivered it was necessary for Paul to refer again to false brethren. R3820:6

Thus the unconverted additions hindered the true seed, as always. R973:1
Their teachings served as siftings to draw off those who were not Israelites indeed, and who had not received the perfect law of liberty through Christ. R2206:2

Who claimed to be of the same body and who yet, in opposition to the truth, brought again upon God's children the bondage of errors already escaped from. R3820:6

Giving occasion for Paul's writing to counteract these errors, which has proven a blessing and a great help to the Lord's people for the eighteen centuries since. R2206:3

Galatians 2:5

Not for an hour -- Paul was ready to go any length in defense of principle and could not be budged an inch. R2119:2

His steadfast resistance on the subject of circumcision, when some misconceived the matter. F227; R1526:5

The truth of the gospel -- The strong foundation of the hope of the gospel--the entire freedom of both Jews and Gentiles from the bondage of the Law Covenant, and the glorious liberty and peculiar privileges of the sons of God. R1657:3, 868:5

Galatians 2:6

No man's person -- The Church is sanctified, not because of their own merit, but because of their relationship to Christ. R69:2

Galatians 2:7

When they saw -- Paul's selection and peculiar course in preaching to the Gentiles. R551:2

The uncircumcision -- The Gentiles. R1526:4, 1725:6; F226

Was committed unto me -- Paul was preeminently the Apostle to the Gentiles, and the others more particularly to the Jews. R1523:2

Paul was the pushing pioneer; and his work among the Gentiles of his day was by no means a light, nor an honorable task, in the estimation of men. R1523:2

The circumcision -- The Jews. F216, 226; R1526:4, 1523:2

Paul approved of circumcision for the Hebrews to whom it was given as a symbol and rite before the Law Covenant. R1725:6

Mighty in me -- Paul testified to his worthiness to rank as an equal of any Apostle. F216; R1657:3

Toward the Gentiles -- Paul has by far the more to say to us through his numerous epistles, than the other eleven apostles. R1523:2

Galatians 2:9

Seemed to be pillars -- In their day, the eleven were more prominent in the Church, than Paul. R1523:2

Hannah refers to the establishment of the saints as "pillars" of the new order of things, "the new heavens and new earth." (1 Sam. 2:8) R1813:2

Perceived the grace -- Recognizing in Paul the spirit of the Master, and hearing how he had been owned and blessed; and of his devotion, zeal and self-sacrifice. R551:2

Right hands of fellowship -- Paul was cordially received, though the apostles had one of their own choosing to fill the place of Judas. R551:2

Galatians 2:11

I withstood him -- Reproved him for dissimulation. R4510:2, 973:1

Paul's righteous indignation was aroused. R551:4, 4510:2

He was ready to go to any length in defense of principles of divine revelation. R4928:4, 5056:6, 3022:3, 2119:2

This was done in the spirit of love. R439:2

Peter's error was promptly corrected by God through Paul. That Peter quite overcame this weakness in respect to preference for the Jews is abundantly witnessed by his two epistles. F225; R1526:3

Evidently the rebuke was received in the spirit of meekness. (See 2 Pet. 3:15) R416:1*, 664:2*

It is evident that the different apostles had different degrees of insight into God's plan. A26

Among the apostles there were differences, hence we need not be surprised if such should be the case in this day. R397:2

Was to be blamed -- For acting deceitfully. R551:4

For giving way to the old nature. R416:1*, 664:2*

For vacillation on the question of the Law. R973:1

Peter dissembled--was guilty of double dealing. F224; R1526:3

Paul judged according to God's Word. R416:4*, 3124:4, 664:4*

Paul got clear views earliest on the recognition of Gentiles and had to oppose others less strong and spiritually clear-sighted. R972:2, 2118:3, 1728:1

These weaknesses of the flesh are among the sins which may be repented of, reformed from, and forgiven. (1 John 2:1) R4908:5, 1962:2
Human weaknesses were not permitted to mar the work or usefulness of the apostles. F224; R1526:3

Galatians 2:12

Separated himself -- Not wishing to offend, he ate with those who still adhered to their Jewish customs, for under the Law a Jew might not eat with Gentiles. R551:4

Peter was refusing to eat with Gentile brethren when Jewish brethren were in the company--through deference to the Law Covenant which somehow all Jews felt must be recognized and subscribed to. R4510:2

Galatians 2:13

Dissembled -- Guilty of double dealing. F224

Acting in a two-faced manner. R1526:3

Barnabas also -- Peter's example had its effect on Barnabas. R551:4

Carried away -- From the fixed statements of the divine Word--through the influence of someone held in respect or esteem. R2219:4

Their dissimulation -- They had before been led to see that there is no difference between Jew and Gentile, but that all are one in Christ Jesus. R551:4

Galatians 2:14

I said unto Peter -- Peter's uncertainty was in marked contrast with Paul's assurance, inspired by the words of the prophets, God's past dealings and the direct revelations made to himself. A27

Them all -- It was some time after Pentecost before the disciples got a clear, full understanding of the work being done, and its relation to the original Covenant. A80

If thou -- Paul exposed Peter's deception. R551:4

Livest after -- Eating with them, etc. R551:4

The Gentiles -- Who were not under the Law Covenant, but under the Grace Covenant. R4510:3

For them to perform circumcision would indicate that they were seeking for divine favor by becoming Jews--and not trusting fully to Christ. R2175:5

Galatians 2:15

We who are Jews -- Under the Law. R973:1

Galatians 2:16

Justified -- Made right. E444

By the faith -- On account of faith in Christ. R973:1

Only believers are justified during this Gospel age. R199:3

The obedience of each should be judged, not by his actual works, but by his intentions and efforts. HG307:3

Of Jesus Christ -- Everywhere throughout the Scriptures the power of justification on the part of the Redeemer is attributed to his sacrifice on our behalf. E444

By the faith of Christ -- By faith in Christ. R973:1

Not by -- The Jews were like all other people of the world, fallen-sinners. NS18:4

Our own works could not justify us, or make us acceptable, before God. E444

Works of the law -- Not by obedience to the Law. R973:1

After trying for 1500 years, Israel was unable to keep the Law. R5774:3

"Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the Law." (Rom. 3:28) E444

Why should we attempt to fetter others, or bind ourselves longer by that which has served its purpose and has ceased as a Covenant--passed away? R973:1

Be justified -- In God's sight. R5774:3

We are merely reckoned right or perfect because of our faith in and acceptance of the righteousness of Christ and his sacrifice on our behalf. E444

Although Paul does not quote words of Jesus, the germ of Paul's doctrine of justification is to be found in the teachings of Jesus himself. R3481:5*

Galatians 2:17

Justified by Christ -- "Who was delivered for our offences and raised again for our justification." (Rom. 4:25) E445

Galatians 2:18

Which I destroyed -- Why then should we attempt to fetter others, or bind ourselves longer by that which has served its purpose. R973:1

Galatians 2:19

Dead to the law -- Only refers to believers. R1729:6

We must be dead to the world, then we shall not love the world or worldly things. R127:3*

Galatians 2:20

Crucified with Christ -- I am delivered up to death. My will and self-control, my talents and powers, my rights and lawful ambitions as a man--all these are pinioned and bound by my consecration vow. SM645:2, 648:3; R961:5, 960:6

Our good human wills, our good intentions and our good plans--not actually perfect as our Lord's but reckonedly so through his imputed merit--are to be delivered up to death and to share in his sacrifice. SM648:2; R961:5

The old body is dead because it has been devoted to God in connection with the sin-offering. R5101:3

Since actual, literal crucifixion, signifies a torturing, slow but sure death, the figurative crucifixion must closely resemble it; otherwise the figure would have no value. SM642:2

From the beginning of our consecrated life we are reckoned as being fully crucified with Christ, but the actual crucifixion is a slow, painful, lingering process, and ends only with the completion of our sacrifice in death. R5855:4, 80:1

If Christ's crucifixion was not the crucifixion of a sinful will and sinful desires, neither was Paul's, nor are ours as followers of the spotless Lamb of God. SM648:1; R961:4

The Apostle did not mean the crucifying of a sinful will or sinful desires, plans etc. SM648:1; R961:4

The nearer a person is to perfection, the stronger is his will and the more difficult to crucify. As followers in our Lord's footsteps we have neither such strong wills nor strength of character to overcome them. SM647:2; R961:2

Paul was not literally crucified, but ended his course by being beheaded--as became a Roman citizen. SM645:2; R960:6

Nevertheless I live -- I, the new creature. T65

Yet not I -- The old creature, represented in the consecrated goat--being consumed with the reproach and contempt of the world, outside the camp. T65

The former; not the old any longer. R962:6, 960:2

I am dead. R95:5

But Christ -- The Christ mind. T65

Christ, to whose service you give yourselves; agrees to cancel all your debts. R804:6, 80:1

His will being fully mine I can call myself his and feel confidence before him. R962:6

Liveth in me -- Crucifying and keeping under my depraved and justified human nature and its will. T65

His will being fully mine, I can call myself his and feel confidence before him. He can own me as a member of his Body and use me as such now and forever. R962:6

"Christ in you" is the only actuating and controlling principle. R80:1, 1456:4

The new nature. R237:2*

The spirit of truth manifested in the Church is Christ's representative, and is termed Christ in us. R160:2*, 237:2*

I live by the faith -- By faith Paul had become reckonedly a new creature, to whom belonged the exceeding great and precious promises of the divine nature, if faithful. T65

While actually in the world, he was not of it. T65

Gave himself -- God did require and accept the death of Christ as man's ransom sacrifice. E450

For me -- Christ's special love for his Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

Galatians 2:21

Dead in vain -- If the Law could have been kept, Christ would not have died. R105:2

Galatians 3

Galatians 3:1

O foolish -- Thoughtless. R688:4

Galatians -- In the Apostle's argument he endeavors to show the difference between the Law age just closed and the Gospel age just commenced. R70:2

His entire argument in this chapter is to show that the Law Covenant never was binding upon the Gentiles, but only upon the Jews. R4510:3

Throughout this chapter St. Paul contrasts the Law Covenant, from which the Jew was desirous to get free, with the original Abrahamic Covenant, which had only free children. R4510:3

Who hath -- Some Judaizing teachers were trying to bring them again under the bondage of the Law Covenant. R1738:3

Bewitched you -- Deluded you. R973:1, 1728:3, 688:4

The Galatians had originally received the correct idea, that Christ died for our sins--through whom we have redemption. R687:3

Paul was counteracting misrepresentations of false brethren. R3820:6, 868:5

As many as are trusting to the Law under its condemnation or curse.

R1728:3, 973:2

This might be fitly applied to those of our day who are turning from free grace--to grace as a result of their own sacrifices. R688:4

Eyes -- Of understanding. R4510:3

Evidently set forth -- The Galatians had originally received the correct idea, that Christ died for our sins--through whom we have redemption. R687:3

Galatians 3:3

By the flesh -- The Church needed to be admonished of the danger of looking at that which is seen. R179:6*

Having begun to reckon ourselves new creatures, shall we change our hope and be perfected as human beings? R308:2

"It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing." (John 6:63) R123:3

Galatians 3:5

He therefore -- Paul himself. F216

Worketh miracles among you -- Pointing out the Lord's blessing in connection with his ministries, etc., in proof of his apostleship. F216

Galatians 3:6

Abraham believed God -- God esteemed the quality of faith. R3230:2, 5170:1

This feature of his character specially endeared him to the Almighty, who, because of it, styled him his friend. R5169:6

He showed his belief by his conduct, and by obedience to the divine proposition. CR150:6

He did not believe his own imagination, nor the imaginations or dreams of other men. R5170:1

For righteousness -- Partial justification. Justified to fellowship, not life. R5959:2

Might be styled "tentative justification." Fiii

Abraham and others before the Law Covenant, were not bound by it; yet were not in the fullest sense justified to life until the Abrahamic Covenant had been established at Calvary. R4320:2

Galatians 3:7

Which are of faith -- Children by special power of God. R793:2

The Gentiles were received under the Abrahamic Covenant of grace, whose blessings are conferred on a basis of faith. R4510:4

Through Christ, through the adoption of the holy Spirit. NS306:1

Children of Abraham -- The fleshly or the spiritual seed. R1905:3

Typified by Ishmael and Isaac. R793:2

God would justify -- Actually, not reckonedly. F107

This text applies to the Gospel age. R4696:5; Q398:T

The heathen -- All mankind--Gentiles. T91

Particularly to show that the reference is to the Gentiles who are justified through faith and not by works. Q397:5; R4696:5

Through faith -- The reconciliation by restitution will not come as a result of the Law Covenant but by grace under the terms of the New Covenant, which must be believed in, accepted and complied with by all who would benefit by it. F107; R3684:2

Before -- In advance. R5300:2, 4365:6, 4378:1; CR20:4

In the beginning. R5244:3

Before the Law. R70:2, 184:3

Beforehand--before it was due to begin. R2595:6, 2208:4, 1697:5, 924:3, 682:6

The first statement, the first announcement of the good tidings. NS406:1; R1697:5; CR20:4

The gospel did not begin with Abraham, but with our Lord Jesus. See Heb. 2:3. R2595:6

All that ever went before our Lord's preaching was not the gospel, but merely types and promises which foreshadowed it. R2595:6

From Genesis to Revelation the Word of God sets before us the Abrahamic Covenant as the primary statement of the divine plan for human salvation. NS441:4

As Rachel was the one chiefly loved and first promised, so the Gospel Covenant, the most desirable, was made before the Law Covenant. R184:3

The gospel -- Good news. R406:1*, 290:5*

Good tidings in a definite form. R4387:1

Good tidings of a salvation from death. E384; T91; R682:6; CR20:4; HG181:1

Something of the divine plan for human salvation. R2208:4

The "Covenant with Abraham" was an advanced declaration of the whole gospel in an epitomized form. R2122:4

To Abraham the message was so much more explicit as to make it worthy to be termed a part of the gospel. R4451:3, 4939:3

The coming of Jesus did not change the divine purpose; Jesus and the apostles taught the same gospel. R5244:5

Four thousand years after Abraham's time we are proclaiming that great promise; it has not yet been fulfilled. OV428:2; R5181:3, 1697:5

The basis of the Jewish hope of a resurrection. R1878:1

Abraham -- As Abraham here typified God, the promise shows two classes developed as God's children. R5300:2

In thee -- As Sarah had one son, so the Covenant which she represented has one seed--Christ. R1389:2

All those who become children of light, by the begetting of the holy Spirit became members of the special seed of Abraham. R5769:5

Shall all nations -- It excludes none. It extends backward as well as forward. CR20:5

All families of the earth shall yet be blessed through the spiritual seed of Abraham--Christ and the Church. OV380:2; PD58/70

The entire gospel message was briefly comprehended in the Creator's promise to Abraham. SM396:1; CR103:6; R5768:6, 4939:3

"For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God." (Rom. 8:19) E25

Be blessed -- Be justified. T91

By the Kingdom of Christ and his Church. R5733:1, 4140:3

With an opportunity of return to harmony with God and of everlasting life. R4557:3

With knowledge and assistance out of sin and death conditions back to the renewed condition of eternal life upon the terms of obedience. R4537:6

The grand and glorious work of destroying the prince of darkness and setting at liberty the captives of sin, ignorance and superstition. R4793:3

God's provision, which begins with the Church, will proceed, after her glorification, to bless the world. R5063:6, 5761:4

Here was a vague statement of the divine purpose, relating to the blessing itself, as an acorn would be related to an oak tree. R4451:3

The restitution of all things. NS321:5

Galatians 3:10

Of the works -- Trusting to obedience to the Law. R973:1

The curse -- The condemnation of the Law. R973:1

Greek: katara. R701:5

Cursed -- Condemned to death. NS361:3; R4370:5

In addition to the curse already resting on our race. R1725:1

The Hebrews were at a disadvantage as a doubly condemned people. NS361:4; R4510:3

Each Israelite who failed to meet all the requirements of the Law Covenant came under a curse, or sentence, not upon individuals of other nations.

R5046:1; NS362:3

Is every one -- Every Israelite. R1725:1, 5046:1

Written in the book -- The words. NS361:3

Of the law -- The Law Covenant. R1725:1, 5046:1

Galatians 3:11

Justified by the law -- The Law Covenant failed because its mediator, Moses, was unable to give life to anyone except in a typical sense temporarily. R4388:6

While Gentiles were not to be brought under bondage to the Jewish Law, neither were Jews justified by it. R1657:6

It is evident -- None can keep the Law, because sin has blemished all whom it has touched; all are imperfect. R105:2, 282:3
It proved to be unto condemnation to every one that ever was under it except Christ. R1658:1

Galatians 3:12

The law -- Given to Israel at Sinai. R682:3

Doeth them -- Moses Law required actual obedience and made no allowance. R543:1, 454:6

No doubt Israel honestly intended full obedience and considered it possible, when they said "All that the Lord hath spoken we will do." (Exod. 19:8) R2121:2, 410:6

Shall live -- Have a right to life and should never die. R503:2, 789:1, 454:6

Escape from death and from every evil and blight upon condition of living up to the requirements of the Law. R2121:2

The Law offered everlasting life to all who would obey it perfectly. HG307:2

Not live in a sinful or in an unsatisfactory condition, but under proper conditions. Q371:T

Christ will give to mankind his human life-right, which was secured by obedience to the Law. R4905:4; Q339:1

Had our Lord maintained his right to human nature, without making his consecration to death, he would have been fully entitled to have a paradise. Q370:4

The same law which guarantees that the disobedient shall die, guarantees also that the obedient shall live. R573:2

Galatians 3:13

Christ hath redeemed -- Greek: exagorazo; publicly purchased, and taken possession of.

No longer under the dominion of the Law. E430

Us -- Formerly Jews. R2443:3

Jews, who alone are under the curse of the Law Covenant. R1725:3 5046:3

Christians who had passed from Moses into Christ. R5047:4

Christians who had been Jews and had therefore been under the Law Covenant had not only been purchased from under its sentence, but were also released from its dominion. E430

Our only hope is in Christ. R551:4

Paul classifies himself with Israel, some of whom were in Galatia and some in Palestine. etc. R5047:5

Curse -- Greek: katara. R701:5

Condemnation. R2443:3

Not that the Law was evil, but that, because of imperfections of the flesh, the Israelites came under the condemnation of the Law. R2443:3

Of the law -- Of the Law Covenant. R1725:3

Jesus must die on the cross in order to redeem Israel. R5126:4

The Jewish Law, as well as the Edenic law. R1658:1

Made a curse -- Subjected to a special ignominy. NS362:3

Christ was made a curse in that he died on the cross. R4868:6, 5047:5, 2659:3

Having suffered for us the full condemnation or blight which the Law imposed upon the transgressor. R2443:4

Experienced the sentence of the accursed ones under the Law. R3901:4

He suffered as an accursed one. R448:2

He was cursed or bore the penalty of the curse--death--destruction. R586:6

Dealt with as the sinner. R4371:3

It was necessary that Christ should come according to the flesh. R1436:4*

For us -- For us Jews. Q138:T; NS362:3

Our substitute. R551:4

The Jews needed to be specially redeemed from the curse of the Law, by our Lord's crucifixion. R4510:3

Jesus did not need to die on the tree for the Gentiles. Q138:T

Cursed is every one -- Jesus would be held up and marked amongst all the people of God as being accursed. R3367:2

The Jewish nation needed something more than the rest of mankind, and for them it was necessary that Jesus should keep the whole Law. In order to meet the Law's extreme limits he must die on a tree. Q573:4; R3901:4, 2402:4

It was necessary for the Jew because that was the curse, the highest culmination of the Jewish Law, the special weight and force of the curse, the very extreme of the curse. Q138:T, 573:4

Our Lord's redemptive work was necessary for mankind, and additionally Israel, for the cancellation of the special curse or sentence upon them through failure to comply with the terms of the Law Covenant. NS18:5, 361:4

The severest penalty under the Law was crucifixion. R5577:5, 4868:6

Only those willing to make themselves of no reputation would be willing to follow the cause of Christ. R2925:1

Hangeth -- The vilest sentence or curse against sinners under the Law Jesus bore, that he might not only be the Redeemer of the world in general, but also of the Jew. R3901:3, 5047:5; Q574:T

On a tree -- Represented by the tree that Moses cast into the waters for their sweetening. (Exod. 15:25) R4010:6

Divine providence directed that the Roman should adopt the cross as a symbol of ignominy. NS622:3

Thus branding crucifixion as the most ignominious form of death. NS847:6

Galatians 3:14

On the Gentiles -- The Apostle referred to himself as having been under the Law Covenant, and subsequently freed, and to Gentile converts as not having passed through such an experience. R1726:1

The selecting of only a remnant of Israel resulted in the enriching of the Gentiles proportionately. R1696:6

Through Jesus Christ -- The promised seed. C169

"Through faith in Christ, but not by the works of the law." (Gal. 2:16)

E444

That we -- We Israelites. R1728:3, 973:1

As members of his Body. C169

Promise of the Spirit -- Through Christ's death Gentiles were permitted to come under the Abrahamic Covenant, and Jews were permitted to rise to a higher plane than being merely the natural seed of Abraham, to become spiritual Israelites. NS362:3

Through faith -- Not works, but faith in Christ's finished work alone justifies. E444; R416:6*

If God loves us and we love God, what need is there for a mediator between lovers. R4438:1

Galatians 3:15

A man's covenant -- There were no conditions. If there were, it is possible that Abraham and his seed might fail to keep their part. R282:2

No man -- The "man" was not the spiritual seed, and Jesus even as a perfect man could not give life to the race. Q193:T

Disannulleth -- No one could alter its terms in any way at all. Q192:6

Addeth thereto -- It stands still the same. Q193:T

His seed -- Christ; and in the broadest view includes them that are baptized into Christ. R692:3

The promises made -- That all the nations, kindreds and families of the earth should be blessed. B13; E26, 476; F72; R5848:1*

If we are faithful, the Lord will give us opportunity of sharing in this work of blessing. R5761:4

See Gen. 12:2,3; 13:14-16; 15:18; 22:16-18. R4370:2

And to seeds -- The Apostle Paul believed so fully in the verbal accuracy of the Scriptures that he bases his whole argument on a single letter of a word. R522:2

Of one -- Our Lord is the Seed, yet God foresaw and has foretold the larger seed spiritual, which will include the Body, the Church with the Head. (Gal. 3:29) T33

And to thy seed -- The spiritual seed of Abraham; typified by Isaac.

R5090:1, 1341:6; C366; PD58/70

The promise said that the people's blessing would come through Abraham's seed. R5179:4

The Church, with Christ her Head, constitutes this heavenly starry, seed of Abraham. OV184:2; R5338:6, 4365:6, 4342:1, 2778:2, 2117:1, 2063:4, 1630:2, 1615:2, 905:2; CR368:2

The seed means one complete Christ, the Head and Body. HG12:2; 5549:3

This seed has its two developments, one in the flesh, in suffering ignominy, and the other in the spirit, in power and great glory. R3684:1

Which is Christ -- Primarily the Head, and secondarily, the Body. T91; R2859:5

Refers to our Lord Jesus personally, exclusive of his Church. (See verses 22,24,26,27.) R1386:6

Through him and him alone could the blessing proceed. NS442:5

In the person of Jesus, the Law covenant was fulfilled, and the Abrahamic covenant began to be fulfilled; it will not be completely fulfilled until all the families of the earth are blessed by Christ. R282:5 Heir of the world. R1063:1*, 282:5

Not the Christ in one person merely, but The Christ in many persons. R1436:3*

"And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29) T91; F361; R3974:4, 3937:4, 3684:2; HG12:2, 460:5

Galatians 3:17

That the covenant -- The Abrahamic covenant, still in force. F360; R282:2; NS362:2

Originally proposed to Abraham while he was in Mesopotamia. B45

The Covenant included the promise of the land of Canaan for an everlasting possession. B44; HG44:1

Thus far there have been only two covenants, the old, or original one, and the Law Covenant. R4309:4

That was confirmed -- Previously ratified. R4496:6

By two immutable things--God's Word and his oath. (Heb. 6:18) R2127:4, 4370:5, 282:2

Made after Terah's death, when Abraham came into Canaan. B45; R4585:6, 4586:1; HG44:2

Before -- As Rachel was the one chiefly loved and first promised, so the Gospel Covenant, the most desirable, was made before the Law Covenant. R184:3

The law -- The Law Covenant. B46; F360; R1728:3, 1389:2; HG44:3

The first feature of which was the Passover. R1980:2

Typified by Hagar, Sarah's servant. R1389:2

Was four hundred and thirty years after -- After the Covenant made with Abraham. R1724:2, 4585:5, 4371:4, 2482:3*, 1389:2; F360; NS362:3, 698:4

Link No.20 in the true Bible chronology. B47; R1980:2

The Spirit put it into the mouth of the Apostle to name this definite period because chronology would have been imperfect without it. HG45:2
"Now the sojourning of the children of Israel was 430 years." (Exod. 12:40) B47

"By faith Abraham sojourned in the land of promise." (Heb. 11:9) B47

The statements of Paul and Moses (Exod. 12:40) refer to precisely the same period, from the Covenant with Abraham to the giving of the Law. B47; R2482:3*, 1980:2; HG44:2

Cannot disannul -- Cannot make invalid the original Covenant, which was of grace and not of Law. R4451:5, 1724:2; F360

In any manner change the terms and conditions of that Covenant. R1728:4

It must have been a thoroughly completed Covenant. R4496:6, 2121:2

The Law given to Israel did not interfere with the original Covenant. A84; R2127:4, 70:2

The Abrahamic Covenant cannot pass away, nor be altered, nor added to. R282:2

The Church is being selected under the original Abrahamic Covenant which was barren up to the time when our Lord became the heir of all things, the spiritual seed of Abraham. NS698:5

Of none effect -- Make it ineffective. F360

Useless. R2121:3

When the Law Covenant was fulfilled by our Lord Jesus it left the original Abrahamic Covenant just as it was before the Law Covenant was added. F360

The Law Covenant could not impair the gracious promise of the Abrahamic Covenant. R2121:3

The seed must come and shall bless all the families of the earth. R282:2

By promise -- An unconditional promise; one-sided, needing no mediator.

It imposed no binding obligations. R4510:4

Galatians 3:19

Wherefore then -- The Apostle answers a supposed inquiry as to what was the object of the Law and why it was given. R1728:4, 973:2

The law -- The Law Covenant given at Sinai. F360; R682:3

It provided certain typical transactions and prophecies, which have been very beneficial to spiritual Israel during this Gospel age. R5300:3

It was added -- Illustrated in the type by the breastplate of judgment placed on the front of the ephod. T34; R72:4

Added to the Abrahamic covenant. R4585:5, 4451:5, 1724:2, 682:3; F360; NS288:1

God treated that Law Covenant as though it was his wife. PT363:1*

Because of transgressions -- Because sin was spreading rapidly and men were degrading very rapidly. R1724:2, 2121:6

To manifest sin in its true light--that sin might be seen to be a great deep-seated malady. R1728:4, 973:2, 683:1

To prevent Israel's degradation like other nations, to act as restraint on their fleshly nature. R4370:6

To show to the Israelites and to all the impossibility of an imperfect man's keeping the divine Law. R4451:5, 2122:3, 683:1

To show Israel their unworthiness to be the seed; to insure the "promised seed" would be a perfect man; to prepare them to expect Messiah's birth out of the usual order. R2121:3, 683:1

The Law addition proved that the seed would be "holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners. R2121:3,5

As a restraint upon the people and as an educatory process. NS288:2

Till the seed -- The promised seed. R1724:3

The Christ, Head and Body. R1724:3, 2121:3; OV428:2

Specified by the Abrahamic Covenant. R4585:5, 5300:3

The seed must be of Abraham's descendants. R2121:3

All who are of that seed have their sins covered by Jesus. R683:4

Should come -- To do the real work, the time for which had come. R1724:2

Through whom the blessings actually would come. R5244:4, 5300:3

Our Lord Jesus, having fulfilled the conditions of the added Law Covenant, made an end to it to every Jew who believed. R2121:5

By that time it had served its purpose. It was a ministration of death written in stones. (2 Cor. 3:6-17) R812:4*

Four thousand years after God declared that the seed of the woman would bruise the serpent's head, and it has not yet crushed the serpent's head.

SM44:1

To whom the promise -- The Abrahamic Covenant. R1724:2, 682:6

By angels -- Moses received the Law from God through angels, therefore the angels were superior to Moses. R61:4*

A mediator -- Moses, as Mediator of the Law Covenant, was a type of Jesus, the Mediator of the New Covenant. R788:4, 4537:1, 4309:6

Under his mediation, Israel's past sins were ignored provided they would keep perfectly the divine Law. R4537:1

Galatians 3:20

Is not -- Believers are under a Covenant which needs no mediator. R4368:4

Mediator of one -- Where a covenant has only one side to it, it does not require a mediator. R4368:4, 4370:5, 110:6; NS360:5

When there is but one party to the contract. R110:6, 3915:3, 282:2

The original or Sarah Covenant needed no mediator. R4309:6, 4370:5

It imposed no binding obligations, therefore needed no mediator. R4510:4

The distinction between the unconditional and conditional is apparent from the fact that to the latter God gave a mediator, while to the former, none was given. R110:6, 282:2, 5227:1; NS360:5

God is one -- God is the one person bound by that Covenant. R4510:4, 5227:1, 2122:3, 282:2

Galatians 3:21

Righteousness -- And hence life. R812:2*

God is the author of only right and perfect Laws. R455:1

By the law -- If a law and obedience to it, and punishments, could have reformed mankind, God would have chosen that way. R2049:3, 455:1 And not have sent his Son to be our ransom. R455:1

Galatians 3:22

Of Jesus Christ -- The law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus is the law of righteousness. R1322:6*

Them that believe -- All who comply with the righteous requirements. R1958:3

Galatians 3:23

Kept under the law -- Israel as a nation is still bound by the Law Covenant. Christ and the New Covenant which he mediates is the only door of escape from it. R1725:5

It will not end until the New Law Covenant with its better mediator supersedes, or takes the place, of the old Law Covenant. Q173:2

God's Covenant with Israel was standing as a wall around that nation, but its door was barred by justice, as represented in the Mosaic Law.

There could be no proper ingress or egress; all were prisoners. R2441:5

Shut up -- Waiting for the Good Shepherd to open the door. R2672:2, 2220:5

Unto that hope which should afterward be revealed, namely, Christ the door or way of life. R2441:5, 5047:4, 1725:6

Be revealed -- The Law served to give Israel an idea of their need of divine help--the need of having the penalty paid for them. R587:4

Galatians 3:24

Our schoolmaster -- Pedagogue or servant. R1728:4; NS644:5

The Jewish nation were minors, under age, therefore were treated as minors. R256:5

As are children under nursery laws and subject to teachers until an appointed time, so were the Israelites under the Law. R1728:4, 973:2

Showing them their weaknesses; preparing them to receive Jesus Christ as their justifier from things which the Law condemned. R4370:6, 4510:5, 542:6, 282:3

It furnished a check upon idolatry and immorality. R282:3

The Lord endeavored to uplift the minds and educate the character of the Jewish nation to prepare them for still higher instruction. NS644:5

A severe pedagogue to whom they were committed for a season. HG583:5

To bring us -- Israelites. R1728:4, 973:2

To prepare the Jews for Christ and his message. NS361:4

Led to. HG582:4

Unto Christ -- By showing us that it was impossible for us to attain to everlasting life without his assistance. R3843:3

And pointed him out as the Holy One of whom Moses had said, "Hear ye him." (Acts 7:37) HG582:4

Who became "the end of the law for righteousness." (Rom. 10:4) R542:3

Although the Law Covenant did not give eternal life to any Jew, it was of much advantage to them. (Rom. 3:1) NS361:2

Justified by faith -- By hearing Christ's message they might exercise obedient faith, sacrificing faith. R4510:5

In the sense that ours is merely a reckoned or faith restitution. F104

Only believers are justified during the Gospel age. R199:3

Galatians 3:25

No longer under -- This Law schoolmaster was not intended to hold dominion over Jews always, but until the remedy should come. R973:2

Galatians 3:26

Ye are all -- If ye be Christ's. R1697:1

Whether by nature Jews or Gentiles, God's provision now is that all who reclaim Christ by faith and who consecrate are one in Christ Jesus. NS362:4

By faith -- God is not the Father of all men. R5849:1*

Galatians 3:27

Into Christ -- Into the name of the Lord Jesus. R1544:4

By immersion into his death. R4528:5

Since we have been accepted in the Beloved, we do not require a mediator. R4339:2

Put on Christ -- Become members of his body. R4510:5, 4339:2, 48:4*

We begin to put on Christ after consecration, and after our begetting of the holy Spirit. R5081:6

Put on the spirit or disposition of the Master and be more and more conformed to his likeness. NS448:1

Adding the graces of character which God will accept and reward with association with the Lord Jesus Christ in his Kingdom. OV356:2; R5870:4; SM321:2

Galatians 3:28

There is -- All distinctions of sex and color and condition are ignored, dropped from divine notice. T103; R1464:2*

God's preferences and favors are alike to all the new creatures--according to their zeal and love for him. Conditions of sex, race, color, etc., of the mortal body have no bearing with him. F489; R3768:5, 3769:1

All new creatures must esteem others in Christ Jesus as "brethren" and be kindly affectioned toward all, seek to serve all, and know no partiality amongst the brethren. F489

Now that Jesus had died, all of the typical distinctions are at an end. R850:2

Neither Jew -- Because favor was granted to his nation in the past would not mean that he would have a preferential place in the Church. R3768:6
All nations are of one blood. (Acts 17:26) R3043:1

Nor Greek -- The Greek was not to think that because the Jew had been cut off would mean he would be disfavored in the eyes of the Lord as respects a place in the kingdom. R3768:6

As this scripture would give no excuse for a common herding together of males and females, so neither should it be understood to imply anything promiscuous as between the different races. F490

Bond nor free -- These qualities are not to be considered as making them inferior in God's sight. Q646:8

The Lord would not take notice of slavery as respect one's hopes for a place in the future Kingdom. R3768:6

Do not consider that freedom is necessary to your spiritual welfare. R3768:6

This does not mean that the slave who comes into Christ is to be considered a free man, and that he use his time, etc., in disregard of his master's wishes. R3768:6

Male nor female -- In the Lord's estimation of his people. But this does not admit of lax conduct on the part of those who are still in the flesh. F490; R3768:2, 1548:3*

God accepts all those who come to him through Christ without distinctions as to race or wealth, servitude or honor amongst men, or sex distinctions. R3768:5, 1464:2*

While outward proprieties may distinguish the more public ministers as for men, and the more private ministries for women, yet there is no personal discrimination in our Lord's love and estimation. R2222:6, 1549:2,4

The gospel is free; under the Law there were distinctions made between bond and free, male and female. R850:2

All are anointed to preach. (Isa. 61:1,2; 2 Cor. 6:1) R1083:2*

The new mind must control and not ignore the flesh and expose itself to peculiar temptations of the flesh through a misunderstanding of these words. R3768:5

Taking the perfect illustration of headship between Jehovah and Christ we see that the order of headship, rightly exercised is entirely compatible with the glorious liberty of sons of God. R1550:1

Females are not excluded from baptizing, only that modesty, etc., indicate it be done only in rare cases, when necessary. R1541:4

All one -- A new one--a new church. R2134:2

From God's standpoint he treats us as one, and has blessing for each and for all in the divine arrangement. R3768:5

All are on the same level in God's sight. R850:2

God regards each as not in the flesh but in the spirit. R850:2

If we attain a place in the Kingdom it will not be on account of our sex, race, or condition as human beings. R3769:4

All on a common footing; the robe of Christ's righteousness making up for the deficiencies. R2301:6

The least who retains this vital union with Christ is as certain of eternal life as is the greatest. R81:2*

We should acknowledge and fellowship the people of God, whether they be white or black, rich or poor, learned or ignorant. R5615:4

The standard of spiritual appreciation and relationship and of obligation to each and to all in matters both spiritual and temporal. F490

This text has no reference whatever to earthly interests and associations of the people of God--it merely relates to our standing before the Lord. R3769:4

If we attain a place in the Kingdom it will not be on account of our sex, race or condition as human beings. R3769:4

The Lord's people, gathered from every nation and people and tongue, are dissimilar in their intellectual, moral, physical and financial conditions, but the robe of Christ's righteousness makes up for the deficiencies of each one. R2301:6

In Christ Jesus -- One Body, of which Christ Jesus is the Head. R4510:5

Consecrated believers; joint-heirs of the promise made to Abraham. R1696:6

From the time we become new creatures. "Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (2 Cor. 5:17) T103

Galatians 3:29

And if ye -- The Church, the Bride. E26; R4998:6, 4956:6, 4528:5, 4370:2, 4319:3, 3937:4, 3205:6, 2854:6, 2398:3, 2209:4; CR11:2; NS273:4, 291:3, 310:5, 399:6, 443:3

These words were addressed by the inspired Apostle to Christians, and they apply with equal force to the same class today. R1696:2

Be Christ's -- His disciples indeed. R4453:5

Christ's members. R4528:5, 3205:6, 201:2
Consecrated believers. R1696:6
The elect. PD85/99; NS352:3, 540:4
If ye comply with the conditions. R4681:6, 1697:1, 1696:6; Q185:4
If ye belong to him. Q191:6; R1697:1
If we feed on him and partake of his life. R327:4* Joining him and his standards, and be good soldiers of the cross. R4911:1
Become members in particular of the Body of Christ. F361; T91; R4371:4, 4370:2, 161:2*; SM45:T
If you have been "baptized into Christ, put on Christ," become "members of his body." R11:5
If ye, like Rebecca, the type, have accepted the Father's offer to become joint-heirs with his Son. R1386:6, 2795:4
How much hangs on that word Christ! CR215:2
The true seed of Abraham must have the testing of faith to the point of obedience even unto death, sacrificial death. R4378:2
To be his, body, soul and spirit, today and forever; his servant, to do his will in his way and at his time; when convenient and pleasurable, and when inconvenient, painful and difficult. R1697:1
Emptied of self in every sense--dead to self, and alive toward God through Christ. R1697:2
He does not say, "If ye be Jews" or "If ye be Anglo-Israelites" or "If ye be church members." R1696:2
We cannot belong to anyone else, for no man can serve two masters. R1697:1
We cannot compromise with the world, nor with its policy and spirit amongst Christ's disciples. R1697:2
It was not sufficient to be known as a regular attendant of one of the congregations of believers in Galatia--a brother in good standing with fellow-Christians and of good moral character. R1696:6
Then are ye -- Believers. HG386:2; R2604:3, 284:2
Together with Jesus. A85; R1386:6, 1000:5
Not by being, like your Lord, natural heirs of the Covenant blessings, but by your union with Christ. R1386:6
Abraham's seed -- Antitypical seed. R1617:2, 3502:1
Typified by Isaac. R4931:1, 4334:3
Isaac typified the Redeemer. OV164:1

"If ye were Abraham's children ye would do the works of Abraham." (John 8:39) R2604:6

We who are not Abraham's seed according to the flesh, are thus counted as Abraham's seed because of our faith and because we become members of the spiritual seed. R4606:1

The spiritual seed whose circumcision is that of the heart. R4442:6

According to the original divine plan a multitudinous "seed" was contemplated from the beginning. R2122:4, 2854:1

"The Christ is not one member but many." (1 Cor. 12:14) A82

Members of the Body of the Mediator. R4332:5

The seed is to crush the serpent's head. R2842:2, 544:1, 533:4, 270:5, 257:3, 134:6

The first two God called Adam and they brought death and misery on the human family. The second pair God calls "The Christ or seed" and they bring life. R139:1*, 305:2

The Church will be the Royal Priesthood for the blessing of all the families of the earth. R5713:6, 2360:5, 2297:1, 2122:5, 1790:6, 405:4*

Jesus did not inherit this Abrahamic Covenant according to the flesh, but as the new creature, as long as Jesus was in the flesh, the blessing of the world through him was impossible. R5226:6.3; CR96:4

In a sense we are already the seed of Abraham, but not until we share "his resurrection" will we be the seed in the complete sense. R4681:6; Q185:4; CR49:5

The selection of the seed of Abraham and offer of membership in this seed, must be to the Jew first. R2758:1, 5273:4

This glorious Christ will be completed by the close of the Gospel age, and as a whole will be the promised seed of Abraham. SM45:T

But there is a natural seed of Abraham represented by the ancient worthies, and those who shall come in afterwards. Q192:T; R5859:4, 83:2
Equally, it will be true that if you are Christ's you are David's seed, to sit upon the throne and be the Messiah. Q192:2

Not Abraham's seeds. HG12:2, 38:3

And heirs -- Joint-heirs and inheritors with Christ. R2691:6, 6013:3, 5178:1, 3867:6, 3050:3, 2885:6, 2209:4, 1510:6, 1386:6, 1155:1

As a human marriage is dissolved by the death of one of the parties, so those of the Jews who could recognize that Christ fulfilled the Law Covenant, could be united to Christ. R4319:4

The Church as the Bride of Isaac and his joint-heir--now betrothed and in the end of the age to be married to him and to enter his mother's tent--to enter into all the blessings that belong to the Covenant. R4440:2, 5169:2

The Apostle's thought is that of a wife who experienced the same honors and privileges as her husband, by becoming vitally associated with him. R3513:5

Sharers in the sufferings of the present time, and in the glory that shall follow. R4319:3, 6013:3; SM207:2

The spirit-begotten seed of Abraham must first be developed through trials, disciplines, testings, sacrifices, before it can be used in dispensing God's blessings. SM784:2; R2112:4; HG134:4

If we are heirs, the promise is still unfulfilled, until the Millennial Kingdom. R3206:1, 4642:3, 2409:1, 1697:5, 1195:4; HG546:1

The great blessing to come to the world will in no sense interfere with, but enhance, the glory of the Church when engaged with her Lord in dispensing blessings. R5654:6, 2908:5

According to the -- According to the highest feature of that promise, the spiritual feature. R4453:5

Fulfilling the petition of our Lord's prayer, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth, even as it is done in heaven." R2862:1

Abraham's spiritual seed, like the stars of heaven and the brightness of the firmament, is the channel through which the secondary seed will receive its blessing. R4365:6; CR368:2

This promise has been the hope of Israel for thirty-five centuries. PD23/34
God's dealings with the Jews in the flesh were interrupted by the development of the spiritual seed--the parenthesis of the Gospel age. HG440:1; R1971:6, 704:6; NS679:1

Galatians 4

Galatians 4:1

The heir -- In view of the gradual development of the "joint-heirs" during their minority, but who are to become one by virtue of their union with "the heir," how appropriate this illustration. R489:4*

A child -- Infant under laws. R976:1, 1735:1

The Law prepared Israel for Christ. R282:3

The reason why a Jew could not have any privileges as a child of God was because they were under tutors, etc. Q228:2

The relationship to God as sons, was little, if at all understood, prior to the advent of Jesus Christ in the flesh. R50:3*

Differeth nothing -- Jesus differed in many essential respects from those whom he came to redeem. R489:1*

A servant -- As children are under nursery laws and subject to teachers until an appointed time, so were we Jews under the Law, and treated as servants rather than sons. R973:2, 1728:4

So long as Christ was a member of the house of servants he was under the Law. Q228:2

Galatians 4:2

Under tutors and governors -- Subject to teachers. R1728:4

"Thou shalt" and "Thou shalt not." R1729:2

Galatians 4:3

Even so we -- Israelites. R1728:4

When we were children -- Under the law. R90:2

Minor children under fixed laws, and not under grace. R1028:6

Speaking of the Church while under the shadows of the Jewish age. R488:6*

Bondage -- Under restraints. R1728:4

Treated as servants. R1728:4

Of sin and death. R5641:1

Elements -- Rudiments. R489:1*

Galatians 4:4

Fullness of the time -- God's appointed times and seasons are an important part of his plan; it has an exactness to a day. B25; R4344:2, 598:3

Our God is a God of order. Christ was born on time. R598:4; B25

The fact that this was 4000 years after sin entered should show us the fixity of the divine purpose, and that every feature of the divine plan will be carried out. NS137:3, 750:6; R1005:2, 3989:2

"In due time" (Rom. 5:6) when God sent forth his son as "the man Christ Jesus" that "he by the grace of God should taste death for every man." (1 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 2:9) E451; B25; R5166:3, 685:5, 598:4, 283:4

This should give us great confidence in the certainty of the development of the Lord's plans at the proper time. R3989:2

Was come -- The moment for love to act finally came. E451; R685:5

God sent forth his Son -- God sent his only-begotten Son. R598:4, 944:4*; B25

Made of a woman -- "The Word was made flesh." (John 1:14) R3476:4; E105

If Jesus came into the world just as "we all" have, there would be no force to this language and no occasion for using it. R444:5*

Made under the law -- Not under the Ten Commandments merely, but under the Law Covenant. R5088:3, 4262:2, 1730:3; E417

Subordinate to the Law. R5836:6

For a purpose, not of necessity, but of grace. R488:6*

If Jesus had not been born under the Law his sacrifice would not have applied to the Jews. R4426:4

It was only because he was perfect and kept the Law that he was able in God's due time to present his body a living sacrifice as a substitute for Adam. R5836:6

Our Lord was under the Hagar Covenant up to the time when he was thirty years of age. R5088:3

He persisted in keeping the Law during the time of his ministry, and at the same time sacrificed those rights which were his because of keeping the Law perfectly until death. R5089:1

Jesus died to the Law Covenant, but not to the Law, at the time that he made his consecration. He was not relieved from his responsibility to the Law according to the flesh, but as a new creature he gave up all hope, all anticipation, as respects the Law Covenant. R5089:4

The Law had dominion over him as long as he lived. In his flesh he was a perfect human being, under the Law. As a new creature he undertook to do more than merely keep the Law. R5089:2,4

From the divine standpoint our Lord kept the Law as a new creature; from the human standpoint he kept it as an earthly creature. R5089:6

Galatians 4:5

To redeem -- Greek: exagorazo; publicly purchase and take possession of. E430

"Buy off." See Diaglott interlineary. R488:6*

That he might also redeem. R1984:3

When redeeming the remainder of mankind, God's plan was so arranged that the same sacrifice by which all the race of Adam was redeemed by Christ, affected also the one specially favored nation. E417; R1984:3; NS361:4

Them -- Israelites. R1728:4

Were under the law -- The Law Covenant. E417, 430

The "curse of the Law" put the Hebrews at a disadvantage as a doubly condemned people, hence it was necessary that our Lord should be born a Jew. NS361:3

Condemned under the Law. R1984:3, 4262:2

The Law served to give Israel an idea of the need of having the penalty paid for them, and then having the Law rewritten in their hearts. R587:4

So far as other peoples were concerned, he might have been of any other nation and redeemed Adam and the remainder of the world. R4451:6

Had Jesus been born outside of the Jewish nation the redemption of the world in general would have been the same as now, but the Jewish nation would not have shared it. R4262:2, 1730:3

That we -- Liberated Israelites. R1728:4, 973:2

Might receive -- Afterward. R488:6*

What was impossible until the race was redeemed. E177

Adoption of sons -- The spirit of adoption now, and full adoption at the establishment of the Kingdom. E109

None except this class are begotten of the holy Spirit. R5134:2, 1227:2; E177

Primarily the inheritance of Israel, but due to an insufficient number, "God did visit the Gentiles to take out of them a people for his name." (Acts 15:14) E177

The purchase of the Jewish people from under the dominion of the Law and the liberation of believers that they might become sons of God. E430

More than a righteous life is required of those who would be sons of God. R5134:2

Galatians 4:6

And because ye -- And so also, because ye. R973:3, 1728:4

Ye Gentiles who were not under the Law. R1728:4, 973:2

Are sons -- Because you have believed on Christ alone for salvation and have consecrated yourselves to him and therefore been adopted into God's family. R1658:1

Reckoned owned as spiritual sons of God. T40; R1697:1

As well as we Israelites. R1728:4, 973:3

Spirit of his Son -- The witness of the holy Spirit with their spirits is to the effect that they are the recognized sons of God. R1658:1

The seal of your adoption as sons. R1658:1 4:7

No more a servant -- A member of the house of servants. B246

They came into this grace without the works of the Law. R1658:1

We were sons under tutelage and you were aliens, foreigners, and strangers. R1728:4, 973:2

But a son -- A member of the house of sons. B246

Restored to the original standing, as in Adam before sin. R1561:1

An heir -- The evidence of sonship is to enter into the blessed rest of faith. R1658:4

Now you and we are accepted of God in Christ, are fully received into sonship and heirship, and neither of us are subject to the Law. R1728:4, 973:3

An heir of God's favor. R1561:1

Through Christ -- We are "all one in Christ Jesus." R1658:1

Galatians 4:9

Known of God -- Have been recognized of God as sons. R974:4

How turn ye again -- How can you turn again. R974:4

In Christ alone is full salvation. R1658:1

Weak -- The immaturity of the joint-heirship and plan in its unfoldings during the age of shadows. R489:1*

Beggarly elements -- Rudiments of the world. The Law is but the rudimentary part of God's redeeming scheme. R489:1*, 974:4

Inferior rudiments intended for the world in the next age and which now are powerless to help you. R974:4

The same word as translated "elements" in 2 Pet. 3:10, 11. R409:6, 26:4

Whereunto -- Why do you desire to be in bondage again? R974:4

In bondage -- Israel was not coming up to the liberty of sons of God, but going backward to the servant condition. R974:6

Galatians 4:10

Ye observe days -- A sign of weakness, childishness and lack of development. R1734:5, 5556:2, 974:6; HG583:6

Indicating that you do not realize your liberty from that old Covenant. R974:4, 5556:2, 1734:5

By a false conception some believe the first day is the Sabbath, and that the ordinances respecting the Jewish Sabbath day were transferred to Sunday. R2119:3

Galatians 4:11

I am afraid of you -- I am anxious on your behalf. R1734:5, 5556:2, 974:6
Addressing those who had once known the liberty of sons of God, but who were now going back into bondage through false teaching. R5556:2, 1734:5
Paul had reason to fear that the Galatian Christians had not yet come to the condition of established character. R3250:6
That the Christ life was not definitely formed in them, for already they were giving heed to seducing teachers. R3250:6
Paul was fearful that subservience to the Law might lead them to reject the true gospel. R974:6, 5556:2, 1734:6
Speaking of the tendency to go back to the Law. R974:4
Labour in vain -- Lest my teaching become useless to you. R974:4

Galatians 4:13

Through infirmity -- Being at the time in a semi-invalid condition.
R3009:1

Galatians 4:15

The blessedness ye spake of -- When Paul first met the Galatians they showed their love and sympathy for him. R2118:4, 1540:5
Given them to me -- Their willingness to do for him the most useful thing. R1540:5
An expression which would be meaningless unless Paul's eyes were defective. R2118:4
Paul's eyes were never restored to their former strength. R2825:1; F651
We can fancy the sympathy which St. Paul's affliction called forth among the loving brethren. R4356:5

Galatians 4:19

My little children -- Spiritual "babes." D575
Of whom I travail -- Because of whom I travail. D575
Paul describes his interest in the gospel work as that of a mother travailing with child. D575
The first stages of gestation, travailing in painful and laborious effort until the new being is formed. R1273:3
There is labor and anxiety all the way to those whose care over the Church, like Paul's, is akin to that of motherhood. R1273:6
The Apostle was writing with tears in his pen. R4510:6
Spiritual child-bearing after the apostolic example is most honorable service. D575

Christ -- A Christlike character, as a result of the begetting power of the truth and of the precious promises, inspiring love, faith, obedience and zeal. R1274:1, 3250:5

The new nature. R237:2*

Be formed in you -- That the principles so notable in Christ's character are established in them. R1274:4

The spirit of truth manifested in the Church is Christ's representative. R160:2*, 237:2*

As illustrated in the natural begetting, quickening and birth, so also in the spiritual; after the new creature is formed, if there be a quickening to spiritual activity, and if there be no mishap, no miscarriage, there will in due time be the birth of a glorious spirit being. R1273:6, 3250:3
Although they had been begotten by the Word of truth, the new germ of spiritual being had not yet progressed to the definite formation of Christian character which manifests its existence and life in activity. R1274:1

If Christ be formed in us, the established principles of Christian character will hold us firm and steady in the midst of temptations and error. R1274:5

The true child of God must have a definite individual Christian character which is not dependent for its existence upon the spiritual life of any other Christian. R3250:5

The language of the heart will be, "My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed." See Psa. 57:7,9, 119:111; Jer. 15:16. R1274:5

"Christ in you, the hope of glory." (Col. 1:27) R3250:3, 1273:3

In due time the new creature is born into full perfection and glory of the divine nature. R1274:2

If Christ be not formed in you, then your hope is vain, no matter how much truth or how many advantages you may possess. R1273:3

Let us see that we do not hinder the development of Christian character by giving our time, our vitality, our means, etc., to the pursuit of things of this world. R1274:4

Galatians 4:20

To change my voice -- My tone or manner of expression. R1273:3

To one of sternness. R4510:5

Instead of the joyful tone--the tone of reproof, warning and exhortation. R1274:1

Because their vacillating course since receiving the truth proved that the spirit of Christ was not yet formed in them. R1273:3

Galatians 4:21

Under the law -- Under the Law Covenant. R4510:6

Do ye not hear the law? -- Do you not understand what the Law is?

R1728:4, 973:3

Do ye not realize its bondage, its impossible exactions. R4510:6, 1728:4

If the Jew cannot get life in keeping the Law, it would be foolish for Gentiles to think they could secure divine favor and everlasting life by keeping that Law. R5027:4

The Law is a special condemnation to the Jew, and if Gentiles were to get under the same condemnation as the Jew they would be getting into a double condemnation. Q137:3

Galatians 4:22

Abraham -- Type of Jehovah. A85; R1389:1, 161:2; Q164:2; SM201:3; PT362:1*

Represented the Heavenly Father. NS287:1; F361

Becomes here a figure of God. R1728:4, 1064:4*, 973:3

Two sons -- These two covenants are beautifully portrayed by the Apostle Paul in Gal. 4:21-31. PT360:2*

The Jewish and Gospel dispensations are double in every particular. HG52:2

The one -- At Sarah's wish, Hagar became for a time her representative with Abraham, and brought forth Ishmael. SM201:3

Literally Abraham's firstborn, typified the first development under the Covenant. SM201:3

By a bondmaid -- Hagar, type of the Law Covenant. F170; R2778:2, 161:2

The second wife of Abraham. Q164:2

Although only a typical arrangement, the Law covenant developed a faithful class, to be princes in all the earth in the Millennium. R5909:2; Q196:1

The other -- Isaac. SM202:2

By a freewoman -- Sarah, type of the Abrahamic covenant or promise. A85; R2778:2, 1389:1, 283:4; SM201:2

The wife of Abraham represented God's Covenant. Q164:2

A figure of the real covenant of blessing. R1728:5, 973:3

Galatians 4:23

Of the bondwoman -- Representing the bondage of the Sinaitic or Law Covenant. PT361:T*

Ishmael, type of natural Israel. F170; R5909:2, 4496:6, 4371:5, 283:4; Q196:1

Hagar's son typified the Jewish nation, or fleshly Israel. SM201:3, 202:T; R4496:6, 793:2, 283:4, 201:2

A bond-servant and not the married wife. R4309:3

After the flesh -- Without any necessity for divine intervention.

PT360:2*

Of the freewoman -- Sarah typified the original Covenant made with Abraham. R4528:5, 4371:5, 4309:3, 283:4; F361; PD23/34; SM201:2

Isaac, type of The Christ. F170; R5909:2, 4496:6, 4371:6, 283:5; Q196:1
Isaac typified Messiah, the heir of the promise. PD23/34; SM201:2
A type of the Gospel Covenant. R161:2

By promise -- God's special overruling providence was required to work a miracle. PT360:2*

They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of the promise are counted for the seed. (Rom. 9:8)
R90:4, 99:5*

Galatians 4:24

An allegory -- A type. R283:4, 1389:1

A figure or picture that God gave. Q165:T; R1389:1; NS292:6

A picture only on general principles--every feature is not mentioned.

A word-picture representing great truths applicable to the Lord's people during this Gospel age. HG380:2; A85; R2777:5

Illustrating freedom in Christ. R90:4

Thus Abraham was a type of God, and Isaac a type of Messiah. Isaac's wife, Rebecca, typified the Church, the elect Little Flock. R5178:1

The Sarah Covenant represents the divine promise in its entirety as a grace or faith covenant. R4436:3

The larger part of the Old Testament had a typical and allegorical significance. PT361:T*

These -- Two women. NS287:1

Two covenants -- The first Covenant simply represents what the second is in reality. HG52:3

Which gendereth -- Bearing children--fleshly Israel. NS287:1

Bondage -- A Covenant of bondage, saying, You must do this, or You must not do that. R4450:1*

This Covenant was represented by Hagar, and her son Ishmael represented the nation of Israel. R5178:2, 4390:4; Q196:1

Agar -- Hagar. R4497:1; NS287:1

The servant of Sarah and treated as her representative. R1728:5, 973:3

Galatians 4:25

This Agar -- Hagar typified the Law Covenant, covenant of the flesh.

R5088:3; SM201:3; PD23/34 Bearing fleshly children. NS287:1; R4371:5

Is -- Signifies. R90:5

Mount Sinai -- The rocky, barren mountain where the Law covenant was given. R1389:4, 4371:5

To Jerusalem -- The capital city of Israel which was continually besieged and in captivity. R1389:4

With her children -- Under the Law Covenant. F361

Hagar's son was born first and represents how the Jewish people were the first that came into the inheritance under God's favor. Q164:2; R4371:5

It required nearly seventeen centuries for the development of fleshly Israel, under the Law Covenant. R4497:1

But Jerusalem -- Spiritual Zion. C297; NS723:3

The heavenly Jerusalem will not be built until the first resurrection, symbolized by Sarah, our Covenant under which we become new creatures in Christ--the Church is developed under the same Covenant as Christ. Q361:9, 362:3; R5246:1

The heavenly Jerusalem typified by Sarah. R4530:4*

A figure of speech in which a city is referred to as the mother of its inhabitants. R5246:1; Q361:9, 362:3

The city (government) of which Christ is the Head; of which Jerusalem the literal was but an imperfect type. R1389:4

The Kingdom soon to come into power to bless the world. R1389:4, 5246:4; Q362:1,4

Which is above -- Symbolized by Sarah. C29; R4439:3, 1389:4, 161:2

The exalted Jerusalem. R1389:4

Is free -- Spiritual Israel was never in bondage. R4390:4

Is the -- We look forward and by faith speak of the promised condition and of our citizenship there. Q362:T

Whose offspring and heirs through Christ we already are. R1389:4

Mother of us all -- Sarah, the mother of the promised seed, Isaac, typical of Christ Jesus the Head and the Church his Body. R4439:3, 4530:4*, 4371:5, 4011:1, 1341:6, 161:2; Q362:1

The original Abrahamic covenant, typified by Sarah. R2630:1, 4368:4, 4528:5; NS723:3

Mother of the spiritual seed, begotten directly by the Father, typed by Abraham. R4528:5; NS723:3

The saints of God. The Church is developed under the same Covenant-Mother as was Christ. His was a Covenant of sacrifice. Q362:3, 361:9, R5246:1

"There shall come out of Zion the deliverer." (Rom. 11:26) R1971:4

When the Covenant that was typified in Sarah has finished its travailing, and has brought forth the Isaac class, then the people of Israel, the

Ishmael seed, will be regathered for their blessing. (Micah 5:3) R4450:2*

The Law Covenant was never intended to take the place of the original Covenant. R4366:3

It is written -- In Isaiah 54:1. R1389:1, 3596:3, 1341:6; C297; NS287:6

Rejoice thou barren -- The Abrahamic Covenant, typified by Sarah. F361; C297; R4516:2, 3596:5

As Sarah was barren, so the primary, or chief, Covenant of God was barren for a long time, until Jesus came. R5178:2, 4440:2, 4309:3, 1728:5, 1389:1, 973:3, 283:4

God's Covenant was barren for nearly two thousand years and only began to bring forth the seed of promise in our Lord's resurrection from the dead.

F361; R3916:2

The prophecy began to be fulfilled in the manifestation of Jesus at the first advent. NS287:5

Hath an husband -- The wife who has borne her husband children. PT366:T*

Galatians 4:28

Now we, brethren -- The Apostle's argument based on the allegory.

R1728:5, 973:3

We take the place of Isaac. Q181:3; PT363:2*

The seed. R22:5*, 99:5*

The sufferings of Christ were only part of the sufferings of the antitype of Isaac. R5180:4

The Christ was produced after the same manner as Isaac, by God's overruling power. R4530:4*

As Isaac was -- A type of Christ, Jesus the Head, and the Church his Body. R4454:1, 4440:2, 4341:1, 4334:6, 3513:5; A85; HG389:4; NS293:1, 530:3; Q164:2, 181:3; SM530:1, 201:3

The birth of Isaac represented the begetting by the holy Spirit of the entire Church. R4682:5

As Abraham was the father of the natural Isaac, so God is the father of the spiritual Isaac, Christ, Head and Body. R905:2

Christ, our Head, and we, his members, are the antitype of him who was called "laughter" or "joyous"--applicable now and in the future Kingdom.

R2861:5, 3952:6

Represents a class that will make the whole world to laugh. PT363:2*

All who have the faith of Abraham will understand that the blessing can come only through Isaac. R2857:2

Are the children -- Sarah had but one child, Isaac, who typified The Christ, Head and Body. R4497:2, 5909:2, 5178:2; F361; NS287:1; Q196:1

The antitypical son of Sarah has already been more than eighteen centuries in process of development. R4497:1

Heirs of the promise--through whom all families of the earth are to be blessed. SM45:1; R2778:2, 1387:2; Q164:2, 181:3

In a totally different sense than were the Jews under the Law. F361

Of promise -- The original covenant. R4528:5, 4476:5

The oath-bound covenant. R3880:1, 5300:5, 4367:4

The faith covenant. R4341:1, 201:2

The Abrahamic Covenant embraces all the other Covenants, those Covenants being merely different features of God's arrangements by which the great work implied in the great promise is to be accomplished. R5909:5, 4334:6; Q164:2, 196:4

As Isaac was the heir of Abraham and child of promise, by Sarah, so we, like Isaac, are children of God, of the Sarah Covenant. E105; C297; R4436:3, 1387:2, 777:4; NS287:1, 306:2

Sarah typified the Covenant through which the vitality of the promise ultimately develops the seed of promise. SM201:3; R4476:5

Begotten of God in the womb of the Abrahamic Covenant. E105; R777:4

The seed of Abraham mentioned in the promise will not be complete until the full close of this Gospel age. SM530:1; HG389:4; NS530:3

We are not children of the bondwoman, the Law Covenant, but of the Covenant of Grace, born free from the slavery and conditions of the Law. R1728:5, 973:3

"And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29) HG429:3, 442:5; R4528:5, 4309:3, 4011:1; NS723:3

After the flesh -- Ishmael, type of the Jew under the Law Covenant. F361; R4309:3, 1553:5

After the spirit -- By promise, Isaac, type of The Christ. F361; R4530:3*

Even so it is now -- In respect to Isaac's antitype, the Church, whose members are spirit-begotten, heavenly-minded beings. R4530:3*

Galatians 4:30

Cast out -- Typified the divine disfavor which came upon the Jews eighteen centuries ago; outcasts from divine favor. SM202:3; R5503:3, 4505:4, 4309:3, 3916:2; PD23/34

Cast off from divine favor, as represented by our Master's words, "Your house is left unto you desolate." (Matt. 23:38) R4309:3

As Hagar and her son were outcast for a time only, so the Law Covenant and the Jews have been cut off from divine favor only for a time. R5503:3

If Hagar had died at that time, in type the Law Covenant would have ceased to exist. But Hagar continued to live, and so the Law Covenant continued, and still has power over every Jew as long as he liveth. R4505:4

The Law Covenant did not cease when Jesus died, and has not yet ceased. R4505:4

As Hagar and her son almost perished for lack of food and drink, so natural Israel in its cast-off condition almost perished for lack of spiritual nourishment and refreshment. NS288:4

In the dire extremity of natural Israel's cast-off condition the Lord will graciously point to the true water of life and bring natural Israel back into relationship with himself. NS288:4

To show that the Law Covenant was not to have any rule over the spiritual sons of God, Hagar was not allowed to become the governess of Isaac, but in his interest was dismissed. R1728:5, 973:3

And her son -- The child of Abraham according to the flesh. Q164:2

When Isaac was born, Sarah repudiated Ishmael and no longer acknowledged him as her son, but, instead, claimed everything for Isaac. SM202:2

In antitype, when God began the development of spiritual Israel, it was clearly manifest that the chief portion of the promise was to be fulfilled through the Isaac seed. SM202:2

For the son -- Ishmael, type of the Jew under the Law. F361; R5503:3; 4505:5, 3916:2; NS288:2

Of the bondwoman -- Hagar, type of the Law Covenant. F361; R4505:5, 3916:2, 1389:2; Q164:2

Shall not be heir -- Shall not be the true seed. T33

Had our Lord remained under the Law Covenant, he would not have become the heir. At Jordan he passed from his position under the Law Covenant; and became the spiritual seed of Abraham. R5090:1

With the son -- Isaac, type of The Christ. F361

The new creature. R5090:1

Of the freewoman -- Sarah, type of the Abrahamic Covenant, the Grace Covenant, the Covenant of sacrifice. F361; A85; R5909:2, 4516:2; Q164:2, 196:1

A child inherited blessings and privileges of its father, according to the favor and standing of its mother. E105; R777:5

We -- Nor Christ. R196:6

Of the bondwoman -- The Law Covenant. R2778:2

But of the free -- The Abrahamic covenant, typified by Sarah. R2778:2, 1386:3

We are born free from the slavery and conditions of the Law. R973:3, 1728:5

"Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free, and not be entangled with the yoke of bondage." (Gal. 5:1) R90:5, 2778:2, 1728:5, 973:4; HG52:3

Galatians 5

Galatians 5:1

Stand fast -- Adhere to fixed principles, be steadfast in the Lord. R90:1

Strive to maintain. R5356:3

Firmly and loyally with the Lord, our Redeemer, Instructor and King.

R3020:4

In the domestic duties of life. R1553:4

Every one who comes to realize the liberty of the sons of God and full freedom from Babylon's bondage should expect to meet other attempts of the Adversary to bring into other bondage or to stumble him. C188

Therefore -- Referring to chapter 4. R90:2

In the liberty -- All those who have come to Christ and are united to him only. R2134:5

Voluntary enslavement to Christ. R1067:1

The sixteenth century Reformation was a re-awakening of the spirit of liberty, to think inside the foundation lines of the doctrines of Christ. R3019:6

With the Reformation movement came the love of liberty afresh. R3751:3

To be sharply differentiated from the liberty of license. R3017:3

Freedom from bondage to sin. R2389:3, 4418:1

The liberty of reason, of justice and of love. R3857:3

It is one thing to learn our liberty and another thing to avail ourselves of that liberty. R4692:5

The only liberty that is really a blessing. R4707:4

Not liberty or freedom to do wrong, but free to follow the spirit of the Law rather than its letter. R4599:6

It is also true that we should be on guard lest we use our liberty in such a manner as to stumble others weaker than ourselves. We are to use the liberty of self-sacrifice. R4920:1

Justification, the title to life through Christ the Redeemer. R1738:3

Obtained through justification, consecration and adoption through the holy Spirit. R3528:1

The very reverse of the spirit of Papacy. B328

Christians are bound to feel grateful to God for America, and the torch of enlightenment which it has lifted before the masses of humanity, but they look forward to the better government. NS665:3

Wherewith Christ -- Follow the Lamb whithersoever he leads. "Whom the Son makes free is free indeed." (John 8:36) C145; Q644:6

Hath made us free -- Free from the Law Covenant. F362; R90:5

Resting in Christ. R315:5

Free from all human bondage and sectarianism; and traditions of men. R1575:1, 295:5; SM556:3, 126:1; NS390:1; OV418:1, 388:3

Free from the bondage of sin and death. R4707:4, 1738:3

Christ only gives freedom to those who desire it and will fight for it. R3857:6

By a persistent warfare of the new mind against the old nature. R3858:4

It should be the chief and most enjoyable service to lead others out of bondage of sin into the service of Christ. R1067:5

Freedom to one, is bondage to another. R452:2*

Be not entangled -- Free, as Isaac was, as Ishmael was not. F362

By human creeds, confessions, etc. F242; R452:5*

We are to resist determinedly and persistently the attempts of the old master, sin, to bring us again into captivity. R5356:3

One of the deceptive entanglements of our day is that we should join an earthly organization. R1067:2

"Come out of her my people." (Rev. 18:4, 5) R2147:2

Again -- Which Satan surely will endeavor to accomplish in every way in his power. C188

Whoever has gotten free should take heed that nothing, church or priest, shall come between his heart and the Lord. R1067:4

Take a firm and positive stand for the truth. R1067:5

With the yoke -- The Law Covenant. R1728:5, 1893:1, 973:4

A Judaizing influence. R4623:6

Which condemned all who sought justification under it. R1872:2

The sectarian yoke. C145, 188; R694:2; Q644:6; OV418:1; SM556:2

There are forms of error purporting to be advanced light, which only the elect will escape. R1067:5

Of bondage -- To human organizations. F234

The duty for every saint to cast entirely aside every human yoke of bondage, and to assist other saints to the same blessed liberty. R694:2

Galatians 5:2

I Paul -- Paul seems to have been the first of the apostles to grasp the situation of the leading of the Spirit in turning to the Gentiles and of the all-sufficiency of the atonement. R1472:5

Say unto you -- You Gentiles, with whom it has not been a national custom. F226; R4624:1, 2175:5, 1526:4

God could have quickly made the truth plain, but he chose to do it gradually. R1472:5

If ye be circumcised -- With the object of trying to commend yourselves to God by obedience to the Law. R2604:5, 4624:1, 688:1

Not addressing Jews, but Gentiles. F226

Profit you nothing -- Subsistence to the Law would lead to rejection of the true gospel. R1734:5, 974:6

The blessings of the two Covenants cannot be mixed. R2424:1

Coming under the domination of the Law Covenant would indicate they had forfeited their standing in Christ. R4624:1

In keeping the seventh day, in hope of keeping the Law and gaining its promised blessings. R543:5

No contradiction with Acts 16:3. Timothy was a Jew. F226; R1526:4

"By the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified." (Rom. 3:20)

R1042:3

Galatians 5:3

Every man -- Every Jew. R4510:6

A debtor -- Paul in writing to the Galatians is warning them against coming under the domination of the Law. R4505:2

Galatians 5:4

Of no effect -- If not trusting in the merits of Jesus sacrifice, you are under sin and its penalty, as though that sacrifice had not been made. R688:1

We of the Lazarus class, the Gospel Church, should not attempt to mix the Law and the gospel, knowing they cannot be mixed. R1042:3; HG386:5

Are justified -- Righteous or pure. R687:3

Are trusting that you are justified by the Law (Covenant). R4510:6

There is a disposition in our day for those who have accepted the grace of God, to attempt to justify themselves by works. R2285:3

Whoso observes days in an attempt to keep the Law, has failed to fully appreciate the value of Christ's finished work. R315:2, 2119:3

By the law -- Law Covenant. R4510:6

Whosoever purified himself by the Law and circumcision Christ would profit him nothing. R972:5, 416:6*

Because of inherited condemnation and weakness, the Law could not justify any to life. R687:3

Israel's experience under the Law is sufficient to prove to us that "By the deeds of the law shall no flesh be justified in God's sight." (Rom. 3:20) R542:3; E444

Fallen from grace -- Favor. R688:1, 542:3

Lost the trust in the merit of the precious blood. R2285:3

Shows the possibility of falling from God's favor. R1458:2

In accepting the thought that Jesus was a good example, but obedience to the Law was required, God's favor is rejected. R1458:6, 2119:3, 315:2

The false teachings served as siftings to draw off those who were not Israelites indeed. R2206:2

Galatians 5:6

Circumcision -- Being children of Abraham, according to the flesh, is not sufficient to make us new creatures. R3022:2, 1726:1, 972:5

Nor uncircumcision -- The council at Jerusalem did not decide that circumcision should not be considered thenceforth, but that it is not necessary for a Christian. R3022:2

To the Gentile, circumcision was not an optional matter as with the Jew. R3022:4, 2175:5

Faith which worketh -- The faith of all Bible worthies was of this type--a working faith. R50:2*

This is the law of love, as it is "the law of faith." (Rom. 3:26) R1322:5*

Galatians 5:7

Hinder you -- There are many things to overcome, requiring constant effort. R90:6

"Unto the Jew a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness." (1 Cor. 1:23) R863:1

Galatians 5:8

This persuasion -- Doctrine; or teaching which was being advanced in the Church. R687:6,2

Some today are turning to works, good deeds and self-denials as the basis of hoped-for future life. R688:1

We need to guard our judgments, so that we be persuaded only of God, even though the Adversary should present his persuasion through recognized teachers. R687:2

Even though it might come through an angel, it is from the Adversary. R688:5

A little leaven -- Corruption, error, sin. F464; T98

The Christianized Jews did not deny Jesus, else the Galatians would have been unmoved by their teachings. R687:5

Galatians 5:10

That troubleth you -- Trust in Christ's redemptive work had been disturbed by Christianized Jews. R687:4

Galatians 5:11

Brethren -- Believers; sons of God. R1697:1

Offence of the cross -- This has not ceased, it is to the Jew and the nominal Christian a stumbling-block, and to the worldly wise foolishness. (1 Cor. 1:23) R684:1

Cut off -- Not tormented forever and ever. R356:1

Galatians 5:13

Brethren -- Believers. R1697:1

Called unto liberty -- Were called for freedom. Stand by your personal liberty. R4478:6*

The privilege of sacrificing present rights for the sake of the truth and its service. F92; R3752:4

Our real liberty is freedom from error and superstition, and from the bondage of selfishness; and the privilege of showing to others that we are copies of the Master. R4899:6; NS380:2

Our liberty is a liberty to co-operate with our Lord. R1065:3

New creatures find that the knowledge they receive and the spirit of liberty which comes to them through that knowledge has one effect upon their flesh and another effect upon their wills, their hearts. R3751:6

To the flesh -- To serve the flesh, to do evil. F92

By love -- Not through formality. Any service done in love with a desire to do good. R3543:6

Serve one another -- Comfort, refresh, console and assist in the humblest affairs of life, or the trials of life. R3543:6

Service which love prompts renders the most arduous task easy and is acceptable to God. R31:6

Galatians 5:14

The law -- The law of God. R687:3

Our judgments will coincide with his. R1712:5

"The law of the spirit of life." (Rom. 8:2) R1498:3

Is fulfilled -- "Fulfilled in us who walk...after the Spirit." (Rom. 8:4) R4504:6

Thou shalt love -- Control your liberty by the law of love. R4478:6*, 25:5*

As thyself -- It does not say "Better than thyself"; Christ's self-sacrifice in our behalf went beyond this requirement. R3804:6

Galatians 5:15

Bite and devour -- Tending to the destruction of all that is spiritual amongst the Lord's people. R5056:6 The truth seems to take hold of the stronger characters. A diamond surrounded by mud would scratch nothing, but diamonds together are cutting. R3752:1

We should content earnestly for the truth, but those occasions of friction should be waived where no principle of truth is at stake. R3752:4

One another -- Even in the Apostles' day, there was a tendency at times to fight each other rather than to fight the Devil, the world and the flesh. R3858:2

Be not consumed -- Lost as respects the gracious things to which the Lord has invited us. R3752:5

Let us more and more put on the armor of God to fight our own fleshly weaknesses. R5467:5*

"They that take to the sword shall perish with the sword." (Matt. 26:52)
R3738:3

Galatians 5:16

Walk in the Spirit -- Let their daily course of life be in accord with their new nature. R4687:6, 1748:4

The Spirit or mind of Christ, the Spirit of the truth, shall have control. D476; E184; R1861:3, 1554:6

We should guard all the actions of life, as well as all our words. R5124:1

Watch that you are walking in line with the spirit of the truth. R3858:3

To as many as walk by this rule are promised peace and mercy. Forms and ceremonies are not the rule, but the new life itself, the new creature filled with the holy Spirit. R1841:2

In our marriage relationship. R1554:6

Shall not fulfil -- The only way to keep down human ambitions, hopes and desires, is to keep filled with the Spirit. R3070:4

The lust -- The disposition, mind of flesh. The desire. E201

Galatians 5:17

The flesh -- This term represents the lower and more animal qualities of the person. OV138:1

After six thousand years of falling from the image of God. R3986:2

Lusteth against -- Desireth. E200; R5211:3, 4811:1, 3275:2, 3031:5

Fleshly appetites, preferences, propensities, war against the spirit of the new will. R5486:4, 5211:3, 3858:3

Only our hearts are changed--our flesh is much more in harmony with the world than with the new order of things established in our hearts through Christ. R4811:1

The Spirit -- The new will or mind. R3031:5

Against the flesh -- The new creature is in mortal combat with entrenched sin. R5778:1

The new creature fights the good fight in that he stands loyal to the Lord. R5902:4, 5211:3

There is a constant battle between the new creature, the new will, and the old creature. R4811:4, 2769:5, 2335:3

Anticipate in advance its opposition and proceed at once to mortify. R3275:2

There is no need to go outside and battle with others. R5212:1

In proportion as we yield to the desires of the flesh the spiritual new nature will languish. R3031:5

These are contrary -- The two desires being opposed, cannot both be gratified; one will be gratified at the expense of the other. R3858:3, 5211:3, 1857:6; NS449:5

Our affections must be torn from their earthly props, and trained heavenward, held there by the cords of love and devotion to God. R5906:4
The slaughter of the Jerichoites represented the victory of true Israelites over self-will, self-love, self-indulgence and every enemy of the new nature. R1857:6, 4070:3

Ye cannot do -- This constitutes our need for an Advocate. NS356:5; Q798:1, 644:2; SM721:2

The battle which ensues is a hard one. R1861:3
Experience proves this to all Christians. R2335:4

Daily we should remember before the throne of heavenly grace our imperfections and blemishes, and ask divine forgiveness. R4643:1
We walk after the Spirit of God's Law as nearly as possible, coming short only where our imperfections of the fall render obedience impossible. SM308:1, 613:1

There are certain fleshly weaknesses, over which the new mind never gets as complete a mastery as it desires. Q649:1; R3858:4

Our ability to gain the victory will be in proportion to our faith in God and our reliance on him. R5296:4

That ye would -- That ye new creatures would like to do. E201; R5211:3, 4982:1

Ideals are to be and are higher than capacity and ability. R4982:1
You would follow in the Master's footsteps perfectly, but you cannot do this, you can only hobble after his at very most. R4688:1
Because our flesh is depraved we need the merit of Christ to assist us. R5211:5

Israel's minds were alive to the promises, but their flesh was imperfect. R5286:2, 3353:1

All humanity are sinners. R5032:3, 4982:1

If ye be -- You who have accepted Christ, and who are walking according to the new mind. R3858:5

Led of the Spirit -- Walking according to the new mind to the best of your ability, following the lead of the Spirit. R3858:5

Not under the law -- Have nothing to do with the law, it cannot condemn you. You are protected under the robe of Christ's righteousness. R3858:5
We are not children of the bondwoman, but the original Abrahamic Covenant. R1728:5

Born free from the slavery and conditions of the Law. R973:3

Galatians 5:19

Works of the flesh -- The old man. R1841:4; NS565:2
Defects of character are works of the fallen flesh. R5117:5, 40:6*
And of the Devil. F408; R3594:1, 1151:3*; HG693:2

Inclinations and cravings of the fallen human nature. R1748:3, 1295:6
The legitimate cravings of the human mind and body, when such gratification will prevent our progress in the narrow way. R5807:1, 1841:4
The kind of works which Satan supports and into which he endeavors to lead mankind. R5184:2
Wholly contrary to the course of a pure heart. R5123:6
Branches coming out of the root of selfishness. R5100:1
All violations of the law of love, come under the head of selfishness and imply injury to our fellow-creatures. R3858:6
Should be put far away from us who seek to be followers of the Lamb. R5765:6, 5766:1
Cease to strive against the old nature, and presently some of these noxious weeds will flourish. R1748:4
The Lord's footstep followers should daily and hourly keep watch over his thoughts, words, deeds and underlying motives. R4524:1
No matter what the form, if we know the thing to be evil we are to abstain from it. R4728:2; SM403:3
Represents the removing of sin from the sanctuary. R109:6*
A desire to do evil where only the opportunity is lacking. R3859:1

Galatians 5:20

Witchcraft -- To prove his lie that the dead are not dead, Satan instituted witchcraft. R1216:2
We should have no communion with the occult. R2172:1; HG726:1; Q804:3
Hatred -- Every child of God should feel horrified at the bare suggestion that he possessed anything of this un-Christlike character. R4524:1
Heresies -- Sects or denominations. R1130:6*

Galatians 5:21

Envyings -- A seed which thrives rapidly in any heart where it takes root, and who can tell what bitter fruitage it will produce. R2880:3
Of the same spirit as evil surmisings. R5122:6
Murders -- Represented in that condition of heart which hates a brother. R3859:1
"He that hateth his brother is a murderer." (1 John 3:15) R4217:1
Bomb-throwing, and other modern devices for killing are included with murder and other devilishness--done by those thinking that they are Christians. OV401:5, 427:4
Drunkness -- Intoxication literally, or symbolically with the spirit of the world, Babylon. R4217:1
No drunkard can hope to be a member of the Body of Christ, the elect Church. R4600:6

We are not to understand that no one who has ever been drunk can enter into the Kingdom of God. R2533:2

The Apostle arrays himself, and all the saints on the side of temperance. R1444:5

I tell you -- It would not have done to leave out the grosser forms of sin because they belong to evils which are opposed to the Spirit of God. R1841:4

They which do such -- If they continue in that evil course. R4217:5
Doing works antagonistic to righteousness. R4688:1, 121:1*

Just cease to strive against the old nature, and some noxious weed will flourish and crowd out the good. R1748:4

The great majority manifest works of the flesh and the Devil. SM128:3
They have no right to the fellowship of the saints. R1841:5

Shall not inherit -- Have no hope of any share in the Kingdom of Heaven. R3858:6, 4217:5

Would that we all might keep this question well in mind. R3679:5

The kingdom -- Showing that the Kingdom was not set up at Pentecost but was still in the future. HG368:4

Not meaning that if anyone were overtaken in a fault that this would bar him forever from the Kingdom. R4688:2

Galatians 5:22

Fruit of the Spirit -- Means complete sanctification. SM583:1

The flowers of sweet odor which belong to the Garden of the Lord. R4688:4

The spirit of a sound mind. R5846:4

Each fruit of the spirit is a part of the necessary preparation for this "evil day," this "hour of temptation," now present. R5678:4, 35:3

Gradually developed and matured by labor. E181; R5393:1, 5124:2, 1841:5

Developments of the heart and character, which come more or less slowly, according to the personality and the environment of each of the spirit-begotten ones. R5224:2

Has much the same significance as "graces of the spirit." A quality being developed would be a fruitage. If we were speaking of an individual's conduct we might speak of the graces which he manifested. R4989:4

There is a difference between a "gift" and a "fruit." R5124:2

Instead of miraculously received gifts, we now grow the fruits, by cultivation. R1998:4; NS205:4; Q48:3

If one does not manifest fruit, there is reason to doubt if he has been begotten of the Spirit. R5393:1, 5224:2, 5134:5

A person, after receiving the holy Spirit, will begin to manifest the fruit of the Spirit. R5393:1, 5224:2

Necessary to have an abundant entrance into the kingdom. R5760:5; NS376:6

Those possessing these are not easily offended, but are glad to have such experiences as the Lord's providences may direct to them--specially if these come through the brethren. R5693:1

Not manifest by Christendom, therefore they cannot be Christ's Kingdom.

An evil spirit displaces, fruits of the spirit. R5100:1, 1151:3*

To live in the cultivation of these graces is to "live in the Spirit."

R1748:4

Evidence of vital union with Christ. R81:3*

See 2 Pet. 1:5-8. OV401:4, 427:4

God looked for justice and righteousness as fruits in Christendom. R2804:3*

Is love -- The Apostle places love at the head of the list of fruits of the spirit. R5757:1, 32:2*

Manifests itself in wise, helpful activity; pities, helps, comforts, cheers and blesses all within its reach. R4809:3

If we have love to God and for each other, it becomes to us as well as to others an evidence that we have the Spirit of God. R32:2*

Joy -- Love exultant. F186

Peace -- Love in repose. F186

Because we have submitted ourselves to God. R5393:2

Longsuffering -- Love enduring. F186

Gentleness -- Love in society. F186

Not rudeness. We have plenty of rudeness by nature. CR447:3; SM363:1

Some are naturally quite gentle. If this be so, we are not to think it a proof of possession of the holy Spirit. R5393:1

Greatness through gentleness. R1708:2

Goodness -- Love in action. F186

Faith -- Love on the battlefield of life. F186

Galatians 5:23

Meekness -- Love in resignation. F186

Meekness is the foundation for love. SM363:1; CR447:3

The meek man will find it easier to be gentle and patient. R5387:6

Meekness signifies teachableness; you can make no progress without it. CR382:4

Rash people often get into trouble, because there is a lack of meekness. R5387:6

To continue under the leading and instruction of the Lord we must have a spirit of meekness, so the Father can give us the "spirit of wisdom and revelation." (Eph. 1:17) E185

Temperance -- Love in training. F186

Self-restraint. R5757:2

Against such -- Qualities and characteristics of the new nature. R3859:2

Such as God originally planted in man and which have become vitiated through sin. R4688:4, 1296:1

Galatians 5:24

That are Christ's -- The consecrated, prospective members of his Bride.

R3859:3, 960:2

Implying that not all of the congregation at Galatia were such. T117

Crucified the flesh -- Have voluntarily agreed that they will live contrary to the emotions and desires of the fallen flesh. R4688:4 Counting the flesh as condemned to death; willing that it die a lingering death.

R3859:3

The flesh insists that the new creature would commit a crime in mortifying the flesh. R5248:3

The literal is a slow torturous death; the figurative closely resembles this. R960:2

There is no doubt, that if we follow in the footsteps of Jesus, we shall suffer. R212:1*

If any would attain to the divine nature, they must take their sinning nature--the old man--and bring it to this altar, Jesus, and put it to death. R101:5*, 99:3*

Affections and lusts -- Passions and desires. (Diaglott) R814:2*

Each shall seek to bring himself into the degree of subjection so the very thoughts of mind and acts of life may be in harmony with the Lord. Q9:5

Does not mean the elimination of every thing natural to man, but, we are to live on a higher plane. Q9:3

Galatians 5:25

Live in the Spirit -- Live in the cultivation of the fruits and graces.

R5807:2

The Spirit of God which has quickened us and which ultimately is to perfect us. R4688:4

Walk in the Spirit -- Make progress in the spiritual life. R1748:4

Reckon ourselves new creatures, spirit beings, not yet perfect. R3859:3

Galatians 5:26

Of vain glory -- Influence, power, and authority amongst the brethren.

R3859:4

Vanity is one of the most dangerous besetments of the Christian; it leads to more trouble, more quarrels, than is generally supposed. R4688:5

Provoking -- Whoever manifests a vainglorious spirit tempts another in the same direction; there is a provoking or inciting to an evil course.

R3859:4

New creatures in Christ should incite to love and good works. R3859:4

Galatians 6

Galatians 6:1

Brethren -- Believers, sons of God. R1697:1

Overtaken in a fault -- Through ignorance or temptation, which he cannot control. R5491:6

Through some infirmity of character or temperament. R549:5*

Become entangled with some form of sin, not by reason of sympathy with sin, but by reason of weakness of the flesh or by unfavorable environment.

R5561:6, 3647:1, 2879:2; E117

These stumblings are not the sin unto death. R4830:5

Which are spiritual -- Greek: pneumatikos; spirit-begotten, and possessed of the new mind. E313

The most spiritual ones of the Church. R5561:6

We should show our own spirituality in the manifestation of the spirit of meekness and kindness toward the one at fault. R5899:6

"We, then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves." (Rom. 15:1, 2) R3647:2

Restore such an one -- Restore in love. Our sympathy for our brethren must broaden and deepen so that we love the brethren as Christ loved us.

R5757:4, 3647:1

Our warnings, reproofs, or withdrawal of fellowship are to be in the nature of correctives, with a view to restoring. R3035:2

From the careless condition where the new mind has become stupefied and the old mind has gotten the ascendancy over it; "save a soul from death."

(James 5:20) R4628:3

Illustrated when one, slandering another by intimation, refuses to stop and his conduct is revealed to the one slandered. This is a proper application of the Golden Rule. R4283:3

To a condition of righteousness and fellowship with God. R5561:6

Spirit of meekness -- Greek: pneuma; disposition. E313

A meek manner. R5561:6

Love them as brethren ought to love, heartily, thoroughly, sympathetically, compassionately; especially assisting them spiritually in the conquering of sin, but also in temporal matters. R2879:2

Kindly urging the erring one to strive against his fault. R3647:2

The reproof will be a blessing from the Lord if given in that spirit and received in that spirit. R5693:1

Let justice always be tempered with mercy. F416

Considering thyself -- Remembering that we also are imperfect in the flesh. R5561:6

Thou also be tempted -- By the old selfish nature, in violation of some of the requirements of the perfect law of love. D476

If not in the same manner, possibly in some other manner, in which you are weaker. R3035:4, 549:5*

By remembering we ourselves might at some time be overtaken in a fault in the future, if we had not in the past. R5899:6

At some time or other inadvertently fall into sin, contrary to the heart intentions. R5561:6

Galatians 6:2

Bear ye -- Seek to relieve by sympathy and counsel. R3646:6

Assisting one another in battling against the weaknesses of the flesh and the besetments of sin. R5562:1, 3647:1

Love's quick discernment is always watchful and ready with the word in season, the cordial friendliness and the helpful hand if need be. R3647:1, 549:6*

"We ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16)--in seeking to assist the brethren out of difficulty and to bring them nearer to the Lord and to his standards. R5562:1

Bind up the Body of Christ that there be no schism in the Body. R3647:5

Another's burdens -- Of bereavement, financial embarrassment, business and family cares, physical and mental suffering, sudden distress, great perplexities, anxieties, and conscious sins. R3647:1

Faults, infirmities. R549:5*

When the surges of trouble roll high, and the timid, shrinking soul is almost overwhelmed by them, how soothing is the sympathy and counsel of a fellow-member of the Body of Christ. R3646:6

The Greek word means that which tires. R549:3*

Whatever makes a man grow weaker. R549:5*

Fulfil -- Let this blessed law of Christ rule more fully in us, and let its hallowed influence shine out upon the world, showing them how it brings peace and harmony and happiness. R3647:5

The law of Christ -- The law of love. R3647:2, 3646:6, 1498:3

The general law of Christ. A law of service and self-sacrifice in the interests of others. A law of love. R5562:1

Those who, finding such a brother, merely throw back their heads, denouncing him in a haughty, imperious, holier-than-thou manner, have not yet attained a proper appreciation of what is the law of Christ. R5562:1

Galatians 6:3

To be something -- "Vainly puffed up in his fleshly mind." (Col. 2:18)

R1920:5

One great danger which besets all the true followers of Jesus is headiness--thinking too highly of self, and therefore, not thinking highly enough of the brethren, especially those who stumble in some particular in which this individual has not himself, as yet, stumbled. R5562:1

When he is nothing -- It sometimes happens that those who are ignorant as well as poor become puffed up in their fleshly mind as well as those who are wise and rich. R1920:5

We are bundles of imperfection; on the strength of our own merit we could not commend ourselves to God nor have his favor. R5562:2

Deceiveth himself -- Modesty and simplicity are traits to be cultivated by rich and poor. R1920:5

Galatians 6:4

Prove his own work -- Instead of seeking to judge or to reprove his neighbor or brother in Christ. R5562:2

Every Christian is individually responsible for the exercise of his own Christian common sense, in faith and conduct. R1777:2, 1788:5

It was the neglect of this principle of the right and duty of the individual judgment in proving all things by the inspired Word, that brought upon the church the snare of the great apostasy. R1788:6, 1777:1

Rejoicing in himself -- To whatever extent he can see that he is progressing in putting away the works of the flesh, and putting on the graces of the holy Spirit, to that extent he has ground for rejoicing R5562:2

His faith will be so established by the Word of the Lord that it will be his own, and in no sense dependent upon another. R1788:5

Not in another -- Without in any sense or degree seeking to compare himself with others and thus to estimate himself wholly by the imperfections which he may see in others. R5562:2

Galatians 6:5

Bear his own burden -- Seeking to find out his own weaknesses, and therefore not being a burden or reproach to others--either to the Lord or the brethren. R5562:2

Rather than to lean upon the brethren; each is to remember his own personal responsibility and not to get weary in well doing. R5899:5

Not only seek to bear his own burdens as far as possible, but to seek to bear somebody else's burdens. Q334:2

Discharge his own proper duties; a different word in the Greek than in verse 2. R549:5*

The Greek word means that which loads. R549:5*

Whatever is needful to carry--such as a soldier's kit, or a ship's freight. R549:5*

Galatians 6:6

Taught in the Word -- Those who receive blessings from a teacher. R5562:3

God designed to instruct his people by means of each other. F263

Communicate unto him -- Those receiving instruction should not fear to communicate to the better instructed teaching brother any thought that they might have respecting the Word. R2500:6

Telling of any blessings received or of any clearer views of the Word of God which have come to them. R5562:3 Call his attention to any matter seeming to bear on the subject discussed; thus all are to be critics--never, however, for debate or for fun or to find fault, but to keep the Body of Christ and his teachings pure. F263

It would be as proper to ask Berean questions of sisters as well as brothers. These would not be considered as teaching, but a learner reciting what he or she had learned. R4122:5

Even the humblest shall think for himself and thus develop an individual faith and character. F263

There is no room for clericism. R5562:3

The Apostle may also have meant that those who receive blessings from a teacher may properly seek opportunity for recompensing him, either with thanks or with cooperation or some way helping to forward the work. R5562:3

"Communicate" is a broad word and includes not only thoughts sentiments, etc., but may be understood also to mean some manner of support. F264; R2500:6

Or helping to forward his work of teaching in any good way. R5562:3

Good things -- Not to be understood to mean a personal appeal for money, charity, or support. R2500:6

Galatians 6:7

Be not deceived -- Some might deceive themselves into thinking that they might live according to the flesh, and then go to the Lord in prayer and have the matter all forgiven and corrected. R5665:2

God will not be pleased with anything less than your continual opposition to every form of unrighteousness. Many are thus deceived, professing to be the Lord's people and yet blind to justice, righteousness, in many of the affairs of life. They exercise too much mercy in dealing with their own shortcomings and not enough in dealing with the shortcomings of others. R3323:2

There is a danger of being deceived as to whether we are sowing to the spirit or the flesh. The flesh is very crafty. The new mind needs to guard continually lest it fall into a trap of the old nature. R4829:6, 5665:1

God is not mocked -- Cannot be deceived, cannot be trifled with. If God has entered into a covenant with us, nothing else than our agreement will stand. R5226:2

It is not enough that we make a consecration of ourselves to God, but we need to show by the earnestness of our conduct that we have received a transforming power in our lives. R5934:2

Though others may be deceived, God cannot be mocked by our outward service of him and his truth while inwardly living according to the flesh.

R4829:6, 5562:3 If we endeavor to find justification for doing that which we recognize as contrary to the Golden Rule we are merely attempting to deceive ourselves, in a manner which will not deceive our Lord. NS590:4 God can read the heart and discern the motive. R3859:4, 3323:3

Those who find themselves in any degree of sympathy with evil qualities are deceived if they think themselves to be the Lord's people. R3323:3

Do not think you can do evil and get good results. R5665:2

All divine law is the operation of fixed principles of righteousness, having for their object the peace and happiness of all intelligent creatures. R1654:3

If we sow to the wind, we shall reap the whirlwind. R1653:3, 5665:2

"There is nothing covered that shall not be revealed, neither hid that shall not be known." (Luke 12:2) R1653:3, 1655:1

Whatsoever -- The operations of this law are most manifest upon classes and nations, because their prominence gives them worldwide publicity and because their harvest must of necessity be in the present life. R1654:5

Divine retribution seems generally to be that of sequence, so that under it, rewards and punishments follow naturally. God sometimes steps beyond this order, as with the second death and the exaltation of the Church. R1655:5

The fact that retribution is often delayed is frequently presumed upon by the foolish, who vainly think that they can sow their crop of wild oats and never realize their harvest. R1654:4, 5665:3, 1655:2

A course of life or conduct, that would bring good results, or a course that would bring evil results. R5665:3

Every inch that we yield--whether in thought, word or action--means so much decrease of spiritual power; and the new creature grows weaker. R5934:3

Illustrated by Aesop's fable of the donkey who slowly inches his way into the blacksmith's shop and kicks out the blacksmith. R5934:6

A character, which is plastic in early life, becomes fixed and fossilized in the course of years. R1654:5

A man -- The Church; the consecrated people of God. R5899:1, 5934:2, 5561:6, 3323:5, 1653:3; OV392:3

This will be true of the world as respects their sinful flesh, during the Millennium, but not now. R5935:1; OV392:3

Every human being could take a profitable lesson from this verse and receive a blessing in proportion as he would follow it's spirit. R5899:1

Soweth -- All conduct must be incited by previous thought. R5665:3 Wilfully, intelligently. R5225:2, 4909:5

The thought of sowing is that of planting with a view to development or result. R4828:2

In the past you sowed to the flesh; wasted time, used your body improperly. You have learned a lesson; put it to good use. Hereafter, try to live in harmony with God's will. OV450:1

True of the whole world, also. R5361:4, 5666:4, 5255:1, 1653:3

Our justification before God does not remove at once all the results of previous transgression. But the penitent and forgiven one has promise of grace to help with his inherited and cultivated weaknesses. R1654:3

Shall he also reap -- A principle of the divine arrangement that sowing will bring reaping, and that the thing reaped shall be of the same character as the thing sowed. R5562:3, 5665:2, 5303:4, 5225:1, 1653:3

Either in the present life or in that which is to come. R5309:1, 1655:3

In the cleansing process, the justified believer must, of necessity, experience some of the baneful results of a past course of sin. R1654:3

The conditions which will expose the evils of past life--bring about retribution to the evildoers, will also make manifest the good deeds of the righteous. R1655:2; HG639:1; NS439:2, 813:6

The Millennial age is set forth as a day of reckoning, of trial, of judgment. R1654:1

Every evil word or act, or violation of conscience will have its effect upon the character and thus have to do with either elevating or degrading each individual. HG489:6; NS334:1

This is our judgment day; and the judgment of the world will proceed upon the same general principles. They will first be brought to a knowledge of the truth, and will then be judged accordingly. R1655:6, 1426:4

The world has sown to the wind the seeds of selfishness, and now they are about to reap the whirlwind of anarchy and terror and the destruction of all law and order and national and social organization. R1654:5

Whoever violates conscience, much or little, will proportionately be disadvantaged in the future. OV129:2; R5303:4

Whoever sows a life of sin and self-indulgence will not reap glory, honor, immortality, by a "death-bed repentance" but a more depraved disposition than that with which he was born. HG645:3

Every act, word, look or thought is a seed, and will bring results in our own minds, hearts and conduct; and whether or not we shall bring forth thirty, sixty, or one hundredfold, or no fruitage. R3771:5, 4828:2

A brother who is a murderer at heart (1 John 3:15), because of light enjoyed, may have greater difficulties to overcome in the reformation of his character than the grosser, but ignorant, murderer. R1655:4

Galatians 6:8

For he that -- In the Church. R3323:5, 5665:5, 4828:3

Begotten of the Spirit. R279:5, 142:6

Soweth to his flesh -- To sensuality or to any earthly desires contrary to the new nature. The things of the fallen flesh, which are always contrary to the Spirit. R5934:2, 5665:5, 4828:2

By allowing the selfish, unjust, unrighteous desires of the flesh to have sway in his heart and life. R3323:5, 5934:3, 5226:4, 4829:6, 4828:2

Seeking to do according to their fleshly wills, and pleasing the fleshly minds of friends or relatives. R5562:4

If we make a change merely in our profession, while still sowing to the flesh, the result will not be according to our profession, but according to our doing. R5934:2, 3859:5

If we allow the envious, selfish, vain-glorious, ambitious spirit to control, with more or less of anger, hatred, strife, and dissension, we may surely expect the legitimate crop will not become the reverse of this. R3859:5

Spending of time, energy, money, in the pursuit of pleasure or of earthly things or riches. R5899:4

Yielding to the old creature. R5934:6

Live in willful sin. R142:6, 279:5

All obedient Christians are seeking to eradicate and destroy the weeds of sin and selfishness which spring naturally in their flesh because of heredity. R5899:2

Does not mean a thorough rebellion against the Lord, but rather the procurement and the sowing of bad seed. R5899:4

It is a mistake to suppose that a reasonable gratification of the flesh is proper. Every gratification of the fallen flesh satiates only the animal propensities. R4828:2

It is the spirit of Satan, which has become dominant in the human family, ever since Adam ate of the forbidden fruit. R5665:4, 5666:4

Better clothes, delicious food, a desire to live on a good street and in a fine house, are not necessarily sinful things. All these are of the flesh, but they are not what the Apostle is referring to here. R5934:3

Reap corruption -- Death; the end will be death. R3859:5, 5934:3, 5899:5, 5665:6

The second death. R3323:5, 4828:3

They have already surrendered their human life-rights. R4828:3

This does not mean that if any of God's people should have some earthly desire or wrong sentiment spring up in their minds they would die instantly, or instantly be cut off from any hope of future life on the spirit plane. R5934:2

In proportion as we are derelict, as we sow seeds of evil, in that same proportion shall we be sowing to corruption. R5665:6, 5562:5

Moral and spiritual degeneration. R5666:1

But -- The new creature develops at the expense of the old creature, the old nature, which must be put to death. R5935:1

Soweth -- Acts, words and thoughts are the good seeds; and they must be sown carefully and persistently. There is just one storehouse from which they are supplied--the Word of God. R5899:3

To the Spirit -- Resisting the desires of the flesh toward selfishness, and exercising the new mind toward the things that are pure, noble, good, true; the things that are spiritual. R3323:5, 4829:6, 4828:3

Living a spiritual life, seeking to serve the will or Spirit of God in all words, deeds and thoughts. R5562:4

To the best of our ability to understand the Lord's will, lay down our lives. R5934:2

This is done by the new creature, the new mind, the new will, and not by the flesh. R3859:5 If we follow a course with a view to keeping out body in condition for best service, if our flesh has a craving for certain things that would not be for our spiritual welfare, the new creature is to say, "No you cannot have it." R5934:3

The heart of the Christian is consecrated soil. Special flowers and fruits are to be cultivated. These are styled fruits and graces of the holy Spirit. R5899:2, 4829:5, 4828:5

Whoever sows to the spirit will reap in kind. R5665:3, 5226:4

If they wish to attain glory, honor and immortality, they must live according to the Spirit of God, the spirit of God's law, the spirit of righteousness. R5665:5, 4828:5, 3859:5

They must conform their lives to the life of Christ, their Exemplar. R5665:5, 5562:4, 4828:6, 3859:5

Life everlasting -- Everlasting life shall be reaped as a gift-reward, to the those who seek for it by living according to the spirit of holiness. E386; R1878:4

Everlasting life and the Kingdom. R4830:4

Be overcomers. R5934:5

Does not mean that only those who attain the complete mastery of the flesh will receive any blessing, but, unless we manifest an appreciation of spiritual things, we shall not be fit for everlasting life. R5562:5

The spiritual body. R3859:5

Galatians 6:9

In well doing -- To live according to the lines marked out by the holy Spirit through the words of Jesus and the apostles. R5562:5

Not only start out well by making a full consecration, but continue faithful, and not be weary of striving against sin. R5562:6

Rise from the ashes of discouragement and lift the cross with renewed zeal. R5095:4

Not in well-meaning. R1802:4*

If we faint not -- Our Captain will lead us to certain victory, if we faint not. R1859:2

Labor diligently and fervently, to the extent of our opportunities and abilities. R2334:6

Pray in faith, nothing doubting. R5710:1

Galatians 6:10

Opportunity -- After having done first of all the Father's will. E117; SM12:T

Development of character-likeness to our Lord is our first duty. Nothing that we can possibly do for others should be considered as appropriate for taking the place of the work for ourselves individually. SM635:1, 639:1

What God's people are to do for the world is to be merely secondary, merely what opportunity may offer. Their chief work is to be for themselves. SM635:1

Where it will not interfere with our consecration vows. R5932:4

If there are many opportunities for service we are to exercise the spirit of a sound mind as to which would be the will of the Lord for us. R5358:2

Our obligations are limited to our opportunities. R934:3*

Next to the household of faith should come our more distant relatives. R4854:4

Instant in season, and out of season; we should do it gladly. R5358:1, 5644:4

At the expense of our own time and convenience. R5258:4, 3180:3; SM639:T

When our Lord Jesus, for a brief time, had no Jewish companions to preach to, he used the occasion to preach to the Samaritan woman. R2574:5

Let us do good -- Without limitation, in word or deed. R5357:1, 317:4

If we have the Master's Spirit we will desire to do good unto all men.

R5375:6, 5724:6, 5357:4, 3929:6, 2586:1, 2551:5, 2435:5; Q625:5

Temporally or spiritually; especially spiritually. R1593:6, 2879:3; NS271:4

In justice and in love. NS393:3

If any one can dispel the darkness of ignorance and let in light, he will surely do great good. No other work could be so grand as to make known to others God's character, plan and will concerning us. R5357:1,3, 5449:1, 5353:6, 4182:1, 829:5*

There is a higher work than social uplift and "good works." We are to give our life and time to this--the instruction for all who have the ear to hear respecting the Almighty, his will, his purpose, his plan. R5357:3; SM637:1

In doing this work we resort to every lawful means--by the printed page, orally, or by pictorial presentations. R5357:4

In so doing we shall be copying our Heavenly Father's character. He is the Fountain of Blessing. A disposition to do good to everybody. R5562:6, 4766:1, 3946:3

Give a kind word, a smile, a pleasant tone, a little civility wherever proper. R5357:5

Be a good Samaritan, a kind friend, a loving father and husband, a generous neighbor. R2684:6; Q808:2

We are representatives of righteousness and should deal so with others. R4919:2

A requirement for our development into the likeness of Christ. R5932:4

Our blessing is associated with activity on behalf of others. NS808:3

"Do all the good you can, By all the means you can, In all the ways you can, In all the places you can, At all the times you can, To all the people you can, As long as ever you can." R5471:6*

Unto all men -- Be kind to the thankful and unthankful, to the believing and unbelieving. R1588:1

Including our enemies. F189; R4766:2

Including those who have been disfellowshipped by the Church. F290

The disposition to do good to everybody. R5562:6; SM635:3

Defend others, help them to overcome sin. NS61:5

Our efforts that will go toward the world of mankind are to be only the side-glances. R2415:4

If we can find no opportunities to do good to the household of faith then all our energies may be devoted to others. R934:3*

This is in addition to merely avoiding harshness toward those who have been overtaken in a fault, guarding ourselves in sowing to the Spirit and not to the flesh; and avoiding weariness in this good way. (Verses 1-9) R5562:6

Especially -- Chiefly and directly; giving these always the preference.

R2415:4, 5786:2, 5358:4, 2423:5, 934:3*; CR473:2

We can readily afford to let the work for the world wait God's due time while we spend all our little talent in ministering to the pressing necessities of the household of faith. R494:5

Household of faith -- In a strict sense, includes only those who are consecrated. In a broad sense, would include those counting the cost.

R5358:1, 2740:4; SM638:1

Those who have the faith once delivered to the saints. (Jude 3) SM636:1

Both the Little Flock, the Royal Priesthood, and the Great Company, the antitypical Levites. R4654:2, 4389:2,6; NS73:6, 847:3

The Church of the first-born. R4537:4, 4389:6, 2415:4; OV203:6

The Lord's children. R5562:6; Q644:6

Spiritual Israel. R1742:4

All those invited to become the Bride of Christ were previously related to him as members of the household of faith. R4476:3

Opportunity of serving "the Body of Christ" is limited to the present age. R2448:6

God himself is dealing only with that household at this time. SM637:1

We are to think kindly and generously of all those whom God has brought into his family. They should always be first in our thoughts. R5843:2, 4702:6

Be generous, be kind to everybody, but especially to the saints. Every service lovingly and gladly rendered to the saints is rendered unto God's glory. R5818:6, 5724:6, 3946:3, 3939:6, 2755:1

Ready to lay down our life for the brethren. R5358:5, 5127:6, 3180:3; SM12:1; NS61:5

If we have a choice of doing something for the saints or for a neighbor, then we should give the preference to the Lord's saints, whether they be Presbyterian saints or what not. Q644:6

It is our duty to help everybody who is feeling after the Lord and amenable in any degree to the Word of Truth. R5697:1

If these demand all our time we may be doing nothing for the lost sheep, but only helping to perfect those whom the Lord has already found. R5428:1, 5357:6

We are not to think of giving the world the same affection or love or interest that we give to the household of faith. Neither does God. R5724:6, 4766:4

This does not mean that we are to be negligent of those of our immediate households and our special responsibilities to these. But, aside from these, the spiritual brethren should have first place in our hearts. R2879:3, 2448:6

How large a letter -- All of Paul's epistles were written by some one else, except this one, one of the shortest. R1540:5, 2118:4

Although a learned man, Paul wrote very few of his own epistles; because his eyes were not restored to their former strength. R2825:1, 2118:4

He could write only with difficulty. R1540:5

The Greek would give the thought that these words apologize for the use of very large characters, such as a semi-blind person would use. R2118:4; CR468:3

With mine own hand -- In spite of my weak eyes, my "thorn in the flesh." (2 Cor. 12:7) F651; R2118:4, 1540:1

Galatians 6:12

As many -- Illustrated today by some who refrain from preaching the truth on the "hell" question for fear of losing members. R2599:1

Galatians 6:14

God forbid that I -- Far be it from me. (Revised Version) R5596:2, 5919:2

Glory -- How beautiful is the Gospel of the cross as compared with any other! R5919:3

In the cross -- The necessity for Jesus' death as the redemption-price for the sins of the world. R5919:2

No wonder the Apostle makes the cross of Christ the center of his preaching, declaring, "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission" of sins! (Heb. 9:22) R5919:6

Galatians 6:15

A new creature -- "Old things have passed away, and all things have become new." (2 Cor. 5:17) R2129:1

Galatians 6:16

As many -- New creatures, begotten and led of the Spirit of God. R1841:2,4

"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world." (1 John 2:15) R1589:5

This rule -- If we are living according to the rule of the new nature, we must have the fruits of the spirit in some measure, even from the very start of our Christian experience; and these are surely growing. R1841:5
The rule of the preceding verse. Forms and ceremonies are not the rule, but the new life itself, the new creature, led of the Spirit. R1841:2

Peace be on them -- Notwithstanding our lameness and halting steps in following the lead of the Spirit, God gives his blessed peace. R1841:1
The Lord's dear voice brings comfort, strength and rest, in the midst of all the cares and perplexities of the way. R5807:5

And mercy -- Because our best efforts to walk after the leading of the holy Spirit will be imperfect. R1841:2

The Israel of God -- "They are not all Israel which are of Israel." (Rom. 9:6) C62

Overwhelming evidence that the House of Israel was no longer regarded by our Lord and the apostles as the "ten tribes" merely. C293; R1341:1
Spiritual Israel, as contrasted with fleshly Israel. R2086:5, 5092:2, 637:6*; D23; CR485:3

Marks of the Lord Jesus -- Evidences that I am his servant and follower. R5189:3

The blows he had received when he had been whipped and beaten because of the witness to the truth and his fidelity to the Lord. CR432:3, 312:4

The legitimate children of God can be readily identified, not by titles, or gowns, but as the early church of priests was identified--by their love for the truth and their sacrificing for it. R985:4

We are bond-servants of Jesus Christ, and, like Paul, we glory in being so branded. R1738:6; CR432:3

In olden times, slaves were branded to indicate that they belonged to a person. CR432:3, 312:4

Ephesians

General

Ephesus was one of the greatest cities of that time. This may be judged from the fact that just at the entrance of the harbor stood one of the seven wonders of the world, an immense statue of "Diana of the Ephesians"--the deity of Ephesus and indeed of Asia Minor. R4432:2 The home of Priscilla and Aquila. On his third missionary journey, Paul made a two-year stop at Ephesus, reputed to have been next to Athens in its culture and art and surpassing it in painting. Thus it was a religious city after the heathen ideal. Tyrannus had a school near the synagogue, which, under the Lord's providence, became available as a preaching place for the proclamation of the Word, and St. Paul used the opportunity faithfully for about two years. The result was that from Ephesus, "the gateway of Asia Minor," or, as it was sometimes called, "the eye of Asia," the Word of the Lord was carried to various cities by the traveling public, including Jews and proselytes. R4420:2, 4421:1

Ephesus was a great city for magic, incantations, divinations, etc. The worship of Diana and the delusions connected therewith, "black art" etc., were (like all the heathen religious practices) devices of Satan and the fallen angels, whereby the people were made to believe in the power of Diana for good and evil, for health and sickness, for safety or accident. A vessel going to sea in order to have a prosperous journey, it was thought must have on board a miniature "shrine of Diana." The individual who wished for luck repeated certain words or prayers to Diana and wore upon his breast a charm or amulet marked with her likeness or with a prayer to Diana. In consequence, we are not surprised that the Lord greatly blessed the Apostle Paul in Ephesus with powers of the holy Spirit which enabled him to more than meet the powers of darkness. The record is, "God wrought special miracles by the hand of Paul." R2206:5,6

Ephesus was in many respects the scene of the Apostle Paul's most successful work. He spent about three years there altogether, accompanied by Timothy, Erastus, Titus and possibly others. The influence of his work, either directly or indirectly, extended to other cities round about. It is supposed that it was during this stay at Ephesus that congregations were started in the nearby places, mentioned in Revelation as "the seven churches of Asia (Minor)." R3157:3 The Apostle Paul had become apparently more intimately acquainted with the Ephesus church than with any of the others. Apparently, it was one of the most flourishing of them all. He had, by the Lord's providence, spent more time with them, and evidently the results procured justified the prolonged stay. R4458:3

It was from his Roman prison that the Apostle Paul wrote the epistle to the Ephesians, one of the most beautiful of all his letters to the churches; full of deep spiritual instruction. Its Keynote is "in Christ," this expression, or its equivalents, occurring at least twenty times in this epistle. R3165:1, 1570:5

Ephesians 1:1

Paul -- Writing this epistle from Rome. R1570:5

To the saints -- Holy ones, sanctified believers in Christ. Those who cannot think of themselves as saints cannot apply to themselves the precious promises of this epistle. R2987:4

The word "saint" does not signify actual perfection. R2987:4

A name authorized by apostolic usage. R2987:4

Almost all of the epistles of the New Testament are addressed to the saints. R2987:4

All the exceeding great and precious promises are meant for the saints. R2987:4

Those reckoned holy through our Lord. R2987:4

The faithful -- Overcoming ones. R399:1

Believers. (Diaglott.) R347:2

In Christ -- This expression or its equivalent occurs at least twenty times in this epistle. R3165:1

Ephesians 1:2

Grace -- Favor. (Diaglott) R347:2

Ephesians 1:3

The God -- "To us there is but one God." (1 Cor. 8:6) R5748:3

Jesus Christ -- He is not The God, he never was and never will be. R5748:3

The word Christ, or kristos, is a Greek word introduced into our English language, but not translated into it. Its meaning is "anointed." R134:2, 270:2

Our Lord Jesus became the Christ, the anointed, when he received the anointing of the holy Spirit at his baptism. He was perfected as the Christ at his resurrection. R5748:3

As an exception to his general plan for mankind. A193

Predetermined to exalt a certain class, each of whom should meet certain predetermined conditions. R1092:5

God would make to some of his human creatures an offer of joint-heirship with his beloved Son, in the order of the new creation. R3281:1

The selection of the Little Flock was always the divine purpose. This very matter pleased the Father and pleased the Son, and is therefore a part of the divine program. R4398:5,4

These members are "elect according to the foreknowledge of God, the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit." (1 Peter 1:2) R4398:4, 4213:3, 2376:5

God has invited some to share glorious blessings with his Son. R343:2

The election of these individuals is not arbitrary, but according to fitness; the qualifications being justification by faith in Christ and devotedness to God's service at the cost of self-sacrifice. R1092:6

The election takes place in the period from the time of our Lord Jesus' first advent down to the time of his second coming. Q788:2

God's purpose is to select from mankind a Little Flock on whom he will confer Kingdom power in due time, making them his agents in the work of blessing the world of mankind. Our Lord Jesus is the Head or Lord of this Little Flock. R2479:2

Us -- Not as individuals. God had foreintended the gathering of a class, or Church. Q657:6; R1092:5

The Church, his Bride and joint-heir. R2607:1

God foreknew us also by Jesus. R4855:5, 4625:4; Q657:6

As God foreknew the Redeemer, he also foreknew this class. R5228:2

A multitudinous seed was contemplated from the beginning. R2122:4

The Little Flock's selection was unexpected of the angels and of men, and hence was and is a "mystery" to mankind. R4398:5

Christ's associate, not only in the sufferings and trials of this present life, but also in the subsequent glory and great work of blessing all the families of the earth. R2376:5

In him -- Christ. R2376:5, 4780:3, 4213:3

Long before our Lord came into the world, the Father had planned that there should be an anointed company, the Head of which should be our Lord, and the Body of which should be the Church. R5228:3

In his great plan of the ages, God had already provided a Redeemer. R5128:1

Before the foundation -- As a class they were foreknown from the foundation of the world. R1092:5

The Lamb of God was in God's eternal purpose slain from the foundation of the world; so his followers, who are crucified with him, were sheep for the slaughter, chosen in him before the foundation of the world. R4490:1*

Not "from the foundation," as in the case of mankind in the Kingdom. R2607:1

This endless, heavenly, spiritual kingdom was prepared long before the earth was founded--its inception being recognized in Christ. R2607:1, 5228:2, 5057:3, 2479:2, 2122:4, 623:2*

The selection of a Little Flock is not a change in the divine program. R4398:5

In his plan of the ages God had already provided a Redeemer. R5128:1

God foreknew our helplessness under the reign of sin and death, and in his plan made provision for our case in advance. SM539:1

No second thought about it at all. CR460:4

We are chosen during the Gospel age, in order to be prepared to share in laying the foundation of the coming world or order of things. R207:1*

That we -- His Church. R2479:2

Should be -- Might be. (Diaglott) R347:2

Ultimately. F192

Holy and without blame -- Blameless. (Diaglott) R347:2 Prepared for joint-heirship with our Lord in his Kingdom. R2479:2

Complete at last. R1008:2

Before him -- In his presence. (Diaglott) R347:2

In love -- Having in love previously marked us out for sonship.

(Diaglott) R347:2

Predestinated -- Foreknown of God as a class. E109

Even as it was predestinated of Jesus himself that he should be the Head. R4780:3

God has predestinated the selection of a chosen few, on certain conditions, that he might train and afterward exalt them for a special purpose. R1594:2, 827:4

Let the student carefully observe the Apostle Paul's teaching that God has predestinated the selection of a chosen few, on certain conditions, that he might train and afterward exalt them for a special purpose--to lift up and bless the remainder of humanity. R1594:2

Unto the adoption -- Of sons. R827:4

"To as many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God." (John 1:12) E177

This adoption primarily was the inheritance of Israel, but after accepting Israel's remnant, "God did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name." (Acts 15:14) E177 The beloved Son granted to those who accept him the opportunity to receive the adoption of sons. E177

Of children -- Sons of God, brethren of Christ. E109; R355:3

None except this class are begotten of the holy Spirit. R5134:2

More than a righteous life is required of those who would be sons of God. R5134:2

We are children of our Father Jehovah through or by means of Christ Jesus. R355:3

By Jesus Christ to himself -- Through Christ Jesus for himself.

(Diaglott) R347:2

According to the good pleasure of his will-- He called them to this Kingdom honor. R1781:4, 1272:6

It was God's arrangement that the Church might be permitted to share in the sacrifice. R5622:1

Ephesians 1:6

Of his grace -- Beneficence. (Diaglott) R347:2

Made us accepted -- As members of the Body of Christ. R4535:3

Justified us. T46, 47, 80; R1585:5

Graciously favored us. (Diaglott) R347:2

With the Father. We have come near to God through Christ. R2823:5, 5093:2

"Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God." (Rom. 12:1) R4535:2

Believers who have the same sacrificing spirit as our Lord. R4535:2

We have no standing or acceptance or purity of our own. NS350:3

We can maintain the reckoned acceptance only by abiding in Christ. "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6) R1768:6

Since only that which is perfect could be acceptable of God, our acceptance with the Father is under the covering of the robe of Christ's righteousness, his perfection imputed to us. E445

We are acceptable to God because clothed in the imputed righteousness of Christ. R1585:5

We are first accepted and then daily manifest our devotion to righteousness by efforts toward holiness. E446

Thus, by virtue of our Lord's acceptance of us is it that we have any privilege of sharing with him in the sacrifice and in the glory. R5622:2

The Church has come back from the fallen state of Adam. R5093:2
The Lord's people may realize that they are not aliens and strangers from God. R2823:4

Not on the Church's own account and not through heredity. R4019:4*
The elect Church by nature was not superior to the world from which it was selected, but she had "an ear to hear" the divine message and responded and drew near to the Lord by faith and prayer. NS823:5,6

In the beloved -- Only. T47

God would not accept our sacrifice through Christ; we are accepted only in the Beloved One. R5622:2

Not directly, but indirectly. R2823:5

Who is our Intercessor, our Advocate, and in whom alone we have a standing before the Father and may ask or expect any favors. R2823:5

Accounted worthy of life everlasting, if we are faithful. R5093:2

In Christ. God made our sacrifices, of themselves unworthy of his notice, to be acceptable through the merit of our Redeemer's sacrifice. NS215:1

We have no actual perfection. R1585:5

We are reckoned pure and acceptable to the Father through the merit of our Redeemer, and not of ourselves. NS350:3

Our Lord's great sacrifice was necessary first for our actual justification before God. R4535:2

His consecrated followers are privileged to die with our Redeemer as members of his Body. NS203:2

Ephesians 1:7

In whom -- By whom. (Diaglott) R347:2

In Christ. HG260:5

We have redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis, deliverance from the divine curse and wrath, justification, enjoyed now. E436; F159; R1576:6

We possess the redemption.(Diaglott) R347:2

All who accept of their share in this atoning sacrifice are properly termed Christians. R538:1

We gladly accept Christ as our Redeemer. Thus, justified by faith, we have peace with God. (Rom. 5:1) R1576:6

The Apostle does not here refer to the redemption purchased at Calvary, but of our acceptance with the Father. E435

Those redeemed realize that they should not live the remainder of their lives to themselves and their own pleasure; hence, they consecrate themselves to his service. R1576:6

Through his blood -- "It is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul." (Lev. 17:11) R1298:6, 1230:3

"Being now justified by his blood." (Rom. 5:9) R866:4, 652:5

The sacrifice, the ransom. E435

Through faith in the precious blood of Christ. R1231:2, 1025:5

"Blood" means blood given, blood shed, or death. R1336:1

His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins; and for bringing us back to sonship in the family of God. R1230:3
This doctrine has always been opposed by the Adversary. R684:2
Christians have no further interest in any teaching that has any other foundation than this; except to point it out to others as a snare and trap of the great enemy. R1025:5*

Forgiveness of sins -- Offenses. (Diaglott) R347:2

Of our sins, for which Christ paid the penalty. E461

"How that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures." (1 Cor. 15:3) This is the basis, our realization that we are justified and cleansed from all sin in God's sight. R538:1

Preaching this has always been opposed by the Adversary, and he has ever found able assistance, but never with such persistent and deceptive effort as now. R684:2

Riches of his grace -- Opulence of his favor. (Diaglott) R347:2

Heavenly blessings granted to the faithful in this present life. R2762:4

Knowledge of divine good things and treasures of wisdom. R2762:4

Those who come into Christ find more and more of these true riches of grace day by day, and year by year, as we progress. R2762:5

Fellowship with God, including faith, hope, and joy in the holy Spirit, and an ability to see and appreciate with the eye of faith things actually not seen as yet. R2762:4

He hath abounded -- He caused to overflow. (Diaglott) R347:5

In all wisdom -- We need the heavenly wisdom for every step of the narrow way. God has provided true wisdom in Christ. R2263:1

The very essence of divine wisdom is the great Mediator's instruction and guidance. R2263:1

The pilgrim for the heavenly country learns to trust no wisdom but that which cometh down from above and is in accordance with the divine Word. R2263:2

The faithful put no confidence in themselves and their own wisdom. R2263:1

"Who of God is made unto us wisdom." (1 Cor. 1:30) R2263:1

And prudence -- Intelligence. (Diaglott) R347:5

As we could bear it. R827:4

Ephesians 1:9

Made known unto us -- The Christian Church. A26

St. Paul writes of God's favor to himself. CR10:4

The mystery -- The secret. A26; R1251:3, 347:5

The selection of the Church, the Body of Christ. R4625:4

Fully appreciated by his saints, but still hidden from the world. R1273:2, 1781:6

"The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will show them his covenant." (Psalm 25:14) NS740:6

The mystery is that God purposed that the blessing of the world should be accomplished not by our Savior alone, but in association with a select class of saints gathered out of the world, specially prepared during this age. NS740:6

Because we are children of God, we are privileged to know more and more of the hidden mystery. R2074:6

Was to be the ground for the faith, patience and endurance of the saints. R1273:2

The world does not understand because God prefers to keep the matter a mystery from them. NS740:6

Of his will -- Plan. R827:4, 1781:5, 1273:2

God's will. R1273:2

Righteousness. R1781:5, 1273:2

Present evil is not of his will, nor of his government. R1781:6

His good pleasure -- Benevolent design. (Diaglott) R347:5

Eternal purpose. NS544:3

Which he -- God, the Heavenly Father. R1778:3, 3527:6

Purposed in himself -- Previously. (Diaglott) R347:5

Before the world was. NS544:3

From before the foundation of the world. NS750:4

Before the foundation of the world. R1560:1

And had never before revealed. A26

Our God is a God of wisdom, justice and love, with all power to carry to successful conclusion his program respecting our race. NS750:3

Ephesians 1:10

That -- In regard to. (Diaglott) R347:5

In the dispensation -- Or epoch. A220

Administration. (Diaglott) R1269:6, 347:5

Fulness of times -- In his own appointed time. R1594:2, 1273:2

The Millennial age. R3458:1

"Of the fulness of the seasons." (Rotherham) R827:4

In God's appointed time. R1594:2

Following the Millennial reign of Christ. R1560:3

When the divine plan shall have reached its consummation. R5051:1

Lasting from the beginning of Christ's reign for "ages to come." A219

He might -- God will. R3458:1, 5051:1

Gather together -- Re-establish under God's dominion and law. R1679:3

Re-unite. (Diaglott) R1269:6, 1834:1, 347:5

Because it is the will of God. R4498:5

There has been great commotion in the disrupted family of God. R1833:6

It is not God's purpose to allow his empire to remain shattered forever, but he is providing for recovery. R1269:6

Subdue, so that a state of peace, harmony and bliss may everlastingly prevail. R1273:2, 1269:6

This great work is not yet accomplished. SM252:T

In one -- Under one head. R4940:5, 4498:6, 4159:1, 1834:1, 1778:3, 827:4
In one harmonious family, though on different planes of being. C330;
R3268:6

Jesus already is the Head of the Church, so ultimately he will be the Head of all creation. R4498:5

All the faithful in heaven and earth under the headship of Christ whose head is Jehovah. R5058:5, 5051:1, 1550:1

"There shall be one fold and one shepherd." (John 10:16) R3527:6, 4940:6

As many of the world in general who will have their eyes opened and ears unstopped may become one with the Lord and with all those in harmony with him. NS273:1

There will be Jehovah, the Head over all things and the Head over Christ; next will come our Lord and the Church which is his Body; then will come the various orders of angels, and lastly mankind. R5051:1

All things -- Worthy. R1778:4

All who submit themselves to Christ willingly, of the whole intelligent creation, human and spiritual. R1778:4

The Church will be chief; the Great Company, cherubim and angels will follow in order, and restored mankind the lowest order. R4940:6

The disordered things. R1679:3

"For he hath put all things under his feet." (1 Cor. 15:27) R1778:4

All the faithful. R5058:5

Whatever inharmonies we now see in nature must be viewed as incidental to the preparations for the perfection of all things. This perfection is not due until after the Millennial reign of Christ. R1560:3

In Christ -- Under Christ. R827:5, 5058:5, 1778:4, 1747:4, 1273:2

The anointed one. (Diaglott) R1269:6, 347:5

This is well illustrated by a pyramid, all of whose lines conform to the top-stone, the chief, upper, corner-stone. A242

In the great eternity before us. R1778:4

Jehovah delights to honor his Son, and commits all judgment unto him. R1550:1,2

The Millennial day will judge who are worthy or unworthy of eternal life under Christ. R1778:4

Which are in heaven -- Spiritual things. R1679:3

"All power is given unto me in heaven." (Matt. 28:18) A289

Things in the heavens. (Diaglott) R347:5, 3527:6

Work among spiritual beings. A289

The angelic host do indeed give reverence and obedience to the glorified Son of God. SM252:T

Which are on earth -- Human things. R1679:3

Things on the earth. (Diaglott) R347:5, 3527:6

Work among human beings. A289

The remainder of humanity is to be lifted up and blessed. R1594:2
The masses of mankind, living and dead, have never heard the name of Jesus or known of the grace of God in him. These must have an opportunity for salvation through Christ in the Millennium. SM252:T
Even in him -- Even under him. R827:5, 1269:6, 347:5
Eventually united under the headship of our Lord, as the representative of Jehovah. R1747:4, 5058:5; NS230:2
In every plane of existence. NS273:1
Christ is to subject spiritual and human powers when the Church has been selected and the work of judging and blessing commences. R1679:3
Our Lord Jesus the Head, the Church his Body, the Great Company, fleshly Israel restored, and ultimately all nations brought under one headship. R4498:5
Then will the Father rejoice in the grandeur of his finished work and in the everlasting happiness of his family in heaven and earth. R1834:1

Ephesians 1:11

In whom -- By whom. (Diaglott) R347:5
Being predestinated -- Not as individuals, but as a Church, as a class. R4855:5, 827:5; E109
Having been previously marked out. (Diaglott) R1269:6, 347:5
Being marked out beforehand. (Rotherham) R827:5
God foreknew us, the Church. NS544:3
To the purpose -- Design. (Diaglott) R347:5, 1269:6
Of him -- Of God, the Divine Architect. HG377:4; A73
Literally, out of. R1777:4, 1268:2
Worketh all things -- Operating all things agreeably. (Diaglott) R347:5, 1269:6
"All things are of God." (2 Cor. 5:18) R1268:2
By God's overruling providence. A167
All the conditions and circumstances of the present and past. R1778:4
Gradually unfolding the various features of his great plan from age to age. A73; HG540:4
Even bringing about the train of modern inventions. A167
God knowing the end from the beginning. R5115:3, 4855:5
The grandest feature of restitution pertains to mankind itself--the return of humanity to its former estate. NS463:4
God is a wise economist of both time and means; and no power thwarts his purposes. Evil as well as good, under divine supervision, are working together for the accomplishment of God's sovereign will. HG540:5
After the counsel -- According to a plan of the ages. R1560:1
Divine wisdom has foreseen the possibility of a glorious outcome. E412
According to fixed rules, and principles which are unchangeable. R4451:1
The Scriptures everywhere hold that our Creator is systematically ordering the affairs of earth. OV248:1; NS711:1

Of his own will -- Which, for the present, for beneficent purposes, sees good to permit imperfect beings and imperfect conditions to exist. E411
In due time he will establish righteousness in the earth. R5115:3

Ephesians 1:12

That we should be -- In order that we might be. (Diaglott) R347:5

The new creation. F192

To the praise -- For a praise. (Diaglott) R347:5

Who first trusted -- Who had a prior hope. (Diaglott) R347:5

If the Church be a "first fruits," there must of necessity be a great ingather after the Church. R555:6

In Christ -- The anointed one. (Diaglott) R347:5

Ephesians 1:13

Gospel -- Good news. R94:4

Your salvation -- From sin, i.e., forgiveness. We must first be forgiven before we can receive the holy Spirit. R94:4

Ye were sealed -- The saints of the Most High God. R2982:6

Those who are in Christ Jesus are partakers of his anointing which seals. T37

The seal marks all of those worthy of deliverance. R2064:2

All who refuse to live up to their covenant, even though sealed, will be rejected from it and cast again into outer darkness with the world to share in the great time of trouble. R2982:6

Marked or indicated by the holy Spirit given to you. F132; R2064:3, 1658:1, 329:4

It is a seal, or mark of sonship. No more a servant, but a son. R375:2

The seal of your adoption. R1658:1

A seal is an authoritative impression affixed to an important document. R2064:3

The sealing corresponds to the quickening, and is not an instantaneous work, but is a gradual or progressive work. Q634:5

Given the assurance that you shall inherit the exceeding great and precious promises after you have faithfully endured the tests of your love and devotion which God will apply; this is the very cream of Christian experience in the present life. E247, 248

Now in progress, in their foreheads, giving them a mental appreciation of the divine plan and its times and seasons, together with a judgment or testing of all who have covenanted themselves to be the Lord's. R2982:6

That holy Spirit -- Now granted to the Church in the earnest or foretaste of our inheritance. R4634:3

"Grieve not the holy Spirit, whereby ye are sealed." (Eph. 4:30) E247; T37

God's gift of the holy Spirit to the Church, which testifies to their divine recognition as sons and heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ, if so be that they suffer with him, even unto death. (Rom. 8:17)

R2064:3

The Spirit of God is the evidence of our begetting to the family of God.

R375:2

The holy Spirit is from the Father, and he does the sealing through Christ with the holy Spirit, which itself is the seal. E246

This sealing with the holy Spirit is the stamp of God, impressed by God upon all his believing and truly consecrated children. R2064:3

The Spirit of God constitutes the true Church the light of the world.

R375:2

We have now but the begetting of the holy Spirit to this new nature, but we have learned to know our God and to trust his faithful Word. R5497:5

We are not actually spirit beings until the resurrection. A197

The Spirit in us is not the spirit which is in the worldly. R375:2

Of promise -- Not the so-called "third person." The holy influence of God. E246

Ephesians 1:14

Is the earnest -- Pledge. R493:3, 2064:2, 1982:5

Assurance. R626:5; A202

Foretaste; or hand-payment. CR131:4, 470:5; R5507:4, 4634:3; NS266:5

The sealing of the same Spirit. R5497:5

Spirit begetting. NS591:4

What God's people already enjoy of the holy Spirit. NS266:5

Support which we receive from the Spirit while suffering at the hands of the enemy. R424:1*

The change of mind from human to spiritual is the beginning of the change of nature, the begetting. R626:5

The Lord has through his promises given us a foretaste of the good things to come. R5906:6

By giving us his holy Spirit God binds the contract into which we have entered with him. R5907:1

When the Father accepted our offering and our vows to him, and granted us his holy Spirit, he did not give us the full consummation of our hopes, but merely an "earnest of our inheritance." R5855:2

As if God said, "I will give you this now, and I will give you the remainder when you prove that you mean what you say." CR470:5

The descent of the holy Spirit. From the resurrection of Christ to the descent of the holy Spirit was fifty days. HG70:5

Of our inheritance -- The Church is to inherit the divine nature. R4634:3

Future inheritance as the sons of God. R1982:5

Divine providence has made abundant arrangement for the everlasting blessedness of all the sons of God. R2454:3

Which we cannot fully enter until our covenant is faithfully finished in actual death. F445

Which we will receive at the second coming of our Lord and our gathering together with him, as his members and his Bride class. R4592:4

In due time. R493:3

We are to inherit all things; including the blessing of all the families of the earth in union with our Lord Jesus. R4634:3

Until the redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis, deliverance. E153, 441; R3281:6, 2064:5; NS266:5

In Christ is our redemption, or deliverance; for so God has ordained. R3281:6

Our Redeemer was in the world for the very purpose of redeeming man and all his forfeited rights and possessions. R2454:3

The time is coming for the redemption. R16:1

The time for the deliverance is in the Millennial Kingdom, and the Church is to be delivered first. E436

Purchased possession -- Mankind; the rights, privileges, life and kingdom originally given to Adam; and the earth itself; all that was lost. A247; D633, 648; E221, 436, 441; F669; R2454:3, 1006:4, 16:1; NS136:1
When we are changed to receive his glory, this part of his possession will be complete and we shall be perfected with him and be under his direct control. R4634:4

The whole earth is a part of the purchased possession and shall be filled with the glory of God. R4634:6, 2425:3

The garden of Eden was the paradise lost, and on a larger and grander scale it shall in due time be restored by him whose sacrifice purchased it as well as mankind. R2788:3

All that Christ bought with his blood; it includes the world of nature--"I will give thee the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." (Psa. 2:8) R593:3

Our Lord is now the rightful heir, and shortly he will take possession of his purchase. A247

In God's due time everything that was purchased by the Son of God is to be restored to mankind. NS266:5

The Paradise state has been redeemed for man by the death of our Lord Jesus, and his glorious restitution work will be to restore Paradise. F669

The Redeemer will cleanse the earth from evil, baneful influences, and there shall be no more death, nor pain, nor sickness, nor crying. R2425:3

The blood will be applied to seal the New Covenant, under which everything will be brought into line, and then turned over to the Father. R4634:4

In the type the blood was poured at the base of the altar, showing that the earth was purchased back from the curse. T42; R73:1

"The earth is the Lord's" (Exod. 9:29); no deeds now on record are valid; Christ will re-divide the earth, giving its most desirable places to the meek. D310, 633

The purchase is accomplished, but the deliverance waits for God's due time. E436

All who join with our Lord, as members of the Kingdom class, share in that purchase. D648

It is the purchaser's privilege to begin the work of giving life to the dead world. He delays the commencement of this life-giving work until the Little Flock is complete. R1006:4

The Little Flock shall be joint-heirs with our Lord Jesus in the purchased possession, and co-workers in restoring the redeemed race to life. R1006:4

Ephesians 1:16

Give thanks for you -- He prayed for them and sent messengers and helpers to them. R1570:5

In my prayers -- Saint Paul prays to God for the Church. R5797:5

Let us have sympathy for those whose eyes of understanding are still more or less blinded. R5145:4

Ephesians 1:17

Lord Jesus Christ -- He is not The God, he never was and never will be. R5748:3

Christ never claimed to be equal in power. E39, 40, 82

May give unto you -- He is speaking to the Christians, and not to worldly people. (Eph. 3:16) R3167:6

These will have a spirit of meekness. R371:1

Spirit of wisdom -- Not another God, nor a person in any sense. E186

Knowledge of him -- Knowledge of Christ. "The excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus." (Phil. 3:8) NS506:3

Ephesians 1:18

The eyes -- Not natural sight, but the eyes of our faith. R2975:6

"We walk by faith, not by sight." (2 Cor. 5:7) R2976:1

Even Christians, in proportion as they are influenced by error or selfishness and not filled with the holy Spirit, are blinded. R5512:3

Your understanding -- Your heart. (Diaglott) Q358:5

Rather than natural eyes. R223:2*

Certainly the very best kind of eyes. R340:3*

An ability to see and appreciate with the eye of faith things actually not seen as yet. R2762:4, 2975:6

Our eyes of understanding open more and more widely, in proportion as we are filled with the holy Spirit. R5391:1; CR416:5

Paul prayed for Christians thus because of Satan's anxiety to keep people from studying his gracious plan for redemption. SM132:3

It behooves us to have sympathy for those whose eyes of understanding are still more or less blinded by the god of this world. R5145:4

Being enlightened -- Gradually, by an understanding of the truth. F143; R5145:4, 4692:5

Opened by the anointing of truth. R264:3

To see the divine character and plan. R3848:4

Opened to see wonderful things in the divine Word. R2975:6

Opened wider and wider. R5512:3, 5797:5; SM535:2; NS159:6

Some see more, and some less of the love of God. R5512:3

If our eyes are opened to appreciate the light, let us not be high-minded, but fear lest the light should pass from us. R3475:4

Even Christians see only in part, but may see increasingly in proportion as they come into accord with the divine plan. R3475:4

The importance of a proper spiritual sight, in order to discern truth clearly. R5797:5

By reason of sin, man's discernment of right and wrong has been more or less blurred, and some are totally blind to the deeper and spiritual things. R5797:5

Darkness is that which came by the fall of natural man. R5797:6

After having been once enlightened, darkness is the greater by reason of whatever light we once enjoyed. R5797:6

That ye may know -- Be able to comprehend. R5797:5; SM535:2; NS532:1, 159:6

It requires time for heart and head to take in a glimpse of such a wonderful blessing as this which God has provided for the elect. R3168:1

Hope of his calling -- The high calling. R1252:1*, 2414:6, 1710:5

To joint-heirship with Christ. R1252:1*, 1710:5

Hope of his invitation. (Diaglott) Q358:5

Designed exclusively for believers of the Christian age. A26

The mission of the Church is to introduce those who see the light to the full fellowship of the high calling; presently to suffer with Christ for righteousness' sake, and in the future to bless the world. R2414:6

Referred to by the apostles as a mystery, a secret thing; simply incomprehensible to the natural man. R1251:3*, 1252:1*

The blessing of the world. R2414:6, 1710:5

The riches of the glory -- The glorious wealth. (Diaglott) Q358:5

The anointed Christ of glory is a composite one of many members under one glorious Head. R3293:2

The blessing of the Lord, which goes first to the Church, will make her rich--"heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him." (Rom. 8:17) NS723:5

Inheritance -- Used here in the sense of that which God possesses--or has come to possess--he possesses us by giving us certain promises--and if we take hold of them he will own and possess us, and we shall be his--his special treasure, as he puts it in another place. Q358:6

In the saints -- Among the saints. (Diaglott) Q358:5

Ephesians 1:19

Of his power -- God's power. R3207:3

To us-ward -- The greatness of God's power working in his saints. R3207:3

Divine power exercised through the Word of promise. R3207:3

Raising us up to glory and using us then to bless the world. R3207:4

Ephesians 1:20

He raised him -- By divine power. R4463:3; E281; CR58:2

Giving him life on a new plane of being. R3174:6

Christ could never have raised himself. R2795:2

Our Lord's resurrection from the dead implies that his work met with the Father's approval. NS636:6

Not to earthly conditions again, but to heavenly conditions. R4463:3

Was resurrected to the spirit plan. OV353:6

Our Redeemer and Lord was raised up first to be Head over the Church.

R4354:5

From the dead -- Our Lord, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man. R3174:6

God raised him up from the death condition on the third day. R5612:4

Jesus was the first one who descended to the tomb, was raised from the dead, and who has ascended far above angels. R5612:5

Giving him a new life, a new being--making him a new creature. R3167:3

No longer a man in the flesh, but is again a spirit being, now of the divine nature. R3167:3

And set him -- "And am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21) R1829:4

The Father highly exalted the Redeemer. R5416:2, 5391:6

The Redeemer has already reached his destiny of high exaltation. R5263:5

The Father's hand lifted Jesus up when his obedience was fully tested.

R5844:1

Because of his demonstration of full submission to the Father's will.

R5252:5

His own right hand -- Position of favor and power. A92; E39; R294:6

When his obedience was fully tested. R5844:1

"Christ sitteth on the right hand of God." (Col. 3:1) NS636:3

Our Lord's reward for redeeming mankind was glory, honor, immortality at the right hand of the majesty on high. NS636:3

Not only as high as he was before, but higher--highly exalted. R5252:5, 3476:6

Not only our Lord's change to the divine nature, but also his official elevation to the right hand of God. R1829:3

God hath appointed the Son the heir of all things. R3161:2

In the heavenly -- To the divine nature. R5090:4, 1829:3

The spirit plane. OV353:6

The Greek word is emphatic and signifies the chief heavenly condition.
R294:6

Jesus' reward for obedience. R5768:4; E39

State, the details of which we may not now grasp. R4966:5

Granted to our Lord as a reward for his atoning sacrifice. R1829:3 This full exaltation could not have been experienced until our Lord's sacrifice had been made and presented. R1829:3

Our Lord was exalted as Jehovah's Prime Minister in the throne of universal dominion, duly qualified, being made a partaker of immortality, a dignity never before conferred upon any created being. R1829:4

Ephesians 1:21

Far above -- Next to the Father. OV353:6

God exalted Jesus above all others, both for the present and future ages.
R827:5

Above angels. R3174:6, 5612:5, 5416:2, 5304:2, 5263:5, 5252:5, 4931:5, 4835:6, 4595:4, 3845:1, 3378:6, 1542:4, 1510:3; SM74:1; NS551:6

"Him hath God highly exalted." (Phil. 2:9) E394; R5612:5, 5416:2, 5252:5, 4966:5, 3476:6, 1904:1, 1262:6

He is now a partaker of the divine nature, a spirit being of the very highest order--of the same order with the Father himself. R3378:6

By virtue of his resurrection, our Lord has been exalted to the highest plane of life. NS479:1

To the highest plane in the new creation. F65

On the spirit plane. SM389:1

Above human and angelic natures to the very pinnacle of glory and power, the divine nature. This divine nature is the grade of spirit body being promised to the overcoming Bride. R1510:6,3

Jesus sacrificed perfect life and all his legal rights and privileges. His reward for so doing was exaltation from the human nature to the divine.
R4835:3

The Apostle Paul assures us that our Lord Jesus was personally exalted very highly in his resurrection. SM787:1

Far above the human nature. R1262:6

He is the man Jesus no longer. He is now the Lord of glory, far above man's plane and conditions. NS88:5

Not to earthly conditions again, but to heavenly conditions. CR58:2

We cannot be so great as our Lord and his apostles, but if faithful, our glorious reward will be exceedingly high. R4595:4

The Church is said to share in Christ's resurrection which is not to human perfection but to glory, honor and immortality. HG229:6

All the spirit-begotten followers of Jesus who are found faithful will be made partakers of the divine nature--associates with the Redeemer. SM75:1

In the first resurrection the Little Flock will be changed from human nature to the divine nature, made like their Lord. NS551:6

The reward promised the Body of Christ is spiritual, heavenly, and their exaltation will be higher than that of the angels--like their Lord, to the highest of all natures--the divine. NS520:6

God's justice and benevolence is demonstrated by this high exaltation of the man Christ Jesus who was faithful unto death. R3378:6

All principality -- Our Lord's resurrection was to glory, honor and immortality. SM74:1

To the glory he had with the Father before the world was--with and to an added glory. R5180:4, 2318:2

Proving Jesus is not a fleshly being, scarred for all eternity. R5416:2

"Being so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they." (Heb. 1:4) F65; R5481:5

The identity, the personality, is the same, as of the Logos. R5065:4

And every name -- Even to the divine nature. R5090:4, 4931:5, 4835:6, 3167:2, 2317:5, 1510:3, 1262:6, 828:2; OV152:2; SM175:1

Next to Jehovah. A134; R3845:1, 3378:6

He has already received personally much more than a requital for his sacrifice. SM787:1

The Body of Christ will share with her Lord in his exaltation. OV143:3; R2980:5; SM154:1

The Redeemer, backed by divine authority, will institute a heavenly Kingdom in the earth, and for a thousand years reign as King of kings and Lord of lords. SM389:1

As partaker of the Father's nature and sharer of his throne. F65

God has purposed to make a new creation, and calls the Church to be associated with her Lord in the divine nature. R5058:5

The invitation to share with Christ the coming glories and dignities is accompanied by certain conditions: all who share his death will also share his resurrection. R1542:4,5

Those called out of the world during this Gospel age are promised a change from earthly to spiritual nature--they shall be like Christ and share his glory. NS395:5

That is named -- Up to the throne of the Father. NS657:3

This world -- Age. R1829:4

Ephesians 1:22

And hath put -- Subjected. R827:5

And gave him -- Jesus. R5446:3; T36

God gave Christ. R3776:5

Constituted him. R827:5

Our Lord did not call himself to the position of headship of the Church but was appointed to it by God. "No man taketh this honor to himself." (Heb. 5:4) R3276:5

To be the head -- It pleased the Father to have Jesus the Head over all.
NS142:1

Jesus is the Head, the chairman, the leader, the captain of our salvation, the forerunner. CR346:1; OV401:7; R4515:5, 2596:6
Ruler and teacher. R1574:6

Jesus is the Head over the Church, which is his Body. (Col. 1:18) R6013:3;
SM791:T

The Lord, the Head, will always be Head of the Church--the Head over all,
God blessed forever. (Rom. 9:5) R4515:5, 2854:6, 557:1

Jesus came first, and his members have been gradually united to him throughout this age. OV401:7

Typified in the Jewish priesthood by the fact that the underpriests wore bonnets, and in the Royal Priesthood that the sisters, typifying the Church, also have their heads covered. T36

In every assembly where two or three meet in his name when his Word is sought and heeded. R1574:5

To have the first place in the Christ company. R5228:3

None went before Christ, otherwise he would not properly have been the Head. HG131:5

In the anointing of Aaron, the typical high priest, the anointing oil was all poured upon the head, and Aaron's head typified our Lord Jesus.

NS204:1 The true Christian appeals to his Head for direction in every affair of life. R2461:1

In the blessing of all the families of the earth. R2596:6

Our individuality is lost as we become members of the Body of Christ and take his name. Any association that we have in the work of the sin-offering, is all accredited to the work of Christ. R4747:5

Jesus never gave this office to anyone, but claims it himself; any others who claim it are usurpers. R320:4

Over all things -- "That in all things he might have the preeminence."
(Col. 1:18) A82; R11:3

The Apostle carefully guards the Church against any presumptive claims. A82

The true Christian renounced his own will and submitted himself to the absolute control of Jesus, the Head of the Church. R2461:1

To the church -- The Church of the first-born. R270:3; T36

The Christ class, of which Christ is the Head, God blessed forever.
R1855:1, 2579:6

Jesus has been and always will be the Head over his Church. R1574:5

The members of Christ's Body who follow him. HG131:5

The Christ of God is Jesus and the redeemed Church. R751:3

Our baptism into Christ's death inducts us into the mystical Body of Christ, which is the Church, whose names are written in heaven. R5063:5,
5391:6, 5057:1, 2122:4, 1574:5; HG335:3

God's plan for the salvation of the world includes the selection of the Church of this Gospel age as members of the Body of the great Christ under Jesus their Head. NS295:6

The elect, glorified house of sons, of which Christ Jesus is the Head, will be used in blessing all the families of the earth, assisting them up the highway of holiness back into harmony with God. R2596:6
"The elect" of the Lord, called and chosen; and if faithful, they will be members of the glorious Church beyond the veil. CR75:4; OV241:5
God will select from the redeemed race a Little Flock, a Church, a Bride class, to be joint-heirs with his Son in the Kingdom work of uplifting mankind. NS551:6
Different members of the Church are being called--drawn by selective process--from the world of mankind, a people for a purpose. R5057:2
The preaching of the gospel was begun by our Lord and has continued throughout the Gospel age by the Church. R2579:6
The Christ of power and glory, foretold in Scripture, is not only Jesus Christ, but all those who being justified by his sacrifice have become joint-heirs with him. R557:1

Ephesians 1:23

His body -- The Bride. R2122:4, 2376:5 The mystical Body of Christ. R5063:5, 5057:1; NS740:6
Members of the High Priest. T36
The great Messiah would be composed not only of our Lord Jesus but also of the elect Church, which symbolically he calls his Body. NS540:2 The Heavenly Father purposed not to have Jesus alone, but that he should be the Head of the Anointed, and the Church the Body. R5391:6
He likens the Church to the human body, of which Jesus is the Head. (1 Cor. 12:27; Rom. 12:4,5) R399:1, 2122:4, 1574:5
Even as there are many members in the body of Congress, all of whom are under a head. OV401:6; CR346:1
As our Lord suffered in the flesh, so will also those who are members of the Church, which is his Body. St. Peter admonishes us to expect this in 1 Peter 4:1. R5173:4
All who suffer with Jesus, even unto death, will be glorified with him, to become his Body. R316:5*
The holy Spirit did not reach the Body until Pentecost. NS204:1
The Church of Christ was not established until Pentecost. HG261:6
The resurrection of the Church, which is his Body, will be like Christ's resurrection, different from that provided for the world in general. NS616:5; HG452:6
The members of his Body will soon be raised up also, sharers in "his resurrection." (Phil. 3:10) These are members of the great Mediator between God and men, and will have to do with every feature of the work of mediating during the Millennium. R4515:5
The Body of Christ, which is the Church. NS374:4
The great spiritual Body of the Lord Jesus Christ. HG260:6
The Body of Christ, the body of a company of anointed. CR346:1

All who are the Lord's constitute the Body, over which the Head rules.
R1574:5

The union between the Head and the members is promised in the harvest of this Gospel age. NS296:1

So long as they abide as members of the true Body of Christ, they cannot be heady, cannot be self-willed. R2461:1

Fulness -- Completeness. R827:5

The full development of him who is filling all things with all. R316:5*, 827:5

Of him -- The Christ. R827:5

Under the reign of him who is to fill and perfect all things. R1063:6

Ephesians 2

Ephesians 2:1

And you -- The sinner. R4377:5

Who have accepted the Redeemer and are seeking to walk in his steps.
R5093:1

He -- "Faithful is he that calleth you." (1 Thess. 5:24) CR57:5

Quickened -- Made alive. CR354:3, 56:6; NS336:2
Reckoned alive as revived. R5197:4

As becoming alive unto God as a new creature. Q591:2

In a sense, raised from the dead. R3756:5

To newness of life. R3756:5

By the holy Spirit. R1649:1

After begetting must come the period of quickening, of energizing. R4462:3;
Q557:1 Then God calls us new creatures in Christ, old ambitions have passed away. CR57:4

Nobody would reach the mark of perfect love without being quickened. Q557:1

In this vitalizing period of activity, the new creature becomes strong and ready for the birth of the first resurrection. R4462:3

If we have no desire to serve our gracious Father, it implies that our spiritual vitality is very weak. R4377:6

Spiritual activity in the service of God, and the brethren, and, if opportunity permit, activity in the service of all needing assistance such as we could give. R4470:3; Q557:1

Activity resulting from the indwelling of the holy Spirit. The degree of activity in the service of the truth and righteousness will indicate the strength or weakness of spiritual development. R4377:5

The processes of the beginning, development and final perfecting of the spiritual sons of God find a remarkable illustration in the begetting, quickening and birth of the natural man. R3250:3; Q557:1

Jesus specially loved and favored the more zealous and energetic apostles.
R4378:1

Who were dead -- Under the sentence of death. R3165:1, 2133:4; CR354:6
Having no right to everlasting life. R5070:3

Not totally dead, not actually buried. CR354:3

And under condemnation. R4377:5; CR56:6

Trespases and sin -- We are lifted up out of condemnation, we are no longer dead in Adam. R5093:1

Ephesians 2:2

Walked -- The new creature should not walk thus. R4189:3

Meaning one's course of conduct, including thoughts, words and acts.
R4189:3

The course of this world -- This is the walk of evil-doers. R4189:3

Epoch of trouble. R1684:2

The very opposite of the walk of the children of light. R4189:3

To the prince -- At present. R332:4

Satan, the prince of this age. OV109:2; F199; NS810:4

Ruler. R256:2, 5910:1, 5854:4, 5853:6, 5470:1, 4880:6, 4795:3, 2769:3, 1771:6, 1685:2, 1684:2, 370:6, 350:3, 332:4, 210:3; SM195:1, 439:1; Q623:4

The Bible declares that there is a being called Satan, "god of this world." (2 Cor. 4:4) R5209:6

The devil, Satan, who was once a holy angel, but through pride and ambition, he became an opponent of God. R5183:3, 5210:1; HG725:2

Satan, who was the first enemy of the divine government. HG725:2

Satan, blinding the minds of all that believe not. D611; E113; F609;
R2832:3

Satan, whose very existence is denied by many. F609; R5209:6, 3568:3*

Jesus declared that Satan was a "murderer" from the beginning--and a "liar." (John 8:44) R5209:6

Saint Paul intimates that it would be impossible for the Church really to contend with this prince, for he is too wily, too wise for us. R5183:3,
1687:2; F609

Satan is moved with continuous envy and hatred of the Son of God, as well as of the Heavenly Father. R1687:4

He delights to cooperate with all of Christ's followers whom he can seduce. F199

He is a hypocrite, a deceiver, a tyrant and a merciless enemy of all who stand in the way of his ambition. R1687:4

He has power over human affairs under certain divine limitations and regulations. R4577:3; SM546:2

As an angel of light, he has done much harm. R5184:1

Satan, the head of "wicked spirits." R210:3

The prince of darkness oppresses and opposes justice and truth. R153:2

Satan is the prince because the children of disobedience are so much more numerous than the children of obedience. R5854:2

Satan, who is constantly manipulating civil and religious affairs, for the accomplishment of his diabolical purposes. R1134:3

He will continue as the world's ruler as long as he can, or until he is bound. R256:2

Antichrist. R2832:3

He is not the prince of this world by right, but by usurpation. He will be deposed. A250, 251; NS548:4

God, of course, can control Satan. R256:3

Evil continues because Satan's power is continued. R256:2; F609

Who made himself prince over the other fallen spirits. R5910:2; SM548:2

The whole world is largely, though unconsciously, the tool of Satan. R2769:3, 1134:3

The facts of history corroborate the testimony of the Scriptures, that present governments are under the control of the prince of this world. (John 14:30) R1094:5, 152:6

Satan is to be bound; consequently his evil spiritual power will pass away gradually. R332:4; C238

Satan's binding, as shown by some prophecies, will not be fully accomplished for some years. R332:4

Satan's days are numbered and his end is sure; God will destroy him. R1687:5

Fallen man's master. R1685:2

Satan fully entered into Judas on the night of our Savior's betrayal. R4577:3

A great change of dispensation is coming, when the world shall be under the rulership of the prince of glory. NS526:2

Christ shall have conquered sin and destroyed Satan at the close of the Millennial age. R5210:1

The devil will no longer be ruler in God's holy Kingdom. R1771:6

Power of the air -- An evil influence constantly exerted in the world, operating against truth, righteousness and purity. R5183:3, 153:2, 152:6

Spiritual rulership; in due time the "new heavens" will supersede the present "air" powers. C238; R1260:5, 266:4

Symbol of the spiritual throne from which Satan is to be deposed, and to which our Lord and his joint-heirs are to come. R264:5, 668:2, 153:2

Both the literal and the symbolic air. Satan is the prince of earth's religious systems, sometimes in symbol represented by the "heavens." R1684:2, 1134:3, 332:4

This might account for the great floods, cyclones and tornadoes of recent years. R2189:4

Illustrated by the great storm in which he tried to drown our Lord in the sea of Galilee. R3324:2

Demons, or fallen angels. R4880:6, 5910:1, 5470:1, 170:3; SM195:1

The powers of darkness, surrounding and ruling over the "present evil world." (Gal. 1:4) R153:2

The power of spiritualism is the work of Satan. R266:4

These fallen angels are being held until the saints of God shall have been sealed in their foreheads (intellect). As soon as the power that is controlling them is removed, we shall have a reign of evil all over the earth. R4880:6

The letting loose of these air powers would seem to show that God has let go his hand of restraint, permitting the terrible trouble resulting in complete overthrow of social order in anarchy. R5470:1

Will seek to prevent our attaining perfect love. R5603:4

Ecclesiasticism, both heathen and nominal Christian. R1799:6

His kingdom is invisible, under invisible control, and uses men and nations as visible agencies, and produces visible results of the most baneful and atrocious character. R210:3*, 5825:4

God has all along been master of the situation, but has permitted Satan to exercise power over the race to teach a lesson to both men and angels. R5910:2

It may be something in connection with the saints that will constitute the test of the fallen angels. R4880:6

The spirit -- Satan's influence. R370:6

The same spirit works in the present time. R1151:2

That now worketh -- Operates or rules. R332:4

Satan is now permitted to rule, leading man captive at his will. R350:3*; A250

Alienating hearts of men from the ways of righteousness. NS810:4

Although mankind cannot see Satan, yet he can see them, and by mental suggestion can gain control of them. R5183:6

As ruler of the darkness of this world. A68; SM548:2

Putting evil for good and good for evil. F199; A250

In the hearts. R4810:6, 5209:6, 5184:1, 2769:3, 1692:4, 1687:4, 153:2; A250, 68; NS810:4, 238:4

Implying that there are evil spirit beings back of the evil principles at work in this world. R5209:6

This work has been going on for centuries. R5304:6

Evil spirits, not allowed to materialize since the Deluge, continue their deceptions by using human beings as mediums. R5910:1 The promise of the Scriptures is that Satan's usurpation of earth's dominion will cease.

OV109:2

In -- Through. R2832:3, 2769:3

Children of disobedience -- The whole world of mankind. R3457:4

All except the saintly ones, who are children of obedience. CR426:1; R5853:6, 3457:4, 2832:3

The whole world, under the control of selfishness; are largely, though unconsciously, the tools of Satan. R4810:6, 5853:6

All are more or less controlled by the spirit of disobedience common to the whole world of mankind. R3165:2
The most subtle attacks of the Adversary are to be expected through human agencies. R5184:1
So much more numerous than the children of obedience that Satan, through them, holds the world's control. OV342:2; NS238:4
A very multitudinous host of deceived followers. HG725:3
Satan reigns through the wickedness of humanity. SM548:2
A disobedience which has been accentuated in proportion to the degree of alienation from the Creator. SM375:2; NS548:4
Whom Satan uses to oppose principles of righteousness and truth. R1687:4, 433:5*
Who are the majority, while the saints are the small minority. SM310:2

Ephesians 2:3

We -- The Apostle Paul, speaking for himself and the Church. R787:3
The Church. OV152:1; R5838:1; NS570:2, 246:5
Believers. NS402:5
Those whom Jesus accepts as his very elect. NS421:5
Of the mind -- Alienated in their mind by wicked works. (Col. 1:21)
NS823:4
By nature -- Through the fallen nature inherited, as members of the Adamic race. R787:3, 5838:1, 4554:1; E108; NS52:2
Are blemished. R3844:5
To begin with, we are very poor material out of which to form likenesses of God's dear Son. R4837:1
Children of wrath -- All mankind under the death curse. E17; R4998:3, 4554:1, 4388:5, 3165:2, 2991:2, 1081:6; NS384:2, 223:3
"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." (Rom. 3:23)
R3165:2
All not justified by faith in Christ's blood. D242; R1594:2; SM310:1
Controlled by the spirit of disobedience common to the whole world of mankind. R3165:2
Who walk not as children of light, but as evil-doers. R4189:3
We were such when first we heard the Gospel call. R5902:2
The wrath affects even the Church. E145; R3844:5, 2991:2
We have nothing of ourselves that would be fit to offer to God, we must receive the robe of righteousness to cover our blemishes. R3844:5, 5838:1, 2987:4
Reckonedly not including the Church, because they have received the spirit of adoption as sons. E108; R4601:3, 4554:2, 4493:3, 2986:6; CR434:5; Q610:3
Strangers, foreigners and aliens from God. R5100:6, 3365:6
Sinners. Q610:3; R5838:1, 4475:6, 3165:1; NS864:2, 246:5, 85:6
The wrath of God is revealed in our bodies, our aches, pains, imperfections--all part of the great penalty for sin. R4972:6; NS366:3

The world is still under condemnation. CR457:3; R5079:1; NS402:5; Q375:3

We who believe in Christ are no longer children of wrath. HG195:5

The Creator has very gracious arrangements for mankind in general, during the Messianic reign. R4998:5, 5079:1; Q375:3; OV152:1

Even as others -- Still are. OV152:1; D242; R5597:1; NS570:3, 356:1

Until brought nigh to God by the blood of Christ. R1594:2

Hence we must receive through faith our Redeemer's robe of his righteousness to cover our blemishes, then present our bodies in consecration. R3844:5

The redemption of the human race would be incomplete were not all mankind to be rescued from evil conditions. R1081:6*

Except as we would come to the Heavenly Father through the appointed doorway--Jesus. R5902:2; D242

Ephesians 2:4

But God -- The prime mover in our release and recovery. R3165:3

Is rich in mercy -- God gave us aid by the benevolence of his character. R3165:3

Contrary to the views entertained by those who teach the doctrine of eternal torment. R3165:3

For his great love -- We can exercise confidence in God's love as we come to a knowledge of his plan. R3165:3

He loved us -- Sympathetically. R3165:4

Christ's special love for his Church. R1254:5

A comparatively small proportion of the world. R3165:4

Ephesians 2:5

Dead in sins -- Figuratively dead. R2605:1

God's mercy toward us came without our having done aught to merit it. E147

Hath quickened us -- Made us reckonedly alive. R5197:4, 2605:1, 294:5; NS336:2

The new creature must tabernacle in the flesh until it is given its new body. R5197:4

God is no longer treating the Church as though they were dead in trespasses and sins under divine sentence, but we are passed from that by faith. CR321:5

Our quickened flesh, by the grace of God, is represented as pure, desirable in his sight, and in proper condition for the marriage--the union with Christ. R5197:4

A great change came to the saints at Ephesus, and a similar change (in thought, word and act) comes to all who have become the Lord's saints. R3165:2,5

Together with Christ -- As his brethren. E147

By grace -- Favor. R555:3*

This divine blessing. R3165:5

God's goodness and grace are superlatively grand. R3165:6

Ye are saved -- This blessing has come to us, not of our worthiness, nor of our work. We reached this reckonedly saved position by faith; delivered from the sentence of sin, saved from the Adversary's delusion; from God's wrath. R3165:5

While saved by grace now, we still await a further salvation--the first resurrection. R3165:5

Not one will ever be saved except as he accepts God's favor and co-operates with the divine favor and blessing. Q620:2

Ephesians 2:6

Raised us up -- "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above." (Col. 3:1) R154:4

Reckonedly risen from the dead. NS336:4

In the spirit of our minds. R154:4

All the consecrated are in a holy condition now. T22

The saints are already raised above the condition of the world. R2859:6, 4931:5, 197:1*

The faithful of the present age. R5548:6

These new creatures are reckoned as having been raised up out of sin and death into a new condition of life. R3165:5

This is a figurative resurrection from the dead. The real resurrection shall come to each of these if loyal to God. R3165:6

Our Lord's faithful followers shall be raised up still further in the first resurrection to glory, honor and immortality. R2859:6

Sit together -- In communion with Christ. T22

Having fellowship with the Lord. NS336:6

It implies a restful condition. CR322:1; T22

On the Day of Atonement, the under-priests went into the first Holy, typifying those who are seated with Christ in the heavenly. Q694:1

By faith we see the Bride of Christ caught up to heaven, seated with Christ. R1210:6

We are to remain under these blessed conditions throughout the remainder of life. NS336:6

In heavenly places -- Spiritual conditions. R2827:2, 154:4

Heavenly promises. R1881:4; HG333:5

The high calling. R2859:6

In the "Holy," the first of the heavenlies. T22; R4875:6, 3165:6; Q700:2, 39:3*; CR322:1

Referring to our position as spiritually begotten new creatures. R294:6, 2827:2, 154:4; T22; CR407:6; NS336:5

Going into the Holy seems to correspond to our experiences of the present time. R4875:6

Only members of the Body are privileged to go into the Holy and to know "the deep things of God." (1 Cor. 2:10) Q694:2

Where they have the light of the golden lampstand, partake of the spiritual shew-bread and offer spiritual incense to God. R3165:6

In Christ Jesus -- With Christ Jesus. R2827:2

Seated with Christ, much in advance of the general household of faith. R4875:6

Members of the Body of Christ, members of the new creation, members of the ecclesia. R3165:1,6

This expression, or its equivalent, occurs at least twenty times in this epistle. We have life in Christ alone. R3165:1

Ephesians 2:7

That in -- That throughout all. R1273:2; OV24:4

The ages to come -- Greek, aionios, worlds. R22:1*

"In those ages that should come after." (Rotherham) R827:4

We know not how many ages there will be. R532:4, 4653:1, 256:5, 5:4

The ages of eternity. SM683:5; NS540:6 Future ages in which will be fully exhibited the further development of God's great plan. R5320:4

Lasting from the beginning of Christ's reign for untold ages. A292, 219; R271:2; CR187:4, 479:5; OV175:5

After our exaltation with Jesus to heavenly honors. R827:4

The first of these alone is dealt with in Scripture, the Millennial age, during which we live and reign with Christ a thousand years. R5:4, 532:4, 256:6

Including the Millennial age. A219; R5741:4, 200:1; OV27:4

Throughout all the ages to come, righteousness, his will, shall be done. R1781:5, 1273:2, 271:2

Ages of perfection, blessedness and happiness for all, but regarding the work of which, Scripture is silent. R271:5

The first of which is the Millennial age; or rather the age of conquest, for in it Christ is to reign until he has subdued all enemies; and death is the last enemy conquered. HG11:6

Because of Jesus' ransom there is to be an age of restitution. R126:7

All might come to a knowledge of the truth and be brought back to perfection. R345:2

These ages each have a definite time appointed them, and a definite work to perform. R628:1*

Christ and the Church will judge the world in the Millennial day. NS393:5

For a thousand years the faithful are to reign with their Lord; and then will follow the ages to come. R5741:4

The Millennial age will have an end after a thousand years of putting down sin, lifting up the obedient and destroying willful sinners. NS338:5

Following the completion of the Church, humanity shall be granted an opportunity to become perfect, human sons of God during Messiah's reign. R4931:5

In the Millennial age we shall be permitted to cooperate with Christ in lifting up the world of mankind to full restitution. R3166:2, 99:5*

Implying that the glory of Christ and the Church is to be perpetual. R4653:1

God proposes to use a special, saintly class from mankind and their experiences with sin--making them joint-heirs with Christ in the ruling and blessing of the world by and by. R4931:5, 4914:4, 1743:6, 99:5*

Note the wonderful things the Apostle Paul saw concerning the development of the Body of Christ and its work in coming ages. R365:1; HG179:1

The Bride's great work for which she is being schooled is that of the future. HG751:6

The elect class will show forth the praises of God. NS393:4

God's plan will be more clearly seen. R281:5, 143:4

The future work of the Church after the Millennial age would possibly be to people, govern and direct affairs in connection with other planets.

CR187:4

God's children will be amazed when they see how God so loved the world. R546:1, 8:1

A limitless eternity is provided for the showing forth of God's love toward us. OV175:5

The glory of Christ and the Church will not end with the restoration of mankind. PD96/110

He -- God. CR479:5; R5185:2, 4931:5, 4133:6, 3166:1, 2154:1, 827:4, 546:1, 199:6; NS540:6

The Father has a great work to be done and is seeking a people who will do it with Christ Jesus as Head. R5185:2

Might shew -- Will show forth. R4931:5, 3165:6, 1743:6, 546:1; PD96/110; HG751:6

Would exhibit. R827:4

God promises to show. R2154:1

To the world through a "peculiar people." R327:6*

To angels, to men and to every creature. CR479:5; R4914:4, 4133:6

His grace and favor will be showered upon the Church. R4914:4

As we toil upward on the narrow way, angels look on amazed at the grandeur of the plan. R281:5, 143:4

The exceeding riches -- "The surpassing riches." (Rotherham) R827:4

God is rich in every grand and estimable quality. R3166:1; CR426:6

The glory that is to be revealed in the Church in the future. NS338:4

There will be what will correspond to the present beauties of nature, but higher and grander, for those who shall gain the new nature. R3166:2

Which the human mind can approximate, but cannot clearly conceive. A292; R3166:1

We shall share with him in the uplifting of humanity. R5377:4

The future inheritance of the saints in light, if we appreciate our opportunities for serving the Lord in the little things of the present life. R5741:4

We are to esteem that our service here is not to be compared with the things which the Lord has in reservation for those who love him. R5741:4

Grace -- Favor. R134:5, 4914:4, 827:4, 270:3

Divine love is illimitable. OV175:3

God calls into his family out of the riches of his grace. CR426:6

There are coming ages in which God will display still more grace toward the Church than in all these things that he has already given to us and promised to us. CR322:3; R5320:3,4, 442:3; NS338:6

The whole world shall understand the mysterious workings of divine providence. R4133:6

The deep hidden riches of grace for the world are at present obscured by the exceeding riches of God's grace and loving kindness toward us who are in Christ Jesus. R442:3

God will show all who are in the "elect" Body of Christ his exceeding grace. R4914:4; NS540:6

Favored with a clearer insight into the deep things of God, called out of darkness into his marvelous light. R4914:4

Only partially disclosed at the present time. R3166:2

In his kindness -- "In graciousness." (Rotherham) R827:4

Loving kindness. R4931:5, 1743:6, 442:3, 345:2, 143:4; HG751:6, 179:1; NS338:5; OV174:1; PD96/110

In lifting sinners from the miry clay to so glorious a station--the divine nature. R4931:5

Toward us -- The Church. R4914:4, 327:6*; NS540:6, 338:2; HG607:5; OV24:4

The Church, the Body, the Bride class. NS338:5; HG179:1; PD96/110

The Little Flock. R5741:4

The consecrated. R5320:3, 442:3

The jewel class. CR479:5

The Church, honored by the Father as members of The Christ, will have still other glories. R4653:1

Those who appreciate this high calling wish to be where God has invited them to be. R5185:2

Let us never forget that we are a "peculiar people," separate from nominal Christians and the world, having higher hopes, aims and ambitions. R4914:4

Through Christ Jesus -- Who are in Christ Jesus. R3166:1, 1743:6, 827:4, 442:3, 126:6; OV24:4; PD96/110

Who will always be Head over all things. R4653:1

Ephesians 2:8

By grace -- Divine favor. R5446:5, 677:2*; Q620:2, 266:4

The grace of God in Christ. R3165:4

Not of any duty that God holds to us. CR323:6; F105

The grace is not of ourselves. R3166:4

It is of God's grace and not of personal merit on our part that salvation is offered to us. R2286:5

Knowledge of God is granted us as a grace, and brings us to the place where we are enabled to exercise the faith. Q266:5

God gives us grace to follow in the footsteps of Jesus in the way of self-sacrifice. R4796:6

Are ye saved -- Our salvation is of divine favor. Q266:4; R3165:5

A reckonedly saved position by faith. R3165:5

It is grace truly, but unless you do works in harmony with it, you never will be saved. R741:2 It will be by grace that any of our race will be saved. CR324:1

Justice did not require our salvation. Q266:4

It was God who provided for the redemption which is in Christ Jesus. R4796:6; Q620:2

A complete conversion and full consecration to the Lord brings great salvation. R3165:5

Because you have an "ear to hear" and have responded--a blessed experience. R3165:4

Not one person will ever be saved except as he accepts God's favor and cooperates with the divine favor and blessing. Q620:2

We work out our salvation with great carefulness, realizing the promised grace in every time of need. R4796:6

Through faith -- Ignorance is not a ground of salvation. The only ground for salvation mentioned in the Scriptures is faith in Christ as our Redeemer and Lord. A100

By faith we have the merit of Christ's righteousness imputed to us. R4796:6 Including true faith's obedience. R2286:5

It is impossible to have faith without knowledge. R677:5*; Q266:5

To have faith in any statement or doctrine is to have confidence in its truthfulness, and this should only be based on clear evidence. R677:3*

There is nothing more common or necessary among men than faith--we exercise faith in the laws of nature and act upon it constantly. R2162:4

Our faith is not to be credited as a meritorious condition but we are to be thankful to God for it. R2286:5

It is to some extent a matter of our own development. R5446:5

The erroneous thought given by many is that our faith is not our own faith, not of our own volition, but an impartation, a gift from God.

R2286:5

Salvation is the gift of God, granted by his grace or favor, and grasped by us through faith. R677:2*

If we would have faith in God, it is also necessary to acquaint ourselves with his character as expressed in his two harmonious books--Nature and Revelation. R677:5*; Q266:5

That -- Grace. R741:2

Faith. Q266:4

Not of yourselves -- As a matter of course. Q266:4
Not dependent upon our perfection or anything we could do. R4796:6, 741:2
Not because of any merit of yourselves. R741:2
This lesson must be thoroughly appreciated, else we will be continually in danger of falling. R3166:4
We have not the opportunity of glorying even in our faith. R5446:5, Q266:4
It was made possible because of conditions and circumstances which God arranged. R2286:5
Our faith is of God in the sense that he supplies the necessary elements from which that faith is to be compounded. Q267:1
Although we exercised some faith at the beginning, else we could never have come to God at all to accept his favors. R3166:4
Gift of God -- Grace has the signification of gift. Q266:4
Given to us of God. R2162:3
Justification permits us to go on to sanctification--to self-sacrifice. R2847:4
He developed in us that faith by the revelations of his love, through his promises, through his Word. R3166:5

Ephesians 2:9

Not of works -- Our salvation from death is by faith. We cannot do any works that would justify us before God. R5759:1, 4796:6, 3166:4
The perfect work of Christ is the basis of our own work. R4796:6
Not our own efforts. R3166:4
Perfect works are not possible now. CR324:6
If we did good works, we might feel as if there was some credit due us. CR325:2
If of works, it would not be of grace. R3166:4
Justification is God's free gift, based upon the ransom, but if not followed by works, it is received in vain. R2847:4
If one regards works as all important, he detracts from the value of the sacrifice of Jesus. R741:2
God tests, not by works, but by our faith and the degree of obedience rendered. CR324:6
Lest any man -- Unless Christ had redeemed us, we could have no basis for hope of eternal life. R4796:6

Ephesians 2:10

We -- The true Christian. R5967:3
His people. R1506:5, 5402:5
The Church. R5713:5
At first we realize that we are a sinner. R5320:3
Are his workmanship -- The Church is God's creation. R589:5, 5759:5, 5713:5, 3166:5; SM433:3

It is God that worketh in us both to will and to do. CR325:2, 395:2,
420:1, 444:3, 461:2; R5284:4, 4417:6; SM433:3
The setting apart the Father does through his truth. R5320:3
We are submitting ourselves that God may work in us. R5855:6, 4417:6, 4255:6
God has arranged that these jewels be cut and polished after the similitude of his Son. R5119:1, 2404:3
The Temple is being built by the Master-builder, God. R2520:6, 2737:6
A new and separate creation in Christ Jesus. R3166:5
Because having heard of the grace of God, our hearts responded. R4255:6
Prepared for good works, not by good works. R3166:5
The power of God is working in you by the instructions from God's Word.
CR325:3
We rejoice under every discipline because we realize it is a part of the Master's work in us. R2737:6
Not arbitrarily, but in cooperation with the will of the individual.
R5967:3
Not merely spirit-begotten, but spirit-developed in character likeness of the Savior. R5967:3
Hence the necessity for the trials and difficulties of life which are preparing them for heavenly glory, honor, immortality. R5713:5, 2520:6
His work will be so perfectly accomplished that there will be no need of alteration beyond the veil. R5713:5
God's children; Christ's brethren. R5320:3, 5402:5
Divine grace is to be credited with the entire outcome. R2404:4
Created -- Begotten of the Spirit though the Word of truth. R3770:1
In Christ Jesus -- God accepts us in Christ. R3166:5
Reckonedly; in due time, if he abide in him, he will be a new creature actually. R1438:1, 3770:1
Ordained -- Foreordained. R3166:5
Walk -- In newness of life. R3166:5
In the Lord's way of holiness and opposition to sin, developing character.
R3166:5
The new creation should walk in good works. R4189:3, 3166:5

Ephesians 2:11

Remember -- Paul reminds them of when they had no hope. R1435:1*
Ye -- Converts from heathen nations. R503:2
Gentiles -- Without the Law. R503:3
Uncircumcision -- Strangers and foreigners--the other nations of the earth. R1435:1*
Circumcision -- The descendants of Israel. R1435:1*

Ye -- Gentiles. R4368:3, 2442:5, 2086:5, 2050:6; NS49:6; OV164:1

The world. R3707:4

Some who became Christians out of the heathen nations. HG114:3

Were without Christ -- Before. R2604:4

There was no way of life open to the Gentile world prior to the redemptive work of Christ. NS18:3

The Christians of Ephesus, who were a fair sample of the Gentiles generally. CR19:2; R1435:1*

God had purposed the reconciliation of the world to himself through Christ. R3707:4

Aliens -- Outcasts. R1086:6

Gentiles. R5005:1, 4341:2, 2604:4, 1459:3; HG428:4, 386:2

Foreigners because of Adam's transgression. R5162:3, 5093:1, 3893:4, 3707:4

Outside of divine favor and Judaism. R2574:1, 2620:2; HG254:5

Outside nations, the Gentiles, received no promises of relationship to God. PD13/23; R5444:4, 5162:3

Those not yet Christ's servants--the unconsecrated. SM509:2

The commonwealth -- The polity. R2604:4, 1435:1*; HG386:2

Citizenship of their own. R1435:1*

The promises. R284:2

Of Israel -- The whole twelve tribes. C293; R1341:1

The favored nation. R2116:5

"You only have I known of all the families of the earth." (Amos 3:2)
R3467:2

This nation alone had special divine supervision of its affairs and the promises and instructions, through the prophets and the Law. R3467:2

The children of Jacob, called Israel, were God's specially covenanted people. The nations of the world were not called of God as Israel was called. R3467:2; NS370:1

Strangers -- All the world except that one nation of Israel. HG420:3

The Gentile nations. R3467:2, 5444:4, 3893:4

The Gentile converts had formerly been strangers to these things. PT360:1*

Covenants of promise -- Given to only Israel up to the time of the casting off of the Jewish house. R2604:4, 5444:4, 1657:6, 1435:1*; HG386:2

God had made some gracious promises to the seed of Abraham, but as yet they were unfulfilled. R2120:6; NS18:3

The people of Israel had been greatly favored of God in a covenant through Moses. R3893:4 The Abrahamic and the Law Covenants. PT360:1*

Having no hope -- No encouragements, no promises. F358; R2070:5, 1655:5; NS223:4

Without the only real hope of the Gospel. R1655:5

No hope of the unsearchable riches of Christ. R1435:1*

We find the great mass of mankind today to be hopeless, and hence unhappy, burdened, downcast, miserable. CR19:2; R4081:3 They have hopes of their own, but not a Bible hope. R5816:2

The Apostle does not state that there is no hope for these heathen, but simply that they do not have the hope. CR19:3; R5468:2; OV388:5; NS345:3; HG114:4

The world had been in this pitiable condition for 4000 years. R2050:6, 2116:5

The world's hope lies in the future. HG380:3

Without God -- Godless. R13:4

All those who lived outside of the favored nation of Israel. R2116:5 The Gentiles up to the beginning of the Gospel age. R2070:5

Mankind have become so alienated from God by wicked works and self-will that many do not know that there is a God. R5717:1

The world failed and is without any law except what remained of the originally perfect law of nature--conscience. R1499:1

So long as divine condemnation, the curse, the sentence of death, rests against the world, it is evident that God is not yet reconciled to the world, nor the world to him. R3707:4

Ephesians 2:13

Now in Christ Jesus -- United with Christ, and through him united with the Abrahamic root of promise and inheritors of all its richness and fatness. R2442:6

All through this Gospel age. NS306:1

In God's estimation the difference between Jew and Gentile has now ceased. R503:2

Faith in the ransom, given for all, is the only ground of reconciliation with God. R925:4

Ye -- As sinners. R925:4

The Gentiles. R503:2

Were far off -- From God's favor. R503:2

Under condemnation. R925:4

The sinner was debarred from fellowship with the Father. R689:1

Are made nigh -- Within reach of divine favors, blessings and promises. R925:4, 5005:1, 1068:1, 587:1

Through faith in the Lord Jesus and through the begetting of the holy Spirit. R5005:1, 5093:1

Our access is not complete yet, for outward manifestations of God's favor are not yet granted, only that which is by faith. R689:1

Brought nigh to God. R1657:6, 1594:2, 284:2

Reconciled. NS366:5

United with Christ. R2442:6

Hopeful. R4081:3

And become children of God through faith. OV164:1
They are no more outcasts from the Lord and his communion. R587:1
By -- Through. R503:3
The blood of Christ -- It was the giving up of Christ's life that paid our ransom price. R1336:1
And reconciled us to God. R2604:4, 1657:6, 1230:3, 1000:5, 925:4, 284:3; HG386:2
Bringing the Gentiles near to God and his promises. R1336:2, 503:2
God's favor is all centered in Christ; only those who believe in him could have the glorious hope which centers in him. CR19:3
It is Christ's blood that cleanseth us from all sin. R1230:2
We are now members of the Body of Christ and children of God by adoption. R5093:1
And through Christ united with the Abrahamic root of promise. R2442:6

Ephesians 2:14

Our peace -- The Jew received an equally great blessing as the Gentile from the same one sacrifice. R503:3
Both -- Jew and Gentile. R586:6
Broken down -- The time had come when the message of divine favor might go to the Gentiles. HG354:5
Gentiles and Jews are now received on the same terms, viz., faith in Jesus and consecration to walk in his steps. R5101:1, 3764:3
Dispensational change: it crumbled at the end of the 70th week of Jewish favor, 3 years after the cross. R4330:2, 4534:2; Q174:1, 600:T; HG429:1
Cornelius, the first Gentile convert, had been brought into faith fellowship. R3756:4; OV250:3; HG429:1
The new creatures in Christ are made sharers of those spiritual blessings and opportunities first offered to fleshly Israel. R2086:5
The dividing wall of the Jewish (typical) covenant had been removed. R1472:1, 74:3
The middle wall -- Which separated Jews and Gentiles. R4711:3; Q600:T
For 18 centuries God's exclusive favor was to the Jew only. R4534:2, 1472:1
Before the rejection of Israel, the whole world was divided into two classes, namely, Israelites, God's covenanted people, and Gentiles, who were not in covenant relationship with God. NS25:1
The literal wall, in the Temple, was of stone, 4 feet high, with a warning on it that aliens crossing it are subject to the death penalty. R4485:1
Partition -- Enclosure. (Rotherham) R503:1
Separation. Q600:T
The curse of the Law formerly separated Jews from Gentiles. R503:3
Between us -- Jew and Gentile. HG429:1; NS331:3

Ephesians 2:15

Having abolished -- Destroyed. R2001:5, 503:3

"Bringing to nought." (Rotherham) R503:1

Having slain. R586:6

To Jewish believers. R5047:2

The enmity -- Condemnation. R503:3

Opposition of the Jewish Law Covenant. R1231:2, 587:1

Christ Jesus, by the sacrifice of his flesh, abolished the enmity or opposition of the Jewish Law covenant, under which fleshly Israel labored. R1231:2, 587:1

Even the law -- Of the Law, the Jewish covenant. R5047:2, 1729:6; NS142:5

The Jew had been favored by the Law (which was ordained to life). R503:2

Which was found to be only unto death. (Rom. 7:10) R1527:2

Which was not faulty. The fault was that the imperfect Jew could not keep the Law. "The Law is holy . . . and just and good." (Rom. 7:12) R503:2

The moral precepts of that Law never have passed away, and never will, because they are parts of the eternal law of right. R1527:3

In ordinances -- In decrees. (Rotherham) R503:1

Decrees of the Jewish Law. R1527:2

To make -- "Create." (Rotherham) R503:1

Of twain -- "The two." (Rotherham) R503:1

Jews and Gentiles. R6:2, 4879:6, 4495:6, 257:3; NS341:1, 142:5

One new man -- "Of new mould." (Rotherham) R503:1

Spiritual Israel. HG440:3 New nation. NS341:2

Of the Jews and of the Gentiles--a Little Flock--of which Christ is the Head. Q363:3; NS679:3, 658:5

The second Adam, the Christ, Head and Body. R6:1, 4495:6; NS142:5

The seed of Abraham. R6:2, 257:4

The Mediator, the Peace Maker between God and mankind. R4879:6

Perfect unity in one body. NS341:2

Ephesians 2:16

Might reconcile -- "Might fully reconcile." (Rotherham) R503:1

Both -- Both Jews and Gentiles were under condemnation to death.

R1727:6, 970:3, 74:3*

The Redeemer whom God provided was sufficient for both. R1727:6

Unto God -- Jews and Gentiles needed to have a work done for them which would make them right before God. R586:6

In one body -- In the one sacrifice of himself. R1727:6

The cross -- "Through the cross." (Rotherham) R503:1

Shed blood--death. R1336:2, 503:3

The death of Christ met the legal claim on universal man and secured his deliverance from the legal curse of death. R74:3*

Slain the enmity -- Opposition of the Law against both Jew and Gentile.
R586:6

Him -- Christ. R2024:4, 1541:2

The Lord Jesus. Q389:1

Jesus offered himself as a sacrifice unto God, for men. R587:1

We -- Believers who have turned their backs on sin and have become members of the household of faith. Q389:1

Access -- Through Christ's blood. Q389:1

We are to come unto the Father. R1227:2

There was no access unto the Father as long as the enmity (opposition) of his just law barred us out as sinners. R587:1

Unto the Father -- God. Q389:1

The Gentiles may now enter into covenant relationship with God by Christ.
R1541:5

Ephesians 2:19

Ye -- Those who realize their sins, repent and accept the Redeemer as the only way back to God. R2024:4

No more strangers -- And outcasts from the Lord and his communion.
R587:1, 1068:1

No longer condemned to death. R5596:3

And foreigners -- Like the rest of the world, who are not recognized as sons of God. R1594:2, 4989:3, 1733:6

These should not be recognized as our "brethren," since we are no longer in Adam, but now in Christ. R1594:2

Fellowcitizens -- God indicates his pleasure by begetting us of the holy Spirit. R4989:3

Our citizenship is of the heavenly Kingdom, therefore we should be diligent to learn its language. R1062:6*

We take no part in this world's politics, but attend to our heavenly politics. "For our enrollment as citizens is ready in the heavens." (Phil. 3:2, Rotherham) R2039:2

Since we are no longer in Adam, but now in Christ. R1594:2

With the saints -- Of the heavenly Kingdom, and as such should claim only such rights under the kingdoms of this world as are accorded to aliens. A267

Household -- Family. R50:6*

No longer composed exclusively of Israelites, but of those out of every nation. R1435:2*

Ephesians 2:20

And are built -- The Church is built. F217; R1523:3

The saints of God are built. HG736:2

The foundation -- One foundation, which is completed. R81:2*, 333:6

We are building upon the foundations of faith which God himself had established. R1793:6; Q115:3

The finished redemption. R333:6

Of the apostles -- Especially commissioned by the Lord as his representatives. SM461:2; HG736:2

Faithful witnesses. F217

Used of the Lord as his inspired agents. F217

The voice of God to and through the Church came only through the twelve apostles of the Lamb. HG736:4

The twelve apostles, inspired and infallibly guided in all their doctrinal utterances by the holy Spirit. R1793:6; F217

Ordinary men who were specially called and solemnly ordained, continually under our Lord's training. They were witnesses of his miracles, teachings and personal character. R1522:3

Designated as the twelve foundations of the New Jerusalem, the glorious Church, in Revelation. R1522:1; HG736:3

Prophets -- The twelve apostles are referred to in their double office--apostles, especially commissioned by the Lord as his representatives, and prophets, mouthpieces, for the proclamation of his message. HG736:2; SM461:2

The prophets of the Old Testament times. Q115:3

Jesus Christ -- The sure and steadfast rock. R1522:1

Chief corner stone -- The top-stone, laid in heaven, the ideal of the whole structure; chiseled and polished and fitted for its position like the other living stones. E232; CR456:5

Ever since Christ became the world's Redeemer. R5822:1, 3694:1, 3294:4

The head corner-stone of God's plan. C330

Ephesians 2:21

All the building -- The whole Church. R92:4*

The various members. R5245:6; Q119:3

Beautifully illustrated by the Great Pyramid. C330; CR456:6

Fitly framed together -- Fitted, shaped, trimmed and polished for our positions in the glorious Temple of God. R172:1, 5152:2, 4296:4, 1750:1; CR456:5

We as living stones out of the quarry of humanity. R292:2, 5504:2, 4296:4, 172:1

The work of the Gospel age. R172:1; CR456:6

The stones in the Temple differ to some extent one from the other. This might represent our being a larger or a smaller stone--representing the privileges or honor which we may have beyond the veil. R5246:1; Q119:3 Showing the unity of the Church of Christ. R81:1*

The very finest polishing is produced by contact with the brethren. CR456:5 Not until the full number of stones shall have been made ready will the construction of that glorious Temple begin. CR456:6

Groweth -- The Church, making increase for years in the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit. R5504:1

Unto -- Into. R5245:6, 292:2; Q119:3 An holy temple -- A spiritual house. R292:2

Antitypical Temple, of which Christ is the Head. R5504:1, 2060:1 The Church. PD45/55; R2031:4, 305:6

In that Temple God by his holy Spirit will dwell in fullest measure. R5504:2,4, 305:6

The Church's construction has been in progress through the Gospel age--ever since Christ became the chief corner-stone of his Temple. R5822:4,1, 5504:2

The Temple which Jesus has been building during this Gospel age. R292:2, 172:2

The Scriptures clearly teach that the Church is the Temple of the Living God. (2 Cor. 6:16) R5822:1, 3694:1, 3294:1, 2031:4

Through which, when finished, God's blessing shall have come to all people. R5822:1, 3694:4, 3294:1

Christ will be the Head, and the Bride will be the Body in the holy Temple. R1096:1*

Once, God dwelt in the Jewish Temple, but at the death of Jesus, the glory of the Lord departed, and from that time it ceased to be, really, the Temple of God. R305:6, 55:1

This Temple is not quite complete. R4296:4

With what intensity of zeal and fervor should we regard the antitypical Temple, while we contemplate the typical Temple which enkindled such an enthusiasm. R2031:4

"Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God." (Rev. 3:12) B209, 239

The Apostle Paul mentions that the "Man of Sin" (2 Thess. 2:3) system arises in the Church, and professes to be in and of the true Temple. R980:2, 55:1

Whose living stones shall show forth the praises of God to all eternity. R2031:4

Any building which men may put up at Jerusalem might be called a temple, but it would not be The Temple of God. R55:1

In the Lord -- Attaining the glorious character-likeness of our Master. R5246:1

Ephesians 2:22

Ye -- The Church. R600:2, 2508:2

Living stones. R2508:2

Builed together -- Prepared. R1096:1*

It is still under construction. R1750:4, 5822:4, 2508:2; CR457:1

The building will not be completed until the last of these fitted and polished stones is laid in its position. R2508:2

God is now visiting the Gentiles to gather the Body. R751:3*

The whole Church groweth into a holy Temple for the habitation of God. R92:4*

An habitation of God -- The house of God in which he is pleased to dwell. R2508:2, 2031:4, 600:2

An everlasting habitation. R306:1, 55:1

The Temple is completed when the various members of the Body of Christ are brought together and united in glory, honor and immortality to the Head of the Church. R2508:3

When completed, the glory of the Lord shall fill the house--the Church will be glorified. R2508:2

Through which, during the Millennial age, the grace of God shall flow to all the families of the earth. R2508:2

Through the Spirit -- Led by the Spirit, an evidence of sonship. R50:6*

Ephesians 3

Ephesians 3:1

For this cause -- For the building up of the Church, the Temple of God. F217; R1523:3

I Paul -- Am. F217; R1523:3

The most learned of the twelve apostles. R5941:3

The one who took the place of Judas. R5941:4

The Lord's mouthpiece to the Gentiles. R5941:6

"He is a chosen vessel unto me." (Acts 9:15) R5941:5

A well-educated man who had fully given up his own will. R5941:5

Spirit-begotten children of God are amazed at the logic, wisdom and power of St. Paul's writings. We know of nothing in the world that will compare with them. R5941:6

St. Paul's mind grasped more quickly than did the minds of the other apostles the things pertaining to the new dispensation. R5941:6

You Gentiles -- Paul perceived that the Gentiles were to be fellow-heirs with the Jews in the Kingdom privileges. R5941:6

Ephesians 3:2

To you-ward -- The Gospel Church. R435:4

Ephesians 3:3

By revelation -- Special revelation. R435:5

From the Lord. R435:2, 2033:2

God gave Paul wonderful revelations concerning the mystery. R369:1

His writings are especially inspired. R435:2

Granted to instruct them concerning things to come. R1525:6

Paul's vision of the third heavens or Millennial Kingdom, wonderfully influenced his writings. R1525:6

The sights shown to Paul concerning the development of the Body of Christ and its future work. R365:1

St. Paul had visions and revelations more than had all the other apostles of the Lord together, giving him wonderful insight into divine things.

R5941:5, 435:6

If we reject Paul's testimony regarding this revelation to him, we should reject all of his teachings on every subject. R435:5

He -- God. R435:4

Made known -- Paul writes of God's favor to himself. NS398:6

Unto me the mystery -- Unto Paul, as our Lord's instrument. R369:4

A great mystery--a great secret. NS142:2; F199

This secret is "Christ in you, the hope of glory." (Col. 1:27) NS295:6

"The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will show them his covenant." (Psa. 25:14) SM152:2

The high calling. B202; R1523:3

The Church. R369:4

The peculiar relationship between Christ and the Church. R5100:2

The Messiah was to be, not an individual, but a company gathered from amongst many nations under one headship. R5549:2; NS697:1

The deep truths of the gospel concerning the high calling of the Church, The Christ. R1523:3; F217

The Gospel age has been devoted to the development of the Body of the Mediator. R5300:5

Hidden from previous dispensations and ages. R5549:2, 2208:6

That which had not been known previously. R435:4

The due time had come for revealing to the Church the divine plan respecting her participation with Christ in the blessing of all the families of the earth. R2490:2

That Messiah will be spiritual, not earthly. NS697:1

That Messiah was to be a spirit being and that the Church, selected during this Gospel age, are to be with him and like him on the spirit plane.

NS443:1

Our Redeemer proved himself worthy to be the Father's agent in carrying out all the great mystery of God. R2208:6

Of the divine plan, hidden in parables, figures, symbols from the world and from the nominal Christian, but not hidden from the consecrated children of God. R2208:5

It will not be finished until the end of this Gospel age. R368:3; F199

Ephesians 3:4

Ye may understand -- Only a special class can understand this mystery.

R5549:3

We are indebted to Paul for a clear record of how we may become members of this mystery band. R369:4

My knowledge -- Paul's knowledge of God's plan. R365:1

A knowledge of the mystery. R435:5

He possessed a knowledge of "the deep things of God," casting a reflection upon all that he wrote. R435:6

Paul recognized his own favor from God in respect to the knowledge of Christ. NS506:3

Paul's writings have a rich depth possessed by no other New Testament writer. R365:1

In the -- Of the. R435:4

Mystery of Christ -- The close, intimate relationship between Christ and his faithful followers. R4434:3

No one can appreciate this mystery unless he is begotten of the holy Spirit. R5100:2

Ephesians 3:5

Which -- The high calling. B202

These truths relative to God's plan for the blessing of all mankind.

R682:2, 414:2

In other ages -- Past ages and dispensations. F199; R217:5; NS295:6

In the Patriarchal and Jewish ages. R368:2

Before the Gospel age. R1533:4

God has not been selecting the Christian Church from the beginning of human existence. B202

The call and favor to those of past ages were to earthly honors, earthly glory, and everlasting life as human beings. B202

Was not made known -- Hid from other ages. R435:5; NS697:1; SM152:2

These prizes of joint-heirship and immortality. R217:5

Immortality, promised to those of the Gospel Church who overcome, was never known of before this Gospel age. R252:3

Dimly seen until the Gospel age began to dawn. R414:2, 919:4, 658:2

To this day is understood by the truly consecrated only. R5549:3, 5320:3, 33:2

Since the gifts and callings of God are unmerited favors, no injustice is done in not offering others of past ages the same favor. B202

As it is now -- During this Gospel age. R217:3, 5549:3

Since Pentecost. R368:2

"Now is the accepted time." (2 Cor. 6:2) R1533:4

"But now is made manifest to his saints." (Col. 1:26) R368:2

We can understand prophetic Scriptural statements only as they become due.

R658:2, 919:4, 414:4

Revealed -- Due to be understood. NS295:6

God's revelation of his plans is progressive. R919:5, 658:4, 414:4

God had never before revealed the mystery (secret) of his will. A26

The Apostle saw a prize that inspired his zeal to the point of fervency.

R1533:4

His holy apostles -- The Lord's chosen agents. R1524:4

His saints. R217:3; NS697:1, 295:6; SM152:2

Justified and consecrated; and so reckoned holy. R1523:3

Whom God set in his Church. R435:5

Twelve apostles, and we have their words of reproof, correction and instruction today. R435:5

Whose writings are the basis of proper Christian faith today. R435:5

They were not only to bear historic testimony of Christ, but were specially prepared through the holy Spirit to teach the deep things of

God. R1523:3

God used them as his mouthpieces to communicate to the Church truth relative to his plans. A26

While Paul was not of the original twelve apostles, he was specially appointed to be an apostle, and his teachings prove it. R435:5

And prophets -- Public expounders. R217:3

Teachers. R435:4

But not now understood by the world. R435:5

By the Spirit -- The holy Spirit, a guide into all truth and a revealer of things to come. R3052:3

Ephesians 3:6

The Gentiles -- These called from amongst the Gentiles. R2126:4

Believing Israelites, as well as Gentiles, may be grafted into the spiritual vine by faith. R201:2

The Jews resented sternly the suggestion that any except their own elect nation could share Kingdom honors. R1095:2

Fellowheirs -- Same nature with our Redeemer. SM152:2

Heirs of divine glory. B202

Joint-heirs and co-workers with Christ. B202

Any of the natural fleshly seed of Abraham may give up their earthly promises and become fellow-heirs with the Gentiles. R201:2

Of the same body -- Members of Christ's Body, who will, if faithful, be given immortality. E396 The Messianic Body, under its anointed Head, Jesus. F199; R201:2

Priesthood, or holy nation, with the remnant of all Israel which received Christ. R2126:4

The Head of which has "Life in himself." (John 5:26) E396

It was not for some years after that they learned, that the Gentiles were to be fellow-heirs of the same promises. R1095:2

Partakers -- Sharers in the first resurrection. SM152:3

The entire Church class is to be sharer with the Redeemer in the sufferings of the present life and in the glories of the future. SM152:3

Ephesians 3:8

Less than the least -- The very lowest. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

Humility was a characteristic of the Apostle Paul. R3537:3

Paul frequently referred to his persecutions of the Christians with contrition. But, having accepted forgiveness in Christ, he put away the things behind him. R1885:4

Saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

Is this grace given -- Was this favor given. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

Paul labored to testify to his appreciation of the grace bestowed. R1885:4

That I should preach -- Announce the glad tidings. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

Devoting himself to the cause of the crucified one. R1885:4

Among the Gentiles -- Among the nations. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

The Gentile can share equally with the Jew. HG79:5

Unsearchable riches -- Boundless wealth. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

That are in God's great gift--his Son. R1679:5

Christ -- Anointed one. (Diaglott) R1679:5; HG729:3

Ephesians 3:9

And to make all men see -- "Even to enlighten all." (Diaglott) HG729:3; R1679:5

Causing us to understand. R227:1

What is -- What are the conditions of. R369:4

The fellowship -- The method of administration or operation. R1679:5; HG729:3

The terms under which participation in the new creation may be obtained. F217

We must have fellowship in the sufferings of Christ if we would share his coming glory. R369:4

Wonderful grace is bestowed on those called to fellowship in this mystery. A88

Of the mystery -- Of that secret plan. R1679:5, 3192:4; CR10:4; HG729:3

The Gospel Church, not our Lord Jesus alone, but the entire Church with him. R3192:4,5; HG178:6

The hidden mystery of God. R3192:4, 4531:5

God's redemptive plan. R1679:5

Of joint-heirship with Christ. R1523:3

Which is Christ in you. HG178:6

During past ages, this mystery of the spiritual seed was hid in earthly promises, until the Spirit through Paul revealed it to the Church. R218:6

The terms of fellowship in this mystery. R1523:3

So long kept secret, and hidden in promises, types and figures. A88

The fact that during this Gospel age God is selecting from mankind some to be joint-heirs with Jesus in the Kingdom. R3937:3

God did not intend that the mystery should be understood except by the faithful, until the great day of revealing. R3193:1

This mystery is not intended to be understood by the world or nominal Christians, nor even by the true Christian who is not fully consecrated to the Lord. R3192:4

Children of God are privileged to know more and more of the hidden mystery and appreciate the divine plan. R2074:6 The mystery will be finished when the Church is complete. R369:4

God has glory in reservation for this mystery Church of which Jesus is the Head. R369:4

We are just on the eve of the finishing of this mystery. R369:4

There was no mystery class before Pentecost. HG178:6

The work following the completion of this mystery must be an immense work, worthy of such great preparations. A88

It is God's method of dealing with Satan, and God's dealing with the whole Christ. CR45:5

The beginning -- Our great Redeemer was the very first and chief of God's creatures. R1642:1

Our Lord Jesus existed prior to his incarnation, and in a more exalted nature and condition. R1673:3

Hath been hid in God -- Kept secret. R219:1

Until the Gospel age. R1679:5; HG729:2

A mystery which has been hid so long suggests that the work that is to follow its completion must be an immense work, worthy of such preparations. A88

God arranged the earthly promises so as to hide the spiritual promises until the due time. R218:6

The sharing of the Body with the Head both in the sufferings of this Gospel age and also in the glory to follow. R227:1

Created all things -- Including Satan, who was originally perfect and upright. F612

Including angels and men. R1642:1

By Jesus Christ -- Our great Redeemer, the very first and chief of God's creatures. R1642:1

Our Lord Jesus existed prior to his earthly life in a more exalted nature and existence. R1673:3

Ephesians 3:10

To the intent -- In order that. (Diaglott) R1552:5

That now -- Henceforth. R1679:6; HG729:3

In his own appointed time. R1594:2

During the Gospel period. R1149:2*

The principalities -- Governments. (Diaglott) R1679:6; HG729:3

And powers -- Authorities. (Diaglott) R1679:6; HG729:3

In heavenly places -- In the heavenlies. (Diaglott) R1679:6; HG729:3

To the Church; not earthly. R1149:2*

Might be known -- Might be made known. R3694:1, 3294:4, 2750:4, 2238:4, 2055:4, 1910:4, 1750:4, 1679:6

Is to be made known. HG729:4

By the church -- Through the instrumentality of the Church. R1679:6; HG729:3

Congregation. (Diaglott) R1679:6; HG729:3

To lift up and bless the remainder of humanity through this trained, exalted and empowered few. R1594:2

The manifold -- Much diversified. (Diaglott) E17, 413; F62; R1682:2, 1679:6; HG729:3

God is not limited in his operations. E413

Wisdom of God -- Manifested in the creation of the rose, pink and pansy; cherubim, seraphim, angels and men. F62; E413

Manifested in choosing different methods of dealing with fallen angels and fallen men. E413; R1679:6; HG729:3

Ephesians 3:11

The eternal purpose -- A plan of the ages. (Diaglott) R1679:6, 1560:1; HG729:3; OV406:1

God's eternal purpose. NS544:3

No human mind ever originated such a great plan. It is surely divine, surely Biblical. It is of God. OV407:3

Billions of our race have had a great schooling time along the lines of sin during the past 6,000 years. OV406:2

All the experiences of the present life will have a bearing upon the members of the fallen race during their restoration in the incoming age. OV406:2

The divine purpose from the beginning was to gather out from mankind a Little Flock who will, with their Lord, bless, uplift and instruct mankind in the ways of the Lord during the Millennial age. NS544:3

When our race came under the death sentence, God might have cut us off more quickly had he not had this plan in mind. OV406:1

God planned to redeem man from the death condition, and to restore the race in due time. OV406:1

God planned that mankind should have experiences of pain and death to learn needful lessons. OV406:2

Final death will result from the continued practice of sin. OV406:2

God always maintains his justice, and he always maintains his love; and we are blessed by both. OV406:5

Which he purposed -- Love had beforehand arranged a plan whereby redemption would come. OV406:3

As we study the matter, we can see great wisdom in God's course. OV406:3

Christ Jesus our Lord -- Our blessed Lord Jesus, through whom the whole plan is consummated. OV407:1

Ephesians 3:12

And access -- To the Father. R1227:2

Ephesians 3:14

I bow my knees -- The Apostle Paul prayed that the Church might attain more of God's love. NS622:1

He prayed for them and sent messengers and helpers to them. R1570:5, 2137:4; HG745:6

Unto the Father -- And God. R3911:6

Nevertheless, there is nothing wrong in our addressing a petition to our Lord Jesus direct. R3911:6

Our Lord Jesus Christ -- The Messiah, the Son of the living God, the Redeemer of the world. R3911:6

Ephesians 3:15

Of whom -- In whom. R3268:6

The whole family -- Of God. R3268:6, 1833:1, 1116:5

All of God's creatures on various planes of being. R3268:6; C330

Will be fully recovered from the fall and established in righteousness. R1560:4

Then "there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." (John 10:16) R2673:6

God bears a father's love to all his intelligent creatures. R1833:1

"For thy pleasure they are and were created." (Rev. 4:11) R1833:1

Is named -- The world will be brought under the control and under the name of Christ. R4498:5

Ephesians 3:16

That he would grant -- He is speaking to the Christians, and not to worldly people. R3167:6

To be strengthened -- That they might grow in the knowledge of God. R2137:4

The inner man -- The new nature. R237:2*

Ephesians 3:17

That Christ -- The spirit of Christ. E224

Dwell in your hearts -- Sit as king, ruler, director of every thought, word and deed. E224

A measure of blindness continues with us for some time after we have accepted Christ. HG745:6

That ye -- The Apostle writes to the Church. OV57:4; NS723:6
This enlightened class. R2712:2

Grounded in love -- In the holy Spirit or disposition. E224

The Apostle Paul urges this class to grow in love. R2712:2

Love is the spirit of all who are truly members of the Body of Christ. R2649:6

Seeking to have love perfected in them. R2694:4

The great need of the Church today. NS622:4; R32:4*

Undoubtedly, love is the principal thing to be studied, to be appreciated and practiced in our lives. R2649:4

Growth in knowledge will keep pace with growth in love. R2649:5

Only those who take this standpoint can make thorough progress in grace and knowledge. R2649:4

When knowledge serves its proper purpose, it brings us to the appreciation of the love that is of God. R2649:4

From this attainment comes our blessing and the world's blessing. NS622:4

The word love is as warming and cheering correspondingly as the words hatred and selfishness are cold and discouraging. In every human being there is a craving for sincere love. NS619:2

Ephesians 3:18

May be -- So as to be. R2137:4

Able to comprehend -- Enabled. R2587:6, 2581:4; SM425:3

To see more clearly. OV33:2

The secret of the Lord. R2210:3

By the holy Spirit. R2892:4

"Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God." (Luke 8:10) R3328:4

To come to a clear knowledge of the truth. R5145:4, 2941:3, 2210:3

This glorious plan of God. NS295:6, 400:2

None but the consecrated, the spirit-begotten, can comprehend. R3479:3

By feeding upon the words of God. R3059:3

An ability to discern spiritual things. R2941:3; Q748:4

It was the longing desire to comprehend. R589:2

What is almost impossible to one blinded by the doctrine, "Ye shall not surely die." (Gen. 3:4) F622

The opening of the eyes of understanding of Christians is gradual. OV50:2, 57:4; R4089:5, 3328:1

The eyes of our understanding should be opened widely to see the length and breadth and height and depth of the love of God. PD44/53; R5719:1, 4118:1, 2587:6

When we enter the Lord's family, we are only on the threshold of knowledge and appreciation, and have need of progress and growth. R3167:6

The due time has come for the lifting of the veil of ignorance and superstition. OV33:2

The Apostle Paul prayed to the Lord for understanding for the early Church. HG390:2

The various denominations have been blinded to a large extent to the light of the divine Word by Satan's original lie. F623

In order to understand the Bible, we must come into the attitude of pupils of Christ and be taught of him. Q748:4

With all saints -- The saintly new creation. SM43:3

The Apostle's prayer included us. R4114:3

This special class, "God's elect." R2049:1

We are trusting in the same Savior and in the same Father. R3066:2

The Lord's saints constitute the most secret society on earth. NS400:2

In proportion as the saints receive of the holy Spirit, holy thoughts replace unholy thoughts of the natural man. R2892:4

There is a ministry of evil in respect to the saints--in their testing, polishing, refining and proving as overcomers. R3168:2

More than an elect few are eventually to reach eternal life through the Redeemer of mankind. SM42:3

God is electing these in order that through them, with Christ Jesus, as the elect and foreordained "seed of Abraham," all the families of the earth shall be blessed. R2049:1

Breadth, and length -- No man can measure. R2892:4

The divine plan will continue to open before them. R2649:5

All Christendom has erred in respect to this, as evidenced by conflicting creeds. OV174:1

Depth, and height -- Of God's love. SM425:3; NS332:1

Of the love of Christ. SM42:2 Of love divine, all love excelling. OV33:2

Of God's wisdom, justice, love and power. NS384:4

Depths of the divine plan. R3168:4, 3066:2

Of the mystery. NS400:1; CR11:3

Full comprehension. NS622:4

God's Word, as a telescope, beholds the beauty of God's divine character and splendor of the divine plan. R2892:4

We are unable to appreciate the love of God. NS544:4

Our forefathers were generally in considerable darkness in respect to this. SM42:2

Ephesians 3:19

To know -- Appreciate. R2649:4; E224

The Lord's people have been enabled to grow in grace and in knowledge and in love. F219

Not all have this opening of the mental eye. Only the sincere, honest-hearted may enjoy this blessing, this clearer vision. R2587:6

The love of Christ -- The love of God in Christ. NS622:4

The love of God that has made a plan of salvation that is world-wide. HG186:1

The love of God was completely obscured by the darkness of the medieval period, when doctrines of demons got full hold upon the minds of the people, and the Bible was out of use for twelve hundred years. SM132:4

For the fallen angels as well as for fallen man. R1680:4

To know him is to love him; and we cannot love him without knowing him. R1997:1*

Passeth knowledge -- Human knowledge. F220; R2581:4, 2137:4, 2049:1

Which passeth all understanding. SM42:1, 132:3, 42:2; R5145:4, 3328:4, 2712:2, 2595:5, 2137:4; CR11:4; NS834:4, 544:5, 532:1, 400:1, 235:6, 159:6; HG186:1; OV174:1

Mere human understanding. R2049:1

Surpassing all of our expectations. R4118:1

But which is revealed in the holy Scriptures. Q748:4 Be filled -- With the Spirit. E225

A filling with his spirit, mind and disposition, which is a gradual work. NS621:5

The Lord would have us come into this condition of earnest desire for filling with his Spirit of holiness. E224

The grand ultimatum of Christian attainment. R2064:6

When we pray to be filled with the Lord's Spirit, we are to look about us and find the provision which he has made and directed for the answer to these prayers. E225

Fulness of God -- The Father's Spirit in full measure. E224

Holiness of God. NS621:5

God-like character. R5901:2*

God's loving benevolence toward us. R2163:6*

In proportion as we are emptied of all things else, then we are ready to receive of his fullness. E224

Only the Little Flock will be born into the Father's express image.

R385:2,3

It is our duty daily to press toward this mark of holiness. R2064:6

Toward this end every child of God is constantly aspiring and should note degrees of progress. R2064:6

Ephesians 3:20

Unto him -- God. R4100:3

Our Father, who recognizes even our thoughts. R90:3

That is able to do -- The Scriptures say God is able. R5901:3*

That he will do. NS455:2

In his own due time. R1178:1

Unto the faithful. NS468:6

Exceeding abundantly above -- Exceedingly, abundantly more than.

SM532:1; R4100:3, 3166:1; NS468:6, 455:2, 391:5; HG390:2

All that we ask -- All that you could ask. R2699:4

Of blessings and favors. HG390:2; SM532:1

Or at present imagine. R1178:1

God can do not only as much as you can conceive or ask, but abundantly more. R5901:3*, 4100:3

According to the riches of his grace and his loving-kindness toward us in Christ Jesus. R3892:4, 4100:3

To express our wants makes a deeper impression on our own hearts. R90:3*

Or think -- Or expect. NS455:2

The power -- God's power. R5380:4, 3892:5

It takes real faith to believe God can make you holy or Christ-like.

R5901:3*

Worketh in us -- "It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do." (Phil. 2:13) R3586:2

To do his good pleasure. R3892:5

God's works, incited by his Word and Spirit. R3586:2

The power of God works in us to live separate from the world, overcoming the world, the flesh, the Adversary. R3892:5

These works are not ours as men but as new creatures, members of the Body of Christ. R3586:2

Ephesians 3:21

In the church -- By and through the Church. T98

Throughout all ages -- Indicating that mankind will always praise the Lord through his anointed. T98

Ephesians 4

Ephesians 4:1

The prisoner -- Who left all to follow the Master, counting home comforts as loss and dross, enduring stripes, imprisonments and hunger. R832:5

Beseech -- Exhort. (Rotherham) R768:1; F239

You -- The new creation. R4189:3

Members of the Body of Christ F239

Believers. R2020:1

Not the world, but the saints. R1594:3

Walk worthy -- "That ye might walk worthy of the Lord." (Col. 1:10)

R2020:1

And not stumble. B28

Let us not forget him who set us an example that we should walk in his footsteps. R832:5

In Jesus' footsteps of self-denial. R832:2

So that you will be an "overcomer." R2020:4

To share the throne and glory of the great overcomer Jesus. R832:2

Whereunto all living believers have been called. R2020:1

Being fully consecrated. R2020:3

By a full surrender of themselves to the Lord. R2020:3

Making their calling and election sure. R2020:1

The Little Flock (Luke 12:32), shall be esteemed worthy to share the throne and glory of the great overcomer, Jesus. R832:2

So that you may not be rejected by the Lord as unworthy of becoming his Bride. B28

We become dead to the world and alive toward God. R2020:3

If we love houses, lands, wife, children or any other thing more than our Lord, we are not worthy of a place among his disciples to whom he promised the Kingdom. R832:3,4

"That ye may be accounted worthy to escape all those things that shall come to pass." (Luke 21:36) These will escape by being gathered through death to glory before the terrible severity of the world's trouble comes. R2020:4

It is because the Great Company does not walk worthily that it fails to receive the great reward. R2020:1

The vocation -- Our vocation is that of servants of God. R4189:4

The calling. (Rotherham) R768:4

Of divine service. R2020:1

For the glory of their King. R2020:1

The very highest of all; the representative of the Lord and Master. R4189:3; CR36:1

No earthly avocation should be permitted in any degree to hinder the service which we have undertaken as children of God. R4189:4

Wherewith ye -- To these belong all the exceeding great and precious promises of God's Word. R2020:1

Are called -- To glory, honor and immortality for the future, with Christ, the Lord. R2020:2

Our Lord desires us to make our calling and election sure, to win the great prize he has set before us. R832:2

Ephesians 4:2

Lowliness -- Of mind. (Rotherham) R768:4

The Lord Jesus was meek and lowly in heart. (Matt. 11:29) R1921:1

And meekness -- The Lord has always chosen the meek for every great work. R1921:1

Meekness was a marked characteristic of all the prophets and Ancient Worthies. R1921:1

Moses was the meekest man in all the earth. (Num. 12:3) R1921:1

Remembering your own unworthiness and insufficiency except as God is pleased to work through you. R1920:5

And not in a combative spirit. R1920:5

Longsuffering -- Greek, makrothunia, corresponding to the common thought of patience. R2790:6

Forbearing -- Bearing with. (Rotherham) R768:1

Not chiding and marring the joy of others. R3214:6

In love -- Affecting all the affairs of life. R2649:4

Ephesians 4:3

Endeavouring -- Giving diligence. (Rotherham) R768:4 Doing all in our power. R4391:5

Earnestly. R1895:4

The Apostle exhorts all of the saints. R1594:2

To keep -- To maintain. R4391:5

Preserve. F282; R1278:1

That the Church might be preserved entire, without schism. Q837:2

Unity of the Spirit -- The oneness of the spirit. (Rotherham) R768:4

The spirit of love. F239

Unity of the faith. R1895:4

Oneness of mind. R1278:1

To avoid any schism in the Body of Christ. R1895:4, 1130:5*

"Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory." (Phil. 2:3) F282

The Bible teaches the unity of the Church. OV122:2

The possession of the spirit of Christ is an evidence of vital union with Christ. R81:3*

Christian union is a possibility. R768:3

True Christian union is advantageous and an end greatly to be desired and sought for among God's children, yet it is of great importance that we have union on the true and Scriptural basis. R768:1

This union is felt and is strengthening among the consecrated ones. R768:2

What steady cooperation there was among the apostles and elders of the early Church, preaching the sound doctrine of the truth! R1895:5

Apollos did not discount the teachings of Paul. R1895:5 The apostles and elders of the early Church did not endeavor to eclipse one another by new theories of their own. R1895:5

If fervent love for the Lord and the truth prevail, it will generally be found easy to unite in judgment respecting the divine will. F282
The advantage of Christian union is not fully appreciated by all the Body. R768:2

May we more fully realize this unity. R81:4*

In the bond of peace -- In the uniting bond of peace. (Rotherham)
R768:1,6

"Having peace with one another." (Mark 9:50) "Be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless." (2 Pet. 3:14)
R2947:1,4

Being firmly bound together by love. R769:1

This is the kind of bondage under which we are laboring. R157:1

We honor as one of the chief Christian virtues the spirit that differs in opinion and yet lives in harmony. R156:6

Ephesians 4:4

There is -- The Apostle Paul assures us. R4878:3

Paul enumerates the elements of that unity. They are seven units. R1435:3*

One body -- The Body of Christ, the Church of the living God, the Little Flock, the Seed of Abraham. R1278:1,2, 4878:3, 5393:2

Christ in the flesh. Q364:5

Anointed, or begotten of the holy Spirit. R5393:2, 5134:2

The Church, Christ being its Head. R67:1*, 768:1, 81:1*

Of many members. F239

This is a truth in the Word of God. R1130:5*

Separated from the world to the Lord and the Millennial work. R4354:4

Our Lord and the apostles never recognized any but one Church on earth. R1571:2

The Church triumphant is to be one Church, and not many churches. R1570:6

The least as well as the greatest is a member of the Body and vitally connected with Christ the Head. R81:1*

The apostles are important members of the Body. R67:1*

All who have fallen asleep in Christ are as much a part of the one Body as those who live at any time. R81:5*

The Church, which when complete and filled with glory will shine as the sun in the Father's Kingdom. R67:1*

The Church is being selected for the great work to be accomplished during the Millennial age of restoring "whosoever will" back to their former estate. R1571:1

The members of the Church should work in unity and harmony in doing the will of the Lord and witnessing to the truth of the Gospel. Q837:2

All true Christians should unite in abolishing sectarianism which separates God's professed people into various more or less antagonistic, little companies. R4878:3

The sects say that Christ has many churches, and ignore Christ's statement that there is but one Church. R4879:1

Every sect is a sin, and every division a proof of disobedience. R1130:5

Divisions of the probationary Church were denounced by the apostles as schismatic, sectarian and contrary to God's will. R1571:2

The human institutions called churches, while containing some of the members of the true Church, are merely social clubs. There is but one Church, and it is scattered everywhere. R4878:6

That during the Gospel age God has been selecting a Church is admitted by all Christians except Universalists. R1570:3

"The household of God" is no longer composed exclusively of Israelites, but of those out of every nation; and its one foundation is occupied by Israelites and non-Israelites alike. R1435:3*

And one Spirit -- Aim, mind. R768:1

One sentiment or disposition. R1278:1

The spirit of the truth, of holiness, of love. F239; R1278:2

To us there is one holy Spirit, the Spirit of the Lord. NS774:2; Q837:2

The Spirit of God which actuates and governs all who are of the one Body. R1278:2

Which unites the many members. F239

Consecration brings to us divine acceptance, manifested by the begetting of the holy Spirit. R4547:6

As long as this Spirit abides in us, it is a witness and a guarantee that we are still the Lord's. R5393:2

The same Spirit is promised for the guidance of every member of the Church. R768:3

The promise of the Spirit belongs to the whole Church. R67:1*

Whoever has that Spirit gives evidence of membership in the Body, and therefore of acceptance with God. R81:3*

Each individual believer, by his possession of the Lord's Spirit, will be related to every other similarly consecrated believer. NS376:2

All who possess it are fellows, whether they know it or not. R81:3*

Even -- According. (Rotherham) R768:4

Ye -- Spiritual children of God. R772:1*

The Church, the elect of God. R5060:2,3

New creatures in Christ Jesus, still in the flesh. R1548:3

The consecrated. R5864:3

The Lord's flock. R4784:3

All of the Lord's people of this Gospel age. HG752:3

Those who have "an ear to hear." R1951:3

Those who have accepted Jesus as their ransom-sacrifice and consecrated themselves wholly to God. R5916:3, 4548:1, 772:1*

Through the one Word of truth; are one class, one Church; under one Lord, faith, baptism. R5864:6

Are called -- Of God during this Gospel age. NS371:3; R5134:1

To come into God's family. R5134:1

To belong to the Body of Christ. R5393:2

During this Gospel age, God has been calling the Church to glory, honor and immortality. R5060:2; F92

To self-sacrifice; to walk in the footsteps of Jesus. Q309:5; R5060:2, 4784:3, 1669:1; F125

The only call yet made is to membership in the Little Flock. R1046:4, 5060:2, 4547:6, 1951:3, 1668:6; Q307:3

Some fail to respond obediently, losing their justification, in the sense that it fails to become vital, divinely approved. R4547:6

During the Gospel age the Lord has but one Church, one flock who follow him. R4784:3, 1668:5, 399:4; NS379:6

Invited to enter in. R1951:3, 5060:2

Invited to the divine nature and a heavenly mansion. R4784:3; Q39:T

There must be the invitation. R5134:1

"My sheep hear my voice." (John 10:27) R4784:3

This invitation is not just to do the best we can, but to sacrifice.

R5134:2, 1669:5

And begotten of the Spirit. R5864:3

To be new creatures. NS592:1

To joint-heirship with our Lord in the glory, honor and immortality of the Kingdom. F125; R5232:4; HG745:2

To be heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ as the Bride, the Lamb's wife. NS20:4

To both suffer and reign with Christ. R791:1

To sacrifice the earthly nature and become partakers with the Master of the divine nature. R4784:3, 791:1

None come to God in this Gospel age except those who make a sacrifice.

R5134:2

The call of the present time is a call for willing sacrificers to present themselves as joint-sacrificers with Christ in the service of God, his people and his truth. R1669:5

God is selecting a Little Flock from amongst mankind to be joint-heirs with our Lord Jesus in the Millennial Kingdom. R2732:1

The Lord has attached a greater prize to the call made during the Gospel age, which selects not only those who love righteousness, truth and divine favor, but who so love them that they would sacrifice all else for the sake of these. R1669:1

Called to be of the "seed"--The Christ which shall bless the world. R791:1

To take the Lord's yoke and be associated with him in the bearing of his burdens. NS379:6

We were counted new creatures when we heard God's call and accepted the same and consecrated ourselves unto death. F125

God wishes us to attain that to which he has invited us. NS373:5

The acceptance of this call includes not only faith in the Lord and in his promises, but also obedience--full consecration. NS371:3

Called to become dead to all earthly interests, as well as dead to sin.

R4547:6

To enter upon a period of schooling under the tutelage of the Lord Jesus, their Redeemer. NS642:4

To whole-hearted loyalty to the Lord. R5916:3

Only one class is called, and that is the Church. NS20:3

There is but one call during this age. Q309:5

And now it is a matter of development in the spirit of the Lord. R5393:2

These are said to be in the school of Christ, receiving discipline, learning lessons, being taught of God, fitted and prepared for usefulness in the Kingdom during the Millennial age. NS371:4

Only those who are filled with his spirit will be able to come off conquerors and attain to the glorious things whereunto they are called.

F92 It is for each of us to make our calling and election sure. R5394:4, 4547:6

The path of the Little Flock is narrow and difficult at present, but it is God's path--the right path, the path of life. R1668:6

The place to ascertain what is God's call is in God's own Word of revelation. R3634:4

This call comes through the proclamation of the Gospel. R5134:1

Those who receive the call may accept it before this age of sacrifice ends. R5134:1

Our feelings or aspirations are not the call. Otherwise, it would imply that we do our own calling. R3634:4

He who "hears" the present call has no right to hope for another if he spurns what has been put within his reach. R1951:3

It is a mistake to suppose that the Apostle Paul and the early Church were called with any different calling from that which appertains to the entire Gospel age. NS615:5

Some receive a knowledge of God's mercy and of their own privileges without profiting thereby--without accepting the only call of this age.

R4547:6

God did not call any to be of the Great Company class. Those, "saved as by fire," will get a reward to which they were never called or invited.

Q309:5, 307:3, 298:T

In the Millennial age, there will be no call, but every creature will be required (not requested) to render obedience to that Millennial government. F93

To our understanding, no such call to restitution blessings will ever be issued. R3634:5

Our failure to rightly appreciate the great blessings which God has attached to the call of this Gospel age is not a sign that we have not received the call, but it is a sign that we have not clearly and fully appreciated it. R3635:1

Speaking of our priesthood, the Apostle declares, "No man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God." (Heb. 5:4) R3634:4

In one hope -- "More than conquerors." (Rom. 8:37) HG752:3

"Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection." (Rev. 20:6) R5232:5

God sets forth in the present time only one hope, only the one calling, only the one invitation. NS415:5

Of being worthy to share in our Lord's glory, honor and immortality. R5232:4

Those who prove wholly faithful will be born divine beings. R5916:3

To become joint-heirs of Christ's glory. R1669:5

To sit with Christ in his throne. R2732:5, 5393:3

To be members of the Church of the first-born. R4548:4

We are not to think of different calls; we have no choice in the matter.

F92, 93; R1668:5, 772:1; Q279:7; NS342:2, 20:3

The hope that we may be of the Lord's goat class. R4921:2

Of being a member of the Bride class and joint-heir with Christ. Q604:T; R3732:3*; NS371:3; HG752:3

To membership in Christ; to be of the Royal Priesthood. R4656:6

It is the hope of being made perfect in Christ; of being made partakers of the divine nature. R351:4*

There is but one prize held out by the Scriptures as an offer during this Gospel age, as there was a different one held out previously, and as there will be a still different one held out during the Millennial age. R1668:5

The ground of this hope is found in Jehovah's promises, confirmed by the ransom price for our sins, and by Christ's resurrection from the dead for our justification. R1278:2

This contradicts the thought that there might be two callings, an earthly and a heavenly, from which we might choose. R3634:4

The invitation given to the Church of the Gospel age was but one invitation. SM636:2

Whether you get it or not, it is one hope. Q39:T

The Little Flock will gain an abundant entrance into the Kingdom. NS371:6

Our trials, difficulties, weaknesses, are so different that only the Lord can determine who are worthy. R5394:4

The human perfection, physical, mental and moral, to which the world may attain in the next age, is now out of the question to these consecrated ones. R772:1*

The apostles constituted the nucleus of the family of God--whose hearts and hopes were one. R2449:1

Whoever willingly sacrifices his all may be as sure of the prize as any other one running the same race. R1046:5

Which inspires all the members of the one Body of Christ, who have the one spirit of the truth. R1278:2

Both classes, the Little Flock and the Great Company, receive the anointing of the Lord, the begetting of the holy Spirit. R5393:2, 5134:2; CR348:3; Q39:1

And there is no decision as to the two classes in the present time. CR348:3

No one is called to the Great Company class. R5924:6, 5060:2, 2732:6, 1046:4, 772:1; Q307:3; SM636:2; NS642:6

The position attained by the Great Company is an unpromised one, of the Lord's abundant mercy. R2732:6

It is not because the Little Flock of overcomers suffer more than the Great Company of tribulation saints, that they are to get the prize, but simply that they suffer willingly, self-sacrificingly. R1669:3,4

Those not wholly faithful will be born spirit beings of a lower order. They will miss the great "prize." R5916:3

There is not a second call during this Gospel age, though there is a second class of saved ones selected during this age--the Great Company.

These of this second company have no separate and distinct call. F93

The Little Flock and the Great Company were not separately called. It was the one call, and each individual had the opportunity of making his calling and election sure. NS415:4

The Great Pyramid does not show a place for the Great Company, as though they had been invited to such a place. Q310:1

Some will not be accounted worthy to reign with him because they failed to progress. R5393:3

Those in covenant relationship must attain spirit nature on the divine plane, or a lower one; or lose all in the second death. R5759:1, 2732:4,6; Q307:3

The new creature is begotten to the divine nature. Q508:4, 38:7; R772:1,2*

Many of these will fail to make their calling and election sure. R5916:3, 772:1*; Q307:3

There has been no change in the terms of discipleship or in the reward promised. R4784:3

There can no more be two hopes in "the unity of the Spirit" than there can be two Lords or two Gods in it. R1435:3*

Of your calling -- God, during this Gospel age of nineteen centuries, has been calling the Church to glory, honor and immortality. That calling is the heavenly calling. Q309:5; R4784:3; NS342:2

The high calling of God in Christ Jesus. PT388:5*; R1046:5, 399:4

"I beseech you, brethren, by the mercies of God, present your bodies a living sacrifice." (Rom. 12:1) F125; NS371:4

The high calling of joint-heirship with Christ in the Millennial Kingdom. R1951:3, 2732:6; NS642:6

The high calling, to divine nature and glory R1668:3

Such as have responded to Romans 12:1 are God's chosen. They are reckoned as members of the Anointed One. NS372:2; Q297:7

It is for us to appreciate this calling, to see how great it is; that no other invitation that God has ever given would be so wonderful as this call. NS20:4

"Let us lay aside every weight . . . and let us run with patience the race that is set before us." (Heb. 12:1) NS371:5, 20:4

All who have seen the prize and accepted the invitation can make their calling and election sure by complete self-sacrifice in the service of the Lord and under his direction. R1046:4

Unaided by divine grace, none of us can make our election sure. R773:4*
"Hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown." (Rev. 3:11)
R1046:5

As new creatures in Christ, it is a question of eternal life or eternal death for them. PT388:5*

There is but the one call during this age. R1951:3

Let us make our calling and election sure and realize that God is giving us now a knowledge of his future blessings for the world of mankind. NS20:4

The privilege of becoming joint-heirs with Christ will end as soon as the elect number is completed. R5134:4

There was no high calling in the Jewish age. R5134:4

Before the restitution call, the Gospel age must first close, the sacrifices of the Church, Head and Body, must be finished to the uttermost and be accepted before God; then the great High Priest will lift up his hand (power) to bless the people. R1669:6

Full restitution is not yet offered as a prize, and cannot be offered until the Church shall first be perfected in glory. R1669:4

The high calling is not for all. R5134:1

There will be "other sheep" who will become the Lord's followers under different conditions and under a different call in the future. R4784:3

Ephesians 4:5

One Lord -- Jesus Christ. (1 Cor. 8:6) NS774:2; R5137:1

Who in all things has the pre-eminence in Jehovah's plan and work. R1278:3

Jesus Christ, by whom are all things. R3475:1; NS258:1

The Only Begotten of the Father. R3475:2

The first and the last of Jehovah's direct creation. R1278:3

The only Head of the Church. SM121:1; R1571:3

"For one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren." (Matt. 23:8) R1523:4; F230

There is only one Head to the one Body. F229; R1571:3, 1523:4, 1278:3

Lord signifies master, ruler, governor. R61:1*; NS65:1

His name alone will be quite sufficient (we will need no sectarian name). SM123:T; R1571:3

Our Lord's prayer will be realized by the overcomers. They will be one with himself and with the Father. SM126:3

One, and only one, deserves all the honor of the Church, both now and forever, and that one is her true Lord and Master. R1571:4

"For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living." (Rom. 14:9) R61:2*

All the saints recognize the one Lord; whom they serve. R1594:5, 1046:5

To whom we render supreme reverence and obedience. R1571:4

He is the Redeemer of his Church, as well as her Lord. R1278:3

Christian union is a union in which all so united acknowledge the one Lord. R768:2

As only Christ died for us all, he alone must be recognized as our Savior. SM121:1; R5137:1, 4878:3

Jesus Christ. This title is expressive of a glorious fullness of power and love. R61:2*

No longer in the flesh, no longer a human being. He has finished the work of ransoming us, for which the taking of the flesh was needful. R1278:4

Of Jew and Gentile. R61:2*

The Son is not superior to the Father. R3475:1

As all ye are brethren, so the class distinction as between clergy and laity must be abrogated that we all may be one Church with one Lord.

SM121:1; R5938:4

One faith -- Faith is the power of God to every one that believeth.

R1278:5

Faith anchors our hearts securely to the precious things of the future, though unseen. R1278:5

Based on his Word of promise. OV123:5

"There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." (1

Tim. 2:5,6) R1572:2

Of divine revelation through the apostles and prophets. Accepting no other, though it be preached by an angel from heaven. R1594:5

One so simple, clear and reasonable, that all--the learned and unlearned alike--could grasp it and comprehend it. R1572:1

The basis of this one faith is "that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; and that he was buried, and rose again the third day."

(1 Cor. 15:3,4) R1572:2

Belief in Jesus as a ransom for all must be insisted on as a test of Christian fellowship. R1572:3

True faith begins with the one kind of seed-faith in all, no matter what stage of development each may attain. R1572:3

We should contend earnestly for the "faith which was once delivered unto the saints." (Jude 3) R4878:4, 1572:6

The gospel. This one gospel acknowledges man's fall, and God's mercy and love manifested through Christ's work of redemption, forgiveness and restoration of the willing and obedient. R1572:4,3

The simplicity of the gospel recognizes the broad outlines of the divine plan and allows each individual to see as many of the finer lines of the same as his spiritual development will permit. SM121:1

Through this faith we grasp the exceeding great and precious promises of God, appropriating them to ourselves. R1278:5

That we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, having peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. R1278:5

All should be of one faith and enabled to point out the waymarks so clearly that every earnest member of the Body may see light in God's light. R769:4

We are inspired by the one faith. R768:2

The true vine is united. It is not a sect, and its members are not sectarian. NS376:2

The early Christians were unitedly one and reprobated any division. SM121:1

Maintained only by abandonment of the creeds and a return to the words of Jesus and the apostles and the prophets. R5003:1, 4878:3; SM462:1

Not incongruous mysteries, inconsistent with themselves and inharmonious with reason. R1572:1

One baptism -- Baptized (or immersed) into Jesus Christ. (Rom. 6:3) R1278:5, 768:1

Burial into Christ. R3356:3; SM123:1

Consecration into his death. OV123:5; R3356:3, 1046:5

One immersion. (Rotherham) R768:1

Begotten of the same Father. R768:2

And only one proper symbol of it, immersion in water. F452; R1278:6; SM123:1

Jesus and his apostles taught baptism. OV241:1; CR75:3

A feature of the gospel. The one Lord, one faith, one baptism constitutes the one gospel. R1572:4, 1571:2

One immersion, one Lord, one faith and one hope must be there as the primal basis of union. R768:5

An immersion even unto death. R1278:6

Thenceforth they live, not unto themselves, but unto him that bought them with his own precious blood. R1278:6

Justified believers attain membership in the Church of Christ through this immersion of their hearts, their wills, into the will of Christ. R1278:6, 1594:5

Not the symbolic one, but the actual one. R3356:3

All the churches were subject to the same regulations instituted by the apostles. R1895:4

Leading to the true union of the Church. R1572:5

Christian people in general are agreed that immersion in water corresponds most closely to the meaning of the Scriptural language. F452

Nowhere in the Scripture is infant baptism commanded or urged. CR75:3; OV241:1

Ephesians 4:6

One God and Father -- This is the Apostle Paul's testimony. F452

The Eternal One, who is "from everlasting to everlasting." (Psa. 90:2) R369:6

The living God. The Almighty. Jehovah. R4878:3, 1268:5, 369:5

"To us there is but one God, the Father." (1 Cor. 8:6) NS258:1

Who is holy and separate from sin, and cannot look upon it with any degree of allowance. R1268:4

The power all resided in the Father; everything is of him, from him, through the Son; "that all men should honor the Son even as they honor the Father." (John 5:23) R3475:1, 369:3

"Every good gift . . . cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." (Jas. 1:17) R1269:1

Who is only good. R1269:1

Who was pleased to recognize, honor and use the Son in his great work. R3475:1

God's work in the present time is not the salvation of the world, but the salvation of the Church; the world's salvation will follow during the reign of Messiah for a thousand years. R4878:6

Who has not only put into our possession wonderful Bibles and helps for Bible study, but has given us the ability to read and study the Word critically. NS774:4

We reject as totally unscriptural the trinity teaching that Jehovah, Jesus and the holy Spirit are three Gods in one person. R369:2, 3475:1

The doctrine of the trinity, which finds no place in the Scriptures, and is contrary to reason, was concocted during the Dark Ages. NS257:6

It is impossible for God to lie. R1269:4

Sin, crime and wickedness are to be understood as being the very opposite of God's character. R1269:3

Of -- Literally, "out of." R1268:2

Over. R4878:3

All -- All things are of our Father; he is the first cause of all things. R369:3

Above all -- Over all. (Rotherham) R768:4

Ephesians 4:8

He ascended -- Our Lord Jesus ascended. R843:4; Q531:2, 42:7; NS783:6, 658:1

Christ's ascension, after his crucifixion, resurrection and 40-day period with his disciples. NS655:2,3

Our Lord, duly qualified, was exalted as Jehovah's Prime Minister in the throne of universal dominion, being made a partaker of immortality, a dignity never before conferred upon any created being. R1829:4

Our Lord bestowed his earthly rights upon believers. Q434:T

He presented his merit as the satisfaction for our sins, to purge not only those who were waiting in the upper room at Pentecost, but also all others of the same class down through this Gospel age. R4667:3

Having to his credit the price or value sufficient to ransom the whole world. Q560:T

Our Lord's manner of going was secret, unknown to the world, known only to his disciples. He will so come in like manner; and none will know of his presence except his disciples. R5830:4, 5829:1,4

Up on high -- Up to the throne of the Father. NS657:3

Where he was before--to the spirit plane. R5829:6

Above all heights. R5066:3

There to appear in the presence of God for us. And he presented his sacrifice on our behalf. R1829:4,5

This refers not so much to locality as to station, power, dignity. NS657:2

He led -- Jesus leads forth to liberty and eternal life those who have been slaves of sin and death. R5066:3; NS782:1

Because of the great victory which our Lord Jesus gained over sin and death. NS784:4; R5066:3

Captivity captive -- Death captive. R1829:4

The captivity that is on the world is the great captivity of slavery to sin and death. Q48:2

Literally, "A multitude of captives." Our Lord purchased the whole race of mankind, captives to sin and death. R5066:5, 5829:1, 5067:1, 1829:4, 182:5; Q48:2; NS783:6

The great Ransomer, owns the captives; and in his own due time, will say, "Come forth, show yourselves." (Isa. 49:9) Q48:2

A long procession of captives. In this procession are the Church of the first-born, with the twelve faithful apostles in the forefront, the Great Company, the Ancient Worthies, then the world of mankind who choose righteousness. R5066:5

It is yet to be the great work of the thousand years of the Messianic reign. R5066:5

These words are a pen picture representing a great king as a conqueror returning from a victory over an opponent, setting free those who had been enslaved. NS783:6

And gave gifts -- Spiritual gifts; holy Spirit; "the heavenly gift," at Pentecost. (Heb. 6:4) E210; R2224:5, 1829:6; Q669:5; NS784:6, 657:4

Grant not only freedom, liberty and blessing but also confer certain gifts. R5067:1

These the apostle specifies in verse 11. Q669:5, 843:4; R5067:1; NS657:4

Our Lord Jesus was God's great gift to Israel and to the world. R2407:2

It was the custom in olden times that a king coming into authority and power should give gifts. R5066:6

To the Church. And we are blessed by the gifts. R5067:4,6

The ascension of our Lord to the right hand of power signified his ability to give gifts unto men. R1829:5

Our Lord sent the Comforter into the hearts of his disciples, and this gift of the holy Spirit has continued with the Church ever since

Pentecost. R1829:6

To develop the Church. NS658:4

Arranged of God to do the work assigned, to guide the Church into truth.
R182:6

God uses and provides various instrumentalities for communicating his instructions. Q843:4, 669:5

Not merely for a few years, but for this entire age until completion of the Church. R5067:4; Q843:4

All the blessings which our Lord Jesus is to shed forth are of the Father though through the Son. NS657:3,4

Needed by the class being prepared for the heavenly joint-heirship.

NS784:6 Through our Lord Jesus, all of God's gifts are promised and to be bestowed. R2407:2

The Master did not give these gifts for the conversion of the world.
R5067:2

We will be his gifts to the world of mankind, when, in association with our Lord, we shall bless all the families of the earth. R5067:6

Ephesians 4:9

He ascended -- Above all heights to fulfill all things. R5066:3

His exaltation came as a reward of his loyalty to the Father's will.
NS784:5

He also descended first -- He first descended. Our Lord left the heavenly glory and nature to take the human nature. R5066:3

From the heavenly glory to the earthly nature. R5066:3

Lower parts -- The grave. R1829:4

Lower condition. R5066:3

Ephesians 4:10

He that descended -- Into the grave. R1806:2, 1829:4

He left the heavenly glory. NS784:5

Is the same -- The very same Jesus. R1829:4, 1806:2

"I am he that liveth, and was dead; and behold, I am alive for evermore."
(Rev. 1:18) R1806:2

The change of nature from human to divine no more destroyed our Lord's identity in this case than did his change from the spiritual to the human nature. R1806:2

That ascended -- He returned to a more excellent glory. In returning, he left the human nature to ascend again to that which he had before, with the additional glory of the divine nature. R5066:3

Above all heavens -- To a more excellent glory. R5066:3

Powers of spiritual control. A318

He did not suffer loss of the heavenly nature as a result of his obedience in taking the human nature. R5066:3

That he -- "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous." (1 John 2:1) R1829:5

We now have a great High Priest, that hath passed into the heavens; one who is now on the most intimate terms and in the closest possible favor with the Sovereign of the whole universe. R1829:4

Fill all things -- To be Lord of all. NS658:6

The whole plan of reconciliation was of God, and is wrought out in Christ. R1829:5

That all things may be fulfilled through him. R5066:3

Ephesians 4:11

And he -- Our Lord, the great Head of the Church, the Chief Shepherd.

F269, 240, 241; R4878:6, 3153:5, 3143:1, 2224:5, 1894:1,3,4, 768:5, 182:5
Christ. R1524:1

God. R309:6*

God through Jesus. Q43:T, 843:4

Gave -- The great Redeemer dispensed gifts. R5067:1

Gifts to the Church--dating from Pentecost. F269, 240; R182:5

The holy Spirit comes through these several ways to the building up of the Church. Q669:5; R2224:5, 182:5

To assist us, God has provided helpers. R364:3, 1867:3, 1848:4, 768:5; A12; F241; NS784:6

If God gave these special gifts, it is the duty of the Church to use them; it would not be the wisest course for a Bible student to study the Bible by himself. Q43:T; E283; F241

As his representatives. R3142:6

An abundant and special provision made for the edification of the Church. R781:2*

By appointing of various members to various offices for the general good of all. R768:5

For the blessing of the general Body, as respects both their present and everlasting welfare. F241; R4878:6

The Lord's arrangements safeguard his flock and at the same time make ample provision for their needs. F270

Set these special gifts in the Church. E283

The Lord has faithfully performed his part, all along during the age, providing servants in his Church. R1894:2

God hath set the various members as it hath pleased him. NS657:4

Our Lord has marked out our course for us. "This is the way, walk ye in it." (Isa. 30:21) R1894:1

It is thus that the Chief Shepherd leads and feeds and keeps his flock. R3143:1

The Lord always has raised up, and will to the end raise up, such helps for the edification of the Body of Christ; but it is the duty of every member to prove carefully their teachings by the infallible Word. R3153:5, 1894:2

The Lord set these in the Church at the beginning, and thus gave us the ideal Church arrangement. His people would have proportionate blessings if they followed the pattern, or difficulties if they ignored the pattern. R1894:1

Divine truth is never found except in the divinely appointed channels. R3153:4

The Lord has the supervision of this matter and has been giving the gifts to the Church throughout the Gospel age as their services were necessary, and as believers were prepared to make use of their assistance. NS657:5,6 These gifts are not forced upon the Church, and those who neglect them, when offered, experience a corresponding loss. F241 Here, only the chief gifts are mentioned. In 1 Cor. 12:28 we have these and other "diversities of gifts." R182:6

Some apostles -- As apostles. (Rotherham) R768:1

Some (the gift to be) apostles. NS657:4

Some to be apostles. F269, 239

The Lord's chosen agents. R1524:4

Male apostles. F270; T102

The apostles having no successors, were all supervised by the Head of the Church. R5067:1,4, 1894:2

Twelve specially provided by the Father. They were not self-appointed. R5067:4,1

Only twelve. The office is not prolonged in bishops, cardinals and popes. NS657:5

There were but twelve apostles, and their inspired ministry has been to the whole Church, even to the end of the age. R1894:2

We must remember that the apostles are first; "God hath set some in the Church, first, apostles." (1 Cor. 12:28) R1524:2

Among those chosen were some rather illiterate fishermen. Thus, Jesus has ever chosen the weak things to confound the mighty. R364:3

These, being dead, yet speak to us. R182:6

They are still performing their service in the Church, speaking as the Lord's mouthpieces to his people, through his Word. F240

We still have their instructions as fully as the early Church, "that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (2 Tim. 3:17) R5067:4

Who set forth doctrines in their inspired writings. R5508:2

The early Church rightly revered the piety and superior spiritual knowledge and wisdom of the apostles, and sat at their feet as learners. R1524:4

Who preached the very same gospel of life and immortality brought to light by the Lord himself with amplification of details to the Church, under direction of the holy Spirit. R1524:5

They were not selected because of their learning or worldly wisdom, nor because of their natural gifts; but largely because of their entire consecration to his will and service. R364:3

The term "elder" seems to be applicable to any or all of these servants whom the Lord sets in his Church for its edification. Thus, the apostles classed themselves as elders in 1 Pet. 5:1. R1894:3

When the noble apostle to the Gentiles was about to finish his course, we find him committing the interests of the work to the elders of the Church, and his charge applied even to our day. R1524:3

The apostles never claimed a monopoly of the teaching of the Church. R1524:1

They did not cultivate a blind and superstitious reverence for themselves. R1524:5

Who made no effort to assist in moral, social and political reforms of their day, because they knew that such was not God's plan. R1564:1

May we follow in the footsteps of the apostles by preaching God's Kingdom as the hope of the world. R1564:4

Some prophets -- As prophets. (Rotherham) R768:1

Male prophets. F270; T102

From among our brethren in the Body of Christ. R3153:5

Divine truth is found only in the divinely appointed channel--our Lord, the apostles and the prophets. R5508:2, 1524:6

Orators; one who publicly expounds, literally a teller-forth. Q115:3; E283

Not the prophets of old. Q115:3

Some evangelists -- As evangelists. (Rotherham) R768:4

Male evangelists. F270; T102

Amongst believers, all are under the supervision of the Head of the Church. R5067:1

Who make known the good tidings. R5067:1

Who represent the mission work. R365:3

Mark, Luke and Stephen gave testimonies as trustworthy as those of the apostles. R1524:3

God's instructions may come through his teachers and evangelists, etc.; but they must all be recognized as emanating from the Father through the Son. Q843:4

We are to heed all the helps which our Lord raises up from among our brethren in the Body of Christ. R5508:2, 3153:5, 1524:3

Amongst believers, all are under the supervision of the Head of the Church. R5067:1

The Lord, from time to time, has raised these up to prepare the Church to be the Bride in glory. R5067:4

Who have Jesus' spirit of self-sacrifice for the sheep, and ability to feed them by expounding to them the Scriptures harmoniously. R364:3,5

With varying degrees of ability, able to instruct and care for the flock. R1894:2

Who esteem it a privilege to serve, feed, protect, assist and care for the Body. R365:5,3

God has always provided his Church with ministers and helpers. R364:3

Apt at teaching. E284

All various members of the Body appointed to special services in it. F239

We should give heed to the Lord's Word and note how all of his true people will be taught of him. R4333:3

The Church has need of human teachers. E285

Teachers or elders are specially chosen, though always from among the males. F272

No fact could be more plainly taught in the Lord's Word than that it was his intention to make use of human instrumentality, teachers, in the development of his Church. R2224:5

The Word of God is to be the standard for everything we receive. Q43:T

After conversion, teaching is necessary. R1455:4

The Lord always has raised up, and will to the end raise up, such helps for the edification of the Body of Christ; it is the duty of every member carefully to prove their teaching by the infallible Word. R5508:3, 1025:4*

Every thought suggested and every exposition of Scripture advanced by these must be brought to the test of the Word. R768:6

He whose privilege it is to teach will not be offended by criticism if filled with meekness and lowliness of mind, but will desire and encourage it as long as it will be satisfied by a "thus saith the Lord" as a proof. R768:6

All the teachings represented in the name of the Lord and apostles are to be proven whether or not they proceed from the Fountain Spring without adulteration. NS658:1

The congregation sought to prove their teachers. R1848:4, 1524:4

Many now feel that teaching is unnecessary. R1455:4

Not angel voices guiding them individually in the understanding of the Scriptures. R4333:3

Many false teachers were raised up by the Adversary. R1848:4

Nominal Christendom has their teachers, having itching ears for the world's applause, but they turn away their ears from the truth. R365:4;

It is not sufficient that believers have a little knowledge, faith, sanctification, devotion; they still need instruction of the apostles, etc. R5067:2

We will not come into the knowledge of the truth at a single bound, but gradually, step by step. R3153:5

This Gospel age is for the very purpose of calling, testing, proving and selecting the Bride class. HG745:3; R4878:6

This increase and growth must not stop until the entire Body has been schooled for the work of service. R364:3

Our perfection will be demonstrated by our loyalty of heart and submission to the divine will. R5067:3,4

Every member is to be nourished and exercised, that the Body may be symmetrical, perfect. R1894:2

We may be saints before we have come to full harmony with God's plans, or reached our full development in knowledge and faith. R364:3

Now the individual Christians are called upon to make their calling and election sure. R4878:6

All the saints should be diligent students, with a view to thoroughness of development, rather than entertainment. R1894:4

Because they will need to learn obedience themselves before they can properly become teachers, judges, kings and priests unto God, governing the world of mankind to uplift humanity. NS658:4

The still, small voice is calling the saints to separation from the world, to fellowship with God, to joint-heirship with Jesus in the Kingdom soon to be established. R4879:1

Not only for the glorious service of the future, but also the essential service of the Church in the present age. R1894:4

Each of the saints should seek to do good, as well as to get good in their meetings and studies. R1867:1

When perfected, the Church shall pass beyond the veil and be forever with her Redeemer to share his glory, honor and immortality. R5067:4

Our object is not the gain of "filthy lucre." R3670:6

Unity of the faith -- Oneness of the faith. (Rotherham) R768:1, 769:1

A blessed unity. R768:6

The Scriptural unity is upon the foundation principles of the Gospel: (1) redemption through Jesus' blood and our justification by faith therein; (2) our consecration and sanctification to the Lord, the truth and their service--including service of the brethren. F240

Unity of faith is desirable and is to be striven for. That unity of "the faith once delivered unto the saints" (Jude 3) in its purity and simplicity with full liberty to each member to take different views of minor points. F240

One not in the unity of the faith would not be suitable. R5067:5

He that is independent of the Body is independent of its Head also, and is not a member of the Body, for in it each member is made dependent on others. R769:4

A necessity to the healthy growth and development of the Body of Christ. R768:2

Our present experience should approximate that description. R1802:6*

Too long has assent to human creeds taken the place of individual faith.

R2066:4

The knowledge -- The full knowledge. (Rotherham) R768:1, 5067:5, 769:1

God declares that knowledge of the doctrines which he has revealed in his Word will be of great value to us in our endeavors to grow in his grace.

This is the Messiah of whom Moses spake, saying, "Moses truly said unto the fathers, a prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you." (Acts 3:22) It has taken over 1800 years, and he is not completely raised up yet. Q531:2

That Christ is the Head of the Body is the picture uniformly set before us in the Scriptures. R4709:4

From the time of our acceptance and begetting of the holy Spirit, we are counted in as members of his Body in a prospective manner on the supposition that we shall make our calling and election sure. R4709:5

Who are never able to arrive at the knowledge of the truth. R651:2

At the time of consecration and begetting of the holy Spirit, the new creature is merely a babe in Christ. R5081:6

No longer a babe in Christian experience and knowledge. R2066:4

Every healthy child of God should be able to leave the foundation doctrines which are established in his mind and go on growing in grace and knowledge of the truth. R1568:1, 3622:1

We are to grow out of this infantile state up to the maturity of spiritual life. R3622:1,2,4, 1568:1,4

The babe grows into a child, and the child into a man. R5082:1, 3622:1, 1568:1

The difference between a babe in Christ and one fit for the Kingdom is that the latter has been tried and tested and has proved himself to be an overcomer. R5082:1

With the assistance of the divinely provided gifts of teachers. R5067:6
God wishes all of his people to be qualified for telling forth his truth. R5313:1

Misled. R5067:6 Entangled in sects. R1130:6*

With every wind -- Having been once convinced, we should not be easily turned aside from a properly grounded faith. R5913:5, 4409:1

Anything that would set aside or make useless the first principles of the doctrines of Christ should be promptly rejected. R5913:6

Winds carry about some that are unstable; they never get settled as to what anything means. Q737:3

Winds represent false doctrines. R4822:6; Q737:3

Of doctrine -- Of teaching. (Rotherham) R768:1

It is the duty of every member carefully to prove their teaching by the infallible Word. R5508:2, 3153:5

By the sleight -- In the craft. (Rotherham) R768:1

They lie in wait -- Avoid the meshes of their captivity. R1130:6*

To deceive -- Suited to the artifice of error. (Rotherham) R768:1

It is impossible to deceive the elect because they are guided by the spirit of truth. R1025:4*

The saints should give no heed to those who invite them to build their hope of salvation upon any other foundation than that laid down in the Scriptures--redemption through the precious blood of Christ. R1025:5,6*

Allow no one to pen us up by human creeds; nor to lead us out beyond the bounds fixed for us by the Chief Shepherd, into liberties and licenses he never authorized. R3143:4

Ephesians 4:15

But -- On the contrary, being sincere and. R5067:6

Each new creature. R2227:4,5

Speaking -- Pursuing. (Rotherham) R768:4

When the Christian has received the truth into his heart, he will esteem it a blessed privilege to speak it. R5978:2, 5720:3

Our power of speech, of communicating our thoughts to others, is the greatest power we possess; the most far-reaching. R5720:3

The speaking of the truth is absolutely essential to the life of the Christian. R5720:3, 2649:4

The spirit of the Lord will dictate. R2649:4

Those who have the truth are not to be ashamed of it, nor fearful, but to trust in the promises of the Lord for words and wisdom for the occasion. R2952:3

We are not advocating public debating of the truth, because opponents of the truth are apt to strive for victory, rather than to strive for the truth. R2952:2

"Expression deepens impression." R5978:4, 5720:3

The truth in love -- "God is love." (1 John 4:8) God is the highest representation we have of love. Love is the overruling quality of his character. R5978:4,6

In order to be a servant pleasing to the Lord we must speak the truth in love without fear. R5978:3,4; 5720:1,3

It is the divine rule. R3195:5, 2157:4

According to the apostolic command. R2952:3, 2227:4

Love, inspired by a true knowledge of God. R5977:6

And sincerity. R5720:5

Being truthful. R827:4, 492:6

One for another. R2227:4

To confess Christ before men. R5978:3, 5720:3

Whoever speaks forth these things of God in love will receive a blessing in his own heart and mind. R5978:4, 5720:5

The truth is to be spoken humbly, but fearlessly; in a kind, generous, reasonable manner. R5978:1,5, 5720:1, 2952:3

To speak it out of love to God and love to the brethren. R5721:4

We come into the knowledge of truth gradually, step by step. R5508:4

Knowing the truth is the reward of continued discipleship. R5508:2

The truth becomes a sanctifying power bringing forth in our lives its blessed fruits of righteousness which time and cultivation ripen to a glorious maturity. R5508:4

We who have received the truth are no longer in Satan's bondage. R5508:5

We are to exercise our function of ambassadorship. R5978:3, 5720:3

When one receives the truth in the love of it, it has a healing effect on his mind. He will begin to think more correctly and to act more wisely.

R5978:1

It is God's plan; we have nothing whereof to boast. R5978:5, 5721:4

We should present God's plan in meekness, gentleness, brotherly kindness and love. R5721:4

By doing this we advance our own spiritual welfare. R4281:6

The Christian with the spirit of love becomes more and more Godlike.

R5977:6

The wise love the truth and seek it diligently. R493:1

The Christian is not at liberty to speak contrary to the truth. R5978:2, 5720:1

In harmony with love, it is our duty not to repeat evil speaking, but it is our duty to tell the matter to the one slandered so that he might overtake the falsehood, correct the slanderers and be truly courageous on the side of the Lord. R4282:3,4

Not in the spirit of bitterness and malice. R560:4

In many instances it is a duty to speak of another's false doctrines if there is danger of him overthrowing the faith of others. R4524:3

The severe, hard truths, should be stated as softly as possible. R2325:5

We are to see that our words are loving, kind, gentle, keeping self out of sight, that the beauty of the truth may be seen. R5720:5

Grow up into him -- The foundation of all hope is laid not on earth but in the heavens. A243

Into membership in the Anointed One; coming fully into fellowship and obedience under the Head, Christ. R5067:6, 5604:5, 364:3, 320:4

Grow in the likeness of our dear elder brother, our pattern, our Head.

R5720:3, 5978:3, 5313:2, 364:3

We must be developed. R5978:3, 5720:3

The Body must grow. R365:4

In grace and knowledge. R5978:3

The Church is to be prepared for joint-heirship with our Lord in his Kingdom. R2479:2

Gradually the new creature becomes stronger and stronger. R5313:1, 5067:6

We are to mature in the fruits of the holy Spirit; to be qualified to share in the glorious Kingdom which is to bless the world. R5978:3, 5313:1

As in physical life, so in spiritual life, there is growth and development; first, the babe in Christ, then the growing child, the young man, and finally the statue of a man in Christ. R1906:3, 21:5*

Become new creatures preparing ourselves for the glorious things to which we have been invited by divine promises. R5313:2

As we grow, the quality of love should be more and more manifest. Love must grow in our hearts and minds, permeating all our thoughts, words and actions. R5979:2

The child of God is to be very courageous, knowing that God will not permit anything to come to him that will not be for his good. R5977:3

The new mind must cultivate trust in the Lord. R5977:3

It is the duty of the Body of Christ now to point out present hindrances to growth in grace and knowledge. R559:6

Being preserved from any spirit of bitterness and malice. R560:1,4

In all things -- Coming fully and completely into fellowship and obedience. R5067:6

Until made perfect and complete through his grace. R5604:5, 5797:5

So that they may be his representatives and agents in the work of blessing the world of mankind. R2479:2

We are to proclaim the truth, and at the same time to grow and develop in character so that it will make us more like God. R5978:3

While each new creature may be considered as a complete member of Christ, all the new creatures are to recognize themselves as members one of another, and of the Body of Christ, the Church. R2227:5

Which is the head -- Who is the Head. (Rotherham) R768:1

Christ, our glorious Head. R5604:5, 5979:5

The Anointed One. R827:4, 493:1

Of the Church. R5978:3, 5720:3

The principal one; the Lord of this Little Flock. R2479:2

The method by which he was prepared for his present high position was an illustration of the method by which his Church is to be prepared for joint-heirship with him. R2479:2

Jesus never gave this office to any one, but claims it himself; any others who claim it are usurpers. R320:4

"But he that is joined unto the Lord is one spirit." (1 Cor. 6:17) (Not to some sect.) C186

Even Christ -- Our Lord Jesus. R2479:2

To whom the chaste virgin is espoused. R399:4

Ephesians 4:16

From whom -- Out of whom. (Rotherham) R768:1

The whole body -- Of the Anointed. R5067:6

Of Christ. R2227:5, 1594:5

The Church. R92:3*

Apart from the world and its spirit. R1594:5

It is so only in a preparatory and representative sense. R92:3*

All members must be properly joined to the Head, by a proper covenant, intelligently made. R5067:6

The members are being raised up from the world, separated from the world to the Lord and the Millennial work. R4354:4

As Eve was the glory of Adam, and his complement, so of the Church in relation to Christ. R92:4*

Joined together -- Framing itself together. (Rotherham) R768:4

United. R5067:6

The Captain of our Salvation has accepted us as his joint-heirs. R5067:6

"How good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." (Psa. 133:1) R2227:5

Not by creeds of men, but by love begotten by the one Spirit of truth. R322:1

Compacted -- Connecting itself. (Rotherham) R768:4

Separate from the world and not in affiliation or alliance with it. R1594:5

That the whole Body may be one--symmetrical, beautiful, cooperative. This union requires the entire Gospel age. R5067:6

By that -- Through means of. (Rotherham) R768:4

By that lubrication. R2227:5

There should be no friction amongst those who are the Lord's people and who have all received of the same Spirit. R2227:4

Every joint supplieth -- Every joint of supply. (Rotherham) R768:1

By means of every assisting joint. R827:4

Every joint taking part. R322:1

Every member of the congregation. E245; R322:1

Benefits and helps. E245

Not the clergy only. R322:1

The effectual -- An inward. (Rotherham) R768:1

Of every part -- Of each single part. (Rotherham) R768:4

In its own place. R227:5

Maketh increase -- Is securing the growth. (Rotherham) R768:4

Affects the growth. R827:4

Completion in numbers. R2227:5

Of the body -- The Church. R2080:4

In its members. R5067:6

The Apostle clearly shows that the work of the Church in the present time is for the completion of the Church--the Body of Christ. R827:4

Edifying of itself -- Upbuilding of itself. (Rotherham) R768:1, 827:4

Its own upbuilding in the graces. R2227:5

Growing in grace and knowledge and character-likeness to the Head. R5067:6

In love -- Having all parts of his own character thoroughly lubricated with the spirit of love. R2227:5 Thus coming to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God. R322:1

Ephesians 4:17

That ye -- The Body of Christ. R1594:5 The new creation. R4189:4

Walk -- In obedience to God's Word. R1753:5,6

Having the Spirit of the Lord. R4189:4

Humbly in love before our God. R1151:3*

As children of light. R4189:6

"Commit thy way unto the Lord." (Psa. 37:5) R1753:6

Circumspectly, by faith, in newness of life, as wise, "redeeming the time." (Eph. 5:16) R1753:5

The walk of the Church is on the narrow path; the walk of the world is on the broad road. R4189:4

In obedience to the principles and precepts of God's Word. R1753:6

Whatever we do, we are to do to the glory of God. R4189:4

Progress in Christian experience. R4189:4

After the spiritual instincts of the new nature, and keep down the stronger impulses of the old nature. R1753:5

The children of God walk by faith and not by sight. R1753:4

In newness of life, after the Spirit and not after the flesh. R1753:5

Not as other Gentiles -- Who are influenced by a worldly spirit. R4189:4

Who pursue their hopes, aims and ambitions. R1753:5
Because the saints have received the spirit of Christ. R1594:5
Not as fools, not by sight, not after the flesh. R1753:5
But contrariwise, they are to set a proper example for the world in gentleness, kindness, patience, faithfulness to the Lord and to duty. R4189:4
We are to have the spirit of a sound mind to direct us. R4189:4
It is impossible to maintain the life of both the spirit and the flesh since they are at war one with the other. R1753:5
Keeping pace with the world. R4189:4

Ephesians 4:18

Being alienated -- Under the Kingdom, the knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth, and many will know and obey God and be alienated no longer. R3726:1*

The ignorance -- Without doubt, ignorance alienates men from God. R3726:1*, 3725:1*

Ephesians 4:20

But ye -- The saints. R1594:3

Not so learned -- As to observe no difference between themselves and the world. R1594:5

Ephesians 4:22

The old man -- The old sinful dispositions inherited from Adam. R1594:5
The old will, and he is to be dead. Q605:T
Their former selves. R1594:5

Ephesians 4:23

And -- Though our outward man perish. (2 Cor. 4:16) R192:4*

Be renewed -- Not speaking to the world; but only to the brethren. R4830:6

The wills of these brethren were already renewed, yet it is another thing to bring every thought into harmony with the will of God in Christ. R4830:6

After the begetting of the holy Spirit. R4830:6

Day by day. R2231:6, 192:4*

Gradually developed, following righteousness. R4830:6

So that we will be members of the Bride class. R4830:6

Not walking down toward the flesh, but according to the spirit. R192:4*

The work of transformation of character. R4830:6

Though renewed, the new creatures still have to keep the body under, crucify the flesh and war a good warfare against the world, the flesh and the devil. R1594:5

The righteous man may stumble many times and yet recover himself. (Prov. 24:16) R4830:5

In the spirit -- Greek, pneuma; character, disposition. E319; R1906:6

The inward man. R192:4*

God knows us not after the flesh but after the spirit of our new minds.

R2231:6 Of your mind -- "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

(Rom. 12:2) R4830:6

Christ-minds. F675; R2231:6

Through lack of knowledge, the new mind may for a time lie dormant, but the Apostle warns us against this state. R4830:3

Ephesians 4:24

Ye -- New creatures. F675

Put on the new man -- "The hidden man of the heart." (1 Pet. 3:4) F675;

R2231:6

They have become new creatures in Christ Jesus. R1594:5, 2231:6

The duty and privilege of such is to grow, to develop as new creatures in Christ. R1906:6

The new creature has an outward man that is perishing. R2231:6

We are reckoned sons of God, babes in Christ. R1906:6

The new nature of the saints, begotten by the Word of truth, is really only the new "will," which, however, is thenceforth addressed as the real person, and it alone is recognized of God. F675

We have much to learn both of revelation and experience. R1907:1 Going on to perfection. R1906:6

Others of mankind have not duality of nature. F675

After God -- God supplies all that is needful in the way of nourishment.

R1907:1

Who knows us not after the flesh, but after the spirit of our new minds.

F675

Ephesians 4:25

Putting away lying -- Falsehood. R5020:2

Speak -- Politely. R5020:5

Send forth good influences for happiness and helpfulness. R5020:6

The new creature can use his lips to show forth the praises of God and to bless his fellowmen. R5021:4

The golden rule needs to be applied to our speech as well as to our actions. R5021:4

Many Christians fail to fully appreciate their responsibilities for every word they utter. R5020:5

Every man truth -- Tell the truth. When you say yes, let it be yes; when you say no, let it be no. (Matt. 5:37) R5020:3,2
God desires "truth in the inward parts." (Psa. 51:6) And any who have not this quality of honesty, truthfulness, cannot be pleasing to God. R2943:6
Be so truthful in all that you say that it will be unnecessary to swear to its truthfulness, or to use any kind of specially forceful language to prove your sincerity. R5020:3
This does not require, however, that we should tell all we know in all cases. Some people ask questions they have no right to ask. R2944:5
A fountain cannot send forth pure and brackish water at the same opening. (Jas. 3:12) R5021:4
Do not overstate or understate matters. R5020:3
With his neighbour -- He who is honest with himself will be honest with God, and honest also with his fellow-man. R2944:4

Ephesians 4:26

Be ye angry -- Have a Godlike displeasure and opposition to something wrong. R439:4
Love for truth, love for God and love for the people being deceived by error can be the cause of anger. R439:2
A perfect man could be angry at evil or injustice, and his anger would be controlled by reason, justice, love. R439:4
Anger fired by the higher impulses is noble and manly. R1248:6
If we saw the principles of righteousness being outraged. R5417:5
Over injustice done to a dumb brute. R439:3, 5417:5
Injustice and wrong should be met with indignation and rebuke by God's true children. R439:3
Anger in itself is not sin. R5417:5
No one can live in the present age, in which Satan has control, without finding just cause for righteous indignation. R439:2
Where an innocent person is suffering wrong, and we have full knowledge of the matter, it might be our duty to manifest anger. But these cases would probably be very rare. R5417:5
The ancient prophets were angered when they heard the name of God blasphemed. R1249:1*
It is a possibility even when filled with the holy Spirit, as was Paul in Acts 13:9,10. R439:2
And sin not -- Anger prompted by love should be controlled by love. R439:3
Do not teach your children never to be angry, but teach them how to "be angry and sin not." R1249:4*
Do not allow yourself to sin. R1665:4*
The danger is in extremes. R439:3
We should use a great deal of discretion. R5417:5

The sun go down -- No matter what provocation we have, we should see that the matter is settled quickly. R5974:1

Your wrath -- Wrath must not be harbored or cherished, for it is sure to lead to permanent bitterness and hatred. R5974:1

Ephesians 4:27

Place to the devil -- A sinful extreme. R439:3

The great Adversary, Satan; a cunning wily foe. F609; R3165:6

Who deceives, bringing darkness and delusion. R3165:6,5

Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609; R3165:6

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

Let not truth fall in the streets and error triumph over it. R439:2

Some get angry to the extent of bitterness and personal hatred. R439:3

By the spirit of retaliation. R1665:4*

Permitting personal expediency to hinder us from nobly upholding the right. R439:3

We must keep close to our Shepherd if we would be delivered out of temptation and from the power of the evil one. F609

Ephesians 4:28

Let him -- The former self. R805:4

Steal no more -- He must give back that which he stole. R747:3*

This shows amendment of life. Godly sorrow for the wrong, turning from the wrong, and then, as far as possible, making the wrong right--that is repentance. R747:6*

True repentance must always be accompanied by restitution for the wrong to the extent of one's ability. R805:1

Let him labour -- In faith. R2488:2

"If any would not work, neither should he eat." (2 Thess. 3:10) F651

Even while praying for daily food, we are to put forth the labors of our hands, and to expect that the Lord's blessing will be upon the same, according to his wisdom. F653

Not to accumulate great wealth. R2196:6

Many are bold to pray for things they will not work for. F651

The Apostle did not go to the Lord with requests for temporal good things, money, houses, lands, food, raiment, etc. F651

It is very doubtful if labor was at any time in the past as well housed, as well clothed, and generally comfortable, as at the present time. R2513:2

Working with his hands -- Doing with his might what his hands find to do, as unto the Lord. R2488:3

When he sometimes lacked, the Apostle Paul worked at the ordinary trade of sail-making and tent-making, a humble occupation. F651

The thing which is good -- At useful employment. R2196:6

We should not cultivate in ourselves or in each other a spirit of discontent, which can do no good, but is likely to work injury. R2513:2

That he may have -- Laying up provision in advance of necessity. R2488:2
By economy and frugality. R2241:2

This implies forethought and provision in the way of laying up of money earned. R2488:1

Provision for the necessities of our own household, and generosity toward others, is the Lord's counsel. R2241:2, 5572:1, 854:6

"Owe no man anything." (Rom. 13:8) R2241:2

Not because of selfishness and a desire to hold and accumulate. R2435:6

The Christian is not to take anxious care respecting the future, in matters beyond his control. R2488:1

To give -- To the poor and for the Lord's cause generally. R854:6

A proper realization of our sacrifice of all, reverses the tables upon selfishness. R855:5

Those who distribute will find in the end their own vessels full. R2436:4

A joyful service, as Jehovah's steward. R855:5

It is a steward's place to find places where he can dispose of the talents and moneys consecrated to the Lord to the best advantage, as his sanctified judgment, under the guidance of the Lord's Word, may dictate. R855:4

We may do good and lend according to our abilities, but are not to obligate ourselves beyond what we could give or lend outright. R2241:2

That thus we may have opportunity to be imitators of our Heavenly Father, who is continually giving to the needy. R2435:6

We need not become paupers to make others affluent. R855:1

Fleshly Israel was instructed to lend, but not borrow; this principle applies to spiritual Israel. R2196:6

We are to prize every spiritual morsel and to gather up in store for future needs of ourselves and others. R2435:6

To him that needeth -- To those in need. R2488:1, 1390:5, 854:6

To those who lack. R5572:4

Buying on credit should be avoided by the Lord's people. R2196:6

The Christian should strive to have need of nothing, and, so far as possible, not to be dependent upon charity. R2196:6

Ephesians 4:29

Corrupt communication -- The spreading of evil report or message instead of good. R4770:2

Evil communications. R4770:2

Carnal sentiment. R2443:6

Unkind words. R2157:4

Evil-speaking, slander, something of a gossipy flavor connected with it. R2443:5

Evil speaking ministers evil to the hearer. R4770:5
Which does injury to others. R2444:1
If corrupting information comes to us, we should see that it goes no further. R4770:2
Whether the matter be true or false. R4770:2
In uttering an evil thing, even if true, one may do a world of evil. R2588:2
Strive earnestly against these. R2588:2
Do not be a strife-promoter. R2588:1
Let your conversation be such as becometh saints. (Phil. 1:27) R2443:5
Because the influence is corrupting, degrading, tending even toward immorality. R4770:2
Avoid gossip, fault-finding and cynicism, which are evidences of deficiency in the likeness of Christ. R2588:2
Let us shun them and hold fast only to that which is edifying. R4770:2
Proceed -- Because you are children of light. R2443:5
Reasoning is seriously defective when righteousness is ignored. R4770:5
Christians should learn the length and breadth and depth of this injunction. R2588:2
Out of your mouth -- The mouth of God's true children. R2588:2
Doing Satan service. R2588:2
"Speak evil of no man." (Titus 3:2) R2588:2, 2443:6
Using the tongue to the disadvantage of others. R4770:2
Our tongues can spread contagion all around, doing much injury. R4770:2
However refined his methods or words. R4770:5
"Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." (Matt. 12:34) R4770:6, 2444:1
Strife-making is chiefly stirred up with the tongue; though it may be aroused by a gesture or a glance. R2588:1
Even amongst the Lord's people there is a tendency to make remarks which, while not necessarily sinful, tend to cause sprouts of evil to develop. R4770:2
Let us redouble our energy in subjugating our tongues. R2157:4
We have sometimes wondered whether evil spirits have something to do with this. R4770:2
But -- Hold fast only to. R4770:2
That which is good -- Good tidings. R646:3
That the Lord would approve. R2588:3
Showing our peaceable dispositions. R2588:3
It is an old and true saying that "kind words can never die." R2157:4
Peace-making is chiefly done with the tongue, though it may operate through the eye. R2588:2
"Whatsoever things are of good report . . . think on these things." (Phil. 4:8) Those thinking on good things will speak to each other of the same. R2588:3

"Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt." (Col. 4:6)
R646:3

These have been sanctified with the truth. R2588:3

There is surely broad scope for conversation among Christians on the subject of God's grace in Christ Jesus in the precious promises of the divine Word. R4770:5

It showers blessings on every hand, so far as the new creature is concerned, and assists in deadening the old nature. R2443:6, 4770:5

The subject of the riches of God's grace in Christ Jesus expressed in the exceeding great and precious promises of the Word. R2443:6

Of edifying -- Assisting others, as much as lieth in us. R2875:6, 2588:2

The thought of an edifice, a building, the up-building of each other.
R4770:2

Minister grace -- Blessing. R2588:3, 2157:4

A heart filled with the spirit of love, the spirit of God, the spirit of truth, will be sure to bestow it upon others. R4770:6

"Show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness, into his marvelous light." (1 Peter 2:9) R4770:5

Scandal does not minister grace to the hearer. R4770:5, 2443:5

The first duty of everyone who would obey the call to preach is to become an earnest, faithful, diligent student of God's Word. R646:3

Unto the hearers -- All with whom we come in contact. R2875:6

And adds also to the grace of the speaker. R4770:5, 2443:6

Ephesians 4:30

Grieve not -- "Quench not the Spirit." (1 Thess. 5:19) R3434:6

Quench not the spirit of holiness in the heart. Every Christian should press on toward perfection of holiness. R5391:1

Efface not the seal. R2065:2*

Implies that it will not leave suddenly without being grieved. R5099:6

Do nothing that would violate your covenant, or cause grief or smiting of conscience to your new mind. E265

While the quenching and the grieving are not instantaneous works, they are the paths which lead to the second death. R5391:1

So as not to be cut off from fellowship with God. R5391:4

Those who enter into this real spirit of God are proportionately prepared to comprehend the meaning of the prophecies and revelations of the Lord which are hidden to the worldly-wise. R3435:6

Even advanced disciples of Jesus are in danger of grieving the holy Spirit. R5391:1

This is the nearest suggestion to reproof in respect to the holy Spirit's dealing with the Church. R3434:6

Holy Spirit -- This blessing. R3510:1

The very spirit of truth. R3435:4

Mind of God in you. R372:1; E265

The Comforter. The grand provision made for the comfort of the Lord's people clearly indicates a necessity for such comfort. R3434:5,6
Which is your seal of divine sonship. E265
None could be begotten of the Spirit until the ransom-sacrifice of Jesus on our behalf had been accomplished, and the merit of that sacrifice presented to and accepted by the Father. R3510:1
Which brings success in interpreting the Word of God. R3435:6
We are made partakers of this one spirit. R3510:1
There are various degrees of the spirit of holiness which may be possessed by the child of God at various times in his experience. R5656:1
We are not to think that all begotten of the holy Spirit are exactly on the same plane in their spiritual development or knowledge of God's plan. R5656:1
Let us have the holy Spirit abounding in us more and more, for this is the Lord's good pleasure. R3436:6
Little things may be the wedge in the displacement of the Spirit. R5099:6
Warning against losing the light that has illumined us; the Spirit of our adoption. R5099:6, 2279:3
Those who grieve the Spirit are spiritually sick. R5391:4
There may be some who have less of the holy Spirit than before, implying that they have not been growing spiritually. R5656:1
The Spirit granted to the Church at and since Pentecost is the Spirit of adoption, the Spirit of understanding, not the Spirit of prophecy. R3510:1
Of God -- And submit in all things to the will of God. E264
The real spirit of his truth. R3435:6
Where the spirit of God is, there all the fruits of the spirit grow luxuriantly. R2065:4
Ye -- Children of God, new creatures in Christ. E264; F159
The saints. R593:3
All the house of sons. R2279:3
Truly consecrated children of God. R2064:3* The overcoming Church. R2064:3*
All accepted to membership in the Body of Christ. R3510:1
Advanced disciples of Jesus. R5391:1
Are sealed -- Marked or indicated by the holy Spirit given to you. F132; E264; R2064:2*, 372:1; Q23:1
The assurance that we shall inherit the exceeding great and precious promises after we have faithfully endured the tests of our love and devotion, this is the very cream of Christian experience; let us be careful not to quench or extinguish this precious treasure. E247, 248; R2064:2*
Sealing signifies the imprint of the Lord's character upon us. The sealing is still going on. Q23:1
The seal of our adoption into God's family. R2225:3
"Sealed with that holy Spirit of promise." (Eph. 1:13) T37; R2064:2*
As sons of God. E437

The seal is the spirit (mind) of God. R372:1

Only those who are in Christ Jesus are partakers of the anointing which seals. T37

And are to maintain this seal of sonship, this begetting of the divine nature, and not to lose it. E437

From the moment of true consecration to God, the sealing may be noted in words, thoughts and conduct, growing more distinctly as the new mind grows in grace, knowledge and love. E264; R372:1

The sealing of the Spirit is all that is communicated during this present life; for the full measure of the blessing of the divine nature we must wait until the day of deliverance. E437

While the impression is distinctly felt upon the heart of the believer and is a testimony to himself of his divinely recognized kinship with God, it is also outwardly manifest to others. R2065:4

Keep this seal ever bright and fresh. E248

Unto -- Until. R3510:1

Day of redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis; deliverance in the first resurrection. F159; E247, 436; R3510:1, 2225:3, 2064:5*

The Millennial day. E437; R2064:3*

The time appointed of the Father. E437

Early in the morning of the Millennial day. R2064:3*

The sealing with the holy Spirit will continue unto the day of redemption. Q23:1

At an appointed day all the sealed ones will be delivered. R2064:2*

Christ shall ultimately give us the complete victory by making us perfect in his own likeness. F160

Ephesians 4:31

All bitterness -- Of spirit. R4759:6

The opposite of sweetness. R5974:1

Rancor in the heart, very closely allied to malice, granted an entrance in the heart is very likely to make complete shipwreck of the new creature. R5974:1

It would seem the Apostle is mentioning one of the worst traits first. R5974:1

Bitterness is frequently represented by brackish water; not pure water, but alkaline, unpalatable. R4759:3

As soon as the bitter spirit has found place, all the faults of that person will be exaggerated and all his good qualities minimized. R4759:6
"Lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled." (Heb. 12:15) R4759:3,6

Which leads to evil works. R5125:2, 4759:3

We are not to permit the dangerous root of bitterness to grow. R4759:3

How impossible it would be for the Lord to have love for one who has such a disposition. R4760:1

Wrath -- Deep, determined and lasting anger, something that is resentful, retaliatory. R5974:1

"Let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath." (Jas. 1:19) R787:4

God's wrath is always of a proper kind. "God is angry with the wicked every day." (Psa. 7:11) R5974:2

Anger -- Seems not to be so strong a word as wrath. R5974:1

Fleshly anger. R5603:6

God bids us beware of anger, lest because of our fallen condition, we err in judgment. R787:4

An angry feeling comes after the bitter spirit has found place in our heart, and if persisted in, leads to hatred for the individual. R4759:6

Those who have little love will be easily angered. R5604:1

Love is not easily provoked to anger. Love is patient and seeks to help the evil-doer. R5125:2

This does not mean that there would never be occasions for righteous anger. God is angry when injustice is committed willingly. R5604:1

That which people do not love is that which they hate. R4759:6

Must not be harbored and cherished; for it is sure to lead to permanent bitterness and hatred. R5974:1

In Mark 3:5, Jesus had a proper anger, a righteous indignation at hypocrisy and willful opposition to the light. R787:4

Our balance of judgment is so poor that generally we are too hasty. R5125:3

If we have been careless in our thoughts, words and doings, we might be angry with ourselves. But if the heart is right, we can learn a lesson from every mistake we make. R5974:2,4

It is good policy for anyone--Christian or worldly--to learn to give soft answers, even under anger-provoking conditions. R2325:4

There may be instances of wrong and oppression when we should be angry, when to be otherwise minded would be wrong, and would show either sympathy with the wrong, or a lazy fear of the result of opposing it. R787:5

Clamour -- Strife. R5125:2

Evil speaking -- The saying of anything that would be injurious to another. R5471:5

A more refined, a more subtle matter (than wrath), more deceitful, more malicious. R5974:1

The fruit of lovelessness and malice. R5974:4

We should daily, hourly, keep watch over our thoughts, words, deeds and underlying motives; evil words and deeds represent some wrong condition of heart. R4524:1

The Lord's spirit, as well as his Word, forbids evil speaking. R4281:2

The speaking of anything that is prejudicial to the character of another, whether truth or falsehood, is evil speaking in the proper acceptance of that term. R4281:2

What one used to do in the world. R5471:2

True or false, is contrary to love and is born of some evil motive. R4281:2

This is a dis-grace. R4759:3

The mischief that can be done with the tongue is almost unlimited. R5974:5

The sending forth of bitter waters. R5974:4

It should be painful to hear a defamatory tale about a fellow-pilgrim in the narrow way. R5974:5

One of the difficulties of Christians is to know how, when and where to hold our peace in respect to the reputation of others. R5471:4

"As we have opportunity, let us do good unto all men." (Gal. 6:10) R5471:6

Much evil speaking would be avoided by "doing all the good you can, to all the people you can." R5471:6

A hearer of evil is in the Lord's sight equally guilty with the speaker of the evil. The Adversary is near to assist in any evil work. R4281:6

Put away from you -- Fiery trials, of faith and practice are now being permitted on the Church. R4521:3

Because these are works of the flesh and the devil. NS595:1; HG693:2

These fruits of the Adversary, these evil traits of character. R5973:3,6

So that we may inherit the Kingdom of God. R5973:3

So that the new creature may be victorious. R4760:1

To mortify, to put to death, these deeds of the flesh already reckoned dead. R3831:6

Each of us is to watch and guard himself, looking to the Lord for help, filling his heart and mind with the Word of the Lord. R5973:6, 4759:3

All who are cultivating character pleasing to God should put away every impurity. Whatever is wrong should be opposed by our new minds. R5125:1

Seeking daily to bring into subjection all the weaknesses of the mortal body, reckoned dead when begotten of the Spirit. R3831:6

Let us beware lest we be entrapped by the subtle influences of the great Adversary who incites to these snares. R4521:3

Each unkind, ungenerous, hard word or deed, is a testimony in opposition to our professions to be the Lord's people, begotten of his Spirit. R2325:5

The victory over this evil disposition must be won. R5973:6

Go before the Lord in prayer. R5471:4

New creatures in Christ are obliged to bring the old creature under control of the holy will, crucifying the flesh. R5973:3

Have no ungenerous sentiment. And if such intrude, it must be immediately repulsed, just as we would resist anything contagious. R4759:3,6

These would be put away if the very first sign of such feelings were heeded and dealt with. R4760:1

A special blessing comes to those who chasten themselves. R4760:4

Watch our hearts. R4759:3,6

Our time is short in which to complete our work of character structure. R5974:5

You, the Lord's people, the new creature. R3831:6

Far away from the Lord's children who profess to be God's ambassadors. R5974:1,2

All malice -- A resentful feeling. R4760:1

Old leaven. R2283:4

A malicious spirit is related to anger, backbiting, slander, wrath, jealousy, hatred and all the works of the (fallen) flesh and the devil.

R1693:3, 5973:3, 4281:3, 3831:6, 2283:4

The spirit of the world. A part of the evil disposition common among fallen men. R1693:2

A willingness to do someone injury and to feel glad if some injury befalls them. R4760:1

The Lord's people should strive against all these weaknesses which are stimulated by the Adversary. We should fear these things as we would a plague. R5974:4

Which can be purged by the spirit of love in our hearts. R2283:4

New creatures have no sympathy with profanity, idol worship, dishonor to parents, murder, adultery, false witness, covetousness as stipulated in the Ten Commandments. Those whose hearts run in these directions have not the Spirit of Christ and are none of his. R3831:6

Ephesians 4:32

Be ye kind -- Kindness is one of the elements of love. R4269:3, 5912:5

Our Heavenly Father is kind to the unthankful and just to the unjust.

R5125:4, 4269:2

Seeking to put the kindest construction upon the words, the actions and the natural tendencies of one another. R5603:5

God delights in mercy, generosity, sympathy. R5135:2, 5912:5, 5206:5

To learn this lesson well ensures eternal life; relates specially to the consecrated, although others may apply it with profit. R5134:2, 5135:2

Follow the golden rule. R5471:5

It is much better to be a peacemaker than a strife-maker. R5125:2

Love for the brethren ought to be the blessed tie that binds no matter how much the conveniences of the class, or other reasons might make it necessary to subdivide. R5948:4

Speak a kind word sympathetically, lovingly to help some brother or sister to keep balanced. R4009:4

Have a special interest in. R4269:3

Even if it be no more than a cheering word. R4269:3

Not only to those we love, but even to our enemies. R4269:2

The followers of Jesus are not to be selfish and grudging, but generous. R5205:2

Do not neglect the cultivation of this fruit of the Spirit. R5206:6

Are we cultivating the love which is kind and forgiving? R5912:5

One to another -- Especially to the Lord's family. R5206:5

Love as brethren ought to love. R5948:4

Tenderhearted -- Gentle, considerate. R5948:4, 4009:4

Compassionate. R5134:6, 4269:5

We must have love and sympathy; not merely justice. SM433:2

Tender-heartedness must characterize those who would have a participation with our Lord in his Kingdom. R4269:3, 5206:6

Sympathetic and willing to suffer one for another. R3981:3

In the school of Christ the Church is prepared for divine service in association with our Redeemer. R5206:6

Forgiving one another -- In accord with the divine requirements. R5134:2

Exercising mercy. R5135:1, 3981:4

It must be from the heart. R1694:4, 5135:5

A forgiving spirit is a part of the spirit of love, a part of God's spirit. R1693:2, 5912:5

We should be very ready to forgive the blunders and errors of either natural or spiritual childhood, and to all the weak and inexperienced; even before they ask we should manifest our willingness to forgive. R1694:1

It should not be a forgiveness forced out of us by importunity, nor by the appeals of many, nor by pity for the wrong doers' sufferings or sorrow. R1693:6

A forgiving disposition; a spirit of readiness or willingness to forgive. R1693:3

Not a lip forgiveness and a heart hatred. R1694:4

"Until seventy times seven." (Matt. 18:22) R1694:2, 5135:1

"If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." (Matt. 6:15) R5135:5

The influences upon our hearts and lives will be ennobling. R5135:1

The trespasses of others against us are trifling indeed in comparison to our obligations to the Lord. R5135:1

Servants of God are required to have mercy upon their fellow-servants--upon other brethren. R5135:4

Forgiving the brethren of their trespasses and shortcomings. R5135:1

Because in many things we all fail. R4269:4

Any brother confessing his fault and asking forgiveness must be forgiven.

Forgiveness is obligatory when asked for, and we should be willing to forgive. R5134:3,5, 5135:1, 4269:5

Else we will not be acceptable to the Lord as members of the Bride class.

The larger our attainments of this God-like quality, the more pleasing we will be in the Father's sight. R3981:4, 3982:4

Becoming more merciful and generous toward the household of faith and all men. R5135:1

Whenever malice, willfulness and knowledge have been factors in the transgression, it is our duty to be proportionately slow to forgive and to require stronger proofs of repentance. R1694:1

We may not decide that any transgression against us is unforgivable. Our imperfect judgment forbids such a decision. R1694:2

The Lord assures us that unless we forgive those who trespass against us when they repent, neither will he forgive us when we repent. R1694:4

Even as God -- Who waited to be gracious to us and who desired to pardon us, but who nevertheless first required our repentance. R1693:6, 1694:5

The forgiving of God's children is made dependent upon their having a spirit of forgiveness toward the brethren. R5135:4

"As God also in Christ forgave you." (Revised Version) R5205:5

Even as we desire that God should have compassion upon us. R5134:6

Whose sons we are. R3982:4

We will learn to forgive even as God forgives if we adopt as our own the spirit of God's sound mind. R1693:5

When we are forgiven or justified in God's sight, he is bound by his own justice to release a forgiven and justified one from death. R93:3

He who follows not this course is blind and cannot appreciate the blessings which the Lord has promised to those who faithfully copy him.

R3982:4

For Christ's sake -- Because he paid the penalty, satisfied justice. E462

The merit of Christ's sacrifice is the ground for our own forgiveness.

R1694:4

"And became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Phil. 2:8), that we might be forgiven. R94:1

"While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Rom. 5:8) R94:4

"The Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29)

R93:6

Even the precious blood of Christ. R93:6

Our Lord Jesus freely gave himself as a substitute for the guilty. E462

Jesus Christ by the grace of God tasted death for every man. (Heb. 2:9)

R93:6

Christ Jesus paid the price of every man's natural or inherited imperfections. R1694:4, 93:6

By ransoming us from sin, Jesus obtained the right to destroy death. R94:1

Every new creature is held responsible for his own weaknesses; but divine power has provided for the cancellation of these freely for Christ's sake, upon their acknowledgment and request for forgiveness. R5135:5

Christianity is built upon the doctrine of "forgiveness of sins through Jesus' blood." R94:4

Hath forgiven you -- Freely. E461

"We have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins." (Eph. 1:7) R93:6

And still forgives you. R5603:6, 5135:1

As we appreciate our own weaknesses, it will make us sympathetic with all. R5135:2

If not forgiven, we cannot approach God as "our Father." He is not the father of sinners. R94:4

We must first be forgiven before we can receive the holy Spirit. R94:1

God did not pardon, i.e., "refrain from exacting the penalty," but "laid upon him [our Redeemer] the iniquity of us all." (Isa. 53:6) E461

Ceased to impute to us what had been paid by our Redeemer. E461

For as God was just to punish for sin and would not clear the guilty, so also "he is just to forgive us our sins" since Jesus paid the price of our sins. (1 John 1:9) R94:1

If you could be released from death a thousand times, yet not forgiven the sin, you would again be obliged to die. R93:3

The more we each realize our own indebtedness to the Lord for the forgiveness of our sins, the more we should seek to copy his glorious character. R3982:4

And the righteousness of God is manifested most beautifully. R94:1

Ephesians 5

Ephesians 5:1

Be ye -- An exhortation to the Church. R121:5*

Followers of God -- Faithfully persevering to the end of the race course. R3721:5; SM629:2

Accepting the Lord's invitation to enter the Father's service with him. R3721:1

Not looking back. R3721:4

Our Lord Jesus is the great Shepherd and Guide of his followers. SM629:1

Worldly ambitions and hopes must be forsaken if we would be his disciples. R3721:4

The Lord evidently intends to instruct as his disciples the majority of the called while they are about their ordinary duties and responsibilities of life. R3721:2

The very humblest of the sheep are included in the rewards promised to the faithful. SM629:2

We cannot serve God and mammon. R3721:2

Let us, as wisely as possible, arrange life's affairs so as to more completely give all our time and energy to the service of God. R3721:1

The Apostle shows the importance of holiness of heart and life. R121:5*

Dear children -- The new creation. R4189:5

Under the guidance and instruction of our elder brother, Jesus. R3721:1

Glory, honor and immortality are for those who love the Lord supremely, more than they love houses, lands, business, wealth, family or self.

R3721:4

Ephesians 5:2

Walk in love -- Which is the spirit of our Father, of our Lord, and the spirit of all who are truly members of the Body of Christ. R2649:6

The law of the new creation. R4189:5

Progressing as we walk in it. R4189:5

Not only toward the brethren, but affecting all the affairs of life.

R2649:3,4, 4189:5

As the spirit of loving zeal was demonstrated in our Lord's case, so in our case; otherwise we should not be permitted to be members of that Body.

R4922:2

Undoubtedly, love is the principal thing to be studied, appreciated, copied and practiced in our lives. R2649:4

Not according to the course of this world. R1790:5

Our words, deeds, everything with which we are connected is to be governed by the law of the new creation--love. R4189:5, 5519:4

Ultimately bringing us to that blessed condition where we can love our enemies, and be glad to do good to them. R4189:5

Hath loved us -- Christ's special love for his Church. R1254:5

Hath given himself -- His shed blood secured our release from sin and death. E446

For us -- We do not go into the Holy as individuals, but as members of his Body. R4922:3

An offering -- Our Lord, in offering up his own perfections, was offering up that which would, by imputation, be our perfection, as his members. R4922:3

The burnt offering represents the value of Christ's work. R84:1*

And a sacrifice -- He was sacrificed for us. R416:6*; E446

The blood of bulls and goats could not take away sins. (Heb. 10:4) E446

He rendered obedience day by day. R4922:2

To God -- To whom the price was paid. E450

God did require the death of Christ as man's ransom sacrifice. E450

Sweetmelling savour -- The sweet incense burned by the High Priest represented the perfections of the man Jesus. R4922:2

As members of Christ's Body, we are in Christ, a sweet savor to God, though a bad savor to the world. (2 Cor. 2:15) R4922:3; Q342:6

The Lord counts the sufferings of the faithful as very precious, as a sweet odor, an evidence of their love and devotion. SM782:1

There is nothing in the account in Leviticus that says that the incense was offered a second time. R4922:2; Q342:6

Ephesians 5:3

Fornication -- An evil. An unclean thing. R2967:2, 4188:6

A gross evil which was very prevalent in the Apostle's day. R2480:3

Uncleanness -- Means anything that is not pure, not chaste, not holy, not clean. R2480:3

The consecrated saints should be clean of heart, pure of heart. R2480:4

Covetousness -- An unclean thing. R4188:6

Ephesians 5:4

Foolish talking -- An unclean thing. R4188:6

Course, lascivious talking. R2967:2

One of the things of sin and death from which the Lord's people must arise. R2967:2

If we fill our minds with jokes, foolish sayings, we shall not be able to fill them with the things of the holy Spirit. R5518:6

Avoid this. R1790:5

Nor jesting -- Half suggestions of profanity or vice. R2967:2

Obscene jesting certainly is to receive no encouragement, to provoke no laughter; but rather to call forth a gentle, loving rebuke. R4189:1

Which are not convenient -- Things not proper to the child of God. R5519:1

But -- Seeking to put these away. R5519:1

Ephesians 5:5

Covetous -- All covetousness is idolatry. R1836:1

Who is an idolator -- Idolatry is willful, sinful devotion to degrading self-gratification. R1835:6

The sin of idolatry is most prominently set forth in the Jewish Law, the very first commandment being, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." (Exod. 20:3) R1836:1

Only God is worthy to be enthroned in our hearts. R1836:4

The idolatry of money is the great sin of Christendom. R1836:1

As was fleshly Israel in the worship of the golden calf. R1836:2

As Moses was a type of Christ, his return from Mt. Sinai corresponded to the second coming of Christ, marking the idolatrous worship of the golden calf as corresponding in time to the present worship of mammon by Christendom. R1836:4

"Little children, keep yourselves from idols." (1 John 5:21) R1836:5

"Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24) R1836:1

Any inheritance -- Only those who have laid up the treasure of a character like that of the Lord Jesus will be fit for an inheritance in the Kingdom of heaven. R5519:4

Ephesians 5:6

Deceive you -- Twisting the Scriptures, turning the truth of God into a lie. R1575:3

With vain words -- That such things are natural, proper, excusable. R4188:6

This should not be understood to signify that God's wrath comes because of vain words. R4188:6

Let no cunning sophistry of the evil one persuade us to ignore our Christian common sense in the study of the divine Word. R1782:4

Of these things -- The unclean things, fornication, uncleanness, covetousness, filthiness, foolish talking. R4188:6

The unclean things which have become second nature to many of the fallen race. R4188:6

Ephesians 5:7

Partakers with them -- With the world in their sins. NS214:5

If we fill our minds with jokes, foolish sayings, etc., we shall not be able to fill them with the things of the holy Spirit. R5518:6

Faithful believers should turn away from false brethren in their midst. R1320:5

Ephesians 5:8

Sometimes -- Once. R5718:3, 4188:6

Formerly. R1320:5, 1776:3

Darkness -- In darkness. R4188:6; D45

The world's condition is not that of light, but of darkness. R5099:5

Ignorance and misunderstanding of God--in unbelief. R5719:1

The darkness comes either directly or indirectly from the Adversary. R5718:3

In the darkness class, confused with the gloom of the Dark Ages. R5719:1

In order to keep mankind away from God, Satan has put light for darkness and darkness for light. R5718:6

God permits for a time the sin and darkness which envelop mankind. R5719:1

Now are ye light -- This transfer from darkness to light is gradual; we are transformed in mind and finally perfected in the first resurrection.

R5719:1

Walk -- With our Lord and Master. NS214:6

The new creation should walk in good works, as representatives of the Lord and Master. R4189:6

The Christian's course of conduct, including thoughts, words, acts. R4189:3

The walk of the Church is on the narrow path. Whoever tries to keep pace with the world will find himself leaving the narrow path, disadvantaging himself as a new creature. R4189:4

Children of light -- New creatures. R4189:6

Lifting up the light of truth. R4189:2, 753:6

To these, old things have passed away and all things have become new. R5099:6

Whose course in life is in harmony with the divine character and Word. R4189:6

Lovers of truth and righteousness, purity, goodness. NS88:3

Opposers of everything unrighteous, impure, sinful. NS88:3

All the children of God, so far as they have received the holy Spirit of begetting. R5099:5, 5719:3

They will rejoice even in persecution and tribulation; letting the light, the truth, shine out; exposing error. R5719:4

"God is light, and in him is no darkness at all." (1 John 1:5) R5718:3

The holy Spirit of God operates in his people and shines forth upon the darkness of the world. E293

Spiritual understanding is a guiding light to new creatures. R5719:4

Let us think and discuss what is pure, lovely and of good repute; putting away everything defiling to ourselves or others. R4189:1

No one of us as yet has full light, but some grow more rapidly than others in grace, knowledge and love. R5719:1

Loyalty to the light will bring difficulties and trials to prove them. R5719:2,4

The children of darkness hate the children of light and will persecute them as they did the Master. R5719:4

Who rejoice even in persecution and tribulation. R5719:4

Whoever, having received the Spirit of the Lord, allows a wrong spirit of the flesh to return and to displace the spirit of the new creature, will in that proportion go into darkness. R5100:1

Ephesians 5:9

Fruit of the Spirit -- Of the light. (So read old manuscripts.) R1998:4
Of God. R1782:4

By cultivation. R1998:4

These are developments of heart and character, which come more or less slowly, according to personality and environment. R5224:2

The riper the Christian, the riper these fruits; and if no fruits, then no Christian. R5224:2

These fruits of the Spirit can be seen; they are meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love. R5224:2

Wherever it is found. R4188:6

The holy Spirit never prompts to badness, unrighteousness, untruthfulness. R4188:6

The fruits and graces of the holy Spirit of Christ are prominently set forth in the Bible. OV196:5

Goodness and righteousness and truth -- So far as possible, the new creature's heart will be in accord with these. R4189:1

Whose effects reach on into eternity. R1776:6

Remember this always. R1782:4

Ephesians 5:10

Proving -- Coming more and more to an appreciation of what God desires in us. NS214:6

Finding out more and more, day by day. NS214:6
Unto the Lord -- To God. NS214:6

Ephesians 5:11

And -- We are admonished. R1285:1

The saints should. R1577:1

Those exercised by true love should. R753:6

Have no fellowship -- Have nothing whatever to do. R1482:6*

Because we are children of God, begotten of his Spirit. R2967:3

God tells us to hate sin and love righteousness. R1251:1

Have no affectionate love for evildoers. R1251:1

No fellowship with one who denies the ransom. R1336:5*, 538:1

Show your disapproval by withdrawing. R4803:2

Separate from sinners. R537:6

Refuse to hear gossip and slander. Stop a brother or sister at once, kindly but firmly. R4803:2

We cannot serve two masters. R1321:2*

With the unfruitful -- On the contrary, the tendency of the new mind of Christ is toward fruit-bearing, development, blessing. R2967:3

Sin is destructive in its tendencies instead of productive. Its tendency is toward death. R2967:3

Works of darkness -- Unscriptural doctrines. D173

Evil works contrary to the Lord and righteousness. R5038:1 Secret societies. D45

Light and darkness are not brethren, they are everlasting foes. R753:5

Because there is no concord between Christ and Satan. R538:1

Satan is styled the "prince of darkness." R5038:1

Let us not only put off the works of darkness, but put off all that pertains to darkness and error. NS615:1

God has called us out of darkness into his marvelous light. R3199:6

We cannot espouse the cause of truth and the cause of error as well.
R1321:4*

We cannot retain the friendship of God and the friendship of advocates of error also. R1321:4*

One of which is evil speaking. R3783:3

"God is light, and in him is no darkness at all." (1 John 1:5) R5038:1

God hates evildoers. R1251:1

The Bible is a light to the path of God's people in the midst of darkness.
R5038:2

Let those on the Lord's side rally around the Lord's standard. R1321:4*

Our homes should be well lighted: even the natural light is a foe to the darkness of sin. R2967:4

Sin is figuratively represented by darkness. R2967:3, 5038:1

Rather reprove them -- By the spirit of holiness in the consecrated Church. E293; R375:3

A godly life is always a reproof to the ungodly, even where no word of truth may be possible. E294

Our reproof of sin may always be through our daily lives which reprove by manner, look, act and tone everything tending toward darkness and sin. R2967:3

No fellowship with them. More than this, we must not be content with a negative opposition, but must reprove them. R5038:4

Refuse to listen to, or to have any share in evil reports of others. R3595:3, 4803:2

Failure to reprove is a measurable endorsement of the wrong. R4189:1

The word of reproof should be wisely and lovingly given. R4189:2

Not necessarily by word, but certainly by conduct, by having no fellowship with them. R4480:6

Preachers who scatter doubt and stab at faith. R1004:2*

Those things -- Uncleaness, impure practices. R5038:5

Of them -- Persons of the world. R3783:3

In secret -- That are done in the dark. R4189:2

Ephesians 5:13

Made manifest -- Shown to be wrong. E293; R375:3

Our lives shall be so contrary to all sinful and impure practices that all may take knowledge that we have been with Jesus and have learned of him. R5038:5

By the light -- Truth. (Psa. 97:11, 119:105) A20; E293

The light which shines from a saint's sanctified life is the holy Spirit. R375:3

Is light -- Illumination to the eyes of our understanding as Christians through Bible study helps. NS805:6

And special light is due at this time to God's consecrated people. NS805:6

Ephesians 5:14

Awake -- Referring to the prospective Church. Q591:2

To righteousness and not to sin. NS672:5

Referring to the thoughtless. R1512:3

From their stupor. R4189:2; NS156:3

Get the eyes and ears of your understanding open. R2966:6; CR374:3

To spiritual consciousness, responsibility and activity. NS669:5

To what is important. R1490:4

And see the true situation of things. R2966:6; NS156:3

And think about God and the meaning of the Word of God. CR374:3

To the gospel message. NS669:3 And realize they are sinners. R4189:2;

NS156:6, 157:3

And seek to walk after the Spirit. R2967:5

To a realization of the goodness and justice, the wisdom and love of the Almighty. NS157:1

It is necessary that the mind should first be awakened. R2966:6

As a rule, some great trouble awakens the conscience, causing the individual to get awake to his need for a Savior. NS156:6

Those who are well-satisfied with the good things of this life are not easily awakened to an appreciation of righteousness. NS157:1

Let us be glad that we have awakened; let us help to awaken others.

NS157:4 Many who get a little awake prefer rather to fall asleep again.

NS160:2

The world still lies under original Adamic condemnation; they have not yet been awakened to see the grace of God. NS163:2

In God's due time, the whole world will be awakened. NS160:2

Thou that sleepest -- Addressed not to the wicked, but to Christians.

R2966:3

Babes in Christ, fallen asleep under the spirit of the world and of the nominal church. R2966:6

Asleep in respect to spiritual things. NS669:5

Respecting right and wrong. NS156:3

These are not awake; they seem to be going about as in a dream. They think of the trivialities of life, what to eat and drink, clothing, entertainment. CR374:3

Some are asleep and do not realize the distinction between light and darkness; they might be glad to know of Christ. R5038:5

New converts, like newborn babes, are much inclined to sleep, but while this in nature is profitable, in grace it is dangerous. R2966:6

The Apostle Paul himself was asleep in respect to truth and righteousness, but being sincere at heart, the Lord shook him awake. NS159:2

The world in general is in a state of lethargy, asleep. NS156:2

This comatose condition is otherwise spoken of as blindness and deafness.

NS156:2

And arise -- Those who do awaken should arise. CR375:2

Figuratively. R2968:2

From the condemnation which is upon the world. NS163:1

From things of sin and death. R2967:2,4

Completely. R2967:2

From all low conditions of thought, word and deed. R2967:3

Separate themselves from the world and its spirit. R4189:3; NS669:6; CR375:3

Put forth the energy of the new mind and new will in directing and controlling the mortal body. R2967:1; NS672:5

The resurrection which we are not to experience in the present life. Q591:2

As a new creature. Q591:2

By the Lord's grace. R2967:2

Rising up out of one's weaknesses. Q591:2
Christ's call and assisting grace are only for such as voluntarily seek to arise from the dead and seek righteousness. NS671:1
Developing character. Q591:2
Be transformed by truth. R2966:3
Take a higher plane of thought and action than that of the world in general. NS670:6
Unless this arising to newness of life is accomplished, we cannot share in the first resurrection. R2967:6
This is a work of time, requiring days, months, years of energetic effort. R2967:2
Arising is not an instantaneous act, but a process requiring one movement after another, until fully accomplished. R2967:1
Even after the experienced Christian has risen fully up, he still must be on his guard lest he be entrapped by weakness of his mortal body, or by the world, or the Adversary. R2967:2
From the dead -- This dead condition. NS157:5
The world in general is reckoned from God's standpoint. NS157:4
Rising from the old dead nature, alive unto God. Q591:2
Not relating to actual resurrection from the dead. NS670:2
By accepting Christ. NS158:2
By accepting the forgiveness and reconciliation which God provides for us in Christ. NS157:5
And be alive toward God through Jesus. NS157:6
Turning toward the Lord, the truth, the light. R4189:3
And walk in newness of life with the Lord, our Redeemer and Head. R2968:2
And realize peace, joy and blessing. NS158:2
In arising from the dead, they are getting upright, becoming upright in character. CR375:3
Superior to the fallen tendencies of your own flesh, common to the world of mankind. R2967:2; CR374:2
The death sentence that was passed upon all has been changed by the Lord to be a sentence to sleep for a while and then to be awakened. CR374:1; NS669:1
By the Lord's help, by the help of the brethren, by assistance of the precious promises of the Word and by the indwelling of the spirit of the Word. R2967:4
This text is also applicable to the Millennial age. CR376:2
Christ -- The Lord Jesus. NS671:4
The Lord has promised. R4189:3
The great light-giver, the great enlightener of all mankind. CR376:6
The Lord is pleased to give light. CR375:3
Give thee light -- Shine upon thee. (Revised Version) R2966:6; NS156:1
Light of favor. NS156:2
Great enlightenment. NS159:1
With its blessed, health-giving influences. R1490:5

In the great storehouse of truth, the Bible. NS160:1
And increasing knowledge and appreciation of truth and righteousness.
R2967:4; CR375:4
And follow that light, otherwise the awakening is not profitable. NS672:2
The message of the Lord to us is full consecration. CR375:4
Not only on our own characters, but light upon the road we are to travel.
"Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet." (Psa. 119:105) R2967:5
"Ye are the light of the world . . .
Let your light so shine." (Matt. 5:14,16) R627:2*
As a child of the light, begotten by the Father of lights, he loves the right and hates the sin. R2967:5
Be thy light. NS671:3
This light is the glorious light of our Lord's presence. R627:1*
There is a great danger that after you have become thoroughly awake, understanding much truth, you might become overcharged with the cares of this life and the deceitfulness of riches. CR376:2
He does not give light to those who are not awake. "Light is sown for the righteous and gladness for the upright in heart." (Psa. 97:11) CR375:3;
NS158:4,5

Ephesians 5:15

That ye -- The Lord's people. R3594:4
The followers of Jesus. R5038:6
The new creation. R4189:6
Every member of the Body of Christ. R3593:3
Walk -- After the spirit; by faith; in newness of life. R1753:5, 2967:5
This narrow way. R1490:5
In obedience to God's Word. R1753:6
With respect for God and his promises. CR358:4
"Commit thy way unto the Lord" (Psa. 37:5), and he will direct thy steps.
R1753:6
With the Lord, by seeing Scriptural lines that must guide all. R3593:3
Do not stand still. R2967:5
Not after the flesh. R1753:5
Circumspectly -- Circum, around; spectus, to look; to watch. R3593:3
Looking all around at every step. R4870:5, 4189:6, 3593:3, 2967:5, 2160:2;
CR122:4, 358:2
Carefully, scrutinizingly. R4206:6, 5038:6, 4190:1, 1490:5; NS415:4
With close scrutiny on every hand, especially as respects thoughts, motives, intentions. R5956:3, 4206:6, 4190:1; CR156:1
To hearken to the instructions of the Lord's Word and to the leadings of the holy Spirit. R4190:1
Cautiously, with attention to guard against surprise or danger. R627:4*
Showing forth the praise of the great King. CR156:1
Carefully heeding God's Word and walking according to its light. R3596:5

Because we profess to be of the new creation and are separate from the world. R4190:1

Circumspection is necessary in order to walk wisely. R4190:1

Seeking divine aid, counsel and guidance that he make no mistakes. R4189:6

And in so doing develop the character pleasing to our Lord and Head.

R4190:1

Seek to make paths for your feet having divine approval. R4189:6

So as to keep their garments unspotted from the world. R4870:5, 2160:2

He who neglects the Word as a lamp neglects one of the very important means of walking circumspectly. R2967:5

Because our Adversary is on the alert to ensnare us, and our tests are permitted to be the severer as we come nearer the goal of character.

R4189:6, 2967:5

The Christian cannot live carelessly. R4189:6; NS415:4

Not as fools -- Not like ignorant persons. R1490:5

Neglecting the Lord's commands. R3594:2

The Apostle suggests that any other course than this would be foolish.

R2967:5, 5038:6

Or those destitute of understanding. R627:4*

Who seek the wisdom of the world. R4190:1

Careless, indifferent, overcharged with the cares of this life, the deceitfulness of riches and the affairs of this world. SM258:2

But as wise -- Wise children of the Lord. R4190:2

The wisdom of God is to be ours, and we are to exemplify it in all affairs of life. R4190:1, 3593:3

The course which the Lord's Word directs. R4190:1

In harmony with our faith and consecration. R1753:5

Walking humbly before the Lord. R3596:1

Meekly attaining full development under divine instruction. R1566:3

Taking advantage of your opportunities. R1490:5

New creatures in Christ should be the wisest in managing their affairs, in governing their children, in eating, drinking and dressing. R4190:1

Let us commit our reputation to the Lord as a part of our sacrifice, rather than contradicting every adverse criticism. R3594:3,4

There is a wisdom with God which is foolishness to the world. R4190:1

Wiser than our fellow creatures of earth. R3593:3

Not that the world will always approve. R4190:1

The wrongs done toward us will never justify wrong-doing on our part.

R3594:3

Ephesians 5:16

Redeeming -- Greek, exagorazo, purchasing and securing out of. E431; R627:4*

This is an apostolic injunction. R4103:4

Purchasing it back from worldly cares and pleasures, to have the more to use in the Master's service. R5038:6, 4190:2, 4103:4, 2967:6; NS467:4
Buying it back, purchasing it away from other things. CR177:5; R4871:2, 4190:2, 4103:4; NS468:4
Taking advantage of your opportunities. R1490:5, 4103:4, 2736:4, 627:4*
Properly valuing. NS468:3
Such purchase will cost us something of self-denial. E431
Snatching time, opportunity, influence from the flesh and consecrating it to spiritual things. R2967:6
Being ready to sacrifice our earthly interests, customs, ambitions in favor of the heavenly. R4190:2 Because the choicest blessings of all time will soon be won or lost as far as we are concerned. SM258:2
This is a test upon us which shall demonstrate whether we love earthly things or whether our hearts are centered in the King's business. NS467:3
Not squandering. R5038:6
The time -- To have the more to use in the Master's service. R5038:6, 4190:2, 4103:4, 2967:6, 627:4*
Which we had previously spent for worldly things. R4190:2
As though the time were already mortgaged. R4190:2
At the expense of the old nature. R2967:6
Devoting time to Kingdom interests. NS467:3
Because his main business in life is his ambassadorship. NS467:2,4 Spend such time in the interest of ourselves and others of the new creation.
Studying and refreshing ourselves with the blessings, promises and favors which are ours as new creatures. R4190:2; E431
To tell these good tidings to others. R4190:2
As new creatures, our hopes, aims and efforts are centered upon things above, the heavenly matters. R4190:2
Little of our time would be spent foolishly, in foolish talking, jesting, acts, thoughts, reading. NS468:5
Time is granted to us to make up our account. And blessed is he who is now putting forth redoubled energies. R2736:4
Not allowing the spirit of the world to direct us. R4190:2
The days are evil -- Unfavorable to spiritual progress, presenting thousands of temptations for worldly pleasure, ease, fame, etc. R2967:6
Days of special trial and testing. R3593:6
The times are perilous. R1490:5
Because of the special activity of our Adversary. R3593:3
Making increased vigilance and steadfastness necessary. R627:6*
Multiplying the tests that come upon us as new creatures. R2967:6
In this evil day it is important that we be not deceived and led into darkness. R627:5*
In proportion as the Adversary seeks to stir up strife, let each of the consecrated be the more on guard to give no avoidable offence in word or deed. R3593:3,5

All our energies are needful to fight for the light and against the darkness. R5038:6

The test is upon us; if we yield to the spirit of the world, it means corresponding loss of favor with our King. NS468:3

The pride of life and desires of the flesh never had so deep and broad an influence over man's mind as at present. NS468:2

Ephesians 5:17

Be ye -- Christian brethren. R1777:2

Unwise -- Fools. R4190:2

Allowing the spirit of the world to hinder you from appreciating the proper walk in life. R4190:2,4

Cease trying to be everything the world will approve. R4190:4

Individually, every man in Christ is expected to use his own Christian common sense. R1777:2

Common sense is a common name for wisdom; but as to whether it is truly wise depends upon the right heart condition. R1776:3,6

"If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God." (James 1:5) R1777:1

But understanding -- This requires study of the Lord's will. R5038:6

By studying principles and precepts of his Word, comparing Scripture with Scripture. R1777:2

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." (1 Thess. 5:21) R1777:2

Because we have before us the open book of divine revelation. R1777:2

Thus himself rejoicing in the truth, he may be an aid to others to bring them to the same conviction. R1777:2

The Apostle is urging the exercise of this faculty upon the Church for her protection against errors of doctrine and of conduct. R1777:1

The Church must wisely discriminate between the false and the true, the bad and the good. R1777:1

The will of the Lord -- Righteousness. R1781:6

Binding upon every Christian in proportion to his knowledge of it. R5947:2

Through the fall, we have lost appreciation of God's will, and hence are exhorted to study to prove what is the perfect will of God. R1781:5

The Lord's people are to be continually rejoicing, full of gladness. The basis for this is to be their faith in the Word of God by which they are nourished. R4190:4

Which leaves no room for the spirit of the world to intrude. R1490:5

Present evil is not of his will, nor of his government. R1781:6

"For this is the will of God, even your sanctification." (1 Thess. 4:3)

R1781:4

The mystery of God's will is hidden from the world, but fully appreciated by his saints. R1781:6

God is now letting men have an experience with doing their own wills and trying their own plans and theories, that thus the lesson of sin may be clearly seen by angels and men. R1781:2

Jehovah and his will are wholly on the side of purity, justice and truth.
R1781:3

Is -- As expressed in his Word. R1782:4

Ephesians 5:18

And -- Christians and not worldlings are here addressed. R1489:3

Not drunk with wine -- A bond of Satan which enslaves. R2533:3

Does not refer to literal wine, but to the spirit of the world. R1502:5

Not to become intoxicated with the spirit of the world. R1489:3, 4190:4, 2873:5, 1837:1

Intoxicated with false doctrines. D614

Intoxicated with the spirit of the world, the mixed wine of Babylon, of Churchianity, having a form of godliness and tending to stupefy and give illicit joy; love for sectarianism. R2968:4

Only by sobriety and the wisdom of meekness shall we be able to walk this narrow way to its glorious terminus. R1490:5

Under present conditions, men look for something to revive them--to counteract life's trials, burdens, sorrows. R2967:6

Desiring to abstain from every appearance of evil. R3248:4

We need sober watchfulness and attention to the will of the Lord. R1490:4

There is an intoxication in wealth, luxury, ease, pleasure and fashion.

These stupefy the new mind, making us dull of hearing as respects spiritual things. R2873:5, 4190:4

If any had been addicted to the use of liquors to intoxication, he must become more sanctified to God, else he can never be accepted as one of the overcomers. R2533:3

Noah's drunkenness, purely accidental, was the result of the first vintage of grapes after the flood. R2533:3,4

As was Herod when asked for the head of John the Baptist. R2637:4

Excess -- Confusing the mind. R509:4

The list of excesses mentioned by the Apostle; lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revelries, carousings and abominable idolatries. R3247:1

To all intoxicating allurements the answer must be, No. R2873:5

Temperance and abstinence from evil in any form are the inculcations of holy Scripture for all who have named the name of Christ. R4188:2

Those who are filled with the Spirit cannot partake to excess. R2533:2

But -- Do that which would be symbolized by it. Be dead to the world.
R346:2, 3248:4

Be filled -- The Church of Christ, the saints. R5912:1

You who are new creatures. CR397:6

Those who have made full consecration. R5912:1

Saturated with the spirit of holiness. R5982:4

Each consecrated disciple of Christ should reach this plane. R5913:1

The Apostle Paul's exhortation. R5982:4, 2456:1; SM608:1

Or else the spirit of the world will come in unsolicited and take possession. R1489:3

By first being emptied of the spirit of self-will. R2456:1, 3326:2; SM608:2

By keeping in close communication with the Lord, the Word and the brethren. E245; R5912:5

By giving heed to the instructions of God's Word; by giving heed to our Head. CR464:2; E205

As we are being filled and enlarged, our hearts are therefore filled more and more. CR313:6

It rests entirely with us. R376:3; E244

If we keep filled to our present capacity, this very infilling will enlarge our capacity; and so the expanding and filling goes on. R5912:2

The child of God is not merely to have a little of the Spirit. R2968:1

There are some differences of natural disposition by which some are less hindered than are others from receiving the spirit in large measure.

SM608:T

The spirit of truth speaks to us through the Word, and by obedience to those words we shall be filled with the Spirit. R376:3

We should see that the holy Spirit of God abounds in us more and more as we go on in our heavenward course. Christian development should be steady and continuous. R5912:1

In proportion as we receive more and more of this holy Spirit, it will produce in us the peaceable fruits of righteousness, knowing the love of Christ. SM607:T

We must daily carry our earthen pitcher to the heavenly fountain to be replenished, for we are leaky vessels. R5912:5

By drinking of the Lord's cup and being filled with the spirit of our Master. R2968:5

Otherwise, we lose the power, the assistance, the strength and grace necessary for our aid, comfort and development. SM608:1

It is in vain that we seek to be filled with the holy Spirit if we neglect the Word of God, if we neglect our prayer privilege, if we neglect to assemble with the Lord's people. E245

Every man, woman and child should have a noble ambition and should labor constantly for the attainment of that ambition. R2636:3

With the Spirit -- Greek, pneuma, the Spirit of God, spirit of the truth. E313; R5912:1, 1502:5; SM608:2

Which is heavenly, holy. SM608:T; R5038:6

A blessed influence which we receive from the Father through the Son. SM607:1; R2456:3

With the mind of Christ. R5038:6

In Hebrew--anything of influence or power that is invisible. CR397:2; SM607:1

It is not a holy person that is put into us, but a holy disposition, a holy mind, a holy will, a holy influence of God. CR469:5; E244

Sanctified; set apart wholly to the Lord. R4458:5

The spirit of obedience and of a sound mind. R1837:1, 2456:1, 1489:6;
SM607:T

The spirit of love. R1489:6, 5982:5, 5912:5; SM607:1

Filled with a peace the world knows not of. R346:2

Manifested by a submissive acceptance of the will of God, sweetness under provocation, and calmness in the midst of turmoil and bustle. R5913:1

If it were an impossibility for us to be filled with the Spirit of God, the inspired Apostle would not have so instructed us. R5912:2

Our ability to understand spiritual things depends not only upon our study of the Scriptures, but also upon the measure of the holy Spirit we possess. R5982:4

The new wine, the new exhilarant, the new antidote for care and pain and trouble. R2533:2

The result of the fruitage of the vine which the heavenly Father planted, of which Christ is the central stock, and of which his followers are all branches. R2968:4

"If any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of his." (Rom. 8:9)

E244

"Let the spirit of Christ dwell in you richly." (Col. 3:16) E184

Of the Lord, so that they may bring forth its precious fruits in abundance. R1502:5,6

A spirit of joy, peace, benevolence, goodness, mercy, brotherly-kindness, love. SM607:1; R2968:4

The spirit of meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love. R5982:5

A peace-producing and light-giving influence. SM607:T

"Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." (Zech. 4:6) R5982:4

This is granted only to the new creature in Christ Jesus. SM607:1

The gift of the holy Spirit is to all that obey the gospel. R199:1*

To be the Lord's people. E244

Developing that inward life. R5913:4

Our contact with the holy Spirit will quicken our mortal bodies and energize our faith. SM606:2

For the purpose of sanctifying our hearts and lives, and separating us from those who have the spirit of the world. E244

As the Spirit of the Lord comes in, it will be operating in you. CR402:4

We become more and more spiritual. CR469:5

Whose healthful tendency is to illuminate the understanding and to invigorate every noble faculty. R1489:6

He who has the new spirit will seek to purify himself in thought, word, deed. R2456:2

So that our chiefest joy will be to give thanks to the Lord for this goodness and fellowship of heart. R4190:4

This dependence upon the Lord and filling with his Spirit makes us humble, and we think soberly. R2968:4

The deepest pains and sorrows of the heart are more than counterbalanced by the joys of the Lord secured through the possession of a fullness of his Spirit. R2968:1

A correct understanding of the Lord's Word comes to those who are of a meek and teachable heart, who study it, live it and absorb its spirit.

R5982:4

To a be leader of the Lord's people, one must have a knowledge of the Lord's Word and the possession of a good degree of the spirit of the truth, being trusted as an ambassador of the Lord. R5982:5

So that the intoxicants of earthly joys will have less and less attraction for us. R2873:6

It is useless for us to pray for the Spirit, and neglect the Word of truth from whence that Spirit is to be supplied. R376:3

Instead of needing alcoholic spirits for refreshment, the Christian has the Spirit of the Lord which exhilarates. R4188:3

Ephesians 5:19

Speaking -- The Lord's followers are to realize that they have a special privilege of fellowship in speaking to one another in psalms and hymns. R3806:2

To yourselves -- One to another. R4190:4

According to their several ability. R1890:3

In psalms and hymns -- Of praise and thanksgiving ascending before God from his people. R2511:4

The holy Spirit refreshes and will lead us to psalms and hymns. R5038:6

For hymns and psalms should be regarded as union or concert prayers. R2345:5

Life itself is the proper hymn of praise to be continually rendered to the King of kings. NS755:2

Spiritual songs -- Greek, pneumatikos, in accord with your new spirit. E313

The Apostle commends these three kinds of songs. R2345:4

Doubtless, the Lord accepts the offering of song, whatever its form, so long as it comes from the heart. R2345:5

Singing -- Lifting voices in praise. R1890:3

This necessarily finds expression in all the acts and words of life. R2511:3

Making melody -- The Lord's people are not be be morose, sullen, unhappy, always in tears, but rejoicing. R4190:4

The joy and rejoicing of the new nature. R2511:3

"My life flows on in endless song." R2511:4

In your heart -- Heart-thankfulness to the giver of all good. R2511:3

To the Lord -- In praise. R4190:4

Showing our appreciation of God's grace. NS755:2

For the privilege of having fellowship with Christ in his sufferings.
NS625:1

Ephesians 5:20

Giving thanks -- Prayers of thanksgiving. R1489:6
Every day should be with us a day of thanksgiving. R1490:1
For privileges of spiritual enlightenment and needed discipline. R1490:1
For the trials, as well as for blessings; for adversities, knowing that God is able to make all things work together for good. R4190:5
Where the spirit of joy and thankfulness reigns, pride finds no place.
R1490:4

For all things -- For God's favor in Christ. R5038:6
This is a happy frame of mind to be in. These have reached an enviable attitude of Christian character. R1490:4
We can receive all the valuable experiences of life--the painful and pleasurable--with joy and thanksgiving, realizing that these are fitting us for the Kingdom. NS107:1
Even trials and vexations as part of the refining process. R1490:4
Because all things work together for our good. R1489:6, 4190:5
God and the Father -- God, even the Father. R4190:5

Ephesians 5:21

Submitting -- The grace of humility or submission; for helpful, loving counsel or criticism. R1490:4; 1553:4
Those who have the Lord's spirit will be willing to defer to each other's preferences in things not contrary to the principles of righteousness.
R2968:4
The first duty of submission is to the infallible Word, and afterward to each other in that secondary sense which first proves all things by the Word. R1553:3
We should submit ourselves as far as possible to every reasonable regulation. Q102:2
To have a certain amount of willingness to fall in line with everything that is not a matter of conscience is a good thing. Q102:2
Looking to note the Lord's leadings and providences. R4190:5
So that we do not think of ourselves above what we ought to think. R2968:4
Not being dictatorial or too self-assertive. R4190:5
One to another -- In the reverence of the Lord. R2968:4
This duty of submission is enjoined upon the whole Church individually, in their relationship one to another. R1553:3
Fear -- Reverence. R4190:5, 2968:4

Ephesians 5:22

Wives -- As types of the Church. F495

Woman, the weaker vessel. R1076:1*, 766:1*

A man's partner in life. R1075:4*, 765:3*

Have that spirit which characterizes the true Bride of Christ. R1553:6

The Christian wife seeks to lighten her husband's toil and share his cares. R1553:6

Submit -- According to the divine command. R2100:6

Be in subjection--of a meek and quiet spirit, which is of great price in the sight of God. (1 Pet. 3:4) F498

Developing along the lines of true womanhood and true wifeness. F500

A submission which savors love, reverence, trust and humility. R1553:4

This duty of submission is specially enjoined upon the wife in the domestic relation. R1553:3,4

Love is not ashamed of its submission. R1075:6*, 765:6*

A reasonable submission, compatible with a moderate expression of the wife's sentiments and a proper consideration of the same by the husband. R1553:5

Many women are superior to many men; if such become wives of such men, they must either violate the divine order, or else submit themselves to an inferior, which is also out of harmony with the Lord's design. R1076:1*, 2100:6, 766:1*; F495

It is not the dwarfing or degrading of her powers, nor the clipping of her spiritual or intellectual opinions, nor to attain any selfish ends. R1552:6

The wife is not at liberty to assume the headship of the family and to order her husband as a servant. F499

Not by domestic tyranny and slavery. R1553:1

Your own husbands -- Or head. R2100:6

As types of Christ. F495

Man's superiority consists mainly in his greater strength, both physical and mental. That is God's order. R1076:1*, 766:1*

Who will desire the help of his wife, her cooperation, her views, her sympathy, her love, and will appreciate them highly. F497

Ephesians 5:23

The husband -- By divine arrangement. F497

The husband should be the protector, provider and director in the affairs of life. R765:3*, 1075:4*

The head of the family must be watchful of the interests of all under his care to such an extent that he should sacrifice himself, his own comfort and convenience for their proper care. R2783:5

Head of the wife -- The headship remains with the male. T101

And head of the family. R2783:4

A willing co-worker in harmony with her husband's will. R765:3*, 1075:4*

"The head of the woman is the man." (1 Cor. 11:3) F270

"God called their name Adam." (Gen. 5:2) T101; R139:1*

This is the divine order for the highest good of all. R1075:4*, 765:3*

This rule that the husband is the head of the wife is always maintained in the Scriptures. R766:5*

The responsibility of headship is upon the husband, and he must not avoid it. It is part of his stewardship. F497

God himself instituted marriage as between our first parents. R2418:3

The Lord set his seal of approval upon marriage when he instituted the relationship and blessed the union of the first pair in Eden. R1553:6

And no man should marry a woman his superior. F496

Headship in the family will be far from tyranny. F497

A new creature in Christ Jesus should not be unequally yoked with one who is of the earth. F496

This union between man and woman was designed to be an illustration of the union between Christ and the Church. R2418:3

Many who see clearly the headship of Jehovah, and the headship of Christ, fail to see the headship of man in the domestic relation. R765:3*

Although the wife should not be imposed upon and overworked for the sake of visitors. R2783:5

The worldly husband is not the head of his wife as a "new creature" espoused to Christ. Her first allegiance is to her Lord, and in so far as may be consistent with this new relation, she should endeavor to fulfill the old also. R765:5*

Christ is the head -- The husband, "of the bride, the Lamb's wife."

(Rev. 21:9) E48

The heavenly Bridegroom. R2418:3

The forerunner; none preceded him as members of the Christian Church. B202

Jesus never gave this office to any one, but claims it himself; and any others who claim it are usurpers. R320:4

He likens the Church to husband and wife, exhorting husbands to love their wives, and wives to reverence their husbands, and thus exemplify the beautiful relationship between Jesus and his Church. R399:1

He plans, directs, supervises and cares for the various members of his Body, the Church. R1387:5

As every member of the human body moves under the control of the head, so every member of Christ is controlled by the will or spirit of the Lord, the Head of the Church. R397:6

And knows our every weakness. R397:6

Of the church -- Which is his Body. B202

The Bride. R2418:3

This beautiful figure of the Church's relationship to Christ is very prominent in the Scriptures. R1386:1

The Church of the firstborn all follow the example of the Head. R158:5

In Biblical usage a woman symbolizes the Church. F270; HG409:2

The distinctive titles of soldiers, priesthood, disciples, Body members, living stones, chaste virgin, refer, not to different classes, but to the same class. R399:4

The saviour -- Preserver, care-taker. R1076:1*, 1552:5, 766:1*

Of the body -- Of his Body. R139:1*

Of the Church. R158:2*

Ephesians 5:24

Subject unto Christ -- The subjection of the Church to Christ is a willing subjection; it is inspired by love, veneration, gratitude and implicit confidence and trust in the Lord's love and care for us. R1552:5
Because he can do better for us than we could do for ourselves. R1552:5
As his Church, we are permitted to be helps meet for his use; to do a lesser part and yet an acceptable part, well pleasing to God. R766:6*

The wives -- Exercising humility. R3537:5

Be -- Subject. R1552:5, 1075:6*

To their own husbands -- This does not imply a servile subjection of the wife to the husband. R1552:4

In every thing -- As helpmates. F495

Because she recognizes such to be the divine arrangement for their mutual good. R1075:6*

In everything tending to holiness and purity and true nobility of character; not in everything unholy, impure and selfish. R1552:6
Everything should be done, not from the standpoint of force and demand, but rather from the standpoint of love. R2783:5

Ephesians 5:25

Husbands -- Be capable and willing to fill this position after the divine pattern. R1075:4*, 765:3*

Cultivating and exercising humility. R3537:5

The true Christian husband has the mind of Christ. F496

It is as right for the husband to consider the future welfare of his wife, as for the heavenly Bridegroom to provide for the Church. R1828:4

The head of a house has a responsibility which divine law has laid upon him requiring sacrifice of time and preference in the interest of his family. R5168:4

It would be a mistake to think, when one is entering into marriage, that he is marrying somebody who is perfect; neither one is perfect. R5900:4

Love your wives -- This is apostolic counsel. R1552:6

Forsaking all others, cleave only unto her as the beloved and cherished companion. R1464:5*, 1386:1

Remembering that you have covenanted to cherish her. F496; R854:6

The husband will delight to honor and bless the wife. R1075:6*

What God has joined together, let no one attempt to interfere with. R5900:5

There is neither servility nor tyranny where love rules. R1075:6*, 765:6*

Even as Christ -- The only-begotten of the Father. R4528:2

The Bridegroom. R29:2*

Christ's special love for his Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

They become one, "the new creation of God." R257:3, 6:1

Also loved -- And cherishes. R854:6

With great love and tender care. R1386:2

Setting forth the unutterably tender relation between Jesus Christ and those who are his. R29:2*

The church -- The Bride of Christ, the Bride class. R595:3, 3917:1, 29:2*

The Bride of Messiah. R4528:2

The special possession, which he purchased, which still awaits redemption. R593:3

Gave himself for it -- Self-sacrificingly. R1552:6

The Church, the primary object. R139:1*

For us, the Church. R147:3, 4528:1, 158:2

He could have bought the world just as easily, but he followed the divine plan and bought the Church. R4528:2

It required all of the Lord's merit for the Church, and left none unappropriated. R4528:2

Our Lord Jesus "bought us with his own precious blood"--with the merit of his sacrifice of earthly rights. R4528:1

No part of the great plan of God, either toward the Church, or the world, could have succeeded without the death of Christ. R3917:1

The merit of Christ's sacrifice and the restitution rights which it is able to secure for every man, has been temporarily diverted from the world to the Church. In God's due time it will be available for the world.

R4528:1

Husbands should lay down their lives for their wives--should provide not only for her food and clothes, but also for her mental and moral interests. R5900:2, 5168:4; F495

Ephesians 5:26

That he -- Christ Jesus, who knew no sin. T29; R375:1

Sanctify -- Set apart. R375:1

"Sanctify them through thy truth." (John 17:17) E243; R2671:5

The holy Spirit of God, operating through his Word, does this. SM585:T

The sanctifying is in progress now. R844:5

A glorious possibility. R5901:2*

All thus sanctified are reckoned new creatures in Christ. R375:1

"Both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all one; for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren." (Heb. 2:11) R375:1

We shall be wholly sanctified by keeping close to the Heavenly Father by prayer and study of the Word. SM585:2

And cleanse it -- The Church. R5258:5, 375:1
Through the precious blood of Jesus. T29
The cleansing of our moral characters. R2671:4
"Having our bodies washed with pure water." (Heb. 10:22) E445
No one can thus cleanse us or help us into divine favor except the Redeemer himself. R2201:6
The Bride is to be cleansed and made fit for joint-heirship with the heavenly Bridegroom. R4662:6
This cleansing is in progress now. R2279:4
The object of the Church's submission to Christ is for the sanctification and cleansing of the Church. R1552:6
So long as we are in the flesh, we must have the robe of Christ's righteousness, in order to be clean. R5258:3
The Word of truth cleanses our hearts by showing us our imperfections. R4662:6
The Church as a betrothed virgin is under strictest obligations to purity and faithfulness. HG409:5
The holy Spirit of God, operating through the Word, produces in us cleansing, justification, sanctification. E243
By purging away the defilements with which each comes daily in contact in the world. R2279:5, 2201:6
Every unholy quality of disposition is to be cleansed away. R5901:1*
Nothing in this provision indicates a cleansing from willful sin. R5258:6
With the washing -- The purifying of the flesh, so far as possible. R2571:2, 2160:4
An illustration of a great truth. R2201:5
Typified by the washings of the Levitical priesthood. T29
Of water -- Representing truth. R5846:2, 3600:6, 2671:4, 1695:5, 290:1
Not the muddy and polluted teachings of the Adversary, or of those whom he has blinded. R2671:4
The use of which is for refreshing and cleansing the Lord's people; and it is through this very cleansing agency that the Church is to be glorified and the world blessed. R1695:5, 4662:6
To help keep each other separate from the world, and clean. R2201:6
He washes us from our past sins by his blood; but it takes the Word, and constant obedience to it, to sanctify us. R5901:1*, 2671:4
By the word -- Through the Word. R4662:6, 2671:3, 2571:2, 2449:6
Of God. R4662:6; E243
The truth. R1076:2*, 4662:6, 2160:4
All the instruction which we receive from the Lord comes to us through the written Word. SM584:2
These words signify that unless one be first begotten "by the Word of truth," he cannot be born of the Spirit to the new nature. R3600:6
Taking heed unto the Word of the Lord. R2202:4
Keep close to the written Word. SM584:3
The Word of God, like water, is purifying and cleansing. R2671:4

God provided his Word for the sanctification of the Church by the spirit of the truth. E243

The basis of our faith and hopes. R4662:6

That ye may be clean through the word spoken unto you. R844:5

"That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (2 Tim. 3:17) SM584:2

We are frequently taught lessons by God's providences which we could never learn from instructions of God's Word alone. The lessons are impressed upon our hearts and do us lasting good. R4663:1

A part of the duty and privilege of all the Lord's people throughout the remainder of the earthly lives. R2671:4

He grants his consecrated ones the cleansing power of his truth. R2160:4

Every child of God should beware of any teaching independent of the inspired Word of God. SM584:2

Ephesians 5:27

He -- Our Lord, our dear Redeemer. R5197:5, 2587:6; NS483:1

Might -- Will. NS483:1

Present it -- Present her. R158:2*

Our Lord's elect Bride. R2160:4

The Church. R5197:5

The purchased possession. (Eph. 1:14) R593:3

Before the Father. R5942:4

Introduced to our Heavenly Father by our dear Redeemer. R2587:6

Without fault--perfect characters. R5901:1*

All discipline in the Church is properly under the direction of the Head of the Church only. R953:6*

Rebekah did not occupy the position of Isaac's bride until conducted by Isaac himself to that position. R752:4*

A glorious church -- Christ's glorious Bride. R1386:1, 1211:1*

Jesus and his Bride made one. R252:6

His Church. NS483:1

A Little Flock. NS358:4

The heavenly Jerusalem. R1386:1

The true Church is a virgin; (the Church of Rome poses as the true, virgin Church of Christ). R2047:1; C209

The wise virgins will be faithful to the espousal vows. R1386:1

Because they fully submitted to the guidance and discipline of Christ. R1340:4

Everyone in that glorious company will have been a faithful soldier; not a deserter, nor ashamed of the Lord or his truth. R5942:4

The Lord's virgin Church was espoused to him at Pentecost, and has been awaiting the coming of the Bridegroom and the resurrection change to glory, honor, immortality--the marriage. HG409:4

Unquestionably, there we will have fullness of joy. NS483:4

We are seeking now to prepare ourselves for that great event which shall complete our joy and usher in the world's blessings. R2429:4

Once she was a sinner under condemnation of death, but she was justified, washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb--redeemed by her beloved Lord and sanctified by his truth. R1211:1*

Not having spot -- Spotless. R158:2*

On the robe of Christ's righteousness. R2782:6, 5197:4, 2160:4; HG409:5

If it would be a wedding garment, it must be spotless, clean and white.

R2782:6, 5924:1; HG409:5

Wrong-doings which we recognize as contrary to God's will. R5197:4, 4870:5

The Lord's children see their spots, and by faith apply the provided cleansing, through penitence and prayer. R2783:1

If any spot comes on the wedding garment we have to get it off again and thus keep ourselves in readiness for the marriage supper. Q604:4; R4615:6

We must prove that we possess a consuming love for the Bridegroom, and an untiring devotion to his name and principles. C209

The Little Flock keep their garments unspotted from the world by daily applying for their share of the precious blood. NS358:6,4,5

The precious blood is the antidote for every stain. R2480:4, 5006:6, 4974:3, 1211:1*

We were cleansed from past sins when the robe was given us; and there is a provision for continued cleansing of all sins that are due to weakness, temptations, and unavoidable failures. R5258:5, 5006:6

The robe is to be wholly without filthiness of the flesh. R4974:6

Gloriously complete and perfect in the most absolute sense. R5863:1

Only those with tender consciences will keep their garments unspotted by going immediately to the throne of grace to obtain mercy and forgiveness.

R5197:5

Because of the spots upon their robes and their carelessness, some will be unready to be of the elect class. These will go through a great time of trouble which will demonstrate to which party they really belong--righteousness or unrighteousness. R2783:2

Or wrinkle -- Carelessness, indolence, neglect of using an opportunity.

R5197:5, 2783:2

The blood of Jesus Christ our Lord cleanseth us from all of our errors and misdeeds of ignorance. R4336:4

Our wedding robe must be without spot or wrinkle if we would be acceptable as members of the heavenly Bride. NS357:3

In our present imperfect condition, it would be a miracle if we should never come so closely in contact with evil as to spot or wrinkle our garment. R2782:6

Guard the robe zealously. R2160:4

If, through weakness or ignorance of the flesh, we err, our Advocate, whose ransom-merit was applied to us, will appear for us (figuratively apply his merit) for the cancellation of our unintentional misdeeds and thus maintain us in the Father's sight. R4516:6

Or any such thing -- Because our Lord, out of the abundance of his merit, has applied a portion on our behalf, that we may be reckoned perfect. R3917:1; C209

St. Paul gives us the thought of the absolute purity of the class that will ultimately be presented to the Father by our Lord. R5197:5

Because the Redeemer will, upon application, impute his merit for the cancellation of such imperfections, that they may be maintained in their standing with the Father. R5006:6

Holy -- Blameless, irrefragable, in his presence. NS483:1

Reckoned holy by the merit of the precious blood of our Lord. R2279:5

Holiness, or Christ-likeness, is set as the standard. And it is possible.

R5901:2,3*

Only that which is holy is acceptable as a sacrifice, and we are so reckoned through Christ, our Redeemer. R905:5

"Be ye holy; for I (the Lord your God) am holy." (1 Pet. 1:16) R5902:1*

These, and these alone, walk with the Lord and are overcomers. R2160:4

"Whosoever is begotten of God doeth no sin." (1 John 3:9 Revised Version)

R5197:4

This fitness of character to meet God's approval must be accomplished while in the flesh. R5902:1*

The very character of God demands that we become holy. We must be purified from all iniquity and evil before we can have the approval of God. R5901:6*

Christ makes the Church holy by making the individuals holy. R5901:1*

If we are fully persuaded that we can become like Christ in character, we will arouse ourselves to seek to attain it. R5901:4*

And may be accepted as his joint-sacrificers and joint-heirs in the Kingdom that is to bring the blessing to Israel under the New Covenant and through Israel to all mankind. R3917:1

The great work that the Lord has for us to perform in the coming age demands that we become Christ-like. No other character would do. R5901:6*

Blemish -- Of character. R5901:1*

Weakness and imperfection of the flesh. R5197:4, 5901:1*

We need not permit a blemish to remain on our glorious wedding robe.

R5924:1

God's requirement is that no sacrifice may come upon his altar, except such as is without spot or blemish. Hence, his first provision was that Christ's righteousness be imputed to us. NS770:5

The same merit of the same sacrifice of Christ may be used for cleansing every blemish. The blood of Jesus Christ keeps cleansing us from all sin.

NS357:4

Blemishes would not be ours as new creatures, but would result from the fact that for the time being the new creature must tabernacle in the flesh, until given its new body. R5197:4

This figure represents perfection of mind; for our bodies cannot be brought to that condition, because of the fall of Adam. R5197:5

So that the sacrifice of Head and Body complete reaches the world. R158:2*

Ephesians 5:28

Men -- Who were made care-takers or preservers of the female. T101

To love their wives -- The Apostle Paul's epistles clearly show that he honored true womanhood. R4122:2

As their own bodies -- As a part of his own body. T101

The wife is accepted as the flesh of her husband and her body as an addition to his members. R1387:1

Great love is this; that a man should do for his wife what he would do for himself. R5900:2

Ephesians 5:29

Even as the Lord -- Who did even more than this--he laid down his life for us. R5900:2

The church -- His Bride. A82

His Body. R5900:2

Ephesians 5:30

For we -- The Church, the prospective Bride. R399:1

Raised up from the world, separated from the world to the Lord and the Millennial work. R4354:4

Members of his body -- Figuratively. NS332:1

The faithful, the elect, the new creation. NS78:6

God's chosen ones. NS372:2

The Body of Christ is a body corporate, each individual acting in harmony with each other and under the direction of Christ for the manifestation of God's love in the salvation of men. R48:4*, 4354:4

They become one, "the new creation of God." R257:3, 6:1

As though Christ were still in the world promulgating the message he declared while in the flesh. NS366:6

Members of the anointed Priest and King. R5392:1; NS372:1

Joint-sacrificers with Christ. NS803:1

Counted in with him. NS864:3

Begotten of the Spirit. F495

Because they walk in Jesus' footsteps. R5392:4

Faithful followers of the present time. NS858:1, 367:1

And have the mind of Christ. F495

Of his flesh, and of his bones -- Members of Christ, as in the figure used. R48:4*

As Eve proceeded from out of Adam, so does the Church proceed from out of the second Adam. R29:2*

Ephesians 5:31

For this cause -- For this purpose, to this end. R1386:1

Thus representing the heavenly union. R399:1

Leave -- Forsake the former ties which united them to parents, brothers and sisters. R1386:1 Shall be joined -- The marriage relation was instituted as a type of the marriage of Christ. HG100:2

Marriage is a very sacred obligation, and should be undertaken only after serious consideration. R5900:5

One flesh -- One body. R399:1

As one person, having one mind and one common interest, purpose and aim.

R1386:1

The Church has a great privilege to be counted in as a part of that flesh.

R4491:2*

Ephesians 5:32

A great mystery -- A secret, not easily understood. R5391:3, 3192:4

The mystery of God. R3192:4

Which few are able to understand. R4515:3

Hid from ages and dispensations. R2490:3

This mysterious work of the present age. R227:1 The preparation of Messiah, Head and Body members. R3193:1

A multitudinous Mediator. R4548:6

The Gospel Church. R3192:4, 368:6

"Christ in you, the hope of glory." (Col. 1:27) R5391:6, 5392:3, 368:6

The sharing of the Body with the Head both in the sufferings of this Gospel age and also in the glory to follow. R227:1, 4515:3

This is indeed a hidden mystery--that the Church is completely separated from the world and offered a great prize of glory, honor and immortality, the divine nature. R4434:3

A mystery to the world, which knoweth us not, because it knew him not. (1 John 3:1) R368:6

The relationship between the Gospel Church and its Head and Lord. R3192:4

God appointed Jesus as the Head, and elected certain saintly ones to be the members of his Body. R5391:6

That a certain class, justified through faith, are permitted to join with their Redeemer as participators in his sacrifice, his sufferings, his death, in order that they may be granted a share with him in his work of the Millennial Kingdom--blessing all the families of the earth. R4515:6, 2490:2, 369:4

The Spirit of God causes us to understand this mystery. R227:1

Understood by the true Christian, fully consecrated to the Lord. R3192:4

Blessed are our eyes if we see this mystery. R4515:4

The promised Messiah is not our Lord Jesus alone, but also with him the Little Flock--unitedly The Christ, which God is providing for the deliverance of the world. R3192:5

While the unfolding of the mystery of God commenced in the days of the apostles, it will not be finished until the end of this Gospel age. R368:3

The Almighty did not intend the mystery to be understood except by the faithful, until the great day of revealing. R3193:1

Which will be finished when the Church is complete. R369:4

When this great Messiah, Head and Body, changed and glorified, of the divine nature shall be complete--then shall come "times of restitution."

R3193:1

Christ and the church -- The Lord will always be the Head of the Church.

R4515:5, 369:4

The Church--the elect class now being gathered. R4516:3

The Bridegroom and the Bride, between whom the union will be perfect.

R1386:1, 5391:6, 257:3, 29:2*

This union between man and woman which God approved was designed to be an illustration of the union between Christ, the heavenly Bridegroom, and the Church, his Bride. R2418:3, 5900:2, 3991:1; F494

Next to the death and resurrection of Christ, the marriage of the Lamb is the most important event in the whole plan of redemption. HG100:3

All the merit belongs to our Lord. R4491:2*

When she is fully formed and perfected, they go in to the marriage. R257:3

The Church is to be associated with Jesus in the work of judging the world. R4515:5

The new creation should esteem the typical, earthly marriage and its responsibilities much more highly because of their appreciation of the antitypical union between Christ and his Church. F495

Those of the Church forget earthly hopes and ambitions and become wholly "his"--the Bride, whom he loves. R1387:2

Our Lord is the seed of Abraham under the original Abrahamic Covenant. We, his Church, are also the seed of Abraham under that Covenant. R4515:6

Ephesians 5:33

In particular -- Individually. R1552:5

So love -- Manifest love in all ways. R2783:5

Let love, and only love, hold the reins of control. R2783:6

And the wife -- Every woman who usurps the place of the head of the household is doing injury to herself and the best interests of her family.

R5168:5

She is not to wait for outsiders to admonish her. F498

That she reverence -- Give wifely respect due according to the marriage covenant. F498

As the Church reverences her Lord. R5900:2

Not with a slavish fear, but a reverence of love and devotion. F498;
R1552:5, 1464:5*

Reverence is possible where there is nobility of character. R1552:6

Her husband -- As the head of the family. F498

Reverence toward the husband means much and enters into all of life's affairs, influencing every act respecting the home. F498

The woman who reverences her husband honors herself. F498

Ephesians 6

Ephesians 6:1

Children -- The Apostle writes to those children who are already justified by faith in their Redeemer. R1731:4

It would not be possible for a mother to produce a perfect child; but with her own ideals, fixed upon things pure, noble and good, her mind may impress the character of her unborn child. R5700:6

Obey your parents -- The parent is to give the child proper conceptions of life, proper instruction. R5700:5

It is the parents' duty to see that a child is conscientious, just, loyal to God and to the principles of righteousness. R5700:5

Because their youth and inexperience stand in need of parental guidance and control. R1464:4*

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Prov. 22:6) R5700:5

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child!"

R5700:1

This rule applies to children during their minority only, though the duty of honor and reverence to parents may never be relinquished, but should the rather increase as age advances. R1464:4*

Is right -- The law of love is the only law that ought to rule in the home; and that law should be written in the heart of each member. R1464:6*

Ephesians 6:2

Honor thy father -- It is quite proper for the new creature to quote from the Law or any other part of the Scripture that which will help to make clear the Father's will concerning us. R1731:4, 976:5

And mother -- It never was a command to parents, but to children. R976:5, 1731:4

Commandment -- The Apostle Paul quotes one of the Ten Commandments. (Ex. 20:12) R1731:4, 976:5

Ephesians 6:4

Fathers -- The office of the father, as head of the family, is worthy of honor both from wife and children. R1555:6, 5168:4

Recognizing your responsibility, duty and obligation which divine law has laid upon you. R5168:4

If any ride rough-shod over the rights of others, this course is contrary to the divine law and spirit of love. R5168:4

Providers, whose care should include provision of spiritual as well as natural food and raiment for his wife and family. R1555:2

His responsibility often requires the sacrifice of his own time and preferences in the interest of his family. R5168:4

Provoke not -- Study your conduct toward the members of your own family. R5168:5

Study to let the beauty of holiness be manifest. R1554:4

Your children -- It is not always that religious parents have religiously-inclined children. R4399:5

But -- Let charity begin at home. R4399:5

Bring them up -- With loving interest, looking out for their welfare. R5168:4

Do your duty and leave the rest to the Lord. R5168:4

In the nurture -- The parent who is consecrated to the Lord and guided by his Word has generally a good influence upon those nearest to him and directly under his care. R4399:5

Ephesians 6:5

Servants -- This is Paul's counsel to servants. R3958:5*

He that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman. R1083:5*

If you are called being a servant, you need not ignore the duties and responsibilities of a servant, or esteem yourself too highly to meet a servant's obligations. R1083:3*

Communism is not the Lord's arrangement. D478, 479, 480

Be obedient -- Servants should obey their masters. D480

That are your masters -- Treat them with respect and Christian courtesy. R1464:2

Ephesians 6:6

From the heart -- Greek, psuche; soul, being. E335

In singleness of your heart -- Each should render service. R1464:3*

Ephesians 6:7

With good will -- Servants should render service with a double good will if the master were also a brother in Christ. D480

Doing service -- Fulfill them with dignity and grace. R1083:3*

Do the best we can in whatever circumstances we find ourselves. R1083:6*

As to the Lord -- All service, in whatever capacity, should be rendered unto the Lord. R1083:5*

There is no servility in such service, however humble the task may be. R1464:3*

Ephesians 6:9

Ye masters -- Those in authority. R1464:2*

This is Paul's counsel to masters. R3958:5*

Those who must themselves give an account to the great master, Christ. R1862:4

Do the same things -- Treat your servants as those who must give account to the great Master, Christ. D480

Serve them with kindness and compensation, and do it with good will as unto the Lord. R1464:2*

Unto them -- Servants. D480

Respect of persons -- God regards no distinction of Jew or Greek, bond or free, male or female, because are all one in Christ. R1464:2*

Ephesians 6:10

My brethren -- This is Paul's counsel to the Church. R2031:1

All the Lord's people. R5816:5

New creatures in Christ Jesus. R4089:4

Because the time of your testing is here. R4688:2

Be -- We should grow. R5651:3

Strong in the Lord -- Strong in faith and in character. R1882:5, 5751:1, 4089:5, 2568:5

By faith in God and in his promises. R5113:6; SM395:T

Having strong confidence in him. R5497:5, 5113:6

And not weak. R5816:5

"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." (1 Cor. 16:13) R2031:1, 1882:5

Trusting in God and not relying on ourselves. R5113:6

By keeping our eyes continually fixed on him. R5497:6

By not loving the world, by laying aside besetting sins, by assembling with the Lord's people, and by searching the Scriptures daily. F729

An exhortation applicable to the people of God at all times and under all conditions and circumstances. R4089:4

By these stumblings they learn of their own weaknesses, and then fortify themselves. R5218:3, 5751:1

Through trials and battlings against the world, the flesh and the Adversary. SM394:3; R2568:5

Some of the noblest characters are those achieved through earnest striving against inherited weaknesses. R1882:5, 5751:1

After reasonable instruction in the ways of righteousness, the Lord has a right to expect strong characters. R1882:4

As new creatures, in the spirit of our minds. It is this determination of the new creature against sin and for righteousness that God desires. SM394:3; R5751:1

To do valiant service as soldiers of the cross. R1487:6, 1171:6

So that we take joyfully every trial, persecution, difficulty which God permits for our testing of character, which is of paramount importance. R5497:6

In order to stand in the evil day now upon us. R5816:5

By feeding more and more upon the precious truth. 1171:6

Developing character through exercise in resisting evil. R2568:5

By positive resistance of temptation and positive standing up for the Lord and his cause. R4814:1

Because of the struggle between truth and error. R266:6

Because these are "taught of God," they become marvelously strong. R5113:6

By utilizing the strong meat of God's promises. HG442:3

Our hope is firm; it is indeed an anchor to our souls. R5497:5

By setting the Word of the Lord above all other messages. Buy the truth at any cost and sell it not for any price. R4089:6

In the power of his might -- Mighty power. R1487:6

Courageous. R4817:6

As we should be. R5816:5

Our hearts have good courage. R5497:5

The Lord will give courage to his people. He encourages us through each other, as we build one another up in the most holy faith. R4817:5

Courage is necessary to faithful service in the good fight of faith. R2031:1

Faith is the power of God which enables us to endure all things as good soldiers of Jesus Christ. R4089:2

Because the Adversary will be on the alert to use any snare or trap for the undoing of those who are faithful soldiers of the cross. R4088:5

Through faithfulness to the vows of consecration. R4088:6

The Lord's people need strength and encouragement. R4817:3

Ephesians 6:11

Put on -- Paul is very specific, and warns us. R425:3; NS45:5

The Lord's Word cautions us. R3411:2

Not just find the armor, but put it on. R4042:3

This message to us is urgent. Get ready. R5678:4, 2310:1

As good soldiers. R4214:6

The Lord grants us a measure of grace and protection that we shall not be assailed before we have had time to put it on. Q456:T

All the "brethren" will be awakened in season to put on the armor. R2453:2

The Apostle urges all the faithful to appropriate, to meditate upon and to store up the truth in mind and heart--that they may be able to withstand error and evil in every form. R3332:1

We still have need of this Scriptural exhortation. OV285:1

Requiring energy to do this. R2453:3,6

Make progress in the way of Christ-likeness. NS541:4

The whole armour -- The Christian armor. R4583:2

Supplied in his Word. R5800:6, 5184:1; Q456:T

Not an armor for the flesh, but for the mind--the new creature. F657

The Apostle Paul is very specific that we will need the whole armor because the conflict will be with the prince of darkness himself. R425:3

Which is a necessity in order to withstand the attacks of the wicked one. R2527:5

And use it faithfully. R4214:6, 2378:3

Or you will be unfortified. R4583:2

Not merely an intellectual knowledge of the divine plan. NS45:5

Soldiers of the cross fight against unseen spiritual foes, and the Lord has provided us armor. R5889:2

So armed, though many fall at your side, nothing can compel you to doubt the presence and power of our Lord. R36:6

This armor will be proof against all of Satan's delusions. F657

Every spiritual help and assistance we receive are parts of the Father's good providence for us. OV285:2

We are fully supplied with the whole armor of God, which will amply protect us against the fiery darts of the Adversary, if only we accept it and buckle it on. R4817:3, 3273:6, 425:3

An intelligent soldier sees that he wears it properly. R5404:4

As in contrast with the small pieces of armor worn by various denominations of the past. R2453:2

Some have not had on much of the armor. R5816:5

Until we realize its glorious completeness in the full discernment of the divine plan of the ages. R3215:5

Of God -- Who supplies it. R1687:6

God is its maker. It is his provision. No other armor will avail. F657

Poor humanity need divine help to free themselves from the Adversary and his hosts of evil. R5896:4

That ye -- All the saints. R425:3

Be able to stand -- Safely; for greater is he than all that are against us. R1687:6 The faithful alone will stand. R5802:1,4

It will be difficult to stand and not fall before the attacks of the enemy. R425:3

By keeping close to our Shepherd. F609

Whatever the test might be. R425:3

And not be deluded. R4583:2

A testing work will be in progress in the Church, a time in which the question will be not so much, Who will fall? as, Who shall be able to stand in this evil day? R5249:4; NS621:2

God's children who have learned the lessons of his Word regarding moderation of thought, rest of heart in the Lord, patient waiting for his time and way with careful self-inspection and government daily, will be blessed and kept from the snare of the Adversary. R5250:4

Jesus forewarns us in Luke 21:36 that it will be difficult to stand and not fall before the attacks of the enemy. R425:3

Stand our ground, knowing that with every temptation God has promised and provided a way of escape. R5896:5

Because of the ample armor of truth, thou shalt stand and not fall. R3332:2

If the Adversary finds one well protected and resisting him with a firm will, he will at once retreat. R5896:6

By receiving the truth "in the love of it." NS45:6

Because we are living in a grand and awful time. R5249:5

The statement of the prophet is that one thousand will fall to one that will stand--"a thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee." (Psa. 91:7) NS621:1, 563:6

Against -- We must contend against. R4214:6

Because the devil is against us. R4214:6

It is our conviction that the great time of trouble will come upon the world through the great Adversary, Satan, and his fallen host, exciting mankind to unwisdom and to passion. R5249:6

Waging a warfare against sin and the powers of darkness. R5404:2

We are now in the period of which he cautions us to be specially on guard against "seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." (1 Tim. 4:1) R2189:3

The wiles -- Snares. R5250:4

Machinations. R5896:1

Besetments. F729

Or deceptions. R425:3; NS94:6

Satan is an ensnarer who seeks to entrap us. R2770:1

Although mankind cannot see Satan, yet he can see them, and by means of mental suggestion can gain control of them. R5183:6

Satan is too wily, too wise for us. R5183:3; F609

Manifested by miraculous powers of the fallen angels in the end of the Gospel age. R2189:3,4

Of the devil -- Our great Adversary. R5925:6; F609

The prince of darkness. R425:3, 5896:1

Satan, meaning the hater; the accuser; once called Lucifer, Son of the morning. R5896:1

Of the enemy; our foe. R425:3, 4688:5

The evil one. R5896:1; F609; NS94:6

Satan, the opposer of righteousness and of Jehovah. Satan, the Adversary of the Church. R5183:3,6, 5896:3,4

Satan, who is cunning, deceitful and desparately wicked. R4214:6, 2378:3

Who was cast out of heaven and cut off from all association with holy beings. R5896:1

Satan, the great general of sin, a spirit being, much more intelligent than ourselves. R2309:4

He is a hypocrite, a deceiver, a tyrant and a merciless enemy of all who stand in the way of his ambitions. Beware of him! R1687:4

A mighty foe. A great intellectual giant, with an accumulation of more than six thousand years of knowledge and experience. R1687:3

The great Adversary is ever and always the agent in the propagation of evil. NS94:6

Satan, who was once a holy angel, but became an opponent of God by permitting pride and ambition to gain control of his heart. R5183:3, 5896:1

Our Adversary is sure to bring the test from an unexpected quarter. This has ever been his policy. R425:3

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

We know that we have no power with which to oppose Satan. None is sufficient for these things except the Lord. But the Lord is greater than are Satan and all his angels. R5185:4

Satan's constant endeavor is to lead the people of God astray from the Lord and their covenant of sacrifice. R5184:1

Our Adversary's opposition to truth is the fulfillment of Scripture, and we expect no cessation, but rather a further aggressiveness. R4583:5

The new creature is expected at all times to be on the alert against the wiles of Satan. R5404:4

"Resist the devil, and he will flee from you." (James 4:7) R5896:1

Satan seeks particularly to destroy our faith in God. R5183:6

Who lured our first parents into disobedience and misled a large number of angels into sin and opposition to Jehovah. R5896:1

Satan has sinned willfully against so great light, and has persisted in his evil course, that infinite wisdom can do no more for him. R1687:5

Whose destruction is plainly declared in the Scriptures. R5896:2

His days are numbered and his end is sure, for God will destroy him. R1687:5

Ephesians 6:12

We -- God's people. R5043:6; NS124:2; OV294:4

The saints. R5053:2

The Lord's people need to be on the alert more than do others. R5248:3

New creatures whose earthen vessels are subject to like passions and storms as those which assail the world in general. R5248:3

Wrestle -- Contend. R5908:4, 5043:6, 4400:5, 2590:6; SM102:T; OV294:4

Struggle. OV294:4

Battle. R4215:1, 2378:3

We war. R5896:5

God forbid that we should fight against our own kindred, the family of God. R559:2

Evil spirits had aroused the riot that Paul and Silas found themselves in. (Acts 16:16-24) R4400:5, 5908:4

Only those who exercise faith have been enabled to endure as seeing the invisible, and believing in a grace not yet made manifest in full measure. OV19:T

The brains and nerves of the civilized world are being trained by hypnotism for an onslaught from the evil spirits. R4396:5, 5250:1

Not against flesh and blood -- Merely. F626; R5896:5, 5379:5, 5053:2, 4813:6, 4448:2, 2770:1, 2650:4, 1391:4; NS605:1, 597:1; OV18:5; SM102:T

Not merely against human beings. SM102:T; R425:3, 267:1

Not only with the weakness of the flesh which we have inherited. R2590:6; NS563:4

Not merely with our own mortal flesh and its blemishes or with imperfect neighbors and friends. NS597:1

Not merely against the visible tools of the Adversary. R1670:6, 1687:5

But -- Our chief conflict is. R2770:1, 2590:6, 1687:5, 479:3, 425:3; NS597:2

We must also wrestle. R2590:6, 1687:6

We fight. R3518:4

Our warfare is. R1744:5

As new creatures, we must contend. NS597:2, 124:2

The Apostle instructs us who our foes are. R3274:2

We contend against something worse. R193:4*

With a demon host. R2378:3, 4215:1; OV294:4

With the cunning of the Adversary himself and his many agents. SM102:T

Against evil spiritual beings. R267:1

Our Lord wished to show an abnormal condition; that the tare seed was specially sown for the very purpose of choking the wheat. R3770:3

Remember the Apostle's words. R4208:2

Against principalities -- Princely powers of darkness. R2174:5

Princedom. R559:2

"Ne'er think the victory won, nor once at ease sit down." R431:5*

Against powers -- Unseen spiritual powers. R1391:4, 2770:1, 5889:2

Occult powers. R4086:3, 5889:2

Mighty invisible powers plotting to stumble the "feet" of the Body of Christ. R1687:5

Satan himself, and the demons, his associates in evil, are really the great power working in and through mankind, in opposition to God and his plan. F626

Satan exercises powerful influence in the world. R3310:6

Power of the fallen angels in the affairs of men. R4086:6

In the present time there are two great opposing forces in conflict--Christ and the soldiers of his cross, and Satan and the powers of darkness. R1948:1

We are surrounded by many subtle and powerful foes. R3089:3

Have nothing whatever to do with occult powers. R4086:6

Satan is "the prince of the power of the air" (Eph. 2:2), and is malevolent enough to exercise his power to the extent of divine permission. This might account for the great floods, cyclones and tornadoes of recent years. R2189:4

Powers of the world, the flesh and the devil are closely allied. R5488:6

God is testing his people, by permitting these conditions so that only the faithful will walk perseveringly to the very end. R5184:1

God has all along been master of the situation, but has permitted Satan and his legions to exercise power over the rebellious race, ultimately teaching lessons to both men and angels. R5910:2, 5896:1

The nations are now subject to the spiritual powers and rulers of the darkness of this world. HG33:3

Evil spirits, not allowed to materialize since the deluge, continue their deceptions by using human beings as mediums. R5910:1, 2582:1, 267:1

Against the rulers -- Who fight against God. R5043:6

Satan, especially. A68; R5910:1, 5043:6, 4813:6, 4216:5, 1948:1, 1670:6, 267:1; HG538:4; SM102:T

He who was once called "Son of the Morning" (Isa. 14:12), became the prince of the "rulers of darkness." R5896:1, 425:3

Satan, the arch-enemy of God. The great deceiver. E189; OV50:2

Satan is now permitted to rule; and he works in the hearts of the children of disobedience. (Eph. 2:2) A68; R350:3*

Satan is the leader of sin. R4216:5

Satan, the first conspirator against righteousness, the father of lies and deceptions. E187

Satan and his deluded subjects will not meekly renounce their claims to earthly dominion and submit to the King of kings. HG681:3

Satan has planted seeds of errors and blasphemy against God, misrepresenting his character and plan. R3770:5

The Adversary is very alert to find snares for the Lord's people. R5925:6

The Word teaches that Satan is a spirit being and has an unholy spirit, mind and disposition, exercising an unholy influence through various channels and agents. The fallen angels also exercise an evil influence as they have opportunity. E188

Possessed of great intelligence, and wily. R4448:2, 4216:5; NS124:2; OV294:4

Fallen angels. R3490:1, 5910:1, 5043:6, 4521:2

Who wish to corrupt the whole world by idolatry and sin. R5910:1

Our enemy is a giant in whose presence we are feeble indeed. R4216:5

We realize the secret, subtle and persevering effort of the prince of this world to overcome the saints. R645:6

These spirit adversaries are especially on the alert to entrap and ensnare the consecrated followers of the Lord. R5248:3, 4477:3; OV18:5

We are to resist Satan's influence and deceptions to mislead us into error and sin. R2309:4

Fallen man is incompetent to defend himself against the Adversary, except by being thoroughly loyal to the Lord and attentive to his Word. F626

Our Lord taught us to pray that the Father "deliver us from the evil one." R4216:5

We need divine assistance. R4216:5

Satan, who puts evil for good, and darkness for light. (Isa. 5:20) He has general control, first of the masses through ignorance, and secondly, of the more intelligent through pride and selfishness. E189

Satan, toward the end of this age, will be granted special license to deceive by peculiar arts all who, having been highly favored with the Word of God, have failed to appreciate and use it. R2174:5

We realize that the contest is a very unequal one unless we lay hold upon the strength of Christ. R3053:2

Hence the saints will need to draw nearer and nearer to the Lord. R4477:4

God is able and willing to overrule the wrath of men and devils and to restrain whatever would hinder his grand purposes. R2189:5

When God's time for the establishment of Christ's Kingdom comes, Satan's kingdom will be brought to naught. R1687:1

Of the darkness -- The prince of darkness now works in oppressing and opposing justice and truth, to the affliction of mankind. R264:5

Our Adversary is the prince of darkness, and his work of deception upon the human family is favored by ignorance. SM102:1

Satan presents himself as an angel of light, and not as a messenger of darkness. R5184:1

"Darkness covers the earth, and gross darkness the people." (Isa. 60:2) A68

Every effort to veil and obscure the truth, is the device of our unseen Adversary to retard our progress in the narrow way. R475:3

Any attempt to investigate any works of darkness tells of our lack of faith in the divine Word. R4087:5

Satan's favorite method of operating is putting darkness for light--by making good appear evil, and right appear wrong. R5183:6

Satan's methods and mediums are to deceive--to blind the minds of mankind, lest the glorious light of the goodness of God, as it shines in the face of Jesus Christ our Lord, should shine unto them. (2 Cor. 4:4) R2174:6

The Adversary misleads, putting darkness in the guise of light and endeavoring to make the light of the dawning New Day appear as darkness. HG682:1

As the Adversary specially opposed the Lord, so he specially assaults the faithful members of his Body. R4477:4

The world was dark when our Lord appeared in it, filled with the Spirit of God, the light of divine truth, which constituted him "the light of the world." E189

Possibly, manifestations of the powers of darkness, transformed to appear as angels of light and progress, shall be much more delusive than anything yet attempted. R2174:5

Of this world -- Of this age. HG682:1

Present evil condition. E189

World-rulers of this darkness. R3493:5*

Jesus said, "My kingdom is not of this world." (John 18:36) A68

The kingdoms of this world are now subject to Satan. A68; R1744:5

From the standpoint of God the course of the world is sinful. R5117:1

There is a tendency in our flesh to go with the world. R5117:1

God's people must go in the opposite direction to that of the world. Hence to live godly is to live in opposition to the course of the world. R5117:1

To overcome the saints, no artifice or effort is left untried; opposition, ridicule, rejection, flattery, false reasoning to disprove the truth, cares of this world, bribery with good things of this world and various allurements are all used. R645:6, 475:6

Sons of God shall not be in darkness with the world, because they are "brethren" of Christ and walk in the light. R1948:1

Spiritual wickedness -- Wicked spirits. E188; R5896:5, 5488:5, 5379:5, 5248:3, 5117:2, 5053:2, 5043:6, 4813:6, 4521:2, 4477:4, 4293:2, 4216:5, 4208:2, 4086:3, 3770:3, 3490:1, 3310:6, 3274:2; 3270:1, 2770:1, 2650:4, 1687:6; HG682:1; OV294:4, 50:5, 18:5

Of whom Satan is chief. E188, 189; R210:3*, 559:2, 350:3; NS124:2; OV294:4

The spiritual things of the evil one. R2174:5, 3310:5; F609

Which leads from the way of life into the way of death. R5925:6

Wicked spirits possessed of great intelligence, and wily. R4448:2

Satan and the fallen angels are very desirous of invading our minds, hearts and bodies with evil suggestions. R4477:3, 3770:3, 1151:3*

These wicked spirits are on the alert to oppose the Lord, the truth and all who are faithful to him. NS563:3

"We are not ignorant of his devices." (2 Cor. 2:11) R3310:6

Not Satan alone, but all the fallen angels, the demons, are foes of the Church. R2770:1

The great army of fallen angels under the captaincy of the devil, the prince of demons. R5896:5, 5910:2, 5421:2; NS563:3; HG682:1; OV18:5

The evil spirits wish to make men believe that people who have gone into death are not dead, but more alive than before. R5910:2, 3490:3; NS124:4

Hypnotism, another form of spiritism, seeking to break down the human will. R4521:2, 5250:1

Satan's kingdom, under invisible control, uses men and nations as visible agencies, and produces visible results of the most baneful and atrocious character. R210:3*

Spiritual hosts who perform mysterious happenings and trickeries. HG548:4

Fallen spirits whose power to incite malice, envy, hatred, strife, is very great. NS597:2

Fallen angels, disobedient angels, delighting in sin under the prince of demons, Satan, evil workers amongst men, operating through spirit mediums and obsessed persons. OV18:4

The fallen angels seek to break down the human will. R4521:2

These seek to enslave us and to make our battle with our old self constant. NS605:2

Wicked spirits have been plotting against the divine plan, trying to thwart it, all through this age. R3770:3

Satan, a spirit being, as the great master or general of sin, has largely to do with all the various influences with which we must battle. R2309:4

The deceitfulness of these wicked spirits is far too deep for humanity, and he who seeks communion with them in any manner does so in violation of Scriptural command of Lev. 20:6 and Isa. 8:19. R2582:1

These wicked spirits have the power in some degree to favor in us wrong sentiments; if we give our minds into any selfish, sinful or ignoble channel, these unseen adversaries may have power over us. R4208:2

This battle against adverse influences has continued throughout the night-time of this Gospel age, and yet the Church has not reached the harbor, nor has the storm abated. R2650:4

Unwillingly and unwittingly, we are wrestling with wicked spirits. R2582:1, 5117:2

This thought, that we are contending against principalities and wicked spirits in high places, would be appalling to us, did we not on the other hand realize we acquire help and assistance by other unseen powers.

We are no matches intellectually for the wicked spirits, and need to heed protections from the Lord's Word. R3490:2

Evil spirits would do injury to the servants of the truth if permitted.

Evidently, they are under some restraint as respects the Lord's people.

Later on, they may be permitted to operate through others, as Satan entered into Judas before the betrayal. (Luke 22:3) R3491:6

The Scriptures show that the fallen spirits would be held under restraint for a long time, but that those restraints would gradually be relaxed in the closing of this Gospel age, in the lapping of the Millennial age.

R3490:2

These agencies have sought to represent Almighty God as base, vindictive, loveless, unjust and powerfully vicious. OV19:T

This warning restrains the Lord's people from "curious and dangerous investigations." R3490:1

To realize this will cause the Lord's people to tremble, but we are to remember the encouraging words, "If God be for us, who can be against us?" (Rom. 8:31) NS563:4

Without the Lord we could do nothing in the face of opposition which we continually meet from the great Adversary. R4293:2

Who is sufficient for such an unequal contest with the prince of darkness and all the hosts of sin? Confidence in self would be unwise; we place our confidence in God. R4216:6, 5248:3

Beware lest we be entrapped. R4521:3

The evil spirits are coy in their deceptions, and the Lord's people need the holy Spirit, the spirit of a sound mind, the spirit of love, joy and peace protecting them. R3310:5,6

Meantime, they are but turning the polishing wheel, which, under our opposition, will polish us and fit us for Kingdom glory. NS605:2

In high places -- Public influence of the fallen angels. R3490:1

And it is growing more emphatic every hour. R479:3*

No wonder, then, it is the hour of temptation. R4477:4

Paul warns the Church that her warfare is with wicked spirits in the heavenlies. R5183:3, 479:3*; F610

In exalted positions, in influential positions. E188; F626; R5896:5, 5117:2, 5248:3, 5053:2, 4813:6, 4477:4, 4400:5, 4216:5, 4077:3, 3274:2, 2309:4, 559:2; SM102:T; NS563:4, 124:2; HG682:1; OV294:4, 50:5, 18:5

In places of authority and power. R1687:5, 1686:4, 1391:4

Controlling places. R267:1, 264:6

Our only safety is in abiding close to the Lord--in obedience to him and his Word. NS597:2

Hence, the saints will draw nearer and nearer to the Lord and feel content only under the shadow of the Almighty. R4477:4

Nor is this all. Perhaps the greatest battle the new creature is to endure is the battle of the new self against the old, fallen self. R4215:1

Ephesians 6:13

Wherefore -- On this account. R267:1

In order to overcome. R378:1

Every soldier of the cross needs to heed the Apostle's warnings. R3331:3

Take unto you -- Put upon you. R1659:3, 4087:2, 684:5 St. Paul urges the Lord's people. R5184:4; SM291:2

The people of God. R5851:4, 5267:2

You, the feet class. R3298:5

Diligently. With great care. R5678:4

The Apostle forewarned us we should specially need this armor as the evil day draws on. R3494:4, 5744:3; SM291:2

Arm yourselves for the battle of the great day of God Almighty. R5744:6

The Lord grants us opportunities to put on the whole armor. R3943:3

Put on, piece by piece, quickly. R2275:6

Put it on and wear it, feel at ease and at home in it, because the time is coming when it will be impossible to stand without it. R2275:3

Assist one another in putting it on. R4077:4

Demonstrating loyalty and obedience to the Captain. NS62:4

No man puts on armor unless he expects to fight. R5098:1

Do not neglect to put on the armor. R4439:2

Do not cast aside. R5925:6

We should take it because the Lord will not force it upon any. NS62:3

There will be less and less opportunity for putting on the armor because of our great enemy. R1659:3

Many devote to frivolity the time which they could employ in putting on the armor which God has provided for his people. R5184:4

The whole armour -- Never before needed or provided. R2275:3; NS62:4; HG317:6

Every piece riveted together with love. R4042:6

The full understanding and clear appreciation of the divine plan. HG317:6

The divinely-provided armor which will protect from the fiery darts of the enemy. R2275:2, 4077:4, 684:5

For all the soldiers of the cross. R4087:2

To be worn only by the redeemed. R2275:6

Because we shall need it. R862:3

Because more stringent conditions are before us. R5851:4

Gladly accept the armament and become faithful students. R4439:1

The truth alone will constitute the armor of God. NS778:4, 564:2

Some have buckled on every part of the armor, and today they stand completely clothed with the truth. R2275:3

An armor of truth, knowledge, information granted to them from the great armory, his Word, the Bible. NS62:3

God's truth shall be the shield and buckler of all those that stand. R862:4

We should be arming ourselves with the whole armor of God's Word, bracing ourselves for our own final testing. R414:6

The graces of character, meekness, patience, gentleness, brotherly kindness, faith, truth, hope. R4077:4

Take the whole armor of God, not merely one or two parts of the armor. SM291:2

Few have it all. R36:4

Without this complete armor, no child of God is safe in this evil day.

R2275:2, 5184:4, 4042:3, 1659:5

We have come to this "evil day"; and the urgent message to us is: Put on the whole armor of God; prepare yourselves for the great testing that will come. R5678:4, 414:6

Some of us may feel too self-confident, and not sufficiently watchful. R5267:2, 4042:3

The protection which would be granted to a certain class. R4438:6, 3490:4, 862:3

This is the armor with which we are to withstand the attacks which appeal to the evil tendencies of the fallen nature. R5340:1

Not a useless weight, but a necessary protection in battle. R5098:1; NS62:4

Only those who have put on the whole armor of God will be properly equipped to withstand the assaults of the enemy. R5744:3, 5816:6, 5678:4, 4077:4, 2275:2; HG682:6

The armor cannot be put on at all until the body be washed and clothed in the garment of Christ's imputed righteousness. R1995:4

See that it all bears the imprint and marks of the Royal Armory--the Word of God. R684:5

Available to all of God's people; nevertheless, only those who put the armor on will be safe. R4436:6

God's people will have need of this armor to cope with delusions so strong as to "deceive the very elect, if it were possible." (Matt. 24:24) R2189:3

We obtain this armor from the Word of God, and it requires time and care to fit it and learn to use it. Do not use time for worldly things, except for the things needful. R378:1

Those of God's people who have been overcharged with the cares of this life to the neglect of the divine Word will find themselves lacking of the armor and vulnerable to error. NS564:1

Even armed with the whole armor, you will barely be able to stand--so fierce will be the assault. R684:5

Or we must surely fall as this conflict progresses. R684:4

Of God -- Of God's Word. R414:6

Which God supplies. R1687:6, 378:1

Beforehand. R1659:3

Every piece of which bears the stamp of the precious blood of Christ. R2275:5

God has provided in his Word an armament full and complete for all the truly consecrated. R862:2,4 2275:2

Which God has provided in preparation for the present and approaching tests of this harvest time. R4042:3

Do not take other men's philosophies instead of the Word of God. R5925:6

To boldly withstand error by clear and fearless presentation and defense of the truth. C212

Alas, how few seem to realize the importance of this armor which God has commended! SM291:2

That ye -- The Lord's faithful ones. R4955:6

Able to withstand -- In the conflict. R378:1, 4688:5, 684:4

Stand against the evil attacks. R110:3; SM291:2

The assaults of error. R388:2; SM291:2

Spiritual wickedness. R267:1

None will be able to withstand Satan without divine aid. R5184:4

By heeding the Apostle's words. R684:4

Able to keep standing. R5925:6

Whatever the test might be. R425:3

The encroachment of error. R3215:5

Seductive and evil influences. HG682:2

To stand unshaken in the midst of storms. R3053:5

By having confidence in God and in his Word. NS564:2

By understanding the Bible correctly. NS793:3

Those who will stand will be the very elect. R3358:6, 4477:4, 862:3; D66

God's Word will open up the eyes and sustain the faithful ones. R4955:5
The Adversary attacks the Bible in many ways, overthrowing the faith of those without the whole armor of God. R2034:5

Sustained from falling. R4955:6

Because God's Word has revealed a Creator infinite in wisdom, justice, love and power; a Savior, able to save to the uttermost all who come unto the Father through him; and a divine plan consistent with the divine character. R4955:6

For so strong will be the current against them. HG717:2

The nourishment that gives strength and ability to stand is the "good tidings" through the Lord and the apostles. NS43:4

If we would reign with Christ, we must prove our worthiness by loyalty, faith, zeal, patient endurance and unwavering trust in the power and purpose of God to deliver and exalt his Church in due time. R3331:3

Let us not flee from the battle. OV285:6

The battle will be hot and many will fall. R684:2, 5678:3

We all need to "hold fast the faithful word." (Titus 1:9) R3494:4

"A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand." (Psa. 91:7) The thousand falling, to one who will stand, is as real and truthful as the statements of the prophet relative to the trouble coming upon the world. R684:4, 3328:5; D66

Possibly some faithful servants of God may live on, far into that dark night of trouble. C212

Those who are unable to stand the severity of the trials draw back from the light. R190:2

Whoever shall not be prepared to stand will make it evident that God did not find him worthy of the light of present truth. R2453:3

What a defense against doubt and every attack of the devil is the knowledge of the divine plan of the ages. R2034:5

"Let us fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it." (Heb. 4:1) R3331:3

The evil day -- This day of the Lord's presence; day of trial. R267:1, 2275:3, 190:2, 110:3

With which our age will close. R4438:6, 4042:2, 2532:4, 190:2; D66; F657; SM291:1

We are now living in this evil day. R5744:3, 4042:2, 2532:4, 2453:2, 2275:3, 2218:3, 425:3, 338:1, 110:3; C212; NS97:1, 62:2, 43:4, 38:4, 12:4

This "Day of the Lord" in which we are living. R388:2

Now upon us. R5816:5, 3943:2, 460:3; NS793:3; HG316:6; SM287:1

Day of trouble. R862:3

This "hour of temptation." (Rev. 3:10) R5678:4

This age is the one in which evil prevails. HG681:2

Day of perilous times, snares, pestilences, subtle dangers and evil besetments on every hand. R3331:2

Now, more than ever before. R4154:4

It is a day more for defense than aggressive warfare--withstanding. R36:4, 2275:4
